Lady Luck's Stepchildren

ARTISTS WHO FIND "WELCOME" HAS FADED FROM RADIO DOORMAT

THAT fickle "Femme," Lady Luck, cannot be leaned upon too heavily even by her favorites, those upon whom She has showered Her benevolence in other days. What were Her reasons for leaving "Bing" Crosby without a commercial? Why did She give Maurice Chevalier a most depressing case of homesickness for gay "Parce"? What tempted Her to turn a cold shoulder towards Georgie Jessel? And above all, why did She leave the charming Elsie Janis as cold as Elsie leaves her radio audience? It's an interesting speculation, trying to fathom the whims of Lady Luck.

Despite the fact that Bing insisted upon being a "regular feller," with a minor social weakness that found expression in that ancient practice of elbow bending, Lady Luck landed him on top of the world, put a new idiom in his hand, and wished him God speed. For a while his bo-bo-bo style caught the public fancy and threatened the popularity of that romantic idol of the air, Rudy Vallee, who, incidentally, has slipped up rather than down.

Rudy came through the year of depression with a new Fleischmann contract, at a substantial increase in salary, and Paramount has a two-year option on his services, at $4,500 per week, when his "Scandals" engagement is over. Rudy discarded his emasculated style

What are Bing Crosby, Maurice Chevalier, Elsie Janis and Georgie Jessel, a quartet of premier entertainers of the stage and screen, neglecting to bring to the radio studio?

PROGRAMS FOR WEEK OF MARCH 25th TO MARCH 31st

THE RADIO ROVER

By Ed J. Fisher

Irene Taylor

- Irene Taylor combines a magnetic personality and an unusual voice during her WJZ-NBC appearance every Thursday midnight at 12:30 (if you get what we mean) and her WEA-F NBC airings every Wednesday and Thursday at the same time. All these, of course, with Agnew's Orchestra from the Hotel Edgewater Beach, Chicago.

Rudy Vallee

- Back in New York after a trip to the West, Rudy Vallee has resumed with his "Connecticut Yankees" on the Fleischman Hour, heard every Thursday evening at eight o'clock over the WEA-F-NBC network. With Ray Perkins as its cut-up, this program holds its popularity.

Foreign Policy Debate International Feature

Whether or not the foreign policy of the United States is retarding disarmament will be the subject of a Canadian-American debate on Saturday evening, March 26, when teams from McGill University, Montreal, and the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, will argue the subject over a WABC CBS network at 4:00 p. m.

H. V. Kaltenborn will act as chairman of the debate, which will be on the air from three separate points—New York, Montreal and Philadelphia. Circuits will be switched back and forth among the three points, as the chairman and succeeding orators come before the microphones.

The McGill team will be composed of H. Carl Goldenberg and Fred V. Stone. The Pennsylvania debaters will be Bernard Gekoski and Gilbert Oswald. The affirmative, "Resolved that the foreign policy of the United States is retarding disarmament," will be argued by McGill team.

A FEW columns ago we told of the contemplated change in morning programs over Columbia. We explained that the radio public was pretty much fed up with stereotyped talks on household advice and wanted more entertainment during the morning hours. Ida Bailey Allen, nationally prominent home economist, inaugurated a new series of two-a-week programs on March 16th, called the "Round the World Cooking School." Instead of the usual type of program on culinary advice, Mrs. Allen has put forth in this new broadcast an entirely new kind of radio period which features entertainment in the form of music and many novelties. With her on this program is a famous European chef. Each week he explains to Mrs. Allen over the air the preparation of foreign delicacies and national dishes. We congratulate Mrs. Allen and Best Foods, the sponsors of the program, for their entertaining method of putting this broadcast over the air.

- Paul Whiteman, who is now at the Palace, dropped in to visit the Columbia studios the other day and nobody recognized him, he had lost so much weight. They tell me that Paul's doctors are worried about his drastic dieting. He doesn't look healthy at all. Kate Smith, however, who weighs a mere 214 pounds, has no desire whatsoever to reduce. She believes that to lose weight would mean the loss of strength and vitality, and that it would affect her voice, which is her fortune right now.

- Morton Downey nearly got into difficulties with Strangler Lewis on a train out of Cleveland a week ago. A CBS engineer accompanying the Downey entourage bears an amazing likeness to the wrestler. Downey had heard that Lewis was also on the train, and, engaging in one of his notorious practical jokes, he notified all the porters and trainmen that the real Lewis was an imposter and that the engineer with him was really the wrestler. The result was that the real Lewis was shunned and high-hatted, and when he found out what had happened, the train crew blamed Downey. Lewis didn't know whether to laugh or grow angry, but he made himself known to Downey, intending at first to start trouble. Downey, however, calmed him and ten minutes later they became good friends.

- An interesting yarn is told about a young actress who had a small bit in "Wild Waves," the play which was built around radio. A week before the show closed the girl, in a morbid mood, attempted to commit suicide. She was found in her hotel room and was immediately rushed to a hospital where an antidote was given her. She pulled through, however, but refused to say just why she attempted to kill herself. The dailies naturally picked the yarn up, and when the girl finally got back to the show she brought with her a handful of clippings which she proudly displayed to the others in the cast, who would have come close to suicide themselves for front page publicity. The irony of it all is that immediately after the performance that night, the lass received a telegram notifying her that her father had dropped dead after reading of his daughter's attempted suicide.

- Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit, who haven't been near the footlights in years, will play the Palace beginning April 9th...Credit Ben Bernie with the gag about the new vacuum cleaner which is called the Winchell, because it picks up all the dirt...Nick Kenny is making movie shorts. More competition for Schnozzle Durante!...Phil Cook says he knows a room in the public library where they age the jokes that radio artists tell on the air.

- Vincent Lopez, the numerologist, makes the distressing observation that things are so tough that most of the letters people get nowadays start off with the word, "Unless—"

- Rosetta Duncan, of Topsy and Eva fame, has arrived from Hollywood with Blanche Merrill. They tell us that she is attempting to get a sponsor for a series of broadcasts built around the Topsy and Eva theme... The Mills Brothers have already signed a new contract which goes into effect immediately after their Vopex contract expires... Douglas Stanbury is leaving the Mobiloil Hour with Lewis James and Gladys Rice taking his place... Nick Lucas is in town for a show spell.

- Bill Schudt, the television demon, reports that the flying spot of the television so affects animals placed in front of it to have their images broadcast, paralyzes the creatures with fear or something. Parrots cannot talk, dogs can't bark and birds don't sing. My suggestion is to try it on a giraffe—the only animal in the world that can't make a noise, television or no television.

- And while on the subject of visual broadcasting, may I add that the Peck Television Company of Canada will be putting a wow of a set on the market pronto?

Louis Silvers

Sylvia Froos

Louis Dean

- Known as a composer and arranger, and as musical supervisor for Warner Brothers' pictures, Louis Silvers turns his back on all that to direct his musicians on the Richman Brothers' program over the WABC-CBS network every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Featured with the musicians is Sylvia Froos, vaudeville veteran and "blues" singer extraordinary, while Louis Dean appears as the announcer.

REVIEWING RADIO

By Mike Porter

THE scenes behind the scenes in the big radio shops just now might justifiably be called hectic. Those broadcasting departments engaged in collecting from sponsors are suffering alternate spasms of giggles and chills. They are finding it very tough to collect bills due for radio entertainment of the commercial sort—but their miseries are relieved by the arrival of new accounts. The best news of the week to reach the radio temples was from Proctor and Gamble, now sponsoring the Sisters of the Skillet and the Gloom Chasers. Early next month they will add B. A. Rolfe and orchestra to the NBC waves, and the Mills Brothers to CBS commercial listings.

• In the orchestra sector there are headaches, too. Nobody seems to know how things became so well hashed, but a glimpse at the calendar for March 28, which is next Monday, reveals that the NBC has three major openings on its schedule—each, naturally, robbing the other of the evening's prestige. First, there'll be Buddy Rogers, debuting his new band in Rudy Vallee's old spot at the Pennsylvania; then there'll be Jack Denny's coming-out party at the Waldorf, and, lastly, there'll be Johnny Hemp, introducing his tooters in the Coon-Sanders spot at the New Yorker. And, on this three-cornered occasion, the song-pluggers will be dizzy from traveling in circles.

• Buddy Rogers, who, as you may not know, cares no more for movies, is a surprisingly versatile musician. He plays nine instruments, including a horn called "baritone." His dog-town opening, to polish up the works, will take place in Bridgeport, on the night preceding the Pennsylvania shindig. And I wonder where Rudy Vallee'll go now—to the Coast, to make Fay Webb happy? Columbia is a bit worried over Rogers, and is planning quietly to stack Arthur Jarrett against him, and before a band, if the Rogers ballyhoo takes on major aspects.

• And to finish up the orchestra news for this session, it should be recorded that Columbia has just signed up that old-timer, Isham Jones, in Cleveland—and that Bert Lown is opening the new Bellevue Hotel in Kansas City.

• Another behind-the-scenes classic occurred at the NBC mosque last week, when Esso brought in a vaudevillian—a Mr. Howard—to pep up the WJZ entertainment which has been featuring Elsie Janis. Elsie, who is rankling over the pannings given her by radio critics, took a look at the young man and went into a tantrum, crying out that she had twenty-five years of fame behind her (behind her is right) and that she would not share a spot with a second-rate ham. Elsie needed a sedative—but Howard was tossed out of the picture. Gosh, how these sponsors spite themselves!

• The Columbia network is peeved at Arthur Tracy, the Street Singer, who, admittedly never would have reached the top without the hard labor of Ed Wolf, who got him his chance. In fact, CBS is siding with Wolf in the controversy between Tracy and his manager. Tracy, now garnering the shekels, is pouting about his contract, which gives Wolf a nice share of his earnings. Funny how they get that way.

• Last week, if you recall, I heralded with glee the Van Heusen idea of putting on a CBS program that would burlesque other commercials. This week, I shed a tear—for the idea has been abandoned. Columbia insisted that Van Heusen ask permission of sponsors whom it intended to burlesque. The response wasn't as cordial as it might have been, and now Van Heusen will put on Paul Gallico, sports commentator.

• It seems, also, that the lowdown on Ray Knight's Cuckoo event is that it will be switched again to the nocturnal waves, instead of being abandoned. In fact, the sponsor is pleased with it.

• G. Washington Coffee, which has been projecting two Sherlock Holmes yarns a week from NBC aerials, and featuring Dick Gordon, the William Gillette echo, begins a new schedule tonight. Instead of two Conan Doyle epics a week, there'll be only one, and on Thursdays, the Coffee sponsors will father a Kipling feature, for which no cast has been chosen yet. A score or so of Kipling yarns will be dramatized.

• Maybe you've already noted that Victor Moore, the sleepy-voiced comic, has been discarded by the Richman Clothes divertissement at WABC, without replacements. And while on the subject of apparel, I hear on excellent authority that when the Society Brand Clothes sponsors have run out their thirteen-week contract with Norman Brokenshire, Chesterfield will sign him up exclusively.

• A couple of salaams to Frank Mason, the vice-president in charge of NBC'S publicity. Instead of the usual junk sent regularly in the past to editors, Mason is sending them paragraphs that are poignant and readable—because Frank has hired a person who knows how to write for columnists.

Jane Froman

• Ellen Jane Froman, who directs her orchestra over the WJZ-NBC airwaves at 11:30 every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday night, and who sings in the bluest of "blue" manners as well.

Buddy Rogers

• Buddy Rogers, former screen idol who has turned musical in a serious way, leads his own dance orchestra into the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, on Monday, March 28. Thereafter he will be heard over the WJZ-NBC network every Monday night at 12:15 o'clock, every Tuesday night, over the WJZ-NBC network, at 12:05 A. M., and every Saturday, also on the WJZ-NBC network, at 11.30 P. M.

Cardinal to Broadcast Easter Message Sunday

• His Eminence Cardinal Cerretti will broadcast a special Easter message to the United States and Canada through the WABC-CBS network at 12:30 p. m., Sunday, March 27, from the Basilica of Santa Maria Maggiore, in Rome, of which he is the arch-priest.

This will be the first broadcast to America by any of the Roman Cardinals, and the event has a particular significance because of Cardinal Cerretti's activities in Washington when attached to the Papal legation. Santa Maria Maggiore, the oldest and largest Virgin Church in the world, also has a special connection with America, its ceiling being decorated with the first gold taken by Columbus from the New World.

The broadcast will open with the ringing of the bells of the Basilica, and then the choir will sing two motets.

After Cardinal Cerretti has delivered his message, which will be in English, the choir will be heard again, the broadcast concluding with the ringing of the bells.

The Art of Listening

• Do you know that listening is in an art? And that comparatively few radio listeners know how to derive real satisfaction from their sets?

One of life's most difficult tasks is to become a good listener. It is the ego in each of us that makes us want to play the active, rather than the passive, role. That is true of ordinary conversation and doubly true of radio.

Paul Whiteman

Mildred Bailey

Jack Fulton

• Still "The King of Jazz," Paul Whiteman has lost none of his impressiveness, despite his drop in poundage. With his "Pontiac Chieftains," Whiteman is heard every Friday night at 10:00 o'clock over the WJZ-NBC network. And with him, Mildred Bailey, one of radio's best-known "blues" singers, and Jack Fulton, tenor.

Betty Webb and James McDermott

• "Chandu the Magician," heard over Station WOR every night except Saturday and Sunday at eight o'clock, details the adventures of an American who, after long travel in the Orient, becomes possessed of many secrets of magic. The adventures of Chandu and his associates have been built into a smoothly running series, during the broadcast of which a number of illusions and bits of sleight of hand are explained for the edification of any one who cares to learn as he listens.

Historic New Jersey Still Leads the Way

• The General Motors "Parade of the States" program which was broadcast over the WEA-FNBC network at 9:30 o'clock, Monday, March 21st, offered the following tribute to New Jersey, although one of the smallest States, yet a leader in industry and education.

By BRUCE BARTON

The well-known publicist and the author of "The Man Nobody Knows," each week writes the "Tribute" broadcast during the General Motors' Program.

LORD JOHN BERKELEY and Sir George Carteret named her to honor the little Isle of Jersey in the English Channel. Fitting it was that she should bear the name of an island, for the Atlantic caresses her on the east, making a long playground of her coast; on the west the Delaware River and Bay curve about her in two great bows, while New York Bay and the majestic Hudson almost complete the circle.

Millions know her shining beaches and the inviting highways which, from the wooded mountains and the Palisades of the north to the southern tip of good Cape May, wind through the splendor of fruitful gardens and thriving cities and towns. She is the delight of the Summer tourist, the market garden of the East.

Fourth smallest of the States in area, she is great in industry. Her forges and foundries supplied muskets and cannon for the troops of Washington. Within her border John Fitch demonstrated his steamboat, and Seth Boyden made the first malleable casting. Here Morse and Alfred Vail progressed with the telegraph, Hannibal Goodwin invented flexible photographic film, and John Stevens kindled

The Stebbins Boys

• Arthur Allen and Parker Fennelly, better known as "The Stebbins Boys," air the small town strife of two brothers over the WJZ-NBC chain at 7:30 every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday night, and over the WEA-FNBC network at 6:45 every Friday night. Their true-to-life accent, no less than the truly rural script they follow, has made them favorites throughout the country. Here Mr. Allen seems to be defending the harmless, necessary cat against some foul design of Mr. Fennelly.

fire in a crude locomotive and so started the wheels of America's transportation system.

Here Thomas A. Edison lived and toiled and blessed the world with electric light. Touch almost any phase or department of daily living, from the leather in your shoes or the silk of your gown to the soap in your bathroom, the paint on your house, the gasoline and motor oil in your automobile—everywhere you find a product of this busy, prosperous, stirring State.

Great she is in education, with Old Nassau in Princeton, rich in memories of two Presidents of the United States who loved her, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson; with Rutgers, founded before the Revolution, with Stevens Institute and Lawrenceville.

And great is she in history. Nowhere is there more sacred sod, trod by patriot

TONY'S SCRAP BOOK

By TONY WONS

Evolved from a boyhood spent in poverty and from months in war hospitals, these fragments from "Tony's Scrap Book" show well the spirit of the philosophical broadcaster's mind.

• It is hard to imagine a perfect man or woman. If there is such a being, it must be pretty lonely here in a world where error seasons our work and life. There are some who think that scientific men are perfect—never make mistakes. The scientist makes more mistakes than anybody because he tries more things. He tackles more tough jobs, while most of us just go ahead in the same old rut from day to day and we don't apply the lash to ourselves in order to get out of it. Everybody makes mistakes, but the man or woman who does most makes most of them.

• Do you ever sit and think that your job doesn't really amount to very much in this world—that the work somebody else is doing is of much greater importance than yours—that the world wouldn't miss you if you left at any time—and, perhaps, would be glad to be rid of you? At such times I like to read over these thoughts of Stanley Baldwin's:

"All my life I have believed from my heart the words of Browning, 'All service ranks the same with God.' It makes very little difference whether a man is driving a tramcar, or sweeping streets, or being Prime Minister, if he only brings to that service everything that is in him, and performs it for the sake of mankind."

• If you're a back number—

If nobody notices you—

If your job seems small and you see other folks with not nearly as much ability and brains as you have (or think you have) riding on up while you must remain below, what can be done about it? In the first place, don't get discouraged; don't grumble and crab about it, but advertise. Advertise your good qualities—your talents. Figure out what you love to do. Figure out what you can do best of all. Figure out what you are best fitted for. Then advertise that ability to the world. Let them know you're here. Produce your bag of tricks. Maybe you're pushing a pencil in an office at $15 per week. Maybe somewhere in the back of your head there is smouldering an idea that you know of a better method to improve things in the office. Advertise it! Don't quit advertising, and you'll get there. I once ran across a jingle about a codfish and a hen which is apropos this subject:

"The codfish lays a million eggs,
and the helpful hen lays one,
But the codfish doesn't cackle
To tell us what she's done.
And so we scorn the codfish coy,
And the helpful hen we prize;
Which indicates to you and me
That it pays to advertise."

Adele Ronson

• Frequently heard on this dramatic presentation and that over the NBC air waves, Adele Ronson spends much of her idle time on the bridge paths of Central Park, not too far from the studios to be reached, not to near them to be bored. Miss Ronson, whose work in "Radio Guild," "Colliers' Hour" and other dramatized programs has made her familiar to radio audiences throughout the East, is another of the fair athletes of radio row.

THE JEST ARTIST

By GEORGE D. LOTTMAN

• That's a great idea, that one of Leo Reisman's which provides for the orchestra leader of a radio program to be enclosed in a glass booth while he directs his combination, so that he can listen to the band as it is being received by you and your Aunt Matilda in Dubuque. It provides the necessary contact between orchestra and leader, yet in hearing the music, the leader can immediately detect any weakness and have it adjusted immediately.

• Howard Lanin claims you can tell who is master in the house by the kind of program on the radio, and adds that the reason one hears so many children's programs in the homes of those who have kiddies justifies his contentions.

• It is the acute observation of Arthur Jarrett that the fall off in success stories which give full credit to pluck is due to the fact that there're so few to be plucked.

• Leon Belasco, who speaks many languages, likes to pick peculiarities in the English way of speaking, such as the saying, "A slim chance," and "A fat chance," meaning the same thing.

• George Olsen insists that he had a guest up at the Montmartre the other night who has never let a lie pass his mouth. It seems the individual speaks through his nose.

• While visiting a friend's office which is so situated that you can look into the windows of an adjoining building, Russ Columbo's attention was directed to an office where a young stenographer was sitting on a man's lap.

Noticing the name of the firm on the window, Russ called up and in a solemn voice said, "Thou shalt not make love to thy secretary during working hours."

A frightened, stuttering voice answered, "W-w-what the—Who is this?"

To which Columbo answered, "I am thy conscience," and hung up.

• Vincent Lopez was having a great deal of trouble getting waited on, and the slowness of the waiter began bothering him. Finally, when the garcon came over to take his order, Lopez asked him if he ever went to the zoo.

"Why no," replied the surprised waiter. "You should," remarked Vincent, "you'll enjoy watching the turtles whizz past."

• Buddy Rogers' philosophy is interesting. He says he never tries to get even with his enemies, and adds that he can inflict more torture by getting ahead of them.

• According to Graham Harris, it's the hot crooners who are responsible for many a heated argument.

• Ralph Kirbery, who hits the bull's-eye with his rich baritone on the NBC networks, is an expert with the pistol. He came within one shot of being the revolver champion of New Jersey in a recent tournament. Ralph is the big shot of the Paterson (N. J.) police department, being their coach in marksmanship.

Lupe Velez and Lawrence Tibbett

• Here seen in a pose from their motion picture, "Cuban Love Song," Lupe Velez and Lawrence Tibbett lend their names and talents, individually, to radio. Mr. Tibbett's rich baritone is heard on the "Voice of Firestone" program over the WEA-F-NBC network each Monday evening at 8:30 P. M., Miss Velez is to be one of the featured players on the initial program to be staged by Florenz Ziegfeld April 3 over the CBS chain.

You know—that flower you put in your coat. Oh yes, I have it. Reincarnation.

GEORGE:—Reincarnation is not a flower. Reincarnation means that when you leave this earth you come back in some other form . . . like, let's say . . . you would come back a human being.

GRACE:—If you die, what would you like to come back?

GEORGE:—I would like to come back a blind race horse, so I could run away from you and never look at you again. If you die, how would you like to come back?

GRACE:—I would like to come back an oyster.

GEORGE:—An oyster? Why an oyster?

GRACE:—Then I would only have to be good from September until April.

GEORGE:—How do you like the Lombardo Brothers?

GRACE:—How many are there?

GEORGE:—There are four of them.

GRACE:—Four of them? Gee, they're just like the Three Marx Brothers.

GEORGE:—Three Marx Brothers? There are four Marx Brothers.

GRACE:—Well, I thought with the depression and everything . . . you know.

GEORGE:—Forget the whole thing. Make out I didn't mention it. And look! See the one sitting on the chair? That's Guy's brother, Carmen.

GRACE:—What does he do?

GEORGE:—Well, he sits on the chair and sings like a bird.

GRACE:—Say, maybe he's a stool pigeon.

Mary McCoy

• Mary McCoy, whose rich soprano voice is heard on a number of NBC programs, has but one superstition—she will not be separated from her pet cat, Theophrastus. Theo is more than a good luck charm, he's almost a member of the family, and knows it. Before going to the studios Miss McCoy insists on saying good-bye to the faithful kitty, and were studio rules less stringent, Theo might go along to the broadcasts. But the cat's whisker has long since been taken from radio.

OUT OF THE ETHER

WITH BURNS AND ALLEN

• George Burns and his wife, "Googie," otherwise Grace Allen, bring their droll remarks to the WABC-CBS network every Monday night, at 10 o'clock, on the Robert Burns Panatella Hour. One of the few teams recruited from vaudeville who seem to take to the microphone at once, Burns and Allen have made an instantaneous hit. Their patter appeals from its simplicity, as witness these gags from two recent scripts.

GRACE:—Yes, and my uncle is a softy, too. He is named after a flower, too.

Edna Kellogg

• Edna Kellogg, former Metropolitan Opera soprano, heard every Friday night at half past eight over the WJZ-NBC network, on the Armour Program, is a firm believer in exercise. And not only for herself but for her horse as well, as witness this "just before the polo" pose. Miss Kellogg received her earliest musical training at home, and it was there that she learned to love riding. Today there are but few radio artists who can keep up with her when it comes to horsemanship.

Carmody, Supreme Knight of the order, will address a nation-wide audience over a WEA-F-NBC network at 11:30 p.m. from Chicago, and Charles Hackett, tenor, of the Chicago Opera Company, will sing.

From New York, Anna Case, former Metropolitan Opera soprano, will be heard. Miss Case in private life is Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay.

Celler Debates Dry Law

Representative Emmanuel Celler and David Barnett, founder of the Prohibition Discussion League, will debate the Eighteenth Amendment over station WOR at nine o'clock Monday evening, March 28th. The debate is the third in a series being broadcast under the sponsorship of Martini and Rossi. Musical balance is given the program by the Harmony Blenders.

Sunday Circle Star

One of the Metropolitan's most favorite artists will be heard during the Sunday afternoon Circle Program. She is Rosa Ponselle, and her voice will be broadcast over the WEA-F-NBC network at 5:30 P. M. on March 27th.

RICH REWARD IN RADIO CONTESTS

More than $1,000 in cash, together with merchandise valued at as much more, is being offered to contestants in several competitions now being broadcast over individual and chain stations in and about New York City. The following information is given readers by RADIO GUIDE, purely as a matter of convenience.

Radios and Watches

Twenty-two prizes are being given each week in the San Felice Cigar contest now being broadcast over the WJZ-NBC chain at 9:45 each Monday and Wednesday evening. These are six "Playtime" radios, built into grandfather clocks; ten Gruen watches, "Greyhound" model for men and "Monticello" baguette for women, and six "Nat Lewis" purses. Contestants are to write a four-line rhyme about San Felice Cigars, or as many rhymes as they like, enclosing fifteen bands from any size San Felice Cigars (or exact reproductions of these bands in colors) with each rhyme. Entries should be sent to the station from which the program is broadcast, or to the Deisel-Wemmer-Gilbert Corp'n, 2180 East Milwaukee Ave., Detroit, Mich.

For Dog Lovers

Of special interest to children who would like to own a dog is the Ked contest, whose terms are broadcast every Thursday evening at 7:15 over the WJZ-NBC network. Boys or girls may enter this contest, merely writing in less than fifty words their answer to the question, "Why I like Keds." The letter must also give the name and address of the contestant's neighborhood shoe dealer, with the age of the contestant. Each week a thoroughbred wire-haired terrier will be given away for the best letter.

National and State Prizes

Two questions are asked contestants in the United Drug Company contest now being broadcast during the program heard over a WEA-F-NBC network at 7:15 P. M. Sundays, and entry blanks must be secured from any Rexall or Liggett Stores. These blanks have full details of the contest, which is to close April 5th at midnight. National prizes of $750, $250 and $100, and forty-eight State prizes are to be awarded.

An Automobile Each Week

Winning contestants in the Willys Overland contest now being broadcast every Sunday night at 7 o'clock over the WJZ-NBC network receive, delivered absolutely free and fully equipped at their home, a new Willys Overland car. Entry blanks and rules must be obtained from one of the advertiser's dealers, and contestants are to write not more than fifty words on "Why I like the Willys Overland Six better than any other car."

For Cake Beaters

The Magic Maid Program broadcast over the WJZ-NBC network every Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock offers eight electric mixers, beater and juice extractors to eight successful contestants. Favorite pie recipes, with a short letter telling "Why you would like to own a Star-Rite Magic Maid Electric Mixer, Beater and Juice Extractor," are to be submitted.

Millionaire Week-Ends

During the Salada "Tea Timers" program broadcast from WOR at 9:30 P. M. each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the first line of a limerick is given. The two contestants who send in the best four lines to complete the limerick will each receive two theatre tickets for any show they may select. In addition, at the end of six weeks the two best entries received during that time will each be given what the sponsors have termed "a millionaire's week-end." Each of the two winners in this part of the contest will be given, absolutely free, a week-end in New York—hotel bills, theatre tickets, night clubs, automobile hire—all paid in full for two persons. Contestants should send in their entries, together with an empty Salada Tea carton, to station WOR.

Except where specific information is given above, letters should be sent to the advertiser in care of the station over which the contest announcement is made.

Professor at Columbia On Vocational Guidance

BIG PAY IN BROADCASTING

FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Radio Broadcaster

IT ISN'T necessary to be a "star" to make good money in Broadcasting. There are hundreds of people in Broadcasting work who are practically unknown—yet they easily make $3,000 to $5,000 a year, while, of course, the "stars" often make $25,000 to $50,000 a year. If you have talent—if you have a good speaking voice, can sing, act, write direct or sell—then here is an amazing new method of practical training developed by Floyd Gibbons, that fits you—right at home in your spare time—for the job you want. Millions of dollars paid to trained talent every year. Men and women unknown today will be the high salaried Graham MacNamees, Olive Palmers and Floyd Gibbons of tomorrow. The Floyd Gibbons School will train you in the technique of Broadcasting so that you, too, may qualify for one of the big paying Broadcasting jobs open to men and women of talent and training. Our FREE book "How to Find Your Place in Broadcasting" gives full particulars regarding our Home Study Course. It tells you how to prepare for a good position in Broadcasting—how you can turn your hidden talents into money, without giving up your present job or making a single sacrifice of any kind. Send coupon for free book.

Floyd Gibbons School of Broadcasting, 2000 14th St. N. W., Dept. 2D14, Washington, D. C. Without obligation send me your free booklet "How to Find Your Place in Broadcasting" and full particulars of your home study course.

PURELY PERSONAL

• A. B. Chamberlain, Chief Engineer, and Stanley McAllister, head of the construction department, recently made a trip to Charlotte, N. C., to supervise arrangements for the new WBT 25Kw transmitter.

• Harry Reser, "Cliquot Club Eskimo" conductor for its seven years of broadcasting, is a direct descendant of David Crockett. There may be a wise crack wrapped up in this somewhere, but you'll have to find it yourself.

• James Wallington is still taking care of his voice, feeling that since it almost left him flat in an announcement the other night he'd better watch it. Rather a ghastly experience for a veteran, facing the microphone only to have laryngitis step up and "take it away."

• This scarcely merits attention, but here 'tis. The Singing Chef says a fellow broadcaster received a letter from a young lady asking him to sing the "Kashmiri Love Song," and to dedicate it to her anaemic sweetheart, "Pale Hans I Love."

• Arthur Mann, who plays several roles in "Real Folks," and George Frame Brown, who writes the sketch, met when they roomed in the same New York boarding house. Advised to "hire a hall" when the rural conversation grew too fast and furious, they did the next best thing and took the air.

• Gigli, Metropolitan Opera star, recently appeared on a "Sunday Circle" program to sing three numbers in English. And few of the audience realized that the tenor, who does not read English, sang from a phonetically written memorandum. Like this:

"Tak dhou dhis ros,
Dhis litel tender ros,
Dhi fairest flaoor."

• They say that the Stradivarius played by Samuel Levine, pupil of the late Leopold Bauer, almost cried when it played "Ooh, That Kiss" on a recent "Big Time" program.

• Fishing is a hobby of Alice Joy's. In Streator, Ill., she used to accompany her dad trout fishing, now she takes to deep water off Long Island. Which reminds us of the time they ran Sarah Bernhardt's private car out on the old Santa Monica pier so she might fish from the observation platform. (There was a stooge below the pier with a bucket of fresh fish, and he hooked them on the line as needed.)

• Carleton Boxill, tenor, drove a taxi for several years after the World War in order to earn his living. He studied music in his spare hours but was behind the wheel of a New York cab when he appeared as a guest vocalist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. The day of the dress rehearsal he drove his car up to the entrance of Carnegie Hall, parked it there while he rehearsed and as soon as his singing was over drove away looking for fares.

• "Buddy" Wagner, who holds the baton at the snooty Sutton Club, has moved from his apartment to a suite in the Park Central Hotel. His phone rang so much he couldn't get any sleep. Now he leaves word when he wants to be called, and even Mr. Sutton can't get him before he's ready.

Nan Dorland

"The Lane Reporter," a new weekly series, makes its debut over the WABC-CBS network on April 1, at 11:15 A. M. Nan Dorland, radio actress who knows her Hollywood, will take the title role in this new broadcast. She will concentrate her reporting upon Hollywood, and listeners will be taken on a figurative jaunt through the homes of screen stars as observed through the eye of this lithesome lass. The new series is sponsored by the makers of Lane Cedar Chests.

THE STORY OF THE OPERA
"Parsifal"

By DEEMS TAYLOR

NBC Narrator, Metropolitan Opera

This column is written each week for the purpose of giving the listener to the opera broadcasts a brief libretto of the series heard weekly over the NBC networks. It is hoped that it will serve as a guide for radio listeners, making it easier to thoroughly understand and enjoy the presentations.

IN "Parsifal," the third act of which will be broadcast for the first time over a WJZ-NBC network from the Metropolitan on Good Friday, March 25, at 4:00 p. m., Wagner turns for dramatic material to the legend of the Holy Grail. This work, given only at Bayreuth until 1913, by Wagner's express wish, represents the composer's literary and musical gifts in their most matured form.

THE CAST

Lauritz Melchior (Tenor).....Parsifal
Gertrude Kappel (Soprano).....Kundry
Clarence Whitehill (Basso).....Amfortas
Michael Bohnen (Basso).....Gurnemanz
Gustave Schutzendorf (Baritone).....Klingsor
Siegfried Tappolet (Basso).....Titurel
The cast also includes: Doris Eoe, contralto; Queen Mario, soprano; Louis D'Angelo, basso; Angelo Bada, tenor; Marek Windheim, tenor, and Max Altglass, tenor. Artur Bodanzky will conduct.

The first scene is laid in a forest on the grounds of the Knights of the Holy Grail, near Castle Monsalvat. The old Knight Gurnemanz awakens two young squires for their morning prayer, and bids two of the knights prepare a bath for their sick King, Amfortas, who suffers cruelly from a wound dealt him by the sorcerer Klingsor, the eternal foe of the Grail Knights.

Titurel, father of Amfortas, has built the castle to shield the Grail, and has appointed holy men for its service. Kundry, a sorceress in Klingsor's service, and the seducer of King Amfortas, is in the garb of a servant of the Grail. She brings balm for the King but it does not heal him. Only a "guileless fool" with a child's pure heart, who can bring back the holy spear and touch him with it, can heal his wound.

Suddenly, a dying swan sinks to the ground, and Parsifal, a young wanderer, appears. Gurnemanz immediately reproaches the youth for shooting the bird. But Parsifal has no knowledge of good and evil, and, when questioned, shows he even knows nothing of his own origin. Kundry, who recognizes him, relates that his father, Gamuret, perished in battle, and that his mother, Herzeleide, reared him, a guileless fool, in the desert. Parsifal is stunned, and experiences his first grief. Gurnemanz conducts him to the castle where the Knights of the Grail are assembled in a lofty hall.

At the opening of Act II, Klingsor's castle is revealed. Kundry, not as a demon now, but as a woman of imperious beauty, is commanded by Klingsor to seduce Parsifal. She presses his lips with a fervent kiss. But awakening passion at last reveals his duty to the youth. Calling upon the Saviour to save him, he starts up, spurning Kundry. Klingsor suddenly appears, and flings the holy spear at Parsifal, but it remains floating over his head, and the youth, grasping it, destroys Klingsor and his garden by the sign of the cross.

In the third and closing act, Kundry, as a penitent, washes Parsifal's feet and dries them with her own hair. Parsifal, seeing her so humble, baptizes her with some water from the spring. Parsifal, conducted to the King, touches his side with the holy spear, and the wound is closed. The grail is then revealed pouring a halo of glory over all. Kundry sinks dead to the ground, while Amfortas and Gurnemanz give homage to their new King.

Easy Aces

of singing and started out to bellow real manfully when he found the public swinging away from him.

To Bing's credit it must be said that he put the male crooners on-the-spot and swung public sentiment towards a more virile type of entertainment. Without destroying, or lessening its sex appeal, he added the manly robustness of a deep resonant baritone voice that offered a welcome relief from the dulcet, languorous, emasculated cooing erroneously called crooning.

Lady Luck stood by, a referee in the famous "battle of the baritones" in which Bing and Russ Columbo brought up the opposing force of the two nation-wide radio chains, and she didn't give Bing any the worst of the breaks. Through it all, the bo-bo kid continued to play along with his convivial companions and seemed to enjoy increasing popularity and success. Then it would seem he began to eschew his glass-blowing associations, and, taking a page from the book of Old King Hal, shook himself clean of his Falstaffian companions.

What's All Over

Crosby's wise associates say his rousing day is behind him. He has gone into training and is on the best behavior of his life and as fit as a fiddle. They explain his lack of a commercial hour is of no consequence because he is a high-priced entertainer and not interested in a period paying less than $3,500 per week. As a matter of fact, they blame the hour he was on for his poor impression. The idea of being sandwiched in between announcements that spit is a horrid word, and twenty-word blurbs, failed, they claim, to give Bing the setting he deserved. Lady Luck is a fickle Dame.

Like a meteor that flashes across the sky, some radio personalities flicker when their brilliance should be brightest. Bing Crosby is not alone in this meteoric flight, he is in illustrious company.

Maurice Chevalier traveled the course before him, made an even more brilliantly heralded start, and failed to make the grade. Was it that this idol of two continents was like a fish out of water, on the air? Was it necessary for him to cast a spell with that whimsical smile, the expressive shrug of the shoulder and the merry, knowing twinkle of his eyes? Or was he just indifferent and hard to manage? It will be recalled that he refused to broadcast more than three songs in any one period on the air, although his sponsors extended his period on the air from a half to a full hour.

It developed that Maurice had only about a half dozen songs in his repertoire, rather a scanty collection for a radio performer who is expected to do almost that many new ones each week. His contract was a fortunate one for him. It provided for a cancellation, in the event he found it necessary to return to France. He suddenly discovered he had forgotten to lock his kitchen door in gay "Paree," right in the middle of his radio contract, took the first boat home—and wasn't missed.

This recalls the entirely different attitude of another great artist and exponent of pantomime expression, Charlie Chaplin, when he was approached with a radio contract for twenty-six appearances for a half million dollars.

After Careful Consideration

Chaplin turned the offer down without a moment's hesitation on the ground that he had spent his entire life developing the art of pantomime, an entertainment diametrically opposed to radio. His thought was that he had built public acceptance for Charlie Chaplin in a different medium, and he was not going to take any liberties with his popularity and run the chance of spoiling an illusion that he had spent a lifetime creating. How accurately he gauged his own possibilities no one will ever know, but in the light of such eminent "flops" as Chevalier, Chaplin's judgment seems to have been sound.

Stars from other fields of entertainment flirt with radio because of its lucrative possibilities and stability. There is always the hope of a sponsor insuring the financial success of the "show," thus eliminating the whims of the fickle Lady of Chance. Among the latest recruits who have found a waiting audience are the irrepressible Georgie Jessel, and the lovable Elsie Janis.

Jessel's radio appearance in the Eddie Cantor spot brought forth an avalanche of protests from the disappointed audience, a protest that crystallized itself into letters and telegrams bearing the quaint inscription, "We want Cantor."

Why is it that Jessel isn't doing his free and easy ad lib style of entertaining, with an occasional Jesselesque song thrown in, to liven things up? His inability to get over, in his own right, looks as if he was "riding under wraps." In days gone by, and on other occasions, Jessel has turned in some very creditable radio performances, but this looks like a Damon and Pythias act and a strengthening of Cantor's hold on the hour, awaiting his return from the picture lots of Hollywood.

With Great Acclaim

With a fanfare of trumpets, Elsie Janis was catapulted into the radio firmament. Her light flickered before she got well under way and it is said to be a reflection of her patronizing attitude toward radio. Greater artists than the charming "Sweetheart of the A. E. F." have found it expedient, and helpful, to study radio rather than take the attitude that their art was faultless for any medium and couldn't fail to make a good impression. By this time the lady knows better.

Elsie found a medium as different from the stage as day is from night, and the mannerisms that sustained her in other efforts could not be brought to her support. Miss Janis would have done well to have followed the line of thought and action of Florence Austral, operatic diva, who, before she consented to appear on the Atwater Kent Hour, took three months to study radio, the audience, and the limitations of the new medium of entertainment.

The simplicity of her program startled her sponsors, who had an ambitious operatic program in mind. She was adamant, and sang such numbers as the "Last Rose of Summer," and some of Stephen Foster's selections, such as "Old Folks at Home"—the response was overwhelming—she wanted to please her audience, and she did.

And yet, where could one find a more representative group of entertainers than these? Their talent, their ability, their experience all leave but little to be desired. Their salaries would balance the proverbial "King's ransom" their names are known from one end of the world to the other. Certainly, they cannot by any stretch of the imagination be called inferior, amateurish, or below the average.

A Little Study

Radio stars who find themselves slipping would do well to study their audience. In the sanctity of the home, the radio fan is a discriminating, critical individual, not affected by the carnival atmosphere of the theater. He is not out for a good time at any price, but wants entertainment that pleases his most exacting tastes. There are no crowd diversions to cover up faults, no scenery on which the artist may depend and no soft lights and incense to create acceptance. Radio performers should keep these things in mind and shape their actions accordingly.

"Lady Luck!" Oft-invoked Goddess of Chance! Some of us shake the dice, whisper admonitions to the rattling ivories, and make the Lady come through. And some of us, gambling personal ability against the fickle jade herself, find that the dice are cocked, our chances cock-eyed, and Lady Luck most unkind.

So it goes. The entertainer goes up against Lady Luck once too often, finds that behind the microphone and the coldly impersonal glass of the control-room window and the fulsome remarks of the stooges there is a wise, discriminating public that just won't be kidded any more.

Perhaps it is John J. Public, not Lady Luck, who should be blamed? John J. Public can take it on the chin—poor chap, he's been doing it right along—but perhaps he figures he doesn't have to take it—from a microphone? Who knows?

Historic New Jersey Still Heads The Way

feet, watered with patriot blood. On a score of her battlefields the struggle for liberty was fought; a hundred spots have memories that make them national shrines. Who can forget Monmouth and Molly Pitcher? Or Springfield, where Parson Caldwell cheered on the blue-coated Continentals? Or the heights of Weehawken, where Alexander Hamilton fell? Or Washington's crossing of the Delaware, or the Rocky Hill House where he penned his farewell address to the American Army? Who has not been stirred in youth by the Leatherstocking Tales of that son of Jersey, James Fenimore Cooper, or by that other son, James Lawrence, whose dying cry, "Don't give up the ship," inspired to victory Perry's men at Put-in-Bay?

Historic State, Beautiful State, leader in education, leader in industry—to you, New Jersey, one of the brave original thirteen States, General Motors offers respectful tribute. To your spirit and your leadership every American is indebted. May your proud old motto be forever the motto of the nation that you helped to form: "Liberty and Prosperity."

By NONA BENET

• Wha - tah - da - da! Wha - tah - da - da! Rhythm! And what's more . . . BOSWELL Rhythm! A triad of harmonizers . . . The BOSWELL SISTERS . . . Connie, Vet and Martha . . . sometimes spoken of among themselves as "the Battling Boswells." You all know that it was in N'Awlins that they first saw light of day. They are not triplets.

Connie was born on December 3rd, twenty-three years ago. Martha was two years old when Connie entered her first bassinet and celebrates her birthday on July 9th. As for Helvetia (Vet), she's the baby and two years younger than Connie. They are pretty . . . dark hair . . . brown eyes . . . and lovely white teeth. They look very much alike.

Connie weighs 100 pounds and is 5 feet tall; Vet tips the scales at 114 and is 5 feet 4 inches; Martha—5 feet 3 inches—is the object of much kidding because she weighs 120 pounds. Claims she'd be sylph-like, too, if she didn't have to sit at the piano all day.

Vet does all the shopping . . . she designs their costumes for the stage, too. They like bright colors . . . and green is the one they wear for luck.

When they try out a new song over the air . . . and they're not sure of the arrangement . . . they sit with crossed fingers and make every one else in the studio cross their fingers. If two of them say the same thing at the same time . . . they will lock pinkies and wish . . . they avoid ladders and black cats . . . but ask them if they're superstitious . . . and they'll give you a hearty shout . . . "No!"

Always played instruments. Connie played a 'cello when a child of four. Formed a trio, with Vet playing the violin and Martha the piano. Then Connie bought a sax. They recorded and all New Orleans went wild about the record. Did a bit of local broadcasting and then one day came an engagement on the Orpheum Circuit. They were still at school . . . so to dodge the truant officer, they'd go to school a week and work a week, until they decided to try Chicago and big time. They made it . . . but they worked mighty hard.

They have untrained voices. The professor they studied music with hoped some day to arrange a concert tour . . . no one ever dreamed they'd do anything else but play classical music.

Talk about gags . . . one hour with them and you have enough for a vaudeville show.

Connie recently stated she was saving dimes . . . some radio columnist overheard and publicized it. Thereafter the mail contained many ten-cent pieces. In case you're interested, Martha wants it known . . . she's saving, too . . . dollar bills!

Martha recently declared she had purchased a hat with a veil . . . to which the quick-witted Connie replied . . . "I hope the veil is heavy enough!"

They have a swell time just among themselves.

Vet tap dances! They all assure you very well . . . but that, with the musical instruments, has been discarded. Everybody wants them to sing.

Credit Connie with the idea of making special arrangements. She made the first one and taught the others their notes. They did a lot of faking at first, they confide. Now, each one of them will have a suggestion for an arrangement . . . and that, folks, is one reason why the songs you hear are so unusual.

They are particularly careful with their fan mail. They treasure it. After it is carefully read, Martha answers it. They're a little bit behind on the reply right now . . . but that's because they're so busy. So if you're waiting for your acknowledgement . . . you'll be getting it in just a little bit.

"Scars! "Sure, I hung myself on a nail," exclaimed Martha, displaying an almost invisible two-inch mark over her left eye. "Not me," says Connie, "but you should see the others!" And Vet naively referred me to her vaccination.

Each one of them has a bit of jewelry they are sentimental about. Martha will not remove a pendant on a delicate chain about her neck . . . Connie always wears a wide gold band on her right hand . . . (It's generations old) . . . and Vet even bathes with an anklet.

They talk quickly . . . with a pronounced Southern accent . . . and all of them at once. They're forever contradicting each other . . . and it is a case of the one who speaks the loudest . . . being heard.

They have set various tasks for themselves. Martha answers the fan mail and phone calls . . . Vet makes the programs and takes care of the music . . . and Connie the arrangements and business matters. Have no time for exercising . . . unless it be their vocal chords. When they broadcast . . . the three of them sit on the one bench. Martha plays and Connie and Vet are on each side of her. The take-off, however, is at a rehearsal . . . and then you should hear the "Battling Boswells." They always end up friends, though!

Often sit up until 4:30 in the morning working on arrangements . . . and the people downstairs used to complain about the tapping of their feet . . . but not any more, they've solved the solution by buying a good thick rug.

Connie was only four years old when she played the 'cello with an orchestra . . . and that instrument, by the way, is her most cherished possession.

For her hobby . . . Martha enjoys making up stories and having people believe them . . . Connie likes to paint . . . and Vet has a pet penchant for handkerchiefs and perfumes. She's the one that upsets the Boswell Economy Plan by paying $1 and $1.50 per hanky. Vet also embroiders. All of them get a tremendous kick out of dressing up in grotesque costumes and posing for pictures. You should see their collection . . . they're masterpieces. They are noted for playing tricks.

Live in the West Fifties . . . and just to get that deep, low South atmosphere . . . they have a regular Mammy looking after them. They all smoke . . . but do not drink.

If you're planning on dating them . . . you'll have to take the three of them . . . they won't go alone.

Do everything backwards, they claim . . . even to arrangements and sleeping in the day and working all night.

Although they have two bedrooms . . . they sleep three in a bed . . . that is, as Connie says . . . when Martha has a chance to get in . . . and in pajamas. In fact, they're always in pajamas . . . gay, colored satin ones as costumes for the stage . . . and charming hostess pajamas around the house.

Saving the stamps from the fan letters . . . because some day they're going back to N'Awlins and going to paper the den with them. Maybe your stamp will be on the wall!

They are on a new commercial program. The Chesterfield Hour . . . a coast-to-coast network on WABC. They also sandwich in theatrical work and recording. Look 'em over! They made the world harmony-conscious . . . and when they sing all the pulsating rhythm . . . the lure of the South is given you . . . in the one and only Boswell Rhythm.

THE GOOFY BOYS IN RADIO

By Colonel Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle

IF it hadn't been for the Goofy Boys, this column would never have been printed. Goodness knows we have to blame it on some one!

Well, anyway, the Goofy Boys—Tom, Sam and Dick—are in radio. And what a whale of a dandy, peachy time they are having, too! Tom, the older of the three, and, therefore, the one who has to shave most often, is in charge of radio station WHEE, and his brothers, Sam, the fun-loving Goofy, and Dick, the youngest of the three laddies, are announcers, production men, electricians and what-not.

But there are sinister influences afoot at WHEE. You guessed it! It's that awful Dan Baxter oaf, who has been tinkering with the wires. In fact, only last Thursday, Tom went to the studio to find that all of the wires in the engineering room had been practically cut in half. Right away, Tom, to whom Sam and Dick looked up, called his two brothers and in a trice they were at the studio, glancing hither and thither at the broken wires and looking askance at one another as if to say, "Hm. This looks like the crafty handiwork of none other than that arch-demon, Dan Baxter."

And then suddenly a thought struck Sam, who for a moment forgot those dimples in his ruddy cheeks.

"I know, fellows," he said, as he gnawed on a nearby alligator pear. "This looks like the crafty handiwork of none other than that arch-demon, Dan Baxter."

Well, you could have knocked the others over with Jacques Renard, they were that flabbergasted, for this had been the very identical thought each had at the self-same time.

And while the three brothers are standing there in the engineering room, let us go back and see what Dan Baxter is doing. Or, if you wish, we will stand right here and see. Yes, that'll save cab fare.

Dan Baxter is a fiend in human clothing. Brought up amidst wealth and luxury, for some reason or other, he has turned to petty pestering and picayune cussedness for his pleasure. Well, let's take a weeny peek through those curtains in Dan Baxter's home and see just what this rascal is up to now. I think that'll sort of be fun, in a small way, don't you?

Here we are at the house. Let's draw aside the curtains. What? Dan Baxter not there? That spoils the whole idea I had in mind, darn it. Now, we'll have to return you to our studios, where Tom Goofy and his two brothers have finished the alligator pears and are preparing to go on the air.

"Seems to me I should be the announcer on this program," Dick is saying as we listen at the door.

"No. I think Sam should do it, Dick," says Tom, with a note of authority in his voice.

"I am the logical party, fellows," puts in Sam, the youngest of the three.

And that is how it is, from morn 'til night, even though these three boys are inseparable and quite fond of one another. And so the fight begins, with Tom crunching paper wads between his fine, even teeth to toss at Sam, Sam with his fists clenched ready for the fray and Dick (Richard) beginning to get his face into an actual grimace.

Soon the fight was over and the three brothers, arm-in-arm, and singing "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," marched into the main studio, none the worse for their "spat."

"Fellows," started Tom, "I think that in starting to broadcast we should do differently than the other stations. I myself am hook, line and sinker for more commercial announcements and less singing and stuff. In fact, I am personally for just commercial announcements."

"I don't care what you say, Tom," replied Sam, with his characteristic smile, "I am for more singing and stuff and less commercial announcements. What do you say, Dick?"

And Dick, who had meanwhile been cutting out paper dolls and leaving the scraps all over the floor, jumped up with a start.

"What?" he said, with a twinkle. "Never mind. You'll be neutral anyway," averred Tom, the older of the three.

And so the fight began. Tom, seizing a microphone, crashed it over Dick's head. Dick, realizing that here was the time for action, lay prone on the floor. Sam went back to his paper dolls.

Soon the phone began to ring and there was helter-skelter scurrying outside the door.

"Oh you three Goofy Boys—Tom, Dick and Sam!" cried a familiar voice. "Hundreds of people are calling in to congratulate you on the first program. It was swell, if you'll pardon the vernacular."

"Why we haven't been on the air yet. There must be some mistake here," said Tom, in dismay, and, seizing Dick from off the floor with a swish, he ran into the reception room.

"Miss Demeanor," he began, addressing the telephone girl, "Is it true that we are receiving literally hundreds of calls regarding a program which we are alleged to have put on the air?"

"Yes, Thomas," replied the operator, who had known Tom ever since he was a little boy in Lord Fauntleroy suits.

"Well, then, if that's the case, I guess we must have been on the air," philosophized Tom, and turning to Dick, he said:

"Dick, we were on the air during the second fight. What was that word you called me when I hit you with the microphone? Quick, now. Was it barred from the air?"

"Where am I?" replied the brother. And, so it was that the three Goofy Boys started a radio station. In case you didn't understand the story, what actually happened was that all the things the three brothers had called each other in the studio had gone out into the air.

And so we leave the three boys—Tom, Dick and Sam—their first program having gone over with a "bang," as Sam aptly put it, in a moment off guard. Who cut the wires? What motive led Dan Baxter to be away when we went back to see what he was doing? How could the program have gone out on the air with all the wires cut? How have you been lately?

All these questions and many more will be answered in the next episode of this thrilling tale, appearing in this paper next week. The next episode, by the way, will be called "Who Cut the Wires Practically in Half?" or "So's Your Old Antenna."

And here let us say good-bye. "Good-bye."
