Careers Ahead

Add to the list of things your son may want to be "when I grow up" that of swing musician. No more cowboy ambitions in this advanced radio age; no more inventor or soldier or sailor. Nowadays youthful minds choose to be a G-man or a trap-drummer. Credit the latter to this jitterbug era.

Heroic examples are before them. Benny Goodman is King of Swing and a clarinet is his scepter. Bunny Berigan is high man among trumpeters, Tommy Dorsey is the high priest of trombone-players, Gene Krupa is the Omnipotent Oom of drummers. Add the bank accounts of those gentlemen together and you probably would get a sum twice as great as that owned by four even unusually successful businessmen of their own age. Indeed, at their age it is hard to find any unusually successful businessman. Swing pays and the kids know. There is a glitter about the work, too. It puts you on a pedestal, the public at your feet. You know stars, ball-players, heroes, statesmen, celebrities.

Once, boys rode to manhood on imaginary white chargers, clad in the invisible armor of Sir Lancelot. Now they ride on the beat of ding-donging broadcasts, hammering their feet against scarred floors, twisting their backbones in vain attempts to outjitter the King Jitter, Gene Krupa himself.

There are those among us who wonder how it will all come out.

"Damn It to Hell, It's Dangerous"

Don't be alarmed. We have not lost our sense of the proprieties. But we saw that head in the New York News the other day, on that great paper's editorial page, and when we saw what that publication was attempting to accomplish we decided to borrow both the headline and the editorial. We believe it is the most forceful way in which we can plant our banner on the side of the listener and against the decision of the Federal Communications Commission. Hereunder is the editorial:

"Many readers will dislike the above heading, on the ground that it is cheap, weak writing-tactics to try to attract attention by the use of profane language.

"We agree. The reason why we are using that language this morning is that we want to call all the attention we can to a ruling day before yesterday by the Federal Communications Commission.

"This seven-member outfit supervises radio. By a vote of four to one, with two members absent, the FCC decided Thursday to silence a lot of radio stations for having broadcast Eugene O'Neill's 'Beyond the Horizon' last July 28 as part of an NBC-Blue network educational drama series.

"O'Neill is one of our greatest playwrights; some would call him the greatest living playwright writing in English. 'Beyond the Horizon' is one of his more important plays. The reason given by the FCC for this ruling was that three expressions in the O'Neill play—'damn,' 'Hell' and 'for God's sake'—are 'obscene and indecent.'

"The FCC member who voted No was Commander T. A. M. Craven, U. S. N. Ret., who denounced the ruling as an FCC attempt to 'censor the air.'

"We agree with Commander Craven. And we believe that now is the time for citizens, broadcasters, newspapers, magazines, etc., etc., to get up on their hind legs and do some fighting on Commander Craven's side.

LIMITS OF CENSORSHIP

"This paper will not be barred from the mails for publishing the above headline. But readers are entitled to stop reading any paper whose language they don't like. Barring use of a handful of well-known English words which all agree are too dirty to print, that is the only censorship to which the press should be subject—reader censorship.

"The same reasoning applies to the radio. When Mae West broadcast her Adam and Eve skit some months ago, various Legion of Decency sympathizers had a perfect right to make the protest which they did—or to go on and boycott the station broadcasting the program or the advertiser sponsoring it if their protests were not heeded.

"But the dangerous line is crossed when attempts are made to have government cut off newspapers or radio programs. And it is a very dangerous line indeed.

"We have all seen evidence in the last few days of the terrific power of the radio—in Hitler's fierce war speech from Berlin, in Mussolini's various trumpet-voice orations, in Chamberlain's tired-old-peacemaker speech.

AN INSTRUMENT OF TOTALITARIANISM

"It may well be that whoever can control a nation's radio facilities in

Map, left, shows points between which William L. Shirer was shuttlecocked during the war crisis in order to report events via radio

Another RADIO GUIDE First!
 Wars and war scares require a new technique of coverage these days. The old romantic figure of Richard Harding Davis, the beau ideal of former newspaper days, is gone. In his place is a hard-hitting American news-hunter who mixes sweat and speed and an expert's knowledge of economics into a word-brew and pours it into a microphone. He knows diplomats, prime ministers and cab-drivers. He was born in America—usually in the Middle West. He is tireless, fearless, and sometimes reckless. He was responsible for the most exciting radio week America has known when, three weeks ago, he talked from the frying-pan of Europe.

Wherever the fire was hottest, American voices recorded the temperature. One voice was that of William L. Shirer, central European representative of the Columbia Broadcasting System. How he got there and what he saw is a great story. RADIO GUIDE is proud to present in him today's newest hero, the radio war correspondent.

THEY are dismantling the big anti-aircraft gun on the building across from the Adlon Hotel here, so it looks like this assignment is finished. This is the way it was:

Since leaving peaceful, sleepy Geneva on September 10 for Prague, on a hunch that a tremendous story was about to break, until I arrived at Berlin yesterday, October 2, after having seen the German army finish that story by its occupation of the Sudetenland—in these short three eventful weeks which saw Europe on the brink of war until Britain and France had capitulated to Hitler, my own activities could be summed up like this:

By air, train, truck, bus, car and horse-pulled army carts I traveled exactly 2,950 miles (practically the distance from New York to Los Angeles). I averaged two hours sleep daily, mostly in my clothes, and often snatched only on train or airplane. I've lived largely on sandwiches, hot-dogs, and coffee until I would rather starve than face another one. And I've bellowed so long into microphones or bad telephones that my doctor says that if I don't keep my mouth shut for a few days my voice will be gone entirely.

But it's been the most interesting, exciting three weeks of my life. After the first few days you forget the lack of sleep and food. The excitement and difficulties you met on all sides and your efforts to overcome them; the first-hand view you got of all the so-called big-shots of Europe, nervous and worried at prospect of war; the various reactions of men in the face of danger, and your passion to make the American public see this via radio kept you going at top speed all the time. Probably I wouldn't have slept or eaten much even if I could have.

But, of course, sleep was impossible when you were either broadcasting or gathering news until four or five in the morning. And if New York or London didn't phone you at 6 a. m. with the day's news and schedule of talks, you phoned them. It was only midnight in New York, and if you went to bed at 6 a. m. say, then at about 7 or 8 a. m. the news started coming in. Correspondents started phoning from Sudetenland, and by 9 a. m. the government ministries and local radio engineers were on the phone with the news and broadcast schedule. Or at 7 a. m., after an hour's sleep, you were setting out on a drive of 200 or 300 miles through Sudetenland, which is mountainous and slow going in any old trap of a car you could find (since the army had taken the best) and there were nerve-wracking breakdowns when you had to be back in Prague, a hundred miles away, in a couple of hours to broadcast at a scheduled time.

GET back to Prague in two hours! Report to Berlin in the morning. Godesburg is on the wire. Call Paris, London, Munich, New York. That was the staccato pace at which William L. Shirer, lately appointed CBS representative in Europe, lived during the recent war crisis. For the well-known Chicago journalist was reporting events via radio from the trouble zone to America. By truck, plane, horse-drawn army carts, sometimes afoot, he traveled, living on sandwiches, hot-dogs and coffee, snatching sleep when and where he could. During those weeks when all Europe was a powder-keg with the lid off, he traveled nearly three thousand miles, broadcasting history in the making, once at a railway station just before boarding a train. The fact that he speaks French, German, and Italian made his work a trifle easier. Chicago-born (1904), Shirer first went to Europe for the Chicago Tribune in 1925.

At Godesburg the night of the Hitler-Chamberlain talks, which finished at 1:30 a. m., I finished my work at 5 a. m., since the phone service to the outside world was terrible. At 5:50 a. m., my car left for Cologne to catch the Berlin airplane leaving at 7 a. m. So I just lay down on the nearest table in the hotel lobby and snatched forty minutes sleep.

At Munich I finished broadcasting at 3 a. m., spent the next hour trying to find a sandwich and took a New York phone call at 5 a. m. Then at 6 a. m., I received a call from Murrow that had been put in from London at noon the day before; up at eight to cover the last meeting between Chamberlain and Hitler; dashing from that to catch a noon train to Berlin to get army passes to go into Sudetenland with troops. We arrived at Berlin at 8:15 p. m., were told at the station we must leave at 9:14 p. m. for the "front," though in that hour I was lucky to get a bath, some warm food, call the London office and arrange in Berlin for a speaker to replace me on the night schedule.

I CAUGHT the train, got four hours sleep, and before dawn was in Regensburg, where we met the army staff officers and then set out by bus for Passau. October 1 we spent all day going up with the German troops, and I got back to Passau that night only to find that military censorship forbade all broadcasting. Telephone service was also practically impossible from Passau, as the army had taken it over. I got the train, however, to Regensburg, where I arrived just before midnight in time to telephone the story through to Paris for relay by wireless to New York. The next morning it was impossible to get an airplane, so I spent the day on the train to Berlin, where I arrived an hour before my scheduled broadcast, only to find that military censorship still forbade me to talk on Sudeten occupation. When I

ON OCTOBER 6, 1937, Jessica Dragonette stepped to the microphone and said to her radio audience with the same appealing earnestness that marks her singing: "I am leaving radio for a while so that I may devote my time to concert work . . . I shall never forget your devotion to me. It has been my highest inspiration."

With the singing of "I'll See You Again," her voice died away.

I was one of the millions who sat by a radio that night, stunned by her goodbye. I had listened to Jessica since the old Philco days, when our family owned a small battery radio set and each of us fought for the one pair of earphones on "Jessica's night." I had heard her opening Cities Service concert in 1930, and throughout that glorious series of seven years I had spent each Friday evening with her and her music.

When she decided to change programs and give us a light-opera series, I was at the radio to welcome her, and did not miss one of those delightful Beauty Box Theater presentations.

Now, on October 6, 1937, Jessica was saying in her warm, tender voice, "I am leaving radio for a while so that I may devote my time to concert work."

I heard the announcement with a heavy heart. It meant that she must temporarily leave radio. It meant that for the first time in ten years I, and millions like me, had to get along without the magic of her voice.

HOWEVER, I thought she was right to take the tour. It was not fitting for her to have a radio career only when the concert halls were crying for artists such as she. It was all wrong for the majority of Jessica's admirers to go through their lives without the faintest conception of what she looked like. Her pictures never show her beauty. Even the best ones lack that ethereal expression of hers that goes hand in hand with her equally ethereal voice. The only way to estimate her personal charm and beauty is to see her.

The concert hall has provided that opportunity to us. Her tour this past season extended all over the United States and even to far-off Honolulu.

I followed her concerts as best I could, poring over musical magazines for news of her. One day I read she was to sing in Chicago at a summer concert in Grant Park. Here was my chance. After ten years of silent adoration by a radio, I might have the privilege of paying public homage to her! I planned the trip that would take me to her, and arrived in Chicago excited and thrilled!

Her concert began at eight o'clock in the evening, but the Dragonette followers began to gather as early as noon. Not only from Chicago did they come, but from all over the country as well. From Michigan, Ohio, North Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska, Wisconsin—even from Canada, they poured into the concert, lured to Grant Park for this one precious night with Jessica. They sat in the broiling sun for hours, waiting for Jessica; and because they came to see Jessica, they talked to each other about her. They told how they loved her, how many years they had listened to her singing on the radio. Very few of them had seen her in person. Tonight, at last, they would!

WE BEGAN to exchange stories about her. We told of our devotion to her, a devotion that has lasted through the years with ever-increasing tenderness. Each person offered a different tale. This was one of the best: A young woman said her mother had owned a rare and beautiful fan. At her death she fell heir to it and realized with regret that she had no feminine

"TO JESSICA, WITH LOVE"

OFF THE AIR AT PRESENT, MISS DRAGONETTE IS ONE RADIO STAR WHO STILL DWELLS IN THE HEARTS OF THOUSANDS

LAST summer a smartly dressed, intense young woman called on me. "I should like to write an article telling how much Miss Dragonette means to her fans," she said.

An editor is suspicious of visitors who "want to write an article." He has a technique for handling them. "Miss Dragonette is not on the air and our policy doesn't permit . . ." I began.

"But she won your Star of Stars poll without being on the air," the lady told me. "And she just sang before the largest crowd ever gathered in Grant Park. Her fans haven't forgotten her."

Fans! The word is one an editor mistrusts. Usually it means an empty-headed dullard who tears off a star's clothes for souvenirs. Or an autograph-seeker begging a prop to his own vanity. But these eyes were so sincere and this face was so earnest. She was no ordinary fan.

I said, "Write the story and send it to me." That is also a part of an editor's technique for dismissing visitors. The story comes to him after a week or two and is rejected.

But this story was not rejected. For I had never read another like it, nor do I think one is likely to be written. In its way, "To Jessica, With Love" is a historical document. It attests to the miracle of radio and the satisfaction it has brought during its first years to millions of lonely and uneasy people. Because Jessica Dragonette had something to give that people needed, people adored her without stint. Growing up with broadcasting, her following broadened and its devotion deepened. In this devotion there is something that must be like the faith which soldiers gave to Joan of Arc.

Please read "To Jessica, With Love." I don't pretend to understand the bonds of devotion which created it, or the magnetic force which created those bonds. But as an editor, I recognize sincerity. And in its presence here, I feel humble. —The Editor.

heir to bequeath the fan to when she herself died. She loved it more than any possession she had, and could not bear the thought of its passing to a stranger later on.

"I sent it to Jessica," she told me, "because I wanted someone I loved dearly to have it. Though I had never seen her, her music brought her close to me."

Another girl told a different story. "I have never been able to send Jessica a gift which would in any way indicate my deep appreciation of her singing," she said thoughtfully. "This spring I decided to find such a gift."

She chose one, to be sent Jessica at Easter time. It turned out to be far more expensive than she had intended. The only way she could buy it was to use the money she had been saving for a new spring coat.

"I gave up the coat," she said smiling, "and sent the gift to Jessica. Her music will warm my heart until I can save for another coat."

One girl said she had deficient eyesight and could devote but a short time each day to fine needlework. She spent over a year sewing on a special gift to be sent Jessica on her birthday. During that time she could not use her eyes for anything else. She did not read a book or sew on any other article.

She saw but a few movies, wrote only occasional letters.

"I gave all of my eyesight for that year to Jessica," she said, "because it is the most precious thing I have."

I was particularly impressed with the story of a small, middle-aged man who sat directly in front of me at the Grant Park concert. Some years ago he was in a Chicago hospital. Jessica Dragonette came there to see a sick friend. The news of her visit spread quickly through the building. The men's ward sent word to her, asking that she stop in the doorway for a moment on her way out, so that they might see her. She did not stop in the doorway. She came in—and sang a song for them!

"SHE was so beautiful," added this man, "I thought afterwards I must have dreamed it."

But when Miss Dragonette walked out on the stage of the Shell in Grant Park, Chicago, and sang "Liebestraum" for her opening number, the little man turned to me. "No," he said softly, "I didn't dream it."

She was a vision of loveliness that night, dressed in a pale-blue gown which was sprinkled here and there with sequins, shining like stars. There were stars in her eyes, too, and in her bright hair. She fairly glowed, did this petite singer, who is herself the nation's official "Star of Stars."

One hundred and fifty thousand Dragonette fans jammed Grant Park to hear her sing that night. An eager, enthusiastic crowd they were, anxious to see their angel of the air in person. She lived up to their expectations, both in beauty and in song. What they loved most was the fact that she gave them the melodies she has made famous over the air. As each old favorite greeted them, they applauded joyfully.

Her last scheduled song was "Indian Love Call," the first number she ever sang over the air. Dragonette listeners have always associated it with her. She finished it with exquisite tenderness.

"You belong to me, I belong to you."

Appealingly she stretched her arms to her public as she sang those words. The crowd went mad! They jumped to their feet, clapping, whistling, shouting their approval. They called "Bravo, Jessica!" They begged for "Alice Blue Gown," probably the best-loved number of her large repertoire. She sang it with infinite charm, and her blue dress added to its spell. They asked for "I'll See You Again." She sang that, too. Finally the orchestra ran out of music and she could sing no more.

She came to the edge of the stage, gratefully acknowledging their applause. Still they would not let her go. She returned again and again to curtsy, to smile, to wave a graceful hand to the adoring throng. It was the most spontaneous ovation I have ever witnessed. Here spoke the people who had sat by their radios year in and year out, loving Jessica's music. She was deeply moved. Coming to the microphone she said in a choked voice, "My heart is too full for utterance."

SIMPLICITY and charm! It is no wonder that her popularity continues after ten consecutive years of radio singing. Just recently she won the greatest radio poll of all time, RADIO GUIDE's "Star of Stars" contest. After winning one section of the contest, the feminine classical singers' division, Jessica ran away with the final poll, which embraced all radio entertainers in the broadcasting world. She is now radio's "Star of Stars." It is the greatest tribute that will ever be afforded Jessica, coming as it did in the midst of her first concert tour and at a time when she was not appearing in a regular broadcasting series. We of her loyal legion look forward eagerly to her next radio program, which we hope will coincide with her fall concert tour so that we may have the intense pleasure of having Jessica come to us via radio each week, as well as in person to our cities. It will mean an all-absorbing winter for her, but "hard work" is Jessica's middle name. Her love of music, her many sacrifices, her long hours of practice and rehearsals are not forgotten by those of us who love her. She may feel that our devotion to her is her highest inspiration, as she said so charmingly in her final broadcast last winter; but what of her devotion to us? She shows it in every song she sings!

How can we prove our affection to her? How can we let her know what her singing has meant to us all these years? That is always a problem. We give her so little in return for so much.

Realizing my own inadequate methods on this subject, I have written this article as a gesture of appreciation for all she is—all she stands for. And, like the Dragonette admirers I met at her Chicago concert, who prefer to remain unknown, so do I prefer it.

This article could have been written by any one or every one of Jessica Dragonette's followers. I am sure that each would close it as I am doing,

"To Jessica, with lots of love."

YOU AND YOU

—Sunday, NBC

Euripides, Shakespeare, Ibsen, Hugo, Tolstoi, Shaw, Anderson—names to conjure with in the theater, names of great writers, whose great plays will live as long as society! The great dramas of the world paint a picture—vivid, forceful and deep—of life and its consequences. The National Broadcasting Company, in its current series entitled "Great Plays," endeavors to re-create a few of the spokes in the giant wheel of dramatic literature so that we on the rim may be in contact with the hub of truth about which we revolve. Last season's inaugural series was greeted with such enthusiasm by educators as well as the general public that the present set of plays is being selected and built with a view to an even more complete and striking panorama of the world's theater, with the scene moving chronologically from Athens to Broadway in thirty weeks. In this, the second in the group, comes front and center "Everyman." On the loom of medieval England's morality allegories is woven a pattern of universal life, and by the side of our 1939 radio receivers we can hear ourselves portrayed even as the first 1529 audience saw its own life pictured in the plot of "Everyman."

WANT THE WORLD?

—Sunday, NBC

*"If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds full of distance run,
Yours is the world and everything that's in it . . ."*

According to that criterion, there are thirty chances each week to claim the world in the Smithsonian Institution's Sunday afternoon program, "The World is Yours," for there are thirty times sixty seconds dealing with the world's great accomplishments. This Sunday the engineering world—and thereby the whole magnificent vista of today's physical costume—is yours for the listening. Perhaps you have heard about the engineer who stormed, "Curse that decimal point!" when the bridge he had constructed collapsed — and passed it off lightly as just another joke, not realizing how utter its significance. Maybe you sit smugly in your fortieth-floor office without one thought of the colossal magnitude of its structural stature. Perhaps you have floated on a liner through the Panama Canal —asleep in your berth. Maybe you have seen a newsreel of Boulder Dam or the San Francisco Bay bridge and merely muttered, "Very nice," with a shrug. And perhaps we'd be less blase and more appreciative of our wonderful world if we should listen to the amazing story of American engineering accomplishment Sunday when "The World is Yours."

CASE DISMISSED

—Sunday, CBS

Rosalind Russell has won acclaim in several Shakespearean roles, but Portia is one character she doesn't care to play—not in real life, anyway. If law-practising Papa had had his way, daughter Rosalind would have grown up before the bar—no, no, not the kind of bar you're thinking of; rather the imaginary bar of justice. Although she is now known to be partial to severe coiffures, strictly tailored costumes and the color black, still Rosalind just couldn't picture herself tormenting a witness or exhorting a jury, so—she became an actress and went to Hollywood. It wasn't as easy as that. The process involved dramatic school, tent-shows, stock, vaudeville, Broadway, and hard work. Miss Russell, considered one of Hollywood's most vivid personalities, is considered also to have one of the most perfect airwave voices. Sunday she will have another opportunity to demonstrate those qualities when she is presented by the "Silver Theater" with popular, personable Jimmy Stewart in the first of two consecutive dramatic performances by this couple for the same program.

SWINGING, ROCKING

—Sunday, MBS

Have you met Mr. and Mrs. Swing? Maybe you know that personified couple as Red Norvo and Mildred Bailey. Red is one of the chief exponents of that same color-scheme in music—red hot. He himself cavorts nimbly and nastily on a "pile of bones"—xylophone to the tender-feet of swing—along with his band-directing duties. The feminine half of the famous Mr. and Mrs. act rocked herself to musical glory and the title of "Rocking Chair Lady" by her individual rendition of that ballad of pathos on rockers, "Old Rocking Chair." Whether or not you are acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Swing (there's that word again!) and their stock in trade, you may have the opportunity of meeting or remeeting them under auspicious circumstances when he of the torrid tempos and she of the tremulous tones will be the spotlight entertainers on the MBS "Show of the Week" on Sunday.

"HADDY, EV'BUDDY!"

—Sun., Tues., Fri., NBC

"Hail! Hail! Here comes Uncle Ezry, here comes Uncle Ezry!" "Give him a toot on the tooter, Tommy!" Here's the old jumping jenny-wren himself, back with us in person. The beloved old busybody has had a nice summer vacation (probably fishing and puttering around down in Rosedale, with a few flings thrown in to keep him young and pert), and now he's ready to get back into the radio harness with the same old pep and perspicacity, by cracky! They can't keep a good man down, can they, Ezry? This time, besides two week-day fifteen-minute spots, the saucy small-town sage blossoms into an additional half-hour Sunday show. More power to you, Old-Timer. If your air activities are as homely, as peppy, as humorous, as lifelike as they have been in the past, you may be sure not only the good folk of Rosedale but many friends far and wide will welcome you back to the microphony. And that's our "thought for the day."

COFFEE AND CANDLES

—Monday, NBC

Quiz programs, comedians and crooners may come and go, but like the babbling brook, babbling Don McNeill and his Breakfast Club go on and on. Don, the democrat of the breakfast table, and his fellow entertainers of the morning board, are preparing to celebrate an anniversary. Monday marks the sixth milestone for this, one of the most consistently, extensively and perennially popular of sustaining airshows. Six years in the life of a human means he's ready to go to school and learn his three R's. But six years in the life of a radio program means it has graduated from the elementary branches and is ready to work on its entertainment master's degree. So Monday morning the Breakfast Club can put on its long pants, stand right up to the mike and proclaim, "Today I am a man," confident that its three-R curriculum of razzing, rousing and rhythmic has been absorbed with honors. In fondling his Breakfast Club souvenirs, as one is wont to do on his birthday, Don finds such evidences of far-flung acquaintanceship as an Alabama bale of cotton, a Maine pine cone, a rope of sailors' knots from sea-going sailors, a South American poisoned dart, a Virgin Island floor-mat, and a Hawaiian cocconut-head. An orange-juice toast to the Breakfast Club for six sparkling years!

OF HOOFS AND SPURS —Tuesday, CBS

Well, fellers, the Series is over, the last sad rites have been said over the ashes of the Cubs' hopes, and the post-mortems and prophecies are blending into the frenzy of a football mob witnessing the annual cataclysm between the Titans of Tiffany and the Gargantuans of Gondola. These are the two sports that most often make the sports-page headlines, but there are many other popular and exciting sports. Two of these have their day in the sun when Professor John T. Frederick presents his Tuesday edition "Of Men and Books." Our friend the horse trots and paces into the spotlight when Professor Frederick discusses two books on the venerable sport of harness-racing:

Genial Don McNeill, who emcees the "Breakfast Club," other shows, used to be a cartoonist

Not to be outshone, the rooster swaggers forward, crowing that he too will get a slice of publicity when the book about cock-fighting, "Courage," by Tom Pridgen, will be discussed on the same program. FORUMARATHON

—Tues., Wed., Thurs., NBC

The Herald Tribune "Forum on Current Problems" is one of the biggest programs ever to go on the air from the standpoint of the amount of time allotted in one week for its presentation. This week eight and three-quarter broadcasting hours are to be consumed by the eighth annual Forum as an exclusive NBC feature, and when a network turns over that much valuable radio time to one feature, then it should be somewhat of an indication of the project's merit. The general theme, "America Facing Tomorrow's World," stimulates, at least, some attention to the wide range of vital problems to be discussed by men and women of national and international reputation. There is a challenge, a mystery, a suspense, a potency that poises just beneath the surface in the unpredictable world of tomorrow that lures young and old, man and woman, today into militant contemplation. Such subjects as these to be delved into cannot help but whet the intellectual appetite: "Keeping the World Young," "Shall We Break With Tradition?" "Business and Government," "War Over the World," and "The World of Tomorrow." Eight and three-quarter hours is not too much time for prospecting in such potential fields.

A REAL RECORD —Thursday, NBC

In the ring the count of nine means somebody is just about out. On the diamond the ninth inning means it's usually some team's last chance. This week to Rudy Vallee and NBC it is the count of nine and the end of the ninth inning, but there the analogy ends, for Rudy is still on his feet, fresh as ever, and the radio game goes right on into extra innings. Thursday Rudy celebrates the end of the ninth and the beginning of the tenth year with NBC. They have been years of consistency and brilliance, and there is no indication of any slackening in the Vallee pace. You can't take it from the fellow. He came up on his own, steadily and spectacularly. As a singer, as a musician, as a talent-discoverer, and especially as an all-around showman, Rudy Vallee continues year after year to collect and hold a huge and faithful audience, together with the sometimes grudging commendation of cooler critics. To Rudy, his music, his talent-sponsoring activities, and his showmanship, it looks like a long game. No one can deny that his place in the entertainment world represents a story of genuine accomplishment.

EXTRA GOOD NEWS —Thursday, NBC

Maybe that potent body referred to casually as the public is growing a bit weary of movie monopoly in radio. Maybe a great many listeners resent their taste being insulted by a sponsor paying a kleig cutie a moderate fortune to answer an m.c.'s stereotyped questions about her latest films, her diet, and her struggles. But it is good news to appreciative listeners when a real dramatic star or stars appear before the microphone. So, it will be a rare treat for many when Clark Gable and Lionel Barrymore appear together on the "Good News of 1939" program Thursday. One has the rare quality of appealing to both strong men and sentimental women. The other is one of the supreme actors of our time. That should guarantee merit.

VOLUBLE VANDENBERG —Saturday, CBS

"Double, double, toil and trouble"—the political cauldron is boiling, Hallowe'en is near, and, true to good old American tradition, spielbinders are abroad. But not of the common run of political spielers is Senator Arthur Vandenberg. He is in the select class who speak with conviction and authority and, consequently, are called authorities or leaders. Senator Vandenberg has been and is still considered Republican presidential timber and has often been prodded in the direction of the White House by his associates, but he continues to press noncommittally but militantly forward as one of the outstanding leaders of the liberal-conservative faction. Considered one of the Senate's most distinguished orators, Vandenberg is listened to, if not always agreed with, by others than his own party. As a member of the Republican National Committee, the Senator from Michigan will address a meeting in the Memorial Hall in Columbus, Ohio, Saturday. His talk on "Current National Issues" will be broadcast over CBS.

THE RADIO PLAYBILL: THIS WEEK—"VIC AND SADE"

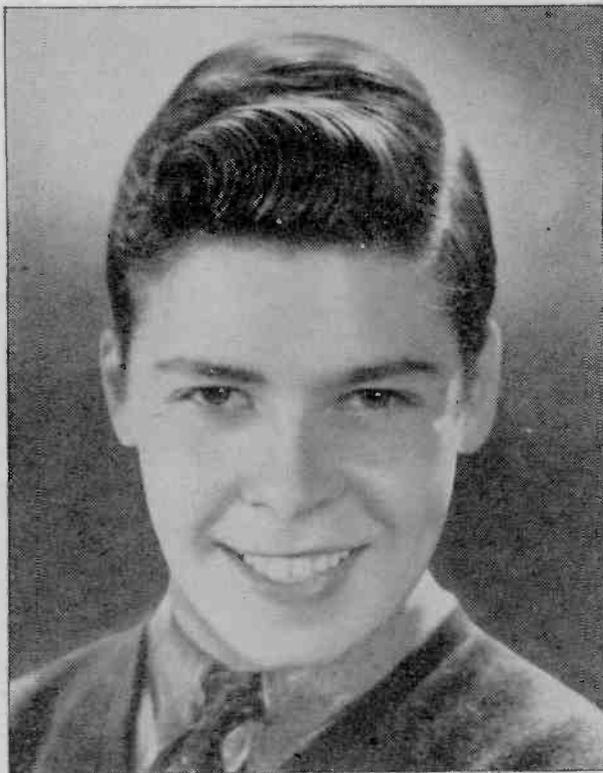

—Maurice Seymour

—Maurice Seymour

VIC is the type of small-town character that Norman Rockwell brings to life on Saturday Evening Post covers, and Clarence Budington Kelland portrays so aptly in some of his short stories. Bluff, hearty, and good-natured, Vic is a bookkeeper for the Continental Kitchenware Company, Plant 14, located in a middlewestern town. A humorist of sorts, Vic calls his wife Sade "Kiddo," and his son Rush by a series of zany names. Aside from his family, his chief interest is his lodge, in which he serves as Exalted Big Dipper. Art Van Harvey plays the role of Vic

SADE RUSH met and married Vic in her home town, Dixon, Illinois. One of those rare women who make really tolerant wives, Sade takes her good-natured husband as she does all the shortcomings of the human race. Vic and her son Rush come first in her life, but her main outside interest is the Thimble Club, which meets once a week to sew and gossip about local doings. Sade's chief annoyance is Hank Gutstop, Vic's ne'er-do-well fellow lodge member. Among Thimble Clubbers, it's trouble-makers Mis' Applerot and Mis' Brighton. Bernardine Flynn plays the Sade role

RUSH GOOK, Vic and Sade's teen-age son, got his mother's maiden name. Rush thinks his parents are swell people, and one girl, Mildred Tisdell, attracts and repels him all at once. His Uncle Fletcher wants him to take "pianny" lessons; Rush is more interested in American-boy sports and pals in the games with him, especially baseball. Billy Idelson plays the part of Rush Gook

ON THE air for more than six years now, the tremendous appeal of "Vic and Sade" to radio audiences lies in the author's ability to make his characters do and say just what ordinary real-life folks do in small towns the length and breadth of the nation. The setting is Bloomington, Ill., where the author lived for many years, and residents of the town say they can recognize many points in the show as coming direct from real life there. The Gooks live in "a small house half-way up the block." Their homely every-day doings make the show. Often it's nothing more important than Vic and Sade's conversation on "beef punkles" and "Limberschwartz cheese," or a ride with the Stembottoms. The big thing about this show that makes it unique is the fact that there's never a tear, tragedy or heart-throb. Nobody ever tries to steal Sade from Vic, and Rush, their son, never gets into serious trouble, nor is any one of the trio ever rushed to a hospital near death. The phone rings and the door slams, but that is about all that's ever heard in the way of sound-effects on the program. Occasionally when Vic rummages around the pantry, there's the sound of falling crockery or tinware. The one really indispensable prop is the telephone, as it is the means by which the neighbors are brought into the life of the Gooks. "Vic and Sade" is heard Mondays through Fridays over NBC at 11:15 a.m. EST; 10:15 a.m. CST. Again over CBS at 1:15 p.m. EST; 12:15 p.m. CST; 11:15 a.m. MST; 10:15 a.m. PST. Announcer for the show is Vincent Pelletier.

PAUL RHYMER, who authors "Vic and Sade," has an abrupt sense of humor that startles everyone, including himself. Paul joined NBC in 1929, originated the Gooks in 1932, and has been at them ever since. A college graduate, author Paul likes to say he's driven taxis in Chicago, sold magazines in Cicero, had his fortune told in St. Louis, and his wallet stolen in a mining town

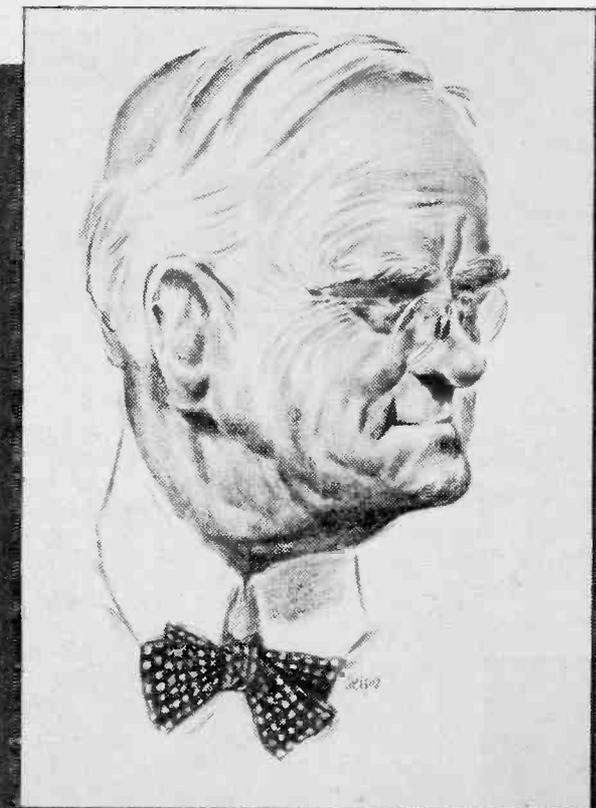

RUTHIE STEMBOTTOM is Sade's dearest friend. Together they solve problems of the universe. Sweet and kind, Ruthie never wants or needs much

MR. BULLER, traveling inspector in Vic's territory, is no softy. He has a prodigious appetite, works hard, and lives in a granite world

MR. GUMPOX, the garbage man, is a fine example of leisurely industry and sound integrity. He can be depended upon in any emergency

CHARACTER most inquired about by listeners is Uncle Fletcher, retired businessman who lives in Dixon, Ill. Eccentric is the word for Uncle

BLUE-TOOTH JOHNSON is Rush's pal. He got his name from a peculiar incisor that lends a bizarre note to his ready grin. He loves baseball

SMELLY CLARK is another member of Rush's gang. He holds the long-distance record for spitting, and is adept at sneaking into the movies

ALTHOUGH Vic, Sade and Rush are the only voices ever heard on the sketches, artist Del Poore's conception of other characters in the serial (on this page), as well as scores of neighbors, relatives and friends, are just as well known to radio through the Gooks' frequent mention of their names, and heated discussions of their good points as well as failings. Fred and Ruth Stembottom are a young married couple who live down the block. Fred's a factory foreman and Ruth is the perfect example of miraculous housewifery. Mr. Buller, traveling inspector for the Consolidated Kitchenware Company where Vic is employed, is aggressive to a fault. The next time a belligerent motorist bawls you out for some minor driving error, take a good look at him; it may be Mr. Buller. Uncle Fletcher is Sade's uncle who specializes in addepleted ideas. While dinner is cooking, Sade often reads his wacky letters to Vic and Rush. Hank Gutstop, the town loafer, spends his time figuring out ways and means of getting free meals. Hank's Exalted Little Dipper for the Drowsy Venus chapter of the Sacred Stars of the Milky Way. Mr. Gumpox works up and down the alley between University and Virginia Avenues. A target for witticisms, he can always be depended upon to run errands or help hang up the Monday wash for housewives along his route. In addition to his other talents, Smelly Clark is a master at jimmying penny gum-machines; and if anyone wants Blue-Tooth Johnson in a hurry, he can always be found in the vicinity of third base over on Tatman's vacant lot. Altogether, Rhymer's characters rival those of Dickens' for odd names, and far outstrip them in humor.

THE farther we travel symphonically the more Beethoven's "Fifth" seems to gain in vitality and significance.
That is one of the values of the major masterpieces in all art.

Whether or not one accepts the suggestion that the opening four notes of the Beethoven symphony represent "Fate knocking at the door," the fact remains that the entire score stirs the imagination and engages the emotions even without putting a "story" under the music. To me the first movement stands out as easily approached symphonic communion. Anyone should be able to fix upon the terse initial motif and the songful second theme, and then to follow their recurrence, separately and in the intertwining of both, which the genius of Beethoven accomplishes with such continuous dramatic and lyrical results.

The March of Music

A Weekly Preview Edited By Leonard Liebling

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air..."—Wordsworth

Canada in Tone

One hears about "the concert of nations," or, in particular, "the European concert," but neither has anything to do with music except it be the chorus of cannon or the song of shrapnel. Different from all that is the fifth real world concert, which is being aired this time from the Dominion of Canada to fifty-five countries on all kinds of waves, Sunday, October 23, 2:30 p.m. EST, through NBC, CBS and MBS in cooperation with the International Broadcasting Union at Geneva, Switzerland.

The imaginative thought underlying the presentation is to put forth, through the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, a musical panorama of the five main geographical divisions of Canada, depicting its sweep from ocean to ocean. Starting at Lunenburg on the sea-shores of Nova Scotia, the program will whirl its way across the three thousand miles to the Pacific, stopping at Quebec to pick up the voices of the Alouette Quartet and at Ontario for a recital by Ernest Seitz, Canadian pianist (composer of "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise"). In Winnipeg, an old-time orchestra offers tunes representative of the wheat-growing provinces, then we move on again to British Columbia, land of tall trees and the lumber industry.

All the music has been arranged and linked together by Percy Faith, young Canadian composer, conductor. The entire performance will flow swiftly without verbal interruption except to introduce each region visited. As a grand finale, there is the actual felling of a giant tree in a British Columbia forest, with authentic lumberjack songs by the logging crew at the scene.

Of course this is propaganda to show the size, might and resources of Canada, but the method and manner form a strong contrast to the proclamations of Herr Hitler whenever he sets out to advertise the same qualities of Germany to all the world.

Pianistic Parade

Alfred Wallenstein confides to this department that the present violin concerto series (MBS), with Joseph Coleman, will be succeeded by a procession of piano concertos embracing all the best examples in that form. Wallenstein now is seeking the proper soloist to do the comprehensive job.

Lawrence Tibbett has won equal success with the "Met," in motion pictures, on the concert platform, and in radio. Will be Ford's guest Sunday

—Lucas and Pritchard

Fritz Stiedry, conductor of
"New Friends of Music," Sun.

"Lemminkainen" (rarely done in its entirety) the last section is "The Swan of Tuonela," dealing with the Hades of Finnish mythology. The dire locality (Tuonela) is surrounded by a broad river of black water and rapid current, in which a fabled swan glides majestically and sings affecting strains. The sad melody is first played by the English horn, answered occasionally by the cello or viola, sounding like the farewell sigh of some soul outward bound. Mysterious pianissimos of the strings lead back to the swan-song and a concluding rueful chant for cello.

Sibelius, passionately loving his Finland, has, through his music, done more than the country's historians and philosophers to acquaint the world with the character of his land and the nature and ideals of his people.

Brandenburg Concertos Nos. 1, 2 & 3
(Bach)

BACH'S six so-called "Brandenburg" concertos (his first venture into absolute instrumental music on a symphonic scale) were commissioned by Christian Ludwig, Margrave of Brandenburg, Germany, and the composer finished his task in 1721.

The Margrave had a private orchestra of his own, doubtlessly with few first-rank members, and therefore he liked the idea of concertos in which groups of players rather than individuals served as soloists.

Bach made each concerto for a different set of instruments. Nos. 1 and 2 are for small combinations of strings, woodwinds and brass, while No. 3 employs strings only. Naturally the works show sparse virtuoso demands. No. 1 has much merry banter in the first movement between the grouped soloists and their fellows, but the general effect is rich and full. The second movement consists of ornate, expressive song. The opus ends with a set of delightful dance tunes.

Concerto No. 2 brings forth much trumpet activity, the airs of the opening movement suggesting Italian influence, the middle section being a sort of quartet for flute, oboe, violin and cello; and the finale, rather showy writing asking the trumpet to climb to higher altitudes than is customary these days.

In No. 3 we have three groups of three instruments each, violin, viola and cello, treated with marvelous skill and scope.

THE present program has distinction and puts forward euphony, sentiment, ebullience and humor, the last represented by Rossini and Dukas.

Brahms' song is a striking example of how an accompaniment may be made as descriptive as the vocal part. The text recounts the pleasure of lying on the grass, harking to the birds and gazing happily at the canopy of the skies. Follow the simple, heartfelt rapture of the piano measures.

"Danny Deever" had its premiere when Damosch and a singer performed the composition in New York for Kipling, author of the words. He was so perturbed by the necessary rhythmic changes in his lines that he ran from the room. The public, however, took the sinister, stirring song into lasting affection.

A "carillon" is a peal of bells in scale character. Bizet tellingly imitates the chimes of three bells by having the players mute their horns and pluck their strings.

This week marks the third appearance of the fiery Iturbi as Ford's conductor.

Symphony No. 6 "Pathétique"

(Tchaikowsky)

SOME uncertainty still is the keynote of Toscanini's advance programming, for, as RADIO GUIDE goes to press, he has not decided whether to play the second or third of the Bach Brandenburg concertos. At any rate, readers may find comment about both works in the "New Friends of Music" program.

Of busy Haydn's 125 symphonies, only a few retain an abiding-place in the repertoire, and hold that honor because of their exalted form and facture and wealth of attractive melody. Toscanini, devoted interpreter of Haydn, animates all that creator's sentiment, humor and sparkle.

In his earlier years, considering Tchaikowsky exaggeratedly emotional and deliberately sensational, Toscanini performed him only rarely, but recently the maestro seems to have undergone a change of mind, for he now bills the Russian composer's music fairly frequently.

This, by the way, is the first time the great Italian will conduct the work in America.

British-born John Barbirolli is conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, heard over the Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday

New York Philharmonic In 1938-39 Series

NEW YORK PHILHARMONIC programs resume on the air (Sunday, 3 p.m. EST, 2 p.m. CST, 1 p.m. MST, 12 noon PST, CBS) with twenty-eight concerts, welcomed warmly by those to whom this winter series has become an indispensable part of Sunday musical broadcastings. As for the past several seasons, John Barbirolli will do the baton-swinging and give his well-pondered and feeling interpretations.

Youth, by the way, seems to be the keynote of the Philharmonic plans, for its seven new members, just engaged, range downward in years from a patriarch of 43 to a lad of 19; the former, Joseph Fick (viola), and the latter, Calmen Fleisig (viola). Harry Hyams (viola) is 21; Albert Goltzer (oboe), 22; Homer Mensch (double bass), 24; Milton Forstat (cello), 28; Carlo Raviola (double bass), 36.

Barbirolli himself is an antique veteran of 39 as compared with those adolescent striplings, Toscanini, 71; Stock (Chicago Orchestra), 68; Koussevitzky (Boston Symphony), 64; Stokowski, 58; Monteux (San Francisco), 63; Klemperer (Los Angeles), 53; Reiner (Pittsburgh), 50.

The Philharmonic is the venerable orchestra of our land, having been founded in New York ninety-six years ago. At the first concert there were fifty-two players, and all stood while performing except the cellists. Four of the members acted as ushers, wearing white kid gloves and carrying long white wands. Financially the undertaking was on a cooperative basis, and at the end of the initial season the profit for each executant was exactly $25, which indicates that they must have been playing because they loved music. Unions now decree that while there is no objection to loving music, it must be well paid for, and some men at the solo desks receive as much as $250 per week. Time marches on and orchestral fees march up!

At this season's broadcasts, eminent guest soloists are promised, including Kirsten Flagstad, Iturbi, Eilman, Spalding, Cassado, Milstein, Schnabel, Serkin, Arthur Rubinstein, Gieseking, Schelling, Bustabo and Mishel Piastra, concertmaster of the Philharmonic.

Associated directorially with Barbirolli will be Georges Enesco, versatile Roumanian musician, and Ernest Schelling, who has charge of the Young People's Concerts on Saturday mornings. Deems Taylor is to serve again as the intermission commentator.

New Friends of Music Introduced to Radio

IT WAS in 1936 in New York that a novel enterprise came into existence, calling itself New Friends of Music. The old friends of the art (as well as its friendly enemies, the critics) had long thought that the metropolis was already overcrowded with concerts, and some skepticism expressed itself when the fledgling organization announced as its initial activity a series of late Sunday afternoon programs devoted to the masterworks of chamber music, the added inducement being admission prices within the range of modest purses—a one-dollar "top" and twenty-five cents for music students.

Then the unexpected happened. Ninety-seven percent of subscriptions were sold out before the first concert, and even now not one ticket is left in the box-office for this winter. Parts of two of the 1937-38 concerts were broadcast by NBC, with the response of the air listeners so enthusiastic that the same network is now doing the entire 1938-39 cycle of sixteen programs (works by Bach, Beethoven and Haydn), the broadcasts to be Sunday afternoons (6 p.m. EST, 5 p.m. CST, 4 p.m. MST, 3 p.m. PST, over CBS), emanating from Town Hall in New York. While the previous offerings of the Friends were confined to small instrumental groups, the present more ambitious venture includes the formation of a special orchestra of forty players, to be led by Fritz Stiedry, noted batonist from Vienna. Famous string quartets to be heard are the Kolish, Budapest, Stradivarius and Pro Arte. Some of the concertists list well-known soloists, among them Myra Hess, Ernst Wolff and Yella Pessl.

NEW YORK.—By the time you read this, Sophie Tucker should have put her signature on the dotted line for a thrice-weekly series over CBS for a cigar-maker, which is good news to this loudspeaker eavesdropper, who can't understand why she hasn't been on a regular series long before this . . . Maxine Sullivan will be heard regularly on the "Saturday Night Swing Sessions" from now on and will also have her own show on Tuesday nights . . . Eddy Duchin's new songstress, Penny Wise (and not a pound foolish), is really Doris Fisher . . . "Life Can Be Beautiful" switches from NBC to CBS starting November 7 . . . Barrytone Wood has organized his own band and will make a series of Brunswick recordings . . . Ray Heatherton is another singer to be dropped from the CBS schedules.

Ben Bernie has been under observation and treatment for a stomach ailment, at the Le Roy sanitarium in New York. He left the place accompanied by a nurse on Sunday, October 8, but only long enough to do his two broadcasts, after which he returned immediately for more rest and more treatment. One wag reports Winchell sent Bernie a lily.

Last week I told you that Graham McNamee got the job of announcing the Vox Pop program on the recommendation of his friend, Wally Butterworth. David Ross doesn't know it, but Wally was also responsible for his new announcing assignment on the Fred Waring program. Here's how it happened: The advertising agency handling the Waring program wanted McNamee and so did Vox Pop. It was impossible for Mac to do both shows, because they followed each other. Salesman Butterworth told his friend at the agency that David Ross had just the type of voice for the product the Waring show advertises—it had dignity and fitted in with the music. He also reminded him that Ross was with Waring on the Old Gold program several years ago. Wally did not have to say another word—he sold his bill of goods.

Fred Allen's broadcast goes on the air from the largest studio at NBC, yet his opening broadcast of the season couldn't accommodate all who tried to get in. Five minutes before broadcast time Harry von Zell comes out and makes his prebroadcast speech. He tells the audience they can even up an old score by "hollering back" at those who heretofore have hollered at them, which is a new way of getting studio applause. At this point, Allen enters the studio, coming down the center aisle, and walks on the stage. He reads a telegram just received, "Glad to welcome you back on the air, we have been getting the blame all summer!" and signed by the Chicago Stockyards. It goes over big with the audience. For the "Town Hall News" and announcements, Allen speaks into the larger end of a megaphone, the kind used by college cheer-leaders, in order to get those curious tonal sounds. About fifteen minutes before the end of the program, the show is two minutes behind schedule. A production man rushes from the control-room and whispers to Fred that he will have to cut the "Mighty Allen Art Players" skit. Allen assures the p. m. that it won't be necessary to cut and that he will make up the time. He keeps his promise: the show finished "on the nose," as they say in radio.

I attended the opening Fred Waring broadcast and, frankly, I was sorry I did. It's the type of program that you enjoy more when you listen to it come out of your loudspeaker. Fred thanked me for coming, but added that he was sorry I did not hear it over the air. The Waring show is one that is definitely put on for the listeners at home and not for the studio audience. The program was most enjoyable despite the fact that almost everyone on the show had the jitters. For that reason, I'm going to reserve my decision on Donna Dae, Fred's new songstress, who couldn't possibly have been more nervous and naturally didn't do her best vocalizing. The rhythm trio, "Two Bees and a Honey," seemed the only group to be at ease, and they were very pleasing to the ears; and if you heard Stuart Churchill and the Glee Club sing "The Rosary," you probably agree it was one of the most beautiful renditions you've ever heard,

The Waring Glee Club all wore tuxedos, the boys in the band wore tan formal jackets and black dress trousers. All the men had carnations in their button-holes, and most of the gals had orchids pinned to their lovely evening gowns. It being Saturday night, many people in the smart-looking audience were dressed in formal attire and the entire setting was a grand sight to behold.

Jim McWilliams had quite a few celebrities on hand for the opening of his new "Ask-It-Basket," providing a real treat for the studio audience. McWilliams introduced from the stage Bess Johnson of "Hilltop House," Colonel Norman H. Schwarzkopf of "Gang Busters," and two old friends of his vaudeville days, Myrtle Vail and Donna Damerel, better known to you as Myrt and Marge. All the above-named stars work on the programs produced by the same advertising agency.

Mentioning Jim McWilliams reminds me of what took place the other Saturday night, which probably caused Norman Frescott's face to turn crimson. Frescott, as you may know, is the new "Uncle Jim," having succeeded McWilliams on the "Question Bee." Anyway, what I started out to tell you is that Frescott did the customary thing on this program and called a lady up from the studio audience to plug his sponsor's product. Adding a new note to the hitherto same drab commercials, the lady in question launched into great praise of "Uncle Jim." She said, "I've listened to your wonderful program for years, and I think you have done a fine job." She was not aware, of course, that Frescott was the new "Uncle Jim" and that he took over the program from McWilliams only a few weeks ago. Frescott looked a little embarrassed having to listen to all that praise which was really intended for his predecessor.

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

BY MARTIN LEWIS

The co-authors of "Her Honor, Nancy James," one of the newer script-shows, seem to have almost more fun at rehearsals than anyone else. They're Dave Victor and Herbert Little, Jr., and this is their first radio script, though they have written a lot for the magazines. They've become completely fascinated by radio, and like to take a part in as many of the programs as they can. One day they're crowd noises, saying "walla walla walla" like veterans; the next day they toot horns for a street-corner scene. I went up there the other day and they were doing a little bit of everything—and having a grand time doing it. And they're not the only ones outside of the regular cast who go on the air. The director, Basil Loughrane, who, up until a few weeks ago, produced and announced the "Lady Esther Serenade," plays a very important part in the continuity of the program. His is the voice you hear at the end of each show, the Voice of Fate, which summarizes the theme of what has just happened and points the way toward future events. The entire acting cast are all radio veterans. There's blond, curly-headed Barbara Weeks, who plays the title role, co-starring with Ned Wever, one of radio's busiest actors, who also has a prominent part in "Big Sister." Like so many radio people these days, Ned is busy rehearsing for a Broadway play, "Case History." Alice Reinheart plays a newspaper woman, and she was the center of attention the day I visited the program, because she'd suddenly got married the week before. Her husband is Burke Miller, night program manager at NBC. Joseph Curtin plays a major part in this program, as well as in Helen Menken's "Second Husband," and, incidentally, is surprisingly young, though most of his parts seem to be those of an older man. Mel Allen, who announces "Nancy James," is still one of my bets for one of radio's funniest cut-ups. Altogether the cast has a lot of fun, but that doesn't stop them from broadcasting one of the best of the season's new dramatic serials. "Her Honor, Nancy James" is about a woman lawyer's fight for slum clearance, and is well worth listening to.

If you're a regular listener to the Vox Pop program, you may recall that when they first came on the air watches were awarded each week to the listeners who sent in questions that were used on HOLLYWOOD.—With Texaco Star Theater and Joe E. Brown premiering, and Joe Penner, Al Pearce and Jack Haley resuming their air series during the past week, the studios here are becoming repopulated quickly. Let's look over the returners and newcomers. Texaco Star Theater, CBS, October 5: More stars and stuff on a single stage than your reporter has ever witnessed on a steady weekly show. Bette Davis superb in her dual role in "Alter Ego." Most-talked-of thing on air since Mae West, but not for same reason. Jane Froman, Kenny Baker and Dave Broekman's music great asset to show. Una Merkel, Ned Sparks and Charlie Ruggles for laughs, but I'm wondering if the Ruggles "double-take" registers on the mike? Menjou, immaculately dressed, keeping the show fast-moving with Jimmy Wallington's aid. Incidentally, the whole cast dressed formally for the opener—a practise I hope they'll continue in the hope that other Movietown shows may follow.

Joe Penner Show, CBS, October 6: Wholesome Joe in a new but fitting part as football player and college student-of-sorts; Roy Atwell as the spoonerizing dean, Ed McDonald as coach, Gay (Susabella) Seabrook as coed girl friend of Joe. Plumful routine for check-sending parents, adolescents or youngsters. Eleven-year-old Tommy Lane, singer fresh from Atlanta, Georgia, contest victory, will be a regular. After his Penner bow, a major movie-studio scout phoned Tommy and arranged a screen test.

Joe E. Brown, CBS, October 8: New bright spot for Saturday with Brown, Gill and Demling, a talking (Jack Mather) horse, and Don Wilson, with music by Margaret McCrae and Harry Sosnik, who sounded off a coming hit in "Ferdinand the Bull." Ahead of broadcast, when artists were being introduced to studio audience, Gill and Demling rushed out of wings and began tossing Post Toasties over the footlights. Not to be outdone, Don Wilson started tossing packages of Jell-O, whereupon Gill and Demling drew cap-pistols and shot him "dead." Brown, rabid Cubs fan, then asked audience to stand silently for a moment (and they did) "in reverence to the trend of the World's Series," which then totaled three for the Yanks!

Al Pearce and Gang, NBC, October 10: A sailboat replica four feet long done in flowers with grapes tied on one rail and nuts on the other greeted Al and his cohorts to the NBC lanes in token of their new and George and Gracie's old sponsor. Munroe Upton, the Gang's writer, and ex-Lord Bilgewater, took a bow with gags, and after a novel commercial theme lyric by little Carole Tevis, broke loose in the accustomed Pearce manner. You're right, that's Lou Bring's piano you heard in Carl Hoff's new band.

Jack Haley Wonder Show, CBS, October 14: A real threat for first-division comedy honors is Haley's new vehicle, Conn and Fimberg written, and supported by Ted Fio-Rito, Lucille Ball, and cellar-voiced singing star Virginia Verrill. Novel opening, that "Due to circumstances beyond our control, we present Jack Haley—etc." Also, the playlet routine was done without scripts and entirely from memory, a feature Haley desired in order to prepare his company for the coming television. If Fio-Rito's music seemed more like itself than last year, it's because he is using his own men—not just a set-up of CBS staff musicians.

Though not publicized for fear it would hurt his fan mail, the married life of tenor Kenny and Geraldine Baker is one of the cleanest and nicest things about Hollywood, so why should the public be fooled? Three months ago, news of the birth of their daughter Susan Louise was hush-hushed. But smack onto the front page, unfortunately as the result of a motor accident, popped Mrs. Baker's name last Monday, October 10, when a two-point buck deer ran out onto a mountain road in front of the car Mrs. Baker was driving alone. The car struck the deer, overturned and seriously injured the singer's wife. Luckily, a head injury turned out to be only a severe concussion, and Kenny's wife will recover.

Honest 'n' truly: Little Joan Benny, the Jack-and-Mary heiress, started to kindergarten last Monday and was asked by her teacher what her favorite program is. Joan answered, "Uncle Whoa Bill." She thinks Papa and Mama are silly . . . Bob Hope and wife Dolores sold the most tickets to the bazaar of the St. Charles Church in North Hollywood and won a set of new dishes—which they promptly gave to the new rector. Same church boasts as member one Bing Crosby, who last year provided $2,000 electric organ . . . Wallace ("Viva Villa") Beery, walking along Sunset Boulevard, refused autograph to young girl who proffered book. Maybe Wally, like Villa, can't write? . . . Martha Raye forgot to come home from her Mexican elopement in time to act in her Jolson show preview . . . Eddie Cantor, supported by Mary Livingstone, and with Edgar Bergen and Tiny Ruffner, tried out the ice at the new Pan-Pacific Auditorium rink. Tiny tried to make a left turn, but instead parked-his-carcass. Moral: In Hollywood it's hard for a man to keep up his end . . . Mickey Rooney, faddist, turned song-writer and announced completion of "Jitterbug in A Flat," or some similar title . . . NBC slyly opened its Hollywood Radio City without fanfare or kleig lights—but not slickly enough to escape a postcard from France (no, not that kind) asking for pictures of the plant and "especially your new swimming-pool studios." Paris just cannot imagine anything being built in Hollywood without a swimming-pool.

Vital Statistics: Married, October 7, Cantor and Haley chorister Marie Comings to Paul Green, NBC engineer . . . Dialectician Artie Auerbach and Cleo Manning spoke their vows October 9 . . . Ditto October 1, Eleanor Rennie, radio contralto, and Glenn Dolberg, NBC program manager at San Francisco . . . Born, October 10, eight-pound son to wife of CBS musician Erno Neufeld.

Reports from the "Motion Pictures Are Your (Next) Best Entertainment" front-line trenches are: That Margaret Sullivan, after looking over the flicker lots, chose Bill Goodwin, purely radio actor-announcer, as her leading man for her Silver Theater rendition of "The Moon's Our Home" . . . That several picture companies are really considering meeting the $250,000 per picture demand of all-radio-and-dance-spot entertainer Kay Kyser . . . That the disappearance of Elza Schallert from NBC is not all "vacation"; the radio-movie feud rather puts her on the spot . . . That Vick Knight, Camel producer and tunesmith, has turned out a nifty for Eddie Cantor to warble entitled, "Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment, but Tonight You Belong to Me."

Claudia's daughter Joan has finally become articulate in "One Man's Family." The youngster is played by six-year-old Eleanor Taylor who, like Bobbie Larson, your newly added Hank, memorizes her lines. Bobbie, quite a guy of six years, sees no reason why his mother should drive him to the studios; why he can't ride his bicycle there. Author Carleton Morse explained that Eleanor Taylor and Winifred (Teddy) Wolfe were driven, but young man Bobbie simply commented, "Nuts! They're Girls."

Only thing really hillbilly about Judy Canova, sister Annie and brother Zeke is their home high in the Hollywood hills. So high is it that after driving into its garage, you enter an elevator which lifts you to the home proper. They weren't even born hillbillies, for Jacksonville, Florida, claims them. And all of them are city slickers and dress like fashion-plates, except when in the studio or on the stage. Then they give the public the best burlesque of hillbilly dress ever seen. Those last-year stories of Judy suing Edgar Bergen for breach of promise etcetera were, of course, merely a gag, for Judy's a married woman. Incidentally, if she sang straight you wouldn't recognize her voice because it's so beautiful . . . And there, customers, (Continued on Page 19)

CHICAGO.—To the premiere of Guy Lombardo's broadcast on the Lady Esther Serenade. Compared to Wayne King's broadcasts, Lombardo's initial show for the cosmetic company was unusual in many respects. In the first place, in all the seven years Wayne King was sponsored he never permitted a studio audience. At Lombardo's premiere, Columbia's main studio was packed to capacity with many people even standing. I don't think that Wayne King ever spoke to his radio audience, although I did hear him sing on the show. Guy Lombardo introduced all the numbers himself and personally expressed his thanks to his well-wishers as well as outlining his plans for the Lady Esther series. (Incidentally, he plans on picking a future hit tune on each broadcast as well as playing one "old-timer.") And a loud cheer for the sponsor! True, it was good business and created plenty of good-will on opening night, but nevertheless not every sponsor will let a half-hour program go by without at least putting in one commercial. Yet that's exactly what the sponsor did. With the exception of announcer McCormick's brief opening and concluding announcements and Guy's brief speeches, the whole program was devoted to music. There wasn't a single commercial. And it was a swell show. Outside of Guy, who led the band but played no instruments, the busiest man on the stage was brother Carmen. He was jumping up and down like a veritable jack-in-the-box. One minute he was playing his sax, then he would pop up to do a vocal; a second later he was playing the flute, and three or four times during the show he joined two other band members when they did some numbers as a vocal trio. It's no wonder that Carmen alongside Guy is so thin. Guy is a big, heavy-set fellow. Carmen is a medium-sized chap and more of the thin-man type.

Just why was Wayne King replaced by Guy Lombardo? That had the boys along radio row wondering ever since the first startling announcement was made that the King had abdicated in favor of the Guy. Many of the "wise-boys" had said for years that King owned a piece of the cosmetic firm that was sponsoring him, but that theory was blasted when the Waltz King and Lady Esther parted. There seems to be no reliable story as to the real reason for the split-up. However, one story which is as good as any of the others being circulated simply states that King wanted more money than the sponsor was willing to pay. That seems about as logical a story as any.

Chicago Tries a New Experiment

Are listeners tired of the numerous script-shows on the air? The answer, if in the negative, would be of vital importance to Chicago, which, as I mentioned in an earlier column, is the script center of the country. Personally, I think the women are enjoying their serials more now than they ever did before, as witness the debut of many new script-shows this fall in addition to all of the old standbys continuing right on. Still it's interesting to note NBC's experiment in Chicago. They have started what they call "The Story of the Month." Instead of having a serial run on and on forever, each story is completed in a month. The third story of the month, "Twenty-two Days to Live," is currently on the air and NBC executives in Chicago report that this form of serial is proving very popular with many women. However, I doubt if it will ever replace the current serial style of script-writing. Once a show "catches on" with the audience, the loyalty of the listeners is amazing. They will send in box-tops by the thousands to insure the continuation of their favorite star and program on the air. And as long as that condition exists, sponsors of the numerous serial shows need have no fear of a monthly "tabloid" show replacing the serial in the audience's favor.

Hal Kemp Returns to Chicago

I attended Hal Kemp's recent opening at the Gold Coast room at the Drake Hotel. Though a southerner, returning to Chicago was more or less of a homecoming for Hal, as he rose to fame with his WGN and Mutual broadcasts from Chicago's famous Blackhawk Cafe. I asked Hal if reports that he would be married shortly were true. Hal said he didn't expect to marry for another two years. Hal confided that he was caused a great deal of embarrassment when Walter Winchell thrice wrote that Kemp was shortly to become a groom. In fact, he said he apologized to the girl's family after Winchell's stories appeared. The girl, incidentally, is Martha Stevenson, a Dixie belle. The bandleader said she was a lovely girl but that marriage for him at the present time was just "not in the cards."

Unfortunately, Hal's music is not being broadcast during his stay at the Drake's Gold Coast room. And it is not only the Drake Hotel that does not have any broadcasts, but all Chicago hotels. Here's the story behind that. Last spring, practically all orchestras in Chicago hotels were broadcasting over Chicago stations with the programs being fed nation-wide over the networks. In practically all instances, the hotels were not paying anything for the broadcasts, with only a few of them contributing to the "line charges." (Line charges, in this case, were the cost of the use of the telephone wires from the hotel to the radio station. Broadcasts from hotels go over a telephone wire to the station and are then broadcast.) The stations had been forced to hire more musicians by James C. Petrillo, "czar" of Chicago's musicians. To make up in a small way for this added expense and figuring that the publicity attendant to the hotel broadcasts was extremely valuable for the hotels, Chicago stations said the hotels would have to pay $100 a week for the broadcasts. The hotels countered by saying they wouldn't pay anything, inasmuch as the stations were getting famous bands without any talent costs.

THE RADIO TATTLER

BY HAL TATE

To date both the hotels and stations have remained adamant in their stand. And that is why, though Hal Kemp is playing at the Drake, Buddy Rogers at the Hotel Sherman's College Inn, and Guy Lombardo at the Palmer House's Empire Room, radio listeners are being deprived of hearing nightly broadcasts of these splendid orchestras. Chicago night-clubs and ballrooms, however, figure that $100 a week is a cheap price to pay for presenting their orchestras before millions of listeners. And so Abe Lyman is heard from the Chez Paree, Bob Crosby from the Blackhawk and Dick Jurgens from the Aragon. Buddy Rogers, for once, knows the valuable publicity attached to nightly broadcasts. When he learned that there would be no pick-ups from Chicago's College Inn it is reported that he did not want to come there. But the contracts had already been signed and so he had to go through with his agreement.

Happy Birthday!

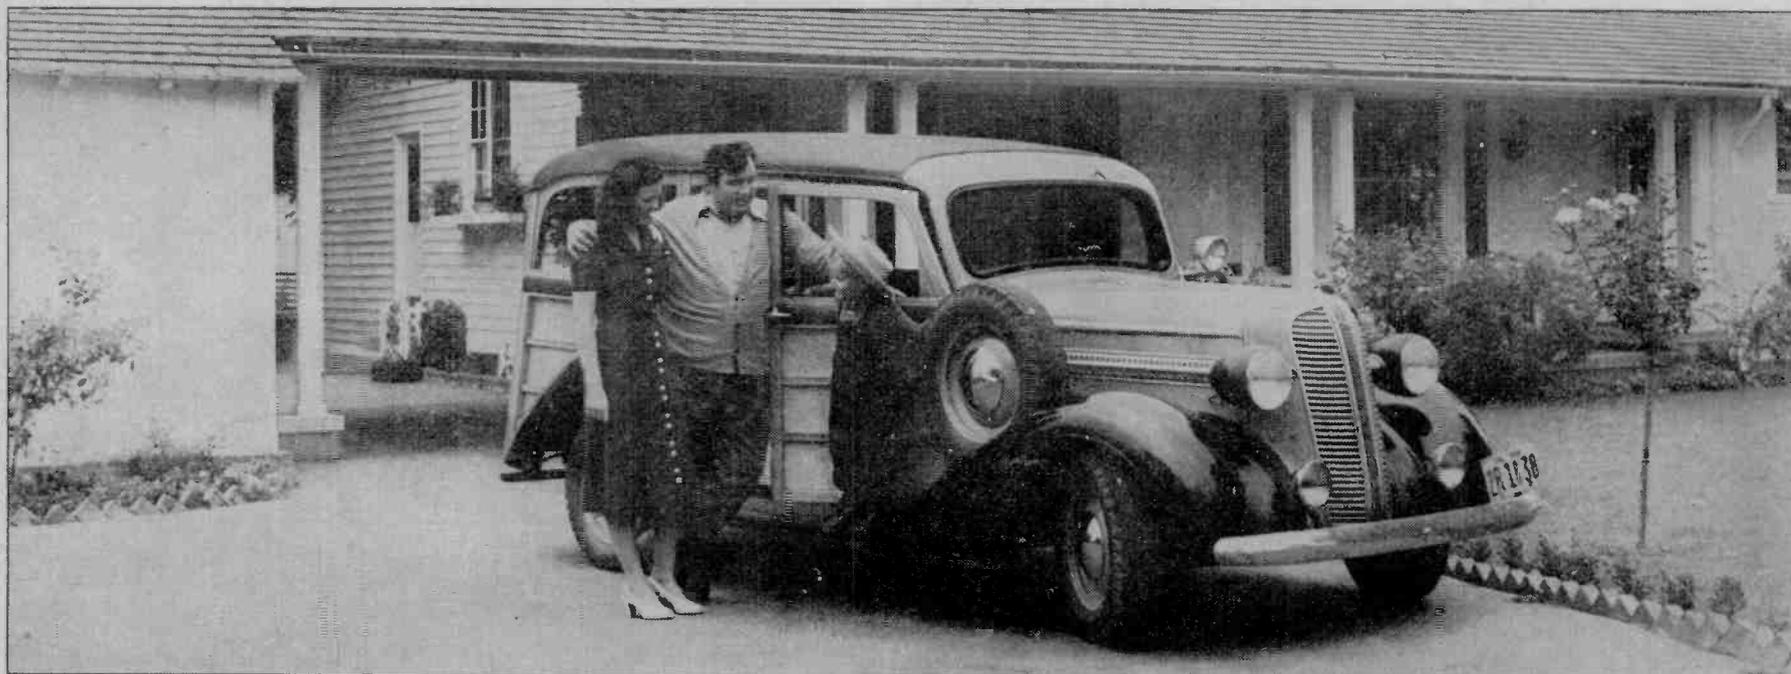

The NBC Breakfast Club will celebrate its sixth anniversary on the air October 24. This show boasts of some prominent alumni, including Fibber McGee and Molly, the Merry Macs and Gale Page. Incidentally, I saw Gale in the picture "Four Daughters," in which she did a splendid job. I got a big kick out of the fact that when in Chicago she was featured as a singer. In Hollywood, she does not utter a note but is being built up as an actress. I do hope what the correspondent of a Chicago trade-paper told me is not true. He said that while out in Hollywood last summer he went up to say "hello" to her, but she snubbed him coldly. The correspondent has known Gale in Chicago, but he said that sitting with Hollywood friends, she apparently did not care to have her Chicago "background" publicized too much. I certainly hope Gale hasn't "gone Hollywood."

The Tattler's Tidbits

Edgar Guest will soon observe his 350th consecutive performance for sponsors of his "It Can Be Done" program. He has been on the air continuously since May 19, 1932. . . . Emulating Dorothy Lamour's success, who rose to stardom after running an elevator at Marshall Field's (no pun intended), is Eloise Kummer. Last Christmas she was selling hats in Field's bargain basement. Today 21-year-old Eloise has risen to the 20th floor of the Merchandise Mart, where she is heard as Marcia Mannering in "Backstage Wife" . . . Lovely Ryth Barth, Chicago NBC actress, is the author of the month's current story, "Twenty-two Days to Live."

FATHER DEVINE

No seed-catalog farmer is Andy Devine (above with the Mrs.), honorary mayor of Van Nuys, California. He keeps the gravel in his voice by actually working his San Fernando Valley ranch, aided by his small son, Tad.

In addition to horses, chickens, turkeys, and pigeons, Andy now has ten calves, some baby pigs. The ranch's latest innovation is a "calf shoot" used by the radio-screen comedian for daily exercise of roping calves.

Andy's ranch home is a low, rambling farmhouse-style building with all modern conveniences. Above: Tad hitches a barrow ride to the henhouse.

Hunting eggs is one of small Tad's favorite farm chores. Dad is training him to be a good rancher. The kid loves it, and isn't Andy proud of him!

Two of the comedian's most prized possessions are a brace of English pointers, both well-trained hunters. Above: Andy removing annoying splinter.

A gasoline tractor does plowing on the ranch, located according to Andy in "Gravel Flats." Son Tad likes the plowing business with "choo-choo."

Ranching takes every spare minute of Barnyard Mayor Andy's time away from the movies and the mike. Just now the corral gate needs a few nails. "Father Devine" is still on the Jack Benny Jell-O show, Sunday night over NBC, at 7 p.m. EST; 6 p.m. CST. For the West: 9:30 p.m. MST; 8:30 p.m. PST.

LISTENING TO LEARN

Prof. Gordon and his studio helpers gave music lessons to 22,000 children last year. His series began eighth year on the air this Sept.

Good reception and skilful handling by teachers are rules for successful school listening. Radio brings aid and inspiration to Wisconsin's schools

Back Seat for the "Three R's" . . .

"Let the Napoleons and Alexanders of our day and generation come into our living-rooms and classrooms and speak to us directly," advises America's No. 1 authority on matters educational, John W. Studebaker* of the United States Office of Education.

In a recent release from Washington, D. C., Commissioner Studebaker, who is the outstanding exponent of the idea of making education vital for young people by bringing the more crucial questions into the classroom for examination by the students, elaborated on the above statement in making the following opportune suggestions to educators:

"Bring the world crisis into the classroom. It is worth the trouble it takes to rearrange and organize the high school or college schedule these days to enable the students to hear firsthand the most important pronouncements being made by history-making leaders.

"The student who missed hearing Chamberlain or Hitler because he was forced by an inflexible school program to conjugate German verbs or to report on the Elizabethan period of English history was deprived of some real education. He missed the significant experience of a close observer of a performance which future historians may never be able to tell quite accurately.

"What is happening today is grist for the mills of the teachers of psychology, sociology, civics and history. There is nothing in the text-books to compare with it."

This message, though primarily aimed at America's educators for the benefit of students, holds much for the layman listener . . . he too can expand his knowledge of current issues, dip his cup into the bountiful well that is opened to him by the twist of a dial.

* John Ward Studebaker, no "stuffed shirt," is a product of the days when the vitals of learning were embodied in the mysteries of the "three R's." He earned his way through college working as a union bricklayer, started his career as an educator in the high school of Guthrie Center, Iowa, meeting the joint obligations of principal and athletic director, and for several years prior to his Washington appointment was widely known for his administrative abilities and knowledge of instructional technique.

WISCONSIN'S RADIO WORKSHOP

SEVEN years ago, when pioneer McCarty, then as now program director of state-owned station WHA, founded the Wisconsin School of the Air, the conception of the radio broadcast as a valuable supplementary aid to classroom work was not only very vague but was outwardly poo-pooed in many quarters. That was 1931. Today—witness Cleveland, Chicago and numerous other municipalities—efforts to exploit the many-fold possibilities of radio in education are being vigorously sponsored in many sectors. The idea has since become accepted universally as one of substantial merit.

Much of the credit for proving to doubting-Thomas educators that radio can be a valuable tool of the teacher—if wisely used—goes to the Wisconsin School of the Air.* It was in this experimental workshop that many of the problems, unanswered in 1931, were approached scientifically, reduced to their lowest common denominator and dressed up for the classrooms.

One of the first illusions shattered after careful study in Wisconsin's studio-laboratory was that educating by radio meant the installation of a receiving-set in the classroom. This was far from the truth—to make radio a useful servant of the teacher many adjustments had to be made. Station WHA radio teachers tackled this problem by starting at the top, probing into the broadcast possibilities of school studies and designing programs to meet the necessities of the students. Another realization that had to be met was that the development of radio as a classroom aid depends finally upon skilful handling by the teacher. To solve this problem, pamphlets containing helpful data were compiled and distributed along with an advisory bulletin listing a number of valuable guide-posts to purposeful listening. The final conclusion that has been reached after a seven-year study is that radio can be a useful servant only when there is coordination between those who prepare scripts, those who present them, the broadcaster and the teacher.

* The General Education Board, national philanthropic organization, put their stamp of approval on the excellent work of the Wisconsin School of the Air recently by granting the University of Wisconsin money for the further study of school broadcasting.

Notes

Love Thy Neighbor . . .

Washington, D. C.—Officially Uncle Sam cannot say "Naughty, Naughty" to Europe's glorified dictators for their unchristian-like tactics in dealing with those among their countrymen who do not measure up to state-designated specifications for citizenship privileges. That subtle criticism will be made, however, is evident in Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' recent announcement of a new radio series being prepared by the Office of Education. Titled "Immigrants All—Americans All," the programs will have as their keynote, quoting the O. of E., "tolerance of all national and racial groups in appreciation of what each has contributed to American life."

New Field . . .

Paterson, N. J.—Lawrence Marks stepped from writing scripts to teaching others how it is done when he was recently appointed instructor in radio script-writing in the College of Paterson. Following attendance at Battle Creek College and the University of Wisconsin, Larry entered radio via acting and production. During the last presidential campaign, he was a member of Roosevelt's personal staff and has since authored numerous MBS scripts, a couple for Fred Allen and Tim and Irene.

Choice . . .

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Besides offering the classroom series, "The Nation's School of the Air," to outlets of the Mutual network, station WLW is also granting them the privilege of transcribing the programs for use later in the day if this will prove more advantageous to the schools within their range. Joseph Ries, educational director at WLW, supervises the series.

One Candle . . .

Chicago, Ill.—The Board of Education's radio council passed its first milestone (October 6) and now looks back on what has been an extremely active year. The radio council now supervises ten programs weekly for classroom use, supplies Chicago schools with helpful pamphlets of supplementary data and trains teachers to wisely apply broadcasts to school work. The poliomyelitis epidemic of September, 1937, broke down the barriers here between broadcasters and educators.

the future will control that nation. "If we want a totalitarian United States, one way to bring it nearer fast is for us to take these censorship rulings of the FCC without protest—to let the FCC gradually increase its power over the radio until it runs the radio.

"If we don't want totalitarianism here, we must keep the FCC within bounds, and narrow bounds at that.

"We believe that President Roosevelt, himself the greatest master of radio delivery in the world today, must understand the vital necessity of keeping the radio free if democracy is to survive here. We appeal to the President to give his personal attention to what the Federal Communications Commission, an agency of his administration, is doing to the freedom of the radio."

FROM BERLIN BY WIRELESS

finally got the censor's okay, the message had already been read in New York.

There wasn't real censorship of my stuff from Prague, though once I evoked official displeasure because I mentioned that roads were "blocked." At Godesburg, on the night the talks broke up, we were forbidden late that night to broadcast anything but official communiques. That was because things looked bad. At Munich, when things looked good for the "home" side, we were free to say what we wanted, though of course there are understood limits within which all correspondents or broadcasters in Germany have to work.

Both in Czechoslovakia and Germany I made a few talks which America never heard. In Prague, two days following Hitler's Nuremberg speech, atmospheric conditions over the Atlantic made broadcasting impossible, though at the time we didn't know it. For two days, with a tremendous story in my lap, I sat several times a day bellowing into a mike and nobody heard a word. In Germany, it was partly due to atmospheric conditions and partly to the breakdown of telephone lines, which would be suddenly taken over in the middle of a talk—or just before a talk—for important government business by state order.

GODESBURG had totally inadequate communications. Once when I thought I was talking to London by phone, I got the British Ambassador in a near-by hotel. When Webb Miller tried to phone his colleague, Ed Beatty, from one hotel in Godesburg to another, he was unable to get through, and after waiting three hours, telephoned his Paris office to telephone Beatty and ask him to please come over to Miller's hotel two miles away.

If you knew the German language you had no difficulties on this assignment. Most Czechs I dealt with spoke good German. In Sudetenland some correspondents had to telephone their stories in German in the presence of officials so that they wouldn't be indiscreet.

The assignment was hard on your wardrobe. I left laundry in Prague, Godesburg, Munich and Regensburg which I will never see again, and ditto with worn-down shoes left here and there to be repaired.

There wasn't time to waste on trifles. There wasn't a minute respite, not even on the night we all left Berlin for Godesburg. The train left before my scheduled talk began, and just as I was arranging for a substitute and thinking rest from the mike might do me good, New York suggested my talking from the railway station just before we left, which we did—thanks to the last-minute appearance of radio van and portable mike.

As to food—the best meals I had were with Czech and German troops in the field. It was at least warm and wholesome. Trading my American cigarettes against their food was a fair bargain. American cigarettes were worth their weight in gold.

Things I saw that I'll always remember: The calm, brave dignity of President Benes on the night he sat before the mike in the Czech broadcasting house and answered Hitler's Nuremberg insults with such sweet reason and decency.

I saw Hitler five times. First, on a lovely sunny morning, September 21, on the Rhine, when I was having coffee in the garden of the Dresden Hotel in Godesburg and the Fuehrer brushed by me on his way to inspect his private yacht. His face was grimmer than I had ever seen it, set with terrific determination. This was just before he had his first meeting with Chamberlain. The Nazi party man remarked about his peculiar nervous little walk and the way he cocked his shoulder in a nervous gesture. Second, at 1:30 the next morning in the same hotel in Godesburg, as Chamberlain took his leave, I stood in our rigged-up broadcasting-studio in the porter's lodge a few feet away, and saw Hitler's gracious but grim handshake with Chamberlain on the steps before us, and Chamberlain with Hitler's ultimatum in his pocket—his bird-like face nonchalant but with no sign of strain or displeasure—saying a hearty good-bye to his host. I remember the deep gloom among Germans in Dresden headquarters that night as war seemed near. Third, Hitler at the Sports Palace in Berlin the following Monday night, when it looked like war. The look of his face as he jumped excitedly, like everyone else, to his feet as Goebbels swore they would never suffer defeat as in 1918. Hitler, with a look of fire and enthusiasm in his face that I shall never forget, bringing his arm high above his head and swinging it down on the table to say "Ja!" It was drowned out by cheering. Fourth, Hitler two nights later on the balcony of his chancellery in Berlin, just at dusk, as the mechanized-division troops rolled by, his grim, set determination to go through with what he had started, but most surprising of all the cold silence of the German people in the street below, who couldn't find even a word of cheer for their glorious army, because they wanted peace. Finally, Hitler at 2:15 last Friday morning in Munich, when I got caught on the marble stairs of the Fuehrerhouse just as the dictator, followed by Goering, Ribbentrop, Goebbels, Hess and Keitel strode out past me with the firm, unnervous gait this time and the strained but triumphant face—for only a few minutes before he had triumphed over Britain and France. Then against this, the drooping, beaten, sad look of Daladier as he came down the steps of Chamberlain's hotel in Munich at 1:45 the same morning a few minutes after capitulation—too tired and discouraged to more than nod to us.

I'll remember, too, the calm bravery of the Czech population in Prague the first night they all thought war was coming at dawn with bombing planes; the night most foreigners got panicky and fled; the bewildered surprise and delirious joy of the German people in Munich and Berlin when they learned on Friday that it was not only peace but victory; the quantities of champagne and beer drunk that night; the beaten looks of the Sudeteners after Czechs put down their uprising and the change in their faces when German troops marched in Saturday; the burgomaster of the Sudeten town of Unterwaldau, Mr. Schwarzbauer (Mr. Black Peasant), taking me aside from German troops and saying the worst thing the Czechs did to him was take away his radio so he couldn't hear the leader's speeches and wasn't it the crime of crimes! And last, only a fortnight ago the Czech troops going up to the frontier singing gaily their songs about what they would do to Hitler—as brave men as I've ever seen. I wouldn't have the heart to face them now.

RECORDS OF THE WEEK

A new department reviewing the recordings of your radio favorites

Classical

THE mighty Johannes Brahms comes up for refurbishing on the latest record list, with both his First and Fourth symphonies benefitting from 1938 versions. The magnitude of these titans in music is too well established for us to dwell upon, but the improvement in recording standards makes them all the more powerful.

The First, waxed abroad by Bruno Walter and the Vienna Symphony Orchestra, lacks the dynamic punch it might have had if made at Camden, but in general fares well with an extremely live pick-up and the excellent interpretation of Herr Walter. (Victor album 470. $7.50.)

The Brahms Fourth is also an imported set of recordings—a strong reading by Felix Weingartner conducting the London Symphony Orchestra. (Columbia album 335. $7.50.)

Both these symphonies were written after Brahms' forty-fourth year, representing the full musical maturity of the composer—grand and glorious music for anyone.

Two concert records of distinction get attention this month, both on single disks. One is the sparkling and spirited Bacchanale from "Samson and Delilah," Saint-Saens opera with the oriental flavor. This is another, and one of the best, in the series of popular symphonic works which Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Orchestra is making. (Victor 12318. $1.50.)

The other is a pair of dances from Gluck's "Orpheus"—the fragile Dance of the Spirits and the lively and smashing Dance of the Furies, both performed creditably by the Orquestre Symphonique de Paris, Henri Tomasi conducting. Columbia 69250. $1.50.)

Swing or Sweet??? Low-cost Records:

Uncle Sam's mail has brought this department numerous squawks on its preference for swing and its deprecation of sweet music. In defense, we cite the following sweet records recommended recently:

- "MY REVERIE," by Larry Clinton.
- "MY OWN," by Tommy Dorsey.
- "BY A WISHING-WELL," by Tony Martin.
- "THE MIST IS OVER THE MOON," by Tony Martin.

"CHANGE PARTNERS," by Fred Astaire. "THE NIGHT IS FILLED WITH MUSIC," by Will Hudson.

However, we'll probably continue to string along with the swing stuff, since it is the lustiest and healthiest kind of popular music, and has been ever since Beiderbecke and Teschmaker and Lang started it. Our carping at the out-of-key and saccharine and fakey orchestras is based on the same beef a person might have with a product, however it may sell, that is cheap and flimsy.

Apropos of early swingmen, the sharp record-shopper may pick up some former collectors' items now reissued on regular releases, and mostly for 35c, at that. Bluebird has brought out several old King Olivers and Louis Armstrongs recently, although they are none too satisfactory against present-day standards. Vocalion has Bix Beiderbecke's "Since My Best Gal Turned Me Down" on 3149, and "The Jazz Me Blues" on 3042, both tremendous buys. Stuff Smith's "After You've Gone" is on 3201, and Louis Armstrong's "St. Louis Blues" is reissued on Vocalion 3008. And most of Artie Shaw's Brunswick cuttings are now reissued on Vocalion for the low cost.

All of which brings us to the discussion of low-cost records. Both Victor, with Bluebird, and Brunswick, with Vocalion, are strengthening their 35c market considerably with better bands, and, in fact, some of the best stuff available nowadays. Bluebird offers the solid Jan Savitt band, a fine new colored outfit that should attract a lot of attention; Erskine Hawkins and his orchestra, the tremendous Artie Shaw band, Eddie de Lange, Les Brown, Glenn Miller, Ozzie Nelson, the popular and fizzy Shep Fields, and in the near future, Filmland's Ginger Rogers. On Vocalion, such fine artists as Mildred Bailey, Tony Martin, Nan Wynn, Penny Wise, the orchestras of Johnny Hodges, Leith Stevens, Cootie Williams, Roger Pryor, and more.

These junior labels to the 75c products all are geared to buck the stiff competition offered by Decca, whose top artists are too numerous to mention, and which has offered the 35c records since the company began some five years ago.

the program. A winner was Miss K. Andler, of Chicago, whose name and address were read over the air during the program. Listening in was a Mr. K. Andler, residing in Newport, New Hampshire. Because it was an odd name, Mr. A. wrote Miss A. to find out if they were related and they've been writing to each other ever since. Last week, Andler of Chicago was in New York with her mother on vacation and their last two days were to be spent visiting Mr. and Mrs. K. Andler and their new baby in New Hampshire.

From Evans Plummer's column in the last issue: "Chet (Lum) Lauck has sprouted a mustache. He started growing it after seeing how much sweeter your reporter looks than do his unadorned colleagues, Martin Lewis and Hal Tate." Evans, my friend, everyone is entitled to their opinion, but I mustache the readers what they think. Will you tell us—huh?

In looking over this season's drama schedule, which is larger than any previous year, the name of Rosaline Greene is conspicuous by its absence. I'll never understand why, because, frankly, this department always regarded Rosaline as one of the better microphone actresses. We followed her work on "Show Boat," the "Palmolive Beauty Box," "Death Valley Days," "Hour of Charm," and any number of other shows and she always gave an excellent performance. We honestly believe a sponsor of a dramatic show is overlooking a good bet by overlooking Rosaline Greene.

After listening to Sigmund Spaeth try his hand at sports announcing (he broadcast half of the Army-Columbia football game), I suggest he stick to his music. Spaeth, who is known as the "Tune Detective," gave this reporter a laugh when he leaned over to ask a cadet the name of the song the Army band was playing. Sportscaster Joe Hasel, who did the other half of the game, is plenty good. His splicing compared to Spaeth's resembled each other—by contrast.

BY REQUEST

IN RESPONSE to a deluge of requests from listeners everywhere, RADIO GUIDE has the privilege of announcing that Lucille Manners, songstress on the NBC Cities Service Concert program, will sing "The Blue Danube" on Friday night. The Danube, mighty river that formed the frontier of the ancient Roman Empire, and which inspired the song, was famous in history centuries before the waltz king, Johann Strauss, was born; but it remained for him to immortalize its majestic beauty in music when he composed "The Blue Danube," universal favorite of all the four hundred waltzes that he wrote. Then more than half a century was to pass before the magic of radio might bring it to listening millions who love it. Not a single note of the glorious melody will be lost when Miss Manners sends the song that radio fans have clamored for over the airwaves. America's Jenny Lind, Lucille Manners, coloratura star of many NBC concerts, has been a prima donna at heart ever since she was three years old, and hummed nursery rhymes before she could talk. When she was sixteen, Lucille was a stenographer in a small office in New Jersey, but she spent every penny that she could scrape together for singing-lessons. "You're silly," friends kept telling her. "It takes pull and a lot of money to get anywhere singing. Why don't you have some fun with your salary instead of wasting it?" But Lucille, with an amazing tenacity in one so small, clung to dreams, reached her present goal as one of NBC's most popular soloists by her singleness of purpose.

Solution to Puzzle Given Last Week

go your illusions—pop, pop, pop!

They swear they've been drinking nothing but tomato juice, but the Hollywood Hotel staff is arousing your reporter's suspicions. Not long ago, Herbert Marshall gave Bob Benchley a $50 cello. The tone wasn't quite right to the unmusical ear of Benchley. He examined the instrument and discovered in its sound-box four lettuce sandwiches, a match-cover, and three cigar butts . . . The other morning two men in evening clothes were seen walking down Hollywood Boulevard. They were producer Brewster Morgan and writer John McClain, and they alibied that after a dinner party the night previous they were struck by an inspiration, went to their office and worked till 7:30 a.m.

Angela Sherwood decided to try her hand at movie-writing. She did, and her first story was bought by Paramount Pictures. Maybe you saw Bing Crosby in "Paris Honeymoon"? That's it. More recently Angela tried her hand at radio-writing. She wrote a program called "The Wanderer" and NBC placed it on the air as a weekly Wednesday night feature. The soft, dreamy voice of the Wanderer is that of her husband, Bob Sherwood. Yep, that's the same Bob Sherwood who is the "punch" announcer (you'd like to punch) on the Jimmie Fidler programs.

Radio's such a youngster that you can hardly believe it's been going on now for nearly a score of years, but on November 1 its age may be forcibly brought to your mind when Bill Hay, Amos 'n' Andy's veteran announcer, celebrates his fifteenth anniversary as a mikeman. Thirteen of those years, by the way, have been spent with A&A—right from the day they started as Sam 'n' Henry over a Chicago station. How many of you remember tuning in Hay in 1923 when he announced "K-F-K-X, Hastings, Neb-r-r-r-aska"?

LAUGHS! THRILLS! TEARS!

...WHEN RADIO'S MOST NOVEL PROGRAM IS ON THE AIR!

Every Tuesday night—tune in "We, The People," and hear real people—not actors—tell the amazing stories of their personal experiences. Men, women, and children—some famous, some obscure—with first-hand tales that are hilarious, pathetic, astonishing, thrilling! Nothing like it on the air.

Sponsored by Sanka Coffee.

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 20. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

On Short Waves

Edited by Chas. A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Times given are EST. For CST subtract 1 hour; MST, 2 hours; PST, 3 hours

CANADA will provide the International Broadcasting Union's Fifth World Concert on Sunday, October 23, at 2:30 p.m. EST. This program, which will be relayed by practically all of the fifty-five countries that constitute the Union's membership, will present a kaleidoscopic picture of Canada in music and sound, each of the five provinces that make up the Dominion, being represented in turn.

Gracie Fields, world-famous comedienne, will be the featured star in a special tribute performance to be broadcast from Royal Albert Hall, London, on Friday, October 28, at 4:45 p.m. EST, over GSG and GSP.

The "SWL Chatterbox," a program of unique interest to all short-wave listeners, is now being broadcast over W8XWJ (41), Detroit, on Wednesdays at 10:30 p.m. EST. Each Monday at 12 noon EST, the Canadian Broadcasting Commission's network relays a program arranged especially for it by the German Short-Wave Station and radiated by stations DJB (15.2) and DJE (17.76). Ed Wulfe of Bloomington, Ill., reports that according to an announcement heard over that station, CSW7 (9.735), of Lisbon, Portugal, is now radiating a special English program for listeners in the United States, on Fridays at 9:45 p.m. EST.

The new Vienna, Germany, 50,000-watt transmitter, due on the air shortly, will operate under the following calls and on the following frequencies: DJK (21.64), DJJ (21.565), DJH (16.81), DJG (17.715), DJZ (11.801), DJF (11.745), DJX (9.675), DJW (9.65), DJI (7.29), and DJY (6.072).

The Newark News Radio Club reports the following new stations: YV5RM (5.01), "Radiodifusora Venezuela," relaying broadcast station YV5RD of Caracas, Venezuela; YV6RU (4.88), "Ecos del Orinoco," relaying YV6RA of Ciudad Bolivar, Venezuela; YV2RN (4.87), "La Voz de Tachira," San Cristobal, Venzuela; YV3RN (4.82), "Radio Barquisimeto," Barquisimeto, Venezuela, and HJ7EAB (4.75), relaying HJ7EAK of Bucaramanga, Colombia. The latter station uses several gong strokes and three cuckoo calls as interval signals and signs off at 10:10 p.m. EST with the organ solo "Kiss Me Waltz." YSP (10.4), "La Voz de Cuscatlan," San Salvador, El Salvador, reported recently as under construction, is now on the air and being heard with fair signal-strength nightly until 11 p.m. EST.

Elmo Smith of Red Wing, Minn., writes that VLR (9.58) of Melbourne, Australia, has a new 2,000-watt transmitter in operation, which will soon radiate programs on three additional frequencies.

SHORT-WAVE SHORTS: Benny Fiederowicz of Jersey City, N. J., writes that "Radio Malaga (14.44), Spain, broadcasts simultaneously on 7.22 megs. The new slogan for YV5RF (6.375), Caracas, Venezuela, is Estudios America." Bob Hetzel of Milwaukee, Wis., is the proud possessor of what is believed to be the first verification of reception from "Radio Leo" (6.14), Leopoldville, Congo, received in the United States. This confirmation, which is in the form of a poorly typed letter, states that the station is soon to have a new Collins 250-watt transmitter, and programs will be broadcast on Sundays from 5:35 to 7 a.m. EST. Reception reports will be cordially welcomed. Earl Roberts of Indianapolis, Ind., is hearing HJ1ABG (4.86), Cartagena, Colombia, on a new frequency of 4.86 megs. HP5G, "Ron Dolly," Panama City, Panama, has shifted back to its former frequency of 11.78 megs. Valuable prizes, including expensive all-wave receivers and camera equipment, will be awarded by the German Short-Wave Station for the best snapshots picturing listeners in the act of enjoying reception from that station. All photographs must be in Berlin not later than December 15, 1938. Winners will be announced over German stations Christmas Day.

MAN AND WIFE WANTED!

To run local COFFEE AGENCY

NEW FORDS GIVEN AS A BONUS

Splendid Chance To Make Up To $60⁰⁰ in a Week

If you want an unusual opportunity to make a fine cash income operating a Coffee Agency right in your locality, send your name at once for full details about my plan—FREE. This opportunity is open to one person—man or woman—in each locality, or two persons operating in partnership. Local Coffee Agency is ideally suited for married couples; wife takes care of orders and handles calls at home, while husband delivers and collects. Earnings start very first day. Prosperous business of 200 regular customers quickly developed through remarkable, tested plan.

Start Earning at Once

I'll send you everything you need—your complete outfit containing full-size packages of products, also printed forms, blanks, advertising matter, samples, etc. together with simple, proven plans showing exactly what to do to make good money right from the start. Make as high as $45.00 your very first week. Everybody uses Coffee, Tea, Cocoa, Spices, Flavoring Extracts, Cosmetics, Soaps, Toilet Goods, and other food products and similar daily necessities. They MUST BUY these things to live. You simply take care of your regular customers right in your locality—just keep them supplied with the things they need. You handle all the money and pocket a big share of it for yourself. You keep all the profits—you don't divide up with any one. Hundreds of housewives in many localities are waiting, right now, to be served with these nationally famous products.

I Send Everything

Just as soon as I hear from you I will send you complete details—tell you all the inside workings of this nation-wide Coffee Agency Plan. I will explain just how to establish your customers; how to give them service and make good cash earnings. You can plan it so you give only 5 days a week to your business, collect your profits on Friday, and have all day Saturday and Sunday for vacation or rest.

YOU DON'T RISK A PENNY

You can start a Coffee Agency and make money the first week. You don't have to risk a cent. I absolutely guarantee this. No experience is needed. You use your home as headquarters. You can build your business on my money. Full details of money-making plans are free. Send your name today for the free book giving all inside facts, then you can decide. Don't waste a minute as you might lose this opportunity through unnecessary delay. ACT AT ONCE.

ALBERT MILLS, President

6576 Monmouth Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio

The plans I send you took years to perfect. You know they must be good because they have brought quick help to hundreds of other men and women, both married and single, who needed money.

Ford Cars Given

Over and above the cash earnings you make, I offer you a brand new Ford Sedan as a bonus for producing. This is not a contest or a raffle. I offer a Ford Car—as an extra reward—to every one who starts in this business.

Make Money Fast!

Look in the box on the right! See how fast these men and women made money, according to their own bona-fide reports. Some of them even worked alone without any help from their husbands or wives. They used this same plan that I will now send you. You read it; then if you see the possibilities, I'll help you start without asking you to risk a penny of your own money.

NOT A CONTEST

Not a lottery. Not a game of chance. You don't have to "win" to get a Ford Car of your own. I give these Ford Cars to producers as a bonus over and above their cash profits, to encourage prompt service to their customers. The car becomes your personal property with no strings attached.

AND HERE IS POSITIVE PROOF OF BIG EARNING POSSIBILITIES

Can you make money with a Coffee Agency? Yes. Here's a way to make it FAST! If only three or four people had made money as fast as this, you might call it an accident. But many have done it! Here are only a few—if space permitted I could print scores of exceptional earning reports:

		Amount Earned In One Week
F. J. Mosher,	Wyo.	$ 60.00
Wilbur W. Whitcomb,	Ohio	146.00
