RADIO GUIDE'S ANNUAL STAR OF STARS POLL

THIS WEEK—MOST POPULAR HUMAN-INTEREST SHOW

STYLES in radio, as in everything else, are constantly changing, fluctuating with public taste and inclinations. The program that won highest honors yesterday might find a very small listening audience indeed today. But the never-ending variety of American radio is one of the things that makes it the world's best! New stars, new ideas, new types of programs are being offered almost daily to the American listening audience—and that's all to the good.

One of the newest and most compelling of the new program ideas in radio is the "human-interest" show—the program typified by "Professor Quiz," "Your Neighbor," "We, the People," and all the other programs that have brought to the airways the spontaneity, the freshness, of unrehearsed lines spoken by the average man and the average woman. Technically called "audience-participation programs," we think the plain phrase "human-interest programs" fits much better. For that is exactly what they are, essentially, and above all else: programs designed to make use of the innate talents that are undoubtedly present, in greater or less degree, in all of us.

This year, for the first time in the five years during which it has conducted the Star of Stars polls, Radio Guide offers a separate classification for the human-interest program. This week, radio listeners from Coast to Coast will name the top-ranking human-interest program by filling in and mailing the ballot printed above. The ballot must be in the mails by midnight of Saturday, June 4.

The Fifth Annual Star of Stars Election is being conducted on an entirely new basis. Voting is limited to one division each week, and the winners in the various classifications are announced each week.

In the just-finished poll on announcers, Don Wilson, genial guiding light of the Jack Benny program, has once more been named king of studio announcers, and Ted Husing leads the sports classification, as he did in 1937. Complete listings of the results in the announcers poll may be found on the inside back cover of this issue of Radio Guide.

But this week America votes on the human-interest program! Your vote is important. Fill out and mail the coupon above at once—don't wait until just before midnight on Saturday. That may be too late! And if you are one of the millions of Americans who have come thoroughly to enjoy the human-interest program, you owe it to yourself, and to the sponsors and stars of your favorite program, to vote, and to do it today!

Next week the climax of the eleven weeks of voting will be reached! Next week Radio Guide publishes the last—and most important—of all the ballots: the Star of Stars Ballot! Results of the voting in this final classification will determine, indisputably, the greatest radio star of the year 1938. Will Jack Benny, already chosen the leading comedian of 1938, once more be named Star of Stars? Benny has won the coveted title three times in succession: in 1935, '36, '37. He may repeat. Loyal Jack Benny fans all over the country will cheerfully bet that he does just that.

Time—and your votes in the Star of Stars poll—will tell!

THIS WEEK

PREVIEWS OF SOME OF THE BETTER REGULAR AND SPECIAL BROADCASTS TO BE PRESENTED THIS WEEK

Popular request returns "Girl Alone," starring Betty Winkler, to the air. Tune in NBC Monday, at 4:45 p.m. EDT for first show of the new series

SUNDAY, MAY 29

Commander A. B. Campbell . . . from London
"Europe Calling"—CBS, 1:30 p.m. EDT.

Commander Campbell was senior naval reserve officer of the Otranto when the ship, conveying troop-ships and carrying one thousand American soldiers, was rammed and sank. Listeners will hear him describe "The Last Voyage of the Otranto."

Helen Jepson . . . for Ford

Sunday Evening Hour—CBS, 9 p.m. EDT.

Helen Jepson came all the way from Titusville, Pennsylvania, to capture Metropolitan Opera goers with her lovely soprano voice. Sunday listeners will hear her singing the songs that she has made famous as an operatic and concert-stage star.

For program details, see page 9.

Max Baer of fisticuff and movie fame will be on "The Monday Night Show," heard over CBS at 8 p.m. EDT (For the West, 8 p.m. PST)

MONDAY, MAY 30

Daredevils' holiday . . . at Indianapolis

500-Mile Classic—
MBS, 11:45 a.m.; NBC, 12 noon EDT.

What strange fate awaits the daredevil drivers in the Indianapolis classic this Memorial Day? Will death again ride with them, or will he take a holiday? Let your loudspeaker bring this exciting event to you from start to finish.

For a complete story, see page 6.

Memorial Day . . . from Gettysburg

In Memoriam—NBC, 3:30 p.m. EDT.

Listeners will hear an address by Arthur H. Vandenburg of Michigan; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address read by Hon. W. C. Sheely, presiding judge of the Courts of Adam County; Invocation by Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College.

For program details, see page 14.

War Admiral vs. Seabiscuit

Race of the Century—CBS, 4 p.m. EDT.

All America will be listening when the world's two wonder horses go to the post to decide a question that has become a national issue. Easterners are betting on War Admiral, westerners on Seabiscuit. In any event, don't miss this race.

For a complete story, see page 4.

Betty Winkler . . . returns

"Girl Alone"—NBC, 4:45 p.m. EDT.

"Girl Alone" may have lost its sponsor, but not its following. Absent from the airwaves for about a month, this popular series is returning as a sustaining feature Monday. Fans will hear the same show, the same cast and the same star.

Max Baer . . . guest star

"Monday Night Show"—
CBS, 8 p.m. EDT (For the West, 8 p.m. PST).

One-time heavyweight champ of the world, Max Baer is still a threat so far as fighting-men go. Will he, can he, come back is still a question in many followers' minds. Perhaps Max will tell his opinion when he makes his guest appearance Monday night.

TUESDAY, MAY 31

School-children . . . in spelling bee

National Spelling Match—CBS, 2 p.m. EDT.

Take a lesson in orthography. Listen to the finals of the 31st National Spelling Bee for elementary and junior school-children of the East and Middle West. Champions in the finals will be heard from Washington, and will compete for a $500 prize.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1

English Derby . . . at Epsom Downs

Racing Classic—NBC and MBS, 9:50 a.m. EDT.

This is a race that all the world awaits. Rich in tradition, the English Derby has been run since 1780 at Epsom Downs. Stationed at vantage points on the course, English announcers will bring American listeners graphic accounts of the race.

Jack Knight . . . air ace

"It Can Be Done"—CBS, 10:30 p.m. EDT.

Jack Knight of United Airlines has flown more miles than any other man in the entire world, and is holder of countless air records. Wednesday night listeners will hear Ace Knight tell about the fears and fun of America's flying-men.

Scoop . . . horror drama

"Lights Out"—NBC, 12:30 a.m. EDT.

If you aren't a murder-loving fan, then don't listen to this spine-tickling novelty, for it's a newspaper story to end all newspaper stories. One of the choice items to make the horror fans gasp will be a newspaper sheet printed on human skin.

THURSDAY, JUNE 2

George E. Bigge . . . social security

"American Viewpoints"—CBS, 7:45 p.m. EDT.

The third in a series of weekly talks about our social-security program brings George E. Bigge, member of the Social Security Board, before the microphone in a talk on "Federal-State Partnership in Unemployment Insurance."

SATURDAY, JUNE 4

Bryan Field . . . at Belmont

Belmont Stakes—CBS, 4:15 p.m. EDT.

The Belmont Stakes, generally regarded as the most important race of the Belmont season, carrying a $25,000 added purse, will be aired exclusively by the Columbia Broadcasting System. Bryan Field, ace sports broadcaster, will describe the race.

MILLIONAIRE'S TOY

BY JAMES STREET

"HETTY GREEN is dead!" The city editor of a New York newspaper took the report over his telephone and glanced over his rewrite battery for a first-class writing-man.

"Hey!" He motioned to one of his stars. "Did you ever read Grimms' Fairy Tales? Well, Hetty Green is dead. That's a yarn that would make the Grimm Brothers' mouths water. Give it the needle. Pep it up. Go to town with it. Write your heart out."

The rewrite man primed his typewriter and wrote the strange story of Hetty, the woman who lived in rags and squalor, the matriarch who pinched pennies until the image of Lincoln was misshapen, the widow who carried a fortune in the hems of her dirty petticoats, the mother Midas who left $100,000,000 to her two children—$50,000,000 to her daughter and $50,000,000 to her son, Edward Howland Robinson Green, the cripple.

One hundred million dollars! She could have financed the Revolutionary War!

She never had any fun in her life. She never laughed and played. She wailed and gnashed her teeth when she had to spend a few pennies to keep her old bones together. She drove hard bargains, gave no quarter and asked none. Folks snarled at her when they passed her on the street.

Her life was one of those incredible stories that even the Grimms wouldn't have believed. The history of Hetty is finished, thank goodness. She didn't matter much, the world doesn't miss her, and she couldn't take any of it with her.

And for Hetty—requiescat in pace I hope the streets over there really are paved with gold, for gold was the only thing that could make her happy.

But this is the saga of her son, Uncle Ned Green, the cripple, whose life was as incredible as his mother's, who tried to undo all she had done, who threw money to the winds and who tried to make people happy through the magic of radio.

The wise men called him a sap, the miserly called him a wastrel, his mother's spirit must have shuddered at his follies, but a heap of poor people loved him, for he gave them radio in an era when radio was new. He built his own station—he invited folks to come and hear, he gave them music and fun with a millionaire's toy—bunches of tubes and miles of wires. Some rich men love yachts, some love art they do not understand, some buy the old masters and let the pictures catch dust, some do good—some do nothing, but Uncle Ned loved radio.

His history is finished, too. Most men say he didn't matter much. But for Uncle Ned, requiescat in pace. I hope they have radios over there and folks who laugh for that would make him happy.

Edward Howland Robinson Green was Hetty's pride and joy. She taught him what she thought was the most important thing in the world—the value of money. She gave him a small allowance and made him account for every penny. Every time he bought a lollipop he had to tell her. He had to see his mama almost every night, or he wouldn't get any money at all.

"Don't spend—never give anything away!" It was pounded into his brain.

He was in his teens when he suffered a leg injury while coasting and at twenty-one his leg was amputated. He grew to manhood, but his life was never his own. Hetty still guarded the purse-strings. Then in 1916 she died. Uncle Ned was forty-eight, a cripple. He had never had much fun, but now he had $50,000,000.

What irony! A middle-aged man who had counted pennies all his life suddenly receives fifty million smackers! Look out, Brothers Grimm—your fairy-tales are just harmless little bedtime stories; truth always is more cock-eyed than fiction.

Uncle Ned decided to have some fun. He rebelled against his training. He was more than six feet tall and weighed 250 pounds, and he set out to do what Brewster couldn't do—blow that dough!

He bought 250 acres at South Dartmouth, Massachusetts, cleared and landscaped the estate and built a little forty-five-room house. That was a pretty good start, so he built a mile-and-a-half seawall.

HE HAPPENED one day to clasp two earphones over his head and hear radio for the first time. That was back in the days when you bragged about getting a station twenty miles away. Uncle Ned was intrigued. Here, indeed, was a novelty! He bought new models by the dozens. He stuck earphones everywhere, and called his friends to listen. They called them radio bugs in those days, and Uncle Ned was so enthusiastic that he talked nothing but radio in the few hours he had between times to clip coupons and count dividends.

His artificial leg made it difficult for him to get around, so he had a small electric automobile made to order. He could run it himself. He used it around the estate.

On a shelf in the car, he had a radio with a loop antenna built. It probably was the first automobile radio in Massachusetts, and maybe one of the first in the world.

AT ALL hours of the day or night, Uncle Ned could be seen dashing around his estate in his car with earphones clasped over his head. He seldom took them off.

In 1923 he decided he wanted to broadcast his own programs, then he could get what he wanted while he dashed here and yonder. He wanted to out-do the big stations. It was a swell idea. If he wanted a jazz song, all he would have to do would be to call his own station and demand jazz, and he could clap on his earphones and get what he ordered.

He didn't ask the prices—he just said do it! Engineers flocked to his estate. Architects were called.

He told them he wanted a radio broadcasting station—the best.

About 100 yards from his big house, he had a stucco building erected and two 148-foot steel towers. The very latest in sending and receiving apparatus was installed, with full-control panel, a model studio, reception room, smoking-room for men and a powder-and-paint room for women.

He dressed the reception room up as becomes a multi-millionaire. There were ankle-deep rugs, fine paintings and elegant furniture. The lighting fixtures were oxidized silver and the huge fireplace really worked. The powder-and-paint room was furnished in antique walnut, upholstered to match the drapings in "Rose DuBarry effect." The reception, smoking and paint rooms set him back a mere $8,000.

The broadcasting studio was designed to get the best acoustic properties with no overtones or echoes.

Col. E. H. R. Green . . . Hetty's son. scendthrift, benefactor of the poor

Everything that reflects sound was eliminated. The rug was sound-proof and cost $999.94. Aw, make it an even thousand—don't let's quibble; it's not our money, it's old Hetty Green's!

The walls were hung with blue damask curtains and the specifications called for French damask. But there wasn't enough French damask in the country to satisfy the demand, so Uncle Ned told the decorators to get enough.

The decorators had the stuff specially woven at a cost of $10 a yard.

The ceiling was spotted with holes to let the sound go through into felt padding. There were two pianos, two gramophones and an electric organ in the studio.

Uncle Ned named his toy Station WMAF, the "Voice from Way Down East."

It was July 1, 1923, and the toy was ready. Every broadcasting facility was installed. Then Uncle Ned had another whim—just like that! He decided not to use his toy except for test programs. So he went to market and bought programs from other stations, piped them to WMAF over a telephone wire and rebroadcast them.

He was a man who wanted correct time, to the split second. There was no reason for it, because time didn't mean much to him. But he had a cubby-hole built in his studio, sound-proofed it, screened it with copper wire, protected it completely, and installed a special set just to get time signals from the government station at Arlington, Virginia.

UNCLE NED was having a heap of fun with his toy until he realized that few other persons were enjoying it. Run-of-the-mill folks couldn't afford radio sets in those days. So he decided to take radio to them. And give away entertainment! Hetty Green would have collapsed at the idea.

There is a water-tower about a whoop and a holler from the big house, and Uncle Ned had the tower shined up. It was named Round Hill, and he had ten loudspeaker horns installed around the tower and wired to the control-room of his station. Then he asked the public to drive over, park, and get a bit of radio and sea breeze.

They came in droves, average persons who had no radios. They parked and played and listened to Uncle Ned's toy.

The first program came from WEAFL. It included a broadcast by S. L. Rothafel, the late "Roxy." A few of the highlights were "Second Hungarian Rhapsody," played by an orchestra conducted by Erno Rapee; violin solo by Eugene Ormandy; a solo by Mme. Elsa Stralia of the Royal Opera; organ recital by Henry F. Seibert, and a lot more.

Remember, Uncle Ned was paying for such programs. His station was not collecting a dime. He could have blurbled some product, perhaps, and made money, but he wanted to give away entertainment.

The stunt was a great success. He broadcast every night through mid-summer. He did everything on a grand scale. John Martin broadcast stories for little children; Lt. Col. Raymond Robbins spoke on such heavy subjects as "The Outlaws of War." (That was 1923.) There was a program on how to feed babies, and Graham McNamee sang.

Everything went along nicely until July 12, when Jess Willard and Luis Firpo squared off at Boyles Thirty Acres in Jersey City, to knock each other's blocks off, and really knocked Uncle Ned's toy down for the count of nine.

More than five hundred cars ganged around Round Hill to hear the fight. And the listeners made a lot of noise. They whooped and shouted. In between rounds a band played "You've Got to See Mama Every Night."

Now, there are many staid families around South Dartmouth, and they were put out at Uncle Ned for asking the hoi-polloi over to enjoy his new gadgets. They didn't mind the common herd so much, but that "You've Got to See Mama" stuff hurt their aristocratic temperaments. Residents of Nonquitt, an exclusive colony just north of Round Hill, protested loudly at such goings-on.

Uncle Ned was broken-hearted. He was having so much fun, but after all, five hundred automobiles, an open-air broadcast of a fight and that "See Mama Every Night" business might be called disturbing the peace, and there's a law against that, even for Hetty's son.

He suspended his broadcasts and told his engineers to do something. They tipped the horns toward the ground and the earth drank up the music, even that "Mama Every Night" thing. To Uncle Ned's delight, the noise didn't get beyond the estate, so he told the folks to come on back and have a good time.

AT REOPENING of the public broadcast, 1,800 cars drove to Round Hill.

The station was assigned to 363 meters. It had started with 100 watts for power, but the power was increased to 500 and then to 1,000 watts. Shirley L. Davis, now of WOR, in Newark, N. J., was the chief engineer. For two years the station broadcast WEAFL programs. Later it took on programs of WGBS, WNYR and WOR.

WMAF was rated as one of the five big stations of the country, and it was heard abroad. One Englishman wrote he had got the station on "a one-valve set."

Uncle Ned's radio laboratory was in his big house. He used the wide sun-parlor, which ran the length of the mansion, and filled the room with every conceivable radio gadget. He stayed there for hours, just piddling around.

He had a sense of humor, too, and enjoyed pulling the legs of reporters. (Continued on Page 13)

Belmont Track, above, first opened in 1905. Next Monday a crowd of 70,000 people will watch the big race. Airview shows (A) suburbs of New York City, (B) grandstand, (C) trees under which horses are saddled, (D) railroad depot, (E) stables, (F) exercise track. Lower right: Bryan Field will report this race over Columbia Broadcasting System

HERE comes a horse-race made to order for the listener who never could make heads or tails out of the usual loudspeaker parade. For here is a horse-race with only two horses in it.

War Admiral and Seabiscuit are the fastest things on equine feet in this part of the world. They are four-legged thrills to most Americans who follow the ponies or read the sporting pages. Next Monday they will perform for one of the largest radio audiences ever gathered. In this two-horse race it will be one or the other. Sports fans say it will be more exciting than the Louis-Schmeling championship fight.

War Admiral, almost black in color and given to standing on his hind legs at the start of every race, is a pulse-quickening sight. No more beautiful animal runs on any track. He is a far cry, scientists tell us, from the dinky animal that was his ancestor. The original horse was called the Eohippus. It was about the size of a small German police dog. Each forefoot had four toes, each hind foot had three toes. Today's thoroughbred is a relative by descent of that same Eohippus. Environment and breeding through thousands of years have brought about the change.

It is impossible to mention these two speedsters without referring to the greatest race-horse America ever saw, Man o' War. For War Admiral is a son of Man o' War and Seabiscuit is a grandson. Samuel D. Riddle, who owns both Man o' War and War Admiral, is generally considered one of the most fortunate of horsemen. For he bought Man o' War when he was still a colt for $5,000. Within three years, the horse was worth a million dollars. When Man o' War was retired to a stud-farm in Kentucky, Mr. Riddle offered him to horse-breeders with mares at $5,000 per service. He is supposed to have made a million and a half out of that $5,000 investment.

Seabiscuit is owned by a westerner named C. S. Howard. The Howard fortune was built on automobiles. Now it is being spent on horses. When Howard was a bicycle-shop owner in San Francisco, he scraped enough money together for a Buick agency in California. Today he is worth between twenty and fifty millions. When his sons were growing up, he became afraid too much money would spoil them, so he bought a ranch in the wild and woolly section of northern California. The boys learned to ranch, to rough it, and to be men. Today one of them is a partner of Bing Crosby in some of the latter's horse deals.

Rich prizes are always a lure to horse-race followers. They mean fiercer competition with horses straining every steaming muscle to get their noses under the wire first. The $100,000 offered the winner in this race is interesting to both Mr. Howard and Mr. Riddle, but more important is the final answer to the question: Which horse is faster? The race is for one and one-quarter miles. Once, on this same track, a horse named Whiskbroom II ran that distance in two minutes flat. It was a world record. War Admiral ran it in 2:03 1-5 when he won the Derby last year. Seabiscuit ran it in 2:01 3-5 when he was beaten by Stagehand's nose at Santa Anita last winter.

Will a new record be set? The experts say yes. They say each jockey will be riding for a special lump of that $100,000 prize money. Will American ears tingle as the two animals pound down the home-stretch? It is a thousand to one they will.

Who will win? War Admiral is younger by a year. He hasn't been beaten in a long time. Easterners say he will throw mud in the Seabiscuit's eyes. Westerners say no horse alive can beat their bay. The Belmont bookies are offering odds of two to one that War Admiral will hit the wire first. Whether you sit on the rail at the track or on a chair at home your radio will let you see the finish. This is the race of the decade. Don't miss it.

P. S.—In case of rain, tune in again Wednesday. Seabiscuit doesn't like mud and the race will be postponed forty-eight hours if the track is wet.

$100,000 ON THE NOSE

THE BEST HORSE IN AMERICA WILL BE DECIDED IN THIS RACE OF THE DECADE BETWEEN WAR ADMIRAL, SEABISCUIT

Bryan Field, CBS turf reporter, seems set to broadcast the race of the decade between the two greatest race-horses in America. His job of acting as eyes for 20,000,000 radio sets will not be any easier because only two horses are running. He will be up against two jockeys who are expert strategists, and up against a crowd of 70,000 people where anything can happen. But Field has been there before. In his life he has seen more than 15,000 horse-races. He has broadcast 250 of them. His uncanny ability to size up the end of a race has given him the name of having "photo eyes." Even when the judges must use a camera to determine the winners, he knows the answer and more than once has put it on the air. Only once has he guessed wrong. It was he who, while reporting the running of the 1933 Kentucky Derby, spotted the fist-fight between two jockeys whose horses were running neck and neck. It is he who always calls it the "Darby" instead of "Derby." Darkish, heavyish, fortyish, he loves horses and is a keen student of their form. For exercise, he gets out and rides them. For fun he watches horse-races, practises broadcasting without a mike.

WILL DEATH RIDE AGAIN?

WHEN THE FASTEST RACERS IN AMERICA TAKE TO THE TRACK AT INDIANAPOLIS, RADIO WILL WATCH, TELL EVERY THRILL!

IT IS possible for 180,000 persons to crowd into the Indianapolis Speedway to watch the 500-mile Memorial Day race—most dangerous, most thrilling, longest and fastest and richest of all United States auto races. And when, on next Monday afternoon, the starter's flag whips down across the historic brick track, there won't be an empty seat, there won't be a square foot of untenanted standing-room anywhere on the field! That's what Indianapolis means to the sports fans of America. From all over the country, they'll pour into the track to watch speed-mad racing drivers pound around the big oval at 100 miles an hour and up, gambling their lives against $100,000 in prize money and the honor and glory which go with the winning.

You may not be one of the 180,000 watching as the thirty-three fastest racing cars in America start their mad five-hour chase, but you don't need to be to follow this classic race, mile by mile, lap by lap! For this year radio coverage at Indianapolis will be more thorough, more varied than ever before in the history of broadcasting. At least ten basic broadcasts have been planned by the three major networks, and in addition, NBC, CBS and MBS ace announcers will take the air at a moment's notice from time to time to describe the sudden, unscheduled thrills which make the Indianapolis "500" so thoroughly exciting.

Before the race the results of the qualifying time-trials will be aired, and interviews with the drivers, mechanics and race officials will be broadcast. And when the one-lap parade around the track, which is the beginning of every race run, is completed, and the drivers "open up" to grind into the first turn in a black cloud of flying rubber, crack announcers will be at a dozen microphones to bring the exact picture to you. The ear-splitting snarl of speed-wracked motors, the whine of tortured tires, the frenzied roar of the crowd—radio will bring it all!

This, the twenty-sixth running of the race, promises to be the fastest of all time. For mere qualification, a speed of 110 miles per hour will be necessary, and the fastest driver in the time-trials—held to determine qualification and pole position—will certainly run well over that figure. All fuel limitations have been abandoned, and drivers may use as much as they like of any fuel they choose. In the past a fixed amount of fuel was allowed each car, and when that had been consumed the car was out of the race. The use of standard gasoline was also specified. This year at least one driver, Kelly Petillo, of Los Angeles, plans to use a mixture of gasoline, alcohol and benzol. "It makes the motor turn over like an earthquake," he says.

ANOTHER change in racing-rules provides that cars be single-seaters, banning the so-called "riding mechanic." When automobile racing was in its infancy, in the early part of this century, two-man driving crews were necessary, since the unreliable, balky motors then in use required a good deal of attention. At the slow speeds of 1910-1915, when a steady 25-mile-per-hour pace might well insure victory, it was even possible for the mechanic to make minor repairs and adjustments while the car was running. There is little a modern riding mechanic can do, however, except to keep an eye on the other cars and watch the tires for danger-signs of wear, and it has been proved that in the case of accident it is the mechanic who is most often killed or badly injured.

If race-driving is a sport—there are those who say it is no sport but a passion—it's the most dangerous in the world, claiming more lives in proportion to its followers than any other. The record-books are full of the names of men who have died at the wheel. Tommy Milton, Frank Lockhart, Doc Mackenzie—the list is a long one. And few drivers ever retire. Once you have rolled down the track at 100 miles per hour, jammed so tightly into a bucket-seat that you can hardly move, the smell of burnt oil pungent in your nostrils, the motor roaring, the wheel leaping in your hands, the rest of life seems dull and flavorless. Most drivers, when pressed, would admit that Death is the boss of the tracks—but they can't see in that any reason to leave them. And they'd rather not think about it. The thought of a race may fill them with terror—Doc Mackenzie, whom drivers will tell you was killed because he shaved off his good-luck beard at his bride's request, was always violently sick before a race, and he was one of the best drivers who ever lived—but that's no reason for not driving! When the starter's flag goes down and the quivering tachometer needle goes up, when the crowd roars "There they go!" and the first car slams into the turn, there's no room for fear, no room for anything but speed and daring. That's what makes the race!

And that's the race which will be on the air next Monday. The best drivers in America will be on the track—and some of the best radiomen in America will be there, too.

For the National Broadcasting Company, Fort Pearson and Charles Lyon, ace news and special-events announcers, will handle the race. Using the latest in short-wave and audio equipment in order to be free of the necessity of working from one spot on the track, Pearson and Lyon will have complete mobility, will be ready to cover any part of the two-and-a-half-mile track, the 443 acres of grounds.

Three broadcasts will be aired by NBC, the first, from 12 to 12:25 a.m. EDT, bringing to radio listeners the fanfare and excitement that precedes and accompanies the start of the race. Interviews with race officials and driv-

GENE LESTER JOINS THE BREAKFAST CLUB

Don McNeill is announcer and master of ceremonies on the NBC Breakfast Club. He is noted for his easy, genial manner at the microphone FAMILIAR figure in broadcasting stations from New York to Hollywood is Gene Lester, Radio Guide's Singing Cameraman. Crack photographer, possessor of a top-flight baritone voice, Lester has made working guest-appearances with Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Jack Haley, The National Barn Dance, First Nighter, and a host of other network programs. A recent flying trip through Chicago gave Lester a chance to join the famous NBC Breakfast Club—and he made the most of it. Singing Cole Porter's unforgettable "Night and Day" for the Breakfast Club audience, Lester then unlimbered his candid camera, snapped the photographs on this page. Long a favorite with discriminating fans, the Breakfast Club broadcasts have constantly gained in audience favor during recent months. Breezy, gay, informal, they offer exactly what most listeners want to hear in that trying early-morning period. Letters to the Breakfast Club arrive weekly from every state in the Union and Canada!

THE duet which ends the first act of "Die Walkuere" has come to be quite a popular concert number. A few evenings ago I listened to it at home, performed on my phonograph. Several guests also were auditors, among them one who is not an informed music-lover. When the record ended he said: "I suppose it's all right for the rest of you, but I couldn't make head or tail of it. I don't understand German and it seemed to me that the man and woman were quarreling all the time." I explained that on the contrary, Siegmund and Sieglinde were planning their elopement and concluded with a duet of intense romantic rapture.

Listening to Wagner, especially when he is sung, affords pleasurable experience in ratio to the listener's knowledge of the composer's operatic texts. Especially the "ring" librettos offer drama of arresting timeliness, with their serial plot of man's mistaken ideals of wealth and power, and the solace offered by human love. I wish that every radio dialist's summer reading, aside from mystery stories, might include also the English version of Wagner's librettos, from "The Flying Dutchman" to "Parsifal."

MUSICOLOGISTS had long thought that Handel's "Water Music" was composed for the purpose of allaying the anger of George I, King of England, which had been aroused by the composer when he had been given permission to visit London—George having been at that time Elector of Hanover in Germany—and had outstayed his leave of absence by many

The March of Music

A Weekly Preview Edited By Leonard Liebling

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air..."—Wordsworth

ONE is glad to see that the Sunday radio time usually allotted to the New York Philharmonic Orchestra series, now gone vacationing, has fallen to an American conductor, Howard Barlow, of CBS. Let us all rise and sing the national anthem, for it is not more difficult for the fabled camel to pass through the needle's eye than for one of our native baton propellers to get a job in this country at conducting. Funny, but true.

We are to assume that only European leaders have the abracadabra sign on the secrets of the symphonic repertoire. But why? Is the music not printed in black and white for everyone to read? Can't American musicians decipher the mysterious dots, circles and stems? Have all the great European composers issued sealed instructions regarding the interpretation of their masterpieces, and to be disclosed only to their compatriots? Or maybe Americans possess no mind, soul and heart responsive to music.

Meanwhile, the European procession is larger than ever, with dozens of the batonists arriving here as refugees from their own lands. We seem in a fair way never to develop American conductors, if they are to get no orchestra. Last season, the New York Philharmonic even hauled in a guest leader from Roumania, the Minneapolis Orchestra imported a Greek and the NBC Symphony used a Pole, Italian, Briton, Mexican, Frenchman and—how did that happen?—one American, Howard Hanson. When Toscanini desired to have a new assistant to prepare his programs for next winter, he went all the way to Palestine to find him.

What to do about all this? Would our public march through the streets in determined mobs, mass in front of city halls, state capitols and the White House, and to the tune of "Dixie" sing in unison, "American Conductors, Hooray, Hooray!" They would not. Now ask us another question.

Of course there are some foreign conductors who should be welcome always and anywhere. One of them is Bernardino Molinari, who, like his Italian compatriot, Toscanini, started the baton career in opera and later turned to symphonic expression. Now Molinari ranks eminently in that field and is invited as a guest leader by many major orchestras abroad and in this country. His first American tests were with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in 1928, and since then his American appearances have ranged as far as San Francisco. In Rome, Molinari is a particular hero, for he directs the famous Augusteo concerts there—the Augusteo being the Carnegie Hall of the city on the Tiber. Molinari's outstanding qualities are sure musicianship, firm baton command and Italianate warmth of temperament, all of which he will demonstrate at his broadcast with the NBC Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, June 4, at 9 p.m. EDT on NBC.

This is the voice of the harpsichord, but nevertheless the instrument was the dim ancestor of our modern grand piano. Bach, Scarlatti, aydn, Mozart—all composed inspiringly for the ancient medium and played it surpassingly well.

Recent seasons have brought a real revival of interest in the harpsichord and radio listeners have frequently heard its tinkly tone and generally archaic effect. This week will offer renewed acquaintance in the performance of Alice Ehlers, noted Austrian harpsichordist, who is to do a program on the "Keyboard Concerts" series on Wednesday, June 1, at 5 p.m. EDT, on CBS.

It must not be supposed that the harpsichord is an easy instrument to play because of its small keyboard, lack of pedals and simple tone color. Nimble fingers are required, and special touch and thorough understanding of the style in which antique classical music is to be interpreted. Those gifts are possessed amply by Mme. Ehlers, whose art has won warm recognition in Europe and America. Incidentally, it is an interesting fact that the best-known harpsichordists of today are women, leading colleagues of Mme. Ehlers being Wanda months. George succeeded to the British throne in 1714, and it was supposed that Handel wrote his "apologetic" music the following year, in order to please the monarch as he made his state progress down the Thames in the royal barge.

The tale is pleasant but untrue. We know now that Handel did the "Water Music" in 1717, quite some time after George had reinstated him in favor. However, the composition actually was created for one of George's pageant trips on the Thames. The orchestra of fifty men occupied one of the barges. So enchanted was the king with Handel's music that—so the official record runs—"he commanded it to be repeated once before and once after supper."

Symphony No. 41 "Jupiter" (Mozart)
Liebeslieder Waltzes (Brahms)
Symphony No. 9 (Schubert)

SIX weeks in the year 1788 witnessed the composition of the greatest three symphonies by Mozart—an incredible feat when one considers that it took Brahms twenty years to compose his first symphony, even though the three others followed within the next ten years. Mozart's trinity includes the masterpiece known as the "Jupiter Symphony," so-called because of its grandeur, majesty and might. Despite the epic nature of the work, its melodies are simple and its construction is as clear as crystal, even to the concluding fugue.

After Brahms had finished his monumental "Requiem" (inspired by the memory of his mother), his thoughts turned toward lighter relief and he composed an unusual opus, his "Liebeslieder" (Love Songs), setting texts (from Daumer's "Polydora") for piano duet and parts, ad lib., for vocal quartet. Gay, insouciant, quite Viennese in atmosphere are these fifteen charming waltz examples. Perhaps the most humorously compelling are No. 6, "A Pretty Little Bird"; No. 9, "On the Banks of the Danube"; and No. 11, the Puckishly teasing "No, It Is Unbearable." Romantically passionate are Nos. 2 and 16. Fascinating though the set is, one feels that Brahms might have endeared these morceaux even more to us had he not made waltzes of all of them. Five years later he published a second series of "Love Songs"—again fifteen, and again in one-two-three time!

MME. EHLERS' numbers are cleverly selected and cataloged as to meaning. Aside from such identification, the music also attracts because some of it represents the primitive though successful attempt of medieval composers to achieve actual characterization and portraiture in their music, even to the extent of imitating realistically various rural sounds and sights. The bird-calls in the first group of pieces are especially convincing. No one, for instance, could mistake Daquin's subject for anything but a cuckoo.

With the exception of Byrd (1538-1623), all the composers on this program were alive in 1700 and for several years thereafter. Handel and Bach achieved the greatest universal fame, but Rameau won lasting renown in France as the founder of its earliest nationalistic style in opera. Strangely enough, his first stage composition, "Samson," never saw production, even though the libretto was by Voltaire. Censorial authorities rejected the work owing to its Biblical subject.

LIKE the worthy Ford car, the Ford program keeps to its formula of standardization, no radical changes, neither too heavy nor too light, smooth-running and free from noise. To set up such a musical list seems easy, but many a conductor tries it in vain.

His sponsor and all classes of dialists should be pleased with Barbirolli's choices, for they range from ballad to grand opera, and from hymn to symphonic writing. If "The Bohemian Girl" is music that grandma used to like, her third generation should be equally at home in the modernly satirical pages by Walton.

The Ford Hour presents American Soprano Helen Jepson as its guest artist this Sunday night. Above: Helen and her young daughter, Sally Landowska, a Pole, Yella Pessl, a Hungarian, and Marguerite Roesgen-Champion, a Frenchwoman. To devote themselves to the instrument they must have a real love for early music and the periods which it reflects. Mme. Roesgen-Champion has so thoroughly absorbed the spirit of the past that she also writes pieces which might well pass as the work of eighteenth-century composers.

Mme. Ehlers uses a harpsichord which was specially made for her. Of pale blue-green wood, trimmed with red, it is an exquisite instrument, and accompanies her on all her tours. In the course of her wide travels, she has had many interesting and amusing adventures. My favorite one occurred recently when she was asked to call at the New York headquarters of the Internal Revenue Department to answer a question regarding her income report.

"You have an item here," said the conscientious investigator, "listing $165 for instrument transportation. What kind of an instrument is that?"

"A harpsichord," said Mme. Ehlers.

"What's a harpsichord?"

"It's an ancient form of piano with quite a large case, two keyboards and four legs. It requires careful boxing and handling."

"Well," commented the expert, "it sure costs you a lot of money to cart it around. Why in the world didn't you take up the flute instead?"

Helen Jepson, American Soprano, Appears as Soloist
On the Ford Sunday Evening Hour

Sunday, May 29, at 9 p.m. EDT on CBS.

RADIO careers are meteoric, as is proved by the phenomenally quick success of Charlie McCarthy, Dorothy Lamour, Bob Burns and other favorites of the ether. I am reminded of the fact by the presence of Helen Jepson on the Ford program, Sunday, May 29, at 9 p.m. EDT, on CBS.

Just about four years ago I was in the RCA studios in New York, listening to a Victor phonograph recording being made by Nat Shilkret and his orchestra, to be sent to a sponsor seeking a new radio program. The solo soprano of the occasion was a slim, pretty blonde, who sang so well that when I left the place with Nat, I asked him about her. "She's a comer," he said, "but is having a hard time just now. No engagements and willing to appear anywhere and at any price, just to get an 'in.' Is married and has a young child, too. Her name is Helen Jepson."

Success stories are an encouragement to struggling artists of real talent, but should not mislead others into thinking that luck is the main factor in furthering a musical career. Luck may provide an opportunity, but only ability turns it to lasting account. Ability, as everyone knows, is the result of natural gifts plus hard and incessant work.

Miss Jepson was a prodigious worker even as a student and she has not slackened in her endeavors toward perfection. Her daily routine includes physical exercise, careful diet, vocal practise, cultivation of diction in various languages and the constant addition of new repertoire for opera, concert and radio purposes. Tea parties, cocktail hours and night clubs never see Miss Jepson.

"If I have any spare time from my work," she says, "I listen to the phonograph records of other singers, or read books about music and musicians."

I congratulated the lovely soprano on having climbed to the top of the ladder so soon, but she interrupted me: "I shall never let myself think that I am at the top. Or at least, I shall always try to feel that the ladder really is a greased pole, with danger of one's slipping down much faster than one has climbed up." Her rare wisdom will preserve Miss Jepson from any such calamity.

Books

George Frideric Handel; His Personality and His Times. By Newman Flower. (Cassel and Co., New York, $10.50.) Mr. Flower's nearly 400 pages do full justice to his subject. The expensive price of his book probably is due to the elaborate color-plates, some of them of rare beauty.

The author makes no technical survey of Handel's music, but gives an intimate picture of the man, the times in which he lived, and the persons with whom he had to deal. A singularly interesting and lively story, picturesquely written.

Alice in Orchestralia, by Ernest La Prade. (Doubleday Doran and Co., New York, $1.00.) Here is the perfect little medium with which to teach children a great deal about music and orchestras. Mr. La Prade uses the "Alice in Wonderland" manner of writing for the young, and sets forth his facts simply, ingeniously, lightly. Especially the instruments of the orchestra are explained in delightful and unforgettable fashion.

Several other new radio shows are being prepared for the ears of potential sponsors. Movie Comic Bert Wheeler, half of the team Wheeler and Woolsey, has an "audience participation" show in the negotiation stage. I'm told that Stuart Erwin also has a show prepared based on the cartoon strip "Blondie," with Una Merkel already signed to play the role of "Blondie."

Walter B. Pitkin has a show called "I'd Rather Be" in the audition stage, with several sponsors interested. It's an audience-participation show with butchers, bakers, and candlestick makers (or whatever you are) coming up to the mike and telling what you'd rather be. Sounds like an interesting idea. Interesting to you and to me is the news passed on by a friend that the Palmolive Company, who formerly sponsored the "Beauty Box" series, will return to the air in the fall with a musical series featuring Jessica Dragonette.

PURELY PERSONAL: Mrs. Craig Earl, wife of Professor Quiz, is flashing a new diamond bracelet, a wedding anniversary gift from her husband. Fred Allen and Portland Hoffa celebrated a wedding anniversary two weeks ago, but they refused to tell how many. Love is really in the air-waves these days. Three years ago, Harry "Bottle" McNaughton told me he was going to get married; he finally got around to it on Monday, May 16. His bride is Marion Turpie, the New York state golf champ. Harry von Zell was best man. Doris Rhodes, swell CBS songstress, sang "I Do" in key with Music Publisher Jonie Taps on May 10. Songstress Willie Morris took unto herself a husband on April 30, at her home in Mexico, Missouri. My personal congrats to all you newlyweds.

It happened to John Carter on a recent Sunday. His voice not only broke but in the words of one listener, "It came apart." A million hearts bled for the young man as he bravely finished his song. Those same listeners should know the true story behind John Carter's recent rise in radio. When time came for judging the final winners of Metropolitan Auditions, he was one of the finalists. But he was not the best singer. Several judges agreed privately on that. In a few years, perhaps, but not yet. Nevertheless, because judges are human and friends like to help friends and John Carter's "connections" were good, he was named the winner.

Now he is paying the price. A singer should not be rushed. His vocal apparatus must be developed through years of training. Someone behind young Carter was in too much of a hurry. It is too bad that John Carter must suffer because of the mistakes other people made. Some day he will sing that aria from "Faust" as well as any. In the meantime, he suffers. In the meantime, the faces of those who picked him as a great singer ready for great things are hiding their blushes.

THEY'RE HAPPY: Baritone Leonard Warren, who, with John Carter, was a winner in the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air, each receiving a $1,000 check from the sponsor, was given another check for $5,000 last week by the president of Sherwin-Williams, sponsor of the program, who is sending him to Europe to study voice and to help further his career. A swell gesture. Attractive CBS Songstress Hollace Shaw has cause to be happy too. Two weeks ago she made a movie short for Paramount in New York, and the producer was so pleased with her work he sent it out to Hollywood for the biggies to look at. Hollace is anxiously awaiting the verdict. Soprano Dorothy Dreslin's voice and looks pleased a Warner Bros. talent scout and she is to be given a screen test.

Ralph Kirbery, the Dream Singer, is happy to learn that he finished in thirteenth place in RADIO GUIDE'S Star of Stars poll despite the fact that he's been off the air so long. But he would be happier (and so would his many radio friends) if some sponsor brought him back on the air. Arlene Harris, the "Human Chatterbox" of the Al Pearce show, was so happy to find a dress shop bearing her name while in Cincinnati, she went in and purchased several outfits. Program Director Charles Crutchfield of WBT in Charlotte, N. C., is happy because of the nice letter he received from Postmaster General Farley complimenting him for his work in the National Air Mail Week campaign. And I'm happy about the whole thing, too.

Since his image appeared on RADIO GUIDE'S cover with one of his favorite dogs, Hal Kemp has received many letters from our readers enclosing snapshots of their pets. Maxine Gray, who sang with the Kemp crew until she was hurt in the railroad accident several months ago, has filed suit in Chicago for $100,000. Judy Starr, Hal's new songstress, has turned from blonde to brunet and verra, verra becoming. Judy tells an interesting story. Her right name is Shirley Ross and she worked with the comedy team Olsen and Johnson using that tag. (Continued on Page 15)

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 25. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

Times indicated on this page are for Eastern Daylight Saving Time. For EST and CDT subtract 1 hour; for CST, 2 hours; for MST, 3 hours; for PST, 4 hours

A COMMENTARY on the 155th renewal of the Derby Stakes, named after the twelfth Earl of Derby, first contested in 1780, and now worth about $45,000, will be broadcast on Wednesday, June 1, at 9:50 a.m. EDT, over GSF, GSG and GSJ. The present Racecourse at Epsom, first used in 1872, measures a few yards over a mile and a half. Established in 1779, first of the great classics to be run at Epsom, the Oaks, a sequel to the Derby, but open to fillies only, will be described for listeners on Friday, June 3, at 9:55 a.m. EDT, over GSF, GSG and GSJ. Mighty Everest, whose lofty pinnacle is the highest spot on earth, has consistently defied man's puny efforts to gain its summit. Although numerous climbers have perished in attempts, the fifth assault on Mt. Everest will soon be made by a group of seven experienced climbers. Difficulties that this party must face, as well as adventures that befell past expeditions will be portrayed in a thrilling program on Thursday, June 2, at 4:20 p.m. EDT, over GSG and GSP.

Sunday, May 29, at 5 a.m. EDT, the papal benediction on the 34th Eucharistic Congress will be broadcast directly from Vatican City, over HVJ (15.12).

R. B. Oxrieder of State College, Penn., writes that a Vienna station on 11.79 megas, evidently old OER3, is being heard evenings to 10 p.m. EDT, or a little later. The station is identified as "Germany calling, National Broadcasting Station," and then either "Frankfort and Vienna" or "Leipzig and Vienna."

2RO6 (15.3), the new 2,000-watt auxiliary transmitter at Rome, Italy, was first heard on April 29 by James Christie of Winnipeg, Canada. The station is now relaying 2RO3 (9.635) regularly.

Earl Roberts of Indianapolis, Ind., reports a new station, YN3DG (7.128), Estacion Radiodifusora "Gillfillan," owned by Dennis E. Gallo of Leon, Nicaragua, and whose power is 200 watts, is broadcasting daily except Sundays from 3 to 3:30 p.m. and from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. EDT.

Mildred and Harve Amers of Pomona, Calif., are hearing Radio Tananarive, Tananarive, Madagascar, on a frequency of 10.95 megas, daily, as late as 12:30 p.m. EDT, although the signals are at times very weak as the modulation is poor.

Ashley Walcott of San Francisco, Calif., writes that the Chinese have put on the air a short-wave relay for Broadcast Station XGOW of Hankow, the provisional capital of China, which broadcasts daily from 6:15 a.m. or 12 noon EDT, on a highly variable frequency, ranging from 8.93 to 9.18 megas. The varying frequency is probably an attempt on the part of the Chinese engineers to avoid deliberately imposed interference by the Japanese. Programs usually consist of European concert and symphonic type of music. English news is broadcast at 9:45 a.m. Announcements giving location and station identification are very frequent. The call-letters are given in Chinese after a quick four-chime signal.

There is also a powerful transmitter on approximately 9.29 megas, broadcasting daily from 9 until 10:05 a.m. EDT, which is believed to be located at Shanghai, as the name of this city begins each day's transmissions. The frequency coincides with that of old XTC, the Chinese commercial phone station. Programs from this station are always introduced and closed by recordings of popular American dance tunes. The interval signal consists of eight chimes. Announcements are made for the most part in Chinese only, though once in a while an English program is presented from 9:20 to 10 a.m. EDT. No call letters have as yet been distinguished.

A new station, YV5RR (5.834), of Caracas, Venezuela, is being heard nightly to 11 p.m. EDT. The identifying signal is a peculiar-sounding whistle. Send reports to P. O. Box 185.

Listeners to the Daventry stations will hear the Derby Stakes to be run over the course (above) at Epsom Downs, Wednesday, 9:50 a.m. EDT

They flocked around him, and one day he told them he and his staff had stumbled into the secret of television. He called it "radio pictures."

The reporters went slightly haywire. He told them the great discovery had come while he was watching his staff experiment with a filter to eliminate static, and when he happened to glance at a screen used for photographic experiments, he saw a picture of a monkey-wrench. The wrench, he said, was in the broadcasting station one hundred yards away, but there was its picture on the screen.

The reporters fell for it. They didn't know any more about television than Uncle Ned. He laughed at their stories.

In 1924, the station gave its open-air listeners such artists as Joseph Knecht. There also was music by the Army and Navy bands, and in August of that year Jackie Coogan made a speech. Other stars included James Haupt, Charles Wild, Werner Janssen, Vee Lawnhurst, Vincent Lopez and others. It cost Uncle Ned a lot of pennies.

In 1925, the power was stepped up to 2,500 watts and the station became one of the most powerful in the world. It brought the people everything — classics, jazz and sports. They came in droves to the Round Hill, and Uncle Ned would ride among them, waving and bowing.

THE Dempsey-Sharkey fight attracted 10,000 persons to Round Hill. It took two hours to clear his estate and special cops were hired for the job.

In the summer of 1928 WOR furnished his station with programs. Several big stations had been bidding for the business. It was good gravy, but WOR was selected. You could send personal messages on radio in those days, and the Happiness Boys, a regular feature of the station, always sent a "good night, Uncle Ned" when they signed off.

When the station was closed that fall for the winter months, it was closed for good, although no announcement was made then. But when Uncle Ned returned to his summer estate in 1929, he said the station would be used only for experimental work.

The people were a bit unhappy about it, for it had been a lot of fun driving to Round Hill and parking by the sea and listening. But in 1929 the masses could afford radios.

Many wondered why Uncle Ned gave up his hobby. He had found another toy—airplanes! And he got interested in the building of a $3,000,000 airport on his estate. He never did anything by half measures. He didn't want just one airplane—he wanted an airport! He feared crowds around Round Hill would be in danger, so he closed up the whole shebang.

Uncle Ned died in 1936. He had blown a lot of Hetty's fortune, but there still was plenty. States started fighting over his fortune for inheritance taxes. Kinfolk got into the melee and a heap of hard words were said. Money makes some folks say hard things. The fight for the money Hetty had hoarded was a reporters' picnic. And the squabble still is going on.

Well, let 'em squabble! Uncle Ned had a lot of fun while it lasted. I always like to think of him, one of the richest men in the world, dashing around in that funny little car with earphones on his head and listening to "You've Got to See Mama Every Night."

ers, and the actual get-away.

The second broadcast, to be heard from 3:20 to 3:30 EDT, will report the progress of the race at about the half-way mark. Pearson and Lyon will go into the pits, where the cars are re-fueled, re-tired and, sometimes, repaired during the race, with their so-called "beer mug" transmitters—small, ultra-short-wave broadcasters, complete units in themselves—and interview mechanics and others.

From 4 to 4:30 p.m. EDT, the last of the three broadcasts will go on the air. This will bring the story of the last laps of the race, a description of the finish and an interview with the winner.

Extensive preparations for this wide-spread radio coverage will be made by NBC engineers several days before the race. A central receiving-point will be established in the grandstand, and, high in the Crow's Nest of the press pagoda, the actual broadcasting headquarters will be set up. This Crow's Nest is on the sixth floor of the pagoda, so high that every foot of the track and grounds is thoroughly covered.

Ken Ellington, ace Columbia announcer, will head the staff covering the Indianapolis race for that network. CBS goes on the air at 4:45 p.m. EDT.

A staff of five men—Douglas Brown-ing, Allen Franklin, Norman Perry, Robert Maley and Herbert Flaig —headed by Joseph Ries, director of special events for the Mutual affiliated station WLW, will broadcast from Indianapolis for the Mutual Broadcasting System. Two programs, one from 11:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. EDT, the other from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m. EDT, will be put on the air.

DANDRUFF?

4 Minute Treatment Stops Dandruff Itch

And Kills Nasty Scalp Odor

Dandruff is the sign of a diseased, unclean scalp. Through neglect, the tiny sebaceous glands (oil glands) fail to work as they should and become clogged with scales and dirt. The scalp becomes infected by germs and fungi, and the condition spreads.

Skin specialists generally agree that effective treatment for dandruff must include (1) regular cleansing of scalp; (2) killing the germs that spread infection; (3) stimulating circulation of the scalp; (4) lubrication of scalp to prevent dryness.

The Zonite Antiseptic Scalp Treatment Does These 4 Things

WHAT TO DO: Massage head for 3 minutes with this Zonite solution — 2 tablespoons Zonite to 1 quart of water. Use this same solution for shampoo with any good soap. Rinse very thoroughly. If scalp is dry, massage in any preferred scalp oil. (For complete details of treatment, read folder in Zonite package.)

It is vitally important to use this treatment regularly (twice every week at first) to keep dandruff under control and keep germs from spreading. Because reinfection constantly takes place from hats, bed-pillows, combs and brushes.

If you're faithful, you'll be delighted with the way this treatment leaves your scalp clean and healthy—free from itch and nasty scalp odor.

At all U. S. and Canadian drug stores.

TRIAL OFFER—For a real trial bottle of Zonite, mailed to you postpaid, send 10¢ to Zonite 613 New Brunswick, New Jersey U. S. A.

Senator Elbert D. Thomas addresses American Youth—Mon.

Senators Speak for American Youth

Monday, MBS, 5:15-5:30 p.m. EDT

Senator James P. Pope of Idaho and Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah, speaking from Washington, D. C., under the auspices of the American Youth Congress, will be heard over the Coast-to-Coast Mutual network on a subject that is very close to the hearts of Americans today, namely, "Peace." A more appropriate topic could not be found for Decoration Day.

We would not have to go back far to the time when this subject would pull but a very meager audience. Today, with the daily headlines screaming of unrest, aggravation and turmoil the world over, the subject of peace attracts many an attentive ear.

Senators Pope and Thomas are a wise choice to give an address on this great problem the punch that only years of experience in public affairs makes possible.

Pulitzer Prize Plays Presented

Thursday, NBC, 10-11 p.m. EDT

On Thursday night George Kelly's prize play of the 1925-26 season, "Craig's Wife," will premiere a new weekly series of dramatizations that will run to the latter part of summer and will include the best of contemporary American dramatic literature.

The statement that a significantly large number of people enjoy radio versions of great plays needs no proof—last year's Shakespeare series demonstrated this fact beyond any shadow of doubt. The question in the minds of many radio moguls is this: Is drama, so-called "serious" drama, the answer to broadcasters' efforts to keep listeners at their loudspeakers during the hot summer months? Even with that question unanswered, the move definitely rates applause . . . and, although the series will have for competition the powerhouse variety program that Bing Crosby and Bob Burns brought to top audience rating, many listeners will enjoy it.

Starting with George Kelly's Pulitzer Prize winner, others to be included on dates not yet scheduled are O'Neill's three prize plays, "Beyond the Horizon," "Anna Christie" and "Strange Interlude"; Maxwell Anderson's "Both Your Houses"; Sidney Kingsley's "Men in White"; "They Knew What They Wanted," by Sidney Howard; "Icebound," by Owen Davis; Paul Green's "In Abraham's Bosom."

With the exception of the 1918-19 season, a Pulitzer Prize of $1,000 has been awarded yearly, the first to Jesse Lynch Williams for his "Why Marry?" winner of the 1917-18 season.

Speakers from Panama, Mexico, Nicaragua

Sunday, CBS, 2:30 p.m. EDT

The fourth program in the weekly series on the general subject of "Economic Cooperation in the Americas" will bring addresses by Foreign Minister Eduardo Hay, speaking from Mexico, and Nicaraguan Minister Dr. Don Le De Bayle, and Panamanian Minister Dr. Don Augusto S. Boyd, speaking from Washington, D. C.

The question of economic cooperation in the Americas is a very vital one to the United States and all the Latin-American countries. Pleas for this cause have already been made by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and representatives of many of our neighboring countries in the past three broadcasts.

The series has been hailed as an important contribution to good-will and solidarity in the Americas, and was arranged only when the Latin-American diplomats promised to make statements of solid importance rather than courteous expressions of mutual good-will.

Because of the wide interest in these talks, the broadcasts are heard in every corner of North and South America. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation carries them to the North and Columbia's short-wave station carries them below the Rio Grande.

High-School Students' Spelling Bee

Tuesday, CBS, 2-2:30 p.m. EDT

The termination of innumerable elimination contests in cities and towns of the East and Midwest each year brings a group of champion spellers to Washington, D. C., for the final rounds of the National Spelling Bee. On Tuesday the finals of the 31st National Spelling Bee will be aired over the CBS network from the National Museum in Washington, D. C.

The National Spelling Bee functions to inspire more careful study of words by deciding a champion speller each season from the ranks of elementary and junior-high-school students. The elimination process starts in cities and towns where newspapers sponsor spelling bees among the high-school children. Winners in these early rounds move on to district and, finally, state-wide competition, the finalists of which are dispatched to the Capital for the deciding rounds.

Those who have emerged victorious from the preliminary contests will be grouped around a CBS microphone on Tuesday to decide who is to be the winner of the cash first prize of $500 and the distinction of being the 1938 champion high-school speller.

FEG MURRAY, one-time athlete, sports cartoonist, had the right hunch when he moved his drawing-board from the stadiums to the film lots of Hollywood.

It was there that he created his popular newspaper cartoon, "Seein' Stars," which brought Murray and his cartoon to the Baker's Broadcast heard over an NBC network every Sunday at 7:30 p.m. EDT.

For four years the Hollywood commentator has worked interviewing and sketching the stars, as well as compiling notes for his daily cartoons. From this constantly growing font of information, Murray brings Sunday radio listeners interesting facts about the stars that are as unusual as they are dramatic.

Springtime Is Clean-up Time

It is spring-cleaning time for your radio receiver. The year is moving into the summer months. Wind and rain and snow are behind us, mostly. They have pelted our aerials through sub-zero weather. The tubes in our sets have flickered and glowed to the music of Toscanini and the chant of the tobacco auctioneer. They're tired and old.

You change the oil in your car every thousand miles. You sweep behind the radiator and beat your carpets annually. You even visit your dentist twice a year. Put your radio receiver on the same schedule. Don't attempt to fix it up yourself. This is a job for an expert. Call your radio repairman today. Ask him to check your aerial. Ask him to test your tubes.

The cost of perfect reception is small. The joy of perfect reception is great.

The Hiss of Sparks

We all want to know more. That is why human beings rule the animal world. Other animals are bigger but none is smarter than man. So we are the bosses.

One of the best ways to know more about the life around us is to listen to our radios. A dozen big newscasts a day keep us informed of the world's affairs. Today, Europe is a tinder-box. Sitting in our homes, we can hear the hiss of sparks in the voices of dictators. This summer will bring the world to a boil, according to many who study these things. July is a fearful month. In the past, it has brought much misery. The World War started in July, 1914. Chancellor Dolfuss of Austria was assassinated in July, 1934. Italy invaded Ethiopia in July, 1935. Civil war started in Spain in July, 1936. Japan invaded China in July, 1937.

What is in store during July, 1938? Listening to our radio will tell us quickest and best.

Audience Participation

A woman phoned RADIO GUIDE the other day and said she had caught one of our best "audience participation" shows cheating. She had answered an advertisement in a New York paper, she said, which offered regular work for one night a week. Her job was to be in an audience at a radio studio so she could be picked out by the master of ceremonies. She was provided with lines to say and questions to ask.

That, she said, was cheating. That, she said, was something RADIO GUIDE should do something about.

But should we? Most "audience participation" shows are honest. All of them are an effort to entertain the listener. When some little things must be prearranged in order to guarantee a good show, that is insuring the listener's enjoyment. In his own mind, the listener is usually quite able to take care of himself.

Newspaper feature writers often put in a little drama in order to make a story more interesting. The public doesn't mind. Life is pretty dull until someone bright enough to polish up its facets comes along. The public doesn't mind. So long as listeners are not deceived maliciously, so long as no one is hurt by the deception, we believe the radio producer is on sound ground.

When someone is hurt, however, RADIO GUIDE is interested and will do something about it.

Dear Jimmie . . .

Dear Jimmie Fidler: You hate a cheater. So do we. Therefore we are glad that your recent broadcast revealed that an unknown radio star was buying up all the RADIO GUIDES in the Los Angeles territory.

The stuffing of ballot-boxes has never been commendable. Influencing a national poll by the wholesale purchase of magazines in order that ballots therein might be voted by the purchaser is ballot-box stuffing of the worst sort. We have done all we can to prevent it. Your recent broadcast intimated that one star with enough money could elect himself to top position.

This reply is directed both to you and to our readers, Jimmie. You will be interested. Wherever we have detected a spurious ballot, it has been rejected. Whenever batches of votes have arrived presenting evidence of being faked, they have been ignored.

We have counted every honest ballot, thousands of them. They have come from Honolulu, and the Yukon, and Manhattan, and Eagle Pass. In our opinion, they represent an accurate cross-section of the favorites of that important section of the radio audience which reads RADIO GUIDE. Though a star or so may have attempted to sway the final count, it is our opinion that they have not been successful. Too many readers have responded to our invitation to vote for their favorites. The honest voters have been too much for the fakers. You may depend, Jimmie Fidler, on the results announced in the RADIO GUIDE Star of Stars scoreboard.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

FELIX KNIGHT

Editor, RADIO GUIDE: "My idea of a perfect musical program would include the voices of Felix Knight, Nelson Eddy, Frances Langford, and Buddy Clark. Then, I would be satisfied with just this one show . . . I can't understand why sponsors are passing up a voice and a personality like Felix Knight's! I think he has one of the finest voices on the air."—"RADIO FAN," Chicopee, Mass.

DEEP SOUTH

Editor, RADIO GUIDE: "Why is it that of late so many of the best programs—especially at night, from six o'clock on—do not broadcast for the South, our part of it, anyway, 'the deep South?' Do not the sponsors of these programs desire the patronage of the southern people for the goods they sell? 'Manhattan Merry-Go-Round,' Jack Benny's program, 'Waltz Time,' and several others have been left off our southern circuit."—Mrs. M. B. SHARBROUGH, Biloxi, Miss.

REPETITION

Editor, RADIO GUIDE: "I am a housewife and daily listen to those splendid programs which include 'Pepper Young's Family,' 'Vic and Sade,' 'Ma Perkins,' 'The O'Neills,' etc. Now these are fine programs. However, they do contain too much detail, too much repetition. Daily these programs (with the exception of Vic and Sade) are summarized before the broadcast. This is fine, but during the program the summarization is repeated by the characters. Surely there is enough material for script-writers without rehashing yesterday's plot."—JUDY GOLDBEN, San Francisco, Calif.

MAGIC KEY

Editor, RADIO GUIDE: "I agree heartily with many other listeners, that when one does not enjoy or approve of any program on the air all one has to do is to turn to something else. The sad thing is when one enjoys tremendously part of the program and disapproves of other parts . . . Many of us have enjoyed mightily the really fine programs put on by RCA under the title of 'The Magic Key.' The Key is indeed magic in producing a marvelous variety of entertainment. The type of singers and instrumentalists, and the range of subjects of interview or acting are so worth while and splendid—MOSTLY—that RCA's latest scheme is most distressing to me, and I imagine to many others . . . Recently RCA has been including songs which while either passable, or at least endurable, on a program of strictly popular music, seem positively vulgar in themselves on the Magic Key; and, to my mind, amount to an insult to such singers as Madame Flagstad or Miss Lehmann, when they, on the same program, gladden our ears with their marvelous voices and their beautiful songs. I do not object to the performers of these objectionable songs, but to their choice of songs. There are plenty of light, amusing songs which would not offend the ear or the mind . . . which these same artists could present . . . Yours for constructive criticism, not destructive complaining."—E. CUMMINGS, Syracuse, N. Y.

In Memoriam

Entertainment on the air is so new that some of its pioneers are still with us; others, though their places in our daily lives have been bequeathed, are honored in fond recollections. As May 30 calls again upon the living to think of the dead, Radio Guide uses these pages to recall some of the best loved of radio's entertainment trail-breakers. Will Rogers (above) was a national idol. Below: Scene of Hollywood funeral service, and right, memorial to him in Colorado

They were the dreamers years ago,
The brave, true-hearted pioneers
Who saw, but could not stay to know
The full achievement of the years.

We are the ones they dreamed about,
The young, beyond the mists to go
And, some day, overcoming doubt
Harvest the seed they dared to sow.

LOCAL GAL MAKES GOOD

Fred Gardeni brought his accordion to the Wheeling station to whoop it up when Sara Rehm left for the big town!

BIG news in broadcasting circles was the advent early in March on MBS of Wheeling Steel Co.'s "Musical Steelmakers" show, for it introduced something new in programming. Built on the variety-show pattern, the Sunday afternoon half-hour presents employes as entertainers. Mill-hands and office-workers become stars to the public, envoys of company good-will to the other employes.

Bigger news in personalities was the Chicago visit several weeks ago of Sara Rehm, the show's singing star (she is a part-time office-worker at the company's headquarters in Wheeling, West Virginia). Purposes of the trip were an appearance on Mutual's "Melodies From the Sky"; a reward for the girl whose personality "lifts" her employer's program; most of all, the purpose was publicity, for "Musical Steelmakers" is a press-agent's "natural." With every entertainer on the program a Cinderella, editors everywhere have headlined yards of stories and pictures about them. Sara Rehm invaded Chicago to keep the drums beating.

In the day and a half she spent in the big city, Wheeling's girl was put through a process designed to give her "glamour"—to give the program publicity. These exclusive pictures trace the metamorphosis of a star!

Earl Summers of "Musical Steelmakers" led a brass band while an admiring home-town audience cheered

Exclusive photographs by Drucker, Seymour

Despite the many activities crowded into her trip to Chicago, Sara Rehm had only a little over a day in the city. Leaving home (above), she was embarrassed, happy

First appointment scheduled for Sara's day-on-top-of-the-world was a rehearsal at the studio for her appearance on "Melodies From the Sky" with Harold Stokes the following night. Then she was taken to Helena Rubenstein's salon for an exercise session to stimulate circulation, make pictures like this!

Sara, guest of MBS and the Wheeling Steel Co. after she arrived in Chicago on a Tuesday morning, was ready for anything to happen after registering at her hotel (above)

Most of the exercises and treatment, including a steam bath and massage, were given to relax taut nerves, relieve the tension of her Chicago debut—but a permanent wave was included strictly to make the show's star look like a star

Pictures make publicity, and in Chicago Maurice Seymour makes the pictures. His slogan personalizes Ziegfeld's—"Seymour Will Glorify You." Above: Make-up man provides perfect complexion of photographic make-up Final product of hours of posing, light-shifting and other preparation is a picture of Sara Rehm any newspaper or magazine editor would be glad to print. Wheeling, West Virginia's, 19-year-old Sara Rehm: Glamour Girl!

"Melodies From the Sky" is one of the most elaborate sustaining musical programs on the air—one of the Harold Stokes shows which brighten MBS schedules. Sara Rehm's appearance was a highlight of the program recently. Ostensible reason for the trip, it was only part of business of being a star!

Back in Wheeling after less than two days as Cinderella, Sara was greeted by the same home-town band, same cheering citizenry, and at the office, same desk!

CAN RADIO ACTORS ACT?

Prominent among group's organizers was Arthur Peterson (left), heard on "Dan Harding's Wife," other serials. Burr Lee directed stage show, "The Devil Passes." He is on "Jack Armstrong," "Orphan Annie," and others

RADIO drama is dependent upon listeners' imagination—and through it becomes the most realistic of all dramatic media. Radio actors, however, cannot "act out" their roles because of the demands of microphone technique. Whether they could adapt their air-acting to the needs of the stage has been one of the hottest controversies in the profession.

To work out their own answer, a group of Chicago radio artists in 1937 organized "The Little Theater Off Bughouse Square," planned to present plays directed by radio producers, staged by radio technicians, starring radio actors. Now called "The Radio Theater Guild" (since it has had several successful plays), the group still uses a hired hall near Chicago's famed "Bughouse Square," haven for soap-box orators. The pictures on these pages show the building and presentation of "The Devil Passes," third play staged by the air artists of the "little theater."

Photographs by Bob Graham

Bob Graham, NBC sound-effects expert, was technical adviser for the group, took all pictures on these pages except of himself (above). Plays presented to date have been acclaimed dramatic successes—and have attracted small crowds!

Herbert Nelson, of NBC's "The Guiding Light," and Lenore Kingston, of NBC's "Don Winslow of the Navy" cast, were stage-manager and costume-mistress respectively. Everyone helped work on the play's publicity (above)

Betty Caine and MacDonald Carey, of the "First Nighter" cast, played character parts. The play involves a tragic "truth game," in which each person tells what he wants most, but learns how fulfillment would harm others

Arthur Peterson, as Rev. Nicholas Lucy, shows each character in the play how his most-cherished wish would bring disaster. Above (in rehearsal) he proves to Norma Peterson her love for Carey would engulf and ruin him

Ray Johnson portrays a fanatical minister who is led back to real godliness and tolerance

Betty Caine's ambition is to do her duty, and she alone escapes hurting others in achieving it

Norma Peterson of "A Tale of Today" is Mrs. Arthur Peterson. In the play she meets MacDonald Carey, falls in love with him. When she comes to his country cottage, he invites other guests, sets scene for the "truth game"

Finale of the play (above) finds radio actors forgetting the limitations of radio-studio acting, excelling in theatrical drama. Since these pictures were made the group has been expanded, will present more and varied plays. Because most shows presented have been "serious" but not overly impressive, the group has won little recognition, but still feels its experiment is a success. Radio and stage make different demands—but they can and do meet both!

WHAT'S BECOME OF—

Arnold Johnson, one-time employer of ten bands, counted his weekly salary in the thousands. Now he leads the life of a gentleman farmer. Broke after the '29 crash, maistroing MBS' "1937 Radio Show" aided a slight comeback

Without a radio sponsor or any other regular employer for more than a year, Joe Cook continues to maintain his palatial Sleepless Hollow home at Lake Hopatcong, N. J. Plans that he'll head a summer show are rumored

Conrad Thibault, on Show Boat for three years, resides in New York, is studying for the opera

Ray Knight ran Cuckoo Hour, was heard on News of Youth, is now working on an interview show

Happily married to a Chicago politician, Countess Olga Albani has retired from regular radio singing

Lennie Hayton's band on a show once assured its success. Now he's on the Coast, "open for bookings"

Since last winter Rubinoff and his orchestra have been on a concert tour covering twenty-six states. About June he is expected to be in Hollywood for film work

Judy, Zeke and Annie Canova, hillbilly singers and comedians, were last heard regularly on the Woodbury show with Shep Fields in March, 1937, then went to Hollywood to make a movie; appeared as guests of Ben Bernie, and this month returned from a vaudeville tour of Europe

OLD BOOKS WANTED

We pay big cash prices for thousands of different titles. We bought over 7,500 books in past twenty-one months, paying as high as $500 for a single book. For example, we will pay you cash for the following books as described in our price list:

Fanshawe	$500.00
Adventures of Tom Sawyer	200.00
Old Swimmin' Hole	75.00
Black Beauty	100.00
Treasure Island	50.00
Scarlet Letter	35.00
Leaves of Grass	250.00
Science and Health	35.00
Snow-Bound	45.00
Uncle Tom's Cabin	100.00
Ben Hur	50.00
Last of the Mohicans	50.00
Moby Dick	100.00
Little Women	25.00
Evangeline	35.00
McGuffey Primer	100.00

These are but a few of the many thousands of books we want. DON'T SEND BOOKS until you have checked our latest list giving full information. Don't delay—a single old school book, story book, Bible, poetry, history, travel, almanac, newspaper, letter, autograph, may bring you $25, $50, $100, $500 or even $5,000 cash for certain books. Better investigate NOW. Send 10c to the American Book Mart, 140 S. Dearborn St., Dept. 720A, Chicago, and we will send you latest list of old books we want to buy and cash prices we will pay.

Every Saturday Night DON'T MISS IT!

TONIGHT—listen to the famous National Barn Dance. Uncle Ezra, Joe Kelly and 40 radio artists will make the "old hay-loft" ring with mirth and melody. Old fashioned singing and dancing, old time tunes, fancy fiddling, cross-roads comedy. A whole hour of fun for old and young.

Columbia's Ted Husing captured top spot among all sports announcers

Genial Don Wilson won highest tribute among all studio announcers

TED HUSING, DON WILSON TOP ANNOUNCERS' POLL

LAST YEAR'S WINNERS REPEAT IN SPORTS, STUDIO CLASSIFICATIONS

KEY MAN and number one supporting pillar of any radio show is its announcer. When a radio program is broadcast, the announcer's is the first voice to go on the air and the last to sign off. If first impressions are as important in radio as they are everywhere else, the announcer counts for a lot! That radio's big-time sponsors think so is evidenced by the fact that the demand for top-flight announcers often considerably exceeds the supply, and star announcers frequently have more work than they can handle.

Essentially, an announcer is a salesman, and it is as a salesman that he must stand or fall. But the announcer is in a peculiarly difficult position: his employer—the sponsor—judges him the effectiveness with which he presents the all-important sales message. The listener, on the other hand, isn't interested in that phase of the matter. He wants to be aroused, amused, thrilled, and over-enthusiastic "selling" by the announcer usually means a definite alienation of the listener's affection.

According to the considered judgment of RADIO GUIDE readers, no announcer succeeds better in this difficult bit of juggling than Don Wilson, once again named king of studio announcers. In winning 1938 honors, Wilson follows his genial boss, Jack Benny, who has been chosen radio's top comedian for the fourth successive time.

Ted Husing, last year's winner among sports announcers, ran away from the field again this year, again followed closely by Graham McNamee and Bob Elson in that order.

Ken Carpenter and Phil Stewart placed second and third respectively in the studio announcers' poll, displacing Tiny Ruffner and Jimmy Wallington. Carpenter rose from fourth place, Stewart from eleventh in the 1937 poll.

Results in the divisional elections of the Star of Stars poll are announced weekly, as are the new elections. This week, on the inside front cover of RADIO GUIDE, you will find the ballot for the current division of the poll: the most popular human-interest show. Turn to that page now, read the instructions—and vote for your favorite human-interest program.

Turn to the inside front cover for Human-Interest Show Poll!

Results in the Ninth Division—Star of Stars Poll

2. Ken Carpenter	10. James Wallington	5. Tom Manning
3. Phil Stewart		6. Paul Douglas
4. Milton Cross	(Sports Announcers)	7. Pat Flanagan
5. Harry von Zell	1. Ted Husing	8. Red Barber
6. Howard Clancy	2. Graham McNamee	9. Hal Totten
7. Everett Mitchell		10. Bill Stern

"Summer Contests," which replaces "So You Like Contests?" formerly on this page, will appear in Radio Guide next week. Watch for it!

LOSE FAT Controllable FAT

OHIO NURSE Lost 47 Lbs. ... tells how!

Read What Others Write

• Would you like to get rid of controllable fat quickly? Then do something about it! You are possibly one of those many overweight people who are embarrassed and made uncomfortable with unsightly fat. Here is a suggestion: do what thousands of others have done, try the easy way to lose this fat, like Mrs. Gladysse Ryer, Registered Nurse, of Dayton, Ohio. She writes: "I had been overweight for 13 years and was getting heavier. Then I tried RE-DUCE-OIDS and lost 47 lbs. Results were most satisfactory!" Mrs. J. Fulfs, Honey Creek, Ia., writes: "Lost 34 lbs. Delighted!" Mrs. Porter Tyler of Crandon, Wis., writes: "Reduced 67 lbs., felt better from the start." Miss Dorothy Lawrence of Detroit reports reducing 36 lbs. Violet Haskett, Registered Nurse, San Francisco, writes: "Lost 27 lbs. with RE-DUCE-OIDS—felt fine ever since. Recommend them to my friends." These letters are typical of the many we receive telling of the wonderful success people have with RE-DUCE-OIDS. Why not follow these Nurses' examples, and try RE-DUCE-OIDS, the modern, easy way? Pleasant to take. Millions of genuine RE-DUCE-OIDS have been sold by reliable stores for the past 23 years. Sold by your druggist or department store. (If out—have him phone his wholesaler for RE-DUCE-OIDS—today.) If unable to obtain RE-DUCE-OIDS write American Medicinal Products, Inc., Dept. G387, 746 Sansome Street, San Francisco, Calif.
