An Open Letter to a Certain Station Manager

Dear Sir:

Your business is broadcasting and my business is listening to broadcasts. Sometimes I think you are short-sighted, niggardly, and mean. Here is the reason why:

You deceive your listeners. You promise them a rich, full meal, but you feed them garbage. For instance: One recent afternoon you were supposed to broadcast a children's symphony. It originated in New York City in the Columbia network's studios. Your own program announcements mailed to RADIO GUIDE's program department had promised it. The Columbia Broadcasting System program folio had stated that you would broadcast it. So RADIO GUIDE and the newspapers printed it. But you didn't broadcast it. Why? Because some local fur company wanted a piece of the hour you had reserved for the children's symphony. They offered you money for it. So you sold it.

Certainly it was your "right" to do so. But what about the group of three hundred school children gathered in one high-school auditorium (because of your announcement that you would broadcast the children's symphony) who were cheated? What of the listeners who gave up their afternoon plans in order to hear that program? What of the women's study club in that suburban-library reading-room that had prepared to discuss this children's symphony performance and then found themselves listening to a piano-and-singer commercial?

What about their rights, Mister Station Manager?

Certainly you must sell your broadcast time if you are to make enough money to stay in business. We all know that. But we also know that you are operating a station in a medium which belongs to us, the people of the United States. If we choose, through our elected representatives, we can kick you off the air altogether unless your programs are in "the public interest, convenience, and necessity." (By what logic could you say that a piano-and-singer commercial is more "in the public interest" than a children's symphony, please?) Or, if enough of us feel like it, we can change that law, too. We can prohibit all commercial radio and ask our government to take over broadcasting. In England, where the government runs things, when a program is promised it is delivered on the date and at the hour specified.

Not that we want to change things — yet. Not until we have given you every chance. But we must ask that you realize your duty to your listeners, who, because of your announced programs, make their own plans conform and then suffer because of your own shiftiness.

Between program announcement and program broadcast there has been too much disagreement, too many changes, too many lies. Announce a program and broadcast it, Mr. Station Manager, or don't announce it at all.

We thank you.

An Open Letter to a Certain Program Engineer

Dear Sir:

I wish you could sit with me in my study and hear your program coming in. You'd be entranced by the faithfulness and the beauty of the reproduction. Bass tones come in strong and resonant, treble tones are clear, with the "highs" sweet and pure. Puccini's "Vissi d'Arte" from "Tosca" is a delight. Listen with me a moment . . . it is the finale. Your pulses have soared, but now they subside as your soul relaxes with the music's end. The fortissimo is succeeded by the pianissimo, you lean back, happy, content, entertained . . .

Crack! Cra-a-a-ack. What is that clatter? You sit bolt upright. It dins in your ears, swirling from the loudspeaker in a piercing wave of sound. It is louder, keener than anything in the symphony. Worse, it is without pitch, without harmony, without rhythm.

You recognize it. Applause! Hands beating together. How it hurts the ears! How long it continues! You hold your ears to block it out. No, we won't turn it down. You would have to get up and cross the room for that, and I want you to suffer as I have suffered. You can't stand it? Don't be silly. Millions of listeners have been standing it for weeks. Not liking it, understand, but standing it because they love the music.

So now you must go, eh? And you leave saying you didn't know the applause sounded so awful. Then God go with you to your next broadcast, engineer, and may He give you the judgment to reduce that harsh clapping so that it will not mar the beauty of the music we have just heard, and which we still taste pleasantly in the palates of our hearts.

We thank you.

Are You Going Home for Christmas?

By Edgar A. Guest

HE LITTLE knew the sorrow that was in his vacant chair;
He never guessed they'd miss him, or he'd surely have been there;
He couldn't see his mother or the lump that filled her throat,
Or the tears that started falling as she read his hasty note;
And he couldn't see his father, sitting sorrowful
and dumb,
Or he never would have written that he thought he couldn't come.

He little knew the gladness that his presence would have made,
And the joy it would have given, or he never would have stayed.
He didn't know how hungry had the little mother grown
Once again to see her baby and to claim him for her own.
He didn't guess the meaning of his visit Christmas Day
Or he never would have written that he couldn't get away.

He couldn't see the fading of the cheeks that once were pink,
And the silver in the tresses; and he didn't stop to think
How the years are passing swiftly, and next Christmas it might be
There would be no home to visit and no mother
dear to see.
He didn't think about it—I'll not say he didn't care.
He was heedless and forgetful or he'd surely have been there.

Are you going home for Christmas? Have you written you'll be there?
Going home to kiss the mother and to show her that you care?
Going home to greet the father in a way to make him glad?
If you're not I hope there'll never come a time you'll wish you had.
Just sit down and write a letter—it will make their heart-strings hum
With a tune of perfect gladness—if you'll tell them that you'll come.

As broadcast on the Household Finance "It Can Be Done" show December 21, 1937.

promised was simply what RADIO GUIDE recommended. In other words, he said that sets would be made available to listeners who want to buy them, that television broadcasting apparatus would be sold to broadcasters who might want to start their own stations.

Out of that has come the boom, the discussion, the ballyhoo about television.

What he said did not and was never meant to assert that the old problems of television had been solved to his or anybody else's satisfaction. What he said, however, was swept up by news-hungry newspapers and misinterpreted in a prairie-fire of publicity which roared, "Television is here." As the fire spread, salesmen of gold bricks called their printers for fresh supplies of gold-lettered stock certificates, television stock certificates.

BECAUSE RADIO GUIDE readers want the truth and because they must be protected against fraudulent representations, this series of articles about television is being published.

Where does television really stand today? What are those old, unsolved problems?

Hark back to the X-ray invention that stunned our minds in the early 1900's. It is the end of privacy, we thought. People will carry gadgets that will enable them to look through walls, into pockets, into purses, through clothing. But up to now the X-ray has done little more than give us photographs of our insides.

Most people are thinking about television in the same confused fashion. We are thinking we may be able to see Son John when he telephones home from college. Or that we won't have to go out in the rain to see that football game. Or that the movies will go out of existence and we can sit at home instead. Or that we can do our shopping by pressing a button and seeing what the local department store is offering in house-dresses. Or that we can tune in any hour and get a good program. Or that television will replace completely the sort of broadcasting we now know.

It won't be like that.

First of all, understand the television transmitting station is much like a lighthouse. Television impulses, or rays, or vibrations, or whatever we call them, do not travel like broadcast waves, spanning thousands of miles. Television waves are like light-waves. They go only as far as the eye can see. In New York, for instance, the two transmitters which are planned for next spring are located on the tops of the Empire State Building and the Chrysler Building, the two tallest buildings in town, and they will throw their signals only as far as the horizon, or approximately forty-five miles.

So we perceive the first difference between broadcasting and television, and the first limitation.

There is another limitation just as important, however. A television program must first be picked up by a television device which operates almost exactly like a motion-picture camera, except that it requires more and better light. So the programs we will get in our homes must be scenes that can be handled by a camera.

A prize fight? Splendid, probably, for you have been thrilled by them at newsreel showings. A football game? Yes, when the action is close. A baseball game? No, the subject covers too much ground. A play? Good, for the camera can get close to the subject.

At the sending end, the camera and its not-so-good-as-a-movie-camera lens controls everything. Remember that. When next you hear that you can watch a horse-race from beginning to end, when next you hear that the television millenium will bring the motion picture into your home, just remember also how weary it makes you to see the same newsreel twice or how little you enjoyed the latest Hollywood super-colossal Smello production of the "Three Mad Muts" at the Bijou. Television in the home may be like that some evenings.

The home set will present something of a furniture problem, too. It is as bulky and unbeautiful today as was the broadcast receiver of the President Harding era. You will be able to buy a receiver for as low as $150, or you may pay as much as $1,000.

THE pictures that come into your home will be about the size of a business letterhead, about eight by twelve inches in size. You will be able to see them only when you turn out the lights. That means another change in your listening-habit, Milady. No bridge during television, no conversation or wise-cracks during a drama. Television demands all of your attention.

If you live on a street used by automobiles or trucks and are on a floor lower than the fifth or sixth, you may find your screen suddenly visited by a downpour of white flashes. Technicians call it a blizzard. Actually, it is an automobile passing in the street. Automobile ignition systems are tiny television stations of their own. They can be short-circuited by proper shielding and wiring, but there are 25,000,000 automobiles in the country now and more being added every year. Nobody has suggested yet that they get off the streets so we can have television, or that they all be rewired. If they were, the job would take years.

Then, there is the problem of what television will offer as entertainment. Where are there enough new "sights" to cause us to turn out the lights and set ourselves to watch? News shots, perhaps, yet we have the word of one of the largest motion-picture companies, which has cameramen all over the world, that they are hard put to build even so few as three good seven-and-one-half-minute newsreels per week for their own theaters.

SOME prophets have anticipated an unlimited offering of motion pictures. Hollywood produces approximately 300 movies per year at a cost of $300,000,000. If all three hundred of those were telecast at the rate of ten hours per day, the supply would be exhausted in thirty days.

What else? Special movies can be made, sets built, actors hired, stories written. But who will pay for those stories and actors and sets? Where are the brains that can turn out a continual stream of programs that will compete with other forms of entertainment?

Nobody knows those answers yet.

Another item of importance is the fact that your television receiver must be tuned exactly to your television station. No fishing around for the station or program you want. Your set and your station are a team. When your station goes off the air, your set becomes useless.

In his home, next year, according to one of David Sarnoff's statements, the average New York television-listener may expect about two hours of entertainment per day. In his home, today, the New York broadcast-listener can take his choice of approximately 360 hours of entertainment broadcast by at least twenty stations that his set can bring in. It doesn't appear, yet, that television will cause anyone to toss his broadcast receiver in the ash heap.

We have written of the New York listener. What of other cities? Well, there probably will be a station in Hollywood and one in Chicago next year. But the remainder of the country? Better wait and see.

We have purposely avoided discussing the dollars-and-cents side of television. Before it, even experts grow confused. Probably it is the greatest reason why television for everyone is not even around the corner.

Just where television is—both in the U. S. A. and England, where it has been on trial for two years—will be the subject of the next article in this series, designed to enable every listener to decide for himself whether television is a coming business boom or a bubble.

With this first mobile television station, only recently delivered to NBC, the network plans to pick up outdoor events. Note parabolic microphone

DRAMA HIGHLIGHTS

Wednesday: Adolphe Menjou, movie man of the world and formerly master of ceremonies of radio's "Texaco Star Theater," will return to that program this week, this time strictly as an actor. Menjou will be starred with Frances Dee, movie actress currently appearing in the picture "If I Were King," in a specially written Christmas play. Good news to followers of this top-notch dramatic-musical program is the fact that the sponsor has come through with a handsome Christmas gift in the form of a contract renewal for the show. (CBS: 9:00 p.m. EST, 8:00 CST, 7:00 MST, 6:00 PST.)

Thursday: Arch Oboler is a versatile as well as prolific author. Oboler established a reputation as radio's number-one bogieman writer when he was the man behind the typewriter for those "Lights Out" monstrosities. Now, swinging far to the right, Arch is contributing for this week's "Columbia Workshop" presentation "Bread on the Waters," a story of two young city toughies on Christmas Eve. (CBS: 10:00 p.m. EST, 9:00 CST, 8:00 MST, 7:00 PST.)

Friday: Here is the highlight of highlights you have looked forward to: The immortal "A Christmas Carol" of Charles Dickens, starring the inimitable Lionel Barrymore. Brother John Barrymore may be the one and only Hamlet and Walter Hampden may be the Cyrano, but Lionel is the Scrooge of Scrooges; and he puts so much into the story that you can't help getting a great deal out of it. This presentation has been an annual custom for Campbell's, so this year it appears on the new "Playhouse," supplanting Orson Welles for one broadcast. (CBS: 9:00 p.m. EST, 8:00 CST, 7:00 MST, 6:00 PST.)

LADY SINGS AGAIN —Sunday, NBC

Here is good news! Good news it is to radio listeners, especially the children; to parents and organizations who insist on better programs for youngsters; to RADIO GUIDE. Irene Wicker, the beloved Singing Lady, is back, and with her come the princes and Cinderellas, the sprites and fairies, the knights and ladies, the heroes and heroines of history. Unfortunately, we received the news too late to announce Miss Wicker's first program last week, a dramatization of the "Snow White" story, but we are sure there is still a wealth of entertainment and education in the offing. Miss Wicker, the fairy godmother of countless children and a young mother herself, has received many awards for her juvenile programs. You can not begrudge her the first extended vacation in eight years, but you can welcome her back by putting her new series on the "must" listening-list.

AIRWAVE GREETINGS —Sunday, MBS

Greetings will fly as thickly but not as quietly through the air as the Christmas snow we hope for, when "America Sends Greetings" over the Mutual network on Sunday. This program is designed as an extravaganza of good cheer, with an exchange of holiday greetings between well-known personalities at home in the United States and Americans who are forced, by the nature of their work, to spend the holidays outside the country. The chief greeter will be Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who will conclude the one-hour broadcast with a special message of cheer to all Americans. The mayor of Santa Claus, Indiana, will respond from the famous village. Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, Admiral Emory Land, Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche, and Acting Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison will all speak to the men of their services. Representatives of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, State Department and Merchant Marine will reply. Dick Merrill, famous transport pilot, will extend greetings to American pilots the world over, and a member of the China Clipper's crew will reply from San Francisco.

MINORS ONLY! —Tuesday, NBC

Kids, this is for you. If you see Mom or Dad reading this announcement, tell them to skip it—it's for children only. Or if they've already read it, see if they look thoughtful. Would you like to hear what boys and girls from other countries think about Christmas and Santa Claus? Well, you just listen to the radio this Tuesday at the time listed below, and we'll bet a sled to a bundle of switches you'll get a kick out of it. The sons and daughters of the men who represent other countries here—foreign envoys, the grown-ups call them—are going to say hello and Merry Christmas to you young Americans from our capital, Washington, D. C. Now be sure to warn Mom and Dad not to listen, for it might make some of them ashamed. You kids don't realize what a sorry mess some of the older people—all over the world—have made of life, their world and themselves. You don't care—you're happy now. Some day, though, this is going to be your world. Maybe you'll remember that you and the kids of other nations said a hearty hello and a sincere Merry Christmas to each other in 1938. Will you listen—and remember?

DARN THOSE SOCKS! —Wednesday, CBS

'Twas the night before Christmas,
when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring—not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung
by the chimney with care
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there.

Some call him Kris Kringle or Santa Claus instead of St. Nicholas. Some Scrooges call him "humbug." But those who never hung their stockings on the chimney as children or felt the wistful whim to do the same when grown up can not know what a breathless anticipation it brings. And the person who does not know at least the first two lines of the old poem (in which no creature is stirring but the lines are) by Clement C. Moore is probably one who has never read it. Nila Mack, head of children's programs for CBS, will dramatize a version of the beloved poem under the title "The Visit of St. Nick," with a cast consisting of both children and adults. It is for both children and adults, too.

WEEK'S BETTER PROGRAMS

Crosby's Music Hall this week, you'll undoubtedly see the finer side of the Jekyll-Hyde personality of Rathbone. He can read inspirational poetry superbly, as he did on this same program's pre-Christmas broadcast last year. Indeed, even as Boris Karloff, Basil Rathbone is known to be a cultured, well-educated gentleman, and his prestige as a Shakespearian actor, especially as Romeo, is no less secure than his reputation for polished villain roles. Along with Rathbone as Crosby's guests will appear movie actress Benita Hume and also the Kraft Choral Club, singing from Chicago. This is a nationally known chorus, composed of ninety employees drawn from many departments of the company sponsoring the Music Hall. This group also appeared on the program a year ago.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT" —Sat, NBC, CBS, MBS

President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will help get the nation's Christmas tree "lit" on Christmas Eve. Of course, the only "spirit" permeating the festivities will be that distilled of pure joy and good cheer. In accordance with the annual custom, the huge Community Christmas Tree in the nation's capital will be illuminated with elaborate ceremonies, the highlight of which is the chief executive's proffer of Yuletide greetings to us, the people of the nation.

THEY'RE OFF! —Saturday, NBC

Here's a program so short that you'll miss it altogether if your clock is a minute and a half slow. It's not educational, not humorous, not very musical; but many people will consider it of sufficient interest to check the time very carefully in order not to miss—the first resounding "bong" of Big Ben. It will still be Christmas Eve in the United States, and many will be about their holiday revelries. A great many others (and they don't mind being called sentimentalists) will be at home merrily decorating trees, feverishly wrapping packages, desperately trying to persuade Junior to go to bed so Pop can play with the toy train. To them the striking of Big Ben will be an auspicious and joyful signal. Midnight in London!—right where time measurement begins and where Marley's Ghost made Scrooge believe in Santa Claus—and then the world begins to awaken to another Christmas Day.

CHIMES FOR COWBELLS —Saturday, NBC

Since the One whose birth is celebrated at this season was cradled in a manger in a common stable, it is quite fitting that the program famous as the "National Barn Dance" should be one of those preeminently celebrating the season. So it is. For this one program, however, there will be no cowbells, no square-dancing, no whoopee. The "Barn Dance" steps out of character by request of the very listeners who appreciate the usual neighborly, rollicking nature of the program. Last year when the show was given over to a serious dramatic sketch and caroling, such a flood of commendatory mail was received that the program essentially is to be repeated this year. There will be a drama highlight built around the writing of "Silent Night." Such familiar carols as "Joy To The World" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" will be sung by Henry Burr, Lucille Long, the Maple City Four and the rest of the regular cast. A special feature will be the bell-effects produced by the Dunbar Bell Ringers.

American School of the Air will not be heard during the period between December 19 to January 2, due to the Christmas vacation. However, on January 3 the program will be resumed.

The Nation's School of the Air is another program that leaves the air between December 19 to January 2 due to the Christmas vacation. This educational feature also returns January 3.

Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch (Wyeth Chemical Company) leaves the air after the broadcast Friday, December 23.

Madame Courageous (Durkee's Margarine), heard Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, will leave the air Friday, December 23.

THE RADIO PLAYBILL: THIS WEEK—"BIG SISTER"

THE story of a great love, even when it seems to be an ill-starred love, has an unfailing fascination for people the world over. Such a great but ill-fated romance is that woven around the lives of Ruth Evans Brewster (the Big Sister) and Dr. John Wayne. Both Ruth Evans and John Wayne are idealistic, with conscientious interest in less fortunate human beings. These mutual characteristics, which have led Ruth to be a welfare worker and John to be a physician, have made the two sympathetic and congenial since their first acquaintance. When Ruth met John, however, he was already married — unhappily — to a wife who became a psychopathic case. Despairing of ever being able to marry John, Ruth decides to devote her life to the Rev. David Brewster, who depends on her in times of misfortune. The day she marries the Rev. Brewster, John Wayne's wife dies. Rev. Brewster then disappears in an effort to release Ruth for her true happiness. She, however, declines the freedom within her grasp, realizing what the stigma of divorce would mean to a minister, and she continues to devote herself to a life of hard and self-sacrificing work. "Big Sister" is heard over CBS, Monday through Friday, 11:30 a.m. EST, 10:30 a.m. CST; for the West, 12:00 noon MST, 11:00 a.m. PST.

NEXT WEEK — "AUNT JENNY'S REAL LIFE STORIES"

RUTH EVANS BREWSTER, as played by Alice Frost, is a sympathetic "Big Sister" whose unselfish, idealistic nature sometimes forces her to choke down the yearning to live her own life to the full. Since the death of their parents she has watched over her younger sister, Sue, and her crippled brother, Ned. It is through Ned that Ruth Evans meets Dr. John Wayne when the young surgeon takes an interest in the boy's case. When he cures the lad he wins the undying devotion of "Big Sister" Ruth. John reciprocates the feeling, but his wife stands in the way, and Ruth even refuses to take advantage of Mrs. Wayne's consent to divorce. When misfortune strikes John in Raventon, Ruth goes to his assistance. There she is stirred by the appalling social conditions in the town and decides to help fight for improvement for the mill workers, although she has to lock horns with unscrupulous Asa Griffin, boss of the town. Fate seems continually to "pick on" this young woman whose normal inclinations are so often denied expression, but through all her struggles and troubles Ruth's natural generosity and pluck sustain her and allow her to make the most of many trying circumstances. She still looks forward to real happiness

DR. JOHN WAYNE is played by Martin Gabel. John is a brilliant young surgeon. Both his deeds of kindness and his few errors are traceable to a generous, warm-hearted nature. From his first contact with "Big Sister" he has been impressed by her deep insight and courage. Although he made no unethical gestures, John would have married Ruth at the very first if his wife, Norma, had not stood in the way. Norma finally offers a divorce, but Ruth refuses to take advantage. This unwillingness to break up the Waynes is strengthened when Norma is nearly killed in an accident. John operates on Norma and succeeds in saving her life but not her sanity. As a result of this failure John is forced to resign from the staff of Riverview Hospital. Disgraced, he flees aboard a freighter. In helping fight a fire on the boat, John is blinded. He returns and settles in the small industrial town of Raventon, where Ruth discovers him and helps him win his fight for his sight and a new spirit. After Ruth marries the Rev. Brewster and John's wife dies, John continues his new practice, and with Ruth fights for social and political progress in Raventon. His love for Ruth is stronger than ever, and he never ceases to seek a solution

NED EVANS is the lovable but sometimes scapegrace member of the Evans brood. He has been the cause originally of bringing Ruth and Dr. Wayne together, and, thanks to the surgical expertness of Dr. Wayne, Ned is now able to walk. That release of energy finds its expression sometimes in mischief, but the natural honesty and straightforwardness of the lad always assert themselves in time to prevent real harm. Ruth has a great affection for her problem-child. Ned is played by Michael Junior O'Day

SUSAN EVANS MILLER (Dorothy McGuire) is better known as "Little Sister" Sue. She is still in her early twenties and has been married a little over a year to Jerry Miller, publisher of Raventon's crusading newspaper. Impulsive and flighty, Sue's life has been complicated by numerous "romances" before her marriage, causing Ruth Evans Brewster many sleepless nights. She has settled down as a staunch companion to Jerry, but she has lost none of her vivacious charm. She worships her "Big Sister"

ASA GRIFFIN (Teddy Bergman) is the political boss of Raventon and owns most of the slum property which Ruth and John, backed by Jerry's newspaper, seek to improve. Griffin fights back with every weapon of the ruthless despot that he is—gossip, frame-ups and violence. Griffin and District Attorney Quinn, are waging a desperate battle against reform

JERRY MILLER, as played by Ned Wever, is a dashing, devil-may-care New York reporter. He seems at first to be involved in a blackmail plot against Dr. Wayne. After this is cleared up, Jerry gets the Evanses into and out of many scrapes. He joins Ruth in challenging Griffin's vicious control by starting a rival newspaper to expose Griffin and rid Raventon of his vice

FRED UTTAL, announcer for "Big Sister," is called Fred by the redcaps in many cities. That's because he has been around. He has made the rounds selling punching-bags, greeting-cards and dish-washers. Then, while helping direct pictures in Hollywood, Fred followed a whim, auditioned, clicked, and became a popular announcer. He paints, reads, hopes to write

"... An ampler Ether,

The Toscanini Phase

A FEW days before his sudden recent death, Leopold Godowsky, celebrated pianist-composer, wrote to me about what he called "the public Toscanini craze and accompanying mass insanity." Just previously, too, I had read similar reaction about that conductor in one of the New York daily newspapers.

It is strange that so often in this land, when a man rises to superlative achievement and wins our high esteem, he also draws the misinterpretation of the unthinking and the conscious abuse of the envious. Furthermore, there are those novelty-seekers who tire of reading and hearing about him and his doings. American history has a long record of outstanding men who have been so belittled by many during their lifetime, only to be enshrined by all after their passing.

In analyzing the adverse opinions on Toscanini, they seem to resolve themselves—aside from some sincere disagreements with his interpretations and tempos—into criticism of his high-handed behavior and explosive temperament, and the rhapsodical praises of the Toscanini-can-do-no-wrong class of commentators, amateur and journalistic.

I do not believe all the stories of Toscanini's arrogance and irritability, many of which can be set down to publicity agents and to legends whose frequent repetition eventually gives them the semblance of truth. I have known Toscanini for many years and found him gentle, courteous, tolerant and invariably kind in his estimates of his colleagues of the baton. (Not all of them are as generous in their remarks about the maestro.) Too, I have attended his rehearsals, where in truth he was the martinet, exact, strictly demanding and uncompromising in his desire for musical truth, beauty and technical perfection. If those are faults in a conductor, then I completely misunderstand his artistic function.

The occasional sarcasms and outbursts of temper from Toscanini at rehearsals may be severe, but they get results, and I know from talks with his players that they do not resent them. They recognize the sincerity of Toscanini's intentions and the eminence of his art, and give every ounce of themselves to realize his purposes.

The fact that now and then some listeners might not conform to every detail of Toscanini's interpretations matters nothing in the sum total of his remarkable performances. He has just finished the first half of his series with the NBC Orchestra and it is safe to assume that those concerts gave complete enjoyment and upliftment to the overwhelming majority of his hearers at the studio and on the air.

Lastingly memorable among other numbers were his superb presentations of Beethoven's "Eroica," Dvorak's "New World," Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe," Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet," all his Wagner readings, and Samuel Barber's "Adagio for Strings." That list in itself justifies the enthusiastic victims of the "Toscanini craze" and of "mass insanity."

Speaking Up

By V. V.

That ten-minute period in a symphony broadcast when the conductor

Readers requested this picture of Leonard Liebling, Music Editor

exits to change his damp shirt used to signal a general twist of the dial to blot out a steady stream of solemn talk on the meaning of music. Now things have changed since the advent of "Deemsie" and "Chotzy," sometimes known as Deems Taylor and Samuel Chotzinoff, official commentators of the New York Philharmonic and NBC Symphony respectively.

Both Deemsie (Paul Whiteman's name for him) and Chotzy got off to an early start in music. Chotzinoff rounded off a career as a pianist and accompanist to Jascha Heifetz by marrying Heifetz' sister and turning music critic, first on the defunct New York World and then on the New York Post. Taylor piled up an impressive list of compositions, among them two operas produced at the Metropolitan, and published several books and many articles on music.

Milton Katlms, young American viola virtuoso, heard on Sunday

Short, and strongly on the bald side, Chotzinoff is somewhat stocky and Taylor almost ascetically thin. The latter's pince-nez gives him the look of an ex-divinity student, while Chotzinoff could be mistaken for a solid, responsible businessman. He likes an evening of chamber music at home, whereas Taylor is seen more often doing the town in white tie and tails.

Taylor and Chotzinoff have both broken away from the old type of analytical comment and are no longer concerned with whether the oboe plays in B flat minor and the brass section resumes the subsidiary theme in the twenty-seventh bar of the coda! Taylor has developed an easy manner which has made him millions of friends and Chotzinoff's popularity widens each time he is on the air.

The music commentation period is now a pleasure instead of a painful ordeal.

John Carter made his debut with the Metropolitan Opera at a Sunday night concert on December 11. Why not at a regular opera performance?

There's a rumor around that Toscanini has written a symphony. One hopes that it will equal his conducting in inspiration, although the record of successful conductor-composers is exceedingly lean.

One of the most useful books received by this department in a long time is Albert E. Wier's new "Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians," published handsomely and in welcome large type by the Macmillan Company, New York. The volume aims to be a ready-reference medium for the student and average music-lover desiring handy, concise and practical information on all tonal subjects. Mr. Wier's 2,089 pages achieve their purpose admirably by instantaneously furnishing data for which one used to grope laboriously in the other compendiums. The price of the Wier book is $10 and altogether worth it.

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS EVE SYMPHONIC CONCERT

Alfred Wallenstein, conductor

Fingal's Cave (Mendelssohn)

Toy Symphony (Haydn)

Siegfried Idyll (Wagner)

Carnival of Animals (Saint-Saens)

LAUGH with Haydn! He and other composers have amplified musical humor with what they call "Toy Symphonies," the scoring including even such plebeian instruments (or shall one say implements?) as tin pans, bones, kazoos and penny flutes. Haydn's orchestra consists of two violins, double-bass, trumpet, cuckoo-pipe, quail-call, whistle and triangle.

Wallenstein's last number returns to merry mood. Saint-Saens wrote a set of miniatures for piano duet to which he later added orchestration. Some of the comically clever pieces characterize the lion, elephant, kangaroo, chickens, fish, and—pianists! The final pages present the musical menagerie in a sort of Ringling-Barnum parade.

THE METROPOLITAN OPERA COMPANY

presents

"LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR"

by

Gaetano Donizetti

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 24

On NBC at 2 p.m. EST; 1 p.m. CST; 12 noon MST; 11 a.m. PST

THE CAST:

Lucia	Lily Pons
Edgardo	Galliano Masini
Enrico	Carlo Tagliabue
Raimundo	Ezio Pinza
Arturo	Nicholas Massuc
Alisa	Thelma Votipka
Normano	Giordano Paltrinieri

Conductor - - Gennaro Papi

EVERYONE knows that "Lucia" is essentially a coloratura soprano's picnic (chiefly owing to the decorative "Mad Scene"), and that the "Sextet" of that work has furnished an abidingly popular number in the hurdy-gurdy repertoire. Furthermore, musical cynics will say that the libretto of Donizetti's opera is childishly melodramatic and that its music consists of saccharine airs and spare and flimsy orchestration.

To some modern ears, all that may be true, but the modern requirements are not those by which to judge an old opera which should be considered solely in relation to the period of its composition. That period was 1835, and history records truly that Donizetti was one of the most brilliant writers of Italian opera during the middle of the nineteenth century.

ACT I

A grove near a Scottish castle. Seventeenth century.

The libretto of "Lucia" is based on "The Bride of Lammermoor," famous novel by Sir Walter Scott. Lord Henry Ashton (Enrico in the opera) learns from his hunting-companions that his sister Lucy (Lucia) is in love with Lucia, in which the pair promise to remain faithful to each other.

ACT II

A room in Enrico's castle.

Preparations are under way for the wedding of Lucia and Arturo, after Enrico convinces his sister by means of a forged letter that Edgardo is unfaithful. As the preliminary marriage contract is signed, Edgardo returns unexpectedly, tries to halt the proceedings, but is overpowered and leaves, cursing Lucia for her faithlessness. The great "Sextet" occurs in this scene.

ACT III

Scene I

A room in Edgardo's castle.

Edgardo and Enrico quarrel and engage to fight a duel.

Scene II

A room in the Ashton castle.

Lucia's marriage to Arturo has just taken place. Raymond (Raimundo), chaplain at Lammermoor, announces to the assembled guests that Lucia has killed her husband in their bridal chamber. The chorus chants a number which Donizetti's critics do not consider nearly tragic enough. Lucia,

Lily Pons, coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, makes her first air appearance of the season Saturday, singing the role of Lucia Edgar of Ravenswood (Edgardo) even though their families are feuding. Enrico declares that only Lucia's marriage with Lord Arthur Bucklaw (Arturo) can save the fortunes of the Ashton house.

Lucia enters with Alice (Alisa), her confidante to whom she sings her celebrated "Legend of the Fountain," which warns of her impending doom by turning its waters to blood. Edgardo, leaving on a political mission for France, has a farewell duet with a white-robed specter, suddenly gone insane, horrifies the guests by appearing with a bloody dagger in her hand, which she flings from her and goes into her vocal "Mad Scene."

Scene III

A graveyard.

Edgardo awaits Enrico for their duel, but before the latter arrives, mourners come to tell him of Lucia's death. He sings a touching aria, "A Peaceful Refuge," and stabs himself.

Myra Hess, pianist-guest of the "Ford Sunday Evening Hour"

IT IS difficult to regard such a program with patience, and its appearance on this page happens only in order to contrast it with the three other featured events.

The conductor is solely responsible for the selections, and surely Reiner can do better than to surround such a serious artist as Myra Hess with nothing but dance music. Perhaps he desired to make it easy for himself, now that most of his time is spent in Pittsburgh as leader of its reorganized symphony orchestra. He seems to have influenced even Miss Hess herself to do a waltz series (lovely though it is) and a skimpy one movement of a concerto.

THE NEW FRIENDS OF MUSIC SUNDAY, DECEMBER 18

On NBC at 6 p.m. EST; 5 p.m. CST; 4 p.m. MST; 3 p.m. PST

The Budapest String Quartet
Roman Totenberg, violinist
Helen Fogel, pianist

NOT generally familiar are the Bach violin compositions performed by Totenberg. An unusually serious young interpreter, he has penetrated deeply into the spirit of these works and possesses the volume of tone and the technical command to do them justice. Bach wrote three sonatas for violin without piano support, and it is amazing to consider how fully he was able to make the solo instrument combine the melody with the accompaniment, the air sometimes being carried with one finger while the others fill out with counterpoint and chords. The sonatas with piano are of course correspondingly sonorous.

George McCall, the Hollywood screenscooper, is in New York with a new idea for a radio show . . . Charlie Cantor, one of Fred Allen's Mighty Allen Art Players and who is heard throughout the week on numerable other shows, was offered a nice part in a Broadway show but turned it down because he wouldn't leave the Allen show, where he has too much fun while he works . . . Fred Waring's All-College Glee Club gave their first concert last Sunday and plan more of them in the East . . . Vox-Poppers Parks Johnson and Wally Butterworth go in a meeting every week with their sponsors and listen to a recording of their last program, after which plans are discussed for the next broadcast . . . Lanny Ross has compiled fifty of his favorite songs to be published in book form. It will be called "Lanny Ross' Song Treasures" . . . Alice Remsen, NBC's Musical Story Lady, has put some of her tunes into a song-book for children.

The Merry Macs of the Fred Allen show will soon be seen on the screen in a Warner Brothers movie short titled "Jitterbug Jamboree" . . . Bob Byron, CBS pianist-whistler, just finished a short for the same company. He also made six recordings for RCA Victor and next month will do another movie. A pretty busy guy, eh what? . . . Organist Fred Feibel has been busy making records for Vocalion . . . Elaine Kent, who plays the part of Carolyn Prince on "John's Other Wife," is being screen-tested . . . Answering numerous requests, the part of Mr. Guffy on the Cantor show is played by Sid Fields, who is one of the writers of the program.

Scene Along the Airtail

Richard Crooks running out of the studio the second the Firestone program goes off the air to avoid the autograph hounds. Lawrence Tibbett, who guested on the same show, not so lucky; the mob surrounded him . . . Portland Hoffa unnoticed eating alone in the Radio City drug store after the Fred Allen dress rehearsal . . . Lois Elliman of the New York smart set attends the Pall Mall broadcast each week. She is brought to the studio by the star of the program, Eddy Duchin . . . Lucille Manners' mama on hand at all Cities Service broadcasts. Lucille has a special dressing-table in the wings off-stage, and when she finishes her song, she rushes to the table, where Mama is waiting to help straighten out her dress and hair . . . Mary Eastman of the "Saturday Night Serenade" proudly showing friends the Xmas present from her husband, which she wears ahead of time. It's a gorgeous new mink coat . . . Peggy Allenby of "David Harum" telling friends her new son is doing nicely and that she is ready to go back to work . . . NBC announcer Jack Fraser telling a reporter about the addition in his household. His dog presented him with a litter of seven puppies . . . In the announcers' room at NBC word-spieler Jack McCarthy playing ping-pong in stocking-feet, and the only other thing he has on is a pair of shorts . . . George Hicks, reputed to be the champ ping-ponger of the networks (he plays a mean game), defeated by his colleague, Nelson Case . . . At the New York Giants professional football game, which brings a huge turnout of radio celebs. Paul Whiteman sitting in front of your reporter in a box on the fifty-yard line. Between halves he goes out and returns in a few minutes juggling hot-dogs, soda pop and coffee for his party . . . Benny Goodman in the back with a gal. Eddy Duchin on the right, Fred Waring on the left. Ted Collins on the other side of the field, and a host of others too numerous to mention . . . The Clayton "Bud" Collyers walking home from church every Sunday morning. The lovely Mrs. C. wearing a beautiful corsage. Their florist has a weekly standing order to deliver flowers at the Collyer home, which is another way of "Bud" telling Eloise he loves her . . . CBS announcers Charles Stark and John Lang at a Saturday night party. At three ayem Stark ribs Lang because Johnny has to be at the studio at 8 in the morning and work through till 12 midnight and return again the next morning at 8, while he can sleep late the next morning. A radio columnist (initials are M. L.) joins in ribbling, regrets it next morning when awakened by phone call at nine and then can't fall back to sleep.

Behind the Scene

After last Sunday night's Bob Benchley broadcast the jitterbugs in the audience wanted to hear more of Artie Shaw's music and let it be known in a loud and long shout. When order was restored, the production man explained that the orchestra could not play again because it was against the rules of the musicians' union. A group in the balcony then yelled, "Down with the union," and before long more than half the audience joined in . . . Backstage at last Monday's Phil Spitalny's show. Songstress Maxine suffering with a severe sore throat has her doctor at the studio to swab her throat before she goes to the microphone to sing . . . Eddie Cantor misses his cue, and when he realizes he should be in front of the mike, rushes over to it yelling, "OH! OH! It's my turn," and then looks at the audience and adds, "I can make a mistake once in a while, can't I?" Yes, Cantor can.

At the first Jack Benny broadcast from New York I walked into the studio just as the comedian was introducing the celebrities in the audience. NBC page Joe Wilkinsen is standing against the wall with his arms folded. Pointing to Wilkinsen, Benny belted, "and that fellow over there is Mussolini's son." Quick as a flash the page came back with, "Thank you, Mr. Allen," which turned out to be the funniest crack of the night. Five minutes before the broadcast, Jack thought of a new joke and he hurriedly wrote it in the script . . . Don Willson gets up to make the usual prebroadcast speech and Benny stands a few feet away with his eyes on Willson. In the middle of the speech, Don stops and yells at Benny, "Will you sit down, please?" and while the audience is chuckling Jack sheepishly reclines into a chair saying, "I'm only the star of the program." After Willson finishes, Jack grabs a violin and proceeds to play "The Bee," when pennies are thrown at his feet. He stops, picks them up, and starts to walk down the aisle with outstretched hands seeking more contributions. After the broadcast, Phil Harris admitting his nervousness, which he hasn't been able to overcome. He isn't the only air performer that gets that same old feeling. That debbil mike really does get you—why, I dunno . . . Mary Livingstone (Mrs. Jack Benny) tells your reporter that she and Jack plan to stop off in Chicago on their way back to the Coast and adopt a little boy from "The Cradle," which is where they got little Joan.

Bob Hope, NBC comedy star, throttles one by biting his finger and looking pop-eyed. Most comics are masters of muffing ad-lib slips

HOLLYWOOD.—William Powell and Carole Lombard in one evening, or making the rounds with "Hollywood Showdown." Your reporter, bid to a wailing-party after the finale of "Hollywood Hotel," attended the very swell "Canary Murder Case" performance by Powell, Glenda Farrell, Humphrey Bogart, et al., and then dashed to the Brown Derby for a slice of roast beef medium. There saw Don and Honore Ameche with the Chester (Lum) Laucks and learned from the very healthy-looking Don that brother Jim Ameche is still living a life of leisure in San Fernando Valley . . . On to the Derby's American Room, to "Hollywood Hotel" producer Brewster Morgan's farewell get-together, and there was told Morgan had taken an option on a play, "William's Wife," and that he was leaving immediately for New York to produce the play on Broadway as well as start an experimental series of CBS broadcasts. The suave Bill Powell was a most gracious guest of honor; he modestly informed your reporter that he was cautiously feeling his way into radio to learn its true scope and perspective, then declared, "Anyone can do a good performance if he has good material!" . . . Party over, back to the Derby's Bamboo room, and there spied Joe E. Brown in huddle with his scripters and comedians Gill and Demling in an effort to slash twenty minutes of patter from their oversized Saturday night show and compress it into the allotted half-hour. At next table (guess who?) sat Carole Lombard chatting with Tuffy (Abner) Goff and wife Elizabeth, picking up radio pointers for her "Kellogg Variety Hour" series to begin January 15—and maybe just sitting in with friends while waiting for another friend, Clark Gable, to finish his night rehearsal for "Silver Theater."

Marriage Has No Counterpoints

Can it be that the Martha Raye-Dave Rose honeymoon is over? Before Martha and Dave spoke the magic words making them mister and missus, it seems that Miss Raye sang tunesmith Rose's arrangements to his complete satisfaction. But so quickly, there are now those close (perhaps too close) friends who assert that the Rose family affairs are not as rosy as they were; that the tension is resulting from the manner in which (imagine it) Martha sings his songs! . . . If the gossipers are right, then one might say that famili-air-ity breeds disharmony. Maybe Martha sings off key in her sleep?

Hollywood Astronomy

It seems that a New Yorker, a Mr. Starlight (no fooling), failed to feel any moonglow from Rudy Vallee's song rendition recently in the "Garden of the Moon." Mr. Starlight twinkled off a few heckles, and socker Vallee, meteor-like, shot down from his celestial podium and hung an eclipse on the gent. And, tsk, tsk, there were no cameramen present . . . However, co-crooner Bing Crosby it was, at the U. S. C.-Notre Dame grid upset, who was given the razzberry by fans for not rising and answering their intermission page call. One-punch Vallee, on the other hand, when called for, sprang to the fore with the cheerleaders and was given a great ovation . . . Incidentally, starting New Year's Eve, Freddie Martin's orchestra will take over the Grove dance spot now held by Rudy.

Bassinet Bulletins

Parkyakarkus plans to be teaching a little Greek to a junior Parkyakarkus, who is expected to become a new stooge in Parky's family next May. Perhaps that accounts for a book publisher's recent offer to him. He wants Parky to rewrite Mother Goose for adult reading, to wit:

Backstage at the Bob Hope show, Elvia Allman, stooge who is about to be reinforced December 27 by Honey Chile (Patricia) Wilder, was telling how her palm-surrounded tropical home had been signed for the movies, "without," she added, "me!" . . . Jack Smart rehearsing his role as NBC Santa Claus . . . Incidentally, the episode caught contained a neatly written farce about a Hollywood waitress who didn't want a screen career, but from the way guest star Joan Bennett sagged and flattened her lines, your reporter would infer she was less interested in a radio career. Directly opposing in her interpretation, radactress Paula Winslowe, selected by Clark Gable to support him in the hashslinger role of "Danger Lights" on the "Silver Theater" December 4 airing, had the fire and verve to be expected from a wisecracking coffee-pusher.

Leaving Town

CHICAGO.—About two months ago in this column your Tattler scored a scoop by predicting that the Fibber McGee show would leave Chicago for Hollywood. The exact time for the westward trek has now been set. The January 17 broadcast will mark the Chicago finale, and the following week will find the program in a Hollywood locale. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jordan (Fibber and Molly) and their two children will live out west. Mrs. Jordan, however, will not be heard on the show for the time being, at least. Happiest about moving to Hollywood are Donald Novis and Cecil Underwood, the show's vocalist and producer, respectively. Both their homes are out west, and although Don has been here with his wife, Cecil Underwood's family never did move to Chicago. Announcer Harlow Wilcox is giving up announcing duties on "Arnold Grimm's Daughter" and his lucrative commercial film work to sell Johnson's Wax with a Pacific background. Bill Thompson, who is (1) Nick de Populus, (2) the Old Timer, and (3) Horatio K. Boomer on the program, will, I predict, make the biggest hit in Hollywood, even surpassing the Fibber himself. Bill's a natural comedian, and at dinner one night with him I nearly split my sides laughing at his antics. Harold Peary, actor; Billy Mills, the orchestra-leader, and Don Quinn, gag-writer, will likewise go west. One member of the cast, however, is in a quandary. He doesn't know whether to go to Hollywood or stay in Chicago. That's Hugh Studebaker, the Silly Watson of the show. In addition to his Fibber chores, Hugh is heard in the East as the star of "Bachelor's Children." Hugh is one of the finest actors in Chicago, and he hates to leave. But in addition to retaining his role in the Fibber show if he moves with it, he has also received some flattering Hollywood offers. I'd hate to see Hugh leave town, but should he go. Cinemaville will have taken one of the town's best actors from us.

Can't Be Humored

With the Fibber McGee show leaving and Billy House's "Laugh Liner" making its final radio sailing on New Year's Day, Chicago will be left without a night-time comedy commercial program. It looks like a sad year in town, especially since there is no let-up in the foul play that is befalling the heroes and heroines of Chicago's innumerable serials.

Exodus

The past year has seen other Chicago radio stars moving to Glomourtown. A few are Truman Bradley, ex-"Ford Sunday Evening Hour" announcer; Henry Hunter, formerly Terry Regan in "Attorney-at-Law"; and Jim Ameche, brother of Don, who was heard in male lead when "Win Your Lady" was on last summer.

Following Don's footsteps

Like a story in fiction, reads the similarity of the radio roles of Don Ameche and Les Tremayne. When Don left Chicago, Les replaced him as the star of the "First Nighter." Don Ameche at one time had the male lead in "Betty and Bob." Les Tremayne succeeded Don in that role. Only one man has had the lead in "First Nighter" and "Betty and Bob" at the same time. On December 12 Les resumed his old role, replacing Spencer Bentley as Bob and becoming the second star to hold the lead in both "First Nighter" and "Betty and Bob" at the same time. Will Les follow Don to Hollywood? Not for the present, at least. His Friday night sponsor has Les signed up for radio work for some time to come.

How It started

Listened to George Olsen tell some interesting tales when he opened at the Gold Coast Room at the Drake. It seems that a few years ago a soft-drink firm hired Olsen's orchestra and was auditioning about fifteen comedians to find one good enough to round out the show. None quite filled the bill. George knew of a vaudevillian who he thought would please the advertiser. The sponsor heard the comedian's dry humor and agreed with Olsen that the comedian's delivery was good for radio. The sponsor was Canada Dry and the comedian—Jack Benny! And it was with Olsen that Jack first began kidding the sponsor's product. Remember how Jack would disdainfully say "a nickel back on the bottle" after the announcer read the commercials. Jack's been ribbing his sponsors ever since.

Privately your Tattler asked the smiling band-leader if there is anything to reports that he and Ethel Shutta will split. George politely said that all statements would have to come from Ethel. Unfortunately, your Tattler couldn't question Miss Shutta, as she was Europe-bound just about the time Olsen was referring divorce questions to her. However, from friends of the couple I learned that chances for a reconciliation look promising when Ethel returns.

Tattler's Tidbits

Anne Seymour, star of "Mary Marlin," scheduled to star in weekly quarter-hour drama, a la Irene Rich's show. Same advertising agency that has Miss Rich on the air heard Miss Seymour. New program will originate in Chicago and won't affect Miss Seymour's "Mary Marlin" role . . . Don Pedro, whose band was heard from Terrace Gardens of Morrison Hotel over NBC a couple of years ago, reported set to return to loop hotel after the first of the year . . . Screen-tested by 20th Century-Fox were Vivian Fridell, lovely blond lady of "Backstage Wife" (her picture was in "Guide" last week), and MacDonald Carey, handsome actor heard as John Knight and Ace Jeffers in "Girl Alone" and as Dr. Lee Markham in "Woman in White" . . . Stuart Dawson, "Backstage Wife" announcer, passing out cigars. It's a baby-boy bawler . . . John Logan, NBC guide, to KRNT-KSO, Des Moines, as continuity writer . . . Leonore Kingston, Sharon-Grainger, and Pat Murphy, co-starring in NBC's current story of the month, "Christmas Present" . . . Red-headed Betty Caine looks like a dead ringer for Katharine Hepburn . . . Betty's sister-in-law, Dora Johnson, sister of radiactor Ray Johnson, going into radio as Evey Fitz in "Ma Perkins" . . . Head of S. O. S. (Society of Screwballs) in Chicago is NBC "Jamboree" m.c. Don McNeill . . . Sam Hearn (Schlepperman) making return engagement on Fibber McGee's show on December 20. Was also heard with Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou on the seventeenth.

Congratulations!

"Ma Perkins" celebrated its fifth year on the air December 5 with a party given by sponsor. It's an annual affair. Only two members of the original cast were present—Virginia Payne, who has leading role, and Charles Egelston, who plays part of Shuffle. New writer on show is Orin Tovrov, whose "Manhattan Mother" program is one of better-class serials originating in Chicago.

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS IN

This "radio G-man" symbolizes the FCC fifteen years ago. He listened in continually to check up on amateur operators ("hams" now) and to prevent them from violating the restrictions. Forfeit of license was the penalty

"By direct wire." So this is how it started. The employment of electric lines to transmit radio programs is a fundamental of broadcasting. Here it is being introduced in 1922 by General Squiers of the U. S. Army

Gen. John J. Pershing, formerly commander of the A. E. F. in the World War, and now grand old man of the U. S. Army, realized early the potentiality of radio and had a set in his office to keep up with the times

This lady is doing some checking, too, unofficially. She is comparing the radio news reports with those of the afternoon newspaper to see if the radio is accurate! Now we hear big news before we read the story

"Calling all cars—is there a doctor in the car?" This physician was credited with being the first professional man in Chicago to own a car and first to employ radio to receive messages en route from his office

A FEW SHORT YEARS: PART 2

Former Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is not talking to himself over the telephone. He is shown as he was broadcasting an Arbor Day message. Today President Roosevelt's fireside chats furnish a different scene

When memorial services for the late President Harding were conducted at a church in Washington in 1923, one of radio's super-special de luxe mobile units (pictured outside church) was on hand to broadcast

Nowadays cruising squads pick up short-wave instructions seconds after a crime is committed. "Gang Busters" like these in New York in 1922 were just beginning to use radio for more than listening to concerts

Subway passengers are beguiled by music from Kansas City! Radio now embraces land, sea, and air. This, however, was the first demonstration (1923) of radio's penetration underground. No room for aerial now!

This acme of receiving-sets, combined with coffee table, is more familiar to us than the nine other pictures. But the old-timer cracks back, "Now the radio just goes with the coffee; then it was a real thrill."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

For Writers Only

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

Beginning in February, 1939, the University of New Mexico plans to add to its radio activities by offering a course in radio play-production.

Here's a chance for the writer of radio plays and short stories to see how his scripts sound in actual performance; moreover, the script as altered (if altering for timing or dramatizing is necessary) will be returned to the writer so that he may later use our suggestions if he likes.

The most interesting feature of this attempt to cooperate with writers in offering them a free laboratory for their work is the recording of programs. Even if a worth-while script is not "aired," the writer may hear it, at least in part, for we plan to rehearse and record one deserving script each week. The recording will be made on both sides of a cellulose disk which may be played on any phonograph with an ordinary steel needle, at the usual speed of 78 r.p.m. We can also record at 33 r.p.m. This disk will be sent to the author free of charge in return for the use of his script, but express charges must be collect.

CARLESS JONES,
Department of Dramatic Art,
University of New Mexico,
Albuquerque, N. M.

P. S. The University of New Mexico broadcasts over the commercial station KOB, an NBC affiliate of 10,000 watts and one of the country's oldest stations. Additional time is available to us over KGGM, the local CBS station.

Mr. Jones' letter means opportunity for many writers. Mr. Jones and the University of New Mexico are to be congratulated.—Ed.

Secret of Success

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

In the field of entertainment and music, style is that quality which in one instance produces a Kate Smith and the lack of which, in the next, relegates one to oblivion. The style which is associated with a personality carries through in everything that person does. Kate's singing appeals to certain people because that group enjoys the lovely lilting melodies offered in a manner known as the Kate Smith style. Also, whenever she talks on the air the same characteristics have to predominate in her speech. For instance, if Kate Smith were to tell a joke on the air it could not be narrated in a way associated with Beatrice Lillie, Mary Livingstone, Gracie Allen, Gertrude Lawrence or Fannie Brice, because it would not be Kate Smith.

To illustrate the point, Kate would tell a humorous story in a manner which would be plain, homey, and understandable to all. Beatrice Lillie aims her humor, which is often satirical, at the blase and sophisticated, as does Gertrude Lawrence. Gracie Allen, with her silly banter, must aim her verbal carrying-on at those who can find fun in that which is basically silly and ridiculous. Fannie Brice lends characterizations and dialects to her joke-telling. Mary Livingstone, who plays the role of a stooge rather than a solo comedian, relies on cuteness intermingled with a bit of dumbness. Kate, who is now heard regularly in the dual role of commentator and mistress of ceremonies on the radio, can tell any wholesome story with the best of them, as was evidenced when she appeared last season with the two masters of mirth, Jack Benny and Fred Allen. There is no hidden meaning that the average listener cannot comprehend. It's story-telling without furbelows, mingled with a little American philosophy.

TED COLLINS, New York.

Manager Collins above states the secret, perhaps, of Kate Smith's success, a secret which other stars less successful might use to advance their own careers.—Ed.

Friendly City

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I want to help correct an impression many people throughout the country may have about New York City. Before coming to the big city to start an engagement at the Hotel Commodore, I had qualms about the visit. I had heard so much about the "coldness" of New York and the difficulty of making friends there.

I certainly was pleasantly surprised. The people in New York bend over backwards to be cordial to strangers. Moreover, New Yorkers don't seem any different, at heart, from the people in Oshkosh or Kalamazoo. I've been in New York only a short time but already feel perfectly at home. I've made numerous friends. New York has my vote as being one of the friendliest cities in the nation.

SAMMY KAYE, New York.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I was very much interested in your report of the NBC-Toscanini concerts. They were no doubt, as usual, uncomparably superb.

But do you know that not a station in the Southwest, of any size at least, carried these programs? All the main stations were busy with jitterbug bands, barn dances, or hillbilly jamborees!

I've requested!

F. L. HARNESS, Blackwell, Okla.

Hard Work

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

As one of the 18 guides at the NBC Chicago studios I have frequently heard the comment: "Aren't radio people lucky—their work is so easy." Of course, most of the persons making this comment were thinking of actors in radio, but even there they are wrong. Radio is hard work. I know, because from my desk on the 19th floor lobby I see actors studying their scripts by the hour, directors conferring with sound-effects men; writers conferring with actors, and announcers frequently standing somewhere in a corner going over their "commercials" to get just the right tempo.

No, sir, listeners who merely sit in their comfortable homes and turn a dial cannot realize how much effort is taken to produce a show. Yet, "people in radio are lucky in a way—lucky to be in a line of work which they enjoy and which brings joy to so many millions."

From one Radio Guide to Another—
JOHN LAGEN, Chicago.

Radio workers are notorious for bad nerves, nervous stomachs. Uneven hours of work, long hours without rest, intense concentration and slave-like service to the clock is usually the cause.—Ed.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I'm not a superstitious person, but I wonder if you or any of your other devoted readers have pointed out the prevalent jinx that surrounds broadcasts on Sundays.

The Mae West-Charlie McCarthy episode, the Orson Welles thunderbolt, the Original Good Will Hour faux pas, all occurred on Sunday.

Perhaps I am a bit alarmed over this because, you see, I also broadcast over Mutual on Sunday.

DR. CHARLES M. COURBOIN, New York.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I should like to suggest a step which I think would be of the utmost importance in the development of American music. Why not have the government impose a small tax of not more than one dollar a year on all radio receivers? With the proceeds, a national department of music, under federal control could be established, which would have the following objectives: The development of promising singers and musicians; and the sponsoring of local symphonic and opera companies.

At the present moment, too many fine musicians are obliged to turn their talents to other fields because of the lack of opportunities. What is equally important is that the time is not far off when America will become the musical Mecca of both hemispheres. Earnest young students who formerly made the pilgrimage from the United States to the cultural capitals of Europe are now not only ceasing but the pendulum is rapidly reversing itself.

LAURITZ MELCHIOR, New York.

How would other radio listeners feel if Uncle Sam asked them to pay a tax of $1 per year?—Ed.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

As I go into my tenth year of broadcasting with "The Goldbergs" I should like the opportunity of expressing, through RADIO GUIDE, a vote of thanks to my listeners.

It has ever been my contention that listeners write the scripts for radio serials. I do not mean by this that radio authors like myself are the recipients of ready-written scripts, all set for production. But I do mean that listeners writing to tell me of themselves, their problems and the real lives they live, which I try to portray in my scripts, give me invaluable assistance in my work.

It isn't necessary to be a personal expert to teach those who are acknowledged experts. So thanks again for your assistance, and please do continue your criticism of my efforts and those of my "Goldbergs" cast.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

Two years ago my wife, mother of our three children, took up vocal study for an outside interest. Now her teacher has sold her completely on the idea that New York is breathlessly awaiting her debut at a place called Town Hall, and I am being held up for the five hundred bucks necessary for rent, clack (what-ever in God's name that is), dress, and the rest of the expenses.

My wife is 38 years old, short and thick, exactly like a Michelin tire advertisement, spare tires from chin down. As man to man, she couldn't get a hand in a strip-tease act. She has a nice

RECORDS OF THE WEEK

A department reviewing the recordings of your radio favorites

Classical:

DEBUSSY AND DE FALLA.—The great Claude Debussy wrote his three magnificent nocturnes in 1898, Festivals being the most popular, Sirens the least-performed, probably because it includes sixteen female voices, Clouds the third. All three are performed in a new album in rare style by the Orchestre des Festivals Debussy, with a student of the composer directing, D. E. Inghelbrecht. Only flaw is sloppy brass in the distant parade effect in the middle of Festivals. But it's a prize package in any language. (Columbia set 344. $6.)

Another neat buy is the De Falla album on Victor, the dances from his "Three Corners Hat" played with the usual smack of the Boston Pops Orchestra, Mr. Fiedler conducting. There are four sides, including "The Neighbors," "The Miller's Dance" and the final dance in the ballet. All sparkle with expected brilliance. (Victor album 505. $2.50.)

Popular:

ALBUMS and TWO SLEEPY PEOPLE.—This seems to be album week, especially with Victor. Maybe Christmas is coming. Benny Goodman busts loose with a four-record swing session that is most pleasant, especially the four sides by the quartet. Teddy Wilson's impeccable piano, Lionel Hampton's inventive jibes, Dave Tough's neat percussion, and Benny's ever-welcome clarinet. The tunes selected are all in the popular immortals, but for one original by the quartet, Opus 1/2, which is swell. You'll get such as S'wonderful, The Blue Room, Sweet Sue, Make-Believe, Sweet Georgia Brown, I Never Knew and I Must Have

That Man, and you'll be glad. (Victor album P-3. $3.50.)

Not so enthusiastic are we for the Jerome Kern album. Out of all the musical-comedy composers, we'd take Kern head and shoulders above the Frimls, Rombergs and the like. But these Victor Salon orchestra albums are too cluttered with overstuffed medleys and second-rate vocals, and less than half of this is on the plus side. Tunes from "Show Boat," "Music in the Air," "Roberta" and "Cat and the Fiddle" are the best, reviving such almost-forgotten but great songs as Yesterday, One Moment Alone and The Touch of Your Hand. Leonard Joy directs, and the singers include Felix Knight, Dorothy Chapman, Marie Louise Quevli, and Alan Holt. Take it or leave it. (Victor album C-31. $9.)

Two Sleepy People, which is so in the fore these days, gets a variety of treatments on wax, including a none-too-terrific job by its composer, Hoagy Carmichael, singing with Ella Logan, a loud Fats Waller record, a dulcet, accented Jean Sablon reading, a neat Bob Crosby treatment, and one by the ickey Kay Kyser band. You pick it.

They Say is a new tune making good material for the return of Ethel Waters to records, a gal who can still sell a song aplenty. Bluebird.

Poor Butterfly, the oldie, displays trumpeter Bobby Hackett in very special fettle with his own, and excellent aggregation. Vocalion.

Most Gentlemen Don't Like Love, another of the ultra-smart Cole Porter songs from the Broadway show "Leave It to Me" is now available by Larry Clinton's band. Victor.

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

Bandstand and Baton

There was quite a heated discussion along Tin Pan Alley the other night as to who had the better swing band—Tommy Dorsey or Benny Goodman. After arguing for about two hours, it was agreed that your reporter was to ask his readers their opinion, and it was agreed whichever band received the most votes, would be considered tops. So friends, please help keep peace along the Alley by sending me a post card or letter letting me know whether you think Tommy Dorsey or Benny Goodman has the better swing band. Address me at 551 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Richard Himber is going to start trouble for that midwestern band-leader who has been lifting his "Rhythmic Pyramid" arrangements... Enoch Light, the Taft Hotel bandler, got into a little difficulty when he discovered in a magazine article that he had a namesake in the Father Divine cult in New York State. His listeners thought it was one and the same person, causing him much embarrassment. The mag printed a correction recently, stating the "Enoch Light" is not the orchestra-leader... Horace Heidt has changed the name of his organization from "The Brigadiers" to the "Musical Knights"... Guy Lombardo has been appointed as head of the radio division of the Christian Committee for the Relief of Jewish Refugees... Band-leader Artie Shaw just completed a movie short... Swingster Jimmy Lunceford's new tune, "Le Jazz Hot," was dedicated to Panassie, the French swing critic who just wrote a book of the same title... Johnny Green's orchestra may replace Russ Morgan when he leaves the "Johnny Presents" program... Ben Bernie and his lads open at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia this week... Starting at 11:15 p.m. on New Year's Eve, the Mutual network will present the following bands in the order named: Tommy Dorsey, Sammy Kaye, Benny Goodman, Guy Lombardo, Kay Kyser, Eddy Duchin, Mal Hallett, Dick Jurgens, Griff Williams, Jan Garber, Don Bestor, Little Jackie Heller, George Hamilton, Shep Fields, Skinnay Ennis and Clyde Lucas.

Listened and Lacked

I attended Fred Allen's dress rehearsal on Wednesday afternoon in order to be at the loudspeaker that night to listen to the Texaco show, which is on at the same time as Allen. After being bored for twenty minutes, I turned the dial to laugh at the Allen quips a second time. The Texaco show needs plenty revamping... Arlene Francis trying to be too cute and coy on the MBS "What's My Name"... NBC's Bill Stern at the Armstrong-Garcia fight mentioning that the heavyweight champ is at the ringside and calling him Gene "Tooney."

THE COVER STORY

IT HAS been said that one picture tells a story better than many words. Here is one case. We could expound upon the natural jollity of fat men and point out that the most real and famous laugh in radio belongs to one of the most rotund men in radio. But we believe that in this cover shot of jolly Don Wilson—like a huge turtle's head coming out to say "Merry Christmas!"—Gene Lester, RADIO GUIDE cameraman, has told the story with superb eloquence and vividness.

L. A. Reports on Child Listening Habits

Report on a recent survey of child listening habits in the Los Angeles city schools was made by Pauline Winner at the First Annual Institute of Radio in Los Angeles on November 18. Miss Winner is teacher-coordinator of radio activities for L. A. schools. The purpose of the survey was to determine children's out-of-school listening-habits by asking them to check on nineteen popular programs one of these six possible ratings:

1. Know nothing about it.
2. Don't like it—never listen.
3. Listen when nothing better on the air.
4. Average—listen occasionally.
5. Among the best—listen frequently.
6. First choice—try never to miss it.

Two thousand eight hundred children from all sections of the city were included in the survey in all grades from primary through the twelfth. Among other things the survey indicated that:

- (1) There is a decided effect of age on the popularity of programs. Example: In the elementary grades "The Lone Ranger" rates first, ties for fourth in junior high schools, drops down to tenth place in senior high schools.
- (2) As children grow older some programs become more popular, others less popular and some remain the same throughout all age levels. Example: "Lux Radio Theater" increases in popularity with children as they grow older, "The Lone Ranger" decreases and the "Charlie McCarthy" program holds second place throughout all grade levels.
- * (3) Pupils over age tend to like the sensational-type programs, while the pupils under age enjoy those which are universally popular.

The interesting facts shown in this report suggest a solution to one of the great mysteries of broadcasting, specifically: How does the audience react to what they hear? It seems appropriate at this time to encourage similar activity in other communities, where surveys might help bring an answer to this perplexing question, an answer that would help educators and radio experts solve some of their puzzles.

*This point on the basis of pupils who are over age and under age for a given grade.

Students Use P. A. System

Novel use of school public-address systems in Los Angeles schools was revealed by Elizabeth Goudy, director of radio for L. A. schools, by the following remark in her address before the First Annual Institution of Radio: "Of the many possible uses that radio may have in the classroom, that of utilizing the school's public-address system for broadcasts by the students themselves may contribute many desirable outcomes. The preparation and presentation of student broadcasts can motivate the tools of instruction—reading, writing and speech."

In a letter, Miss Goudy writes: "We on the West Coast feel that radio may serve not only as a teaching aid but as a public-relations medium. It enables us to interpret the public schools to the public."

Sterling Fisher's assignment is keeping a hand on today's job and an eye on tomorrow's

FROM Sunday morning, when the "Church of the Air" starts off another week in Columbia's schedule of educational programs, to Saturday night, when "Government Interviews Business" finishes that week, there has been a minimum of seven and one-half hours of educational broadcasting presented for Coast-to-Coast audiences over the Columbia Broadcasting System. Outstanding in this schedule are such popular presentations as "Headlines and By-Lines," "Americans All—Immigrants All," "The People's Platform," "American School of the Air," "Of Men and Books" and "Americans at Work."

The head man under whose direction Columbia's educational activity takes place is Sterling Fisher. He doesn't do it by himself, however; that would be an impossible task for a dozen men. But it is Sterling Fisher who guides the present and keeps an eye on the future of Columbia's radio-education. He is the man who rates honor when honor is due and brickbats when they are in order. So far, the tremendous responsibility of educating by radio has been handled so admirably at Columbia that there has been little call for brickbats. The answer to this might be found in Fisher's able staff.

On the staff, Leon Levine first comes to our notice as assistant director in charge of education and director of "The People's Platform." We next find Helen Sioussat as assistant in charge of talks, and Ruth Allen as the broadcast director of "Church of the Air." Norman Corwin directs one of the "American School of the Air" broadcasts and is assisted with "Americans at Work" by Betzy Tuthill, Margaret Lewerth writing the script. A. Murray Dyer is doing an exceptional script-writing job for "American School of the Air," with which series the more familiar names of Earle Gill, William N. Robson, George Allen and James Fassettt may also be associated.

The duties and obligations of the above-mentioned individuals represent, quite accurately, Columbia's activity in the interest of education. These people, under Sterling Fisher's direction, are handling today's job.

Supervising the job that is being done today is only one part of Fisher's work. Another obligation, extremely more difficult and filled with all sorts of bogies, is looking into the unpredictable future of radio-education to advance its status day by day and keep Columbia abreast of the latest developments. Evidence of this "looking toward the future" was very pronounced in Fisher's speech to the Second School Broadcast Conference held in Chicago recently in which he accentuated future radio-education work, proposed a variety of new program ideas.

So it is ever with a hand on the pulse of today and a searching, critical eye on the possibilities of tomorrow—the assignment of Columbia's director in charge of education. Of his success we can truthfully say: The results, so far, are as much as could be expected and plans for the future look very promising.

Radio Guide's Educational Program Classifier will appear in the issue for the Week Ending January 21

Next Step Is The Teacher's

Notes on the Second School Broadcast Conference held at the Morrison Hotel, Chicago, December 1, 2 and 3.

The Second School Broadcast Conference may have proved nothing, but it did show rather plainly that the next major step in radio-education for the classroom will have to be made by the classroom teacher. This makes the future of radio-education in schools the problem of every citizen, school-board member and school principal.

It is apparent that educators who are preparing radio programs for classroom use have as accurate a picture of their job and their responsibilities as is possible at this stage of the game, and are working in the right direction even though they still may be a long way from their goal. Of broadcasters who service communities with educational programs, it must be said that they too are aware of their obligations and in most cases are following the right course in fulfilling them.

That the most expertly planned and presented educational radio program, of which there are a great number today, can be a flop if the teacher does not know how to utilize it, needs no further proof than that which has already been established. On the other hand, as has been frequently shown, the average program can be made to fill a vital need if properly handled by an alert instructor. There is a wealth of evidence, excepting the demonstrations by students at the conference, that teachers will have to make the next step to cultivate the possibilities in this virgin field by taking advantage of such opportunities to educate themselves to radio as that presented at this conference and similar ones held in all parts of the country.

If the classroom groups that demonstrated the utilization of radio programs at the Chicago conference could be accepted as examples of an average class, we then could justify the tremendous expenditure of time and money that is being made in the interests of radio-education. These classes and their teachers were the unusual exception rather than a sample of the average. They did conclusively prove, however, that radio can do a useful job in the classroom if properly utilized by the teacher.

At the Conference ...

Larry Roller, educational director of Ohio's United Broadcasting Company, remarked that Cleveland's situation is ideal. Commercial stations leave the job of classroom programs to WBOE, school broadcasting station on new high-frequency band, and concentrate on the more flexible adult-education and free-time listening programs.

A receiving-set for schools that may be operated from the principal's office in all the classrooms. Has apparatus for recordings, principal's announcements and teacher talk-back.

A public school principal's remark that one of the biggest drawbacks of radio-education in schools today is inadequate receiving equipment or none at all.

whistle in my parlor, my bedroom, or my bath. Thanks to you, he is doing exactly that.

Perhaps you have not noticed how many of broadcasting's biggest shows are ending in a riot of whistling. Listen in; you'll be amazed. In the beginning, it was confined to such programs as Benny Goodman's. His audience was composed of jitterbugs who became so struck with themselves on account of the publicity they and their tribe received via newsreels, picture magazines, and newspapers that they decided to take over the program for their own noisy gratification. That broke the ice. If they could whistle at Benny Goodman one night, they could whistle at Fred Allen in the same studio the next night. And they did—and do. Next, they'll be whistling at Toscanini.

Whistling is not entertainment, Mr. Studio Head; it is a nuisance. If your best friend won't tell you, I will. Whistling destroys the illusion of beauty or character or realism or culture that must trademark every good broadcast. Eliminate it by simply enforcing laws against it in your studios and you will eliminate one of radio's sharpest irritants.

We thank you.

The youngster behind the "Ask your mummy to fill your tummy" theme tune on the Grape Nuts show is 5-year-old Charlene Wyatt, a cutie with curly brown hair and big brown eyes. Charlene, a native of Tulsa, Okla., has appeared in many big films and on several other broadcasts . . . Ray Noble, selected to direct the music for the Christmas opening of Earl Carroll Theater Restaurant, has completed its first musical score. It's titled "In the Candlelight" . . . Decca is plotting a series of records of Judy Garland warbling to hot licks by Mickey Rooney and his band . . . Virginia Verrill's mother, Amy, has returned to New York for the holidays, marking the pair's first Christmas separation in twenty-two years . . . But balancing the ledger, sculptress Frances Rich planned in to be with her actress mother, Irene, through Yuletide . . . Another holiday Hollywood guest is Irna Phillips, the multiple air-serial writer, who has adopted radio and screen star Lucy Gilman as her vacation companion. Maybe Miss Phillips will turn out a movie, too . . . Coming to Glamourtown starting January 24 will be Fibber McGee and company.

voice, but I would like to know if she, or any other woman near middle age, could compete with youthful voices. She would be ashamed to return home if she failed, and I don't want my children to be ashamed if she lands in the gutter.

Can a woman aged 38, with only choir experience, get to first base in either concert or radio work? I make a good living for her.

Please answer through RADIO GUIDE.
DESPERATE HUSBAND.

The odds are 1,000 to 1 against a beautiful, young, and fairly talented newcomer getting anywhere in concert or radio work. They are 100,000 to 1 against a woman of 38, fat, inexperienced. The network artist bureaus already have hundreds of applications from experienced, talented singers who are as good as those on the air. Because jobs are so scarce, hardly one of them will ever get an opportunity to sing professionally. Any woman who has a home, a good husband, and happy children, unless she can sing better than Kirsten Flagstad and knows more operas, is illadvised to sacrifice them for the dubious future of a Town Hall concert and a New York "career."—Ed.

 The World Is Yours, drama: KOA WDAY WOW WLW (sw-9.53)

It comes from the bones of animals which died billions of years ago, today it is a billion-dollar industry—the mother of modern speed. With this introduction today's program will treat the interesting subject of petroleum. In the dramatization a young chemist is challenged by the potentialities of petroleum, discovers that not only does it run machinery and factories but that it is the source of chewing gum, foods, cosmetics, dyes and many other products.

 Sir Walter Scott 1771-1832, great novelist and great man. Is the author of the Waverley novels, among which are numbered such favorites as Ivanhoe and Kenilworth. A childhood steeped in Scottish legendry lore caused Scott to form the habit of living mentally in the past, a habit which made possible the convincing background and color of his novels. Ideal marriage, spectacular financial success. In writing, rise to prominence as a great Englishman whose "Waverley" was a center of social and cultural life and business reverses resulting in bankruptcy are phases of Scott's life which will receive attention in this dramatization.

An interesting sample of tonight's "Don't you believe it?"
are the following: Paul Hovner made the most important ride in American history; Janne-town, Va., has the first white suffragette in America; blood-hounds are vicious dogs.

Lighting of the Nat'l Christmas
Tree: KOIL WGN

Bob Trout will describe the annual ceremony in which President Roosevelt lights the White House Christmas tree and sends his seasonal greetings out to the nation. The program includes the invocation by Dr.
Albert J. McCarthy, greetings to the President by a Boy Scout and a Girl Scout, the actual lighting of the tree, the President's greeting, a brief address by Representative Ross Collins of Mississippi, Christmas carols by Schola Cantorum, and the benediction by the Very Rev.
Arthur A. McHenry.

One of the great literary giants of all time, Shakespeare (1564-1616) falls naturally into the group of men whom Dr.
Griggs discusses in this series.
Born of relatively prosperous tradespeople in the village of Stratford-upon-Avon, indifferently educated, apprenticed to a butcher and, at the age of eighteen, married to Ann Hathaway, his youth showed little promise of future greatness. Two years after his marriage he went to London, there to spend years in obscurity before his plays brought him wealth and recognition.

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

No personal replies to questions unless accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mr. Claude V. Mosher, Hillsdale, Mich.—Jim McWilliams conducts the "Colgate Ask-It-Basket" program. He was formerly heard on "Uncle Jim's Question Bee," which is now conducted by Norman Prescott.

Mrs. Vera Carson, Peytona, W. Va. —The cast of "Midstream" drama is made up of the following: Louis Levy as Charles Meredith; Eva Pownall as Julia Meredith; Mary Jane Croft as Midge Meredith; Jack Marks as David Meredith; Wilda Hinkle as Ruth Andrews and Jack Zoller as Stanley Bartlett. Paula Hopkins writes the script for this show.

Miss Elizabeth Sharp, Harrisburg, Pa.—Fredda Gibson, lovely young songstress heard on the Saturday night "Hit Parade," was born on August 17, 1918, in Worcester, Mass. Fredda's first big break came when Richard Himber heard a transcription that she had made, and immediately signed her to sing with his Studebaker Champions. The day after Himber's show closed its run in May, 1937, she was signed for the "Hit Parade" and has been on it since that time. She has also been featured on "Melody Puzzles" and "Royal Crown Revue," and is heard on transcriptions for Alka-Seltzer and Chevrolet. Fredda is five feet one inch tall, weighs 104 pounds and has dark hair and eyes.

Mr. M. F. Daily, Buffalo, N. Y.—Claude and Clarence Stroud (their real names) were born in Kaufman, Texas, on March 26, 1907. They both have brown eyes and dark hair and are five feet ten and one-half inches tall. Claude weighs 158 pounds while Clarence weighs 160. They have both been married and divorced.

Mrs. Ray C. Hall, Parkersburg, W. Va.—The "Rochester" heard on Jack Benny's program is not Phil Harris. Eddie Anderson portrays this role.

Miss Harriet F. Sawyer, Bronxville, N. Y.—Paul Page, NBC singer, was born twenty-seven years ago in Dawson, Y. T., Canada. Before coming to NBC he was serenading the Eskimos over Radio Station KINY, in Juneau, Alaska. Paul, a former photographer's model, stands a little over six feet tall. Critics have likened his voice to that of the late Russ Colombo.

Mr. Joe Ballard, Jr., Norman, Okla. —Orrin Tucker and his orchestra are now playing at the Palmer House in Chicago. Due to the fact that there are no broadcasts originating in the Palmer House, Orrin and his boys are not heard on the air at this time.

Mr. Enod House, Kenosha, Wis.—The Southernaires, Negro male quartet, are still broadcasting. They may be heard each Sunday morning at 11:30 a.m. EST over NBC's Blue network.

Miss Ruby Ruley, Oakland, Calif.—The program "John's Other Wife" is heard over NBC's Red network at 10:15 a.m. EST, Monday through Friday. The reason that this sketch is not heard on the West Coast is due to the fact that it is broadcast so early no western outlets carry it.

Mr. Robert E. Papendieck, Sheboygan, Wis.—Richard Cromwell, young actor, was born in Los Angeles on January 8, 1910, of Dutch-American descent. His real name is Roy Rada-baugh, and he has three sisters and a brother. Richard is five feet ten inches tall, weighs 150 pounds and has blue-green eyes and blond hair.

Miss Dorothy Lust, Newton, Iowa.—Jim Ameche is Don Ameche's brother and, like Don, has made a name for himself as a radio actor. Jim attracted much attention for his excellent work on the "Win Your Lady" drama, which replaced the "Hollywood Playhouse" for thirteen weeks last summer. Jim is residing in Hollywood at present and it is rumored that he may make a movie.

Mrs. Earl Fay, Titusville, Pa. — Henry Busse and his orchestra are "on tour." This accounts for the fact that they are not heard on the air at this time.

Miss Hazel I. Hartwell, Goderich, Ont.—Peggy Allenby, who portrays the role of Helen Gowan in "Road of Life," also takes the part of Susan Price in the "David Harum" sketch.

Mrs. John Hall, Chicago, Ill.—Orchestra-leader Lawrence Welk and his boys are playing at the hotel William Penn in Pittsburgh, Pa. They are also broadcasting several times weekly over the Mutual network.

Mrs. Lawrence Holden, Jr., Plains, Mont.—The theme song of "Just Plain Bill," is "Polly Wolly Doodle." The actors taking part in this sketch are: Arthur Hughes as Bill Davidson; Ruth Russell as Naney Donovan; James Meighan as Kerry Donovan; Clayton Collyer as David Ellis; Effie Palmer as Mrs. Eeps; Joe Latham as Elmer Eeps; Erie Dressler as Stanley Harper; Virginia Gateley as Marty Rivers and Philip Foster as Peter Rivers.

Miss Loretta C. Hale, Hartford, Conn.—Del Courtney and his orchestra are playing and broadcasting from the New Kenmore hotel in Schenectady, N. Y.

Mrs. Eva B. Berthiaume, Danielson, Conn.—Frank Luther was born on a Kansas cattle ranch August 4, 1907. He was a pianist at the age of five and a professional singer at thirteen. His real name is Frank Crow. He adopted Luther, his mother's name, to avoid being called Jim Crow. Besides being an accomplished singer and actor, Frank has also written several comic songs, the most popular being, "Barnacle Bill the Sailor." Frank is five feet nine inches tall, has grayish-blue eyes and dark-brown hair. In his spare time he studies singing and acting and writes radio-scripts.

Miss Lorraine Lasker, Chicago, Ill.—He is not quite 30, but he's the King of Swing from Coast to Coast and is considered by swing authorities to be the best clarinetist in the country. He is currently featured on the "Camel Caravan" over CBS every Tuesday night. Benny Goodman was born in Chicago, on May 30, 1909. At the age of six he bought his first clarinet from a pay-as-you-go music store, and to the annoyance of the neighbors taught himself to play it. His first big job was with Ben Pollack's band at the Blackhawk in Chicago. After shifting from one band to another, Benny formed his own unique outfit about four years ago. There are sixteen men in Benny's band and he has always insisted on a "black and white" membership. He loves to play for college groups because of their uncontrollable appreciation. He would traipse from one university to another if his manager wasn't looking. Ask Benny what "swing" music is and he looks a bit vacant and mutters "rhythmic integration." A simpler definition is that "swing" is how Benny Goodman plays jazz. Benny is six feet tall, weighs 170 pounds has brown hair and eyes and is a bachelor.

Miss Helen Price, Spencer, Va.—Wayne King and his orchestra were playing and broadcasting from the Mark Hopkins hotel in Los Angeles until December 10. After December 31, Wayne and his band will be at the Drake Hotel in Chicago.

Mrs. C. W. Haines, Bordentown, N. J. —The cast of "A Tale of Today," is made up of the following: Carlton Brickert as Robert Houston; Ethel Owen as Harriet Houston; Laurette Fillbrandt as Dot Houston; Frankie Pacelli as Billy Houston; Louise Barclay as Joan Houston Allen; Ed Prentiss as Dave Allen; Willard Farnum as Dick Martin; Bob Jellison as Johnny Ward; Norma Peterson as Sally Ackerton and Sunda Love plays the role of Sandra Hall.

Mrs. J. C. French, Boston, Mass.—Richard Maxwell was born in Mansfield, Ohio, on September 12, 1898. He attended primary and high school at Mansfield, and also attended Georgetown University and Kenyon College. Richard worked his way through college by singing and trapping. He has been married, but is now divorced and has three children, one son and two daughters. Richard is five feet eleven inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, has brown hair and hazel eyes. At present he is living on Long Island.

Miss Betty McLean, Augusta, Ga.—Tommye Birch, beautiful young contralto, heard on NBC's "Breakfast Club," was born in St. Louis, Mo., on November 2, 1918. Tommye's real name is Thomasine Carol Birch. She was only 14 years old when she was featured with Herbie Kay's band. A director of station KWK in St. Louis, heard her and she was given a contract on that station. She won several music awards and was given the title of "Queen of the Ozarks" in a beauty contest. Before coming to NBC, Tommye sang with the bands of Buddy Rogers and Roger Pryor. Tommye is a brunette, five feet two and one-half inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. She may also be heard on NBC's "Dan Harding's Wife."

Miss Julia Mackley, Union Bridge, Md.—The theme song used on "Those We Love," is "Weeping Willow." It is rumored that Frances Langford, lovely songstress formerly heard on "Hollywood Hotel," will soon be singing on the "Texaco Star Theater" on Wednesday night. Jean Sablon is not married.

Mr. Clifford Thompson, Blackburg, Va.—The theme song used on "Voice of Firestone" is "In My Garden." Ted Weems' theme is "Into the Night." Bob Crosby uses "Summertime." Jan Garber's theme is "My Dear," and Lou Breeze signs on and off with "Breezing Along with the Breeze."

—ARTHUR FAIRFAX.
