RADIO GUIDE'S ANNUAL STAR OF STARS POLL

THIS WEEK—MOST POPULAR ANNOUNCERS

ALL-IMPORTANT to any radio show is the announcer, for upon him hinges the success of a show in terms of dollars and cents. His delivery of the sales messages is designed to make listeners want to throw away their Smell-O cigarettes and go right out and buy the perfect brand. If an announcer succeeds in increasing the sales of a sponsor's product, then the sponsor is happy, the advertising agency handling the show is happy, the entire cast and head man of the show is happy, and the show is a success.

Now in the ninth week of its fifth year, Radio Guide's great Star of Stars Poll offers radio listeners the opportunity to name their favorite studio and sports spielers on the air by filling in the ballot above and mailing it before midnight of Saturday, May 14.

This year's poll differs from all of Radio Guide's previous polls in an important respect. Heretofore, readers have voted on all twelve divisions of the poll at one time and have had the privilege of voting each week over a long period of time. In this year's election, voting is limited to one division each week.

Each week Radio Guide announces the winners in one of the polls. In the sixth poll, Nelson Eddy has been named the most popular male classical singer on the air by an overwhelming majority of votes, and Jessica Dragonette has been selected favorite female classical singer. Complete results may be found on page 15.

This week all attention is focused on America's favorite studio and sports announcers. First three winners in the studio announcers division last year were: First, Don Wilson; second, Tiny Ruffner; third, Jimmy Wallington. In the sports announcers division winners were: First, Ted Husing; second, Graham McNamee; third, Bob Elson.

Many people object to things some announcers do, such as cooing to female audiences, delivering news messages in a manner likely to stir hysteria, and above all, "overselling" their merchandise. Radio Guide's poll this week offers listeners a chance to protest against such annoyances as these by voting for those announcers who don't resort to such tricks on the air.

Whoever your choice may be, don't fail to support your favorite air announcers in this great election. Help them keep that top position by voting—today!

PROFESSIONAL MOTHERS

BY JAMES STREET

KATE MAYHEW, cute as a button and not much larger, brushed her wispish brown hair from her forehead and reminisced coquettishly on her motherhood, it being the proper thing to do at this season when mama gets the blarney and papa gets the bill.

"I remember quite well when I was the mother of Hamlet for the first time," said little Miss Kate, and laughed. "I was very upset at the prospect of motherhood. You see, I never had been a mother before and I knew my bread and meat depended on how good a mother I was. I went into rigid training for the ordeal, watched my diet, exercised every day and rehearsed for hours.

"Then came the night. The bands played. The curtain was rung up. The audience applauded. The lights flickered. And lo! I was a mother for the first time—the mother of Hamlet! Hamlet was a hard-headed young 'un. I wanted to thrash him several times. I thought he was a little bit pixilated. He went around talking to himself, and he saw ghosts! And he objected to my marrying his uncle! Imagine a son trying to dictate his mother's romance! What are children coming to?

"THE next night I was a mother again, and soon I got used to it. I have been a mother thousands of times since. It's a good living. I was a child mother at first. In fact, I was in my twenties when Hamlet first was my son, my baby. That was sixty-three years ago! U. S. Grant was president! Some die-hards were still grumbling because we had bought Alaska for a few dollars, and our flag had only 38 stars. A lot has happened during my tenure of motherhood."

Little Miss Kate sighed and looked around her tidy apartment in midtown Manhattan, and then out the window at the seething city, at the millions buying flowers as tributes to their mothers.

"Mother's Day," said Miss Kate. "It's a beautiful sentiment. Will I wear a flower? Of course. A white one. My mother would be more than a hundred years old. I have only one close relative, a niece. She's ill in San Francisco. And here I am in New York. I'll wire her.

"I have no children, no real ones. But many persons will wear a flower for me, for I have mothered many. Lillian Gish will remember me. So will Marc Connelly. I'm the old lady who lives in the shoe."

SHE seemed just a tiny bit sad as she talked, but quickly she discarded the mood and laughed again.

"I remember when I was Juliet's mother. She was a problem child if I ever had one. If she had come to me and told me about Romeo, I could have prevented that tragedy. I could have talked her father into agreeing to the match. Her father listened to me. Juliet was headstrong, impulsive. She broke my heart. It was tough being Juliet's ma. You don't know misery until you lose your daughter as I lost Juliet—the little dope! She should have known Romeo was an all-right fellow and would be back."

Miss Kate stands under five feet even when she stretches, and she's the mother you hear on CBS' School of the Air.

"I'm just breaking into radio," said Miss Kate. "I've waited a long time, haven't I? But after all, I'm only eighty-four!"

Eighty-four, and beginning a new career! And poets chip words from the rainbow seeking expressions for courage. Sculptors chisel marble figures of heroines, and painters splash their faces on canvas. But for courage, I give you little Miss Kate, who is only eighty-four—the mother of radio and whacking out a new path for herself at the age when most persons are ready to sit before a fire and rock and knit and watch their grandchildren.

Incidentally, Miss Kate played roles of a mother and a grandmother the same year the Marconi family of Bologna, Italy, had a son and named him Guglielmo and watched him grow up to invent wireless. Marconi is dead, but wireless has brought a new frontier to mankind and created a new world for little Miss Kate to conquer.

Her eyes are frosty blue, and there are only a few gray hairs among the brown. She's a professional mother, and when you hear her voices (she has a heap of voices) she can make you think of all the different kinds of mothers in the world. She can tighten her lips, and her voice screams like a matriarch's. She can talk naturally, and her voice is gentle and soothing, like our mothers'.

You'll probably hear her on a Mother's Day program, for when radio wants a typical mother the moguls send for Miss Kate.

She was born in Indianapolis on September 2, 1853.

"I'm a Hoosier," she says, proudly.

Abe Lincoln was trodding the hustings in those days. Man had discovered his voice could be carried over wires, and thought he was smart.

KATE went on the stage in 1858 in the play "Pizzaro." Children were in demand for drama even then, and at five she was the Shirley Temple of the Hoosiers.

"I remember the Civil War," said Miss Kate. "There were big doings around Indianapolis then."

The war was in full swing when she went into stock as Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The event was of tremendous historic importance, although Miss Kate perhaps never considered it so. The war had not been going well for the Union. Lincoln was up for re-election, and the fight was bitter. There were millions in the North who wanted to beat Lincoln and call the whole thing off, but there were more millions who wanted to fight on and save the Union.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was a blatant bit of propaganda against the South. So over all the North, the play was enacted. Feelings were aroused. It helped lick the South, it helped re-elect Lincoln. And little Kate was little Eva, the sweet girl with curls who made the North see red.

Did you ever think about that, Miss Kate? That you played a part in saving the Union—that your voice on the stage was worth a thousand muskets!

She began trouping at fifteen. Over all the country she went, and in 1873 she came to Broadway. Her show was "My Neighbor's Wife."

"Folks weren't so hard to please then," said Miss Kate.

In 1878 (Thomas Edison had discovered one of the principles of radio then) she married Henry Wedmen, orchestra leader of the show. They married in San Francisco. She has been a widow for forty-three years.

"I've been alone since then," said Miss Kate, "but I never allow myself to get lonely. I never allow myself to worry. When I begin to worry, I memorize a poem or a story—study it for an hour, and my mind gets so busy with my memory work that there's no room in my brain for worry."

She prides herself on her memory. "I can remember just about everything, except the number of times I have been a mother or grandmother in the world of make-believe."

She lives alone, does her own cooking and housework. "Why, only today," she said, "I went 'way uptown to shop. I rode the bus and had to make three changes. I can take care of myself."

Last year she appeared with the Lunts and had to make three trips across the continent in six weeks.

"Pretty good running around for an eighty-four-year-old girl, eh?" said Miss Kate.

She has been in radio on bit parts for several months, but only recently did she join CBS' staff for parts in School of the Air. She looks about sixty. She never has trimmed her brown hair.

"It's too good a prop," she said. Her living-room walls are covered with pictures of theatrical stars. "They are my children," she said. "That's Marc Connelly's picture over there. It's the only picture he ever paid to have made. And there is Lillian Gish. She's the sweetest girl I know. She called me the other day. Lee Bowman is one of my boys. I helped him years ago. He's holding his own in Hollywood."

Radio and screen stars call Miss Kate "Aunt Kate" or "Grandma."

"I don't mind. I've mothered enough of them. But I don't like to play only mother roles. I don't want to be typed. I can play little-girl parts, too."

EXPECT to stay in radio now. Radio is the most useful and wonderful thing we have. I don't like the horror stories, however. There are too many good things to be played for us to bother with the bad things. Have I any advice to offer? Yes—do all things in moderation, and stay cheerful and courageous. I like people with courage."

And I like Miss Kate. She is by no means the only professional mother, but she is by far the oldest.

Marion Barney is the professional mother you hear on NBC's "Pepper Young's Family" as lovable Mrs. Sam Young. A native of San Francisco, she came to radio ten years ago after years of experience in stock and the silent movies. She has been the mother of Elaine Sterne Carrington's "typical American family" since it first was presented.

Mrs. Wiggs of NBC's "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" really is Betty Garde, and she's only thirty. Her first Broadway show was "The Nervous Wreck," but you would never know it, for she's a very composed young woman, and very refined. In fact, she had intended to attend Wellesley, but decided she didn't need a college education to be a radio star. She made her mike debut in 1933 and has played opposite many comedians, including Cantor, Bert Lahr, Cliff Edwards, Jack Pearl and Lou Holtz.

TO SEE her you would never think of Mrs. Wiggs. But that's her living. Her favorite pet is Mr. Wiggs. He's a dog.

One of the most famous professional mothers is Minetta Ellen, who plays Fanny Barbour, the sympathetic mother in NBC's "One Man's Family."

She really is a mother, and a grandmother to boot. Her two grandchildren call her Mimi.

She was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and her father owned the Cataract House, a hotel that was a landmark. She wanted to be an actress as a young lady, but her family objected, so she studied elocution as a compromise.

Her first experience as an actress came after she was married and had a family. The campus players of the University of California selected her to play mother roles for their shows. Among the students with whom she acted were Barton Yarborough and Michael Raffetto. They are her "sons" now in "One Man's Family."

She toured with the Berkeley Players; and while in stock played the wife of J. Anthony Smythe. Smythe now is Mr. Barbour, her radio husband.

She never had appeared before a mike until she was auditioned for "One Man's Family."

"I'm glad I was a mother long before I became an actress," she said. "It helps me to understand Fanny Barbour so much better."

She lives in an apartment on the top of a San Francisco hill. Her home is filled with old furniture and books.

Perhaps the most famous radio mother is Gertrude Berg of "The Goldbergs," who has appeared on all three major networks.

"Mother's Day will mean much to me," she said. "I will go see my mother, and my two children will remember me."

Her mother is an invalid and lives at Tarrytown, N. Y. Her children are Cherny, sixteen, and Harriet, twelve. Cherny studies violin and Harriet studies piano.

"BEING a mother," she said, "helps me to understand Molly, and being Molly helps me to be a mother."

Both of her children want to get into radio work. Cherny used to write childish verse, but he has outgrown it. Now Harriet has got the poetic fever. There is something fine and homey about the Berg family. There is a friendly air about the home, a deep understanding.

Even little Harriet has it. There are no horizons for her, and at twelve she is worried about the fate of men, about our blunders and stupidity, our selfishness and blindness. She tells it

THIS is a topsy-turvy world, and times change in the theater just as they do elsewhere. There was a day, for example, when, if you were a stage butler, you might be sure that your lines would consist of nothing more complicated than an occasional "Dinner is served, madam!" But now you're likely to be the hero of the piece, and it's almost a cinch that you will be a maker of sparkling epigrams, a hatcher of plots, and a man with a past.

In the old days, the worst that could happen to you would be that you might be snatched out of the respectable obscurity of your butlery some time during the third act and identified as the murderer of the lecherous bondholder who had wronged your sister and deserted her some twenty years before. Even then you were likely to be excused, especially if the play centered around the doings of an eccentric private detective who not only brought his man to justice but dispensed it as well.

In those days, however, a butler, as the name implies, used to be concerned mainly with bottles and wine-cellars. Now he is likely to be involved in anything from domestic to international intrigue, and to be an authority on almost any subject from Byzantine architecture to surrealism—and he's sure to be a man who listens understandingly to Toscanini on his nights off.

He has replaced the beach-comber as a romantic figure.

MUCH of this change in the social standing of the butler is due to the activities of just such characters as Mr. William Powell of Hollywood, who bids fair to become a professional butler unless he watches his step. Possibly it all began with the creation of the Admirable Crichton in 1903, by Sir James Matthew Barrie. The Admirable Crichton, as you will remember, was a servant who could do anything, a veritable Robinson Crusoe in a tight spot and a man who was polished and cultured withal. Mr. Powell, like the Admirable Crichton, is suave and gentlemanly and accomplished. Anything Crichton could do, he can do. And he can make hearts flutter, too.

Remember "My Man Godfrey"?

It was "My Man Godfrey" that started the cinematic vogue in what might, for want of a better term, be called sophisticated slapstick, and gave rise to what movie men now call the "slapstick cycle"—which said cycle includes such amazingly popular successes as "The Awful Truth," "True Confession," "Merrily We Live," and "Nothing Sacred."

AND it was "My Man Godfrey" that strengthened the legend of the perfect servant, buttressed the romantic tradition of the Admirable Crichton, and established the suave Mr. Powell as butler extraordinary, and the sprightly Miss Carole Lombard as a top-flight comedienne. For that reason alone "My Man Godfrey" is an important work.

On Monday night of this week (May 9) at 9 p.m. EDT, the Lux Radio Theater (aired over the Columbia Broadcasting system under the guidance of Cecil B. DeMille) takes the play out of its screen setting and brings it to listeners in the form of a thrilling radio play. Like the original screen play, the radio version will star the talented Mr. Powell and Miss Lombard.

Taking part in the radio dramatization will also be Gail Patrick and Mischa Auer—for whom "My Man Godfrey" on the screen was a big step toward stardom in the movies.

The story is that when "My Man Godfrey" was being manufactured out in Hollywood, members of the cast entered into the spirit of the enterprise so whole-heartedly, and with such an intelligent understanding, that instead of quoting lines from the scripts that had been handed them they fabricated their own dialog during rehearsals. The radio producers of "My Man Godfrey" guarantee that everybody who participates in the broadcast will have a script, but an effort will be made to capture the air of light-hearted foolery which pervaded the movie version of the play.

"My Man Godfrey's" significance as entertainment is chiefly that it started the "slapstick" cycle. It was a new kind of slapstick, too. It was sophisticated. In the old days, the villains and the fuddy-duddies of romantic comedy were the victims of such misfortunes as falling into horse-troughs and tumbling down stairs. Sympathetic characters; i. e., those with whom the audience had a bond of feeling and kinship, were generally immune from such indignities. Now, in the new slapstick cycle, it is the sympathetic characters who suffer. Under current rules, for example, the heroine may be ducked in a pond, spanked by the hero, or shoved head first into a barrel of tar. Naturally, it's just good, clean fun, a fine time is had by all and there are always happy endings.

IT IS impossible, of course, to reproduce slapstick in its native purity on the radio, but it is possible, through lively dialog, to re-create the atmosphere that makes comedy sparkle, and it is toward that goal that the producers of the radio version of "My Man Godfrey" are working. Their task is made easier by the fact that the stars of the original cast are to appear in the radio play and that their personalities and mannerisms are familiar to millions of movie-goers everywhere.

In "My Man Godfrey"—as in others of his plays—"The Baroness and the Butler" being the most recent example—the polished Mr. Powell is cast as a servitor, and, in accordance with the finest traditions of romance and democracy, wins the lady of his heart's desire, having first impressed her with the sheer virtuosity of his butting, then swept her off her feet with his personal charm, thus wiping out at one blow the barriers of snobbery between butlers and belles, and proving once again that a cat may look at a king, or queen, as the case may be.

For the benefit of those who were staring the other way when the movie came to town, a brief resume of the story follows: Irene Bullock (Carole Lombard) finds Godfrey (William Powell) sitting disconsolately on a city dump, where she has gone in search of a specimen of the "forgotten man," which she needs to win a scavenger-hunt. She takes first prize. Then she engages Godfrey as the Bullock butler, and he takes the job. Soon he has won his way into the affections of the family, with the exception of Cornelia, Irene's sister, who remains aloof and snooty.

UNFORTUNATELY, Godfrey, whilst serving cocktails to the assembled guests of the Bullocks at a party one day, is recognized by one Tommy Gray, a former classmate at Harvard, but contrives to get Tommy to keep his real identity a secret. It appears that Godfrey, whose name is Godfrey Parke, has been involved in a minor scandal in Boston and, having been exiled by his family, has become a gentleman adventurer. His stay with the Bullocks is marred only by Cornelia's bullying—which is bad enough, for Cornelia finally decides to dispense with Godfrey once and for all. She puts her pearls in his room, announces that they are missing, and calls the police.

When the police arrive, the pearls are nowhere to be found, and it is discovered that the family is in such financial straits that the jewels were uninsured.

The plot begins to thicken and there are several intervening complications before Mr. Bullock comes home one day to tell the other Bullocks that he faces jail because of his financial mishaps. Godfrey, as you might guess, rescues the whole tribe. The pearls reappear. Godfrey is happy. Irene is happy. Everybody is happy, and all is well.

There are several reasons why you won't want to miss this broadcast—among them the lustrous names of Powell, Lombard, Patrick and Auer, the brightness of the dialog, and the lightness of the comedy. If you still lack conviction you might recall that this is the play that gave impetus to the current liking for sophisticated slapstick, and if you need any arguments beyond these, you're an incurable realist and not entitled to admission to that vast company of frivolous but happy folk who like to think that a lot of butlers might be old Oxonians in exile or Harvard men with secret sorrows.

"My Man Godfrey" may be heard Monday on "Lux Radio Theater" over CBS at:

EDT 9:00 p.m. — EST 8:00 p.m.
CDT 8:00 p.m. — CST 7:00 p.m.
MST 6:00 p.m. — PST 5:00 p.m.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THIS WEEK'S PROGRAMS

Paramount's "Cocoanut Grove" cast will provide one of radio's most pretentious movie previews Monday night at 1 a.m. EDT on NBC. The air-cast will include Fred MacMurray (leading orchestra, above), Harry

Owens (at piano), Rufe Davis (playing guitar), as well as Burns and Allen, Dorothy Lamour, Bob Hope, Shirley Ross and Herbie Kay and his orchestra. The program will originate in the Cocoanut Grove itself

Morton Downey returns to the air as guest star for Al Pearce Tuesday night on CBS at 9 p.m. EDT (8 p.m. PST for the West)

Popular Maestro Ruby Newman leads his orchestra on Joe Penner's program on CBS this Sunday night at 6 p.m. EDT (8 p.m. PST for the West)

Tony Martin returns this week to the regular cast of the Burns and Allen show, heard at 8 and 10:30 p.m. EDT on NBC Monday

The 1938 running of the Preakness, widely known as "America's richest race for three-year-olds," will be described by Clem McCarthy (above), over a special NBC network on Saturday of this week. The program, broadcast from 5:45 to 6:15 p.m. EDT, will include interviews with turfmen and a word-picture of the exciting scene, as well as the actual race itself, held each year at the Pimlico track, near Baltimore, Maryland

JOHN BARBIROLLI is as versatile here as he has been during his Philharmonic season recently finished. With a comprehensible bent toward the works of his compatriots, the conductor often lists their music, and today's concert offers an interesting exhibit by the late Fritz Delius, whose style was not so much typically English as it was a reflection of the mysticism of Franck and the romanticism of Debussy. "Irmelin" is an early opera by Delius, and the prelude well voices his lush melodies and exotic harmonies.

Sullivan's "Lost Chord" remains one of the imperishable songs, with its noble text and profoundly moving music. De Falla's ballet, with its naughty story and spicy score, is what an ancient Englishman might call "hot in the mouth."

The March of Music

Edited by Leonard Lieblich

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air..."—Wordsworth

THERE was something of a dearth of good music on the air last summer and it is to be hoped that the bosses and sponsors of radio may deal more generously with us during the coming tropical months. Otherwise, with remembrance of the past winter in mind, we music-lovers might feel that we were passing from a feast to a famine.

There seems to be no logical reason why all the New York Stadium concerts could not be broadcast, or the Boston "Pops," or all the Hollywood Bowl and Philadelphia Dell programs. If that is too much, and some of the hours conflict, then why not alternate on different days? Many of the leading variety programs shut up shop during the thermal period, because sponsors feel that few listeners sit at the radio on hot evenings.

Should sponsors or radio companies shy at the expense of airing programs likely to appeal to a limited audience, there is the suggestion of a RADIO GUIDE correspondent, who declares himself ready to send a cash contribution toward defraying the outlay, and adds that there may be thousands of other persons willing to do likewise. The Philharmonic and Metropolitan lost no prestige by accepting dollar donations from radio followers and thereby set an example that is worthy of emulation. The suggestion of the correspondent is distinctly constructive and perhaps could help to keep us off the musical dole during this summer.

A musical radio premiere is the May 12 "first time" on the air of the Toronto Promenade Concerts, from the outdoor arena of the University of Toronto. This popular Canadian course, founded several years ago by the young Scottish conductor, Reginald Stewart, and conducted by him, patterns after the London Promenade Concerts, made famous by Sir Henry Wood, which are a feature of London life in summertime. Stewart won his earlier laurels as a concert pianist, but (like Iturbi and the late Gabilowitsch) he exchanged the keyboard for the baton. Now radio presents him with millions of new listeners.

Sir Adrian Boult, forty-nine-year-old English conductor selected to "guest" with the NBC Symphony Orchestra in two broadcasts, May 14 and 21, studied at the Leipzig Conservatory and was a disciple of the late Artur Nikisch, whom many countries hailed as the greatest conductor of his time. The influence of that artist is still apparent in Sir Adrian's vivid interpretations. Since 1918 he has been at the head of the London Royal Philharmonic, and for the past six or seven years of the BBC Symphony Orchestra.

Boston's own Arthur Fiedler conducts the famous Boston "Pop" Concerts to be heard over NBC-Blue every Wednesday at 9:30 p.m. EDT is performed nowadays. The story, a sort of variant of the Don Juan legend, concerns a pirate, Zampa, who mocks the statue of his betrayed sweetheart, and as he pursues a newer damsel is thrown into the sea by the vengeful effigy. This dreadful tragedy is supplied by Herold with a score that has more smiles than tears.

Richard Crooks' interpretative talents are to vivify the honeyed lyrics by Guy d'Hardelot (a woman composer despite the "Guy"), the stirring emotionalism of Schubert's "Where?" and the gentle sentiment in "Una Furtiva Lagrima" (A Furtive Tear), the celebrated aria from the second act of Donizetti's "Elixir of Love."

The dance from Wolf-Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna" sounds merry enough, but it has evil underlying import, for the trippers are the Camorra, a Neapolitan gangster fraternity, to whose lair the heroine Maliella rushes for protection after she has caused the enamored Gennaro to steal the jewels from the statue of the Madonna.

(Berlioz)

"Where the Citrons Bloom" (Strauss)
Divertissement . . . Introduction . . .
Cortege . . . Nocturne . . . Valse . . .
Parade . . . Finale (Ibert)

MR. FIEDLER appropriately catalogs light and lilted fancies for spring. Even the "Benvenuto Cellini" score deals mostly with jovial phases of that artist's piquant career. The Berlioz opera is just 100 years old, and failed at its Paris premiere, but the overture won lasting popularity.

On the title page of his "Suite Algerienne" Saint-Saens wrote, "Picturesque Impressions of a Voyage to Algeria." The march is the last of the four movements. Written at Blidah, the French military fortress near Algiers, the music expresses (according to the composer's own statement) his joy in viewing the garrison and the security felt under its protection.

Both emotions must have been overpowering, for Saint-Saens made his march of magnificent jubilation and pomp.

Ibert's orchestral conceit shows his amiable inclination and deft hand at orchestral coloring.

When Johann Strauss wrote his masterpieces, Vienna was a place where waltzes bloomed in fullest flowering.

CHOPIN'S two aristocratic piano concertos, with their fragrant themes and lacy figurations, represent the romantic style of writing at its best. The F minor examples is all tunefulness, with sensuous airs and glamorous decoration. In the slow movement the bit of drama in the middle part contrasts with the fresh jollity of the finale. Poetic sensibility and refined touch are essential for the playing of this utterly delightful work.

Madrigals used to be practised in the Elizabethan era when young persons of culture, going to parties, found their chief recreation in reading such music at sight. Martini was one of the early composers of part songs. Therefore, when an Elizabethan hostess would say to her guests, "Shall we have a little Martini before dinner?" it did not mean . . . but you can finish this sentence for yourself.

Concerto for Viola and Orchestra

The Orchestra

DECIDEDLY modern is this program, with only one of its numbers dating further back than our century. However, it is a fair guess that the composition in question, Beethoven's Seventh Symphony (premiered 125 years ago), will outlive the others, especially the second movement, the famous allegretto, seeming sure of immortality.

Of the three moderns, Ferruccio Busoni comes closest to Beethoven in form and method, although the "Comedy Overture" (written in one night) contains a few unconventional pages that would have appeared strange to the classical king. Busoni is staunchly admired by some as a composer, but to me he has always seemed a greater pianist than a creator, though his Bach transcriptions impress me deeply.

If you like short themes, brightness without much warmth, and harmonies that bite into the ear rather than soothe it, the Walton and Copland pieces will please you. For myself, I respect but do not love them. The rich tones of the viola are not often heard in solo utterance as exploited by Walton.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music Celebrates 100th Broadcast with 90-Minute Program

Saturday, May 14, 11 a.m., CBS.

"COULDN'T you play 'General Grant's Grand March' or something else that has a tune to it?" asked one of the guests at a musicale where a young pianist had just finished performing some music by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Schumann and Liszt. The locale was Cincinnati. The period was the year 1866. The pianist was the father of the Music Editor of RADIO GUIDE.

However, his parent related the incident as an isolated happening, for an unusually large percentage of those early Cincinnatians were of German origin and consequently well versed in the best music. At that time, the city supported several choral organizations, was trying to establish a symphony and a railroad started between Cincinnati and Chattanooga. The place must have had something more than material aspect, for Charles Dickens called it "beautiful" and "interesting."

Since Miss Bauer began her music school, it has had to change to larger quarters four times. Now it is located, with its campus, on a ten-acre tract, has a separate concert hall, two dormitories, an administration building, and all the other appurtenances of a flourishing collegiate institution. For years the fame of the Cincinnati Conservatory has been international, and some of the visiting foreign artists who paid exploratory calls were Lilli Lehmann, Nikisch, Caruso, Ysaye (who later became violin professor at the school),

Internationally famous, the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music celebrates its 100th broadcast with an hour-and-a-half program over CBS Saturday orchestra on a professional basis, and in 1859 had given Jenny Lind the biggest audience she had attracted outside of New York. Chamber music was practised in the homes and most cultured families had members who either sang or played an instrument.

The young pianist aforementioned, the late Max Liebling, used to tell that when the swains of the city wished to make a particular impression on the young women of their fancy, they did not send them orchids or perfume but serenaded them with music, the suitors and their companions being the performers, all perched atop a truck, which would draw up in front of the fair one's home and play its melodious compliment.

A year after the "General Grant" episode, in 1867, when "The Maiden's Prayer" and "The Battle of Prague" reigned favorite as piano solos, a young woman of Cincinnati, who had gone for musical study to Stuttgart, Germany, returned to her native city and took charge of the music department at a fashionable seminary for girls. Her class quickly grew to such proportions that she made it into the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and as the head of the piano branch she appointed Max Liebling, where he remained until he moved to New York.

When the Conservatory started, Cincinnati already was a prosperous center of commerce, a link between the South and the West. A bridge had been built over the Ohio River to Kentucky

Schumann-Heink and other celebrities. In 1912, Miss Bauer died, and now the Conservatory, a non-profit organization, is operated by the Cincinnati Institute of Fine Arts, a civic body that also directs the destinies of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, the Cincinnati Art Museum and the Taft Art Museum.

Aware of the vast importance of radio, the Conservatory went on the air for the first time in 1935, and this May 14 will give its 100th broadcast over the CBS network from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. EDT. Faculty members and students have taken part, some of the latter being developments of the new department of radio training and technique, founded by Dr. John A. Hoffmann, who became director in 1937. Incidentally, Dr. Hoffmann is himself a graduate of the Conservatory, where he studied singing with Miss Bauer. The symphony orchestra heard is made up of conservatory students conducted by Alexander von Kreisler.

An illustrious list of graduates of the Conservatory includes Everett Marshall, Suzanne Fisher, Jane Froman, Chalmers Clifton, Harold Morris.

Maybe that delightful pioneer of 1866 who asked for "General Grant's Grand March" is still alive and might be listening to the Cincinnati Conservatory orchestra on May 14 when they play Franck's D Minor Symphony. If so, perhaps radio has taught him that the music of the masters also "has a tune to it."

"FIRST NIGHTER" GLAMORIZES AIR DRAMA

"Mr. First Nighter," the listeners' host, is Mac Donald Carey, who wrestles into a tuxedo tie (above), becomes a weekly fixture on the show

RADIO stars alternately bemoan, rejoice that as broadcasters they lack glamour. An illusion such as the movie stars' would mean bigger salaries—but also shorter, more nerve-wracking careers.

"First Nighter," sponsored on NBC-Red every Friday night at 10 o'clock EDT by Campana, tries more than most radio programs do to make the air glamorous—by hitching it to Broadway. Scene of "First Nighter" plays—all radio originals—is "The Little Theater off Times Square," where "gay, sophisticated first-night audiences" jam "the world's brightest night-life thoroughfare."

On Friday, April 22, Gene Lester, Radio Guide's most candid cameraman, visited the "Little Theater" (in Studio A of NBC's Merchandise Mart studios in Chicago, Illinois), snapped the pictures reproduced here of "Split Second," that night's "premiere," starring Actress Barbara Luddy and Actor Lester Tremayne.

"First Nighter" dramas are fast-moving, have kept the program popular for eight years. Joe Ainley (above) cuts lines after timing during rehearsal, maintains show's lightning pace

Barbara and Tremayne star each week in dramas written especially for the program. Miss Luddy is radio's second most popular actress, Tremayne its third-place actor

The "brilliant, sophisticated" audience at NBC's First Nights is like any other radio-studio audience—more curious than swank. Because the program has been on the air so long, has built a large following, tickets to the studio are in great demand

Eric Sagerquist has directed the orchestra for "First Nighter" since its first airing (except for short vacations). Don Ameche starred on "First Nighter" before the movies claimed him. Tremayne has been screen-tested, may follow in his footsteps

NBC Offers Hill in Human-Interest Series

Monday, Wednesday, Friday
7:30-7:45 p.m., NBC-R

Edwin C. Hill, internationally known journalist and radio news commentator, has begun a new series of human-interest stories, currently broadcast over the Red network of the National Broadcasting Company three days a week.

Author of "The Iron Horse," "The American Scene," and "The Human Side of the News," Hill has done as much as any one man to popularize newscasting and to bring to radio audiences clear-cut portraits of the personalities behind the news.

His new program, entitled "Tales by Edwin C. Hill," features background information on current events, demonstrating once again the value of skilled interpretation of the day's news-breaks.

This Monday, during a program originating in the annual International Conference of B'nai-B'rith, in Washington, the Speaker takes to the air with an address entitled "Democracy in a Changing World," a topic that has become of increasing significance as democracies fall in the Old World and dictators rise.

Max Eastman Referees New CBS "Word Game"

Wednesdays, 9:30-10 p.m., CBS

Max Eastman, author of "The Enjoyment of Laughter," is the master of ceremonies on a new CBS feature, "The Word Game," which, to quote him, has to do "not just with the out-sides of words, their spellings and pronunciation, but with their fine shades of meaning, the difference between those which seem almost alike, and their proper usage."

The program is a development of the old-fashioned spelling bee recently popularized in broadcasting.

Columbia Inaugurates Pan-American Series

Sunday, 3-4:30 p.m., CBS

With the whole-hearted support of the White House and the Department of State, the Columbia Broadcasting System, in cooperation with the Pan-American Union, has arranged for a series of five inter-American broadcasts on the subject of economic cooperation between the Americas.

The first of the five Sunday afternoon programs will be heard this week, with Secretary of State Cordell Hull as the principal speaker and with foreign ministers of several Latin-American countries speaking over short-wave radio from their own capitals. When the foreign ministers are not available by short wave, ambassadors in Washington from those countries will speak.

The stated objective of the series is to promote the good-neighbor policy outlined by the present administration in Washington.

The first broadcast, on May 8, will come from a meeting in the Hall of the Americas at the Pan-American Union building in Washington. Invitations have been sent to all members of the Diplomatic Corps, Congress, the Cabinet and the Supreme Court, and to the heads of various government departments. The U. S. Navy Band will play the national airs of the nations which participate in the conference.

The hour-and-a-half program will reach all parts of the United States, the Latin-American republics and Canada. The four broadcasts which follow will be shorter—running from 2:30 to 3 p.m., but it is expected that some twenty American nations will be heard from during the series.

His first broadcast will originate from Managua, capital of Nicaragua, after a hazardous trip over the proposed Nicafiguan canal route.

HOLLYWOOD SHOWDOWN

BY EVANS PLUMMER

BIGGEST demand for studio tickets during the fortnight was that attracted by the "Good News" airing of Metro's "Test Pilot," with a radio cast comprising Clark Gable, Lionel Barrymore and Myrna Loy—so your Hollywood ogler attended, too, and was sadly disappointed at lovely Miss Loy's unglamorous appearance without make-up and wearing ordinary street clothes . . . which is frequently the case at airings from the Cinema City. Once off the lot, many of the glam gals don't give a hoot how they look, even before radio audiences . . . Not so, all of them, thank Adrian! There's Gladys George, for one. At the Feg Murray-Ozzie Nelson airing of April 24, the brilliant star of "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie," who was to repeat a bit of that for the microphone, appeared faultlessly attired in black cocktail dress, black hat, white gloves, and full stage make-up. "I get the feel of a role better," Miss George explained, "if I dress the part—and besides, the public expects actresses to dress—so I did" . . . The "feel" angle of Miss George's creed is likewise believed by Nan Grey, Kathy of "Those We Love." Miss Grey, although her radio serial heard every Monday over NBC-Blue has no studio audience, dresses to fit the situations into which the script places her.

And besides spanking Miss Loy, here's a prune for the War Department, who undoubtedly bored millions besides myself with that general's speech, which could and should have been cut to three or four minutes.

Those tuned to the spring-fever routine of the Chase and Sanborn hour Sunday, April 24, must have laughed heartily at McCarthy's yawning and falling asleep on Bergen's shoulder—but even funnier is the fact that both Don Ameche and Dorothy Lamour were really exhausted and could more easily have fallen actually asleep. Don, who guested the next day on the Lux Theater, had been rehearsing for three days and nights for the two programs, and Dorothy, whose hubby, Herbie Kay, had been under the weather with influenza, had been up nights for a whole week nursing him back to health.

The Charlie McCarthy doll success has deluged the market with similar ventriloquists' dolls—all bearing a resemblance to Charlie but tagged with such peculiar names as "Willie Talk" and "Dippy Dan." Imitation, Charlie, is your success diploma.

Jack Benny's home-builders are having fun. In his new swimming-pool's bottom is a tile-inlaid, full-size octopus, but one day last week Jack was startled to find that one of the octopus' eyes had turned into a scowling head-portrait of Fred Allen! A few days later Jack was posing for pictures in carpenters' overalls and cap, driving nails and sawing, when without warning the carpenter foreman halted Jack, asked him to show his union card. Jack did—a musician's union card! . . . Such a hit, incidentally, was the Benny show's rendition of "Snow White and the Seven Gangsters" that it will be repeated before the Jell-O opera leaves the air for the summer June 26. An unusual testimonial was that of Blind Pianist Alec Templeton, who attended the studio performance. Templeton said, "I saw the show perfectly."

A note of pathos permeated the joyous Jolson show guest appearance April 26 of most of the original dwarfs of the Disney Snow White film. Otis Harlan, the voice of "Happy," wasn't there. The veteran actor was in the hospital suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage which had attacked him during rehearsals the night previous.

Palm Springs' exclusive El Mirador, Desert Inn, Del Tahquitz and other popular winter resorts are boarding up for the summer desert heat—and Amos 'n' Andy and their families have returned to the Hollywood NBC studios to do their nightly chore. For a time, upon a recording of a conversation in Andy's office hinged the proof of his innocence on a charge of smuggling. It's not hard to guess where the pair winged that situation idea, for both Correll and Gosden are ardent home-recording fans.

Which reminds that a special recording of Elza Schallert's NBC interview with Tommy Kelly and Ann Gillis, "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" stars, was ordered made by the British Broadcasting Company for the purpose of repeating the airing all over England. Seldom if ever before has the BBC so acknowledged American program excellence.

While Joe Penner visits New York for two airings—last week's and that of May 8—he really wants to go farther east during his vacation this summer and visit his native Hungary—if it's still a country by then. And while Penner and Company are visiting Manhattan, Dick Ryan, Joe's "Godfrey," is warming over his political campaign for the job of Assemblyman in New York. Last year, Ryan ran as a gag; lost by less than a hundred votes. Now he's seriously going into the spellbinding business. Penner promises a duck feather for each vote.

When, several months ago, Irene Rich turned the first spade of earth for NBC's new Hollywood Radio City, she saved the earth in a pot; watered it and watched to see what would come of it. So far, she reports a fine growth of devil grass and several assorted weeds. She plans to return these to NBC when the studios are opened in September!

"One Man's Family" has a new member, Wayne Grubb, Teddy's "boy friend," but in real life Teddy (played by Winifred Wolfe) is unhappy about the whole thing. She had her adolescent heart set on another young actor—not Sonny Edwards, who won the role . . . The family's Jack (Page Gilman) is so proud of the five annual medals which the program has been awarded by RADIO GUIDE that he is studying medal casting; plans to make replicas of all the medals for each member of the "One Man's Family" cast.

Another budding romance: William Brice, sixteen-year-old son of Fannie, your Baby Snooks, has been observed of late attending the movies with fourteen-year-old Judy Garland.

Bazookan Bob Burns was hiking over his Bel-Air estate the other morning when his dogs barked; pointed out three wild bunnies with no mother to feed them. Bob rescued them, found one had a broken leg and called a veterinary to set the bone. Then he turned them over to the nurse attending infant Barbara Ann Burns, and by means of a medicine-dropper and the same food formula Barbara enjoys, the cotton-tails are gaining daily in weight and vigor!

Mother's Day recalls a recent visit I made to Edward G. Robinson's home. There I found the "tough guy" busy inspecting a ground-floor apartment he had built for his aged mother, too weak to climb stairs.

What you don't see! . . . Frank Morgan, in gay sweater, rowing a skiff around Catalina Island for some unknown reason . . . Ken Murray sitting in with Ozzie Nelson's band at the Palomar and blowing a wicked clarinet . . . W. C. Fields with his much publicized nose wrapped in a bandage as a result, so he says, of a bee sting. Bet the bee thought his proboscis was a Big Apple.

The haunts of Hollywood's radio stars revealed! Planning to visit California on your vacation? Then you'll want to read Hollywood Showdown next issue and learn when and where to find your favorites.

Erno Rapee directs five shows a day 365 days a year at the Radio City Music Hall, performs for an hour each Sunday at 12:30 p.m. EDT over NBC-Blue, directs the General Motors show in winters, outdoor concerts summers

YOUR reporter has been asked many times if comedy programs will continue to be as popular as they have been for the past few years. My frank opinion is that radio comedy is on the way out. The reason for it is very simple. Radio has not been able to develop comedy-script writers, and after all a comedian is only as good as his script. Amos and Andy are the only products of radio who have clicked in the comedy field. Fred Allen, Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor, Burns and Allen, Phil Baker and Ben Bernie cannot be classified as products of radio. They were graduated from the vaudeville stage with their own individual styles and techniques.

What's going to happen when these comics decide to call it a day, of their own free will, or at the request of their sponsors? I can't think of one name this side of the horizon to replace any of these mentioned. When Jack Benny vacationed last summer, his sponsor filled in with a show that proved to be anything but a success. This summer a script show will be presented during Benny's absence. Paul Whiteman's show started off with Oliver Wakefield, and comedy lines were scattered throughout the half-hour. Now the Whiteman show has changed its formula and become a musical show. The job of one, or possibly two, of the comics mentioned above is tottering. This, I think, will be the beginning of the end for radio comedy. I understand one show will go off the air entirely and the other will be replaced with a program that was heard up until a few weeks ago for an auto maker. It will be a slow process of elimination, but I firmly believe that within a few years radio comedy will be almost extinct.

I sat in the CBS Playhouse with one of the network publicists watching the Ben Bernie rehearsal. Buddy Clark walked over to where we were sitting, and was promptly scolded by the CBS space-procurer for breaking several appointments with their photographer, "I don't want my picture taken," chirped the singer. "Nothing will make my kisser better looking."

Wednesday is Buddy's toughest day in the week. He rehearses from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. for his WOR-WGN program in behalf of Lucky Strike. Then he has to rush over to the CBS Playhouse and rehearse the rest of the afternoon for the Ben Bernie show. From this rehearsal he has to speed back to the WOR studio for his program, after which he returns in double-quick time to his hotel to dress for the Bernie airing. He comes back again at 11:30 p.m. for the repeat broadcast for the Pacific Coast. When this day is done and he lays him down to sleep, Morpheus finds him a happy and willing subject.

Wednesday, April 20, was a very trying day for Ork Pilot Tommy Dorsey and his music-makers. If anyone thinks a radio star or orchestra leader has an easy life, this and the Buddy Clark paragraphs should dispel that belief. Early in the morning, the Dorsey gang was at the RCA Victor studios making some new recordings. The band was also playing four shows a day at New York's Paramount Theater. Wednesday is the day for Dorsey's program, which meant hours of rehearsing at the NBC studios between shows. After that was over they rushed back to the Paramount for the third show, then back to the studios for the radio program. At the end of the airing the Dorsey crew scurried to the theater for the fourth and last performance of the day. Oh, yes, I almost forgot something. All that day Tommy was suffering with a very bad toothache and had his dentist come over to the Paramount and give him an injection to stop the pain. If you ask me, being a musician is nice work if you can't get it.

Then there's the case of Kay Kyser, who for the past few weeks has been playing one-nighters, returning to New York on Wednesdays for his Lucky Strike program. Ask any bandleader and he'll tell you what a tough grind it is playing a different town every night, traveling by bus and getting very little sleep. Kay, the boys, and the lovely songstress, Ginny Sims, were all dead tired when they arrived in New York last Wednesday. They rehearsed all day, and at program time they were a weary crew. As a matter of fact, just as Ginny finished singing her first number she started to swoon. Kay noticed it and ran over to the microphone just in time to hold her up. Back in the dressing-room she was given smelling-salts, and, like a good trouper, she was back in front of the microphone ten minutes later singing her second number, with none of the loudspeaker eavesdroppers being any the wiser.

In the past few columns I've mentioned the radio surveys made by telephone calls to determine the popularity of programs. A great many of you were kind enough to let me know whether or not you ever received such a call. Anyway, I thought you would like to know the ranking of the first twelve programs according to the latest reports. The Don Ameche-Charlie McCarthy show heads the list, followed by Jack Benny; Bing Crosby is in third place; 4—Lux Radio Theater; 5—Fred Allen; 6—Burns and Allen and Eddie Cantor (a tie); 7—Rudy Vallee; 8—Al Jolson; 9—Major Bowes; 10—Hollywood Hotel; 11—The M-G-M-Maxwell House show; 12—One Man's Family.

In this same survey, the "Lone Ranger" is listed in seventeenth place, which is evidence of the growing popularity of this airing. In the past few weeks I've heard several comics mimicking the familiar "Hi-Ho Silver" call of the Lone Ranger. The one that got the loudest and longest laugh was on the Jack Benny show the night they burlesqued "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." In case you didn't hear it, Schleppeerman, who took the role of Prince Charming, called to his horse, "Hi-Ho Silverstein!" It stopped the show. The gag Charlie Butterworth told when he appeared as guest with Paul Whiteman the other week was another good laugh-provoker. Charlie, who had just returned from Europe, was telling the maestro that all the girls on the other side are taking up shorthand because they never know when they'll meet a dictator!

Rudy Vallee does quite a bit of radio-listening when he is at home. He has three costly radios in his New York apartment and he doesn't even have to get out of bed to turn on one of them. All he does is press one of the buttons on the night-table to tune in the station he desires, and there is a loudspeaker in almost every room. At his lodge up in Maine, he has a 29-tube set that cost him no less than $3,200.

Two weeks ago Eddy Duchin was playing at the Orpheum Theater in Minneapolis, Minnesota. He was playing a special arrangement of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," when all of a sudden, in the rear of the theater, smoke was actually getting into the eyes of the audience. Eddy, however, finished the tune he was playing and everything was kept under control.

Those on the inside are saying there's really no love lost between Ted Husing and Paul Douglas. When Paul turned over the Saturday Night Swing Session to Ted Husing, he told the listeners that he was turning the program over to his assistant because he had to take care of the sporting events of the year. Reports have it that Ted burned aplenty at this crack. You may recall the remark this department made two columns ago to the effect that it seemed amusing that Paul Douglas was leaving the swing session because of his new duties as a radio sports-spieler, while Husing, who made his reputation as such, was replacing him.

Bill Johnstone and Jeanette Nolan of the Cavalcade of America dramas have been heard in more historical Mr.-and-Mrs. roles than any pair in radio. Off the air Bill is a bachelor, Miss Nolan is married to Actor John McIntire Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 25. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

On Short Waves

Edited by Chas. A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Times indicated on this page are for Eastern Daylight Saving Time. For EST and CDT subtract 1 hour; for CST, 2 hours; for MST, 3 hours; for PST, 4 hours

TWO new 25,000-watt transmitters, which will carry American radio programs to penetrate every country of Europe and all parts of South and Central America, have been installed and will go into operation in the immediate future at the NBC Short-Wave Station W3XAL, Boundbrook, N. J. The new transmitters will operate through four directive-beam systems and two non-directive antennae, occupying twenty-four acres. The international service of NBC, the result of more than a decade of intensive experimentation in short-wave transmission, is given in six languages over sixteen hours a day.

Some of Britain's most famous dance bands, including the orchestras of Ambrose, Henry Hall, Jack Hylton and Roy Fox, have been engaged to play for a week each in the Concert Hall of the Empire Exhibition at Glasgow, Scotland. On Tuesday, May 10, at 4 p.m. EDT, Daventry listeners will hear Ambrose and his band inaugurate this series.

SHORT-WAVE SHORTS: A consulting radio commission has been established in Cuba which will set up regulations for improving short-wave broadcasts and eliminating interference . . . The nightly broadcasts from 12:45 to 1:45 a.m. EDT over ZRH, of Roberts Heights, South Africa, which were well heard in the United States when they were transmitted on a frequency of 9.523 megs, are now being radiated on 6.007 megs . . . PJC1 of Curacao, N. W. I., is now broadcasting on a new frequency of 9.091 megs, and requests reports from all listeners . . . JZK (15.16), Nazaki, Japan, is testing near 1 a.m. EDT, preparatory to putting this summer frequency into general use . . . VK2ME (9.59) of Sydney, Australia, is now broadcasting as follows: On Sundays, from 2 to 4 a.m. EDT, 6 to 10 a.m. EDT and 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. EDT . . . Dewitt R. Goddard of the RCA receiving station at Riverhead, N. Y., in writing to Clyde Criswell of Mission Ranch, Ariz., states that ultra-high-frequency reception from Europe has been totally absent for some time. France on 42 megs, and Germany on 42.5 megs, were last heard on February 19, while the last high-frequency signals from London were recorded on March 21 . . . The short-wave station on the Channel Islands, which a private concern attempted to set up and operate without a license from the British Postal officials has been silenced, following the confiscation of parts of the equipment by the authorities . . . RNE, Radio Center, Moscow, U. S. S. R., has shifted back to its former frequency of 12 megs, where it is being heard almost nightly from 11:15 p.m. to 12 mid. EDT . . . The owners of YSD (7.894), San Salvador, El Salvador, are now issuing attractive yellow, blue and white QSL cards to all listeners who correctly report transmissions of this station . . . Earl Roberts of Indianapolis, Ind., writes that the following French commercial transmitters are being used for two-way telephone traffic with Morocco, Saigon and South America: FTM (19.355), FTK (15.88), FTA (14.612) and FTH (10.94). Reports can be sent to Radio France, 79 Boulevard Haussmann, Paris, France . . . The "JZ" stations of Tokyo, Japan, are now making their usual form "thank you" letters in answer to listeners' reports of much greater value by stamping in the words, "reception verified" on them.

A new 400-watt short-wave transmitter is being installed at Kuala Trengganu in Malaya . . . The French Radio-Orient Company has decided to erect a powerful station at Beyrouth. Broadcasts in French and Arabic will be featured.

The "Esso Hour" is the only program of its kind broadcast from Cuba. Heard over COCH (9.43) on Fridays at 9 p.m. EDT, it includes one or two guest stars from radio or theater, a popular Cuban comedian, an Argentine tango band, an instrumental quartet a la Benny Goodman, a typical male trio, a regular dance band of thirteen pieces with Cuban and American vocalists and a commercial announcer who also acts as master of ceremonies.

Listeners to Short-Wave Stations OLR5A or OLR5B often hear Pelar's Moravian Band on programs originating from Prague, Czechoslovakia—

HAVE you any new ideas for broadcasts? Networks and sponsors pay big money for them. Express yours in salable scripts, turn them into real cash with the aid of this new book by FRANK NAGLER, author of over 300 radio plays. Removes every "this-is-not-my-line" doubt you may have. Lists your best prospects specifically, helps you set the right price on your first script.

Crammed with pointers on make-or-break details like these: building a full-length show from one simple incident, a test which detects bad dialogue, tying a story together with sound effects, etc. Contains specimen scripts of well known programs including Fred Allen's "Town Hall Tonight."

JUST CALL HIM EDDIE!

MEET EDWARD OTTO ROECKER—
THE LAD WITH A MUSICAL FUTURE

BY GEORGE MARSHALL

SHOUT "Junior" at him; yell "Roekie" and he'll come. But never, never call him "Otto"! Even if it is his middle name, it's pretty dangerous to tag him by. You'd better stay on the safe side and just call him Eddie, because that's half of a name you're going to be hearing a great deal of from now on.

Edward Otto Roecker was born on the 24th of September in 1914. He spent his earliest school days at the Kaighn School in Camden, N. J. From there he went to the Fetters School, and next to the Camden Junior High.

Eddie's father had been a featured singer with the old and famous Dumont's Minstrels back in the halcyon days of that troupe; and by the time Ed started his junior-high work, Dad decided it was time for him to begin vocal exercises. There happened to be two major extracurricular activities in the youngster's life about then—sports and songs. So Papa had no difficulty persuading his son to start learning the p's and q's of sharps and flats. Ed studied voice in earnest, and there began a singing career that is rapidly reaching national recognition.

After mastering his studies at junior high, Ed was graduated and entered Camden High School. His stay there ran the usual round of studies, dates, and sports, with special attention to singing lessons. Upon graduation from high school he was offered a musical scholarship at Temple University.

FOLLOWING four years at Temple, Eddie worked a while in the Campbell Soup plant, then went to Camden's RCA-Victor Company. This association was to mean a great deal to him. His initial job with the firm was that of a test-man on the radio-set assembly line, but in a short time he had worked himself up to a much higher position. On the side he sang at entertainments which the employes put on. These brought his voice to the attention of several important officials of the company, including Advertising Manager Joyce and Musical Director O'Connell.

Under their encouragement Ed had an audition at station WCAU, and shortly afterwards he was singing there regularly. At this time the Reading Anthracite Coal Company, which had been airing a series over WCAU, decided to sponsor a contest to discover the most talented singer in Philadelphia. Edward entered, came through the trial tests with flying colors, and skipped in a winner at the finals.

The week after the contest decision, on Christmas eve, Ed appeared on the company's regular show as guest star, being paid $250 for his first sponsored program.

After a series of programs on WCAU he went on the WIP, then to WFIL. Next, upon a personal invitation from the late H. L. (Roxy) Rothafel, he joined the Roxy-Mastbaum Theater's stage show. When he made a hit there, Roxy invited him to join his radio cast, and Ed was featured on his first Coast-to-Coast series.

Following that he appeared for a while in vaudeville, then received a call to be a featured vocalist on the famous "Magic Key" programs, which the NBC-Blue network had been airing each Sunday at 2 p.m. under the banner of the Radio Corporation of America. Ed gave a performance that afternoon which was so outstanding that it brought him to the attention of the one and only Paul Whiteman!

Two weeks later Ed was guest star on Paul Whiteman's "Woodbury Soap" program, and once again distinguished himself. Directly after his appearance, Whiteman offered Eddie a five-year contract—which Roecker did not accept!

It was at this point in his career that Ed sang for the Studebaker dealers of Philadelphia. So well was he liked by this group that later on they presented him with one of his really prized possessions, a handsome new Studebaker car!

After he had made several more Coast-to-Coast guest appearances, Edward was offered a fifty-two-week singing contract to be a featured star of the Model Tobacco "Pick and Pat" program. On March 1, 1937, he started out on it, and to this day his appealing baritone voice is heard over that series.

If you had to use one word to describe Edward Roecker, you'd probably say that word was "wholesome." He's as clean-cut as they come, and thoroughly regular. When he was asked what he thought of the "Pick and Pat"

Watch out for this Eddie Roecker; he's singing himself into stardom cast, he said: "Those two guys are a pair of the swellest fellows I've ever had the pleasure to meet. Benny Krueger (the orchestra leader of the series), I'll never be able to thank enough for his perseverance and patience with me; and as for Frank McMann (show's producer)—well, he gambled by putting a comparatively unknown kid on his show, and I only hope I've not fallen down on him. He's been an inspiration to me, and I hope he knows I appreciate it more than I can say."

As Cap'n Henry might put it, "It's only the beginning." Several more nationally known sponsors are keeping their eye on this boy, and another year promises to find Edward Roecker up among the Kenny Bakers, the Frank Parkers, the Nelson Eddys.

DON'T listen to him on Monday nights at 8:30 p.m. EDT over CBS, or he'll sing his way right into your heart. Ask any one of his many fans.

Edward Roecker may be heard Monday on "Pick and Pat" over a CBS network at:
EDT 8:30 p.m. — EST 7:30 p.m.
CDT 7:30 p.m. — CST 6:30 p.m.
MST 8:30 p.m. — PST 7:30 p.m.

Man Can Now Talk With God

Says Noted Psychologist

"A new and revolutionary religious teaching based entirely on the misunderstood sayings of the Galilean Carpenter, and designed to show how we may find, understand and use the same identical power which Jesus used in performing His so-called Miracles," is attracting world-wide attention to its founder, Dr. Frank B. Robinson, noted Psychologist, author and lecturer.

"Psychiana," this new psychological religion, believes and teaches that it is today possible for every normal human being, understanding spiritual law as Christ understood it "to duplicate every work that the Carpenter of Galilee ever did"—it believes and teaches that when He said, "the things that I do shall ye do also." He meant what He said and meant it literally to all mankind, through all the ages.

Dr. Robinson has prepared a 6000 word treatise on "Psychiana," in which he tells about his long search for the Truth, how he finally came to the full realization of an Unseen Power or force "so dynamic in itself that all other powers and forces fade into insignificance beside it"—how he learned to commune directly with the Living God, using this mighty, never-failing power to demonstrate health, happiness and financial success, and how any normal being may find and use it as Jesus did. He is now offering this treatise free to every reader of this magazine who writes him.

If you want to read this "highly interesting, revolutionary and fascinating story of the discovery of a great Truth," just send your name and address to Dr. Frank B. Robinson, 403-5th Street, Moscow, Idaho. It will be sent free and postpaid without cost or obligation. Write the Doctor today.—Copyright, 1935, Dr. Frank B. Robinson.—Advertisement.

this way in a poem that her mother prizes very highly:

"My eyes are filled with wonder,
not fright,
At a terrible reality which faces us tonight.
Two men with pompous strides are trying to fool the world
With a pack of lies
Mussolini, with chest thrown out,
Would kick the world, though
The world has the goit;
and Hitler, with his air of
The great, says:
'I leave all countries who do not
Obey me to their fate.'
Goering, who walks beside him with lifted nose, is happy because he has
A new uniform in which to pose.
People are starving and crying,
And the rulers say they are trying to help them out of their plight,

But then the rulers take flight.
Hitler and Mussolini think
They are bullying us with lies,
but they never pay attention
To the poor man's cries.
My eyes are filled with wonder,
Not fright,
at a terrible reality that Faces us tonight."

Your mother must be proud of you, Harriet. And we all are proud of a country in which twelve-year-old children can write and say what's in their hearts. Let the skeptics mock us, Harriet. Let them say we are maudlin sentimentalists because we have "Mother's Day" and "Father's Day" and because our children write little jingles which often contain more truth and beauty than all the ponderous writings of diplomats and wise men who think they write rules for human behavior.
Don't change, Harriet, you've got something there.

Jessica Dragonette, once radio's queen, moved from fourth to first Nelson Eddy has been off the air over 3 months—but won anyway!

DRAGONETTE AND EDDY NAMED FINEST AMONG CLASSICAL SINGERS

EDDY REPEATS VICTORY; JESSICA DRAGONETTE WINS IN CLOSE VOTE

RESULTS in the sixth division of this year's Star of Stars Poll are a tribute to the tenacious loyalty of listeners.

In both the male and female divisions of the classical-singers poll, stars who have been off the air for considerable periods of time were swept to victory by fans who remembered well the entertainment once given them by the two popular stars.

Among the female classical singers, Jessica Dragonette, once elected queen of all radio by listeners themselves, was winner in what was surely the most thrilling election of the 1938 Star of Stars Poll. At some stages of the vote-tabulation it appeared certain that Anne Jamison, "Hollywood Hotel" singing star, would win, but late votes gave Miss Dragonette more than enough votes for victory. Last year she was fourth in her classification, topped by Grace Moore, Deanna Durbin and Lily Pons, who placed fifth, seventh and sixth, respectively, this year.

In the election of gentlemen of classical song, Nelson Eddy held his grasp on the title he won last year. In the 1937 election, too, he had been off the air several months before the voting closed—but won hands down! Last year Lanny Ross gave Eddy a stiff fight for the honor, and this year again he placed second, but this time Eddy had almost exactly twice as many votes as Ross could muster.

The poll, whose results are announced this week, serves as a stiff rebuke to sponsors who have failed to keep these stars on the air. Lovers of Nelson Eddy's glorious songs are without doubt the most fervid in radio, and Miss Dragonette's followers will never forget the charm she brought her concerts. Listeners have taken a most effective means to register their interest in stars who must surely be brought back to radio.

Results in each division of the poll are announced weekly in RADIO GUIDE. This week ballots will be cast for the best studio and sports announcers. The ballot for this poll is on the inside front cover of this issue. To make your opinions count with those who dictate radio's future, read the instructions on that page, fill in the ballot, and mail it before midnight, Saturday, May 14. Results are assured—those who win these polls will come again to loudspeakers to entertain, amuse and educate those who have voted for them. Be sure your favorites are among them!

Help them keep their top positions by filling in and mailing the ballot on the inside front cover of this issue—today!

Turn to the inside front cover for the announcers' ballot!

Radio's No Crime School

Broadcasters, it turns out, are not heels, after all. They are not corrupters of youth. They are not leading boys and girls into profligate or criminal lives, as we have been asked to believe by sundry women's clubs which have laid aside their tating from time to time to joust with the windmills of radio.

We owe this gratifying knowledge to the New Jersey Juvenile Delinquency Commission, which recently asked 1,500 boys why they went wrong. The result:

Influence of older boys . . .	535
Influence of boys the same age	404
Movies	262
Newspapers	161
Radio programs	75

Read these figures again, you mothers who feel a vernal urge to crusade against radio. Read them and thank your stars that the one source of entertainment and information which is available to your child at no cost and at any time is the least dangerous of the influences in his life.

Room for Both

Evidence of the growing feud between publishers and broadcasters came out of the recent convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association when J. M. Bunting, general manager of the Bloomington (Ill.) Daily Pantagraph, complained that newspapers, by printing radio programs and publicity, were helping radio to take away millions of dollars in advertising and urged that free publicity be discontinued.

We think a clearer view of the situation was taken by M. H. Aylesworth, publisher of the New York World-Telegram and former president of the National Broadcasting Co., and by Frank E. Tripp, general manager of the Gannett papers. Aylesworth said he regarded radio as a complimentary medium and as neither a menace nor dangerous competition to newspapers. Tripp declared that as to business lost to radio by the newspapers, it was up to the newspapers to develop new ideas that would appeal to a generation of advertising buyers who have been reared "in an era of radio, showmanship, big magazine circulations, color advertising and million-dollar contests."

There is food for thought there. Our own view is that we need both the newspaper and the radio in America, that there is plenty of room for both, and that under the spur of competition both will be improved. The newspaper and the radio have useful functions in modern society, and there is no reason why they should not exist together.

A Balanced Diet

It is our job to listen to the radio regularly. We must take the good with the bad and make the best of it. We don't like a certain daytime serial and we think the singer on a certain big-time Sunday night show is far below standard. But that is merely our personal taste. We seem to be in the minority.

But there is one listening condiradio diet prepared on a more systematic schedule.

Regardless of your opinion of the midnight horror-drama, "Lights Out," it does give us some late-at-night variety. But that's hardly enough. Frankly, we miss the music of Chandor's violin, the organ recitals of Jesse Crawford, the melodies of the Poet Prince, even the nearly forgotten NBC Slumber Hour.

Summer will soon be upon us, and more and more big commercial programs will take vacations. That vacant time must be filled with sustaining shows built and produced by the networks. As long as new shows must be built, why not use the summer as the season of experiments? Why not try some of those experiments at night after the paid-for shows are off the air? Give a few of the bands a rest. And give the listeners a balanced diet.

Moonlight Neurosis

The influence of the moon on young love and the tides is well

tion which has us irked. In that we are not alone, as our letter-writing readers have indicated. We have reference to the fact that on most nights there is nothing but a parade of jazz and swing from 10:30 o'clock until far past midnight.

We like popular music. We also like raw carrots, but that doesn't cause us to gnaw at the vegetable for hours every day. We like our food menu to be well balanced. We like our work and recreation to be well planned. We'd also like our known, but now we have evidence of a previously unrecognized attribute of this nearest of our stellar sisters—its effect on telephone conversations.

CBS switchboard operators in New York report that calls from listeners reach their peak during the period of the full moon. "People just seem to want to talk to someone," says a veteran hello girl, explaining the phenomenon.

The whole thing seems to be just a kind of moonomania.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

HISTORY LESSON

RADIO GUIDE: "Re: RADIO GUIDE, week ending April 30, page 28, 6 p.m. CST: Where is your history? Does it teach that Spain declared war on the United States in 1898? Remember the Maine? Whose ship was that? Spain's? No! I thought RADIO GUIDE was authentic."—A READER, Oshkosh, Wis.

Authentic RADIO GUIDE reported a CBS program April 24 thus: "Alfred J. Kennedy, commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, speaks on the fortieth anniversary of Spain's declaration of war against the U. S. in 1898." Says history: ". . . On the 20th of April (1898) President McKinley approved a resolution demanding the withdrawal of Spain from Cuba and setting noon of the 23rd of April as the latest date for a reply to the demand. Before this could be delivered by the American minister in Madrid, the Spanish government sent him his passports. On the 22nd the President declared a blockade of Cuban ports; on the 24th the Spanish government declared war, and on the 25th the United States declared that war had existed since the 21st . . ."—Ed.

POLICIES

RADIO GUIDE: ". . . Under the heading 'So You Like Contests?' reference is made to a publication misnamed The American Freeman, and edited by one E. Haldeman Julius. This publication lauds the Soviet form of government, scoffs at the idea of a Supreme Being, makes—to put it mildly—objectionable reference to ministers of all religions . . . and is altogether the most un-American thing I have had the misfortune to come across in many years . . ."

"May I ask if you endorse the policies of The American Freeman, or, by the editor's reference in 'So You Like Contests?' suggest that your readers might be conversant with such a publication?"—MRS. HAROLD W. POTTER, Newport News, Va.

Apparently at least one RADIO GUIDE reader is far more conversant with The American Freeman than are this publication's editors, whose passing reference to the magazine had no connection with what Reader Potter says are its editorial policies, and certainly did not suggest any sympathy with them.—Ed.

LIGHTER BLACK

VOL: "A good many of my friends, knowing I'm an ardent Eddy fan, have told me not to buy RADIO GUIDE, as the 'mag' was very hostile to the popular baritone. I was therefore surprised and delighted to find this item in the April 2 issue: 'Fans everywhere will cheer the opportunity to hear the glorious voice of the truly great Nelson Eddy on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour.'"

"Thanks for them kind words, RADIO GUIDE! I guess you're not so black, after all!"—A. H. PAYNE, San Angelo, Tex.

For fresher news of radio's most popular male singer of classical songs, see page 15. No discriminator against he whose fans speak their minds, RADIO GUIDE publishes that news with pleasure.—Ed.

MOTHER

Sunday is Mother's Day, and radio brings to the air many programs to honor those magnificent women who give to man the qualities that make him great. Typical is Mrs. Charles L. Blaine, the understanding mother of Joan Blaine, one of radio's own—the star of "Valiant Lady," a show-titile which can well fit her mother

—Gene Lester

HE MAKES COLD-CREAM OUT OF STRAWBERRIES

TRUMAN BRADLEY, announcer for the Ford Sunday Evening Hour for the past five years, is "Mme. Huntingford" to thousands of women who never suspect his identity.

Bradley was born in Sheldon, Mo., in 1905, studied law at Kansas City School of Law. When money gave out he became a Kansas City salesman, later went to Hollywood to work in his sister's publishing office. There he met Goodman Ace, of radio's "Easy Aces," whom he had known in Kansas City, and became stage-struck. After a few weeks in a stock company he became an announcer on a local station. Harry von Zell, announcing on the West Coast, left for New York and persuaded Bradley to follow him. The latter became a CBS staff announcer in New York in 1929, moved to Chicago in 1932, still lives there.

In Chicago, Bradley was the original "Brad" in "Easy Aces," played in serials, announced special-events broadcasts such as that covering the Chicago stockyards fire in 1934. He commutes by plane to Detroit for the Ford Hour, has flown 60,000 miles to make these broadcasts.

Named by Chicago stylists one of the city's ten best-dressed men for the last two years, Bradley was called radio's most eligible bachelor until he married less than a year ago. Now divorced, he is being screen-tested by M-G-M as a "romantic type."

With his sister Elene he purchased all the stock in Mme. Huntingford, Inc., 42-year-old cosmetics manufacturing company, in August, 1937. They now operate it together, making thirty cosmetics, including many face creams.

Photos by Drucker

On the air Bradley announces the Ford Sunday Evening Hour at 9 p.m. EDT on CBS, has been an actor, commentator. Knowing entertainers' careers are short, he has bought a cosmetics company for future income, makes creams such as Rose Petal Foundation, which includes strawberries

2 No cosmetics expert, Bradley watches Dick Bagley, head chemist, preparing foundation cream. First steps: Plucking stems, grinding berries, filtering. Liquid in jar is from a quart of berries. All work is done by hand

3 Bagley uses juice from 1 gallon of berries in each 16-lb. batch of cream. Above: Mixing petrolatum (petroleum jelly), lanoline (animal fat), mineral oil and olive oil as base for the cream. He uses no water in any creams

4 Strawberry juice makes cream thicker because of action on petrolatum; it is used as a gentle skin bleach. Lanoline makes cream penetrate pores and olive oil soothes the skin. Above: Oils make the juice work into cream slowly

5 Some cosmetics are poured in jars hot, allowed to harden in them. Phil Grey puts Bradley's foundation cream in jars by hand with a spatula to lighten texture, consistency. The method is old-fashioned but worthwhile

6 Elene Bradley (right) has been in cosmetics business nine years, first interested Truman, her brother, in it. Truman handles advertising, production; she directs sales. Above: Elene with Irene Truelick, her secretary

7 Bradley recently moved his company to new quarters at 600 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago. When friends come to see face-creams made they leave loaded with samples. Above: Demonstration for Actress Dolores Gillen

FAME AND FORTUNE GONE: BUT FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN IS HAPPY

Francis X. Bushman is widely known as a breeder of fine dogs, an authority on Great Danes. He once had the world's largest kennel, where he had 300 Great Danes alone. Here he grooms a fine specimen for show. Left, trimming and cleaning nails. Above, brushing coat, a cloth mitt is used

THERE was a day when the name Francis X. Bushman meant a huge salary, overflowing box-office tills and fluttering hearts. Those were the silent-movie days when this skilled actor was the matinee idol of a nation. Then came trouble. The idol divorced his wife, married his leading lady, and the resulting publicity pulled him down the ladder of fame. A come-back in "Ben Hur" brought Bushman much less good than it did the producers. In the dark days that followed he is said to have lost some eight million dollars.

Then he went to Chicago, where he tried radio by doing bit-parts on local stations. Came network shows, and Bushman had a part in nearly every program originating in that city.

Today, Francis X. Bushman plays the role of John Fairchild in "Stepmother" on CBS. With this work, and his hobby of working with fine dogs, he finds happiness.

Photographs by Drucker

Trimming is important to a dog's appearance. Mr. Bushman trims Nevalus' chin whiskers with a good grade of barber scissors costing $3.50. The dog belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Knott, of Lake Forest, Illinois

Grooming of the Knott dogs was in preparation for the International Kennel Club competition, held last month in Chicago, at which Bushman made the prize presentations. Bushman's experience makes his work excellent

Last move in grooming is a careful check-up of a dog's mouth and teeth. Teeth must be in good condition, all tartar removed (with dentists' tools), gums healthy

The groomed dogs stand ready for judging. In dog parlance, Great Danes are considered as working dogs; English setters as sporting dogs; beagles as hounds; Boston terriers as non-sporting animals; Pekingese as "toys." Bushman has shown more than 1,500 dogs, judged many

SHE'S NO COWARD

FANNIE BRICE'S LIFE HAS BEEN FILLED WITH HEARTACHES, YET SHE HAS THE COURAGE TO ASSUME ONE OF THE SILLIEST ROLES IN ALL RADIO TO MAKE A WORRIED WORLD LAUGH

As "Baby Snooks" on the "Good News of 1938" program over NBC-Red Thursdays at 9 p.m. EDT, Fannie Brice must forget dignity, heartbreak, any personal feelings—must, instead, play role of a silly child. Sometimes it may be trying work, but with an aim—for it makes a harried world laugh

Those laughs sell coffee for her sponsor, draw people into theaters, make money for Fannie. Acting her role, Fannie is shown here playing tricks on her radio daddy

For her microphone laughs, Fannie must do such things as cut a swing rope with Daddy's new razor. Daddy's role is played by Hanley Stafford

To carry out the role means many awkward poses. Before printing this picture, Radio Guide, in deference to Miss Brice, painted more length to her dress

"Don't look now, Daddy, but I think something fell," says Baby Snooks, and folk from Coast to Coast burst into hearty laughter

"This," babbles the child, "is Daddy's favorite chair. Won't he be glad when he finds out I've fixed it for him!" Such are the lines prepared for her to read

But Daddy was unhappy about it, as Baby Snooks soon learned. This, remember, from a woman who is the mother of grown children Script-writers reason that if Baby Snooks doesn't like her oatmeal and gleefully breaks her bowl to show it—people will laugh. And they do!

LAST month Fannie Brice made a hurried trip to New York to contest a $34,000 suit brought by a booking agent. She won the suit, but during the proceedings she was served with subpoenas for yet another action. Last year Fannie Brice suffered the intense humiliation that must come to any woman whose husband renounces her affections for those of another when Billy Rose announced his intention of obtaining a divorce from Fannie, marrying Swimming Champion Eleanor Holm Jarrett. The divorce proceedings will be instituted shortly. In 1927, after sticking with him through a maze of troubles that included a five-year jail sentence, Fannie divorced Nick Arnstein, Broadway figure whom she had married in 1918. Trouble is nothing new to Fannie Brice. But she keeps on laughing—and the world laughs with her.

Exclusive Photographs by Gene Lester and M-G-M

Knowing men who shave with straight-edge razors rage at interference, Fannie's radio and movie bosses immediately have her do that very thing with gusto

Hanley Stafford, who plays Daddy to Baby Snooks, is a veteran of stage and screen. His work with Miss Brice started in 1921, when they did their baby act on Broadway. His radio work has included Thatcher Colt series, NBC's Shakespeare dramas, master-of-ceremonying Senator Fishface's show

WHAT'S BECOME OF —

After the sudden death of John Mills, Jr., the Mills Brothers added their father to the troupe, went to Europe and literally "mopped up." Ending a Paris engagement March 25, they came to America for stage appearances

—Gus Gale
Ed Wynn made radio fame as the Fire Chief, next became "Gulliver the Traveler," then did a series for a cigarette-maker. He won't return to air until he gets a brand-new idea. Now he's in Broadway's "Hooray for What"

Irving Kaufman, better known as Lazy Dan, song-and-patter man, has been absent nearly two years, but keeps busy making phonograph records. He recently moved from New Rochelle, a suburb, into New York to be near studios

—Jack Albin
Jack Pearl rode high as the Baron Muenchausen, fell, came back. Then he tried a serious role in a Broadway play, which flopped. Recently he went to Hollywood, where, it is rumored, he was dickering with movies and radio

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections No MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequencies and short wave channels. ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wire. NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED On the market five years, 100,000 customers in U.S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radios for double aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios. 5 DAYS TRIAL Mail coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question. F & H Radio Laboratories, Dept. 88, Fargo, N. Dak. Send F & H Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check here if sending $1 with order—this saving postage cost—same refund guaranteed. Check here if interested in dealer's proposition. NAME ADDRESS CITY STATE

(sw-11.87)

The summer concerts of the Toronto Promenade Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Reginald Stewart, will be heard in the United States for the first time this year. The broadcasts will be an international exchange feature from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, enabling the largest radio audience of the continent to hear the performances of this new musical organization throughout its fifth season. The orchestra is made up of 100 musicians, representing the best professional talent in Canada. The concerts were started experimentally in 1934 in the tradition of the great Prom Concerts established at Queen's Hall, London, by Sir Henry Wood.

QUIVERING nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.
Don't let yourself "go" like that. Start taking a good, reliable tonic, made especially for women. And could you ask for any whose benefits have been better proved than the famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?
Let the wholesome herbs and roots of Pinkham's Compound help Nature tone up your system, and thus calm shrieking nerves, help lessen distress from female functional disorders and give you more strength.
For over 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Pinkham's Compound. Why not let it HELP YOU?

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

OLD BOOKS WANTED

We pay big cash prices for thousands of different titles. We bought over 7,500 books in past twenty-one months, paying as high as $500 for a single book. For example, we will pay you cash for the following books as described in our price list:

Fanshawe	500.00
Adventures of Tom Sawyer	200.00
Old Swimm' Hole	75.00
Black Beauty	100.00
Treasure Island	50.00
Scarlet Letter	35.00
Leaves of Grass	250.00
Science and Health	35.00
Snow-Bound	45.00
Uncle Tom's Cabin	100.00
Ben Hur	50.00
Last of the Mohicans	50.00
Moby Dick	100.00
Little Women	25.00
Evangeline	35.00
McGuffey Primer	100.00

These are but a few of the many thousands of books we want. DON'T SEND BOOKS until you have checked our latest list giving full information. Don't delay—a single old school book, story book, Bible, poetry, history, travel, almanac, newspaper, letter, autograph, may bring you $25, $50, $100, $500 or even $5,000 cash for certain books. Better investigate NOW. Send 10c to the American Book Mart, 140 S. Dearborn St., Dept. 6901 Chicago, and we will send you latest list of old books we want to buy and cash prices we will pay.

3:45 CST NBC-Preakness Stakes: WMAQ WHO WIBA WTMJ KSD (sw-9.53) America's most valuable horse race of the year for three-year-olds—the historic Preakness Stakes—will be described from the Pimlico track at Baltimore by Clem McCarthy. All the crack three-year-olds in the country that are eligible will be entered in the race, which, under the direction of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, has become a particularly outstanding event within the last few years. The Preakness was first run in 1873. It is the most important of the races conducted by the Maryland Jockey Club, an organization that dates back to the early life of the nation.

End of Saturday Programs

So You Like Contests?

Mrs. Jean Anderson, of Decatur, Ill., $500 winner in the Radio Guide contest, with her two sons COMES now the final instalment of the season for this department. The news-hopper is filled to the brim:

The third annual National Contest Popularity Poll conducted by Contest World has been tabulated. The following types of contests were selected as most popular: Statement (2,451 votes); slogan (1,805); limerick-jingle (1,672); "naming" contests (963); letter (894), and picture titles (664) . . . Contestants voted four to one for contests with a wider distribution of prize money among small winners . . . They voted for longer contests . . . Voters were asked whether they are now using products introduced to them by contests, and 3,040 said "Yes," while only seventy-six said they were not. Naming these products, those who voted affirmatively put these at the top of the list: Oxydol, Ivory, Camay, Crisco, Admiracion Shampoo, Gold Medal Flour, Pebeco. The first four, of course, are Procter and Gamble products, and nobody must be told that Procter and Gamble sponsors more contests than any other company in America.

The Chicago Evening American's "Funny Film Faces" contest offered 201 prizes, but 207 were paid, because of ties . . . Top winners were Mae Tiebel, Cicero, Ill., Walter F. Lasky, Roy Lang and Lucille Burr, of Chicago . . . In the Chicago Tribune's first "Paging the Movie Stars" contest, the $1,000 first prize went to Harriet Kern, Galena, Ill., Elsie Harzheim, Chicago, won $500, and Mrs. Verne C. Lewellen, Green Bay, Wis., won $250.

CONTESTANTS berate sponsors and they deplore tactics of contestants, but there is a situation right in contesting that deserves at least as much censure. A small-time western "expert" sells a bulletin "service," more than half of which is mere fluffery for more things which he sells his readers. This is not on a par with advertising in a publication, in our opinion, for at the price at which the bulletin is sold it should be considered a more personalized service . . . A recent issue of Department Store Economist chronicles a contest in which six babies were offered as prizes to qualified parents! We're convinced now—there's no limit to contest wonders!

The last time we marveled at the extent of contesting was in our April 9 issue, in which we evinced some surprise that a church had advertised a contest. In the April 15 issue of Contest News, Gilson Willets set us straight in interesting fashion: "Religious contests are nothing new. The first contests were conducted more than a thousand years before Christ walked on earth. They were sponsored by religious groups. Today conditions have not changed. Today the commercial contests are more widely advertised than the religious contests and hence we hear more about them . . . In the first column of National Contest News appeared, among other items, an offer by the Lutheran churches, through the American Lutheran, of a forty-seven-day all-expense trip to Europe for the best 'Soul-Saving Slogan' submitted by April 15, 1829!"

Some weeks ago we condemned an organization which sells complete entries to simple contestants who don't realize that if the entries were good enough to win they would not be sold for two or three dollars. Here's a letter one of our readers sent to the contest "service": "Contesting is my hobby; it plays an important role in my life. Anything done to hurt it, whether intentional or innocent, hurts me. Your offer to sell solutions and statements will cheapen and cripple contesting. I'm no fool, and I'm not buying your entries, but thousands of others not so well posted will. Their entries will all sound alike and sponsors will become disgusted . . . I'm against you—teeth and toe-nails!"

MRS. DELPHIN DALE, P. O. Box 334, Los Gatos, Calif., won the $100 prize in the "Epic of America" contest on the Mutual network. Second prize of $50 and a silver plaque went to John Collins, 7751 Luella Ave., Chicago, Ill. He is thirteen years old.

Gilson Willets will announce his 1938 all-American Contestars very soon. Each year his selections recognize the outstanding big winners—on the basis of consistency, especially—in this fashion. Questionnaires filled out by those nominated for the honor constitute a survey of contesting almost as inclusive as that conducted by Contest World, as summarized in this column. Nominees answer the same sort of questions. Last year in selecting the publication, exclusive of contest journals, which they found of most value, the nominees gave RADIO GUIDE a majority, with the Saturday Evening Post second and Readers' Digest third.

Too many people seem to think that unless they study in a contest correspondence school they don't have a chance to win. This is absolutely untrue, and the teachers themselves would be the first to deny such a situation. Most of the contest correspondence schools are very helpful, especially for people who intend to give real attention to their entries. They are not essential; they are helpful.

RADIO GUIDE stands corrected, in this fashion, by an earnest reader, Fred B. Mann, of Danville, Ill.: "In reference to the Ivory Soap winning entry criticized by Mr. Wilmer Shepherd in your issue of April 2: I admire Mr. Shepherd and his work; I admire your column, I admire the winning Ivory Soap entry which was given. But I consider that Mr. Shepherd and you misuse the word 'clever' in all your advice about Procter and Gamble contests. When you both say, as you continually do, that entries in those contests should never be clever, I believe that you mean that the entries should never be 'wisecracky.' Take the sample which was given—'Mother, always wash my clothes with Ivory Soap, etc.' That was a dandy entry, but it was a dandy because it was clever. It was clever because, although small daughters never say such things, the writer of the entry wrote it so well, gave it such an air of sincerity, that the judges actually believed that one small daughter had actually said it . . . You gentlemen who give advice to testers, and very good advice it is, generally, should not be so careless with that word 'clever.'" We don't know about Mr. Shepherd, but as for us, we accept the admonition and the correction. We hadn't meant to give the impression we obviously have.

ufacturers could be expected to turn to contests to boost their lagging sales. They certainly have, as demonstrated by contests announced here in recent weeks. Here are two more:

Five Nash sedans, valued at from $880 to $1,230, will be given away by that manufacturer for statements of fifty words or less telling "How I can save money by trading my old car now." Only persons who own 1934, 1935, 1936 or 1937 cars can enter, and the motor number of the entrant's car must be registered. Get an entry-blank—and valuable winning hints—from your dealer. Entries must be mailed to "Contest Judges, Nash Motors Division," 14250 Plymouth Road, Detroit, Mich., before midnight, May 20. The dealer must countersign the blank.

Six Chevrolet master de luxe cars are prizes in a picture-puzzle contest now running. Contestants identify objects whose names begin with "c," in a drawing which is part of the official entry blank. A twenty-five-word statement must also be submitted. Entries must be countersigned by the Chevrolet salesman, and mailed before June 1 to Chevrolet Contest, 420 W. Milwaukee Ave., Detroit, Mich. Words listed incorrectly will be subtracted from the total number of correct words.

THE summer sees many commercially sponsored programs leave the air. With those programs go many of the contests whose news has made up this column. Other contest sponsors not connected with radio seem to take a summer layoff, too—and contestants themselves seem more interested in the attractions of the outdoors than in the lures of contesting. Because of this mutual disinclination to do much about contests when nature is at her best, the editors of RADIO GUIDE have decided to let this department take a summer leave of absence. Contests will carry on into and through the summer, to be sure, but our prediction is that 1938 will bring the biggest boom contesting has ever seen along about the time when leaves begin to fall and the good citizenry turns indoors for its sport. When that time comes, let's hope this department will find again as wonderful an audience as it has during the past contest season. Till then, the best of luck!
