Medal of Merit

A Weekly Award for Excellence in Broadcasting

AWARDED TO ARTURO TOSCANINI

WHEN Arturo Toscanini conducted the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra on April 26, 1936, it was said that he was "conducting not only the society's last regular concert of the season but in all probability his final broadcast in America. He will henceforth confine his conducting to concerts abroad."

ent were selected from orchestras in Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Paris, Madrid, Brussels, Budapest and many another city of musical prominence. Mischa Mischakoff, the celebrated violinist, became the orchestra's concertmeister, with a corps of distinguished assistants. Artur Rodzinski and Pierre Monteux were engaged to conduct before and after Toscanini. The expense of the undertaking was tremendous, yet no detail was skimped.

America politely refused to stand for it.

Less than a year later David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America and chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Company, announced that he had invited Signor Toscanini to return to America to conduct a great orchestra assembled by his network.

The man whom authorities unanimously term "the world's greatest conductor" accepted that invitation. Despite his impending seventieth birthday, the great Italian agreed to make the 6,000-mile trip—in order to serve a cherished ideal.

The machinations which fostered his return to America were complex and widespread. Samuel Chotzinoff, the conductor's personal friend, went to Milan, Italy, to discuss the proposition. Sarnoff himself kept the trans-oceanic telephone busy. They spoke for America's music-lovers in asking his return.

Once Signor Toscanini had accepted, Herculean preparations began in America. NBC assembled the first full-time, full-size symphony orchestra ever maintained in America solely by a broadcasting organization. Musicians of recognized tal-

The series, which reaches its climax in Signor Toscanini's current broadcasts, bespeaks the progress of radio itself. Broadcasting has matured much in recent years; perhaps now it has reached a full maturity in this achievement, finally set for itself a definite pattern for its future growth.

Signor Toscanini brings an ideal to NBC's Saturday night programs. That ideal is two-sided. From his earliest youth he has worshipped only perfection in music. From the time of his first prominence he has tried to offer the perfection he has made to the largest possible audiences. In conducting these programs for America's radio listeners, he is serving both of those purposes, realizing his ideal.

Because he has forgotten everything selfish which might have deprived listeners of his world-famous genius, because he has given wholeheartedly of a spirit which the world needs greatly today, Radio Guide is deeply sincere in presenting to Signor Arturo Toscanini the Radio Guide Medal of Merit.

HAPPY LISTENING

"Sweet Adeline"

YOU can pay twenty or thirty dollars to shoulder your way into a swanky hotel's dining-room, or you can scuttle a schooner of suds for a dime down at the corner barroom—but one thing certain: On Friday night of this week you'll hear "Sweet Adeline" bandied about by just about everyone you meet. There was a time when little Adeline wore blushes and bustles, when she lived in Massachusetts. Now that she's gone to town, she stands up at the bar and makes eyes at the fellows. The story of "Sweet Adeline's" rise and fall traces its sad course across pages 2 and 3.

Clock's Tour

REMEMBER the mountain and Mahomet? Well, if you prefer staying at home for a safe and sane New Year's Eve to going out to look for your fun, the nation's gaiety will come to you. Every one of the big networks will conduct a cross-country tour Friday night as the clock moves to twelve in each time-zone. The most interesting centers of celebration will be visited. "New Year's Eve Coast to Coast," on pages 22 and 23, is your itinerary.

Bowl Day

FOR various reasons, lots of folks are just as happy to stay at home on New Year's Day, too. Maybe that's why the various post-season football games draw such tremendous listening audiences. Anyway, this year five of the more important games will be broadcast Coast to Coast. In the Rose Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Cotton Bowl and Orange Bowl, top-rank college teams will meet for classic battles. In the stadium at San Francisco (they don't call it a bowl, even on New Year's Day!), teams of selected players from the East and West will fight their annual match. The story of 1938's first big sports event is on page 7.

Happy MCMXXXVIII!

THIS week's radio and this week's Radio Guide are crammed like a holiday turkey with good things. The broadcasters have cooked up a schedule spiced all over with good things for you to hear. Radio Guide begins telling you about them on its jam-packed facing page and doesn't stop until you've checked up on the short-wave highlights way back in the rear of the book. Behind it all is a single idea: "A Happy New Year to you!"

Baritone Lawrence Tibbett begins new "Chesterfield" series Wednesday

No matter what song becomes 1933's first new hit as New Year's Eve is celebrated this Friday night, "Sweet Adeline" will be a favorite the country over. Wherever merriment is in full swing, "Sweet Adeline" is sung in full voice—in swanky night clubs, at bars, at home parties, and on the air! The story of "Adeline's" birth and growth makes reading as thoroughly fascinating as the song itself. To increase the enjoyment of revelers who will sing it, Radio Guide presents the story of the song of the week!—Ed.

THE boys haven't done right by "Sweet Adeline—My Ad-o-l-i-i-i-ne." She got a raw deal in the shuffle. For Adeline—"for thee I pine"—was created as a simple little country girl, meek and mousy, the kind of girl you'd be proud to take home to Mother. She was a sweet thing in her youth, 'way down east, where she grew to virtuous maidenhood, unspoiled, unsullied.

She wore bustles and a heap of petticoats in those days. She was a poor girl—poor but proud, and earned only a few dollars a year. But they were honest dollars without taint. So charming was she, and so sweet, that sometimes the swains gathered around the barber shops on Saturday nights and sang of her beauty. In all their dreams her fair face beamed.

And after the gang toasted her virtues in song the boys often would switch off to another raging melody of the era, "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Maybe that's what put ideas into little Adeline's head. Anyway, the city

GREW UP—TO BECOME THE SWEET-HEART OF THE PROHIBITION ERA

slickers got hold of her and she forsook the stern road of righteousness, turned a couple of cartwheels and a somersault, and landed right in the middle of the primrose path. She hurled away her bustle and yanked off her petticoats. She put paint on her cheeks and scarlet on her lips.

And "Sweet Adeline" went to town. The heroine of the gentle bucolic melody of 'way down east became the Diamond Lil of the bar and grill. She was a good girl, but they done her wrong, and the pegged-pants rounders of the city streets wailed and wept in their beer over her plight.

She became the martyr of prohibition, and she began making dough, filthy lucre. Her eyes got bleary, and her cheeks sagged. Her neck got flabby. She had swapped her glory for a schooner of suds. But the boys bunched around lamp-posts and sang hosannas to her fair face until cats meowed in echo and the milkman took up the chorus.

IT'S a sad story, fellows. And the wages of gin is death—or breath. But I'll bet you the next one against the house that old Adeline, and her two sisters under the skin, Sweet Rosie O'Grady and That Wild Irish Rose, have had a whale of a lot more fun out of life than such sissies as Annie Laurie and Maggie.

Sweet Adeline was born in Somerville, Mass., in the late nineties, but she learned about life during prohibition. Harry Armstrong created her one night under a gas-lit lamp. He never dreamed that his Adeline would spend most of her life hanging around lamp-posts. Or that the gaslights would become Mazdas. Or that the gentle creature of whom he sang would help support him. Or that she would be manhandled in all languages, including the Scandinavian.

Harry is another one of those guys who had rather write the nation's songs than its laws. In fact, his song had a lot to do with its laws. For if "Sweet Adeline" didn't help chase prohibition into limbo, then nothing did. After all, civilization can stand only so much. And when Sweet Adeline became Miss America of the giddy, gilded era, the nation simply rebelled.

SHE'S still the swellest gal of our barroom ballads, with "My Wild Irish Rose" a close runner-up. "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" is in the show-money, too, but she's not in Adeline's class.

Harry Armstrong always liked to sing and play the piano. He was a calow, rather timid fellow back in Somerville during his boyhood. You would never think Adeline was born in Somerville. It was a quiet town where life unfolded itself gently and without excitement. It was a town of homes and husbandries. Of course, there were a few poolrooms, and other places called dens by the preachers, but Harry and his pals didn't hang around them much.

But there was a gaslight at the corner of Main and High Streets, and Harry and the fellows would meet and talk, just like boys have met and talked ever since man first beat his war-club into a walking-stick and evening gab-fests became the secret delight of masculine hearts.

There was a lot for a fellow to talk about in the 1890's. There was a rumor of a war with Spain, and some of the gang had even been to that hectic city of New York, where trolleys were pulled by horses and elevated trains were pulled by steam locomotives.

So about the corner Harry and all the lads forgathered for their gossip and harmonies, and would lay neatly into that "Break the News to Mother" with full-chord progression and the barber-shop manner.

THE folks up at Somerville didn't mind the corner forums, but they objected to the songs. And oftentimes when the lads chanted a little ditty they would be met with shoes and catcalls, and even that venerable cry of "strawberries," which served as the Bronx cheer of its day.

The boys' repertoire of songs was limited to "Mother," "Nellie" and "Dolly." So Harry devised a canticle suitable for foursome yodeling. And then, fellows, a new star was born—"Sweet Adeline" first breathed the sweet nectar of life in the shadow of a lamp-post.

There is no marker there to honor the event. There are no monuments to "Sweet Adeline," except a million hangovers and a thousand cases of delirium tremens. But there should be a pilgrimage to the corner where Adeline was born. And you well-met fellows who meet her at conventions every year, you jolly companions of festive fraternity houses, you pining pals of brass-rail rendezvous, you should visit her birthplace and lean on the lamp-post and sing just one song for memory of the old gal.

Only the chorus was sung first in Somerville. The words were simply doggerel. The boys sometimes even would take those Nellie and Dolly songs and tie them up with a chorus of Adeline. Harry knew he had something in that chorus, but no one else agreed. Not even the town constable, who would run 'em in every night, after they beat the eardrums of the villagers until the folks' nerves were frayed.

IT'S a shame that Harry did not know Dick Gerard in those days. Adeline would have had a much happier childhood, for it was Gerard—now Richard Gerard Husch, a special clerk in the New York Post Office—who supplied the lyrics and title and pushed Adeline out in front among the barmaids.

But Harry had a hunch the chorus would click. He shoved a few copies in his pocket and went up to Boston, where he submitted them to a publisher, but they bounced back like a rubber check. Then he sent them to Marks and Stern in New York. They came back like a rick-rack ball. It was all very discouraging, but Harry stuck Adeline in his trunk and fetched her with him to New York.

He was a good ragtime pianist, and the first day he entered this town he got a job in a beer-and-sawdust joint in Coney Island. That was in 1898. And the first night while Harry was pounding the keys about Sweet Rosie O'Grady, then the outstanding favorite in the froth-and-pretzel opera, a big cop tipped him off to a job at the San Souci, a music hall in Manhattan.

"It was a swell joint," Harry recalled. "The Rogers Brothers played there, and so did all the good vaudeville stars and teams of the day. I got fifteen dollars a week, and roomed with the bouncer, Handsome Harry Howard. I didn't have time then to work on Sweet Adeline, but I had her in mind. I still had the music I had written back in Somerville, but I knew the song would have to be polished up a bit. I met a lot of big-shots while working at San Souci, and made contacts that have been very valuable.

"The bouncer, Handsome Harry, and I got along famously. A nice little guy who was a drug-store clerk up around Third Avenue and 86th Street used to come down to the place every night for a few beers. He would listen to my music and gossip. He and I and Handsome Harry got to be pretty good pals. And upon his suggestion, Handsome Harry and I agreed to let him room with us. He was a nice kid to have around the house, always quiet and well behaved. But he had some crazy ideas; at least I thought they were crazy. Gee! I wish sometimes I'd strung along with him. I had plenty of chances, I guess. This fellow wanted me to go in with him in a place he opened over in Fort George. I couldn't see the set-up and turned him down. He had a wild idea about some vaudeville and nickelodeon places around town. I hooted at the idea."

Harry shook his head and smiled wanly when he recalled it.

"My drug-store friend was Joseph M. Schenck, who later made millions in the movies. If I had listened to him—" Harry shrugged his shoulders and broke off the sentence.

DON'T feel bad about that, Harry, for if you'd listened to him we wouldn't have had "Sweet Adeline," and after all, hadn't you rather write the nation's songs than make its movies?

The San Souci job was pretty good, but when Harry got an offer to play at the Bohemian, then between Broadway and Sixth Avenue, he chucked his job over for a twenty-five-dollar-a-week engagement.

The new job also gave him some leisure time. So he completed the

"After I did him that favor I asked him to do me one and gave him my music to 'Sweet Adeline.' Jimmy hummed it over and thought it over—then he shook his head. He said it was too tough. What a chance he missed!

"Isn't it funny to think about all the cockeyed little things that might have changed the whole course of human events? Now just suppose Jimmy Walker had written the lyrics to 'Sweet Adeline.' Jimmy was the prohibition mayor of New York, and Adeline was the first lady of the city. What a combination that would have been. But Jimmy couldn't see it, so I went to Charles Lawlor. He's the one who wrote 'The Sidewalks of New York.' Lawlor thought about it a while, too, and then said the music was too old-fashioned and too slow." Adeline too slow—Adeline, the gin girl, too old-fashioned!

"I GUESS she was in those days," Henry recalled, "because I wanted the words to be about a sweet girl. I was about to give it up. Then one day I ran into Dick Gerard. He took my tune and set lyrics to it. We worked over it at night. We called it first, 'You're the Flower of My Heart, Sweet Rosilie.' I liked that pretty well."

The two boys took Rosilie to Witmark's, one of the big publishing houses. Witmark looked her over and shook his head. He said Rosilie was a lousy wench—the name was no good. And on the spur of the moment Gerard changed it to Adeline. Witmark scowled when he saw that.

"Adeline is worse still," he told Harry and Gerard, "and besides, I don't like that line, 'for you I pine.' What does that mean? Sounds goofy to me. Whoever heard of anybody pining for anything?"

Apparently Mr. Witmark had never cried in his beer.

Gerard liked the line, however, and wouldn't take it out.

"The line's got to stay in," Gerard told Witmark, "because it rhymes with Adeline—Sweet Adeline, my Adeline, Gerard got a job with the post office, and with his wife and five children lives in Queens County, New York. He has probably the largest private collection of popular songs in America, some thirty-two thousand songs.

Adeline was doing pretty well around the barber shops until the early twenties, when the scourge of prohibition settled on the land. Maybe it was the needle beer or the bathtub gin, but anyway, something happened about that time that caused the Saturday night songsters to go back into their memories and drag Adeline out by her bass—and tenor.

In the first place, the music just fits a tipsy tenor and a boisterous bass. They began singing it first in a big way down on the Bowery, where a man could get tipsy for a nickel, drunk for fifteen cents and murdered for a mere dollar.

And then when Park Avenue began to go to the Bowery for its excitement, it brought Adeline back up among the champagne and the shenanigans, and there she stayed.

FROM New York she toured the country and became the "It" girl of the goofiest chapter of American history. During the height of prohibition "Sweet Adeline" reached her pinnacle and was as much a part of the American scene as worthless stock, silly slogans and short skirts. She was throaty and husky, but had a hangover when prohibition died. Soon thereafter Adeline became anemic, and has been shriveling up ever since.

True, she will never die, but she certainly is ailing.

For some strange reason it's not as much fun to sing of Sweet Adeline's virtues after a drink of good legal whisky as it was after a hooker of bootleg, or a shot of bathtub gin. She just doesn't belong any more.

"Sweet Adeline" never was a million-dollar tune," Armstrong said, "but she held on steadily, and has been copyrighted in some fifteen countries. Our annual royalties average from eight to nine hundred dollars apiece."

DICK GERARD, who is short and stocky like Harry, still writes songs. Among his latest was "I'm Only Someone Waiting for No One at All."

After Adeline soared to the heights in a drunken spree, the team of Gerard and Armstrong wrote a sequel called "In the Golden Autumn Time, My Sweet Elaine," but the autumn frost caught Sweet Elaine just as she began blooming, and the tune never amounted to much.

"I still think Elaine is a good song," said Dick. "I got a check just the other day on Adeline. It came from Sweden. Seems funny to pick up dough from those countries. The song has been copyrighted in the Argentine, and I'm wondering how the Latins will like its slow melody."

Dick knew Jimmy Walker better than Harry, for he came from the same part of Greenwich Village as the former mayor of New York. He says Jimmy was a good writer, and that the skit "Phoebe Snow from Buffalo," which Jimmy wrote for Miss Allen, was a humdinger.

Harry and Dick do not agree on modern swing. Harry sees merit in some of these contemporary songs, but Dick hates swing and jazz and such, and predicts their doom.

"I said back in 1926 that we'd go back to the home ballads some day, and we have," he said.

His radio was blaring as he predicted the doom of swing and the birth of simple home ballads, and out came "The Lady Is a Tramp" and "The Big Apple"—nice home melodies!

verse to his song that was to become "Sweet Adeline."

"I knew I had something there," he said. "The music was great, and I began looking around for someone to set a lyric to it. I used to hang around the music houses along Tin Pan Alley waiting for a break, but they wouldn't touch any of my stuff. I used to meet a wiseguy named Jimmy Walker around the music-houses. And Janet Allen, who was a swell soubrette, whom he later married and divorced.

"Jimmie was a wiseguy in those days," Harry shook his head again and smiled. "Gee! Who'd have ever thought then that Jimmy would run the greatest city in the world during the wildest era of history. Jimmy used to write lyrics and vaudeville sketches. One day he came to me with the lyrics to a song he had written called, 'Good-Bye, Eyes of Blue.' I set it to music, but it never did sell very well.

for you I pine, for you I pine.' Got to have that tenor in there," he said.

"Why do you have to call it Adeline?" Witmark demanded.

Then Gerard explained whence came one of the most famous song titles of all time.

"I named it after Adelina Patti," he confessed.

Patti was a famous singer, and was enjoying tremendous popularity.

Armstrong and Gerard and Adeline broke down Witmark's resistance, and he published it.

The song was not an overnight success. Harry, a healthy, chunky fellow who has written 300 songs and talks briskly of the good old days, was disappointed because Adeline did not sweep the country, but he didn't weep over her. For fourteen years after he wrote the song he was straight-man in a comedy act. Then about eleven years ago he quit and began booking.

December 12 marked tenth performance of the Jessel show from the Fillmarte Theater in Hollywood. Each Sunday doors open to 1,500 spectators

Ben Blue, screen comic, made his radio debut when he appeared as a guest. He'll soon be seen in "Big Broadcast of 1938"

OUR SINGING CAMERAMAN SPENDS "THIRTY MINUTES IN HOLLYWOOD"

IN KEEPING with the "westward ho!" trend of radio, Gene Lester, Radio Guide's singing cameraman, has temporarily deserted New York for Hollywood. December 12, he visited George Jessel's "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood." Because Mutual's key station in Los Angeles has no audience facilities and because Jessel demands listener reaction, this show is aired from a theater in the film capital. Gene sat in the audience, photographed the stars and guest stars while they were broadcasting, and then he sang—on the air! The pictures on this page bring to you the Jessel broadcast, as seen through the eyes of Gene Lester and captured by his camera. Radio Guide's singing cameraman actually "takes you with him" on a visit with George Jessel!

George Jessel, versatile entertainer, runs the show in his own style. His "Hello, Muma" is a part of all his broadcasts

Before going on the air, Jessel (left) talks over final script changes with Sam Carlton, gag-writer. Noted stage, screen and radio comic, Jessel is expert at ad-libbing, often does it just to add an Impromptu laugh or two

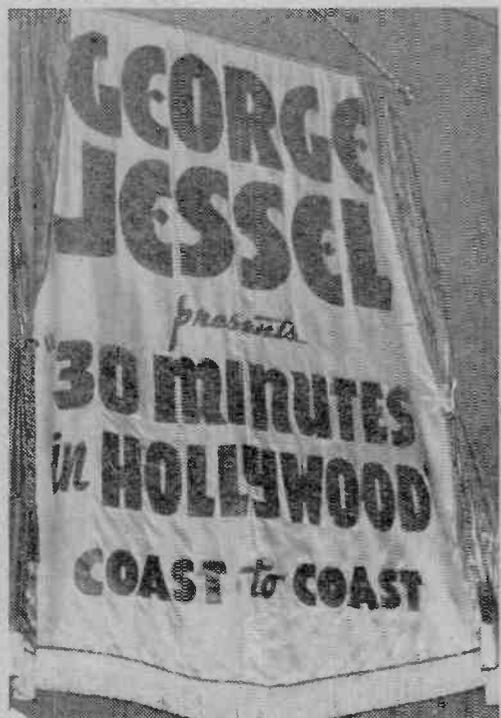

Norma Talmadge, star of the silent films and regular member of the cast, enjoys a tete-a-tete with Jackie Coogan, guest and million-dollar husband of Betty Grable. In real life Norma is Mrs. George Jessel

Music-makers for "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood" are Tommy Tucker and his orchestra. Tommy, a North Dakota lad, began wielding a baton in college

Josephine Starr, youthful Filipino coloratura, sang the Bell Song from "Lakme." On the stage since she was three, Josephine knows five languages

In addition to running his "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood" show, Jessel is advisor on MGM-Maxwell's broadcast

Ward Byron, above, is director of the "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood" show. He cuts and times the show, gives cues and coaches the performers

Rhythm trio featured with the Tucker orchestra (left to right): Archie Berdahl, Amy Arnell, and Kerwin Somerville. West Coast listeners also hear them singing with the band from Ocean Park Casino at Santa Monica Guests of honor were Betty Grable and Jackie Coogan. Jackie is celebrated for his role of the Kid in "The Champ." Married only two weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Coogan demonstrated just what wedded bliss really is!

"MOTHER" SCHUMANN-HEINK'S LIFE WILL BE DRAMATIZED BY "CAVALCADE OF AMERICA" WED.

MADAME ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK died November 17, 1936. A month later the painstaking producers of radio's "Cavalcade of America" were on the air with a dramatization of the life-story of the grand old lady of opera. So impressive was the broadcast that as the last strains of music died away, Schumann-Heink's son, Ferdinand, who had listened attentively to the program, turned to friends and said quietly, "I felt as though my mother were there."

To Jeanette Nolan, 25-year-old radio actress, and Helen Oelheim, dark-haired young Metropolitan contralto, fell the task of playing the role which "Mother Schumann" had lived. They were hugely successful. Ordinarily there are few repetitions in the Cavalcade series, but requests for a second performance of the Schumann-Heink drama became so numerous that the producers decided to air the show again this year. Miss Oelheim agreed to sing, but Jeanette Nolan had disappeared, and there was no voice as satisfactory as hers.

Early last spring Miss Nolan and her husband, John McIntire, likewise a member of the Cavalcade company, had departed for Montana to fulfill an ambition to write the great American play. They were living one hundred miles from the nearest town—Kalispell, Montana—in the Yaak River country, in the northwest corner of the state. Moreover, they were grimly determined to stay there until their play was finished.

An accident brought them back. McIntire became ill and had to go east as far as the Mayo Clinic, at Rochester, Minnesota, for an operation. Then his doctors advised him not to return to Montana, suggested instead that he spend the winter in New York. So the reluctant playwrights returned, and to the vast relief of Cavalcade's producers made themselves available for a repeat performance of the drama of Schumann-Heink.

The play will be broadcast Wednesday, with Jeanette Nolan taking the part of the beloved old singer and Miss Oelheim singing two of the songs which Schumann-Heink loved to sing: "Silent Night, Holy Night," and Brahms' "Cradle Song."

"Mother Schumann" would have enjoyed tremendously all the to-do about her. She was seventy-five when she died, but so full of the zest for life that even at that age she had begun a second career.

Born in Prague in 1861, the daughter of a major in the imperial Austrian army, she sang in her first public concert at the age of fifteen, at Graz. She earned $6 for her performance. Her first fling at opera, in Vienna, was a failure. Later, in 1878, she won a debut and a four-year contract at Dresden, but lost her job when she married Herr Heink, a secretary at the opera house. Heink left her. Then she got a chance to sing at Hamburg. She divorced Heink, and married Paul Schumann, a first-rate actor, with whom she lived happily. She sang at Bayreuth before coming to America to join the Metropolitan in 1898.

The years beat down her voice, and her Metropolitan appearances grew more and more infrequent. Concert receipts dwindled. No temperamental prima donna, she turned to vaudeville and recitals in movie theaters. When radio came she appeared on the air now and then (inevitably at Christmas), sometimes remarking wistfully: "Don't worry, people. I'm not going to sing."

She went into the movies with a new interest in life and was a hit in her first role as the old singing-teacher in "Here's to Romance," starring Nino Martini. She liked her work. She wasn't too proud to learn. She wanted to be known as "Mother Schumann," not as Madame Schumann-Heink, the Wagnerian contralto. She wanted to start at the beginning again. "I do not tell me," she said.

LISTENERS WILL HEAR WORLD'S CHAMPION LIARS IN A TALL-TALE CONTEST — SATURDAY

IN THE early 1820's one Amelia Alderson Opie, an Englishwoman, wrote a book of moral preachments against falsehood entitled, "Illustrations of Lying in All Its Branches." She named eleven such branches, including "lies of first-rate malignity," "lies of second-rate malignity," and "lies of wantonness; that is, lies told from no other motive but a love of lying."

"My first apology," she wrote in her preface, "is for having, throughout my book, made use of the words lying and lies, instead of some gentler term, or some easy paraphrase, by which I might have avoided the risk of offending the delicacy of any of my readers."

Evidently unafraid of any such eventuality are the members of the Burlington (Wis.) Liars' Club, founded in 1929 as a practical joke but now so firmly established that it is incorporated, has chapters scattered over North America from Canada to the Canal Zone and holds an annual contest to pick the world's champion liar.

The best-known liar in history was Ananias. But Ananias lied for selfish reasons, quite unlike those of such fabulous characters as Baron Muenchhausen and unlike those of the early lumber-camp narrators of the Paul Bunyan legends, who made a sharp distinction between an outright lie and a tall story. The Burlington Liars' Club does likewise. Its members are honorable citizens. They specialize only in tall stories.

THE club holds its annual festival of falsehood in Chicago on New Year's Day, choosing its champion then. A broadcast over NBC will carry to the nation the cream of the crop of this year's fabrications. Scheduled for appearances on the program are President and Mrs. O. C. Hulett; Secretary and Mrs. L. J. Stang; Vice-President and Mrs. Gilbert A. Karcher; and Attorney E. J. Cook.

Last year, Mrs. Stella Barnhouse, of Fowlerville, Michigan, was called the "World's Best Liar." She won a medal in the form of a lyre for her story of the huge Michigan mosquito who had attempted to swallow a mule and been kicked to death by his victim.

Second place went to Roman Links, of San Francisco, who delighted the judges of the contest with his tall story of the San Francisco fog so thick that he sprayed it with black ink, hacked it into pieces and sold it for coal.

Third place was awarded Mrs. C. B. Forman, of Attalla, Alabama, who submitted the unlikely story of a tornado so capricious that it blew the knot out of an Alabaman's four-in-hand tie, whipped it around a greeting card and Christmas package and delivered the parcel to the Alabaman's cousin in the next county.

Lies about animals invariably place high in the Liars' Club ratings, but in the eight years of the club's existence, incredible as it may seem, no fish story has won first place.

THE NATION'S GREATEST FOOTBALL TEAMS ENTER IN GRIDIRON BATTLES—ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

DESCRPTIONS of five intersectional college football games, featuring gridirons from California to Florida, will take up a major share of the broadcasting hours between early afternoon and late evening of New Year's Day.

Play-by-play accounts will be aired of the rough-and-tumble goings-on in the Rose Bowl, the Orange Bowl, the Sugar Bowl, the Cotton Bowl, and the stadium at San Francisco, where East meets West in a charity game for the benefit of the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children.

On last New Year's Day some 220,- 000 fans jammed into amphitheatres to watch seven post-season pigskin clashes (Rose Bowl, Orange Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Sun Bowl, Bacardi Bowl, and the East-West game). Wags have suggested that the annual National Professional Football League play-off be entitled the "Gravy Bowl."

Indications are that from 200,000 to 250,000 football fans will turn out again on New Year's Day to watch a renewal of inter-sectional warfare.

Oldest and best known of the "bowl" games is the Rose Bowl, age twenty-three, played as the climax of the annual Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, between the top-ranking team on the Pacific Coast and an eastern team which has been selected and challenged by the westerners.

THIS New Year's Day the Golden Bears of the University of California meet Alabama's Crimson Tide, cleanslated (but once tied) in four trips to the Rose Bowl. Both teams were undefeated in the season just ended, although California's record was marred by a scoreless tie with Washington.

At Miami, the Orange Bowl game,
Florida's bid for a spot in the gridiron limelight on New Year's Day, brings together teams from Michigan State College and Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn). This will be the first time an Orange Bowl game has been broadcast. Michigan State lost one game this season; Auburn, two.

At New Orleans, in the Sugar Bowl, Louisiana State (defeated this year by Vanderbilt, 7 to 6) meets Santa Clara, undefeated and untied and victor over Louisiana State in last year's Sugar Bowl battle.

At San Francisco, an all-star team of players from western colleges and universities meets a team of eastern stars in the annual East-West charity game, sponsored by the Shriners.

NBC broadcasts the Rose Bowl and Sugar Bowl games, with Don Wilson and Ken Carpenter at the mikes in Pasadena, and Bill Stern in New Orleans. Ted Husing will cover the Orange Bowl game for CBS, and when it is over at approximately 4:45 p.m.
EST, the network will shift to the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Texas, where Bryum Saam reports the last half of the game between the University of Colorado and Rice Institute. MB'S has exclusive broadcast rights for the East-West game.

BING CROSBY, WHITEMAN BAND
ALUMNUS, SINGS FOR PAUL ON NEW CHESTERFIELD SHOW FRIDAY

AT SEVEN, Paul Whiteman hated violin practise so heartily that he had to be locked in his mother's sewing-room when practise hours came around. One day, in a rage, he smashed his violin against the sewing-machine.

He grew up, nevertheless, to become one of the best-known musicians of his times. It was he who topped jazz with a high-hat, made it the subject of critical profundities, and brought it before tail-coated, eveninggowned audiences. It was he who shoved Gershwin and Grofe up the stairs toward fame.

Harry Lillis ("Bing") Crosby, playing cowboy-and-Indian, used to gallop about Spokane, astride a broomstick horse, shouting "Bing! Bing!
Bing!" (whence his nickname) as he mowed down legions of foemen.

His family wanted him to be a lawyer. In college, at Gonzaga, he made such a hit with the glee club that with Al Rinker, a fellow student, he organized an orchestra, left school, got a job in a cabaret and then in vaudeville. Along came Whiteman, at the height of his glory, and signed the pair as vocalists.

In New York, Harry Barris joined them and the trio sang as the Rhythm Boys. They toured with Whiteman for three years. Then, in 1930, while they were in California making the picture "The King of Jazz," they left him and began an engagement at the Cocoanut Grove, in Los Angeles. There Crosby began making a name for himself as a soloist.

Friday Whiteman takes to the air with a new series of broadcasts under the sponsorship of the makers of Chesterfield cigarettes. Main feature of the program is Whiteman and his band of twenty-six, but an added attraction is a list of guest stars, many of whom the hunch-playing Whiteman discovered and started on shining careers. His first guest will be "Bing" Crosby.

The first five programs in the series will originate in Hollywood, where Whiteman and his orchestra are appearing at the Cocoanut Grove.
After that they will come from one of the Columbia Broadcasting System's radio theaters in New York, with Deems Taylor coloring them with his commentary. Paul Douglas will be the program's regular announcer.

Whiteman says his new series will consist of "popular programs, devoted to tune favorites, old and new, but I hope to introduce many of the works of contemporary composers, with the emphasis, of course, on new American composing talent."

More important even than the glittering entertainment which the show promises is the possibility that out of the new series may come a discovery as important to modern music as the discovery of the late George Gershwin, whose immortal "Rhapsody in Blue" was given its premiere by Whiteman.

The itch for innovation has beset Whiteman since the beginning of his career. Critics rate him an able musician; stage folk call him a smart showman. Monotony worries him. He likes new ideas, experimentation, hunches, spur-of-the-moment action, and tries anything once.

At the Palais Royale, in New York, Whiteman inaugurated a new era.
Dancers for the first time paid theater-ticket prices to hear an orchestra.
Then Whiteman took his dance band into the theater, while showmen frowned and said it wouldn't work. But it did.

Whiteman appeared at Carnegie Hall. Men and women in formal dress made up his audience. Music critics wheeled out their dictionaries, moved ponderously into action. They wrote seriously about jazz. It was a new force in music. Whiteman was its Toscanini. And his name is magic, still. He was the "King of Jazz" in those days. He's the "Dean of American Popular Music" now.

The Mutual Broadcasting System

Presents

Dr. Charles Courboin, organist

Jesu Bambino (Pietro Yon)

Christmas Musette (Mailly)

Pastorale (Cesar Franck)

Toccata (Mailly)

ALMOST completely under the sign of musical Belgium is this program, for Dr. Courboin was born there, and his compatriots (with the exception of Pietro Yon, Italian) supply the numbers he performs. Yon (organist at St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York) is a composer of distinction, his best-known large work being the oratorio, "The Triumph of St. Patrick," premiered a few years ago in New York.

Standing in the Place de la Concorde in Paris, one can perceive across the huge square the top of the twin spires that crown St. Clothilde Church. In its unheated organ-loft, modest, poor, devout Franck worked obscurely for many years, putting great creations to paper during his few hours of leisure. He gave music lessons and walked great distances to save centimes. On one such occasion he was struck by a bus and suffered injuries that proved fatal. Only after death did fame lift him on high.

Mailly's celebrity came during his lifetime, as a composer and public recitalist on the organ and piano.

NOW seventy-two years old, Jan Sibelius is at last winning universal attention with his seven symphonies. Previously they had been neglected while orchestras everywhere played his easily appealing "Finlandia" and "Valse Triste."

Among the conductorial disciples of the Finnish composer, none is more ardent than Erno Rapee, whose zeal in the cause inspired him to give his recent Sunday noon course of Sibelius symphonies.

Millions of persons with no other opportunity to hear those works made their acquaintance through the Music Hall series.

Mme. Kirsten Flagstad has successfully been performing Sibelius songs in this country. Jan Peerce should win further acclaim for them, what with his emotional delivery and abundant equipment of tone.

The March of Music

Edited by Leonard Liebling

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air ..."—Wordsworth

MANY of us are whole-heartedly behind Dinty Doyle, radio commentator of the New York Journal and American, in his campaign against what he calls "phony applause" from listening auditors in broadcasting studios. It is ridiculous to see the invited stooges swell, abate and stop their hand-clapping at the command of a radio monitor. To the performer, such applause means little, and to the home dialer, it means nothing at all. The practise is an insult to the intelligence of everyone concerned.

Speaking of applause, those purists who object to it between the movements of a symphony at concerts might turn back the pages of musical history and learn something surprising; for instance, that in the days of Mozart it was customary not only to clap the hands but also to comment audibly during a performance. He always estimated the effect of any particular passage in his works by the degree of applause and ejaculatory favor it received at the moment of hearing. That practise endured well into our century. I remember that during my student days in Paris, I used to hear concert and opera-goers applaud in the middle of an instrumental number or aria and shout "Bravo," "Magnifique," "Extraordinaire," etc. No one wishes to go back to such naive ways, but there is nothing wrong in applauding after the conclusion of the separate symphonic movements.

Americans really are the most polite concert and opera audience in the world, for they applaud everything, good or bad. Not so in other countries, where an inferior performance often gets hisses and jeers. In Latin lands, the noises are frequently accompanied by showers of tainted vegetables and eggs.

At the Metropolitan Opera, one encounters mercenary plaudits, formerly supplied by a "claque" paid by the management; today, those exuberant palm-pounders are engaged by some of the leading singers, who claim that they need the encouragement of an applauded entrance and the stimulus of innumerable curtain-calls.

The custom is an old one, dating from the time of Nero. He carried a horde of compulsory approbationers about with him everywhere. It was, as a matter of fact, dangerous not to applaud Nero. Petronius dared it, then wisely committed suicide.

The current Voice of Firestone entertainment on Monday evenings, conducted by brilliant (and busy) Alfred Wallenstein, has been adding variety to its programs by offering the piano art of Vera Brodsky in arrangements for that instrument and orchestra. A renowned concert interpreter, she brings to light music the same exquisite finish in technique and refinements in tone which distinguish her performances of the music of the masters. The welcome innovation is a distinct credit to the Wallenstein discernment and taste. Miss ATMOSPHERIC echoes from medieval days sound in the opening number by Arcangelo Corelli (1653-1713), a noted composer and leading violinist of his period. The Concerto Grosso (subtitled: "Made for Christmas Night") is one of a set that appeared only six months before Corelli's death. He employs clear-cut themes with the strictly classical form and counterpoint of the time.

Mme. Novaes will have fruitful matter to interpret in the fourth piano concerto by Beethoven, wherein the soloist must to a large extent become a member of the orchestra. An oddity of Beethoven's construction in this work is the few gracious introductory measures allotted to the pianist, after which the other instruments discourse at considerable length before the keyboard is called upon again.

A VETERAN conductor advised a young colleague: "When in doubt as to material for your concert, do an all-Wagner program." It was sage counsel, for that music hardly ever fails to draw a full house.

Fritz Reiner, experienced Wagner interpreter, has not only made up a well-contrasted orchestral list but also secures vocal cooperation from the luminous Melchior, Wagner tenor extraordinary. He is programmed for the touching Narration of Tannhaeuser, in which that reformed voluptuary tells of his pilgrimage to Rome and his giveness by the Pope.

Yver, vous n'etes que vilain (Debussy)
Madrigal (Faure)
Nicolette (Ravel)
Ronde (Ravel)

FOR quite understandable reasons, the Yuletide period invites choral performance, and especially of music that has antique quaintness or homey folksong character.

The Liedersingers make a bow to that spirit in a program of modern French composers who pay tender tribute to ancient styles and titles.

Debussy's two texts are in amusing old French. Faure (popularly known for his song "The Palms") is represented by a lovely and lively piece of writing. Everything that Ravel composes is touched with a facile and fastidious pen.

Nicolette and her boy companion, Aucassin, are related in innocence and charm to Paul and Virginia.

This is the last of a series of programs by this group.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30
at 9:30 p.m. EST on MBS

The Mutual Broadcasting System

Presents

Alfred Wallenstein's "Sinfonietta"
Prelude and Fugue (Bach)
Le Tombeau de Couperin (Ravel)
Grand Pas des Fiances
"Ruses d'Amour" (Glazounow)
Dance (Debussy-Ravel)

ALFRED WALLENSTEIN seems as versatile in the selection of programs as in their interpretation.

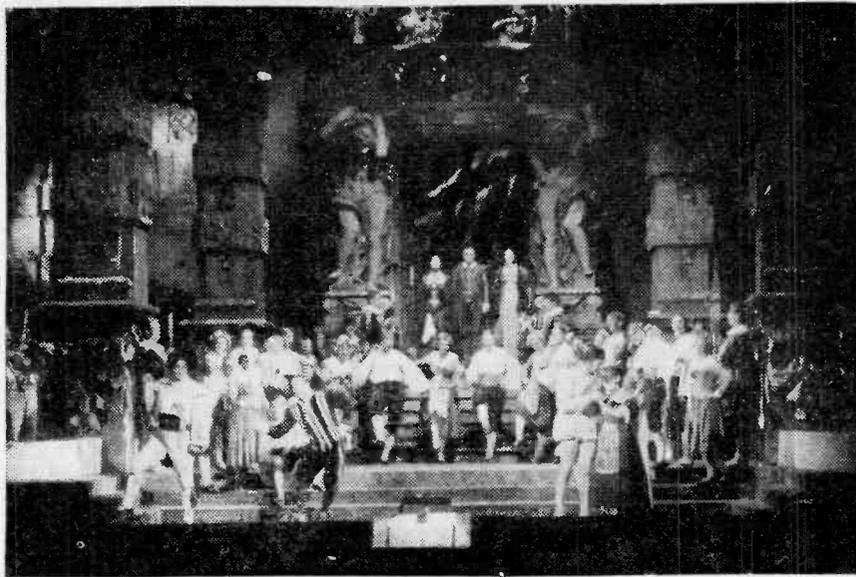

Formal beginning on the present occasion is Bach, most monumental fashioner of fugues, in whose endless ingenuity of craftsmanship and diversity of moods he remains unsurpassed.

Most of Bach's fugues were originally written for clavichord or organ, but other musicians later provided many of them with magnificent orchestral dress.

Extreme purists deem such amplifications sacrilegious, but their richer colorings and greater sonorities are a source of deep musical pleasure to persons not so ethically severe. Anyone who has enjoyed Leopold Stokowski's orchestral garbings of Bach's works would subscribe heartily to the practise of transcription.

"Dance" and "The Tomb of Couperin" are other keyboard compositions magnified into orchestral expression. Ravel is here the admired transgressor who defies the purists, and of course they can say nothing when he does so with his own piano suite written as an act of homage to Francois Couperin (1668-1733), surnamed "the Grand." His tomb is at the Church of St. Gervais in Paris, where the marvelous Couperin family officiated as organists through two centuries.

Alexander Glazounow (pupil of Rimsky-Korsakoff) visited America just before his death a few years ago. Typically Russian in warmth of feeling, opulence of tints, and robustness of humor, Glazounow's music is well represented by this "Grand Dance of the Fiances," from his ballet, "The Ruses of Love." The excerpt, however, has purely romantic character, with solos for the violin and cello.

"Don Giovanni" . . . acclaimed by Beethoven, Rossini, Gounod and Wagner

Brodsky writes her own piano parts, and the skillful orchestrations are furnished by the highly gifted Morton Gould.

Twice in the past six months the playing of a wedding march has resulted in unusual experiences for Dr. Charles Courboin, noted Belgian organist, who recitals each Sunday noon over WOR-Mutual. On the first occasion it led to his engagement as organist at the Roosevelt-Du Pont nuptials in June. Again last month a wealthy Philadelphian, after hearing the artist's recital over WOR, telephoned Dr. Courboin, and offered to pay all his expenses if he would travel to England next April and play the same wedding march during his nuptials in Bath Abbey. Engagements in the Middle West threatening to keep Dr. Courboin from accepting the offer, the Philadelphian graciously advanced his wedding date five days!

An operatic record belongs to Lauritz Melchior of the Metropolitan Opera, featured Monday on the Banks presentation. He has sung the role of the titular hero of "Tristan and Isolde" more often than any other living tenor, the number of his performances totaling more than one hundred. A prodigious student, Melchior says modestly, "I learn something new each time I interpret the part, and I expect to know it tolerably well when I do my thousandth performance."

Helen Jepson and Donald Dickson, young American singers, assist at the General Motors farewell this Sunday. The several years of the concerts have brought memorable enjoyments which will be missed. Another departure—temporary, one hopes—is that of Eugene Ormandy as a conductor for Ford. He has won a devoted radio following.

Guiomar Novaes, Brazilian pianist to be heard tomorrow with the New York Philharmonic, is another who belies the old tradition that musicians should not intermarry. Mother of two children, Mme. Novaes is happily wedded to a Brazilian composer and devotes herself to domesticity except for the time occupied with her annual short concert tour in America. A friend who asked the composer whether his wife's practising interfered with his work received the humorous reply, "I write whenever she stops to turn the pages." Reminding of the anecdote about the lad who was supposed to be practising the piano. Hearing nothing, his mother called to him, "What are you doing, Tommy?" "Practising the pauses," was the unexpected reply.

"DON GIOVANNI"

by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart

The Cast:

Don Pedro, the commandant . . . Emanuel List Donna Anna, his daughter . . . Dusolina Giannini Don Octavio, her betrothed . . . Richard Crooks
Don Giovanni . . . Ezio Pinza Leporello, his servant . . . Louis D'Angelo
Donna Elvira . . . Cina Cigna
Zerlina . . . Marita Farrel Masetto, her betrothed . . . Virgilio Lazzari
Conductor, Ettore Panizza

Unusual sentiment attaches to the Metropolitan Opera revival of Mozart's "Don Giovanni" at this particular time. Just 150 years ago, in Prague, the masterpiece had its first performance anywhere. The Czech capital memorialized the event the other day with a Mozart festival of hallowed atmosphere and brilliant performances, resulting in the most complete triumph ever achieved by the always needy composer. Even so, the payment for "Don Giovanni," destined to win permanent greatness, was exactly $240.

But, Prague adored Mozart, and he adored Prague, and spoke with deep affection of its people shortly before he died in 1791.

ACT I

At the Metropolitan the opera is done stylistically, with some of the aria sung before the curtain, while the stage sets are being changed for the many scenes, the first of which has the wily Leporello waiting for his master, Don Giovanni, while that libertine is intriguing to win Donna Anna at her home. He emerges, followed by the girl and her father, the Commandant, who engages the Don in a duel, and falls. His slayer flees with Leporello. Donna Anna and her fiance, Don Octavio, swear vengeance.

In the second scene of Act I, the despoiler and his aid, plodding along a lonely road, encounter Donna Elvira, whom Don Giovanni has deserted while they were eloping. Leporello engages Elvira's attention with an ironical aria and Giovanni slips away.

In the third scene, a rustic pair are celebrating their betrothal, assisted by singing and dancing villagers. Giovanni desires the girl, invites the company to his castle (there he sings the spirited Champagne Song), detains her while they entone the entrancing duet "La Ci Darem" ("Your Hand in Mine, My Dearest"), one of the most popular of all operatic gems. Donna Elvira appears and denounces Giovanni, thereby opening the eyes of the dazzled and hesitant Zerlina, who chants her penitent song to Masetto, "Batti, Batti" ("Chide Me, Chide Me"). Donna Anna and Octavio trail the rake, the latter apostrophizing his affianced with "Dalla Sua Pace" ("On Her All Joy Dependeth"), an aria of rarest loveliness. All go to Giovanni's party, which opens the fourth scene with an entrancing minuet, danced by the assemblage.

ACT II

Giovanni utilizes the noisy gaiety to lead Zerlina into a secluded chamber. She emerges screaming, and Giovanni follows her, sword in hand and dragging Leporello, but the trick avails nothing, and again Anna, Elvira, and Octavio expose the villainy of the host, who promptly disappears.

Scene two brings Giovanni's further pursuit of Zerlina, and another reconciliation with Elvira. Also, Masetto, attacking his rival, gets himself a severe whipping. Leporello exchanges cloaks with Giovanni, and aping the latter's manner, lures away Elvira.

Scene three climaxes with an arraignment of Giovanni by Octavio, and the latter's delivery of the ravishing "Il Mio Tesoro" ("My Beloved"), a towering test in classical style for tenors.

Scene four and Giovanni and Leporello, stumbling through the darkness, come upon a statue erected to the memory of the Commandant. Defiantly, they invite the effigy to supper.

In scene five retribution overtakes Giovanni. He sups to music, when the stone Commandant enters after the unafraid gallant's sword has tried to halt the unwelcome guest. The Commandant grasps Giovanni with an icy hand, who, unrepentant and bold to the end, is dragged to his doom.

HEADLINES & BY-LINES

Sundays, CBS, 10:30-11 p.m.

This is the commentators' swing session—the news of the week in review—with by-lines by Bob Trout and H. V. Kaltenborn—plus highlights in the domestic affairs of the nation by Erwin Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor and brilliant observer of the contemporary scene.

This CBS trio of outstanding reporters and editorializers puts punch and pungency into a brisk and forthright review of the headlines of current history. They nail down the lid on the news drama of the week—and a national audience has come to count on them for a condensed capsule of sound opinion, which is briefly but most brilliantly presented.

Bob Trout, long known as "the Presidential Announcer" (he is said to be Roosevelt's favorite), brings a fund of experience as a radio reporter to his by-line flashes of the latest news.

H. V. Kaltenborn, former editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, Columbia's "dean of radio commentators," veteran of the Spanish-American War, and the only man ever to ransom himself from Chinese brigands by the comical expedient of juggling a piece of straw on his nose (paging Mr. Ripley), untangles the knots of conflicting news from the foreign fronts. Author of the best-selling "Kaltenborn Edits the News," he bristles with the wit and conviction that make his interpretations sparkle with common sense.

Esperanto . . .

LINTON WELLS, "THAT'S LIFE"

Saturdays, NBC-Blue, 8:30-8:45 p.m.

A greeting in Esperanto, the universal language, precedes Linton Wells' discussion of "That's Life." It may not mean much to you—but every word from there to the end of his sometimes fiery, always mellow script will make you say, "That man knows what he's talking about!"

And he does! Men and nations—bullets and bolsheviks—diplomats and duces—fakirs and fuhrers—they are all in the pattern of his amazing experience as a world-girdling wandering reporter. And in one twelve-minute weekly shot he gets an astounding amount of that experience and understanding across to his listeners.

"The Presidential Announcer" Bob Trout, is featured on "Headlines & By-Lines" with H. V. Kaltenborn

Brazil's Coup d'Etat to Be Explained Thurs.

Getulio Vargas, Brazil's new head man, will explain the coup d'etat that put him at the top of the first corporate state to be established in the western hemisphere when his henchman and Minister of Labor, Industry and Commerce, Dr. Waldemar Falcao, speaks directly to the United States by short wave and the Columbia network on Thursday evening, Dec. 30, at 6 p.m.

Vargas, who represents the Brazilian group that finds the deliberations of duly elected legislative bodies cumbersome and non-cooperative, has effected a deft version of the march on Rome, the Munich Putsch and the crossing of the Rubicon, all rolled into a new act in the history of the American Republics.

His first gesture to a world that wonders how these things happen, and why, will be a special airing for American consumption of his reasons and immediate objectives. The spokesman for the new corporate state apparently runs true to the pattern of lieutenant-dictators, for his portfolios of office and influence already include Labor, Commerce and Industry. Quite probably he will be blessed with the added duties of Minister of Foreign Relations, Education and Propaganda if he does a good job on this broadcast.

Nevertheless, here is a program that no serious listener will miss. What Dr. Falcao says will provide a springboard for intelligent interpretations of this extraordinary and significant event. It will bring to American listeners a first-hand portrait of the situation in Brazil as seen by her self-appointed political saviours, and this in itself will be valuable grist for the mill of our own political cogitations.

Friday's papers will bulge with editorials raising the warning hand against the sinister plague of propaganda—the insidious prostitution of radio's nobler uses to the purposes of political self-interest. But few listeners will not be able for themselves to cull the chaff from the facts and get a sounder picture of the workings of dictatorial projects.

Resolutions . . . Ten Cents a Dozen

DON'T mistake that rumbling in the air for thunder out of season. It's just the uprushing flood of New Year's Resolutions about to be released. The new crop is bubbling impatiently in the shiny cauldron of good intent—as we all prepare to white-wash the old year's record with a fanfare of new resolve.

Meanwhile the old world mumbles "phooey."

It was mumbling "phooey" when the Pharaohs prompted the favor of the gods with bloody sacrifice . . . and it will still be mumbling when we catch up with Buck Rogers.

And that thin, soft wisp of mocking laughter? What's that? That's the cosmic chuckle at our annual attempt to spare ourselves the pangs of reflection—our New Year's effort to stare down the nude little fellow with the old man's scythe.

BUT . . .
*The Moving Finger, having writ,
Moves on: nor all your Piety or Wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a Line,
Nor all your Tears wash out a Word of it.*

That's our favorite Persian poet's way of saying, "What is, is!" And regrets, if regrets there are, are as stupid as they are ineffectual. Piety, wit and new resolutions cannot cancel "half a line" of your role in 1937.

And so with last year's resolutions currently assayed at about ten cents a dozen and a new year to be met with another gesture—we hazard one suggestion.

Forget the petty self-denials and try this—Entertain One New Idea Every Day!

There's something to get your teeth into! There's the one sure way to avoid stagnation—the only indictment that we need fear as we face the blazing challenge of another year.

Golden Voice of Rome . . .

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Wed. Thurs., NBC-Blue, 2:15-2:30 p.m.

Her voice and personality charmed the listeners of thirty European countries . . . she supervised the French and English broadcasts of Mussolini's Station 2RO . . . and announced herself into a niche in radio's hall of fame as "The Golden Voice of Rome"—then came to an enthusiastic American audience as ace of women interviewers on the weekly "Let's Talk It Over."

That's Lisa Sergio—and a vibrant combination of Latin culture and American enterprise she is—both on and off the mike.

Born in Florence of an Italian father and a Baltimore mother, at the age of seventeen she jumped into prominence as editor of the "Italian Mail," the only Italian newspaper published in English. Archeology next claimed her interest and she assisted several American expeditions in their discovery of valuable archeological treasures at Minturno and elsewhere.

The radio bug bit and she literally jumped into the staff of Station 2RO at Rome. Her fluency in both French and English as well as Italian catapulted her to the supervision of all the station's programs beamed for northern Europe and the British Isles.

A visit to her mother's homeland gave NBC an opportunity to lure her to its microphones, and there, we hope, she'll stay 'til that bigger destiny for which she seems slated calls her on.

She is heard every Thursday in the week's second chapter of that intimate women's festival of comment and controversy, "Let's Talk It Over." Equally at home with Microphones, Majors, Magistrates and Majesties, she interviews distinguished Americans and foreigners whose accomplishments in the realm of the arts and intellect make them interesting subjects for "talking it over."

Guide to Broadway

ALISTAIR COOKE

Wednesdays, NBC-Red, 7:30-7:45 p.m.

To us via Cambridge, Yale and the British Broadcasting Corporation comes Cooke, "The Critic on Broadway" . . . and don't let a distinguished background blunt your interest. For Alistair Cooke brings more than an intimate knowledge of things theatrical to this spicy, brilliant and informative program. His material is solid, factual—with no taint of Hollywood or Broadway gossip.

You'll remember him, perhaps, as the mellow-voiced gentleman who short-waved from London those candid reports of the events surrounding the abdication of King Edward last year.

Now in this country to become an American citizen Cooke will be heard regularly as movie and dramatic critic for the National Broadcasting Co.

His special Christmas-season broadcast will cover current stage and cinema attractions on the Great White Way—"A Visitor's Guide to Broadway." This review will provide screen and drama lovers with the next-best alternative to an orchestra-circle seat—the play parade through the sensitive eyes of a man who knows his theater.

Cooke shuns all Broadway and Hollywood gossip because he insists on sticking to the belief and observing the rule, "the play's the thing"—and that's what you get.

Thematic Listening

Screaming headlines spill the thunder of the moment, but perspective designs the true pattern of history. Today's little event may be a key block in the finished puzzle of the future—and to see and understand the true portent of the things that are but news today is better to divine the shape of things to come.

Thus the man or woman who, using a solid knowledge of history, can interpret well the race of current events, has an ace in the hole in the game of life and need give fewer odds to the uncertainties of the future.

So let us take the history of yesterday and the rapid-fire occurrences that are history in the making today as our thread of definite interest for this week's "Thematic Listening."

Caution! Forget the classroom impression of history as a dull canvas of long-dead dates and dynasties. See it as a mighty motion picture—a panorama of the upper reaches of that river of events in which we all must swim today. Remember that some of the best clues for keeping happily afloat and headed for that shoreline marked "success" come straight from the pageant of history—famous facts and famous figures—presented on the flashing radio canvas almost daily through the week.

History: Facts and Figures

Sunday. Don't miss those two timely interpretations of history in the making, "The University of Chicago Round Table" (NBC-Red, 12:30-1 p.m.) and "Headlines and By-Lines" (CBS, 10:30-11 p.m.) The Round Table usually manages to catch history and its star performers off-guard, unmasked and under a keenly critical mental microscope. Headlines and By-Lines cocks an interpretive eye at the world's current work and wrath.

Monday. A full schedule today. The history of science and political history hot from its own sprawling mold dominate the recommended programs for today. "New Horizons" (CBS, 6:15-6:30 p.m.) brings Dr. Harris C. Raven of the Museum of Natural History in a crackling story of hunting history, "Tracking and Tackling Gorillas in the Congo." "Current Questions Before the House" (CBS, 4:30-4:45 p.m.) turns the spotlight on intimate problems of politics and peace. "Brave New World" (CBS, 10:30-11 p.m.) dramatizes Latin-American and current history.

Tuesday. Some time the faithful study of business and industrial history discloses the clew to a better understanding—points the way toward a more intelligent stand—on the questions that bear the relationships of business and government, employer and employe. Hear this typical case-study of one industry's background, "The Story of Industry—Motion Pictures" (CBS, 4:30-5 p.m.).

Wednesday and Thursday. Mid-week vacation.

Friday. "Current Questions Before the Senate" (CBS, 4:30-4:45 p.m.) elaborates the torments of history as Congress grinds it out in the cauldron of caucuses and committees.

Saturday. Elsewhere on these pages we have plotted the significance of Linton Wells as a commentator on the design of history and its leading figures, past, present and prospective. Hear his presentation of history in the guise of reminiscence—you'll find "That's Life" a more than tempting text. (NBC-Blue, 8:30-8:45 p.m.)

Back of the Job . . .

THE STORY OF INDUSTRY

Tuesdays, CBS, 4:30-5 p.m.

Behind the smokestacks and plush offices of American business lies a story of intense struggle and drama—not alone the battle to beat nature's raw materials into myriads of merchandise but the deeper effort to create, build and maintain jobs.

With the nation in vital turmoil over the rights and provinces of capital, labor and the consumer—with factions thundering for social and economic reforms—with the government blaming business and business blaming taxes for the periodic tribulations of unrest and recession—the serious listener may well pause to learn of the background from which these problems rise.

This week Will Hays, czar of the cinema world, takes the stuff of one of our most fantastic industrial struggles and presents a thumbnail sketch of the frivolous, fabulous movies. You'll hear of Edison's triumph in creating the photographic illusion of motion—of Eastman's success in putting pictures on a flexible, transparent film—of the intrigue and racketeering of the industry's early days—the amazing story of the rise of the titans, DeMille and Selznick, Goldwyn and the rest—and the current culmination in the colossus that is Hollywood today when you dial for—"The Story of Industry."

Listeners' Check List

A Challenge for Serious Listeners

- List the three most significant "headlines" of the past week. Do you agree with the "by-line" comments of (a) Lewis Browne; (b) H. V. Kaltenborn; (c) Erwin Canham? Why?
- Why does industry hope you are "not satisfied"? Do you know who is the leading proponent of the economics of obsolescence in the U. S. today?
- How does the Communist view of America's neutrality policy differ from that of Secretary of State Hull?
- List two well-known dietary fads. Are you a victim to any?
- Where is "The Christ of the Andes"? What is the significance of this (a) historical personage; (b) South American messiah; (c) Statue?
- What are the two most important questions before the House of Representatives—the Senate today? Why?
- What do the astronomers say about the scientific validity of the "Star of Bethlehem"?
- Who is the author of "An Outline of History" and what did he "see" on Tuesday, December 21 in London. Do you think he saw it straight?

All answers to factual questions were given in programs recommended in this department last week.

Having lived for a quarter century wherever things happen, Linton Wells tells all in "That's Life"

HOLLYWOOD SHOWDOWN

BY EVANS PLUMMER

ROBERT MONTGOMERY, president of the Screen Actors' Guild, has issued a statement to the press saying, among other things: "I expect a greater exchange of movie and radio talent next year . . . Radio is a great training medium for young screen stars. They can't bauble their lines, for in radio there are no retakes . . . Radio is also a great build-up medium for them . . ." The dots indicate that, for brevity's sake, parts of Montgomery's remarks have been omitted—but nothing important has been purposely deleted. I quote the fascinating young actor because I'd like to do a little stating, too. First: Most motion-picture stars, old or young, do not have adequate rehearsal in microphone technique. Second: They have the darnedest habit of baubling their lines all too frequently (except on "Lux Theater," where FIVE rehearsals are held previous to the airing) and thereby ruining good scenes. Third: Why should radio BUILD UP movie stars? If they aren't built up already, their salary fees paid are too high for their contributions to the air—their oft-times bad contributions. In fact, entirely too many motion-picture stars are making the air hard to breathe.

As a noteworthy example, I point to the recent poor performance of Mae West on the "Chase & Sanborn Hour." Mae was nervous. She had all the best lines (probably at her demand) in her sketch with Don Ameche. Her material definitely was not airworthy nor wholesome. Yet she probably received radio's record one-time fee!

The public also is tiring of the Hollywood dateline, especially when its glamour is dimmed by poor work or material. Why, the fans of Lum 'n' Abner have insisted overwhelmingly upon that pair's return (in their serial sketches) to the Pine Ridge, Arkansas, locale. L&A fans are tired of Hollywood. So are other tuners-in. Says one of many letters to your Hollywood reporter: "In regard to radio going Hollywood, I, for one, think it is getting monotonous. I appreciate good humor, but I do get tired of listening to so much silly wise-cracking and common, ordinary conversation, even if it is from the mouth of a movie star! Why such big pay for so little? This is taking the joy out of seeing movies. Too much of anything is unwise, especially if it isn't done well."

Newspaper publishers won't like this yarn—but it's true. At the Brown Derby the other night, after watching Miss West's broadcast, a newspaper boy came running in excitedly. "Extra, extra," he shouted, "I just heard it over the radio that Japan sunk an American gunboat" . . . So I bought a paper—which didn't as yet have the story!

Rom-antics: Claire Trevor going places with Victor Orsatti . . . When young Betty Jaynes and Doug McPhail sing love duets on the Metro-Maxwell House show, they aren't fooling! . . . That whisper that Rudy Vallee is long-distancing the blond Robin Adair is all so much guesswork; Rudy's calls still go to brunet Gloria Youngblood, and it's someone else saying sweet things to Miss Adair . . . Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris like one another, maybe . . . It's Paramount's assistant chief cutter who's lunching Martha Raye these days . . . Another twosome is Katherine (Sugar) Kane, the Oakie songstress, and Johnny Downs . . . Alfred G. Vanderbilt's FIRST date on his current Hollywood visit was with Swingstress Gertrude Niesen, but you know Alfe. Speaking of la Niesen, watch for her own new composition, "Right Now," a grand song. Gertie has two new Coast-to-Coasters in prospect,

Who could that songstress be long-distancing from backstage of the theater studio where she works? Excerpt from her patter: "You can't stop me from calling you or wiring you." And she's married to a lad who isn't out of town! . . . Jimmie Fidler will be able to eat next year despite recent blasts for her real genuineness, so here they are. Martha has neither gone high-hat—nor Hollywood. Her critics would make her appear so, but don't believe them. No girl is more regular, plays more benefits, or has a bigger heart.

That unexplained laugh in the tremendously mirthful "department store" episode of a recent Jack Benny show was the result of a bit of panto-

Friday's "First Nighter" star, Les Tremayne, has received a box of toy police weapons from Sergeant John Janousek of Chicago, who read about Les' recent gunshot wound sustained during target practise and mailed the gift with a promise to appoint Les "honorary Sergeant"

Genial Jan Garber, "Idol of the Airlines" who leads a busy life with his radio and ballroom engagements, was recently divorced by Mrs. Garber. Above they are shown as they appeared during happy matrimonial days. The Garbers have a nine-year-old daughter, Janis May at "radio gossips." His signed contracts for 1938 will gross him $284,000—a matter of $4,000 a week for radio, $50,000 for a Warner Brothers picture, and $500 a week for his syndicated column . . . Patricia (Honey Chile) Wilder was secretly screen-tested last week by Selznick for the Scarlett O'Hara role in "Gone With the Wind" . . . Amos 'n' Andy's Genevieve Blue is played by Madeline Lee, a Dallas gal. A&A are generously giving her swell lines, and she's putting them over! . . . Bob Hope, a-making Paramount movies now, is getting together a program that will have Ben Blue well cast.

One of Hollywood's most-misunderstood gals is Martha Raye, the Jolson songstress. She really deserves plums mime by Harry Baldwin, Jack's secretary and stooge, who is always delivering "letters" and "telegrams" to Benny. This time Harry came on with a line, "Special delivery for Jake Benny." Jack said, "Right here, boy, and my name's Jack." Harry cracked, "Glad to know you, Jack. My name's Harry." Then Jack tossed back, "That's no name for you with a head (bald) like that." Whereupon Harry, ripping open his shirt so the audience could see his chest, paid off with, "You ought to see my chest!" . . . The public roared—while Baldwin retired to the wings of the stage and was heckled by Kenny Baker, who asked, "What're you trying to do, turn this show into a strip-tease act?" But of course no one heard the Baker crack . . . We have more fun.

The same show brought a rib for Phil Harris from his band. They thought it was terrific, hooted, applauded and yelled when this piece of business came along: Ed Beloin, Christmas shopping, said, "I'd like to see a chain for Phil Harris." A clerk responded, "What kind do you want, watch, dog or daisy?"

Alice Faye did a bit of visual heckling, too, on a recent Chesterfield program. She clipped, unknown to the victims, spring clothes-pins on the coat-tails of Announcer Carlton Kaddell and Leader Hal Kemp. When each came on stage, the audience tittered, Kaddell and Kemp were mystified—then later horrified when they learned the cause of the giggles . . . The Kemp band situation changes again from that announced exclusively in this column several weeks ago. Saxy Dowell will stay with the band till it reaches the East and then may be put at the stick of another Kemp-Holden band unit. Maxine Gray will take a leave of absence to take screen tests; may rejoin later. A new girl will substitute. Skinnay Ennis, too, will rejoin the outfit when through picture-making. Kemp, however, will lose Phil Fent, guitar player, who stays here to open a photograph studio, and the second trombone player, whose name slips my memory. The band leaves Hollywood Christmas Day, plays two one-nighters in Texas, a private New Year's party in Washington, and on January 7 will open a six-week theater tour in Washington, D. C.

Another amusing bit of by-play the tuning audience missed was the funny snowstorm effect Harry von Zell created when he was interviewed as a "blizzard" on a recent Phil Baker opus. Von Zell had stuffed his coat pockets with torn paper and kept tossing the scraps high into the air . . . And while talking of Baker, here's a basket of plums to Phil for starting the Dobson-Baker talent agency just to promote the lesser members of his cast and others whom he feels are overlooked.

If you haven't heard the first several Lucky Strike "Hollywood on Parade" performances, you'd better hurry up and tune right in these Wednesday nights. The premiere, featuring smooth, suave likable Dick Powell as master of ceremonies and singer, and showing off Thrush Rosemary Lane to advantage singing "Roses in December," was a most plumpful demonstration that, with proper direction, material and rehearsal, a movie company CAN put over a broadcast. The opener entertained ably also with a condensed version (complete, no preview) of "It's Love I'm After," starring Bette Davis, Basil Rathbone, Olivia de Havilland and Patric Knowles. A tribute to "Mr. and Mrs. Hollywood" as exemplified by happily wed Eddie and Ida Cantor was a worthy piece by Powell, and the music of Leo Forbstein's orchestra, an interesting "visit" to the Central Casting Bureau, the songs of the Dudley Chambers chorus and the Lucky Seven (six men and a girl) group rounded out an almost perfect hour. The weak spot, if a flaw must be found, lay in the nervous and not quite top delivery of Gary Cooper's monolog, "Golden West." On the other hand, the many scintillating acts, including Ruje Davis' clowning, gave the show a one hundred percent grade.

I am reminded that this is practically Christmas—maybe before you've read this paragraph. But how would you like to peep at the unusual and costly gifts the radio stars are giving their spouses and heart-beats? Your Hollywood reporter has been snooping and peering into all of the stockings and will report to you next issue!

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

BY MARTIN LEWIS

LAST week I mentioned that I was going to visit the guest-relations department at NBC in order to get some information for RADIO GUIDE readers on how to obtain tickets for a broadcast. Jerry Martin, in charge of the department, has an ingenious system of handling requests, but first I want to tell you what happens to all the tickets. The sponsor of a program gets seventy percent of the total allotment, and the remainder is distributed to the various department heads at NBC. If you write in for tickets, you will get an answer. But save yourself time and trouble; don't ask for tickets to a Rudy Vallee broadcast—they are impossible to get. If you ask for tickets for a particular program and the supply is limited, you will be offered tickets for another program of less importance. Don't write more than once in, at least, four months. If you do, you will get a polite turn-down. A card-file system is kept of all requests with the name and date of the broadcast tickets sent. When a letter or card comes in, it is immediately checked with the card-file, and if you received tickets within the four months—you "no get." Don't do what one person did. He wrote four letters—one to WJZ; another to WEA; another to NBC; and still another to RCA. All letters are sent to the same department, and it didn't do any good. He got a nice letter acknowledging all four letters and thanking him for his interest in the NBC programs. Anyway, if you just want to see a broadcast and are not particular which one, write to the NBC guest-relations department; but I warn you, don't ask for tickets to a popular sponsored program. I told you last week what they do with them. Next week I shall tell you how ticket requests are handled by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

While I waited for Jerry Martin to come into his office, Dorothy Dreslin and Christine Johnson, NBC songstresses, strolled in and approached one of Mr. Martin's assistants. Miss Dreslin spoke up: "A friend of mine from out of town is coming to New York next week and she is very anxious to see the Benny Goodman broadcast. I know it's a very popular program and tickets are hard to get, but I'd really appreciate it very much if you will get two for me." The assistant squirmed in his seat and replied: "You should be ashamed of yourself. I should chase you out of here." The girls wondered why, until your reporter advised them that Benny Goodman is heard over the Columbia network. Were their faces red!

Incidentally, here's something interesting that Mr. Martin told me. NBC has received twice as many requests for tickets to the Toscanini series of broadcasts as all other programs combined. This in itself is proof that more people are interested in symphonic music than ever before, thanks to radio.

Gale Page left the Windy City for the film capital to make additional screen tests for Warner Bros., who seemed quite impressed with tests she recently made in New York. Gale had to shelve no less than thirty-nine pounds prior to her appearance before the kleigs, which is quite an order in any woman's life. The songstress wrote to a friend that it has rained ever since she arrived in California, and she is wondering if they took her first name seriously.

By the time you read this paragraph, Jessica Dragonette will be in Hollywood for concert appearances, and at the same time will discuss some business with a movie concern relative to her working in the flickers.

Maybe I'm wrong, but I don't believe Dr. Frank Black is any too happy about Toscanini coming over. Dr. Black was given a dispossess from his spacious office and has moved into less-preentious quarters. His office was given to Maestro Toscanini.

Whenever the Warden Lawes program calls for pistol shots, the sound-effects man of the show shoots off a door can shut out the dying tones at the proper moment. Otherwist the sound of the siren would consume too many seconds of valuable script time.

Lew Lehr, the comic of the newsreels, may be added to the new Ben Bernie show, which starts January 12. Incidentally, Buddy Clark was to go on this show, but complications set in

A new distinction has come to Eddy Duchin and his "Music of Romance" band, who begin a new series over MBS this Tuesday night. They've been invited by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to play at the White House dinner Thursday night in honor of John Roosevelt and his fiancée

Gale Page, Chicago socialite and NBC actress-songstress, has finally succumbed to the lure of Hollywood after resisting for nearly three years. Recent preliminary tests for Warner Bros. proved so successful that she was asked to rush to the coast for further camera trials blank pistol a few minutes before the program hits the airwaves so that the studio audience can be prepared for it during the course of the broadcast and not get frightened when it happens. I wonder if it might not be a good idea to warn the listening audience of the outburst of gun-shots. I have heard several listeners of this program remark that they have been plenty scared by the sound of gunshots, especially when they are in the house alone.

While on the subject of sound-effects, you may be interested to know that the siren used on the CBS "Gang Busters" program takes so long to die down that they have to place it outside the studio so that the sound-proof and the deal is off. His managers tried to get Buddy's release from the "Hit Parade" because the new Bernie show offered more money and he would get billings; that is, his name would be mentioned on the program, whereas on the "Hit Parade" he doesn't get any mention at all. I understand the ciggy sponsor compromised by giving Buddy a nice increase in his pay-check and promised that in the future he will be introduced on the show.

It would surprise the radio moguls if they knew how anxious the tuners were to hear some of the old favorites of the airlines. Letters have literally poured into this desk since the recent paragraph in this pillar on the subject. Some of the names missed are: Irene Beasley; Ralph Kirbery, the "Dream Singer"; Stuart Churchill, Willie Morris, Anthony Frome, and a flock of others. It's amazing, too, how loyal these listeners are. Despite the fact that Frome has been off the air for almost two years, the "Anthony Frome Fellowship," a fan club, continues in the interest of the "Poet Prince." Which reminds me that a few weeks ago I listened to an audition record made by Frome. It consists of inspirational talks blended with song, and, personally, I think it's a swell idea and a natural for a sponsor who wants to appeal to the housewives.

Candid Comments: Mae West's "Adam and Eve" skit on the recent "Chase and Sanborn" program seemed very amusing to the studio audience, but to this writer it was very unfunny. Moreover, the double entendre lines uttered by the actress have no place in radio and should never have been allowed. They can hang a "No Children Admitted" sign on a theater marquee, but it is not possible to keep the youngsters away from a radio. Miss West also proved definitely that she is not suited to radio by the way she stumbled over her lines; so if I never hear her again over the air, it will be soon enough.

New Yorkers who like their swing music are going to get a real treat on Sunday night, January 16, when Benny Goodman and his orchestra will offer a concert of swing music. Incidentally, don't miss Goodman's recordings of "Camel Hop," "Loch Lomond," and "Jingle Bells." You'll also enjoy Hal Kemp's rendition of "In Dutch with the Duchess"; Wayne King's playing of "Prince Charming" and the "Evening Star"; and Dolly Dawn's recording of "You're a Sweetheart."

Hardly a week goes by without some news of one of your favorite programs changing time, the day of broadcast, or network. According to the mail, one of the many reasons RADIO GUIDE is so popular with its readers, is the fact that they can find out about these changes each week in the columns of their favorite radio publication. That's why they wouldn't miss a single issue. Call it a pat on the back, if you will, nevertheless, thanks to those readers who have taken the trouble to write and tell me about it.

Followers of the CBS "Magazine of the Air" show will undoubtedly be interested to learn that this program shifts to a Sunday afternoon spot starting January 2. The program is currently heard on Thursday afternoons . . . Horace Heidt shifts his weekly sponsored show from CBS over to NBC starting Tuesday night, December 28 . . . From NBC to the Mutual network goes the "Court of Human Relations" with a Sunday afternoon airing starting January 9.

Over at NBC they're wondering about the new kitchen that is being installed in the building. It is equipped with new china, silver and kitchenware. However, one of my spies informs me that Toscanini brought over his own chef and his meals will be prepared for him in the newly constructed kitchen. What will they do next?

"Husbands and Wives" departs from the NBC airlines after Tuesday night's broadcast. It will be replaced by a new dramatic serial titled, "Those We Love," a story of modern American life written by Agnes Ridgway.

I want to take this opportunity of wishing the readers of this department a very happy and joyous New Year.

So You Like Contests?

VERY FEW contests are announced at the end of the year. It seems—true or not—that sponsors feel that with the whirl of holiday activities occupying them, the fans wouldn't give their whole attention to contests. Maybe that's wrong. Maybe contestants would rather win Christmas presents than buy them; maybe they'd rather celebrate a winning entry than the New Year. The fact remains that this is the doldrum season for prizes.

Less than a month away, though, looms the time of bonanzas, the season when sponsors start the new year off right with big awards galore. This year should surpass any other in the possibilities it offers. There is still talk of a million-dollar cigarette-sponsored contest, for one thing. Many experts predict that with automobile sales lower than manufacturers expected, contests may be used to whoop up buyer-interest in the 1938 models. When CBS catches five Proctor and Gamble shows next week, many expect to see more of that fabulous sponsor's contests popping up. Zenith radio, Pillsbury flour and at least two tooth-paste companies are the subjects of contest rumors. All in all, it looks like the next few weeks will bring thrilling news for contest fans!

The point of all this is this department's desire to urge a rekindling of interest in the hearts of those whose past failures may have brought discouragements. This is a time for resolutions in most people's lives. Let's make this one for all real contest fans: "I resolve to consider contesting a sport—and at the same time give it concentrated study, honest effort and unflagging enthusiasm—expecting nothing and appreciating everything I happen to win."

Another "Here's How—" Written by Helen King

Despite all the hullabaloo, the fact remains that most contests are won by people who couldn't be considered "professionals" by the most hardened cynic. True though that is, the small percentage of people who win repeatedly make contesting the wonderful hobby it is. They prove that contests are not lotteries, that quality wins, that there is hope for anyone who can duplicate their creations. Their explanations are always interesting. One of the most prominent of these is Helen King, who is also a well-known contest judge. She writes to us, "I've collected some data, and I hope this ends all questions on 'what wins?'"

"The consistent winner takes old ideas, rewrites, rehashes and builds them up. Dressed in a new box-top they look like sumpin'. With the advertiser's name properly inserted, they should help everyone to win bigger and better prizes.

"Some judges like humor—like to be kidded a bit—so try this on them:

"Whozis is the Burbank of Beans, crossing economy with satisfaction."

"Some like a play on words, or double use of words. If you can't think of anything better, play around with these for a while:

"Zilch, buy-word for beans."

YOUR OPPORTUNITY GUIDE

Enclose a one-inch piece from the metal strip which unwinds when the can of S & W Coffee is opened. Only one entry per person per week. Weekly contests run from October 17 to January 15, 1938. Send entries to Contest Department, S & W Fine Foods, Inc., San Francisco, Calif. Entries do not have to be on official entry blanks.

For more facts see current newspaper advertisements of S & W Coffee, or write to address given above.

"Zilch's beauty parlor gives PURSEnal appeal."

"Zilch's is the balance to this maid's budget."

"There's no SHAM in this SHAMpool!"

"Then there are judges who cater to the school of rhyme. Peek at these:

"It brings good cheer Throughout the year."

"Or Child's famous slogan:

"Nation's host—from Coast to Coast."

"Do you begin to get the idea now? The trouble with most contest entries is their distressing lack of originality. That's why so many lose—and their copying another chap's good entry doesn't always click. For instance, one bright lady, several years ago, entered a soap contest and said, 'Zilch's soap conquers the grime wave.'"

"That was clever, and timely, for if memory serves, crime was in season about then. But lo, the next dozen soap contests were overloaded with 'grime wave' entries!

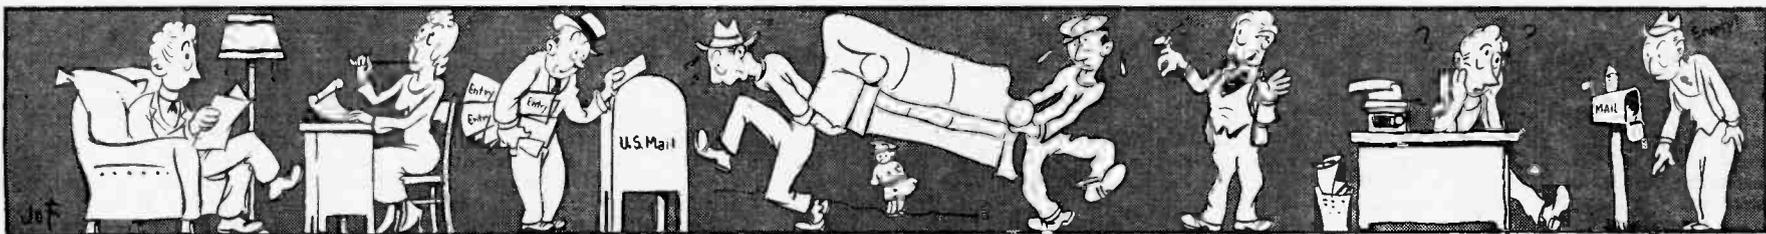

"Some folks can make two words out of one, including the writer, who won a few lesser prizes with 'You put the AD in rADio' and 'It put the FACT in satisFACTion.' Along this line, study the slogan of the company sponsoring a contest, and see whether you can italicize any sections and still make sense.

"You don't have to be heavily endowed with brains, but you do need patience and persistence. Contesting is a form of writing—and everyone knows that a writer's first attempts go unrewarded! Keep writing—soon your improvements will be noticed.

This Contest World The State It's In . . .

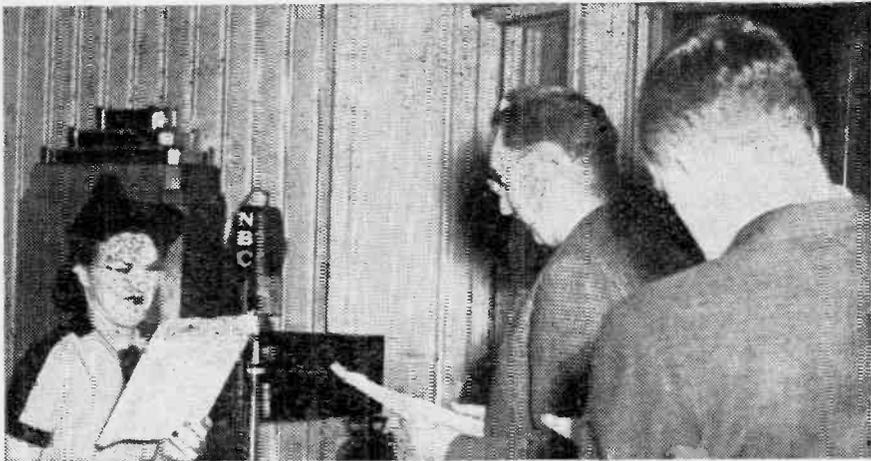

Several weeks ago we criticized the same Helen King whose winning tips are above for awarding a silver fox fur in the Admiration contest to an entrant whose work seemed to us very poor. She's just told us that entry didn't win, after all. Shame on us! . . . One of the smaller contest "services" is complaining that another of the same sort is stealing its stuff. No value is placed on the loss . . . One of the larger contest publications is denying vehemently in its editorials that it is controlled by National Contest Headquarters, which means Gilson Willets, the granddaddy of contesting, while a dozen claim he does everything for them except stick stamps on their mailing-pieces! . . .

Speaking of "controlling," it's just a laugh when a New York contest judge says he "controls" this department. Fact is, he doesn't even know who does put it together! . . . "Winning Ways," is the best new book on contesting we've seen. David L. Wadley wrote it . . . The contests which award duplicate prizes to dealers will probably overcome their apathy toward the contest hounds! . . . RADIO GUIDE is going to announce a big contest of its own in a few weeks. It's a cute idea, too. The starting date isn't definitely set as yet, so it's not certain when it can be announced—but soon is the word. Look for it!

PUBLIC HERO NO. ONE

EMPHASIZING the courage and heroism of America's local police in combatting crime, "Public Hero Number One" is a new network program which has met with widespread success. Heard every Monday at 9:30 p.m. CST over a 19-station NBC network, each program is complete in itself, dramatizing a fairly recent and spectacular crime and giving recognition to the officers whose bravery brought about its solution

Program Selector Time Is Eastern Standard. Use This Table to Find Yours

The Program Selector is a classified index of network programs—listing each program in complete detail under its particular classification and that of any one of its individual stars. For example: if the program as a whole is of a varied nature you will find it under "Variety." However, should there be a comedian or concert star on the same program it can also be found under "Comedy" or "Classical." Look for your favorite program in the Selector in Eastern Standard Time, find your time in the table above, then turn to the RADIO GUIDE program pages to find your station carrying the program.

Due to the Holiday Season, some of these programs may not be heard due to temporary changes in Program Listings, Time, etc.

FORECAST OF WORLD EVENTS FOR 1938 TO BE HIGHLIGHT FOR CBS LISTENERS NEW YEAR'S DAY

THE saddest words of tongue or pen undoubtedly are "It might have been," and probably the sweetest (although song-writers won't agree, of course) are "I told you so." The latter is a favorite not only with backseat drivers and nagging helpmeets but with writers and economists who assume the responsibility of forecasting the future. And why not? After all, the man who dons the robes of a prophet runs sizable risks, and who but a churl can begrudge him, modestly uttered, "I thought so all along" when his predictions come true?

Whether he be a cracker-barrel philosopher, a mystic, a professional seer, a political pundit, a newspaper columnist, or a professor of economics, he can seldom resist the attraction of tions, and, in our own hemisphere, Brazil's venture into nationalism.

At home, the chief matter of speculation are the real depth of the current business recession, the extent of the apparent changes in the relationship between the administration at Washington and big business, what shape our sorely tried foreign policy will assume under increasing pressure in the Orient and in Europe, the outcome of next year's congressional elections, who will emerge in the vanguard of presidential possibilities for 1940.

Japan has taken the major cities of China, and the conflict between the two powers in the Orient seems likely now to degenerate into guerrilla warfare, to be determined finally on the basis of who can hold out longest under economic strain. But what of Russia, in the meantime? Will she be dragged into war with Japan as Japanese troops push further into the Asiatic continent and the inevitable border clashes between Soviet and Nipponese patrols make headlines for the world's front pages?

AND what of the mysterious rumbling within the Soviet? Will the bloody purge of old bolsheviks go on? Will high-ranking bureaucrats and generals continue to disappear before firing-squads? Will Russia's internal troubles keep her so busy that she takes no part in foreign affairs, even in the face of growing threats from hostile Fascist states?

In Spain, General Francisco Franco has made huge gains. How long will the Spanish war go on? When, and if, it is determined, what will be the positions of the nations who have used Spain as a gridiron for their own fierce contests? Italy? Germany? Russia? Will fascism or communism emerge triumphant from the chaos of civil strife? These are questions of pressing import.

Speakers who will tackle these and other problems on the CBS' Program of Prophecies include: H. R. Knickerbocker, veteran war correspondent, who will talk from London on possibilities in the Sino-Japanese conflict; William Hillman, writer on European affairs, who will discuss the political and economic outlook on the continent and in England; Paul Mallon, Washington writer, who will talk on domestic events; Seymour Berkson, speaking on trends in the United States, and H. V. Kaltenborn, CBS news commentator. In addition, Louella Parsons, Hollywood columnist, will talk on coming events in the movie world in 1938, and David Walsh, sports commentator, will take a look at the future.

The speakers will be introduced by Bob Trout, of the CBS staff, who, with Kaltenborn, acts as a news commentator on CBS' "Headlines and By Lines." Their symposium of forecasts will cover every phase of possibility during the coming year from the danger of another World War to the marriage of Charlie McCarthy. It will be a peek into the future through the eyes of men who forever look ahead.

"Forecasts of 1938" may be heard Saturday over a CBS network at:
EST 10:45 p.m. — CST 9:45 p.m.
MST 8:45 p.m. — PST 7:45 p.m.

Radio Guide scores again! Above is first picture ever published of "Your Unseen Friend," heard over CBS Saturday. Mystery man of radio, "Your Unseen Friend" in real life is M. H. H. Joachim, native of India. World-traveler, lecturer, writer, actor—he studied at Oxford, has been in radio since 1929

H. V. Kaltenborn, commentator: He'll speak on the U. S. situation

a bright New Year's Day and the opportunity to peer into the future and scrawl his prophecies on a clean slate. His reward, an outside chance that sometime, somewhere, some months later, he can sit back in his easy chair, light a cigar, and remark laconically, "Well, that's what I've always said, you know." Forecasts and forebodings are as common on New Year's Day as are good resolutions and vows for self-improvement, if not more common.

THE Columbia Broadcasting System has capitalized on this. New Year's Day, for the third year, CBS will bring to radio a kind of preview of history, a program composed of prophecies for 1938, by some of the world's best-known journalists, men whose knowledge of statesmen and their doings gives them a real foundation for a bit of crystal-gazing. No man in his right mind claims the power to predict sudden disaster, but the writers and commentators who appear on the annual New Year's broadcast by CBS are equipped, like many others of their craft, to predict the future as accurately as any human can.

Questions of outstanding importance in the mind of every person who takes time to look at the world nowadays are the war in the Far East, the extent of Russia's internal political storms, the Spanish civil war, the significance of the alliance binding together Germany, Italy and Japan; Italy's recent withdrawal from the League of Na-

BIG BROADCASTER

WHEN a lad of 11, Bill Fields ran away from his home in Philadelphia to become an actor. But before he found work, he lived a hand-to-mouth existence for 4 years, selling newspapers, doing odd jobs. Finally he landed a job in an Atlantic City beer garden at $5 a week, then a job that paid $10 a week with board—and in his spare time he practised juggling, his heart set on a stage career. When he finally broke into vaudeville, it was on a cheap circuit that called for twelve shows a day, but Fields proved his ability, and by the time he was 20, he was touring the world as a juggler and pantomimist.

For 9 years he was featured in the Ziegfeld Follies and other Broadway musicals—and then, in 1925, he turned to the movies, became an outstanding star.

Scorning many radio offers, Fields finally signed a contract last year—and immediately became an air favorite, costarring with the irrepressible Charlie McCarthy. Today, Fields is dividing his time between pictures and radio—despite poor health. His latest picture, "The Big Broadcast of 1938," will be released on Dec. 31.

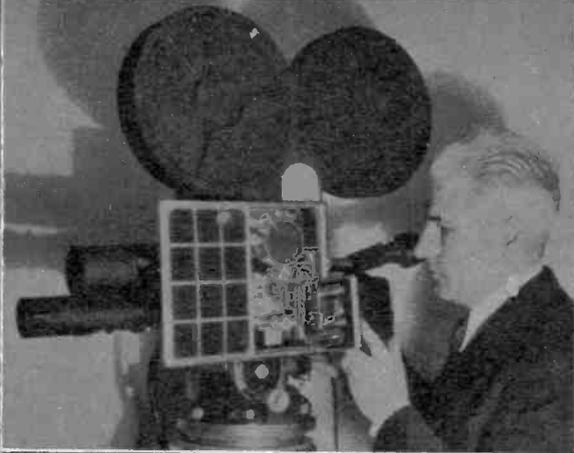

Right Starred in "The Big Broadcast of 1938." Bill Fields reaches new heights

1 Left: The sound-track for "News of the Day" is on the left side of the film, carries the voice of Radio Announcer Jean Paul King. Above: The type of camera used. It holds 800 feet of film, uses 90 feet of film per minute

2 Pictures for "News of the Day" are taken by cameramen in all parts of the world—with actual sound recorded on the films. They are rushed to the New York office

Left: Tragedy comes to newsreels in such scenes as this. Japanese raids have left dead Chinese in the Shanghai streets
—International Photo

3 There, at the main office, they're developed (above), 150 feet per minute. Then automatically dried (below) at same speed—but in emergencies, twice as fast!

STAR'S SIDELINE

JEAN PAUL KING IS A
RADIO ANNOUNCER
AND NEWSREEL VOICE

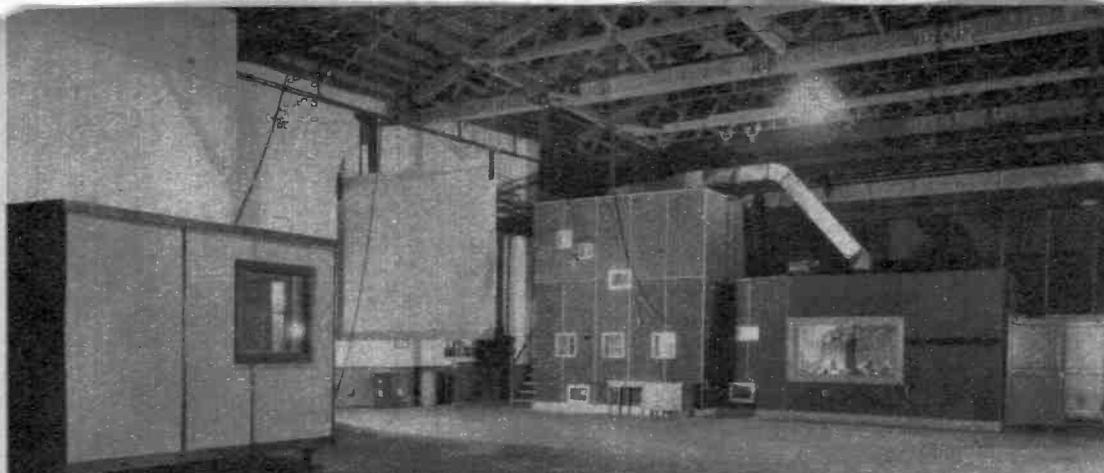

Left: Thrills of all sorts are included in Jean Paul King's routine. Here, two men have been badly hurt in a horse race
—International Photo

5 King and Cutter John Michon see the films run off in the Movielola (below)—with scenes in their proper order. The machine shows them as they'll look on the screen

6 Above: Stage where voice recording is done. King speaks into a mike in the movable sound-proof booth (left). The 2-story booth (center) houses the recording equipment. Right: The control booth

Right: Floods sweep the Mississippi River banks, leaving thousands homeless — and it's King's job to tell the story
—International Photo

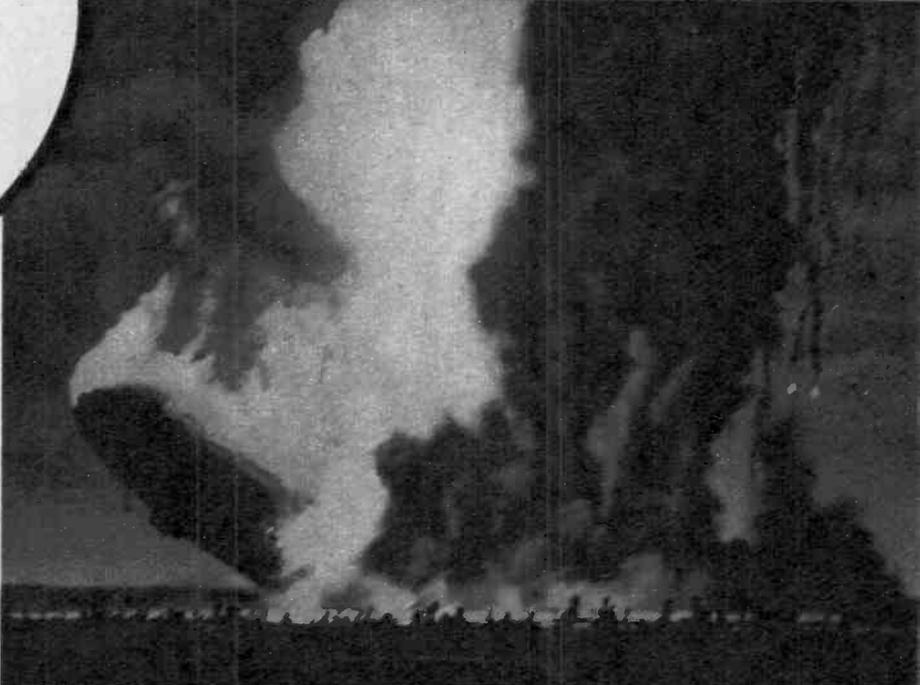

8 In the control booth (above), engineers follow the script and regulate sound as they watch the film projected outside. Synchronization is achieved by machines below

JEAN PAUL KING is one of radio's busiest announcers. On the air, he announces shows on all major networks, and in his spare time he makes newsreels, movie shorts, enjoys outdoor sports, and conducts a school where he teaches radio technique to beginners. Born in North Bend, Nebraska, 33 years ago, he was graduated from the University of Washington. He's married, has a 4-year-old son.

9 Subtitles are photographed by Jesse Sabin (below), added to the films. Thea King's voice is matched to the original sound-track. Walter Lamprecht (below, right) checks their accuracy

10 Hundreds of prints are made from this master film, sent all over the world (below). Cashier Walter Bredin pays King (below, right). Pay for this job runs as high as $1,000 a month

New Year's Eve on the air means the finest dance music in the world. This year, as in the past, all three major networks will extend facilities from Coast to Coast—and on to Hawaii, to celebrate New Year's in each time zone. From New York, MBS will air the music of Horace Heidt, Benny Goodman, Guy Lombardo, Tommy Dorsey, Richard Himber and Leo Reisman. Then, moving west, the network will pick up Dick Jurgens, Bill Carlson, Shep Fields and Kay Kyser, all from Chicago. Instead of moving into the mountain-time zone, however, MBS will devote an hour to the rhythms of Vincent Lopez from Cincinnati, Sammy Kaye from Cleveland, Dick Stabile from Pittsburgh, and Herbie Kay from Philadelphia. After that, MBS carries on from the West Coast.

From San Francisco it will air the music of Joe Reichman, and after a fifteen-minute broadcast from Honolulu, it will conclude with the music of Everett Hoaglund and Red Nichols from Los Angeles. Meanwhile, CBS will be making the same kind of cross-country tour. From New York, it will air music by Jay Freeman, Benny Goodman, Eddy Duchin, Cab Calloway, George Hall and Richard Himber. Then on to Chicago for music by Frankie Masters and Orin Tucker. During the next hour music from Denver will be offered to radio listeners. After that, CBS will pick up the bands of Ted Fio-Rito from Los Angeles and Sterling Young from San Francisco, and conclude with dance music from Hawaii. NBC will follow suit—with orchestras selected at the last minute

THE FACE IS FAMILIAR

BUT IF YOU'RE NOT SURE OF THE NAME

—TURN TO PAGE 44

RADIO is unique in that it is the only medium entirely dependent upon voice for characterization. Yet costumes do have a place in this field. Often comedians wear them to amuse studio audiences, in the belief that if the audiences are sufficiently amused, their laughter, when heard on the air, will be contagious and add to the pleasure of listeners. Sometimes, when serious scenes are played, costumes are worn to create the proper atmosphere in the studio—and occasionally they're worn by entertainers who make up for their parts in order to have a clear image of the person they are attempting to portray.

Listeners, of course, are unable to see the costumes of air actors, and everyone gets his own individual impression of the character being portrayed. Yet if characterizations are skilfully done, listeners should be able to recognize them. Can you identify these faces?

Right: They really lived in Mena, Arkansas—but as citizens of mythical Pine Ridge, these country characters (above) have proved a radio sensation

Left: Far-famed for his tangled oratory, this NBC comedian portrays a politician, co-stars on a Sunday program from New York. He entered radio on the West Coast, has played many roles

Above: Newest black-face team on the radio, these two (right) were "Bicycle Party" stars. The one on the right became famous as one of the Two Black Crows—was named Moran then

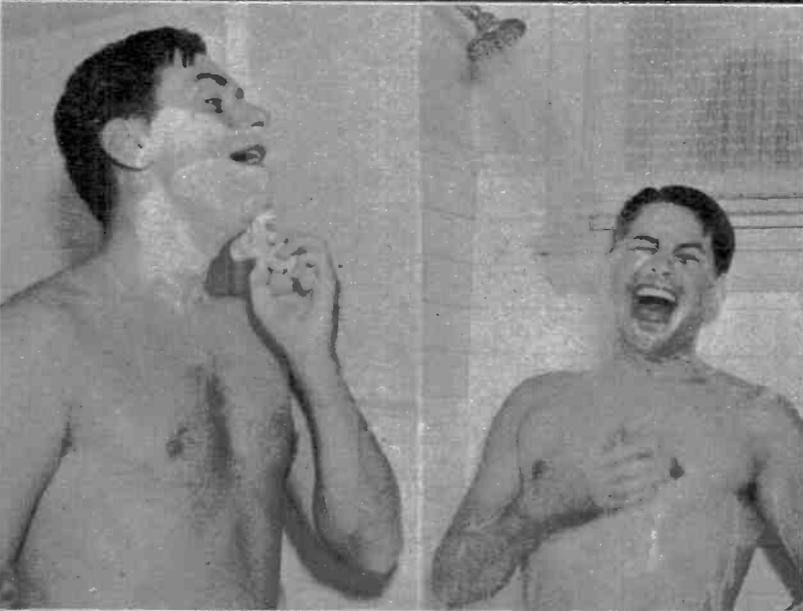

1 Soon after Wilbur Evans' alarm clock rings, singing practice begins. Above: Before getting out of bed he sings "mi-mi" for a full minute—until his vocal cords are relaxed. Arising, Wilbur gets in trim with a hand-stand (right)

How to be a BATHROOM BARITONE

WILBUR EVANS, the popular young baritone heard on "Vick's Open House," is no long-haired musician, but a robust athlete who plays handball every day for 2 hours regardless of rehearsals. Born in Philadelphia, Wilbur was active in high-school plays and operettas—and was an outstanding athlete in swimming, riding, and basketball, too. Soon after he had received his Bachelor of Music degree at Curtis Institute he had a chance to go into vaudeville, but refused and continued to study serious music. In 1935 he made his operatic debut with the Philadelphia Symphony. He likes to sing swashbuckling songs and reads books on philosophy.

2 Although it's hard to brush the teeth and sing at the same time (above), "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" might be appropriate. At any rate, it's in the bathroom that singing practice really begins

3 A shave (above) is next—but when using the razor, a smooth, romantic tune is needed. In the shower (above, right), however, Wilbur finds he can let himself go! Recommended songs are "Singin' in the Rain" and "Stormy Weather"

4 By this time, Wilbur's informal practice is really over, but the habit has set in. Above: He sings across the breakfast table to his wife, Florence. Happily married, they have no children

5 Above: Outside, listening at the keyhole, the hotel help appreciates the impromptu early morning recital. Above, right: Wilbur bids his wife good-bye—goes to singing practice!

6 Wilbur didn't ask his accompanist, Norman Soreng Wright (above), if he played piano when hiring him; he asked if he played chess. Right: Evans personally answers all fan mail

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections
No MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequencies and short wave channels.

ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD
Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires. Not New—Value Already Proved.

On the market five years, 100,000 customers in U.S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radiors for doublet aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios.

5 DAYS TRIAL Mail coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.

JUST MAIL THIS COUPON
F & H Radio Laboratories, Dept. 69, Fargo, N. Dak.
Send F & H Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check here  if sending $1 with order—thus saving postage cost—same refund guarantee. Check here  if interested in dealer's proposition.

NAME.....
ADDRESS.....

WHAT USERS SAY
LaPorte, Tex. After using the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 small 7 tube set can say it brings in reception with fine volume and clarity, pulling in stations from Japan, Europe, South America, and broadcast stations from all over the U. S. Efficiency proven. I took down my old outside aerial. Signed: Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago. Signed:

GUS HAENSCHEN "Saturday Night Serenade" orchestra leader Sat. 8:30 pm CST

SHORT WAVES

BY CHAS. A. MORRISON, president, INTERNATIONAL DX-ER'S ALLIANCE

Broadcasts mentioned below are Eastern Standard Time. For CST subtract 1 hour; for MST, 2 hours; for PST, 3 hours.

BOTH of General Electric's international stations in Schenectady, New York, W2XAD and W2XAF, will be on the air continuously and simultaneously for 40 hours from 9 a.m. EST on Friday, December 31, until 1 a.m. EST Sunday, January 2, 1938, so that short-wave listeners all over the world may enjoy the programs broadcast in connection with the New Year's celebration. Dance bands from Coast to Coast will greet the arrival of the year 1938 in the various time zones.

Through the cooperation of NBC, the New Year's broadcast of the Sugar Bowl football game from New Orleans, will be heard at 2 p.m. EST on January 1, with the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., following at about 4:45 p.m. EST.

Of particular interest to opera-lovers, will be the broadcast over 2RO3 (9.635), Rome, on Sunday, December 26, at 7:45 p.m. EST, featuring a running commentary from the Royal Opera House, upon the occasion of opening night.

Listeners to Daventry, England, will hear the following feature broadcasts this week: A program direct from the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem will be heard on Sunday, December 26, at 12 noon EST. The transmission is being designed to reflect Christmas in its true home and will include, it is hoped, the bells of Bethlehem and singing by a choir in the Church of the Nativity, as well as a description of the Holy Places. On Sunday, December 26, at 3 p.m. EST, a special religious ceremony will be broadcast from Lambeth Palace, for more than seven hundred years the London home of the Archbishops of Canterbury. The address will be given by the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury.

The past, present, and future of the Empire Service from Daventry, which is now five years old, will be discussed in a talk by J. B. Clark, director of the Empire Broadcasting Service, on Friday, December 31, at 5 p.m. EST. Before "Big Ben" strikes midnight, thus ushering in the New Year in Great Britain, a Watchnight Service will be broadcast from the Concert Hall in Broadcasting House, London, at 6:45 p.m. EST, on Friday, December 31. The first broadcast of 1938 from Daventry, starting at 7:01 p.m. EST, will show listeners how the New Year is being welcomed in different parts of the country—in remote villages as well as in important centers. Starting at 8:05 p.m. EST, a broadcast will be radiated from the Chelsea Arts Ball at the Albert Hall, London. This is one of the most famous and gala events of the year.

The new French broadcasting station at Essarts, near Paris, first announced in this column last week, is being heard irregularly between 5 and 8 p.m. EST, on one of the following frequencies: 6.04, 9.55, or 11.845 megas. No English announcements have been heard so far, and the broadcasts consist for the most part of semi-classical selections, apparently relayed from one of the Paris broadcast stations.

The first broadcast in the series from Northwest River, Labrador, which was scheduled for Sunday, December 12, was canceled owing to a last-minute emergency trip which the operator, Tommy Cunningham, was forced to make, thus leaving no one at the station to direct the program. Another Labrador station which has been coming in quite well of late is VO6J (14.272). This is a private commercial transmitter owned by an aircraft company, which also serves as a meteorological station for the Canadian government. The location is Sand Girt Lake, 300 miles above the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

E. H. Clark of Hollister, Calif., heard a new station announced as ZRX, between 10:33 and 11 a.m. EST. Although the announced frequency was 6.1, the station actually came in on approximately 6 megas.

Following is a complete list of the commercial stations at Bolinas, Calif., as furnished Earl Roberts of Indianapolis, Ind., by the Federal Communications Commission: KRR (2.776), KEF (6.71), KEN (6.845), KEL (6.86), KEB (6.89), KEE (7.715), KET (9.48), KEI (9.49), KER (10.39), KEZ (10.4), KES (10.41), KKQ (11.95), KKZ (13.69), KLL (13.72), KKW (13.78), KWE (15.43), KKR (15.46), KKL (15.475), KEM (15.49), KQZ (17.98), KQG (18.00), KQJ (18.02), KQR (18.04), KUN (18.06), KMM (20.78) and KSS (20.82).

The new short-wave station for Singapore, Straits Settlements, is under construction and if all goes well, will be on the air about next March. The suggested frequencies are 6.0125, and 9.53 megas.

W1XAL of Boston, Mass., will receive an increase in power from 20,000 to 50,000 watts if the petition of the World Wide Broadcasting Corporation to the Federal Communications Commission is successful. The Columbia Broadcasting Corporation has requested permission to add a new frequency of 25.75 megas to those already in use by Short-Wave Station W3XAU of Philadelphia.

Cyril B. Will of Kenilworth, Ill., reports the new Cuban COCA, was heard testing on a frequency of 9.06 megas, Sunday at 6 p.m. EST. The station relays Broadcast Transmitter CMCA in Havana. The new Italian Short-Wave Stations 2RO5 (15.17), and 2RO6 (15.3), may be heard testing and relaying the programs of 2RO3 at irregular intervals. Starting in February, these transmitters will adopt a regular schedule of broadcasting.

The international race for supremacy in the short-wave field is on. Present stations are being made more and more powerful, while new stations are being constructed at a feverish rate. From present indications it won't be many years until short-wave programs from the far corners of the earth will be competing in popularity with the best network offerings in this country.

Starting with this week, transmission number six, from Daventry, England, will commence at 9:15 p.m. EST, instead of 9 p.m. EST as heretofore. Sign off will be at 11:15 p.m. EST under the new schedule.

Ray Shaffar of Waterloo, Ia., writes that on Sunday, December 5, two of the most interesting stations on the air, namely VP3THE (13.74), base-camp transmitter of the Terry-Holden Expedition in Southern British Guiana, and OX2QY (14.368), winter-camp transmitter of the MacGregor Arctic Expedition at Reindeer, Greenland, were successful in establishing a two-way contact. During the course of the conversation Captain MacGregor said the sun had been gone for two months, but that occasionally there was enough light from the moon and stars so they could see well enough to prevent them from stumbling over any obstacles. He said they had seen many foxes, some as white as the snow upon which they ran. A few gulls, and some birds resembling the American crow had also been observed.

Orrin W. Hungerford, the operator of VP3THE, related that they had lost track of the advance party, and that it had been several days since they had been able to contact them. When he had last heard from Dr. Holden, he said, they had already made a good collection of birds, animals and herbs. VP3THE may often be heard working North American amateurs, utilizing frequencies of either 14.3 or 14.11 megas.

Roy Waire of Ballston Spa, N. Y., was fortunate enough to tune in FZE8 (17.28), of Djibouti, French Somaliland, on the morning of December 2, at 8:05 a.m. EST, when this station, which normally is used for C. W. transmissions, was testing with voice, saying "Allo, Allo, Ici Djibouti," over and over again.

Clarence Hartzell of Jeannette, Pa., informs me that a communication he has received from the Australia Broadcasting Commission, states that the call of VK3LR (9.58), Melbourne, has been changed to VLR. Pending the replacement of the present transmitter with a high-power one, the present power is being doubled. An unconfirmed report states that the call of VK3ME (9.5), Melbourne, is to be changed to VK3LR. This station is an experimental one owned by Amalgamated Wireless, while VLR is owned by the government.

The 10-meter (28 megas) band is a happy hunting-ground for long-distance reception these days. On Sunday, December 12, between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. EST, I logged ZE1JR in Southern Rhodesia, G5ML in Kenilworth, England, GM6RG in Scotland, VP9R in Bermuda, VE1ER in Nova Scotia, CO2LV in Cuba, and YV5AA in Caracas, Venezuela. VK2GU (28.06), in Australia, is being heard with strong signals near 7 p.m. EST.

The appropriation of nearly two million schillings for the construction of a powerful Viennese short-wave station near Vienna. Within a year's time the music of Lehar and Strauss will be bounding into this country with an impetus of 50,000 watts. The first of India's new 10,000-watt short-wave transmitters has been completed by the British Marconi Company, and has been slated for opening early in 1938.

The Netherlands government is constructing a high-power transmitter at Jaarsveld in the neighborhood of the city of Utrecht which, it is hoped, will be on the air by the beginning of 1938.

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 27. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.
