

CHOOSE JAZZ KING!

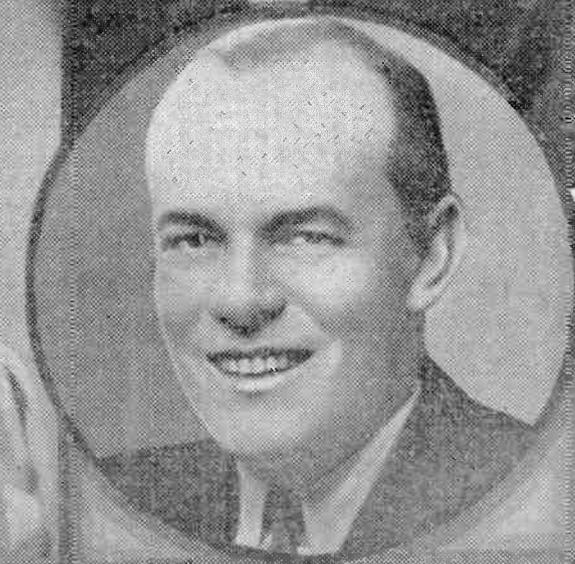

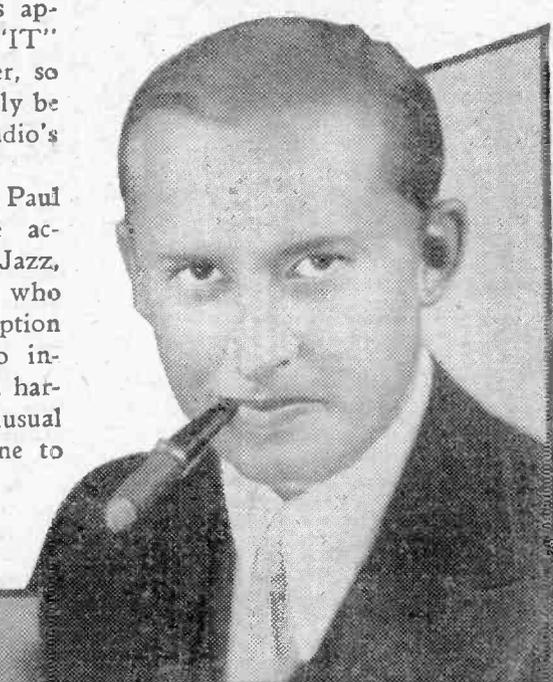

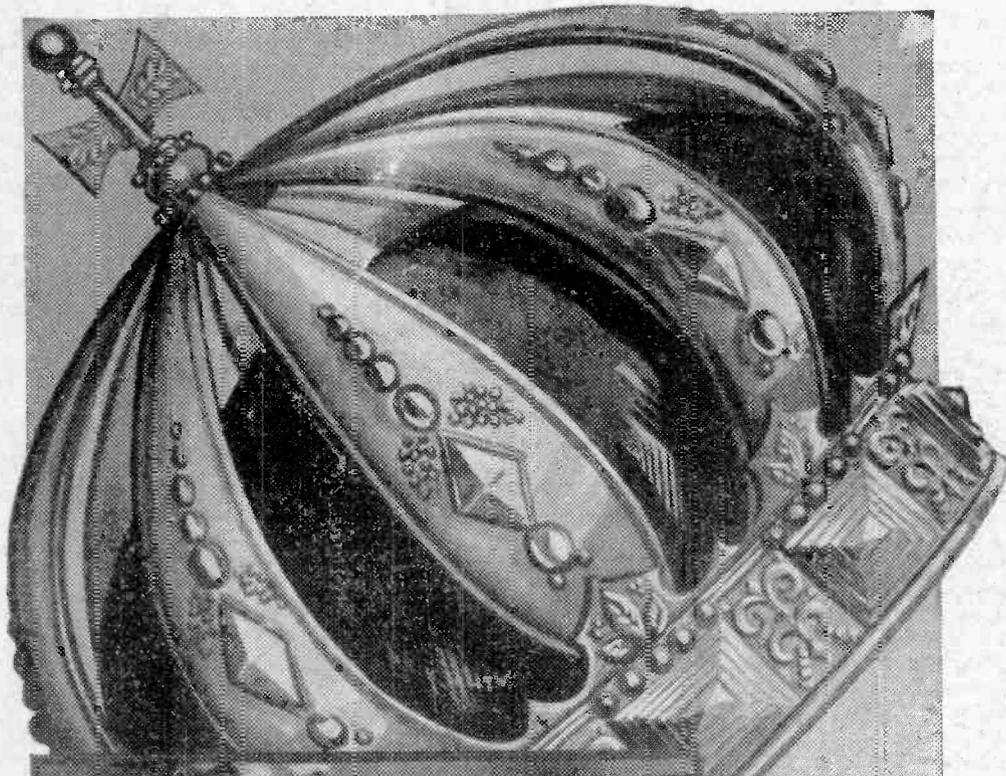

WHO IS America's King of Jazz? The public wants to know, the broadcasters want to know, and we want to know. Week after week, RADIO GUIDE has been deluged with letters extolling one or another of the most popular orchestras above all others. Ever since RADIO GUIDE'S "IT" Girl contest ended we have been asked to conduct a popularity poll for orchestras and their leaders.

So here goes! The race is on! And may the best maestro win! Popular music consumes more time on the air than any other form of entertainment, and it is probable that band leaders receive more mail from listeners than all the other radio favorites combined. America is amused and entertained by its jazz bands. Therefore, who is America's Jazz King? You—the public—will name him. RADIO GUIDE will crown him! Actually crown him, for to the winner will go the swankiest silver crown that the GUIDE can find!

A loving cup was appropriate for the "IT" Girl contest winner, so a crown will certainly be appropriate for Radio's Jazz King.

Ten years ago Paul Whiteman was the acknowledged King of Jazz, for it was Whiteman who broadened our conception of ragtime music to include perfect rhythm, harmony, and the unusual effects which combine to make the best popular music of the present day.

Public's Vote to Pick Radio Jazz King

Whiteman was Jazz King, and he may still be Jazz King! It is up to the public to decide. Certainly he is one of the favorites in the race for honors.

But there are hundreds of band leaders in America who are heard on the radio, and any one of them has a chance to win. True, we name some who loom, with Whiteman, as favorites.

There is Guy Lombardo, whose great orchestra is recognized everywhere as one of the best heard on the networks. And Ben Bernie, whose fan mail exceeds five thousand letters a week, whose vocalists, Jackie Heller and Pat Kennedy, are stars in their own right, and who delight millions weekly over the networks.

Rudy Vallee is right up there at the top, winning new honors with his exceedingly popular program of the moment. What about Wayne King, the "Waltz King"? He ought to be in the running for highest honors. And who is there to say that Isham Jones, Vincent Lopez, Don Pedro, Abe Lyman, Cab Calloway, Hal Kemp, Clyde McCoy, Ted Weems, Jack Denny, or Frankie Masters won't win?

Then there's William Stoess, George Olsen, George Hall, Art Kassel, Bernie Cummins, Ted Fio-Rita, Carl Moore, Eddie Duchin, and Mark Fisher. All of them have a chance. Not to speak of Charlie Agnew, Harry Sosnik, Ben Pollack, Herbie Kay, Frankie Trumbauer, Don Redman, Danny Russo, Phil Spitalny, Don Bestor, Jan Garber and many, many others far too numerous to mention.

You just clip your ballot and take your choice. It's like a Presidential election with a hundred major parties and a hundred candidates. You can paste the ballot (see facing page) on the back of a postcard.

The balloting will last for five or six weeks, time enough to give every RADIO GUIDE reader an opportunity to vote.

One of the anticipated features of the voting will be the standings of Ted Weems and George Olsen. When Weems replaced Olsen on the Canada Dry Hour much comment resulted. Hundreds of letters were received by RADIO GUIDE giving opinions on the change.

Broadcasters say that orchestras very popular in some sections are almost slighted in others. Cities, states, and whole sections of the country have their favorite bands.

Thus, in Cincinnati, William Stoess, the "Flying Dutchman," might be king, while Chicago might be heart and soul for Ben Bernie or Wayne King. The West Coast is expected to go strong for Ted Fio-Rita, while New York likes Jack Denny and Paul Whiteman. New England will probably favor Vallee. Nobody can say what the solid South will do, but who can doubt that Cab Calloway will carry Harlem?

RADIO GUIDE will closely watch the ballots, by sections, so we can report which orchestra leaders are favored in certain cities and states.

Orchestras heard over the networks will, of course, possess an advantage over the bands which reach the public over only one station. RADIO GUIDE will endeavor to designate the local bands, so that although their total may be considerably smaller than the leaders, they will be able to receive recognition.

Here it is, the long-sought battle of the bands! Just clip that coupon on page two and join the fight. It will be hot!

The Editor's Mail Box

RADIO GUIDE readers are invited to ask questions concerning their radio favorites and broadcasts. If the information is interesting, we will print it in this column. No personal replies will be made.

This letter was received in answer to a query printed in Editor's Mail Box several weeks ago, when we stated that Jane Dillon's present whereabouts are not known.

"Dear RADIO GUIDE:

This is in repl. to an article I read in your very fascinating magazine.

Jane Dillon commences a new series of broadcasts over WICC Bridgeport, Connecticut, 600 kilocycles, on Monday, December 26 at 6:30 p. m., EST. I thought you might be interested in hearing of this as I am sure many of Miss Dillon's previous listeners will appreciate knowing this. Thanking you kindly, I remain an ardent reader of the RADIO GUIDE.

Betty Gay."

N. B. Miss Gay herself is a staff artist of WICC and RADIO GUIDE expresses appreciation of her co-operation in this matter.

R. S., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania—Sid Gary is at present on a vaudeville tour, and when he will be back on the air is indefinite.

Miss E. D., Interlaken, N. Y.—Both chains broadcast any number of male quartets. Here are a few of the programs: The Ambassadors, NBC-WJZ, Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 1:30 p. m. EST; The Upstagers, NBC-WEAF, Thursday at 9:30 a. m.; The Balladeers, NBC-WEAF, Sunday at 9 a. m.; The Four Clubmen, CBS-WABC, Wednesday at 10:45 a. m.; The Four Eton Boys, CBS-WABC, Wednesday at 3:45 p. m.; The Roundtowners, CBS-WABC, Wednesday at 10 p. m. and again Friday at 2:45 p. m.

J. F. Mc, Bradley, Ill.—Sorry, but at present the Three Keys have no Chicago outlet. They broadcast at 11 p. m. CST over NBC-WEAF, WJR, WFBR, WRC and again at 10 p. m. CST, NBC-WJZ, WBAL, WHAM and WIS.

Mary De S., Philadelphia, Pa.—We regret to report that Jerry O'Meara, who has been Mr. Silo in "Orphan Annie," is dead. Harry Cansdale will take the part in the future.

Miss G. A., Wilmington, Del.—Lanny Ross is a big blue-eyed blond, twenty-six years of age. Scrappy Lambert also has blue eyes, he wouldn't tell us his age.

Mrs. P. G., Hampshire, Ill.—The name Pierre Andre certainly is of French extraction. It might be rendered into English as Peter Andrews. However, this is only a nom de aire, as Pierre is Phil Litman in private life.

J. M., Waterville, Me.—The Boswell Sisters have been with Chesterfield's sponsored program for approximately one year. If you like their music, you might tune in their sustaining program put on for the new year by Columbia.

Miss M. C., Stamford, Conn.—Once again we will say that Will Osborne is at present in the Club Forrest, New Orleans, where he is broadcasting locally over station WDSU. When he will come back to his old haunts, we cannot say.

L. J. B., Chicago, Illinois—J. Harrison Isles is "Cheerio" in NBC's morning presentation.

Mrs. H. B. S., Liberty, New York—Phil Cook is at present off the air, although rumor has it that he will soon be signed for a new program. We are unable to check definitely on this.

Ken Murray is the air's newest comedian. He's heard as master of ceremonies in the Royal Vagabonds program broadcast over NBC-WLS at 7 p. m. Wednesdays.

Plums and Prunes

By Evans E. Plummer

Chicago, Illinois

WITH 1933 rolling along its merry way to fame and fortune (we hope), the regular business before the meeting is that of making resolutions. Of course, many of these have been broken before and already, but one which the National Broadcasting Company has made is particularly meritorious and worthy of mention.

It is: To make fewer last-minute changes in announced NBC programs. Benson K. Pratt, good will ambassador of the Chicago NBC studios, has been making an extensive study of the problem. He hopes to reform the network's program shufflers so that after they deal out the hours at the beginning of the week, no more than several deuces and treys will be palmed before the listener draws his entertainment hand come Friday or Saturday.

Nothing annoys a fan more than to discover that the program promised by RADIO GUIDE has suddenly evaporated; nothing spurs a RADIO GUIDE program editor to premature insanity more rapidly than to be blamed for the whimsical program switches indulged in by chain and local stations for which he knows RADIO GUIDE will take the "rap." May the Columbia System resolve likewise.

Reviewing Mike Porter—

Mike Porter Column (herein January 1-7 edition) slightly brittle but bright in spots. Lead paragraph very dull because of a sour subject named Plummer. Printing and type selection nice, but who is this guy Plummer? I read what Plummer said about Lombardo's trip to Europe. He intimated plans were being made to broadcast from the boat and the Continent. So why shouldn't the extended cigar airing contract be appeased regardless? Guy, Carmen and the rest of the brothers needn't be stopped by the mere Atlantic Ocean. And when they get to the middle, they can drop off Gracie and George Allen. Reading through to the bitter Porter end, the writing gentlemen is naive about those public program tryouts. Or isn't that what we've been having more or less for the past twelve years? A fire hydrant full of prune juice to you, Mickey.

Easy Aces sponsor has renewed with the WABC-Columbia, despite a strong effort on the part of the competition to get the show . . . There'll be no real female Madame Queens or Ruby Taylors in A. & A. for a long, long time, if then, and Mike, the boys will be visiting you this week in N'Yawk.

Dial Blank Fillers—

When your dials fail to produce better than Cantor or Price, turn off the set and try this children's program problem, par three minutes:

A man has six bills (real treasury notes) in his pocket. There are no one dollar bills, but they total $63 in value. What are the denominations?

What's more, Mr. Porter, if you don't stop interrupting me, I'm going to write a letter about you to the "Voice of the Listener" . . . or maybe I'll enter your name in the band leader contest.

Vagrant Pickups—

High-hat critic of The Forum lists his preferred dial diet for 1932 in order thus: 1. Ed Wynn; 2. March of Time; 3. Lawrence Tibbett; 4. Grace Moore and the Revelers; 5. Radio Guild; 6. First Nighter for best melodramas; 7. Ben Bernie for lack of stodginess and platitudeness . . . First Nighter Hughes rejoices . . . Seth (Phillips Lord) Parker, it is noted, is one of the Forum's critic's pains-in-the-neck . . . Which reminds that Hughes is auditioning another show, "Talkie Picture Time" . . . Boake Carter, new nightly CBS reporter, was brought to light by his covering of the Lindbergh kidnaping . . . Secretary Helen Kelly of NBC's Niles Trammell threw a New Year's Eve party with mimeographed invitations . . . Chicago CBS held a "secret" costume party last week attended by Harlow Wilcox, Joe Ainley, Frank Westphal and Bill Cooper wearing long gray beards and with banners across their shirt fronts labeled "client"! . . . which reminds that Bill (Mendoza) Cooper's Foreign Legion, coming to you later this Sunday, will go back to the old time next week because the West Coast stations want the program badly but not too late.

Off a Live Mike—

Absent while waiting a month to tune in Doc Stork has been Ethel of the WLS Three Little Maids, and a substitute was hired. Last week the sub quit in a huff, and then there were two little maids! . . . Dolores Gillen, the radactress, found a pedigreed wire-haired terrier pup in her sock Christmas and now asks her other admirers for a name . . . Larry Levy has hibernated to the Maryland Hotel pending the opening of a new radio center.

Belated plums to Harry Sosnik for neat work at the College Inn while Bernie theatered . . . and prunes to Bebe Franklin, the WGN organ vocalist whose work isn't so neat.

Best hopes for a speedy recovery to Lawrence (WGN Troubadour) Salerno who took the flu, then a throat ailment, and finally the doctor's order for six weeks' rest in California . . . Helena Ray and Ray (C. (Continued on Page Eight)

Plums and Prunes By Evans Plummer

Tiffinguffer) Hedge of Myrt and Marge are "just good friends" . . . Imagine the drowning fisherman's surprise when Mr. Herring, NBC musician, fished him out of the Chicago River! It occurred right by the Merch Mart where anything can and often does happen.

The Neal Sisters, ex-NBC trio with a jinx, spelled it Neil and now, luck changed, are spotted on WBBM . . . The Morin (NBC trio) Sisters should make an alteration to save typographical embarrassment.

Mother of Gene (handsome) and Charlie (auto wrecker) Kretsinger, the WBBM food and sausage glorifiers, has opened a home-cooking restaurant for CBS folk exclusively at 110 E. Illinois, first floor . . . NBC-ites plot a test of the victuals . . . WIBO, with new life after its recent court victory, will move into the remodeled old NBC studios and offices at 180 N. Michigan next week.

Reviewing the Chains—

Carveth Wells (Wednesday, December 28, at 9:30 p. m. CST on NBC) explores America with a broad English accent. Mr. Wells would be extremely enjoyable to an Oxford graduate. But then the latter would probably know all of Mr. Wells' answers already. Continuity interesting; voice pruny.

CORN COB PIPE CLUB (Wednesday, Dec. 28, 9 p. m. CST on NBC) bring you Jake and the boys and the Squire in a homey, comfortable bill of different music and good singing, coupled with natural humor. They are natural accents of the Southland you hear, for the show comes from Richmond, Va. Credit manipulation splendid. A basket of plums.

WALTER WINCHELL (Sunday, Dec. 25, 8:30 p. m. CST on NBC) hitting on all four with passes at Bernie and scoop news about President Hoover's promise to veto beer bills. No one would have suspected that Winchell's oldest daughter, Gloria, lay on her death bed—no one except Walter. It must have been tough to put on the show, so here's a carload of plums.

FRED ALLEN'S CLUB (Sunday, Dec. 25, 8 p. m. CST on CBS) found me enrolled again to chuckle over his department store gift exchange and Roy Atwell's slapstick, but always good spoonerisms. Whoever says Allen isn't one of the champ air funmakers must have a depression in their funnybone. A plum pudding, Freddie.

Purely Personal

"If you'll stay with me till the end of my broadcast, it'll be 'Just About Right For me,'" said FRANKIE MASTERS last Thursday night, announcing that song over WMAQ. And "If you'll stay with me till the end of my program, it'll be 'Just About Right For Me,'" declared VINCENT LOPEZ less than fifteen minutes later over NBC with WMAQ the Chicago outlet. Maybe they use the same gag men, or what?

PATRICIA ANN MANNERS, now heard as "Gwen" and "Alice De Wald" in CBS' "Myrt and Marge" will celebrate her first wedding anniversary with the aid of her husband, Alfred E. Schieble, Sunday, January 8. The exact hour is 5 p. m., and the pair plan a tea at their home, 40 E. Oak street, Chicago.

"HOTCHA" GARDNER, saxophonist and vocalist on the Oldsmobile NBC program, Saturday nights at 8:30 p. m., over WMAQ, joined the ranks during the Christmas week. Josephine Larkin was the bride, Frederick, Maryland the place, Monday, December 26. Mrs. Gardner is seven years older than her new husband, and has been married before.

Winning Mikritics

Radio Guide, to make this column more interesting and amusing, wants to print the "boners" and "bulls" that often slip into the microphone and that are interesting and amusing. Of course, we will continue to print some of the best jokes and gags heard on the air, too. One dollar will be paid to the winners each week. A quotation must not be more than fifty words long, must give the time, date, and station on which it was heard, and must be accompanied by name and address of sender. Address your letters to Mikritic, care of Radio Guide.

Yessir, Kate Smith is reducing! The popular Columbia singer plays tennis daily in a court adjoining her Hollywood residence. She's on the coast making her first starring picture for Paramount, aptly titled "Hello, Everybody." Kate is fast on her feet, and plays a good game of tennis—better than most screen stars.

REVIEWING RADIO

By Mike Porter

*Little Ev Plummer
Sat looking glummer,
Eating his Christmas pie;
He stuck in his spoon,
And pulled out a prune—
And said: "Ah—for that Porter Guy!"*

SAYS the customer: "So what's going to happen in the radio field, in 1933?" Says I: "You're asking me!"

For weeks and weeks, even days, I've combed my astrological whiskers, wrinkled my senile brow, until it looks like a Plummer prune, and gazed, with watery eyes into the crystal. The only thing I could discern was a mug of beer.

However, when the crystal refused to rend the curtain behind which the future spreads, I hope, in happy vista, I called in the studio savants, the opulent observers, the sagey seers, and even a few rampant radio editors, and after a lot of foam blowing, etc., I managed to list down a few of the shrewder predictions.

- (1) Satisfactory radio business in 1933, equalling if not surpassing sponsorial expenditures of 1932. (Is the man an optimist?)
- (2) Greater profits to networks, due to assured business, mainly, but also to a determination to cut into maintenance budgets. (Tsk! Tsk!)
- (3) The gradual elimination of the theme song as a radio institution. (yo, ho!)
- (4) A general simplification of music, due to the leadership in this project of Frank Black, head of the NBC music department.
- (5) A general refinement of comedy, with a trend away from word plays and toward subtle and ludicrous situations. An accompanying refinement of advertising announcements.
- (6) Longer features—possibly popularizing 90-minute shows.
- (7) A desperate effort by the networks to snatch the show-building business from advertising agencies.
- (8) Dumping of television on the market, whether it becomes practicable or not.
- (9) Continuance of the good old radio custom of robbing the stage for names.
- (10) A persistent effort to freshen perennial programs by the introduction of bigger and better guest artists.
- (11) Congressional activity toward imposing license fees upon broadcasting stations, to remove the financial burden of radio control from the shoulders of the government.
- (12) Acute trouble with daily newspapers over free radio publicity and program listing; the curtailment by the dailies of radio news and a possible restriction on all news broadcasts until newspapers have published the items.

IF I may follow a quaint old radio custom that expects to be respected around this season, I'd like to list (for better or worse) the names of those who scintillated in the radio firmament during 1932. And whether you agree or not—here are the selections:
Seven most popular men:

Short Wave and DX

DX Editor:
Just a few notes that may be of interest to your readers in their short-wave and DX work.

YVIBC at Caracas, Venezuela, is a rather new South American station that comes in very good here. They are on 49.34 meters, I believe, and I have heard them up to 10:30 p. m. (CST) on Sunday night, and to 9 p. m. Thursday. I have written to them, and hope to learn their entire schedule.

WEXL, a 50-watter at Royal Oak, Mich., on 1310 kc., comes in strong. They are on every night except Saturday and Sunday, from 1:30 to 5 a. m., with a program called the Moonlight Broadcasters.

KWKC, 1370 kc., 100 watts, Kansas City, Mo., is heard almost every night after midnight with a program of phonograph records.

WEFZ a low-power station at Monterey, Mexico, has been heard several times a week with DX programs. I do not know their schedules, but my letter for verification reported a program heard early on Wednesday morning, near 1:30 a. m. Their wave length is near 1320 kc., probably on a split frequency.

Now I would like a little help myself. What station was broadcasting an electrical transcription (though not announced as such) by Anson Weeks and his orchestra, from 1:15 to 1:30 a. m., December 15, 1932, with a five-minute break in transmission from 1:22 to 1:27? (Time is given in Central Standard). This station left nothing but a strong whistle, like a carrier, on the air at 1:30, and made no announcement. Station was on 1320 kilocycles. Would be pleased to have anyone who can identify this station write to me.

Would also like to have the name and address of the operator of XIQ, a Mexican amateur station.

For those interested in reception records, I'll list a few of my best catches: WRDO, KASA, WJEJ, WTFI, KGGM, WJTL, WBRE, WDAS, CWCY, KYPM, 10-AB, WGH, and others, during the past few weeks. Verifications have been requested from most of these, and I hope to have DX news from some of them. All DX tips will be sent to RADIO GUIDE.

DOGS! Everybody loves dogs; that's understood. But few people realize what a big part dogs—all sorts of dogs—play in the lives of the hundreds of highly-paid entertainers who troop before the microphone to provide radio entertainment for millions of Americans.

According to a master psychologist: "Pets, and especially dogs, form an emotional outlet for sensitive people. The simple expedient of patting the head of a dog is a relief from high tension. If I were director of a radio studio, I'd have several non-barking dogs around just to curb the pent-up emotions of artists about to go on the air."

Perhaps that's the reason for the proportionately great number of dogs that frisk around the homes of your radio favorites. "Own a dog and escape mike fright." Or it may be that air entertainers do not lead the proverbial roving life of the theater. Many of them own their own homes, and live like bank tellers or bank presidents, depending on their salaries. Theirs is not the hectic life of Hollywood or the theater.

Dogs aren't their only pets, although dogs predominate. The Countess Olga Albani owns a fox, a pert little creature that combines the mannerisms of a chow and a tabby cat. Browning Mummery, tenor with the Ambassadors quartet, has a furry honey bear. Chester Pecararo, orchestra director at the Chicago NBC studios is the possessor of a parrot who can imitate Graham McNamee.

Jean Paul King has a Persian cat, a blue ribbon winner, while Bess Johnson, the dramatic actress, is crazy about horses. She now owns a beautiful thoroughbred, winner of several races. Of course Chicago's loop is no race track, so Miss Johnson keeps him in Virginia.

Perhaps the oddest pets are the frogs owned by Eunice Howard, the actress. Why does she like frogs? Why do some people like spinach?

Most useful pet is Big Kernel, Irma Glen's canary bird, the little fellow who broadcasts to the dulcet harmonies of the organ. But Big Kernel, unlike his mistress but like a good many radio celebrities, has a bad touch of temperament. Now and then he refuses to warble unless all the studio lights are turned on. Just a spotlight hound.

Most prolific pets are owned by Allan Baruch, who plays in the "Orphan Annie" sketches. They're tropical fish, and they breed so rapidly that sometimes Allan comes home at night to find the population of his aquarium doubled.

But to get back to dogs. Everybody knows that Ben Bernie loves "hosses," especially if they're fast, and incidentally there's a race horse named Ben Bernie training at New Orleans. But Bernie loves dogs with a greater fervor than horses. His pride and joy is a Great Dane, which looks like a dog but is about the size of a horse.

You've seen the advertisement, "His Master's Voice." Well Harriet Cruise has a Scotch terrier, named Tammy, which she left in her little Nebraska home town when she came to Chicago to find radio fame at the Columbia studios. And the home folks swear that Tammy recognizes Harriet's voice of the radio. Soon Miss Cruise hopes to bring her to Chicago for good.

Lucille Long thinks her Spitz is the cutest pup in the world. In the picture he looks like a small, white fur neck piece.

Joan Kay, dramatic actress who appears on the program with Howard Thurston, has a pair of pekinese. Favorite sport of Miss Kay is locking one of the pekes in the kitchen and then having the other jump out from behind the sofa. Guests call her "Miss Thurston."

Morgan L. Eastman, who directs the orchestra on the Carnation Contented program, has a wire-haired terrier called "Skipper." The pup stands beside his master when he goes yachting. That's how he got his name.

Most radio stars can afford thoroughbred dogs, and pay between $50 and $300 for them. But Josef Koestner is attached to a little nondescript mongrel who doesn't know his own father, and doesn't care, and who pays no attention to Koestner at all when his master goes on the air. But they go

Then there was happiness in the Sims household, until a few days ago, when the Great Dane died. Lee is grieving, and we can't blame him.

Another who regrets the passing of his pets is Gene Autry, Oklahoma yodeling cowboy to many stations and currently on WLS. A year ago when he came to WLS he brought along his two pedigreed police dogs. Both caught pneumonia and died.

Love birds are pets of Jessica Dragonette, toast of the Bourbon concerts, and canary birds are very much a hobby of "Gwen Rogers" (Patricia Ann Manners) of Myrt and Marge. Miss Manners owns eight, two of which are of a rare snow white species, and she spends her leisure moments breeding them.

Kate Smith, portly favorite singer of songs, is proud of her champion royal-blooded police dog. On every tour he accompanies his mistress and his name—we've forgotten—is full of titles and much longer than that of the Songbird of the South.

And here's a dog that understands both German and English. He's the pride of band leader Frank Trumbauer, former saxophone soloist with Paul Whiteman, who imported the parents of Frank's German Schnauzer from Paris. Whiteman's father in Colorado breeds the Schnauzers and Paul presented one of the pups—later to win countless blue ribbons—to Trumbauer.

When Whiteman's orchestra was in Hollywood for the filming of "The King of Jazz," Colleen Moore, of screen fame, tried her best to purchase Trumbauer's Schnauzer, but Frank wouldn't let him go. Not only was he a gift from Paul but he had become a mascot and pet. The Dean of Modern Music is also interested in pedigreed Persian cats and has several of them. Paul can bestow no greater honor on friends than one of these as a gift.

Many radio stars have received dogs as presents from their admirers. But few of them can be kept. You see, the average radio artist is overwhelmed with a plethora of dogs already.

hiking together.

Loretta Poynton has a dog that is almost as old as she is. Loretta, you know, is nineteen, and when she was a little tot, going to kindergarten, she teamed up with a beautiful shepherd. They have been together since.

Appropriately enough, "Sandy" is the name of the mongrel pup owned by Shirley Bell. Sandy might have been modeled for a comic strip. Shirley Bell is "Little Orphan Annie" of the radio skit of the same name.

Bill Cooper, who plays Mendoza in the "Foreign Legion" sketches, has a Scotty which he has named Geivil. He named him Geivil because Geivil doesn't mean anything, and Mr. Cooper wanted to be different.

Eddie Cantor has a clever-looking little pup which romps around the house with Eddie's seemingly innumerable girl children. Edwin C. Hill, the newscaster, has a fine pointer. They go hunting together.

At first we thought that it was Pat Flanagan who owns the pekinese. Actually, it is Mrs. Flanagan, and Pat thinks the peke is effeminate. He wants a bulldog.

Myrtle Vail, of Myrt and Marge, has no dogs. But she has two goldfish, named "Spear" and "Mint."

Lee Sims, the piano wizard, and Ilomay Bailey, his charming wife, both are crazy about dogs. Ilomay had a perk peke. Lee has no masculine dog. So he went out and purchased a baughty, Great Dane, the same one that you see in the picture.

of the pets of radio-land! to right we have Lee Sims and Ilomay, with Ilomay's peke and great Great Dane (the big fellow Joan Kay and her two pekes, she amazes her visitors; Lucille her spry little Spitz, which she and her neck like a fur; Countess her pet fox; and Ben Bernie with mighty Dane.

Radio's Perfect Lovers—the Downeys

By Larry White

IF we were to search the whole world for two perfect lovers our search would end in the home of the Morton Downeys, and I'm sure when you read the following story you will agree with me.

Two little words were softly whispered into the microphone at the CBS studios night after night during the Camel quarter hour. From the microphone they leaped through the ether to millions of radio listeners. Yet only one of those listeners knew exactly what they meant. That one was once Barbara Bennett, sister of Joan and Connie, daughter of Richard, and famed screen beauty in her own right. Now she is Barbara Bennett Downey, and very much "that one" to radio's tenor king. The words were "Goodnight, lover." The voice that uttered them was Morton Downey's.

Most of the vast radio audience missed the words entirely, and heard only the silver voice raised in songs that warmed their hearts and thrilled them. Barbara thrilled to the songs, too, but when the song was ended, and the famous voice stilled, she was intent for the "Goodnight, lover," which was hers alone. It was their little secret for a long time, and it puzzled the nation until Sammy gave it away. Sammy is the callboy at CBS, and it happened one night that he overheard Morton Downey call his wife "lover."

THEY are lovers—to each other and to the world. From the time of the first meeting under the glare of the Kleig lights and the tension of the movie studios, their romance has been the love story of America's ideal couple. Luckily enough, the picture that brought them together was "Lucky In Love." The result of a whirl-wind three-week courtship (and maybe a little luck) has proved the title to have been aptly chosen. Morton Downey is a great believer in Lady Luck anyway. He carries two good luck charms on each end of a watchless watch chain, and they certainly work overtime!

Before the happy couple could scamper off on their honeymoon, there was an eight weeks' engagement at the Casanova Club in New York to be thought of. All that was back in 1929, and Downey had not yet been introduced to the radio audience that has since raised him to such heights. After the Casanova engagement was over they packed up and went to Palm Beach for that delayed honeymoon. Palm Beach was at the height of its most delightful season, and even a little livelier because of the happiness of a certain pair of honeymooners. THE honeymoon over, the Downeys turned to home-building. They built a lovely little home in Westchester, New York City's beautiful suburban area, and settled down to planning for the future. The nursery was carefully planned, and the newlyweds looked forward to the time when it would really be used. Barbara had her new car, so she was able to run into town whenever she liked. Morton sang as he had never sung before, and his voice had a new inspiration. He opened his own Club Delmonico, and it was from here that he was first heard over the radio. His inspired singing made him a radio favorite from the very start. Fan mail poured in, imitators sprang up everywhere, sponsors dickered for his services, and he was given a nightly seven-o'clock period. He has become the outstanding tenor of the air waves. A far cry indeed from the days when his singing was heard only on New York, New Haven, and Hartford railroad coaches, where he was a news and confection venter who found that his singing stimulated sales. Downey believes faithfully in luck and love!

Then he became the Camel minstrel boy on the Camel quarter hour, and began to whisper the now famous "Goodnight, lover" into the microphone. For a long time these whispered words attracted no attention. It was simply the private little confidence of Morton and Barbara. Those who didn't hear them over the radio didn't matter to the lovers. Those who did were just mystified, for the story had not gotten round. When the true meaning became known he discontinued the murmured greeting, for it was no longer their own little secret.

AND now the long-looked-for day has come when the Downey nursery is being put to its intended use. The little room is now filled with the coos and gurgles of a baby boy. Morton was just as worried as a worried husband can be, right up until the moment he became a proud father. Always the showman, but first the lover he had a phone installed backstage in the Capitol Theater in New York City, where he was then appearing, so he could talk directly with Barbara at the hospital. And while sonny was being brought into the world, daddy was greeting him to the tune of "Welcome Home, Little Stranger." "Goodnight, lover," will often be whispered again, but privately, now. And Morton must not forget to add "Goodnight, sonny!"

WHAT HAPPENS TO FAN MAIL? — YOU'D NEVER GUESS

By Margaret King

THERE'S no doubt about it, fan mail is the pulse that beats through the lives of radio stars. Do they take it seriously? Of course they do. But put yourself in the position of an average microphone slave. His day is a full one. The batch of fan mail he receives, if he reads it all personally, might take four or five hours, for some of them are pages long, in fine handwriting. What would you do in a case like that? It is hard enough to find a breathing space in the day.

Then consider the position of the radio fan. He is taking time out of his day to write his favorite star a letter, either complimentary, or with an axe to grind. He may even feel like confiding to him, or asking him a favor. Naturally, the fan expects personal attention. Often, fan letters do get individual attention, and I am about to explain when, and where and how and why.

A radio fan, as we admitted before, actually controls the destinies of programs, and helps to usher in new trends—comedians, torch singers, drama;—the fan soon indicates whether he wants more of each, or less. However, the illusion of the average radio fan, that he is the only pebble on the beach, is erroneous.

FOR often fans demand aid that could only be accomplished with Aladdin's Lamp. The easiest thing to grant is request numbers,—but not always at the date, and at the moment, requested. Take for instance the case of the young man who has been attempting for some time to work up courage to propose to his girl. He is sure he won't feel so nervous if he can only have the proper music background to lend atmosphere as he pops the question. (Therefore, Bing Downey, will you please sing "I Surrender Dear" on February 2, 12 p. m., 1933?) Poor Bing, even if he chose this request out of others, he might have difficulty to time the number so that the strains would reach the ears of the young couple at the desired moment.

Other fans, well-meaning, but hard to please, ask if an artist won't please repeat a program scheduled last Saturday evening. They had been looking forward to it, but were called suddenly out of the house.

Between giving compliments, begging an autographed picture, or asking questions that ought to go to Dorothy Dix, the stars receive a flux of mail, particularly good-hearted, understanding individuals like Tony Wons, with his homely philosophy, and Kate Smith with her cheerful voice. The answer is that for the ordinary fan letter, the stars employ secretaries who convey acknowledgement and thanks from the star to the fan. The more unusual letters are always read carefully by the star, and often answered personally by the more conscientious.

TAKE Kate Smith first. She draws a great deal of fan mail from housewives. More than once has Kate dictated a recipe for devil's food cake to go to a housewife beyond the Mason Dixon or West of the Rockies. Shut-ins and invalids seem to be particularly heartened by Kate, and you know that she sends messages to her fans, has visited many personally, and drops into hospitals and sanitariums frequently, to give them a smile and a tune on the spot. Kate too, obliges requests for autographed prints. Prints are expensive, and there are few stars who can afford to distribute them to fans, however much they would like to.

AND that reminds me of the Boswell Sisters, who whimsically turn the tables, and reply with requests for photographs of their fans. They want to know what their audience looks like, they assert. Martha is the Boswell who enjoys answering fan mail. Here, incidentally, is an excerpt from their fan mail:

"Dear Connie, Vet and Martha: No doubt you had early struggles too. Well, I'm having mine and am wondering if you would do me a teeny, weeny favor. I am learning to play the banjo and because I live in an apartment, the neighbors object. So I've got the unusual idea of fooling them by doing my practice along with the playing of the radio—that is, accompanying the programs by ear, and I find that you girls have got just the style I want. However, I don't seem to get the exact pitch, or tuning, and wonder if you would oblige by singing next Monday, 'Hand Me Down My Walking Cane' in the key of E flat, so as I'll know, and you can leave out that funny break at the beginning so as not to throw me off the time. Thanks in advance."

Tony Wons gets great batches of mail each day. Tony takes his fan mail probably more seriously than any star I know, and they all do. His is full of human problems—and of course his program. "Tony's Scrap Book" is aimed straight at peace of mind, anyhow. Tony, as is the case with other stars, leaves the ordinary compliments and requests to be acknowledged by his secretaries, but he answers from thirty to forty letters a day, which seem to need his personal attention, for they expound real problems, and look to him for comment and help.

A short time ago, a woman wrote in to Tony to tell him that her six-weeks-old baby had died, and she was so unhappy that she had thought of suicide. She almost went out of her mind over the great loss, and kept asking herself why she had been permitted to possess the child for six weeks, grow to love it, fasten hopes around it—then have it taken from her. She went to her doctor. He urged her to find diversion and try to forget. She went to her priest. He told her that God knows best. Then she went to Tony. He would not tell us what he told her, but it came straight from his heart, and he did not merely leave it at "God knows best." What he said was evidently comforting, for she wrote him a letter of deep appreciation, and sent him a basket of fruit.

Budding Organist

A bicycle pump is the latest instrument mastered by Ray McDermott of the Chicago NBC Songfellows. He plays seven legitimate instruments besides the Jew's harp and comb and becoming tired of these took it upon himself to learn the Grand Canyon Suite on the pump. The notes are made by applying different pressures to the rubber tube.

How the Funnyboners Got That Way!

By Lee Ronell

LADIES and gentlemen . . . the Funnyboners! Dave Grant, Gordon Graham and Bunny Coughlin. Three guys with one funny bone a piece. And take it from me . . . one's enough for anybody! They're CBS stars. Considering the singing, gagging, spoofing trio as a whole I'll say they're all tall, all Boston bred and all very bad examples of polite behavior. They're polite, of course, up to a limit. After that . . . it's a matter of "what the dickens do we care" attitude toward life, living . . . and piano arrangements. Curiously enough, although each Funnyboner blends into the Funnyboner unit perfectly . . . as to vocal range, ability to write gags, reasonable disposition, and serious outlook on success of 'Funnyboners' as a whole . . . each one of the three differs radically from the other in personality traits. "We get along swell" the three boys sing in chorus. But the getting along swell is limited to rehearsals, broadcasts, benefits and business appearances. They all lead their separate lives . . . meeting only to be funny . . . and then wend their ways back to their wives!

The Funnyboners at work, funnyboning

LET'S take Dave Grant, for instance. I'll have to take these boys separately. Considering them all together would get you nowhere because when they all talk together (that is, all excepting Bunny, who says that around this season of the year he's a silent knight) they don't make sense. They refused to be interviewed seriously and interspersed my perfectly legitimate questions about likes, dislikes and aims with a lot of silly nonsense. Such as "I like peanut butter sandwiches with chili sauce on 'em" and "I've got eight kids with no shoes" and "I'd like to be an old man with a beard."

We were taking Dave Grant, I believe. Dave's a nice fellow with a lean face and brown eyes and a lean 5 foot 11 inches. He's twenty-eight years old and has a little baby daughter named Sally. Dave got married in that boom year 1929 and he had every reason to. Only immediately after his marriage, the stock market crashed. And Dave, whose business was selling stocks at the time, found himself with an awfully nice wife on his hands but no cash to speak of. Something about margins, I think he mentioned. Of course he had a kind of band he'd formed back in the days of Boston Tech which went around to colleges playing for hops and things. But it was just a band. That is, until a saxophone player named Bunny Coughlin joined up with Dave and the two discovered that they could "kind of" sing. That, of course, led to needing another singer for a trio, which explains Gordon. Of course it doesn't explain Gordon in full. Nothing does. Gordon is one of these almost insane persons who stands and holds a floor lamp while he talks so as to give a better distribution of light to the room. He makes faces all the time and the other two are no better. They aid and abet this Graham man until not even Dave, who is the most reasonable of the three, knows that time is slipping by and they haven't finished a new arrangement for tomorrow's broadcast.

SO when Gordon (who, the other two told me, really has a "voice") loomed upon the band stand, the three got some idea that radio might be able to use three voices without a guitar. So they rented a cellar somewhere with a piano and for two weeks sung and arranged and finally completed four songs . . . their entire repertoire at the moment. Armed with the four songs, the boys set out for a Boston agency and bumped smack into three other boys, coming out. They didn't look very cheerful. And as it turned out . . . they weren't. They had just been fired . . . and the combination of Dave, Gordon and Bunny was hired in their stead, after just answering the question "Can you sing?" "It shows what radio was a couple of years ago," said Dave. "We were hired for a commercial to go over four stations, without even singing a note. Maybe we wouldn't have been hired if we'd sung. Happy days!"

Before Gordon met Dave, he'd had a little series of ups and downs. Gordon's only twenty-four . . . in spite of his six foot four and a black moustache and looking older. He has loving-cup ears, too—which wriggle. He'd finished Dartmouth, come down to New York, rehearsed in a Broadway show for six weeks, and it only ran four days. gone up to Utica, New York and played stock. Meanwhile he was dramatic critic for a news sheet up there . . . and despite the good reviews he gave his stock company . . . with special notices for "the excellent portrayal by Mr. Gordon Graham," the company folded . . . and left same Mr. Graham minus two weeks pay. "Life was just a pain so I went back to Boston," said he gangling Mr. Graham. "Life is still a pain" he says, smiling a smile which belies his statement.

"COMON you two" says I, "tell or Gordon. What about him?" "He reads" says Bunny, with a discouraging look on his chubby pan. "No!" says I. "Really," Dave puts in very seriously, "Gordon's an intellect. Reads books . . . like the Decameron, for instance. And other things I can't pronounce." "I don't read anything but newspapers," says Bunny, proudly. "Haven't read a book in well high fifty years." (Bunny counts twenty-six twelve-months). "And Gordon was the director of the Dartmouth Glee Club," adds Dave, proudly. Dave and Bunny take a great deal of pride in the Graham person. And while they're taking pride in him, Gordon just sits with a coy look on his face and his hands folded behind his chin to cover his embarrassment. It seems that Gordon really has a voice and got in the Dartmouth Glee Club despite his height. When he first tried out he wasn't accepted. The Dartmouth singers were comparatively speaking "singer's midgets" and Gordon loomed heads above the other voices.

What about Bunny? Well, most about Bunny was that his car was parked in an hour parking space and if he got a ticket he was going to be plenty indignant. Bunny doesn't look like the sort of person who could possibly be indignant, however. He's chubby, with nice blue eyes and blonde hair and has a very peaceable disposition.

Neither of the three show any inclination toward "temperament." And all three maintain that "we're just three boys trying to get along funny." But of course you can tell that from their theme song, which goes "We've no theme song," and from their own ether night club from which they broadcast on Saturday evenings . . . to wit, the Club Sandwich.

THEY work together smoothly and well. Dave and Bunny write the scripts and make the arrangements. Dave plays the piano and does the vocal "bomp!" effects.

They put on a special little show for an audience of one which proved to that same audience of one that the Funnyboners may be very silly away from their grouping around Dave's piano . . . but grouped around it, the boys know their stuff. They enjoy singing . . . Bunny keeps right on chewing gum while he's singing and Dave and Gordon sneak cigarette puffs in between notes with a practiced skill. They never get into serious arguments, although each one voices his opinion as to the best way of doing a number or the best way of putting it across. Three opinions are set forth, argument pro and con takes place, and "We manage to arrive at the best solution without any bones broke," says Dave, explaining the Funnyboners' method of working together. And as I watched them work, I noted that the startling things about Dave, Gordon and Bunny is that there isn't a drop of high-horse in any one of them. Just three kids.

This Week's Winner

ROSES AND DRUMS—heard over CBS-WGN, December 25.

The Roses and Drums historical revue provides a well-balanced and smooth thirty minute program.

Especially was this true of "The Spy." It took you into the Southern and Northern camps during the Civil War, brought you face to face with the perplexing problems facing the war lords; thrilled you with the escapades of the Northern spy; and gave a powerful character study of that great historical figure, Stonewall Jackson. De Wolf Hopper was fine in his role of Jackson, but not so good as a commercial barker. The commercial part, however, was short and educational. That's something!

Its powerful drama, is "Roses and Drums," thrilling in its terrific sweep and strength. It's convincing, engrossing, startling, and breath-taking. Don't let the historical background scare you away. You'll eat it up.

Betty and Gordon provide moments of heart-warming romance that heat the ether waves with tender love. Betty has a fine voice, full of southland beauty. That goes for Gordon, too. Hopper's dramatic ability is unquestioned. The entire program is bathed in local color and atmosphere, and is to be recommended.

Rudolph G. Jorgenson,
406 South Madison Ave., Stoughton, Wis.

Honorary Mention

ROBERT BURNS PROGRAM—heard December 21 over Columbia and KMOX.

This program rates four stars on anyone's review, denoting extraordinary. Any critic of entertainment, especially those familiar with broadcasting, will not hesitate in chalking up a perfect score to the broadcast listed above. It has diversified entertainment to please the taste of the most particular listener.

Guy Lombardo's orchestral arrangements are superb. Burns and Allen clicked to a fast moving line of nonsense that produced humor and comedy of paramount style. People find these comedians the greatest producers of smiles, with a creation interest founded on the eternal question: "What is coming next?"

The listener would suggest one addition or correction to this program. The Royal Canadians bring out melodies in tunes we probably have heard before, but it is hard to know all of them, and remembering titles is rather difficult. The names of the songs played should be announced either individually or in groups of three.

Pat Sublett, Oklahoma City, Okla.

TEXACO PROGRAM WITH ED WYNN—heard over NBC.

I try to listen to the Texaco program because the Fire Chief is well worthy of my attention. His quip on why we like Lafayette—because he was the first Frenchman to come across—is likely to become a classic.

But—the broadcasting studio has an audience of its own and they are within range of the microphone. Their applause is so loud that many of the jokes are drowned out. They make the radio listener, who wants to believe that the program is for him, feel that he is only an eavesdropper and that the studio audience has the first call. I implore the program director to hold the applause of the local listeners to a mere murmur or less and give us radio listeners a chance.

E. Z. Lane, Mechanic Malls, Me.

Music in the Air

By Carleton Smith

WALTER DAMROSCH seems to be the center of considerable controversy in his later days. No end of furore stirred the musical pedagogues of the country after he made statements during two of his broadcasts last Spring about attendance and study at music schools. He said then that he could recommend only two schools, the Juillard in New York and Fontainebleau in France. It was pointed out that the name of Damrosch had been connected with both, and the broadcasting company was besieged with protests.

CARLETON SMITH

A few months ago, the venerable "dean" of American conductors took issue with Leopold Stokowski over the question of educating children. This is a field in which Doctor Damrosch considers himself an authority, and he strenuously opposed offering the Philadelphia conductor's experiments in modern music to children, labelling the attempt as criminal.

Stokowski continued in his course, retorting that he had noticed children like and understand modern music, and find it less difficult of comprehension than classical. This is true, he thinks, because it is an expression of their own time and their own way of thinking and feeling. And Mr. Stokowski said he was not forcing his music on anybody, that he felt strongly that children should not take part in any music unless they were attracted to it.

An Attack

THIS, however, did not end the discussion, and a few days later the New York Times published a letter:

"To the Music Editor:

For many years—too many years, alas!—we have been compelled to listen to the outpouring of the venerable doctor, whose greatest claim to musical prominence seems to be that he had a relative, father or grandfather, or something like that, of the same surname—Leopold Damrosch.

The orchestra for some years under his direction, the New York Symphony Orchestra, died a lingering, painful and unlamented death. It was never, in its palmy days, a first-class organization, and I seriously doubt if, apart from its splendid guest conductors, it ever had a good resident conductor. Everyone tired of it, even its supporting millionaires, and it seemed a happy release for us all. But the ghost continues to haunt us, and there is no rest in sight.

When this orchestra died, amid general rejoicing, Dr. Walter Damrosch and his manager, George Engles, were sadly in need of jobs. Like many others, they betook themselves over to Fifth Avenue and fastened themselves upon the directors of radio, men skilled in finance, but veritable children walking in the darkness where music was concerned. Radio was their legitimate prey, and since the entry of Damrosch into radio and so-called musical broadcasting, we have been burdened with the distressing voice and the frightful accent. He speaks with overpowering condescension of 'my friends, my children, my horns, my clarinets, my trombones and my everything else,' including 'my God.' Everything he speaks of is in the possessive case, except possibly, 'My Blue Heaven,' by another composer!

Just as Mr. Damrosch came into his musical beginning by snatching the baton from the scarcely cold hands of the late Leopold Damrosch, so will another and greater Leopold—Leopold Stokowski—with one of his lightning strokes of genius, strike a blow (we all fervently hope) that will put an end to Damrosch and his 'possessive case' music.

Mr. Damrosch speaks as if he had invented both music and Wagner. We are all tired of him and his prattle as a 'great American musician.' If he is the great American musician, able to preach musical doctrines to native children, then I am both Mahatma Gandhi and Sir Harry Lauder, able to work miracles. He has little to do with Americans, and his blatant presumption that he is the father of all musical children here is as ridiculous as it is unwarranted and unnecessary.

Fortunately, we have Toscanini and other younger conductors right here in our midst. Let us have the Gotterdammerung of the Gotterdamrosch. Let us have done, once for all, with his self-adopted children, his horns, his tubas and his braying. He has had his day. Nay, he has had his generation. He has seen the handwriting on the wall.

His whole attitude of mind, like his clowning on the director's stand in front of a grinning orchestra, are sad commentaries on the extreme tolerance of the great musical public of this country."

Followers of Doctor Damrosch rallied to his support. Hundreds wrote letters and the Times was kept busy publishing them. Most of them were astounded at the personal attack upon their favorite leader.

No doubt Doctor Damrosch has more followers in this country than any other conductor. And this, in spite of the fact that musicians have never looked to him for particularly inspired interpretations. He has appealed to the public at large by his personality, his suavity and his arresting voice. And he has done immeasurable good in cultivating the taste for that which is best. He has prepared the way for an understanding of the greater interpreters who have followed him.

In this dispute about music for children, it seems to me that a judicious selection of both the old and the new, served together, is the only sensible course. The various musical vitamins thus give balance to the tonal diet.

Musicians' Emergency Aid

DOCTOR DAMROSCH has also been the champion of many worthy causes. His enemies say he is interested for publicity purposes. Recently, they say, several hundred paid fifty cents and a dollar admission to watch him sit for a portrait. But the money went to charity, and the good that is done remains, notwithstanding.

Among his present activities is the Musicians' Emergency Aid Concerts, the third of which is to be given Wednesday in Madison Square Garden. Bruno Walter will conduct an all-Tschaikowsky program, with Gabrielowitsch as the soloist. Great music is heard at these concerts. Paderewski gave a recital last season. Fritz Kreisler and Rachmaninoff are going to join forces on the final program in April, and Mr. Damrosch is presenting a great pageant with a cast of 1500 later in the month.

The proceeds of these excellent programs are to create a permanent fund for the relief of unemployed musicians. Many of the most gifted artists are children in financial matters. Occasional help will enable them to contribute to society their best as musicians.

Perhaps these concerts could be broadcast. I am certain the radio listeners—some of them, at least—would be willing contributors.

Bruno Walter, one of the world's outstanding conductors, will wave his baton over the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra over CBS-WGN from 2 to 4 p. m. Sundays, for nine weeks.

Meet the Maxwell House Showboat family, which comes to listeners over a nationwide NBC-WMAQ network each Thursday evening at 8 p. m. The two gentlemen in the background are Molasses 'n' January, and the others, reading in the usual direction, are Muriel Wilson, Lanny Ross, Annette Hanshaw and Charles Winninger (Captain Henry).

Has the radio audience a sense of humor? You're asking me? Look what the listeners sent some of the artists for Christmas:

Peggy Healy, the Whiteman torch singer, received a bicycle.

Roy Bargy, the Whiteman pianist: a pair of skis.

Rudy Vallee: a crate of grapefruit from California.

Ray Knight: a cuckoo whistle.

Edith Meiser (who writes the Sherlock Holmes business): a box of cigars.

Jack Pearl: a German joke book.

Kelvin Keech: a set of earrings.

Jessica Dragonette: photograph of a parrot sitting before a radio set.

Walter O'Keefe: a pair of andirons. He has lived in a hotel for many years.

Ben Alley: a ponderous book, entitled "Mighty Men of Minnesota."

Morton Downey: a tube of mustache wax.

Anson Weeks: a set of saxophone reeds. He plays the piano.

Voice of the Listener

Applause to Boo-Boo

Muskegon, Mich.

Dear "Voice":

I have been reading the GUIDE ever since it first came out and can honestly say I have never found cause for criticism until the Christmas number. Here is why this letter now turns from applause to boo-boo.

In the "Editor's Mail Box" column LeRoy Chapin, of Aberdeen, South Dakota, asked information concerning Welcome Lewis. And the reply was: "Welcome Lewis has faded out of sight at present, and is not on the air." Well, here is some information: Neither has Welcome Lewis faded nor is she out of sight. Any radio artist who has such a large following as Miss Lewis could never fade. Her grand interpretations of popular songs will long be a memory to her radio public. And for the benefit of her fan in South Dakota, he will be enrolled as a member of her fan club if he'll just drop a line to the Welcome Lewis Fan Club, 1818 Nevada St., Muskegon, Michigan. Miss Lewis no doubt will return to the air in 1933.

The Cute Swedes

Paducah, Kentucky

Dear Editor:

Couldn't you print some pictures of Swen Swenson and his Swedehearts? I think they are so cute. If you could tell us some things about him, I think your magazine would be just perfect.

I wish to compliment your program department for the accuracy of the programs in the RADIO GUIDE. They are much better than any we can get from the daily papers down here.

Barry Smith

Music in Our Ears

Decatur, Illinois

Dear Editor:

Congratulations on your anniversary; in the year that you have been telling us about radio programs you have certainly improved.

RADIO GUIDE has more interesting features than it used to have. I like them all. But for me you do not tell enough about the good musical programs. My suggestion for 1933 is that you give your music critic more space to tell us about all the programs. What he writes now is very interesting. I read and enjoy every word because I am helped in my desire to understand the best musical programs, but he does not cover enough things.

I like Mike Porter's column, and in this issue was glad to read the explanatory things about radio. More facts and less gossip—make that your motto.

So We're All Wet

Richmond, Va.

Dear Sirs:

Your magazine is all wet. You try to make heroes and heroines out of radio stars when actually they're no more talented than a lot of people who never got a break. I don't see why they should be paid two or three thousand a week just to sing or crack dull jokes on the air. What I say is this: Play phonograph records on all the stations and give the money to the unemployed.

A Virginian

Bouquet at Legion

Peoria, Ill.

Dear Sirs:

This is my first letter to your weekly standby, and I wish to throw a bouquet to a program, "The Foreign Legion." The program of yesterday should take the whole plum orchard. I would like to see pictures of the entire cast published in RADIO GUIDE.

New York City

A Two-Guide Family

Oshkosh, Wisconsin

Voice of the Listener:

Would like you to know that I am a weekly reader of the RADIO GUIDE and wouldn't miss it for anything. Often we have more than one RADIO GUIDE around the house and it doesn't do any harm. In fact, mostly it prevents scraps.

Anyway, here's a bushel of prunes to Porter and a barrel of plums to Plummer; together they deserve razzberries. They're rotten. They should try criticizing themselves and they might make some progress.

Ginger

Yes, Why Don't We

South Bend, Indiana

Gentlemen:

To come right to the point, I think your magazine isn't all it's cracked up to be and especially the log of programs. Looking for a program in RADIO GUIDE is like working out a Chinese puzzle. When you improve I'll buy it. Another thing, why don't you print letters like this instead of all the letters of praise you print?

M. Larsen

The Goldberg Organ

Bennington, Vermont

Editor:

I enjoy the RADIO GUIDE increasingly although I do not always agree with Plummer as to who gets plums or prunes, but everyone has a right to his or her opinion.

I do wonder why such poor programs are kept on and good ones let go. But what I really wrote for is this—what is the matter with the organ on "Goldbergs." It only plays part of the theme song. The orchestra sounded much better anyway.

A. M. W.

Long Live the King!

Atlanta, Georgia

Dear Sirs:

Who can displace Paul Whiteman as King of the orchestra leaders? Who, just tell me! Whiteman always was the greatest band leader in the country and he always will be.

Of course, I like Ben Bernie, too. Also Wayne King and Jack Denny. But Whiteman's music is so smooth and rhythmic that no other band can compare with it. It is beyond a doubt the best band on the air.

Serge Prusslow

No La, De Daa-ing

Toledo, Ohio

Dear Editor:

May I offer my sincere congratulations on your Christmas and Anniversary issue of RADIO GUIDE. Your magazine finds its way into my home each week. I would not miss an issue for worlds!

The letter of Miss Leota Helms, referring to Rudy Vallee as tiresome, is ridiculous. A short time ago I read an article quoting Paderewski as saying that most people hear music with the ears only. In my humble opinion, this seems to be the case with all the anti-Vallee audience, for anyone who really knows music must admit that Rudy is an authority on music.

We never hear Vallee la, de, daa-ing. He sings the songs as they should be sung, also the way most people enjoy hearing them. Rudy's Fleischmann Hour broadcast is easily the ace spot of the air.

Agnes Gearhart

Great Big Hand

Galesburg, Ill.

Gentlemen:

Congratulations on your Christmas and Anniversary number. It was a knock-out. I've been a reader of RADIO GUIDE for some time and it is the best paper for five cents to be bought anywhere.

I've been reading what some of the readers have to say and here's my opinion. Let's give the radio artists we like a big hand but why knock the others as I'm sure that all of them are trying their level best to please the radio audience and trying is all that anyone can do.

Tweet, Tweet

Chicago, Ill.

Voice of the Listener:

Now that we are about to start a new year, why don't we forget what has happened during the past year? Why not try to be optimistic and cheerful instead of crying about conditions? Being associated somewhat with radio, I have noticed a certain type of song that is being used on the networks and local stations quite frequently. This particular type of song will not make people feel that conditions are better. It makes them feel gloomy and depressed.

Don't Forget Denny

New York City

Dear Friends:

"A Lover of Good Dance Music," and Mrs. W. W. Vance, from Birmingham, Ala., listed the orchestras they considered the best, both of them omitting Jack Denny, greatest of them all.

Those people may enjoy dance music but I don't think they appreciate a truly fine orchestra. May I take this opportunity, also, to give out three bouquets—one to the Revelers Quartet, another to the Keller Sisters and Lynch, and last but not least, one to Rudy Vallee, always a favorite.

I regret to say, however, that I still cannot understand why Guy Lombardo has such a large following. Best wishes for your continued success.

Dorothy Kaefel

He Likes the Irish Imp

Indianapolis, Ind.

Dear Sirs:

I wish to call RADIO GUIDE readers' attention to Happy Felton's orchestra, that has just started on the CBS chain from the Governor Clinton Hotel, New York. The orchestra is one of the best on the air today and Verna Burke, contralto, is in a class by herself for personality.
