STARTING: WHAT RUDY VALLEE NEVER TOLD

THEY LEAD DANCERS BUT CAN'T EVEN DANCE

HAVE you been getting more enjoyment out of your dancing lately? You should. The band leaders have been to school. Report cards coming in on them indicate that new lessons in tempo and rhythm have been mastered.

It was not a school for baton waving that they attended. Mostly it was a long recess, with the band leaders indulging in terpsichorean flings. In short, tables were turned and a group of well known maestros who play Piper to millions found themselves dancing to a Piper. He was Arthur Murray, noted dance authority and teacher.

School began recently when it was revealed by a terpsichorean expert that only about five per cent of radio orchestra and band leaders know how to dance. This is so despite the fact that they spend their evenings watching others do it.

Their excuse was that, what with theatrical, radio and night club appearances, they didn't have time to learn. But blushing, finally, at their inability to do what they encouraged others to do, they formed a class which Murray called "The Dance Band Leaders Dancing Class." Several instructresses, expert in teaching beginners, were engaged to handle the group.

Leon Belasco quickly came to the head of the class. He was one of the few familiar with fundamentals.

Masterfully overcoming the handicap of rotundity, Jacques Renard, whose band has been featured on the Wednesday-Saturday Pontiac commercial early became adept and was moved up with the brighter pupils. He was "shown off" by his teacher for his amazing grace in both fox-trot and waltz.

Phil Spitalny found the waltz easy but had to do some homework on the fox-trot.

Once in a while the pupils threatened to get out of order by cocking a critical ear in the direction of the small orchestra playing for their dancing lessons. Murray, however, anticipated their "talking back" by detecting musical errors, and had engaged the best available musical unit.

Why did they form the class? 'Twas all for the good of their art.

"Our own dancing will guide us in melody selections and in discerning tempo and rhythm," contends Belasco.

These leaders came to learn how to dance. (Left to right): Arthur Murray, celebrated dancing instructor, and Leon Belasco, Jacques Renard, and Phil Spitalny. The dancing partners of the leaders made Arthur Murray's lessons a pleasure.

5000-to-1 YOU NEVER WILL TAKE THE AIR

SO you have your heart set on a radio audition? Well, you may be successful, but the chances are slight that you will "click." It's about a five-thousand-to-one chance, to be exact, if you take the figures presented by Frank J. Black, NBC's general musical director. Black has heard fifteen thousand auditions personally. Out of that number, three were successful.

"And," says Black, "almost seventy-five per cent of those who seek radio auditions never have had broadcasting experience. Yet scores of stage stars, backed by years of dramatic and musical comedy experience, have to learn microphone technique when they are brought to radio."

"If I were asked to specify rules for hopefuls in radio, I would suggest the following:

"First, realize that competition is markedly keen. Unless you are certain that you are as good or better than most of the artists you hear, it might be well not to bother. And I do not mean that you should take the advice of a friend or a neighbor who asks, 'Why don't you go on the air?' We hear a lot of singers who are not nearly so good as you."

"Learn who is the most reputable vocal teacher or coach in your city, or musical instructor if you are an instrumentalist, and go to him for an unbiased opinion. If you have one or two defects in your technique, he may be able to make suggestions. He will be able to tell you whether you have a chance."

"Don't be ashamed to try out on a small or local station. If you have talent, you will get ahead. If you haven't, you might just as well learn it at home.

"And should you become a local 'sensation,' the networks will find you. Much of the big talent in radio today started on unimportant stations. If you do achieve success locally, then try for a major audition. Bear in mind, though, that when you get it, you will be heard by an audition board. Often one comment like 'nothing out of the ordinary' or 'not so good as talent we have,' means defeat. You must have something that will get those critics out of their chairs to shout, 'Sign him up!'"

This NBC musical director knows. He has seen and heard. Yet even he cannot deny that there always have been, and always will be, Cinderellas and good genii. Wand-wavers have been known to do wonders, sometimes in the guise of a sponsor who is prejudiced in favor of someone's talents, or a friend who induces the powers-that-be to slip an audition ahead of the long schedule of waiting names. Again it may be a star who accidentally happens upon talent and makes its owner a protege.

Take heart. You may be that one!

Mr. M. L. Annenberg Elected President of Radio Guide

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of Radio Guide, Inc., held on Friday, February 2nd, Mr. M. L. Annenberg was elected President of the company and Publisher of its weekly magazine, RADIO GUIDE.

WHAT RUDY VALLEE NEVER TOLD

By His Former Secretary

The story of Rudy Vallee, often described as "the crooner with ten million sweethearts," has been printed in every language having a literature. His most intimate affairs have become legends in both hemispheres. Libraries contain volumes about these intimacies, including a book from his own pen. Nevertheless, there remain many incidents and episodes of his life that have never been told. At this juncture of Rudy's affairs, while the whole world looks on in divided astonishment and sympathy, these untold secrets of the radio idol assume especial interest.

Herewith are presented for the first time in print a series of stories, anecdotes and revelations from the notebook of one who must for obvious reasons remain unidentified. No one is better equipped than this writer to tell all the facts.

AFTER a long and intimate connection in a confidential capacity with Rudy Vallee, pre-dating his rise to international fame as the Vagabond Lover, I am amazed now to see that the daily press has published so few of the real facts about the man.

Hundreds of highly paid space writers and maudlin sob-sisters have gone into Rudy's past with sharp-edged probes, attempting to discover why this acknowledged idol of millions of American women cannot make one woman—and that one his wife—happy. Those writers might have found the answer to be remarkably simple, if they had not wasted their time and their undeniable talents searching for some hidden abnormal psychological background.

Rudy's domestic troubles can be accounted for easily. The prosaic fact is that he falls into love very easily and falls out twice as fast. He always has, except on one occasion. The lone exception was Fay Webb Vallee!

If the truth about Rudy be told—and it is now being told for the first time—he is an easy fall for a certain type of sultry skinned, brown-eyed brunette. When he sees a woman of that exotic description he loses all of the little control he has over his amorous emotions, and makes a perfect fool of himself. That is exactly what happened in the case of Fay Webb Vallee, Santa Monica and Hollywood play girl, pampered pet of the movie studios, and sirenlike sophisticated woman of the world.

The Fay Webb-Rudy Vallee romance boiled down to a nut-shell is this. Rudy adored his fragile, hot-house, orchid-like wife. Even after they began to quarrel, after she complained that his almost military business routine kept him from her; after Rudy discovered that she was unsympathetic to his work, that she played "hookey" from home on the nights of his broadcasts so that she wouldn't have to listen, that she went out with people whom he didn't like, and drank more than he thought was good for her, he still was madly in love with her.

Indeed, as recently as last December, when he went to Hollywood to appear in the film version of George White's "Scandals," he would have liked nothing better than to have been met at the station by his wife and to hear her cry, "Rudy, dear, let's start all over again!"

But Fay didn't meet him. Rudy remained around Los Angeles for several weeks, and still he didn't hear a direct word from her. Then his lawyer, Hymie Bushel, rushed out from New York after things began to pop in the courts, and Rudy took a runout powder for home—on advice of counsel.

When he arrived back in New York he found that the dirt had become public meanwhile; legal actions began to rain like hailstones out of the sky. Rudy had been forced to divulge what he had secretly charged a long time before, that by means of intercepted phone calls recorded phonographically, he learned that Fay entertained strange men, that she was unduly friendly with Gary Leon, the handsome adagio dancer, that she took long mysterious midnight rides in Central Park.

Rudy Vallee, idol of millions, "the crooner with ten million sweethearts"—and the one sweetheart he wanted to hold and couldn't, Fay Webb Vallee

But Rudy had known all this and had been willing to forgive all this long before his west coast trip. His love was so intense that he excused her by saying,

"After all, I don't blame the poor kid. I took her three thousand miles away from her home to a strange city, left her alone night after night while I was working, and provided no substitutes. It's not her fault."

Rudy still would have been happy to make up. Then Rudy began to hear things. Ex-servants told him their stories, neighbors tattled, well-meaning friends who previously had kept quiet began to talk.

He was told how Fay used to go out and employ a stooge to listen in on his Thursday night broadcasts and to report the exact program back to her, so that she could discuss it intelligently with him later.

He was told that at the time of their marriage they received several thousand dollars worth of wedding gifts from admiring friends, but that none of these gifts was shown to him; indeed, that Fay had packed them up and shipped them to her home in California without even acknowledging their receipt to the givers, or telling Rudy about them.

Slowly, as a result of such disclosures, Rudy began to come to the opinion that Fay never had cared for him, that she originally married him for the sole purpose of profiting by him. That decided Rudy. His love turned to loathing.

Now Rudy is going to fight—fight for all he is worth, without gloves or honeyed phrases or empty pretenses. Although he loves his career next to life, his rage is so great that he will sacrifice even his future if that will help him to achieve vindication—yes, and revenge.

I suppose the proper biographical method of tracing the history of his white-hot burning romance with Fay Webb, whom undeniably he loved to excess, up to the time that it cooled off and headed for the divorce courts where it is now making such hot reading for the scandal-hungry public, is to go back to Rudy's childhood days in Vermont, where he was born, and to Westbrooke, Maine, where he spent almost all of his youth.

Twenty-five years ago the sandy-haired boy of eight, then called by his right name, Hubert Prior Vallee, was what is commonly known as "a mamma's baby." Friends of his childhood to whom I have spoken have told me that at that age the remarkable and almost supernatural love which he bore for his mother until (Continued on Page 26),

IN AN HOUR NO MAN CAN EVER CHECK

WHEN you sit down to enjoy the hour that is commanding increasingly popular attention, "Buck Rogers in the 25th Century," how many times have you paused to consider the difficulties of putting this hour across?

The world five hundred years from now! The planets and their strange peoples linked with one another and the Earth by rocket ships zooming through space at 1,500 miles an hour! Armies of robot soldiers maneuvering with deadly precision under the control of a far-off hand! A score of marvelous scientific instruments designed to control the great forces of the universe!

That is the imaginative setting of "Buck Rogers in the 25th Century," the juvenile classic of the air. The program is broadcast over the CBS networks four evenings a week, and has found an immense army of adult listeners.

Prominent members of the cast include Curtis Arnall as Buck; Adele Ronson as Wilma Deering, his feminine aide-de-camp; William Sheeley as Killer Kane; Elaine Melchior as his friend, Ardala Valmar; and Edgar Stehli as the great inventor, Doctor Huer.

Buck is a young surveyor who, while working in a Pittsburgh mine back in 1919, was trapped by a sudden cave-in due to an accumulation of rare gas. Buck is held in suspended animation for five hundred years, and when his cave is released from its pressure Buck Rogers staggers forth to meet a new world!

The script is the result of the lively imaginations of two talented young men, Phillips Nowlan, creator of the newspaper strip, "Buck Rogers," and R. E. Johnstone, who adapts the adventures for radio use.

The chief problem confronting the program is that of creating for its far-flung radio audience a convincing picture of a future civilization by means of sound alone. The experimental work in sound effects on the Buck Rogers program lasted six months, and at the end of that time a whole series of new sound machines had been developed, many of them highly complicated and for the most part electrically operated.

Fantastic and imaginative are the inventions of Doctor Huer, a character in the continuity; inventions which tax the sound technicians. They represent great care and thought on the part of their real creators—Messrs. Nowlan and Johnstone. These inventions, in short, are founded on a close study of today's outstanding scientific experiments. Johnstone, who directs the series over the Columbia network, claims that the hardest job of all is to keep 500 years ahead of modern science, which moves so fast that on several occasions it has almost approximated some of Doctor Huer's most advanced ideas.

The result of founding these inventions of the future on the experiments and currents of scientific thought today, has brought about several unlooked for results. In the first place, school teachers and a great army of adults have found the Buck Rogers' programs so stimulating to children that they have become highly interested in the programs themselves! And in the second place, the "logic" of Doctor Huer's inventions has impelled technicians, students of electrical engineering, and numbers of scientists, to write to Nowlan and Johnstone requesting more details of these activities, as excellent illustrations of some of the possible ends to which their own experiments are tending.

Paradox Lady

WHEN you want to know what Sara Ann McCabe can do, just look at her and decide what you think she can't do. If you want to know what she is, just ask her what she isn't. This NBC staff artist is a paradox.

To look at her, a wispy girl of 112 pounds, you'd never guess her to be the possessor of the "prima donna" voice, big and free, that is heard usually on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays on such sustaining programs as "Words and Music" and "Concert Favorites". She's a small thing, but her voice is of the "large" species.

Ask her about herself and she'll tell you that she sings, that she enjoys it and hopes others do, and that's all there is.

"I've never done anything that sounds important when put in writing," she confides, after admitting that her association with radio began on Chicago stations just after school days, includes two years as concert and ballad songbird on NBC, and being soprano soloist in the St. Patrick's and Lady of Mount Carmel Church choirs.

"I've had no exciting experiences," she continues, "but I was perfectly thrilled when I was asked to sing 'Irish Eyes' and 'Happy Days Are Here Again' during the Democratic convention in Chicago while the delayed arrival of Franklin D. Roosevelt was awaited."

LATEST TALLY OF SONG HITS

THE high point of favoritism is enjoyed by two melodies which have had turns recently in heading the "outstanding hit" listing in RADIO GUIDE's weekly tabulation. A new tune, "Heat Wave," has caught hold. What progress it will make in the coming week, will be interesting to watch.

FOR WHOM THE TITLE 'VALENTINO OF THE AIR'?

THE memory of Rudolph Valentino has been conjured as the arena for a picturesque controversy. Admirers of a group of entertainers have ranged themselves in opposing camps, each struggling to establish the claim that its favorite should be hailed as the logical heir to Valentino's popularity.

The dispute may have been fomented by one or more zealous press agents; it may have grown out of an advertising campaign launched five years ago; it may be a tempest in a teapot, but it is very real so far as the advocates of their respective favorites are concerned. Though it is years since Valentino electrified millions of motion picture and "legitimate" theater patrons, by becoming the matchless idol of the entertainment world, his place is still unfilled. Never in the history of professional amusements has a star been exalted by such fanatical zeal, such adulation, such idolatry.

The controversy has arisen among Latin-eye today may be attributable either to his acknowledged musicianship, the novelty of his Spanish-rhythm music, his personal charm, or his being a physical counterpart of Valentino.

So at least runs the gist of the arguments in favor of Molina's claim to the title.

Others in the contention assert the right of Tito Guizar to the title. Supporters of this Columbia artist base their claim not so much upon his "heart" interest or his physical resemblance to the late "Sheik", but upon his Latin mastery of his favorite instrument, the guitar—this, and his undeniable ability to stir his audiences and to engender romance.

Still others contend that handsome Enric Madriguera should be awarded the title. Enric, they claim, has a capacity second to none to sway his audiences with his entrancing music. He demonstrated his mastery of the violin before he left his native Spain. And since coming to America and playing for millions over the air, he has lost none of his power to enchant.

Ennio Bolognini, cellist now heard over NBC, has supporters who claim that he should replace the late idol in the hearts and in the minds of the American entertainment world. His efforts to climb against terrific odds, have won him a place in the high regard of many thousands of the radio audi-

Carlos Molina, Valentino's "double"

Americans over the question, "Who is the Valentino of the Present Day?" Those involved in the controversy admit that no idol of the screen vies for his place in the hearts of millions of followers of the motion picture and the theater. Hence, naturally, they turn to the air.

Protagonists insist that one of the contenders deserves the title. He is Carlos Molina, leader of the tango-rumba orchestra at the Congress Hotel in Chicago, broadcasting over the NBC network. Curiously, this South American violinist and director bears an undeniably striking resemblance to the erstwhile cinema idol.

As far back as 1928 the question was asked about this South American maestro, "Is he a successor to Valentino?" The poser was put by Hollywood, where Molina had a brief career as actor. He played a gypsy violinist in the motion picture, "Hearts of Romance," and it was in this role that his present resemblance to Valentino was marked. Photographs of Molina and Valentino, similarly posed, used side by side in newspapers at that time, showed them to be as like as twins. Examination of their likenesses reproduced on this page will show that resemblance.

As a result, Molina has been publicized extensively as "The Valentino of the Baton." The fact that he is prominent in the public ences of the country. And his unmistakably Latin temperament, along with his expert handling of his instrument, give him a rightful position among the contenders. He can sway a group of listeners like few men who have undertaken to master his instrument.

Ennio Bolognini, cellist from the Argentine

Fans of tenors claim that no one can replace Flores del Campo among living men in ability to stir the romantic impulses. These supporters are strong in their belief that he more than any other idol can take the place of the beloved Valentino. Listen to him some night when he sings with Freddie Rich's orchestra over a Columbia network.

The controversy naturally calls up the question: Did Valentino win his idolized place through his ability to impress his audiences with his romantic appeal—with his art—or with his physical appearance? And the further question naturally comes to the surface: Will his successor receive the title on romantic appeal alone, or will that successor win a place in millions of hearts for art or for physical resemblance? You, the vast audience of the air, alone will decide. And you alone can determine which of the contenders, is entitled to the crown. And the answer rests with you!

SPLIT PROGRAMS AS

ALONG the AIRIALTO By Martin Lewis

NEW YORK is still buzzing about the opening of Radio Playhouse. Seldom has such a brilliant array of stars paraded past the mikes in an hour and a half show. Everybody agrees that Columbia has achieved the last word in entertainment for present audiences as well as distant listeners.

Beside the stars and a brilliant representation of New York's social registerites, everybody still seems to be pleasantly thrilled over the fact that Merlin H. Aylesworth, the opposition President, was on hand at the opening. He came to return the friendly call made by Bill Paley of CBS on the occasion of Radio City's opening ceremonies.

The New York Philharmonic-Symphony, which deserves prosperity, is campaigning for half a million dollars, which it needs urgently, to keep the organization going, and of late it has taken to the air with its appeal to the public. Prominent people, such as Mrs. Vincent Astor, who spoke last Sunday, are making the appeal during the Philharmonic's CBS Sunday afternoon broadcasts. We have learned that after Harry Harkness Flagler's appeal, which started the campaign two weeks ago, $4,000 in contributions arrived from 3,000 radio listeners—two of them contributing $500 each—within 24 hours after his plea.

A new idea in commercial presentations, probably due to the fact that Columbia has no half-hour evening periods on its schedule that are open to sale, comes to CBS on Sunday. The program is Ward's Family Theater, which will be presented in two acts. The first act, which will feature the veteran musical comedy and vaudeville comedy team, Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield, Billy Artzt's Green Stripe Orchestra, and tenor James Melton, will be broadcast every Sunday at 5:45 p. m. CST, just before Ethel Waters' "American Revue." The second act will follow the Waters-Denny revue at 6:30 p. m. CST, for another quarter-hour. The second act will feature top-notch guest stars from the stage in tabloid dramas, and again the orchestra and soloist. Judith Anderson and Tom Powers will appear in Sutro's "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," on the opening program, and Edith Barrett and Geoffrey Kerr are slated to star next Sunday, February 18.

Switching Old Favorites

Beginning Tuesday, February 13, your old friends Colonel Stoopnagle and Budd will be selling those cigarets for which you are supposed to walk a mile. Pontiac has given them a contract release and good wishes, and the Colonel and his side-kick are destined to make the jokes and master-of-ceremony the Caravan bearing the Casa Loma orchestra and Irene Taylor. As for Pontiac, who this Saturday shifts from two weekly quarter-hours to one half-hour, they are bringing a program from Columbia's West Coast studios, originating at KHJ. Beginning February 10, the new line-up includes Raymond Paige's orchestra, Kay Thompson, pianist, and her Singing Rhythm Kings, a negro choir and a Hawaiian instrumental and vocal group.

Columbia will score another "first" with the first broadcast from the underground railway connecting the United States Capitol with the Senate Office Building in Washington, D. C., which they'll air at 10:45 a. m. CST, on Monday. Announcer will ride on the monorail of the private railway as it shuttles back and forth and interview a number of the Senators on their way to work.

Claire Majette is teaching Milton Wason and Kay Carrington, her co-stars "An Evening in Paris," to speak French, and she has ruled that all their conversation with her in the studios, other than the business of the programs themselves, be in French. "The Big Show" is out gunning for the best names of the legitimate stage as guest stars in the short sketches that David Freedman writes for their Monday night CBS presentation.

The Admiral Byrd CBS programs from the Antarctic have made radio explorer-conscious and explorers radio-conscious. Among the guest stars the Ford dealers have booked for their Thursday and Sunday CBS half-hours, to appear with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, are Roy Chapman Andrews, the explorer who opened up the Gobi Desert to civilization, who'll appear on the 11th and "Bring 'em Back Alive" Frank Buck, who follows on the 15th. At this writing Columbia is planning to pick up the Army-Navy basketball tilt on Saturday, the 10th, with Ted Husing miking. If I'm not mistaken, basketball is one sport which never had much attention on the kilocycles.

Eddie Dunstedter, the pianist and organist, who used to be the star of the Gold Medal Fast Freight, now has his own orchestra and is to broadcast over western CBS stations from St. Louis.

As well as coming east for a new commercial, Lennie Hayton has another purpose up his sleeve—to whip together a new band to accompany Bing Crosby, whom Lennie will rejoin when Bing comes to New York sometime in February. Starting next Wednesday, Hayton will also be the new conductor of the Troubadours, replacing Frank Black.

Gus Arnheim, who now plays with Crosby on his commercials from Los Angeles, has been gathering a tan at Laguna between Monday night programs. How does that sound to you, you and you, too, who, like me, have been enjoying (?) zero and below weather. Not so hot, eh? . . . Man bites dog—it's usually the case for radio to adapt stage plays for microphone presentation, but here's a case where radio presentations are being adapted for the stage. The dramatic club of the James Monroe Evening High School in New York has asked Jimmy Kemper, the CBS song-dramatist, for permission to adapt some of his radio sketches for stage use.

Pick Your Type

Ied Fiorito, the new Old Gold maestro, points out that the Debutantes, his girl trio, are comprised of a red-head from Oklahoma, a blonde from Arizona, and a brunette from Illinois, and he suggests that that's why they harmonize so well. Several changes in CBS sustaining artists' schedules! Vera Van, off Pontiac, returns to George Jessel's show, edging Edith Murray out of that spot. Mildred Bailey and CBS have severed relations, with rumor saying that they just couldn't get together on price. And, despite persistent reports to the effect that the Boswell Sisters and CBS have phifted, they have not. The sisters are still under CBS contract and return to the air when Connie recovers from the illness that has laid her up.

Tommy McLaughlin just can't get away from the "romance" tag. Last year he was "The Romantic Bachelor." His new commercial, in which he'll sing for Venida Hairnets over CBS, Saturdays at 5:15 p. m. CST, starting the 10th, has him billed as "The Voice of Romance." Tommy hopes his singing won't get in your hair—if it does, nets to you anyway. The romancer returns to radio after being laid up for sometime with a back infection, and he grew a bushy mustache during his convalescence. . . . Just having made the first broadcast from La Scala a short time ago, CBS now announces the first broadcast from the Opera Comique in Paris, from 2:45 to 3:15 p. m. CST, Saturday, the 10th, with Massenet's "Manon" being given there. Also on the tenth, CBS listeners will hear New York's fiery new Mayor La Guardia, when he speaks before the League of Women Voters at the Astor Hotel at 1:30 p. m. CST.

Eddie East and Ralph Dumke, the Sisters of the Skillet, gave public audition on the air last Saturday night for that tobacco program J. C. Nugent left some two weeks ago. The sponsor will hear one more act and offer the contract to the lads he likes best. . . . Bert Lahr will be guest artist from Chicago on February 11 with that Realsilk Show. . . . George Gershwin's contract with Feenamint is a long-term, calling for fifty-two weeks of programs in sixty-five providing for a departure from the air during the summer months with the program picking up again in the fall.

May Robson, after several movie hits, is being offered as a guest star to sponsors, as is Doris Kenyon, former cinema star who now sings. . . . Best laugh of the week is that a certain comic is expected to win a nationwide popularity poll and yet his sponsor is said to have decided not to renew him because the sponsor does not like humor on the air. Don't ask why he picked him in the first place. I've been trying to find out myself. . . . Charles "Socker" Coe is shopping for talent for a show to offer General Electric, which account he now handles in his new ad agency. That Bar O Ranger program, written by Peter Dixon, a newspaper man, and rating with the Wizard of Oz show as top in child programs, has renewed through the summer. . . . For the first time in history, a number of new accounts are pointing to March 1 as their starting date. In the past, March 1 was the time when programs began to fade. . . . Five agents spent several days telephoning various sponsors to offer Lionel Barrymore as a guest star, with the great Barrymore burning plenty at their temerity in "peddling" him, and landing on them with orders not to dare to submit him anywhere.

There's an unconfirmed rumor to the effect that Mary Pickford will make four guest appearances on that Fred Waring auto show at $7,500 a throw. . . . When Helen Hayes guest-stars with the Hind's Hall of Fame, Sunday night, she will offer a scene from "Dear Brutus," the play in which she made her first big success. She'll have no less famous an assistant than Philip Merivale. . . . Willie and Eugene Howard are set for Realsilk March 4 as guests. If they are as funny on the air as they are in the new Follies, you'll have a good time. . . . Nat Shilkret gave audition number 444 for Palmolive's operetta series again with everybody waiting for the sponsor's decision.

Oh, Yeah?

Whoever it was that said, "The road to fame is through hard work" certainly knew whereof he spoke. Leah Ray, the good-looking lass with the Phil Harris orchestra, quit work nightly at 2:00 a. m. at the St. Regis Hotel in New York, got to sleep by three, and every morning last week, she had to be up at 6:00 a. m. to be on time at the Fox Educational Studios on Long Island for the shooting of the picture in which she will be starred with Bob Hope. More Reel news—Barbara "Snooney" Blair was signed by Warner Bros. for a flicker. . . . Teddy Bergman, one of the better radio mimics, signed up with Meyer Davis' picture firm to make two shorts. . . . It was Teddy all. (Continued on Page 15)

GHOST VOICE CORPS AT BECK OF MIKE

RUTH ETTING, popular star of radio, screen, the stage and night clubs, returns to the air once again. In Hollywood she added to her laurels — and radio audiences everywhere will find a new and enchanting Ruth when they tune in on her latest "hour."

By Ruth Etting

(Miss Etting, glamorous star of radio, screen, the stage and night clubs, now heard over CBS Tuesdays and Fridays at 8:15 p. m. CST, recently has returned from a year in the film capital. A keen student of the amusement world, she has written for RADIO GUIDE her own observations touching the relationship between the two media in which she has starred—radio and the movies).

RADIO is going Hollywood. Or, I should say, is Hollywood-bent.

In other words, the motion picture center is looming importantly on the radio scene. Several big air features are being broadcast from the Pacific coast; movie guest stars are popping up incessantly; one sponsor is presenting a show, "45 Minutes in Hollywood," which, although originating in New York, deals entirely with the films and their makers, and talent scouts are buying Westbound tickets. All this activity has developed within the last few months.

It is just as true that Hollywood is going radio. Screen stars suddenly have realized that pots of gold sometimes lie at the foot of a microphone, and their agents are after choice programs and guest star spots, with fancy salary demands.

The airway has made many of its stars valuable as motion picture possibilities. It also has proved a godsend to several of the screen stars whose box-office draw began to wane, and who took to the microphone in time to get a boost back to fame. Many have been undeservedly on the down-grade and the victims of bad breaks.

When I went to the movie colony over a year ago, at the end of a series on CBS, radio and the movies were worlds apart. Screen performers paid little attention to microphones, except those used on the movie lots, and radio was too concerned with the talent it had developed to look for it in other fields. Since then, more and more variety has come to the air, and the program producers have had to comb every possible source for new talent. Frequently Hollywood has provided it.

Don't get the idea, though, that Miss Radio and Miss Hollywood are swinging down the lane hand in hand. Far from it. Many film people resent the radio and stage performers with box-office value who come to make pictures. Yet those same film stars, whether or not they know anything about radio and its peculiar technique, often are now found breaking their necks to get on the air. It's because competition is keen in the film colony. During the early days of movies, the burden of film-making was carried by a comparatively small number of established actors and actresses. Too, parents frowned on stage ambitions in their children. But times have changed vastly. Now mothers are apt to try to shove their toddling youngsters into the show business as soon as they can say "mamma," and sometimes sooner.

When sound came to films, many stars fell into oblivion, and those who remained, clung tenaciously to their positions. In the same manner, the new movie royalty clings to stardom, to defend it against invaders from the radio studios and the Broadway stages.

"But," you may say, "not all radio stars have the looks and the glamour that pictures call for. They mainly are voices." That's another fallacy. The make-up men and beauticians can make you look just the way they want you to. If you don't believe so, you should see some of the favorite beauties without make-up, or as they looked when their first arrived in California, before the beauty specialist laid hands on them.

From my observations in Hollywood, and I've watched all developments with keen interest because I went there with a considerable background of radio and stage experience, I've formed several conclusions useful if I were a sponsor or a talent scout in the film capital.

In the first place, I would be wary about signing screen stars either as regular performers or as guests merely because of the attention value of their names. Too many of them are totally unqualified for radio work.

Were I a prospective program-builder, I would keep an eye peeled for the small fellows. There's a gold mine of talent in Hollywood crying to be discovered, and a good deal of it is among the thousands who are getting neither breaks nor recognition. Soloists, trios, actors, quartets, comedians, and all sorts of acts which may never get attention before the Kleig lights, practically grow on trees out there, and among them is material for many a brilliant radio variety show.

For instance, there are the "ghost voices of the screen."

You have seen many of your film idols sing in musical pictures, and you have exclaimed, "Oh, I didn't know she could sing too!" Well, probably she can't, but she is able to move her lips. The singing is done by an unknown, whose voice is "dubbed in" on the sound-track. This is one of Hollywood's pet tricks. The studios build their favorites into supposedly versatile wonders and the public is soundly fooled, while the poor little singer never gets a break. That always has struck me as one of Hollywood's most pitiful deceptions.

Several radio stars have been developed from just such beginnings, like the crop of performers "California Melodies" has started to success, including Bing Crosby, the Boswell Sisters, Vera Van, and many more.

Hollywood and radio are growing closer and closer. It can be a happy union, with benefits to both.

Your Birthday Chart

RADIO GUIDE has met numerous requests for a department of Astrology by obtaining the exclusive services of Professor Z. Rellek, noted authority. By following the Astrological findings of this seer as they relate to the stars of the air, you will gain much valuable insight into your own character and affairs.

By Professor Z. Rellek

MANY celebrated artists of radio have birthdays during the ensuing week. These Aquarius children are Ben Alley, a tenor, born on February 11; Raymond Knight, writer, director, actor and comedian, born on February 12; Tom Waring, pianist, brother of Fred, born also on the twelfth; Leonard Hayton, orchestra leader, born on the thirteenth; Jack Benny, comedian, and Jessica Dragonette, soprano, and Enric Madriguera, orchestra leader, all born on February 14; and Mildred Bailey, also Leah Ray, both born February 16.

These Aquarius children have shown what can be done by all Aquarians to overcome shyness and to arrive at the heights.

And theirs is the greatest achievement because they are artists, and Aquarius is essentially the House of Science. Deep within them, carrying them on to success is the firm conviction that they have a great responsibility to their fellowmen. Recognition of that fact, not natural with Aquarians, has carried these artists to their present success. Let that same conviction be an inspiration for all others of Aquarius' children.

That spirit became achievement with the Great Emancipator—most illustrious of the Aquarians of modern times. Why not for you?

"REALLY, TRULY" STAR FROM FAIRY TALES

FIFTEEN thousand children can't be wrong. They wanted their "Dorothy" back, and they got her, too. She is Nancy Kelly, twelve-year-old star of the "Wizard of Oz," one of the hit juvenile shows of 1933.

When the dramatizations ended, an army of children protested, and the sponsors made haste to do something about it. They revised the radio continuity of L. Frank Baum's famous childhood classic to include "Dorothy" in the role of heroine.

The show may be heard over the NBC-WEAF network Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 4:45 p. m. CST.

This triumph of fan backing went to a youngster who made her debut on the "Wizard of Oz" show. But already she was known as "America's most photographed child model." Nancy had made her inimitable appeal to hundreds of thousands through more than 12,000 pictures. Few adults have been photographed that often! Nancy has posed for most of the advertised products on the market.

Nancy, actress, is no accident. She is her mother's "career." Nancy's mother tried the stage, but she didn't climb to the heights. She saw her opportunity, however, when Nancy came along. The child played her first role when, as a two-year-old, her mother read to her the story of Goldilocks and the Three Bears. The mother acted Goldilocks, and Baby Nancy imitated her with beautiful accuracy. It became grand fun for both mother and daughter. Hour upon hour was passed in acting out fairy tales and nursery rhymes. Curiously, among them was "Wizard of Oz," which the child learned by heart.

Nancy was a born actress and in the game with her mother she learned to "cry" or laugh or start or relax or register any emotional expression at will.

James Montgomery Flagg, the illustrator, first saw the possibilities in Nancy. He begged Mrs. Kelly to allow the child to become his model.

That started it. Nancy took to posing like tinder takes flame. It was fun for her, the continuation of her game, with her mother. She never wearied. Among illustrators she came to be in great demand. She was a "natural" for any desired pose. Yet, however far in the background her mother was, Nancy still learned from her. Mrs. Kelly would illustrate an emotion or pose. Nancy would register it.

An amazing angle to this story of a child star is that the limelight has left her unspoiled. Does Nancy know how remarkable she is? Her mother says not. "I never have praised her or given her any credit or reward," explains Mrs. Kelly. "I feel certain that is why she has remained so perfectly natural."

THE GIRL WHO HAS BEEN PHOTOGRAPHED MORE FREQUENTLY THAN ANY OTHER CHILD OF HER AGE—NANCY KELLY, twelve-year-old star of "The Wizard of Oz." And there have been more pictures taken of Nancy than have been taken of most adults, including the stars of radio, screen and stage.

TAKING THE MASKS OFF "MEN ABOUT TOWN"

MEN ABOUT TOWN? Don't let the label mislead you. Under the heading of "revelations" or "intimate disclosures," the truth must be told.

First, by way of identification, you hear them at 8 o'clock CST over NBC every Sunday night as "The Men About Town," on Manhattan Merry-Go-Round. Every Saturday night at 9 o'clock CST you hear them over the NBC network with B. A. Rolfe's Terraplane orchestra. And every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening at 7 o'clock CST over a CBS network you hear them as "The Happy Wonder Bakers."

What, you didn't know their style?—They sing smart, snappy songs, often sophisticated. And they sing them with a lilt that certainly lives up to their title. But "Men About Town," so far as old man Webster goes, is out. In fact, they're men about country estates a whole lot more.

For instance, Will Donaldson, who arranges the sparkling songs they sing, owns a chicken farm. He's far more likely to be able to tell you how many eggs you can expect from a Buff Orpington or a Plymouth Rock hen, than he is to tell you who attended the big opening at a downtown hotel recently. Donaldson started out to be an etcher and an oil painter, then veered to music because he got a bigger "kick" out of it. He rates today among the outstanding arrangers for ensemble singing in the United States.

Then, there's Frank Luther, lead tenor of the trio. Frank comes nearest to being a "man about town," but he's far more interested in playing handball or tennis than he is in attending openings. When you see Luther at a first night, he's there because he writes a lot about radio. He was a minister before he took up singing on the radio. All his tendencies are against the tinsel and glamour that are generally associated with the life of a typical "man about town."

Then, there's Phil Duey, one of radio's outstanding baritone soloists, in addition to being the baritone of the Men About Town. He looks like a former college athlete. He is! He looks, too, like a million dollars in a tuxedo—the closest he comes to passing for a man about town.

But Phil is deeply interested in his wife and family. He would sooner try to smack 80 in the eye on a golf course than anything else that can be accomplished away from the loudspeaker.

Jack Parker, whose fine lyric tenor voice tops the trio, spends most of his time on the water. When he isn't sailing you'll find him racing about the Hudson River on an ice boat. Jack occasionally appears at first-night openings, but he will tell you confidentially that he could live very nicely without them.

The other day the Men About Town were making a movie short. Dressed in evening clothes, white ties and top hats, they walked onto the set. The director, seeing them, turned to the script girl and said: "Now, that's how three men about town look. All the grace and ease in the world! What poise! I tell you, they are the essence of sophistication! You've heard a lot about men about town, you know, in the Broadway columns, and—well, Miss Stewart, there are three of them. If I'd been casting them I couldn't have made a better choice. They certainly look like what they're called."

And Arranger Will Donaldson, directing the orchestra for the picture, smiled. He knew that Duey was wondering whether they'd be through in time to catch the 5:20 for Larchmont. He knew that Parker had promised to take his little daughter to the supper show at a neighborhood movie, and that Luther was trying to get to a gym for a handball game with Bugs Baer, his handball buddy.

And so Donaldson looked at the director, smiled and said: "Oh, yeah?"

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE WINNERS

The Voice of Experience, donor of autographed copies of his book to readers who solve other readers' problems

MAIL from RADIO GUIDE readers has inundated the desk of the Voice of Experience since he asked their help in solving other readers' problems. From the mountainous stack he has selected ten for special award. These letters are written by sympathetic readers who rallied to the assistance of Lorraine McC., bride-to-be. In her letter to The Voice, published in these columns in the issue for the week ending January 27, Lorraine asked whether it is fair for a prospective husband to demand of his wife that she cease smoking after marriage, despite the fact he is unwilling to give up the habit.

Each of the persons whose letters were selected will receive the promised edition of the useful and interesting book, "The Voice of Experience," written by the master, and autographed by him.

A few of the selected letters follow:

Smoke Shows the Way

Dear Lorraine: No, Lorraine, of course your fiance's attitude about your smoking is not right, and neither is yours. To smoke or not to smoke is not your problem at all. Your problem is one of temperament and belief. If your fiance is so domineering before you are married about a non-essential matter, what will he be when serious problems come up? If you resent his autocratic attitude about something that is not of vital importance, how will you submit to his demands which touch your very heart and soul; your life itself? For instance, the training of your children; the handling of money, and other essential domestic matters and personal relations.

If he believes in a double standard and holds that wives should be unquestionably submissive to their husbands and you hold a different view then your matrimonial bark will be wrecked before it leaves Honeymoon Harbor. Talk matters over with him calmly and have a clear understanding. Then if you do not agree fundamentally, you should thank God that the smoke from your cigaret showed you which way the wind blows before you set sail on a voyage predestined to failure. No marriage happiness can exist between a domineering husband and a thinking wife when their basic ideas of marriage differ.

Mary C. Adams,

6104 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Love Will Conquer

Dear Lorraine: The reason the male brute gives the female brute little or no attention except during the positive season is simply because he sees so much of him in her that she is as ordinary and common in his sight as himself.

The degree of intelligence in man is after all his measure for womanhood. He sees in her the procreator of the future generation. She must be finer than he.

God created man from the dirt of the earth. After noting his earthline antics, He very promptly decided man could not live alone. To create man a mate God must have felt required to provide something that would refine and elevate His child, so He cast a deep sleep on man and took a clean white perfect bone from the body and created woman.

The race stands or falls on the virtue, stamina, refinement, courage, dependability and suffering of our women. To retain our respect they must remain above us. A male who will marry a woman who has lowered her standards is much like a thing burrowing through a city dump ground hunting cast-off articles. A man would hunger nigh to death before prostituting his manhood.

I sincerely hope and trust you love your man enough to do as woman has for thousands of years. Place yourself above your non-essential and acquired habits, be the woman God would have you, and man will very much desire you. Charles C. Foster, 924 West Gandy Street, Denison, Texas.

Another Woman's View

Dear Lorraine: In my opinion, the seemingly trivial question—whether or not you should give up smoking—assumes massive proportions; not merely in itself, but with respect to your fiance's future attitude regarding similar problems that will present themselves after marriage.

It seems to me that the marital happiness of you both will be greatly jeopardized unless this matter is thoroughly thrashed out. Although marriage is the merging of two people, nevertheless, each partner is an individual entitled to his own likes, dislikes, tastes, which should be tolerated, and, yes, respected.

If you give in graciously to your fiance's (to him) unproblematical statement, you may find yourself in a difficult situation after marriage. Your choice of clothes, entertainment, friends, may not be suitable for a "wife," and unhappiness, humiliation, perhaps separation, would be a logical consequence.

It is certainly most unfair of your fiance to ask you to give up smoking merely because you bear his name; nor should he expect you to relinquish your individuality. Do explain this to him, tactfully. If he gives up smoking, I should advise you to do it, too. Otherwise, keep on smoking and maintain the right to assert your privilege of choosing your method of enjoyment. Elaine Weston,

Box 64, Princeton, New Jersey.

The two others whose letters were included among the five to receive autographed, deluxe editions of the Voice of Experience's book, are: R. M. Jannsen, 856 East Oak Street, Kankakee, Illinois, and F. M. Bowman, 1130 Hamlin Street, Fremont, Ohio.

Five more readers whose letters of solution were singled out by The Voice, to receive copies of the regular edition of the book are: Mrs. John Manfred Larsen, 6805 Greenview Avenue, Chicago, Illinois; C. Hilleboe, 909 Second Avenue, N. W., Minot, North Dakota; Charles H. Wolfe, 625 Centre Street, Freeland, Pennsylvania; Clyde Walter Ehrhardt, Ph.D., 78 Fair Street, Middlebourne, West Virginia; and Laura N. Coats, 318 S. W. Fourth Street, Richmond, Indiana.

Herewith another letter is published, this time setting forth a problem vitally involving the lives and futures of three orphans. The "Interested Aunt" who writes it needs your counsel. The Voice of Experience invites you to give it to her. Put yourself in the place of the aunt. Give her the best suggestions and advice you have, and send them in.

From the letters received, The Voice will select ten. Five of those whose solutions are picked will receive autographed copies of the deluxe edition of the book, "The Voice of Experience," written by The Voice. The other five will be mailed a copy of the regular edition. RADIO GUIDE reserves the right to print any letter selected.

Your letter should not exceed two hundred words and must be written only on one side of the paper. Send it to The Voice of Experience, c/o RADIO GUIDE, 551 Fifth Avenue, New York City, N. Y.

This week's problem is presented for your solution below:

Send Children to a Home

Dear Voice of Experience: Six weeks ago my sister died, leaving three orphaned children all under ten years of age. The husband and father died more than a year ago. None of us relatives are able to take the three children and rear them together, but three families of us are willing to take one child each.

My oldest brother contends, however, that the three children should be put in a home, where they will not be separated. Some action must be taken within the next month. Please advise what you think we should do. INTERESTED AUNT

AWARDS IN 15th BETTER RADIO CONTEST

Report of Judges

THE results of RADIO GUIDE's Fifteenth Better Radio Contest, covering the Maxwell House Show Boat, brings out vividly the fact that the sponsors can rest on their laurels with the presentation they are now offering. The Thursday night full-hour program evoked the second largest vote polled so far in the Better Radio Contest, 5,193 listeners sending in ballots with 99 percent expressing approval.

This extremely high percentage of satisfaction was evidenced with nearly every feature of the highly diversified program, only the advertising failing to exceed 90 percent approval. The commercial credits, however, were not far behind the entertainment in the matter of sanction as only 228 out of 1997 voiced dissatisfaction. In light of the general disapproval of advertising in radio, this was a commendable mark and stamps the coffee company as discriminating in the placing of its selling copy.

Because of the lack of space it is impossible to list all the features of the program such as the many persons who have filled the role of Mary Lou; need for brevity also bars listing of honorable mention winners. We have accepted the vote on the character Mary Lou, as an adjunct to the program and find that it rated 91 percent approbation. Tiny Ruffner, announcer, won 100 percent approval with 888 voters, while Capt. Henry was condemned by but 4 percent of the 4009 who mentioned his part in the presentation.

All but 10 percent of Annette Hanshaw's listeners commended her intriguing "blues" voice, and "Molasses and January," comedians, were disapproved by only 152 out of 3485 voters.

First Prize—$25.00

The Program: Great.
Captain Henry: Can't be beat as M. C. Let him sing more.

Annette Hanshaw: My favorite of the gang. She's the "Rainbow Rhythm Girl" of Radioland. Voice is warm and colorful. The speaker even radiates her personality-plus.

Lanny Ross: A great singer. He's improving.

Conrad Thibault: Good, but seems to stand too close to the mike. Give him more speaking lines. Has a grand speaking voice.

Mary Lou: Don't care for soprano solos. She's great in the ensemble. I like Conrad also in the ensemble.

Ensemble Singing: Great. Suggest more slow music with plenty of harmony.

Showboat Four: Always welcome.

Molasses and January: I look forward to 'em. Good line of gab.

My vote for Mary Lou: Lois Bennett. Why not stage an audition, on a program, of all three girls, indicating them by number, and allowing the listeners to pick the best one?

Suggestion: Why not dramatize some of the old River traditions, and past history? Natchez' "Under the Hill" would fill a volume.

Advertising: A bit overdone. Captain and "Marriar" do it very well. Tiny's ballyhoo is superfluous.

Raymond Goforth

Second Prize—$10.00

I certainly do like the Maxwell House Show Boat Hour.

Any program that features such wonderful voices as those of Lanny Ross, Conrad Thibault, Annette Hanshaw, Lois Bennett, and the Show Boat Four merits any music lover's appreciation.

Gus Haenschen's orchestral background to this vocal ensemble leaves nothing to be desired as they play every type of music with beauty and understanding.

The mirth provoking antics of Molasses and January provide amusing interludes to this musical hour which are as good as any comedy on the air.

But I think this program's main appeal is in its simplicity. Captain Henry, Maria, Mary Lou, Lanny Ross and the others become real personalities and the slender thread of romance is skillfully woven into the hour.

Then we come to that bugaboo of the radio listener, the advertising. I'm sure no one can take offense at the Maxwell House method, which, under the capable handling of Tiny Ruffner blends without discord into the Show Boat background.

Our "loyalty to Maxwell House Coffee" is certainly a very cheap price to pay for such a wonderful hour of entertainment, which, like the coffee it represents, is "good to the last drop."

Mrs. F. G. Allan

THE VOICE OF THE LISTENER

This department is solely for the use of our readers and its columns are offered to each of you as means of providing an opportunity to voice your opinions on radio and those who are a part of it. We want you to express yourself so LET'S ALL GET TOGETHER AND TALK THINGS OVER. It is literally a people's forum where opinions, criticisms and suggestions from all corners of the country can be exchanged. In cordially inviting you to contribute we also urge you to send in your photograph when writing. You have a right to be seen as well as heard. Yours may be a particularly interesting comment so your picture should be a valuable addition to the scrapbooks of those who preserve mementos of radio. RADIO GUIDE, in conducting this feature for the readers, will be as careful as possible with your photograph but assumes no responsibility for its return. As many pictures will be used each week as is possible. We try to use worthwhile VOL letters in the order of their receipt. Failure to send your photograph will not bar your letter from publication.

Using Radio Intelligently

Birmingham, Ala.

Dear VOL:

You might be interested in knowing how I keep my radio programs listed. I get my RADIO GUIDE every week and read it thoroughly. I note all the new programs and hunt for orchestras that I've missed for the past weeks. For instance, there's Harold Stern's orchestra. I lost them for several months and last week found him listed from New York.

I have bought a book from the ten-cent store and numbered each page. In the front of the book I have a page for each day of the week. I chart each program beginning at 6 p. m., as follows:

Time	Program	Station	Dial No.

Of course, there are changes from time to time but I make erasures and put down the new notations. Then in the back of the book I keep pages for orchestras and their themes, and dramas with their characters. Also for each orchestra on a commercial program I put down the name of the announcer and the featured soloist.

Then I jot down notes such as the name of a book recommended by Alexander Woolcott, Ripley's interesting "Believe it or Not" items and other things of interest. You see, I do not miss anything. I really make a study of my radio.

Mrs. Ruth B. Strange

Meeting of the Bored

Leavenworth, Kan.

Dear VOL:

Three other girls and myself recently decided to spend two hours together each evening for a week listening to radio programs of all kinds, with the thought in mind of criticizing or complimenting, depending on what we discovered.

Marcella Frank
pretty monotonous and Radio needs a Ziegfeld.

And I'm afraid that the stations wouldn't be very flattered if they knew how bored we had become by the third night. There is certainly a hopeless similarity between programs, barring, of course, a few like Stoopnagle and Budd, Jack Benny's half hour and the Lombardo program.

But most of the comedy shows are built on identical patterns with only the personalities being a bit different. Certainly the jokes are changeless and are threadbare by constant use. Musical programs are the repetition of tunes is terrible.

Marcella Frank.

The Land of the Free

Butte, Mont.

Dear VOL:

Every so often you print in your column a complaint from someone who has written six or eight times to a band leader or some other radio performer without getting a reply or the 8 x 10 photograph requested. Six letters at three cents is eighteen cents, which they spend without results whereas, if they would spend the three cents for a stamp and enclose twenty-five cents they would get quick results. Maybe they do not know it but these stars get requests up to as many as a hundred thousand and if all photographs were mailed free the senders would actually be bankrupted. Photographers do not give these prints to radio people so how can they, in turn, be asked to send them out without the money to cover the bare cost? Don't be a chiseler. Put yourself in your favorite's place.

Resents Network Tactics

Chicago, Ill.

Dear VOL:

In Plummer's language, a truck-load of prunes to the NBC executives for putting Vic and Sade opposite The Easy Aces on the CBS. Any one with half an eye could see the plot back of such a deal as this. With the same childish jealousy that has so frequently muddled radio matters up before, these two big networks are reduced to pitting audiences against one another. All they do is split up the audience because I know in my own case I listen to one one day and the other, the next. It certainly is a poor way to make friends. Another thing—both of these acts should be on at night as they are of enough merit to hold the bigger audiences that listen after dinner in the evening.

Ralph Garrison

It so happens that I have a radio at my office so that I can listen to an occasional day-time program. But if this condition should change and I were to have to miss both of these programs I would certainly feel that I was being robbed of something. Why should the women get all the breaks?
Ralph Garrison

Loyal, but Programs—Ugh!

Auburndale, L. I.

Dear VOL:

This letter, in answer to "Willing to Pay" is my first one to any magazine, but this is not the first time that this subject of advertising on the radio has aroused my ire.

I cannot help thinking that people who are always grumbling about sponsors mentioning their products, show a lack of intellect and very little gratitude for the wonderful programs.

As for English programs, may I say that my husband and I are both English and proud of it! But if there is anything putrid in England it is the programs heard over the wireless. I know; I have lived there all my life until five years ago when we came to this country. Two years ago we went back for a year and the programs were as dull as ever; plenty of high-brow music, serious speeches, two or three good dance orchestras, and two or three times a week a variety show.

But, let me add, this variety program, if heard on one station on Tuesday, is repeated over other stations later in the week. Does that show how short they are of really good programs? America leaves us far behind in real radio entertainment.

His Absence Voorhees Her

Paducah, Ky.

Dear VOL:

Have been reading everything I could get my hands on for some sort of a story, but cannot find a word anywhere to explain why Don Voorhees was taken off the Show Boat program. While I think Haenschen's orchestra is an excellent one, I am too loyal an admirer of Voorhees to want to have him replaced. I can't understand why sponsors permit people to grow fond of their favorites and then suddenly take them off.

Nor is that the only kick I would like to register as long as I am writing. This however is not aimed so much at radio as it is to listeners who go suddenly moral and declare that they will not listen to Rudy Vallee any more because of his difficulties with his wife. Rudy's private life and his radio career are two different spheres and so long as he doesn't offend in the course of his work, I certainly don't see why he should suffer condemnation because of a personal experience which could happen to anyone.

Sew-w-w, Mr. Taylor

Seattle, Wash.

Dear VOL:

It is rather surprising to me that no one has yet mentioned the surprising development of Deems Taylor from a staid man of letters and astute critic, to a charming and humorous master of ceremonies.

While the comparison is not a very flattering one to many who function ably as m. c.'s, I am almost tempted to say that Taylor's case is the first on record where a silk purse was converted into a sow's ear.

Won't you some day give us an insight into the manner in which this composer-critic was drafted into radio to set up a standard which might well serve as an example for all who desire to enter this field?

Incidentally this would seem like the right place to thank the sponsors of that program for bringing Al Jolson back. He makes so few stage or film appearances now that opportunities to hear him are all too rare. If he reads RADIO GUIDE, as probably all radio artists do, I hope he stumbles across my request for him to repeat the Jewish song about the little tailor.

A Sportsman Complains

St. Paul, Minn.

Dear VOL:

More power to RADIO GUIDE for inaugurating the column telling us where to tune in for sports broadcasts. It is just another demonstration of the thorough manner in which your magazine covers the field. It is the only place I know of where you can find complete information which is important on these winter nights when one doesn't always feel like going out and would like to know where a sports broadcast can be heard.

It's too bad that big networks like NBC and CBS can't take up some sports beside sectional football games and the world series. Even if they couldn't get sponsors they could be building good-will which they certainly could use.

We have cooking and sewing and reading lessons for the women; juvenile shows by the dozens for the children and in fact all sorts of programs especially prepared for everyone except the men, who after all, furnish the wherewithal to support the advertisers on radio. Why not consider the man of the house a little? He's the potential investor in the wares that are sold via the radio.

We're Sorry We Erred

New York City, N. Y.

Dear VOL:

This is from Irving Gross the crippled shut-in who hasn't been able to walk for the past ten years. I must sit in my chair all day long. I wrote you a letter the early part of December requesting that you publish it in your column, which you did. But you made a mistake in the address which should be 189 East 2d Street, Manhattan, New York, N. Y., but it was printed 129 by mistake. So far I have not received any letters due to the mistake. I would love to receive letters from anyone who reads of my condition so hope you will print this giving the address correctly this time.

"my taste says Old Gold
BUT MY TASTE ISN'T YOURS"

FRANKLY, don't you feel a bit annoyed when someone tries to tell you what cigarette you ought to smoke? It seems to me that's a question for your taste to decide.

"I say all the leading brands are good. But I've settled down to OLD GOLDS because they're so nicely made, so smooth and mild, and free of bite and rasp.

"Maybe that won't mean a thing to you. I'm just suggesting that you try OLD GOLDS a few days . . . and then let your taste decide."

No better tobacco grows than is used in OLD GOLDS. And they are PURE. (No artificial flavoring)

ALONG THE AIRIALTO

by himself who took off about six of those different character roles on Cantor's broadcast last Sunday night. Teddy's in the market for a Matador's outfit to go with his newly acquired dialect because he thinks it's an old Spanish costume. Bumped into Rudy Vallee and Dick Himber the other night in a restaurant. It was the first time I had seen Vallee since he returned from the coast and he looked kind of thin. I asked him if he had lost any weight while he was out on the coast, but he said he hadn't. He still weighs 150. I was convinced it must have been his brand new haircut that made him look that way. Someone told me that Rudy has entirely given up the saxophone for the dictaphone. Dick Leibert, who wrote a tune called "Maryette" which brought him quite a bit of publicity, has a new melody completed. It has just been accepted for publication and is titled "Thrill Me with Rhythm." Bess Johnson, who is Lady Esther of the Wayne King programs and who also takes the role of Fran in the sketch "Today's Children," is a mother and advertising agency executive, too.

The Tattered Man, who stepped out of Mother Goose's romantic realm to tell jolly stories for children, is described by the author and creator of these highly imaginative stories as the funny old hired man, as typically American as the raggedy man himself. His love for the neighborhood children and the way they run to him with their difficulties and problems, make him a great favorite with mamma and poppa as well as the kids themselves. Me, too.

Edgar A. Guest has had quite a number of vocations in his life. He started his literary career as a police reporter, then exchange editor, and finally the monitor of a column called "Blue Monday," a weekly. Listeners of the Household Memories program recognize him as the "Poet of the Home," heard every Tuesday eve.

Harriet Lee, who has been sorta on again off again so far as the airwaves are concerned, is staging a strong comeback on the "Sweetheart Melodies" show heard every Thursday morning over the NBC network. You may remember Miss Lee as being the winner of the first Radio Queen contest which was held in 1931.

How you can get into Broadcasting

BROADCASTING offers remarkable opportunities to talented men and women—if they are trained in Broadcasting technique. It isn't necessary to be a "star" to make good money in Broadcasting. There are hundreds of people in Broadcasting work who are practically unknown—yet they easily make $3000 to $5000 a year while, of course, the "stars" often make $15,000 to $50,000 a year.

An amazing new method of practical training, developed by Floyd Gibbons, one of America's outstanding broadcasters, fits talented people for big pay Broadcasting jobs. If you have a good speaking voice, can sing, act, write, direct or sell, the Floyd Gibbons School will train you—right in your own home in your spare time—for the job you want. Get your share of the millions of advertisers spend in Broadcasting every year. Our free book, "How to Find Your Place in Broadcasting" tells you the whole fascinating story of the Floyd Gibbons Course—how to prepare for a good position in Broadcasting—and how to turn your hidden talents into money. Here is your chance to fill an important role in one of the most glamorous, powerful industries in the world. Send the coupon today for free book.

Floyd Gibbons School of Broadcasting, 2000 14th St. N.W., Dept. 4B31, Washington, D.C. Without obligation send me your free booklet "How to Find Your Place in Broadcasting" and full particulars of your home study Course.

Helene Madison, swimming champion, and Jimmy Foxx, American League nome run king, sun on the beach at Miami just prior to their joining four other sports notables as guests of Old Maestro Ben Bernie next Tuesday evening, Feb. 13, at 8 o'clock CST, via NBC.

LEAVE IT TO the "old maestro," Ben Bernie, to snatch off some of the best names among the elite wintering at Miami, for his Blue Ribbon Air Casino broadcast. His half-hour period from 9 to 9:30 p. m. EST on Tuesday, February 13, expected to be his last NBC program from Florida, brings a half dozen shining lights in the sports world, the best known, perhaps, being Gene Sarazen, Bobby Jones' successor as the country's leading golfer, with a supporting cast of James Healey, successful trainer of Mrs. Jock Whitney's sumptuous racing stable; Sunny Workman, America's highest paid saddle expert who gets plenty of credit for Equipoise's fine record; Helene Madison, feminine aquatic star who broke practically every swimming record in existence before turning professional; Damon Runyon, celebrated sports writer, and last but not least, heavy hitting Jimmy Foxx, star first sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics. Tune in WABC (860 kc.) at 2 p. m. CST, or your nearest CBS station.

TED HUSING has signed to air the Army-Navy basketball game on Saturday, February 24, over the CBS network.

A SPORT INTERVIEW worth tabbing will be Helen Wills Moody's appearance on Thursday, February 15. The famous "Queen of the Courts" and Armand Girard, operatic basso, are the headliners on the NBC-WEAF network program coming from San Francisco at 4 p. m. CST. Thomas Carr Howe, Jr., will ply Mrs. Moody with questions pertaining to her art work and plans for the tennis campaigns this summer.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN CHICAGO

By Harry Steele

JOHN HARRINGTON, WGN sports announcer, who labors under the synthetic title of "Speed" due to his accelerated articulation, recently encountered Chicago banditti whose tempo reduced his own to pure adagio. The syncopated syllable-slinger left his car in front of his home during the dinner hour, to find only the space in which he had parked, when he came forth to depart for the studio. Police returned the vehicle to him within a few days but it had been so completely stripped that it looked like the portal emblem for a nudist camp. Two weeks of bickering produced a new set of equipment from the reluctant risk company and the newly adorned bus was restored to service about ten days ago. On the same night Harrington again was robbed of the car and finally regained possession of it with naught but the radio missing. He has urged his landlord to erect an addition to his dining salon, to be used as a garage.

Frank Wilson, the Evans(bari)tonian is probably beginning to have some faith in the journalistic tradition that all events occur in cycles of three. He has just returned to the air after a siege of illness and enroute to WBBM studios early this week, was the victim of an auto crash. Both he and Jerry Marlowe, a fellow-member of the fur company ensemble, were slightly injured but helped to sustain the Pagiacci myth by smiling through their performance.

WHO IS GOING to be the far-seeing program director or sponsor to see and seize on the talents of Zelda Santley who can be anything from the Three Little Pigs to Mickey Mouse with only a twist of her mobile countenance? Good mimicry is one of the features of entertainment which has not as yet been reduced to tatters on the air, hence the program potentialities of Miss Santley, recently featured in the film palaces and now headlining on the College Inn floor show. Listeners admit that a program offering the leading stars of the air and stage would be the perfect presentation. So why not Miss Santley who can reproduce them all at will? Incidentally those of you who care to hear a brief sample of her art may have that opportunity when she is interviewed at 11:45 a. m., Friday, Feb. 9, over WJJD by the interrogating stylist, Esther Bradford.

Patricia Ann Manners, blond music-comedy songstress did so well on her WJJD German hour solos last Sunday that she even fooled the German listeners who thought they had discovered a "Landsman." As a matter of fact, to reveal a studio secret, it was Pat's first attempt at singing in German. Darned adaptable, these radio stars.

WONDERING ABOUT his status in life is Franklyn MacCormack of the local CBS staff, who signed up as announcer and finds himself something of an air commuter. MacCormack puts on the weekly Olsen and Johnson show for Swift and Company and during the many weeks that the comedian shave been barnstorming about the middle west, the announcer has been compelled to flit hither and yon to catch up with his charges. Franklyn is at present working on a chart calculated, when complete, to show him whether he has been on the air or in the air the greatest number of hours in the past two months.

PLUMS AND PRUNES

By Evans E. Plummer

ASK and ye shall receive—many letters from ardent radio fans who are quite decided what their favorite radio nights are. In glancing over the mail, it is clear that Monday night wins the championship with Sunday a close contender. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday came in neck, neck and neck to tie for third position, and Saturday, poor old bath night, with the misery company of Tuesday, didn't even find a single champion!

This compiler of airfacts (pardon me Mr. Fairfax) and hurler of prunes was quite interested in the unusual Sunday night popularity. Some six years ago, you couldn't persuade a sponsor to purchase Sunday afternoon or night time, the theory being that people would complain of making the Sabbath air commercial.

Now? Times have changed. Sunday afternoon and evening are filled with some of the best of programs, and not a single squawk has been squeaked.

But what happened to Tuesday and Saturday? Are they orphans? Is it because Saturday is a universal "date" night that our correspondents have failed to materialize a champion in its defense? And what is Tuesday's alibi?

The Dope Sheet

SUNDAY RAN SECOND, according to the petitioners, because of Wayne King's matinee, Jan Garber, Vee and Johnny, the Hoover Sentinels, Roses and Drums, Princess Pat Players, Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, Cadillac Concert, Realsilk revue, Ethel Waters, Joe Penner, Songs My Mother Taught Me, Eddie Cantor, Choir Invisible, Will Rogers, Walter Winchell, Manhattan Merry-Go-Round, Album of Familiar Music, Jack Benny, Hall of Fame, Ennio Bolognini, and the Master Singers. Then, of course, there were certain local programs, such as Prof. Percy Boynton's WGN book talk.

MONDAY TOOK THE CAKE, the plum pudding or whatever it was this column offered to the winner, by reason of Sealed Power Sideshow, Bing Crosby, Sinclair Minstrels, the Big Show, Firestone concert, A & P Gypsies, Melody Moments, Contented program, Wayne King, MJB (western NBC chain) Demi-Tasse Review, Frances Alda and Xavier Cugat, Enoch Light, Dan Russo, Shirley Howard, Henri Deering, John Fogarty, E. C. Hill, Ramona, and a group of dance band pickups including Weems, Lyman, Belasco, Sosnik and Light. Locals named included Ford (WOR) Frick and Jimmie (WAAT) Brieryly.

WEDNESDAY TIED THURSDAY and Friday for third place with Crime Clues, the Baron Jack Pearl, Wayne King, the Troubadours and guest, Burns and Allen. Fred Allen, Fred Waring, and the Columbia News Service. Will Osborne's (WOR) orchestra, with movie critic and guest star, was the favored local.

THURSDAY—well, you can name them, can't you?—made the third grade with Rudy Vallee, Show Boat, the White-man-Jolson combination, and, in part competition with the last named, Glen Gray's band with Irene Taylor.

FRIDAY KEPT ITS reputation clean by being the night famed for Jessica Dragonette, Ethel Shutta and O'Keefe, Phil Harris, Phil Baker, First Nighter, Maude Adams, Frank Munn and Muriel Wilson, Dangerous Paradise, Al and Pete and Junior, and Red Davis. Non-chain favorites named were Jack Arthur of WOR and Pat Flanagan of WBBM.

But what happened to Tuesday and Saturday? Colonel Stoopnagle, will you please send out Budd to investigate and make a report? Thank you.

Without analyzing all the suggestions submitted by fans, it was obvious that the daytime programs which fans most desire changed to night, are Easy Aces and the conflicting Vic and Sade.

P. S.—The mail is still coming in. Watch next week for revised statistics.

Putting on the Dog

THE PROPER WAY to make the sound effect of a tramp walking down a railroad track and kicking a dog, goes something like this:

One sound effect engineer has to walk along a platform, and, at the given cue, clap his hands with a dull thud, whereupon another sound effects gentleman instantly lets out a howl which is supposed to be as nearly as possible like that of a booted canine quadruped.

Those are the rules. Yet, despite several okeh rehearsals for Bill Baar's Grandpa Burton (NBC-Chicago) episode in which a "bo" was to kick the dog "Rusty" in the slats, someone broke them.

Just as H. G. Ashbaucher, S.E.E. (sound effects engineer, you mug) had planned, an NBC junior production man (j.p.m. for short) was walking the platform. Came the cue . . . and the j.p.m. booted Mr. Ashbaucher swiftly and neatly in the seat of his pants, whereupon instantly was produced a yell which the network executives claim will go down in history as one of the most realistic dog howls that was ever heard on the air!

Make a Memo

TO CATCH the PLUMFUL singing of Little Jackie Heller, starting February 5 at 4:15 p. m. CST on Mon-Wed-Fri and Saturday at 4:30 p. m. CST over the NBC-WJZ network . . . Ditto for ditto of Pat Kennedy, that singing son of Erin, over WBBM from Monday to Friday at 9:30 p. m. or on WGN the same days at 1:30 p. m. . . . Get a giggle for the customers out of the news that Kate Smith was a-purring last week in Kansas City, thereby becoming a Kansas City Kitty . . . Remember to see the NBC page boys in their dark blue mess kit uniforms. It seems some of the lads aren't acclimated, this frigid weather, to the nifty but tailless jackets, and one was overheard to complain through his chattering teeth, "I feel so undressed." . . . And scoop the dailies with the news that the good old Wiener (WENR) Derby will be auditioned ere the week is out to a large national advertiser!

BIRTHDAYS: Feb. 11: Ben Alley and Harry Swan; Feb. 12: Raymond Knight, Tom Waring and Curt Petersen; Feb. 13: Lennie Hayton; Feb. 14, Jack Benny, Jessica Dragonette and Enric Madriguera; Feb. 15: John Seagle; Feb. 16: Mildred Bailey and Leah Ray.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

By Carleton Smith

ARTURO TOSCANINI is considered by authorities the most gifted conductor of our time, states the announcement for the Cadillac Hour, Sunday (NBC-WJZ at 5 p. m. CST). No press release ever voiced an opinion more universal. And why? What is the nature of Toscanini's gifts that he is so recognized?

Vladimir Horowitz

No matter how often you analyze, nor how much you hear him, there is still some magic unexplained, some psychic force felt but not expressed, some chemistry, some alchemy that eludes you. You sense a meeting between Mr. Toscanini and the spirit of the composer (not all composers, of course), a clasping of hands and a felicity of understanding beyond the power of words to describe.

Some wise thinker has suggested that Toscanini achieves what he does only through some such capacity for assimilation as that of which De Santis spoke in praising Dante . . . "the ability to sink one's self in an imaginative world, to project an experience and a passion: The gift of steeping the soul in the thing which is the secret of life, of love, and of genius."

chosen to conduct on the Cadillac Hour has not been announced.

The afternoon's soloist, Lotte Lehmann, in her debut at the Metropolitan, brought forth extravagant praises from the critical fraternity. Unquestionably one of the most sensitive artists on the operatic stage, Mme. Lehmann is full of feeling. Even when she is not at her best, she never fails to register a favorable impression.

The following Sunday, February 18, Mr. Toscanini will return to the Philharmonic Symphony to broadcast the two final Beethoven symphonies—the Eighth and the Ninth with the Final Chorus on Schiller's "Ode to Joy." Performances of this gigantic work with its notorious terrors are among the memorable achievements of Toscanini's long career. The music remains loftiest among the transcendent disclosures of the creative will. Toscanini explores its heart and lays it bare to us.

What VALLEE Never Told

the time of her death a few years ago, already had been sharply marked.

If the character comparison is not irreverent, Rudy Vallee is a jazz-singing Calvin Coolidge.

The determination to surmount all difficulties began to express itself in his earliest youth. From the time that he forced himself forward as the leader of his gang of kids so that he'd no longer be known as "mamma's baby," until the occasion when he finally tore Fay Webb from his heart with heroic determination, Rudy has done things he didn't like to do just because he thought they were good for his soul.

As one who knows Rudy well, perhaps even better than anyone else, I venture to say that in his entire lifetime of thirty-three years he never has done anything without a purpose—except to fall in love.

But although by the time he was in his latter teens the future heart-melancholy no longer feared girls, he had little time to spend with them. Throughout his high school and college days, first at Maine University and then at Yale, Rudy spent most of his waking hours when he was not studying, by organizing local orchestras and playing in them.

During these years he knew few if any women. In fact, the sex was almost as strange to him as some rare and obscure animal recently imported by an intrepid hunter into a local zoo.

Rudy knew that women existed, but that was all the part they played in his life. They existed, and their purpose was to serve as dancing partners so that young men would attend dances and hire orchestras to make music.

Rudy received his Bachelor's degree from Yale in 1927. He came to Broadway that year. Within a short time he was an international celebrity, but hitherto unpublished details of that unparalleled rise to the dizzy heights of fame will have to wait until a better time to be revealed. We are now speaking of Rudy's love-life.

or rather his lack of love-life until he reached Broadway.

Perhaps you can picture the country boy suddenly finding himself a Broadway favorite. He came into contact with types of women with whom he was absolutely inexperienced. Rudy had never seen people like them before. Now he had on all sides show-girls, married women anxious to do a little playing around, schemers, crazy little flappers, and every other type of woman ready to throw themselves at his feet.

It might be that this story never would have been written if Rudy's lack of interest in women had continued. But, placed in close proximity with girls, inhaling the subtle odors of their devilish perfumes, gazing into their belladonna-ed, sparkling eyes, watching their heaving bosoms almost bursting forth from scanty evening frocks, Rudy began to take notice.

Women swept him off his feet! Blonde women . . . brunette women . . . titian-haired women. They crowded close to him, implored him for a bit of love, just a tiny, wee little bit; begged a memento, any memento—a lock of his hair, a button from his coat, an autograph.

Well, the inevitable happened. It always does happen to inexperienced country boys on Broadway. They fall head over heels in love with one woman. Fall out the next day. Find another, and so on in a merry maddening whirl until the marriage license clerk finally catches up.

This is exactly what took place! Rudy stepped into marriage and out of it in double-quick time, years before he met Fay Webb!

(In next week's issue of RADIO GUIDE you will find another stirring instalment of Rudy's former secretary's revelations. They will include a full account of his first disastrous marriage, and an intimate, day-by-day narration of his life with Fay Webb Vallee—intimacies hitherto unknown even to Rudy's closest friends. You will find these in the issue of the week ending February 24.)

MR. FAIRFAX KNOWS THE ANSWERS

R. W., Eaton, N. Y.—NBC officials report that the act "Salt and Peanuts," once a comedy team on their network, has either abandoned radio or has no booking at the present time. However, they are heard on transcriptions.

Mrs. R. B., Sturgis, Mich.—We have nothing on record to indicate that June Meredith stutters. Could you be thinking of Jane Froman who was once a victim of an impediment in her speech? There is no particular significance, so far as we know, about the origin of "The Last Roundup." It was written by William (Billy) Hill, who had composed several other numbers under another name simply because he feared the name Billy Hill might be gagged too liberally with Hillbilly. The number was written specifically for the new Ziegfeld Follies but the merit of the piece leaked out long before the show was ready for presentation and had become epidemic by the time of the Follies' premier late in the year. Ask us not, to revive the "doggie" controversy. Its origin is presumably the plains word, doji, corrupted into doggie by untutored cowboys. It is supposed to refer to motherless calves and unfortunately survived to become a bane to all persons in jobs like this. May its parallel be still-born!

Mrs. Clara J., Marquette, Mich.—That interview with Lanny Ross, which you heard from Hollywood, was with no stooge, but the tenor, himself and in person. RADIO GUIDE, with its idea of always serving the reader, will shortly carry a story written by the popular tenor telling about his Hollywood experiences and something, perhaps, about his sensation at really talking to his many admirers.

H. A., Rockland, Me—Your inquiry about Kate Smith has already been answered and we can also say that so far as we know, Jesse Crawford likewise is off the air. Bess Johnson plays the role of Lady Esther and that of Kay Norton is enacted by Irna Phillips. The theme song of "One Man's Family" is the Destiny Waltz. None of the cast of that continuity is connected with the movies. Vincent Haworth, formerly Jack Arnold of the M. & M. scripts is not broadcasting at present.

He has returned to the East to do dramatic roles on the stage and is very successful as one of the leading members of a cast doing a sketch in vaudeville.

G. H. A., Eau Claire, Wis.—Ben Bernie's real name is Benjamin Ancel and so far as we know Winchell uses his original name. They are not brothers, neither are they the arch enemies their radio banter would lead you to believe.

Luther A. K., Frederick, Md.—Sorry not to be able to post you on the whereabouts of Don Pedro and his band. The ravishing maestro is apparently free-lancing about the country and being on the go, has no radio pickups, unless they chance to be local ones, in which case we would have no advance knowledge.

John G., Danville, Ill.—Lulu McConnell is no longer in the "Big Show" cast and so far as can be learned has no current radio assignment. The name of "Beetle," like the dancing of Bill Childs, is maintained as a deep secret, sacred to the archives of NBC.

CROSBY AND PENNER IN THE VAN; STAR ELECTION Now a REAL RACE

DEFINITE trends have begun in the election of radio stars. Up to the counting of the ten-thousandth ballot the leaders were "bunched" together in three of the four divisions of popularity—personal stars, teams and programs. In the other division—orchestras—leadership had been strongly asserted before the Benny is a favorite as popular in Kansas as he is in Kentucky.

Wayne King's orchestra registered a lead in more states than any other band.

Next to Illinois and New York, the state of Iowa cast the heaviest vote for Ben Bernie. Fred Waring's ballots were centered almost equally through twelve states only.

Amos and Andy drew an even one hundred votes in Minnesota, whereas South Carolina, which ignored them gave Burns and Allen over two hundred. Stoopnagle and Budd have a greater number of supporters in New Jersey than in New York. The Mills Brothers are popular in Iowa and Wisconsin.

Herewith is a tabulation of the leaders in each group, and the total votes cast for each:

Among the Stars:

Bing Crosby	1072
Joe Penner	1013
Eddie Cantor	869
Jack Benny	470
Rudy Vallee	351

Among the Orchestras:

Wayne King	2056
Guy Lombardo	1012
Ben Bernie	785
Fred Waring	773
Rudy Vallee	492

Bing Crosby in the lead for the title, "Star of Stars"

ten-thousandth vote was canvassed. At the time this edition of RADIO GUIDE goes to press, 18,000 votes have been tabulated. Of these, 58 percent were cast by women and 42 percent by men. Two stars are contesting for first position with only fifty nine votes separating them. These two are so far in advance of the other favorites in their division that the rest may be described as "the field."

Of course, these positions in the race may hold good for only a brief period. The election has many weeks to run and no analysis at this time can possibly indicate any final result.

The latest tally shows Bing Crosby first in the race for the title "star of stars." Second is a favorite in a field quite remote from Crosby's branch of entertainment, Joe Penner. Next in their respective order come two more comedians, Eddie Cantor and Jack Benny. Then, fifth, is Rudy Vallee.

The vote for popular orchestras reveals a startling fact that no one could see, for the unit at the head of the tally polled more than twice the number of votes cast for its nearest contender. That leading musical organization is Wayne King's. Second in the count is Guy Lombardo's; Ben Bernie's and Fred Waring's are in third and fourth positions. Rudy Vallee's is fifth.

Peculiar interest is commanded by the choice of the "Hours." The leader in this field is the Fleischmann Program. Puzzling significance attaches to this leadership when considered in the light of the fact that Rudy Vallee appears on this "Hour" but does not hold anywhere near a corresponding place in the vote for the star of stars.

Additional cause for speculation centers on the poll of program favorites by reason of the fact that two of them are tied for second place—the Chase and Sanborn Hour and Show Boat. Old Gold is not far behind and slightly in advance of Chevrolet, while One Man's Family is fifth.

Contention among the "Teams" is at white heat, no less than among the stars themselves. Amos and Andy are on top, and only one hundred or so votes behind them are Burns and Allen. Leaders in third, fourth and fifth places are trailing so far behind that they do not figure in this tabulation even as contenders. The trailers in the order named are Stoopnagle and Budd, the Mills Brothers and Olsen and Johnson.

A sectional checkup shows strange features. The heaviest vote for all four divisions came from the State of Illinois. The next highest balloting was in New York. Joe Penner has a decided number of supporters in New Jersey. The State of Maine has ignored Eddie Cantor completely. Jack

The terms of the election are as follows:

Awards will be made in four branches of professional entertainment. (This, of course, excludes such persons as President Roosevelt and others who frequently, or occasionally, go on the air for governmental or other business reasons). Professional entertainers only are eligible.

1. The first award will be made to your favorite radio performer, the most popular person among radio artists.
2. The second award will be made to the orchestra that ranks highest in popularity.
3. The third award will be given to your favorite program or "hour." Your vote here will be cast for the program as a whole.
4. The fourth award will be made to the team that is liked best. By "team" is meant pair or trio or quartet that is your favorite.

To the star who receives the greatest popular vote RADIO GUIDE will give, in recognition and in commemoration of your choice of popularity, a handsome gold medal, suitably inscribed.

To the orchestra that is the favorite of all orchestras on the air will be given a gold medal also, this one inscribed to mark its popularity. And furthermore—each member of the orchestra will be given a handsomely engraved certificate attesting his or her part in the work done to win your popular acclaim. The inscription on both the medal and the certificates will bear the name of the orchestra or the name of the leader, according to the way the orchestra is designated. Presentation of the medal will be made to the orchestra leader.

The program that polls the greatest number of votes will receive an award similar to the award that will be given to the most popular orchestra—a beautiful gold medal.

Further, to each member of the cast—all who take a part in putting the program on the air—will be given a handsomely engraved certificate attesting the triumph.

The favorite "team" will be awarded a silver medal appropriately engraved; and each member of the "team" will be given an engraved certificate, marking the award.

All entertainers, orchestras, programs and teams that have been on the air since October 1, 1933, are eligible. It does not matter that they are not on the air currently.

Balloting closes June 1, 1934. Awards will be announced as shortly thereafter as the results can be verified.

A ballot has been provided on this page, convenient in size for pasting on a one-cent postcard.

Along with it you will find a few questions that will help us to get better acquainted.

However, your vote will not be invalidated by your failure to answer all the questions incorporated in the ballot.

Send in your vote today. Don't delay.

IN CASH FOR PUZZLE SOLVERS

THE largest sum in cash prizes ever offered by a radio publication for the solution of a puzzle is assured to the readers of RADIO GUIDE. Ten thousand dollars apportioned among 157 prizes, has been provided for winners.

More than seven weeks remain before the contest will be closed and there is, therefore, abundant opportunity for you to enter the competition and perhaps to win the first prize of $5,000.00.

The completion is described as the Radio Stations Trail Puzzle Contest.

You will observe in the large diagram occupying most of the lower part of the page a big square. A correct trail must be made through the 676 letters. In order to make a trail, the contestant must start in the square in the upper left corner. From the square containing the letter "W," draw a line starting the trail which must pass through successive squares until the Goal in the lower right corner is reached.

The trail may move in either a horizontal or a vertical direction, not more than three nor less than two squares at a time. The trail may not at any time move in a diagonal direction. It may not cross itself, nor may it enter the same square twice. It must always change at right angles, passing through successive squares until it reaches the Goal.

When the contestant has completed the trail, he should make a list of the letters which mark the squares through which it has passed. If he has a correct trail he will have 250 letters, and every letter in the alphabet will appear at least once. Trail must finish in the square in the lower right corner which is the Goal.

The 250 letters on the list should be used to build up station calls of radio stations, and each of these 250 letters may be used only the same number of times it appears on the trail.

The prizes will be awarded on the basis of the correctness of the trail and the largest number of station calls, built by any combination of letters touched in following the trail. The stations must be properly identified. To illustrate: If W E A F is shown, it will be necessary to indicate that it is located in New York.

The list of prizes offered in the Radio Trail Puzzle Contest is:

1st Prize	$2,500.00
2nd Prize	$1,000.00
3rd Prize	250.00
4th Prize	100.00
5th Prize	75.00
6th Prize	50.00
7th Prize	25.00
50 individual awards, $10.00 each—	500.00
100 individual awards, $5.00 each—	500.00
Total	$5,000.00

These awards will be doubled to any winner who is a yearly subscriber to RADIO GUIDE at the time of the closing of the contest, thus making the total cash available to prize winners $10,000.00

RULES OF THE CONTEST

This is open to all. The only exceptions are employees of RADIO GUIDE, their families and professional puzzle solvers. The use of fictitious names is prohibited.

A contestant may send in as many different solutions as he likes. More than one member of a family may compete.

The use of any mechanical device in making a tracing of the puzzle is not permissible. Completed puzzles showing the use of a mechanical device in their preparation will be rejected.

The contest closes Tuesday, April 10, 1934. All envelopes postmarked before midnight of that date will be accepted and the enclosed solution entered in the contest.

Neatness, and the importance of the stations selected, will be determining factors in selecting the winners. Only correct trails will be considered.

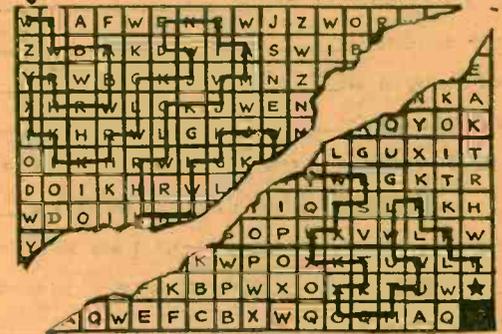

The relative importance of stations will be rated according to their transmitting power. That is to say, a station with a 50,000 watt transmitter will be considered more important than a station with less power. In order that each contestant may be fully informed, not only as to the names of stations available for the trail, but as to the relative importance of each unit, a log of all North American and neighboring stations will be supplied by RADIO GUIDE to every person who forwards a stamped envelope, self addressed, requesting the list.

In case of ties for any of the prizes offered, the full amount of every prize for which there is a tie, will be awarded to each tying contestant.

Each contestant, by submitting a solution to the Radio Stations Trail Puzzle, thereby indicates his agreement to accept the decision of the Judges of the Contest as final in all matters. These Judges will be selected by RADIO GUIDE and will have full supervision of the Contest.

All solutions must be submitted on the form appearing in RADIO GUIDE, or a facsimile thereof. They should be mailed to: RADIO GUIDE PUZZLE CONTEST, c/o RADIO GUIDE, 423 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Illinois.

START AND FINISH OF A GOOD TRAIL

The above diagrams show a specimen of a correct start, and a specimen of a correct finish to a good trail. The star marks the 250th square of a correct trail. The Goal square does not count. The diagrams have absolutely no significance except as guides to the rules.
