RADIO— PANDEMONIUM IF UNCONTROLLED

BY

FRANK R. McNINCH

Chairman, Federal Communications Commission

Radio has elected a president. It has prevented a World War. Its power is mighty and awe-inspiring. How shall this power be controlled and directed for man's own benefit? RADIO GUIDE has asked several American leaders of thought to think about broadcasting. Their guest editorials will appear in this space each week. Significantly, the first is by the Honorable Frank R. McNinch, who even now, in behalf of our government, is investigating the entire broadcasting industry.—THE EDITOR.

Facilities have been afforded for the safety of life at sea and in the air. World-wide radiotelegraph and radiotelephone communication is available at all hours and seasons and is made possible through scientific selection of usable channels.

All the people of the United States may receive the benefits of broadcast service. Provision has been made for international broadcasting, for television, image reproduction and other useful services. The work of fifty thousand American amateurs (there are only sixty-five thousand in the world) has been well ordered. Proper allocation would still be futile without regulation requiring licensees to keep abreast of the rapidly progressing art. A station's signal must be free from distortion and a high percentage of modulation must be maintained to assure good reception and to prevent interference with stations in the same or other classes of service.

Hand in hand with technical excellence must go program excellence, and increasing recognition of the responsibility of broadcasters, as well as the Federal Communications Commission, for proper administration of the Communications Act. Listeners too have a responsibility to make their experience known to the commission, for after all the service rendered to the listening public is the best guide to the determination of what is in the public interest. Without these safeguards it might be that, as the courts have said, "This great science, instead of a boon, will become a scourge." The ether belongs to the people and it must not be made a theater for the display of vulgarity, profanity, greed, fraud or passion.

Great Americans

THINK ABOUT RADIO

THE sinking of the Titanic during the night of April 14, 1912, focused the attention of the world on the problem of radio regulation—proper provision for safety of life at sea. If regulation had required continuous watch on passenger liners, the Californian, which was only a few miles away, might have heard the Titanic distress signals and rescued many more than were saved.

Soon, by law and international regulation, the use of radio on ships was extended. This illustrates one aspect of regulation, namely, the proper adaptation of radio to public purposes and the necessity for efficient use of the facility.

The relatively simple problems of regulation presented by the early ship-emergency service soon assumed vast ramifications by the rapid development of the art. Following the World War, almost unbelievable adaptations quickly followed one another.

The very usefulness of radio created the greatest problem. The demands of human enterprise and ingenuity greatly exceeded the facilities of the radio spectrum. Untrammelled use could result only in pandemonium, as the laws of nature do not yield to the enterprises of men. Scarcely more than a decade ago we witnessed confusion in the broadcast band created by the rush to establish stations and share in the profits of commercial operation. Regulation was in the nature of things. It had to come to assure order and the full expression of the art along useful lines. The Federal laws enacted in 1927 and 1934 provided efficient standards for regulation.

Under regulation, indiscriminate use yielded to planned service. The Government received its limited allocation of frequencies for the national defense—for the use of the Army, Navy and Coast Guard; for the conservation of vast forests, the administration of national parks, communication with light-houses; for airways beacons and to facilitate the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Almost three thousand police stations have been established in 375 cities. In addition, fifteen states maintain state-wide police networks.

A DATE WITH A KING

BY THE ALADDIN-LIKE MAGIC OF RADIO WE ARE PRIVILEGED THIS WEEK TO VISIT WITH THE ROYAL AND RENOWNED RULERS OF MANY GREAT NATIONS

GET out your future date-book and circle the next seventeen Sundays with red!

On each of those days we have a date with royalty. We're going on a tour of the world, to visit with kings and queens, with emperors, with princes, with presidents and high officials of other lands.

Our itinerary is all arranged and there is no expense. Like Aladdin of old rubbing the magic lamp and floating through the air on a rug, we will simply flip a switch and the modern magic of radio will whisk us away from our commonplace homes to far places to sit with and speak with the great of many nations.

In the most expansive world coverage yet attained, radio will bring us this thrilling opportunity as the "Salute of Nations" to the New York World's Fair of 1939 and as a pledge to its theme, "The World of Tomorrow." On each Sunday until the opening of the fair on April 30, 1939, a special message will be broadcast to the world from one of the nations to be represented at the fair. There will be speeches by the rulers and other dignitaries of these countries, accompanied by special music. The radio system of each country will carry its own message. In addition, the programs will cross the ocean by short wave, to be relayed by all our major American networks throughout the United States and sent on by our short-wave systems to the further reaches of civilization. Such a comprehensive set-up is at least a magnificent gesture toward making the exposition the prophecy of a better world to come.

If we are to make the most of our trips abroad and our associations with these leaders of the world, then we should know something about the object of all this international activity.

The New York World's Fair of 1939 will be "the biggest show on earth," dwarfing anything yet presented as an exhibition. It's a $150,000,000 enterprise—which is ten times the amount President Jefferson paid Napoleon Bonaparte for the Louisiana Purchase. It is expected to lure 75,000,000 visitors in six months—a number equal to three-fifths the population of the United States.

The hub of the fair and its publicity motif is a towering spike, or trylon, 700 feet high and a globe, the perisphere, 200 feet high, situated at the center of the grounds. The trylon is the voice of the fair, speaking announcements to the visitors and speaking symbolically of towering triumph to all who see. The perisphere is the theme center, for on it is painted a vast panorama depicting all the elements of society coordinated in a better world of the future.

To guide us further in appreciating our projected tour to the fullest extent, let us jot down in our date-book a few notes.

Sunday, January 1. Our first destination is Paris, France. As President Lebrun sits before a microphone in the studio of the French radio system, speaking France's salute to the World of Tomorrow, we will be sitting beside him and thinking. Thinking what? Perhaps through our minds will run the strains of an old song of twenty years ago, "Over There"; and we will vaguely recall, perhaps, that the picture on the music sheet represented General Pershing shaking hands with Marshal Foch across the ocean—something like that. Maybe we will be thinking of "Good-bye Broadway; Hello, France," and other tunes with the same theme. This time when we go "over there" we'll be saying our good-bys and hellos with hope rather than with sympathy, with resolution to live together amiably rather than die together heroically. President Lebrun may say something like that to the world as we sit beside him.

What can we say to M'sieur Lebrun after his address? We can mention that their Eiffel Tower, symbol of their great exposition fifty years ago, is still taller than the futuristic trylon. We can remind him that our Statue of Liberty, a gift from France, still stands as a token of mutual respect between our nations.

Sunday, January 8. Here will be our chance to find out first-hand if Ireland is a "piece of heaven," if the blarney-stone does loosen tongue, and if the colleens are so pretty. When we meet with President Hyde and Premier De Valera at their broadcast in Dublin, we can say to them—as they undoubtedly will say to America over the air—that relations have always been good between our two great countries and will continue to be so in tomorrow's world. We can tell them, too, that we have many Irishmen besides Corrigan in America that we're proud of, and that we have a big place in our hearts for the Irish humor, doggedness, luck, and pluck.

SUNDAY, January 15. We have been privileged to meet so far two presidents and a premier. Now we are to meet on this date our first real king, and a distinguished king he is, Christian X, who has ruled Denmark wisely and well for a quarter of a century. There was "something rotten in Denmark" in the days of Hamlet, but now now. King Christian will be too modest to boast in his radio speech, but when he is through we shall tell him that his country's lesson to the World of Tomorrow is that a happy, healthy nation depends upon the good will of the people toward each other and the concern of the government—no matter what form of government—for the welfare of the people.

We shall also remind his majesty that a thousand years ago Leif Erickson sailed from Iceland, over which King Christian rules, to the North American continent, forging a noble tradition.

Sunday, January 22. On to picturesque Holland and a visit with Queen Wilhelmina, ruler for forty-one years, as she delivers her message of salute to the World of Tomorrow. When we speak with the gracious queen, we shall compliment her that a tiny country can hold together so well an empire over fifty times its own size. Then we shall deliver this pointed message of good will: "You know, your own people established the great New York City which is now to hold this world exposition."

Sunday, January 29. In contrast to little Holland, on this trip we'll visit the largest nation of them all, Soviet Russia. Perhaps it will be harder to find many cultural links here, both for us and for their official spokesman, who has not yet been chosen. Our philosophies of government are far apart, and our countries have sometimes exchanged hot words. At least, there must be in the hearts and minds of the people the same essential desires and motives which stir in us. We don't know whether we'll meet Stalin or somebody else, and we don't know what the spokesman will say. We are eager to meet face to face a person who represents the abstract principles which we abhor in our country and to see what will be the nature of Russia's salute.

Sunday, February 5. This week we will simply make an informal call on a neighbor—a good neighbor. We'll chat with Governor General Lord Tweedsmuir after he broadcasts from Ottawa over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The governor general will probably say to America and repeat to us: "Our governments and our people are not perfect, but let all the nations follow our example and the Utopia of tomorrow would be much nearer reality."

Sunday, February 12. We'll have a chance to make the personal acquaintance of that much-head-lined ruler, King Carol of Roumania, whose turbulent career, mixing matrimony and government, parallels somewhat that of the abdicated king, Edward of Great Britain.

Sunday, February 19. We'll meet in Oslo another distinguished ruler of a colorful north-country, King Haakon VII of Norway.

Sunday, February 26. Our itinerary takes us to Belgium, one of the martyr countries of the Great War, and a visit with King Leopold III as he addresses the radio world.

Sunday, March 5. Prince Paul, regent of Yugoslavia, a country born of that Great War, will be our host.

Sunday, March 12. Now, if the tentative plans materialize, we will finally be introduced to an emperor, one of the few so-called rulers in the world. We are going to Rome, Italy. Even though Emperor Victor Emmanuel III is considered a figurehead and Benito Mussolini usually makes the speeches, it will be interesting to meet and hear from the titular head of Italy.

Sunday, March 19. Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent, will speak for Hungary and will, perhaps, tell of the future aims and plans of that country, which is to us the land of gypsy music.

Sunday, March 26. This will be the thirteenth of our expeditions, and we hope it will not prove a jinx to Poland, the country which we will visit—and a country which has had troubles enough of its own. What will President Moscicki say to us and to America? Perhaps something like this: "The World's Fair celebrates the 150th anniversary of the inauguration of the Father of His Country. Poland has recently celebrated twenty years of independence since the World War. Let us meet at the fair and celebrate our liberty together."

WE WILL say to the president that we in America are great admirers of Poland's Paderewski, immortal genius of the piano, who found time also to serve his country as its former premier.

Sunday, April 2. We will make our next visit with a bit of reluctance. Despite the traditional Oriental courtesy of the Japanese, we are a bit dubious of their hospitality. We will remember the bombing of the Panay. We'll remember that China is too busy and too distraught defending itself against Japan to participate in the exposition. The least we can do, however, is to politely invite Prince air debut. Soon we were asked to be the first band to broadcast Coast-to-Coast—on a hook-up from the coast of New York to the coast of Pennsylvania, yowzah, yowzah." The danceable straight music of Bernie's outfit is not the only factor in his popularity. He's a natural m.c. and comedian as well and was one of the first to appreciate and practise "tongue-in-the-cheek" advertising. Among those who will extend good wishes on his present show are dialect comic Lew Lehr, vocalists Bobby Gibson and Mary Small, and announcer Harry von Zell. The rest of us join with a hearty "yowzah!"

MEET "HONEST ABE"

—Sunday, MBS

You've heard a lot about Abe Lyman and his versatile orchestra, and you've undoubtedly heard much of his music. But have you an intimate acquaintanceship with Abe's background and the make-up of his musical style? Abe's honest about himself, and he'll probably admit everything—from ex-newsboy to forty-year-old bachelor—when he brings his orchestra to MBS' "Show of the Week." Abe will also demonstrate that he's always among the leaders in advancing musical styles, as well as one of the chief revivers of the waltz.

SECOND HELPING —Sunday, MBS

You can twirl back the hands of a clock an hour, a day, a year, if you don't wear out twirling, but you cannot thus bring back one minute for reliving. Here's a show, however, on which, by effortlessly twirling a dial, you can hear some of the biggest events of the past year re-created exactly as they were described at the original occurrence. MBS will present a program called "1938 in Review," based on the ten most outstanding on-the-scene news descriptions and the ten most interesting special features broadcast in 1938. A unique angle will be the playing of actual recordings of the original news events to give the realistic effect of being transported to the past. The events to be re-created include the European crisis, the Hughes flight, Germany's annexation of Austria, the New England hurricane, the Hines trial, the Gettysburg reunion, elections, Corrigan's return, mass for Cardinal Hayes, and the suicide of John Warde. The ten best special features to be treated are the Easter parade, National Wild Life salute, Texas State Network dedicatory program, Halloween hayride, Army Air Corps maneuvers, major league baseball round-up, National Air Mail Week, World's Fair series, a description of the new

Broadway Limited, and of the World Series.

POWER-HOUSE

—Sunday, NBC

Dash and spontaneity replace polish and sophistication this week. Charles Boyer gives way to Tyrone Power on the "Hollywood Playhouse," as the youthful screen and radio rave comes home to his former program. Tyrone comes by his Power-acting honestly, gathering hereditary momentum from three generations of dramatic Powers. He has, however, made his way on his own ability, springing to sensational heights in the last few years after a long period of struggling for a break. Like Don Ameche, with whom he played in the movie, "In Old Chicago," Tyrone belongs to the school of breezy, devil-may-care gallants, who can go out of type to perform any role from garbageman to statesman to clergyman.

BOWLS, BOWLS, BOWLS —Mon., NBC, CBS, MBS

Footballs, flying tackles, innuendos, and rah-rahs will fill the air Monday. This is the day of the big bowl games. They'll all be good. There isn't the usual confusion of duplication and triplication of coverage this year by the networks. Here are the set-ups. Take your pick. May the best teams win.

—Sunday, NBC

"The Magic Key" unlocks the gateways of the world this week, and through its spell, one hour on one network becomes two hours on two networks. With pick-ups from far-flung outposts of civilization, noted guest artists and extraordinary features, "The Magic Key" will celebrate the new year in one of its most magnificent programs. The usual one hour will be lengthened to two hours, and the program will be broadcast over the combined red and blue networks of NBC. Noted operatic stars will be heard. Dr. Walter Damrosch, dean of American conductors, will be guest conductor and will speak briefly. New Year's greetings from many points throughout the world will be transmitted to the audience. A special feature will be a two-way conversation linking the New York World's Fair of 1939 with the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco. Here, truly, in both scope and quality, is radio at its best.

FOR WINCHELL'S COLUMN

—Sunday, CBS

The "Ol' Maestro's" radio career is fifteen years old this week. Ben Bernie is beginning his sweet sixteenth year on the air and he's being "kissed" with a contract renewal. Those "kisses" have occurred often in the years that Ben has been "fiddling around" with a black cigar, a gift of gab and the swell music of all his lads; such caresses never lose their flavor, however. Bernie himself waxes philosophical, "to give him": "So this is my glass anniversary," he muses. "No wonder Winchell put that ground glass in my spinach. Ah, I'll never forget my first broadcast in 1923. We were playing at the Roosevelt Grill one evening when suddenly a man with a coil of wire and a long black pole floored a couple of couples and made his way to the stand. Another bright star joins the "Texaco Star Theater," which constellation has been rising steadily in the radio sky to a place high in the favor of listeners. Frances Langford, feminine radio songbird number one in the votes of listeners, will add her enchanting vocalizing in place of Jane Froman as the program goes into its second thirteen-week cycle. Ned Sparks, having grumbled and heckled himself into a challenging position for radio comedy honors, stays on, much to the feigned chagrin of straight-man Jimmy Wallington. Charlie Ruggles, whose "dead end" leads him into all kinds of nonsensical situations and speeches, will also stick. Max Reinhardt's direction of a New York play takes him away from the directing-post for the dramatic portion of the program. RATIONS AND ORATIONS

—Sat., NBC, CBS, MBS

President Roosevelt broke a traditional precedent of national import even before he flew to Chicago to personally accept the Democratic nomination for President. He did not attend the Jackson Day dinner in 1932 when he was still governor of New York. In the years of national elections, the annual dinner is considered generally to be the opening gun of a presidential campaign and is usually attended by all aspirants to the nomination. F. D. R. stayed away and was nominated and elected. He will attend this year, but because 1939 is an "off" year, it can't be deduced from his presence whether it means running for a third term or not. The President's address at this week's event is expected to be of national importance. Celebrities at other Jackson Day banquets over the country will hear the President's speech via radio as it is delivered at the "main event" at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington.

THE RADIO PLAYBILL: THIS WEEK—"SCATTERGOOD BAINES"

PLINY PICKETT (played by Francis "Dink" Trout) is the officious conductor of the branch line. He scorns anyone who uses any mode of transportation other than the branch line; but poor Pliny is susceptible to the ladies

HIPPOCRATES BROWN (played by John Hearne) is Scattergood's man-of-all-work — but that term means to him as little work as he can get away with. General handyman in the store, Hipp looks after sweeping, deliveries, and other chores, including the tasks involved in helping Scattergood keep Coldriver running

SCATTERGOOD BAINES (Jess Pugh) is the benevolent master mind who rules the destinies of the Coldriver townspeople, always circumspetely and genially but none the less effectively. A consummate psychologist, he puts his ideas across with such deft subtlety that his hand is rarely seen; and he usually manages to solve each problem to the mutual benefit of its principals, himself, and Coldriver in general. Like everyone else, the residents of this typical town make ridiculous mistakes at times, and inevitably it is the kindly and wise Scattergood whose common sense points the way to a reasonable solution. The Coldriver folk regard him as an amiable leader and, somehow, he never seems to fail in the emergencies that overtake his fellows

FOR years readers have followed the interesting adventures of Scattergood Baines in a series of magazine stories by Clarence Budington Kelland. Now Scattergood and the other residents of Coldriver are more than ever alive, for listeners from Coast to Coast hear the daily doings of sage Scattergood and his friends. These Coldriver citizens say and do the usual and sometimes the quite unusual human things. In recent months a murder trial, a crooked carnival, an escaped lion, a marriage, Scattergood's brief fling at modernity, and the appearance of his mother to claim Jimmy, Scattergood's adopted son, have provided some lively activity. Each of these situations is worked out credibly but with characteristic humor. The murder trial, for instance, ends when the "victim" turns up on a Wyoming sheep-ranch tooting a French horn. Most recent development is the arrival of Mrs. Dodie Black, widowed mother of Scattergood's adopted son, Jimmy. She comes at the urging of Harvey Fox to claim her son. It soon becomes apparent that she is more interested in using the boy to extort money from Scattergood than in regaining custody. Our hero sees through the plan, and by seeming to yield, forces Mrs. Black and Mr. Fox to show their hands. Jimmy is thereby restored happily to Scattergood. Soon afterwards into the midst of the Coldriver citizenry comes a doctor with a mission. He sets up a healthitorium in the hotel to make the town a health Utopia. This serial is heard Monday through Friday over CBS at 11:15 a.m. EST; 10:15 a.m. CST; for the West, 1:30 p.m. MST; 12:30 p.m. PST.

NEXT WEEK — "THE ROAD OF LIFE"

CLARA POTTS (played by Catharine McGune) is the nagging wife of garageman Ed Potts. Clara is one of the most attractive women in Coldriver and one of the foremost feminine leaders of the village. She manages to have an active part in almost everything that happens in town.

J. WELLINGTON KEATS (played by Forrest Lewis) was a carnival advance agent until his outfit caught up with him. Now he is manager of the hotel in Coldriver. Forrest Lewis, being a versatile actor, also portrays Eric Baker, voluble barber, Agamemnon, and Squire Hoops, J. P.

JIMMY BAINES (played by Charles Grant) is the adopted son of Scattergood, who has reared him from infancy. Jimmy is a chip off the old block. He is a normal, healthy youngster in every respect, including his willingness to sock anyone who speaks unkindly of Scattergood.

MRS. DODIE BLACK (played by Ellen Palmer) is the widowed mother of Jimmy. She has been thought dead, but she shows up to claim Jimmy. However, when it becomes evident that she prefers a cash settlement, she is outsmarted by Baines, leaves town with neither boy nor cash.

HARVEY FOX (played by Boris Aron) is an unwelcome visitor to Coldriver. Pilly Pickett observes that "every time Harvey spends any time here, there's dirty work afoot." In particular, the dirty work is Fox' attempt at extortion by engineering Mrs. Black's claiming Jimmy.

WALTER PRESTON is the director and producer of the daytime serial. A former singing star, Preston appeared on Broadway in musical shows. Breaking into radio as a singer, he graduated into the executive branch and has directed several outstanding shows originating in Chicago.

What Price America?

HERE is 1939, and two World's Fairs are imminent in America, both designed primarily to call universal attention to our typical achievements and products. So far, we have heard much about the architecture, industries, inventions and historical mementoes to be shown, but little is being said about the musical activities of the pair of great expositions. That little is chiefly announcement of the importation of foreign orchestras and soloists, and performances of operas written by Europeans and sung and conducted by them. Just what picture does that offer of the progress of American music dating from the Plymouth Rock landing and of the things being done contemporaneously by our own composers and artists?

There was a time when we lagged far behind Europe in the significant creation and presentation of music and performance were compelled to bring both from abroad. Without wishing to wave the flag too violently or make the eagle scream too boastfully, may it not be recorded in all truth and justice that today we equal other countries in all musical matters, and in some even surpass them? In answer, this department of RADIO GUIDE emits a vociferous "Yes!"

These World's Fairs should invite opportunity for the American public finally to shake off its musical inferiority complex and end servile curtsying to everything tonal that comes from overseas. We imitated Europe through the years and copied its models; now is the hour to show that we have assimilated them completely and need no further guidance and patronizing condescension. Musical creative genius is at a standstill abroad; nothing of towering importance has been penned there since the World War. Our American symphonic composers produce works at least as good as those by their younger colleagues abroad, and American conductors, singers and instrumentalists are as able as the latest across the Atlantic.

America used to be told that it possessed no folk-music on which to build a typical symphonic structure, as had been done in Europe. Then our musicologists undertook research and discovered a wealth of indigenous material in the Indian, Negro and cowboy heritage of tune, the early examples of California, the Southwest, the northern lumber camps, the Middle West, romantle Louisiana, and the mountains of Kentucky and the Carolinas. With the revival of those melodies were evolved new rhythms and characteristic harmonies not to be found in any music but that of America. Ragtime, jazz, blues and even swing made the world listen and like, and not only did our better composers utilize the novel idiom in their serious opuses but Europeans borrowed it and tried—most unsuccessfully—to incorporate it into their own writings.

Meanwhile, in symphony, our composers need no apologies as originators or craftsmen; in opera, no European has of recent years offered a better example than Taylor's "Peter Ibbetson"; in the piano-orchestra form, we lead with Powell's "Negro Rhapsody" and Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

The World's Fairs should present that picture eloquently and convincingly and show the world that we have come of age musically. There should be folk-song cavalcades with appropriate pageantry, restoration of early American operas and concert compositions, and finally a parade of our contemporary music—but everything sung, played and conducted by the musicians of this country.

Against the array of present-day foreign composers, let the World's Fairs feature ours. In the field of light music, let us offset Lehar, Linke, Oscar Strauss and Kalman with Gershwin, Kern, Porter and Rogers; in the serious domain, let us play our trumps with Hanson, Copland, Taylor, Sowerby, McDonald, MacDowell, Harris, Sessions, Wagenaar, Schelling, Mason, Gruenberg, Bennett, Ives and others.

Let us announce to Europeans that we have definitely stopped imitating them; let us invite them to imitate us hereafter.

Speaking Up

By V. V.

Will radio provide greater opportunities for young American artists in the future than it has in the past?

"Speaking Up" put that question to several of the men who control the musical destiny of radio, hoping to catch them in the prophetic mood usually associated with the advent of a new year. The answers they gave us were undoubtedly significant and we shall publish them in full in this column next week.

The Magic Key of RCA plans to salute the New Year with an "extra special" program on January 1, lasting two hours. Among the artists to be heard will be Kirsten Flagstad, Dr. Walter Damrosch, Ezio Pinza and Larry Clinton, the man who made Debussy and his "Reverie" into a best-seller. Frank Black will conduct, alternating with Dr. Damrosch, and a two-way conversation will link the San Francisco and New York World's Fairs.

With pardonable pride, we notice that among the semi-finalists of the first half of the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air series were three March of Music choices, Mack Harrell, Robert Topping and Robert Nicholson. The second half of the series starts Sunday, January 1.

HAVE YOU HEARD THAT: The earliest and oldest Christmas music is found in the Gregorian Chant, the medieval collection of ecclesiastic hymns, anthems and melodies covering the entire year, according to the liturgy of the Catholic Church, sanctioned by Pope Gregory the Great and used for more than a thousand years... the earliest carol is supposed to be the Anglo-Norman "Seignors ore entendez a nus"... carols in England began as popular songs... although English carols are better known in America, those from other countries are much more beautiful... Palestrina was one of the first of the great composers to write Christmas music.

RUSSIAN Alexander Glazounov (1865-1938), once officially suspected of being a Nihilist, sounds gentle enough in this music, which has easy flow of melody and facile handling of instruments. Dating from 1904, the violin concerto has been an abiding favorite with some of the most famous violinists, including Heifetz, Elman and Zimbalist. Plastro, too, shines in the work and plays it with especial affection and understanding, for he told me that he performed it several times in Russia, under the baton of the composer.

Echoes of old Vienna end the program with lilt and piquancy. One wonders whether Johann Strauss, were he living today, could write such light-hearted music in a city given over to tyranny and persecution.

GEORGE W. CHADWICK (1854-1931) was an American composer in the days when that guild struggled hardest for understanding from its compatriots. A contemporary of our gifted MacDowell, Chadwick and he had to convince them that America could speak through music, and the two devoted men hewed the path along which their native successors eventually trod to recognition and fame. A further Chadwick achievement was his long directorship of the New England Conservatory in Boston, which brought forth many outstanding musicians.

"DER ROSENKAVALIER"

by

Richard Strauss

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7

On NBC at 2 p.m. EST; 1 p.m. CST; 12 noon MST; 11 a.m. PST

THE CAST:

Octavian	Rise Stevens
Baron Ochs	Emanuel List
Sophie	Marlita Farrell
Foninal	Friedrich Schorr
Marlante	Dorothee Manski
Valzacchi	Karl Laufkoetter
Annlno	Doris Doe

Conductor — Artur Bodanzky

LOTTE LEHMANN'S warm voice and moving characterization of the Princess will again be the chief feature of Strauss' merry and melodious opera. No one equals her in portrayal of the charming, worldly-wise woman who, with wistful grace, realizes her advancing years, sadly renounces romance.

With the rise of the curtain we follow the eternally wistful tale of a beautiful woman growing old and losing her lover to youth. We hear her plaint at the end of the first act, and admire her acceptance of her lot in the last act.

At today's revival, there is the added attraction of Rise Stevens' participation, the young American mezzo-soprano who made such a strikingly successful New York debut recently in "Mignon." She is cast as Octavian, the youthful cavalier who intrigues to win his lovely bride.

ACT I

The boudoir of the Princess
(The action takes place during the eighteenth century)
Octavian, the Princess' seventeen-farewell to youth, and designates Octavian as the messenger with the rose for Sophie.

ACT II

Drawing-room of the Faninals

To exquisite waltz strains, Octavian enters, dressed in white and silver, bearing the rose. At first sight he and Sophie fall in love. The Baron finds them in tender embrace and fights an awkward duel with Octavian, in which the old amorist is lightly scratched on the wrist and comically frightened. Sophie refuses to marry him, to the consternation of her father. Octavian, plotting the Baron's exposure, sends him a forged billet doux from the pretty "maid" of the Princess, fixing a rendezvous for dinner. Ochs dances about in hopeful delight.

ACT III

A room at an inn

Ochs and the "maid" at table. She plays all sorts of tricks on him, helped by sympathetic accomplices, one of them a woman who accuses the frantic Baron of being the father of her numerous children. The police arrest him

"Der Rosenkavalier" . . . merry and melodious year-old lover (the role is written for soprano and is always done by a woman) declares his devotion. The pair imagine they hear the Princess' husband approaching and Octavian hides. But the intruder is only the fat and lecherous Baron Ochs, cousin of the Princess. He asks her aid in his suit for the hand of pretty Sophie Faninal. Octavian, now disguised as a maid, flirts with Ochs while the Princess' servants complete her toilet and entertain her with music. Ochs delivers a silver rose to the Princess with the request that it be sent to Sophie, that being the ancient symbol of betrothal. The Princess, alone, sings her haunting as a dangerous seducer. Sophie appears and denounces Ochs, who is saved by the arriving Princess from the clutches of the law. Octavian resumes male attire and the tormented Ochs realizes how he had been duped. The Princess unites and blesses the youthful lovers and a vocal trio of exalted beauty expresses their joy and her own affecting resignation.

The stage is left empty. Entrancing chords sound on the celesta. The Princess' little black slave trips in, recovers the Princess' dropped handkerchief, runs out again, and the curtain falls on this most delightful of all operas.

DEMOCRACY AT WORK

THIS WEEK THE OPENING OF THE 76TH CONGRESS GIVES PROMISE OF COLOR, A VITAL MESSAGE, GOOD LISTENING

THERE is the confused and occasionally blatant babble of many voices. There is the sound of scraping feet here and there. Through the teeming activity can be felt an undertone of suspense. The hum continues unabated. Then—

Bang! Bang! There is slightly less noise.

More bangs of wood on wood. "Order, please!" The strident hum becomes a murmur.

Bang some more. "The 76th Congress will come to order." The forceful voice of Hon. William B. Bankhead, speaker of the House of Representatives, can now be distinguished, calling for order. Finally he gets it—and the 76th Congress of the United States is in session.

The chaplain asks God to direct the destinies of a democracy at work. Congress is ready to roll up its sleeves once more to mend the social and economic structure rather than political fences.

On the rostrum sit Speaker Bankhead, Vice-President Garner, and President Roosevelt. On the floor of the House sit the senators, representatives and delegates of the United States and its possessions. In the gallery, outshining the Metropolitan Opera's diamond horseshoe with big names, sit the special guests of the politicians.

In our homes we sit comfortably by our radios, as much—yes, more—a part of the activity than those on the scene. We, the people, are the final governing voice, for this is a democracy of, by and for us.

This year, as usual, radio, operating in the public "interest, convenience—and entertainment," brings us an inside view of our government going to work to—

"—form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity."

These words from the preamble of our honored Constitution will be in the backs of our minds as Congress proceeds to its spotlight feature, the report upon the state of the nation by our President, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Members of the 76th Congress of the United States, my friends—"

THERE will be applause—here genuinely enthusiastic, there mildly courteous; there will be attentive interest. There will also be a few congressmen muttering in their collars, and a few radio listeners privately booing at space, chiefly for the sake of hearing themselves taking a voice in the government. That's the voice of the militant minority. That's democracy. That's the American way. It's healthy.

President Roosevelt, even as he utters that familiar trade-mark, "my friends," knows that those listening to his words do not all consider themselves his friends. But he considers them his friends. If he does not, he should not be their President. He knows that. They must be his friends for the sake of government and the national welfare.

The President knows that this very

Congress will be less friendly to him than any he has yet faced; but F. D. R. is a fighting champion. He comes before his co-workers in Congress—the only President other than Woodrow Wilson to deliver his opening messages in person—looking the friendly and unfriendly in the eye with equal candor.

Call it courage, publicly, determination, inspiration, or stubbornness—but you can't deny it's color. And how we, the people of America, eat up color—whether it's dished out by a Babe Ruth, a Greta Garbo, a Jack Dempsey, a Douglas Corrigan, a Dizzy Dean, a Bing Crosby, or a Franklin D. Roosevelt.

THEY all pack the house and stand them in the aisles. Even many of the boosers of Ruth, Dean, and Roosevelt come to scoff and remain to pray.

Take the word of Joseph J. Sinnott, the veteran House doorkeeper, for instance. He thinks the opening of the 76th Congress, with Mr. Roosevelt's personal appearance as the feature attraction, must be the "greatest show on earth." He has only 600 gallery seats at the disposal of guests, and the thousands of applications have broken the all-time record.

Of course, you can't credit all that box-office pull to the President's natural appeal. The Republicans are getting a good, healthy bite of the governmental pie for the first time in several long, lean years. They're making the most of it—Why not? That's that militant minority again. That's democracy.

Moreover, there will probably be more radio listeners taking in the proceedings this year than ever before, except, perhaps, in the year of Roosevelt's first personal appearance. The major networks are prepared to see that the listeners miss nothing. Besides carrying the message of the President, the broadcasting companies will have microphones stationed at various points of vantage. Celebrities will be interviewed and announcers will describe the background and sidelights of the scene.

Americans are taking a more and more active and constructive interest in politics. They know this will be a vital and an exciting session of Congress. They are wondering how it will affect their own lives. Under the heading of "Establishing justice," what will

NEW YORK.—"Beetle" will not be around to heckle Phil Baker when the comic comes back to the CBS airplanes on Saturday night, January 14. However, a kibitzer will sit up in a box with a microphone in front of him and annoy Baker throughout the program. Bottle will be back again, and at the present writing it looks as though Eddie De Lange and his band will get the job of supplying the music. When I tried to get Baker on the phone one day last week, I got the busy signal for more than one hour. When I finally got to talk to him, he explained that it seemed every agent in town called that morning to try to sell him a band. Oh yes, Harry von Zell will also be with Phil, which made both parties very happy.

As predicted a couple of columns ago, Johnny Green and his orchestra will take over the baton on the CBS and NBC "Johnny Presents" programs starting January 28 . . . Last week you read here that Walter Woolf King may not be on the Cantor show when Eddie leaves New York. This has since been confirmed. Announcer Bert Parks got the job, and he resigned from the CBS staff in order to go west with Cantor . . . Tommy Riggs and his entire cast, including "Betty Lou," of course, will trek westward sometime in February . . . Attention, kiddies! "Buck Rogers in the 25th Century" is coming back to the air via transcriptions starting sometime in April . . . In order for Kate Smith to sing "Silent Night, Holy Night" on her Christmas programs as she has done for the past eight years, the songbird puts her request in twelve months in advance because of the network rule prohibiting use of the same song on consecutive programs. It's a case of first come, first served, so Katie doesn't take any chances of anyone beating her to it . . . Joan Edwards is making her first stage appearance in a Broadway theater this week. It was only about two years ago she graduated from Hunter College . . . Bea Wain, who introduced "Heart and Soul" over the networks with Larry Clinton's orchestra and then sang it again in a Paramount short, has been signed by Warner Bros. to make another movie short. This time she'll feature "Old Folks," another tune she radioed first.

Two new announcers have been added to the CBS staff. John Harper hails from WJR in Detroit and John Hundley, an actor who is making his debut in radio . . . Betty Garde, popular radio actress, is to be featured in a Broadway show titled, "Primrose Path." Betty, who seems to have played more mother roles on the air than any other actress, will have the role of a young mother in the show . . . Apparently Fred Waring is taking television very seriously. When anyone applies for a job in his organization, he asks them to state what else they can do besides sing or play a musical instrument. A couple of programs ago, songstress Donna Dae displayed her hidden talent by doing a neat little tap-dance.

Purely Personal

Now that Lanny Ross has a neat little year's contract tucked away in his pocket, he is moving out of his hotel suite into a spacious six-room apartment in New York's fashionable Sutton Place. The furnishings will be in Old English style . . . Raymond Paige, minus thirty-five pounds since he arrived in New York last summer, went back to California to spend the holidays with friends and relatives. I wonder if they'll recognize him? . . . Barbara Weeks, who is "Her Honor, Nancy James" married actor-announcer Carl Frank about four weeks ago. Last week she sent him to jail—but don't get scared, it was only in the script. After the show they kissed to show everyone they were still hon and dearie . . . Louis Dean, former CBS word-speller and now a big radio executive with an advertising agency, met Frank Novak in the corridors of a hospital. At the same split second they asked each other, "What are you doing here?" Their wives just had a visit from the stork and they were neighbors on the same floor . . . The NBC Family Man can now brag that he is living up to his name. A brand-new baby boy just arrived at his home . . . Mary Eastman, songstress on the "Saturday Night Party," and her hubby plan to adopt a little girl . . . Gertrude Berg and her husband recently celebrated a wedding anniversary, the splendid author-actress receiving a locket-watch from her spouse . . . Phil Spitalny's gals threw their boss a big Xmas dinner, with most of the girls pitching in to do the cooking. I wonder how he felt the next day.

I saw Miss Peg La Centra in the Radio City drug store the other night. Never having had the pleasure of an introduction to the charming songstress of the "For Men Only" program, I went over to her and said I would like to write something about her and would she tell me something. "Who are you?" she asked, and your reporter very calmly replied, "I am the person that you probably would have liked to shoot about three years ago," and then identified myself. I seemed to have scored a bull's-eye, because Miss La Centra agreed that she would have liked to shoot me at the time, due to an item that appeared in this column. In any event, we parted good friends and I was assured that all was forgiven. Before Peg left, however, I learned that she had been the victim of some practical jokes during rehearsal that very afternoon. It seems that her feet hurt, so she took off her shoes and placed them by a chair and then went up to the mike to go over her song. When she got back, the cupboard—

that's another story—I mean the shoes weren't there. She made a thorough search of the studio and couldn't find them, and none of the boys would admit taking them. When rehearsal was over, one of the boys in the control-room held up a pair of ladies shoes and asked very sheepishly if they belonged to her. Another time, they opened her handbag and found fifty dollars in bills in it. They sent down to the bank in the lobby of Radio City and exchanged it for $50 in quarters and half-dollars. When she picked up her bag after rehearsal, she almost fell to the floor with it, it was so heavy.

Bandstand and Baton

Unique among band remote broadcasts are those of Al Donahue, whose "Music For You" is heard from the swank Rainbow Room in Radio City and features the vocalizing of announcer Nelson Case. An up-and-coming vocalist before he became a network announcer, Case has dusted off his tonsils and does a melodious bit of singing. It all started as a gag when Al invited Nelson to sing while they were on the air and Case did so—nearly knocking the batoneer off the podium with surprise . . . Benny Goodman is auditioning gal singers . . . Glen Gray replaces Benny at the Waldorf Astoria and Goodman follows Gray at the New York Paramount Theatre . . . Richard Himber comes back to the air via transcriptions for his first radio sponsor, Mr. Studebaker . . . Artie Shaw and songstress Betty Hutton of the Vincent Lopez crew are going places together . . . Patti Morgan, who used to sing with Shaw has joined Al Kavelin's orchestra . . . Guy Lombardo switched back to Decca records after being away from that outfit for two and a half years. When the band went to the studio to make their HOLLYWOOD.—Santa Claus arrived at the Don Ameches' on schedule for Donnie and Ronnie, aged six and four, the sons of the personality-voiced actor. If Santa hadn't arrived, Donnie and Ronnie would have been awful disappointed, but he did—and he brought the youngsters—guess what?—a pair of Chase & Sanborn hour tickets! Since October, Daddy Don had been promising them they could attend the Christmas broadcast, providing Santa Claus approved. And a month before the big day, Mother Honore wrote to Mr. Claus to set the wheels in motion. There was one difficulty standing in the way. Children under the age of ten ordinarily are not admitted to broadcasts. However, Santa replied that if Ronnie and Donnie would be VERY quiet, they could not only see the broadcast but he would fix it for them to sit in the front row, center. And they did, too, but Mother Honore sat between them just to make sure that they wouldn't forget and call out "Hello, Daddy," as they sometimes do when they see Pop on the screen.

From An Open Mike

If before you read this you heard, or in the immediate future you should hear, an Amos 'n' Andy episode in which only the Kingfish, Lightnin' and Amos appear, you may mark that as the date Andy is (or was) about to become a first-time father. The special script, built around a dream, was prepared by the boys just in case Dr. Stork decided to call at a moment conflicting with their broadcasts... In the same "boat," too, is (or was) Andy Devine. So to make things merrier for Dorothy, Andy's wife Carole Lombard threw a big Christmas Eve party in her honor. Symbolical of the matrimonial barque which Carole and Clark Gable some day hope to navigate together, Miss Lombard's living room contained a big sailboat—built for two—her gift to Gable... What she has to do about radio, your reporter hasn't the least idea, but he wonders if Herr Hitler knows that his alleged girl friend, Leni Riefenstahl, who was smartly snubbed by the film capital, is registered at the Beverly Hills Hotel in a bungalow adjacent to several occupied by non-Aryans, and that Leni seems to be having a swell time regardless of locale or the cold shoulder... Ancient George Burns' momentary troubles, it was interesting to observe at the Chesterfield December 16 airing, right after the newspaper stories had broken, that, nevertheless, George and Gracie Allen received a tremendous audience ovation—indicative of the public's disbelief of his intentional guilt... Although John Barrymore is signed for a New York play which requires him to leave the Texaco Theater after his January 11 appearance, don't be surprised if he continues in his excellently handled role of radio m.c. and tosses Broadway overboard. 'Tis said doing the play is chiefly Elaine Barrie's idea.

McCarthy Hos Himself A Time

Charlie McCarthy, who observed the Yuletide by drinking a quart of cedar oil and then getting a beautiful shine from some liquid-wax polish, is riding high at the Universal lot, where he is making "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man." He even has his own dressing-room, the door of which is fitted with brass knocker and the notice:

PRIVATE

Edgar Bergen, knock before you enter.
W. C. Fields, termites and woodpeckers,
KEEP OUT!

The sign, Charlie explains, does not apply to Princess Baba, blond beauty and disinherited daughter of the white Rajah and Rance of Sarawak, who makes her screen debut in the same picture, nor to Marion Martin, Universal starlet known before her movie contract as Broadway's most beautiful show-girl.

Rom-Antics and Results

Alice Faye is plenty mad at those rift rumors concerning her and hubby Tony Martin. Regardless of the gossips, Alice plans a New York vacation after the New Year... Wife of Reggie Craig, Al Siegel protegee and radio singer with Earl Carroll's Hollywood revue, has been given separate maintenance decree and support arrangement... Jim Krieger, of "Pepper Young's Family" and other N'Yawk air dramatics, flew to Riverside, Calif., to be married December 28 to Miss Lois Boyland. Henry Bach, staff tenor at KLX, Oakland, Calif., classmate of the groom at the University of California, sang at the wedding... They say that for three days after Joy Hodges announced her betrothal to Les Bowman, he was so excited he couldn't eat, and now he's all alone while Joy personally appears at Chicago, Kansas City and New York.

With that, Kenny took the bow, to Wallington's amazement, whereupon, when Jimmy introduced Baker, Broekman took the singer's entrance, went up to the microphone with a copy of "I Hear You Calling Me" in hand and began to sing!... At Kraft Music Hall, Bob Burns explaining to cronies how his one-year-old daughter, Barbara Ann, had been selected to begin her screen career in the film, "I'm From Missouri," starring her dad. Fileker Flocks

It pays to be a screwball. Jerry Colonna, whose "Greetings Gate" adorns the Bob Hope opus, will have a part in Warner Brothers' "Sweepstakes Winner," and double-talker Cliff Nazarro will confuse the customs officials in Republic's "Forged Passport." Incidentally, Nazarro was called for jury duty last week, but accepting it meant losing his film role. So, believe it or not, he claims he became so excited when being examined for the jury that he double-talked—and was discharged from service... Nancy Kelly has been given the lead opposite Spencer Tracy in "Stanley and Livingstone," and Walter Bullock, the ex-Bernie gagster and tunesmith, has been assigned to the next screenplay, "Red Cross Nurse" in which Miss Kelly will star.

Inside Stuff

CHICAGO.—Lovely Mrs. Novis' visit to a doctor resulted in discovery that there'll be a tiny new-comer—a little Novis to you—in August. Donald's second wife, Mrs. Novis is former musical comedy and movie star Dorothy Bradshaw . . . Watch for a change in "Dan Harding's Wife" set-up. One of leading characters will shortly be California-bound. . . . With the folding of "Laugh Liner," Billy House returns to vaudeville, opening with a week at Chicago's Palace. Handsome Jack Fulton, the show's leading chirper, is opening a series of personal appearances down in Kaintucky . . . If Shaw and Lee, reputed comedians who at one time aired from Chicago (and I do mean aired), replace the Canovas on Charlie McCarthy's show, the coffee sponsor will be battling nearly 1000% in picking poor comedy support for Bergen. The Stroud twins, and now the Canovas, never come up to rest of show in mirth-making . . . By time this is read, Gabe Ward (Hoosier Hot Shots) may be a papa again. Already has two boys and a girl and little Hot Shot number four was expected to arrive about same time as Santa Claus . . . NBC's horror show, "Lights Out," is now starting its sixth year on the air . . . Lilyan Kay is NBC's newest singing find . . .

How It Began

How does an author conceive the idea of a script-show? Your Tattler found the answer in a talk with Ken Robinson, continuity director at NBC, who also authors "Dan Harding's Wife." Four years ago Robinson, a reporter for the Chicago Evening American, was giving newscasts over the NBC station in Chicago, WENR. Being in radio and naturally inquisitive, he began listening to the various script-shows on the air. He was astounded by all the trouble and woe inflicted upon radio's numerous serial characters. Why not write a down-to-earth "homey" show, he thought—one depicting the real-life problems a lone mother had to face in raising her children? And so "Dan Harding's Wife" was born. Exactly three years ago Robinson wrote up three episodes of his brain-child, dashed down to the Merchandise Mart with it, and the following Monday it was on the air. On January 21 the show will start its fourth year on the air. The jovial, good-natured NBC continuity chieftain told your Tattler some behind-the-scenes stuff about the show. Try as he may, Robinson cannot write the show at his office. The program must be written at the workshop in his suburban Beverly Hills home. Every episode has been written there. He has pictures of all the characters on his wall at home—and it is there he gets in the mood of his show. So real have the characters in the show become to him that Robinson does not address the actors by their own names but by their names in the show. How far in advance does he write? About two weeks. Like "One Man's Family," each episode of "Dan Harding's Wife" is numbered and titled, but Robinson doesn't name each episode. Instead, producer J. Clint Stanley and members of the cast get in a huddle before show-time and christen the episode for that day.

It was episode number 725 of "Dan Harding's Wife" that your Tattler witnessed. Another of radio's hat-wearers (Ken Griffin is another one) is Merrill Fugit, who plays the part of Dean, one of the Harding twins. Bulk of the dialog was between pretty, wide-eyed Loretta Poynton, who plays twin Donna Harding, and handsome Willard Farnum, who takes the role of Jack Garland. Lovers years ago but since drifted apart, Jack would once more like to be number one in Donna's "heart parade." But it seems there's another man, and the episode closes with things looking pretty dark for Jack. Isabel Randolph (Mrs. Harding) didn't have much to say. Sitting in a chair by the studio wall when not acting, Miss Randolph dons spectacles when reading her script. Not heard in the show I saw was Dean's chum, fun-loving stooge Lowe, who is played by youthful Hugh Rowlands.

Since "Dan Harding's Wife" started, Loretta Poynton in real life has had two baby boys. Mrs. Ken Robinson, wife of the author, gave birth to a baby girl, the Robinson's first daughter. They already had two boys . . . Merrill Fugit is a bachelor and Isabel Randolph a widow . . .

Tattler's Tidbits

Gale Page is in town to do charity stint, spending all spare moments with her best friend, "Girl Alone" star Betty Winkler . . . Louise Fitch, one of leading characters in local program, "Manhattan Mother," became a mother in real life. Named her baby girl after character she plays on air, Dale . . . If Red and Edna Skelton, vaudevillians, click on "Avalon Time," they'll be given a two-year contract . . . Once a press-agent, always a p.-a. I received a note post-marked Louisville, Ky., from Fritz Blocki, Chicago radio-producer and publicizer, announcing his marriage there to Fern Head, Chiradiactress. A portion of the note was devoted to one of shows Blocki directs, "Captain Midnight," which the groom stated is a popular juvenile serial with an enrollment of over 500,000 youngsters in the "Captain Midnight" patrol . . . Dot Meyberg, Hollywood's Film Reporter of the Air, now starting her thirteenth year out West, visiting relatives and a doctor (had appendix removed) in Lafayette, Ind. . . . Charles Ludlow, who writes "Just Neighbors," now in Paris getting material for a new show . . .

Remember?

George Watson's return as announcer for "First Nighter" brings to mind that he and orchestra leader Eric Sagerquist are only two survivors of original "First Nighter" cast. Charles P. Hughes, who launched the show, now heads a cosmetic firm, in which he is reported to have sunk all his radio earnings. He tried advertising his cosmetics on a Friday night dramatic show similar to the "First Nighter," but had to give up sponsorship about a year ago . . . June Meredith, the show's first leading lady, sometimes takes parts in programs around town, and is now heard occasionally as Eve Underwood in "Story of Mary Marlin."

Scriptural Sayings

Succeeding MacDonald Carey, who moved to New York, Bob Bailey plays John Knight in "Girl Alone" . . . New role of Mignon, the gangster's moll in "Kitty Keene," is played by Cornelia Osgood. That was a typographical error that had "Mr." Carlton Brickert going to Europe. Printer dropped an "s," transforming Mrs. into Mr. . . . Spencer Bentley (ex-Bob in "Betty and Bob") entrained for New York. May work in Broadway stage play or return to star in new dramatic show.

Musical Notes

King's Jesters, now a six-piece band, figure they can't get any farther as they are, and so are doubling their size. Just finished a successful engagement at Chicago's Hotel La Salle, and expansion will take place after a two-week engagement at Commodore Club, Detroit . . . New vocalist with Al Kavelin is Lynn Chalmers . . . Music for "Barn Dance" Christmas broadcast was "cleared" a year ago! Seems two years ago a director waited until the last minute to "clear numbers" and it was too late. He decided to forestall any such problem again.

THE PHOTO-STORY OF LANNY ROSS' LIFE

There was no Henry IX. Though Shakespeare is credited with many influences, the son of actor Douglas Ross was not a chip off the old stage

Neither did the Muse make Lanny Ross a concert pianist like his mother, shown above with little Lanny, who was born in Seattle, January 19, 1906

As the newspaper clipping and the Napoleonic pose indicate, at an early age Patrick Laurence Ross did succumb to the Shakespearean spell

An eleven-year-old defender of his country. As a Canadian Boy Scout in Seattle, Lanny drilled and bugled, sold Liberty Bonds during the War

THERE are stars and stars, singers and singers in radio—but to legions of ardent fans there is only one Lanny Ross. It isn't only that he has a grand, natural singing voice. It isn't that he has a publicity knack. It isn't only that he is handsome and gracious. In addition to the grand voice, the good looks and the graciousness, Lanny somehow conveys the idea without trying that he is genuine from the inside out. Sincerity always speaks for itself, and that's why Lanny Ross stays on top. He's on top now. You can hear his hearty, rich voice on the Saturday night "Hit Parade," where he does several outstanding numbers each week. Lanny is glad to be back in radio, still his first love despite notable achievement in movies and concert work. "Radio fans," he says, "are the greatest fans in the world. I feel that they are my friends, that every time they tune me in they invite me to be their guest. The friendliest fan of all is the radio fan. They stick to me the longest, and demand the least of me." That warm regard for his listening admirers is part of the glow which manifests itself in the glorious songs that make Lanny a favorite.

At twelve young Ross went to New York to join the choir at St. John's the Divine Cathedral; entered Taft Preparatory School (in room above)

In 1928 Lanny had chance to go to Olympic games or tour Europe with glee club. Chose latter

After Yale, Lanny got L.L.B. from Columbia. Made air debut and helped pay for school by singing

On the door of this law firm might have appeared his name if Lanny hadn't made a choice

That decision was a turning-point. In 1932 young Ross with Muriel Wilson (above) as singing stars of the new "Show Boat" extravaganza

His growing fame brought him to movies. Arrived in Hollywood with coat; weather, reception were warm

Backstage at one of many theater appearances. Lanny's popularity and activity were hitting on high

The furious pace brought need for rest. A 1935 vacation in Bermuda with bleyele-riding did the trick

Dramatic heritage claimed him for a while; played summer stock in such as "Petticoat Fever" (above)

—Sydney Desler

Love and the farm got him. In July, 1935, Lanny married Olive White, his press representative. The next day he bought a farm in New York state and went back to nature as a real farmer to satisfy an old urge

In 1937 Lanny was soloist and m.c. of the "Hollywood Mardi Gras" program. Wife Olive went west to make a home for the radio idol in Beverly Hills, in the patio of which they pick their own oranges and lemons

—A. L. Schuler

And here, ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience, is the latest portrait of the handsome singing sensation, whose radio, screen and concert honors have not changed the spontaneous, boyish grin to a sneer

LISTENING TO LEARN

... A Ceaseless Search, an Unquenched Thirst for Knowledge ...

Person to Person

● Hearty handclaps for NBC's Judith Waller in recognition of her courage, insight and perseverance seeing through the establishment of a local "town meeting" for the city of Chicago. Station WENR will be the outlet, January 10, the first broadcast, "Transportation" the first topic, and the good city's mayor, Edward J. Kelly, may be one of the first speakers. Miss Waller sponsored this idea several months ago but had to abandon it when opposition got too strong. Taking it up again, with Northwestern's Samuel N. Stevens slated for the moderator's post, the stunt is finally set to go, but not without many quizzical eyebrows raised regarding possible outcome. Considering poor job Chi papers are doing supplying local citizenry with actual, uncolored facts about what goes on, this move should have the blessing of everyone, excepting, perhaps, some of the politicians.

● Students and civic-minded laymen alike will be pleased to note the resumption by Columbia this week of two broadcasts from Washington, D. C., "Current Questions Before the House" and "Current Questions Before the Senate." Considering the present unsettled outlook in Washington, the extremely confusing state of the national-political scene, and the fact that another presidential election is not so far off, these broadcasts assume more than usual interest, promise to enjoy wider listening audience than ever before.

● Lucky is station WCAU with the exclusive privilege of broadcasting from the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. One of the year's most interesting experiments took place there recently when a balloon, carrying scientific apparatus and miniature radio station, ascended 78,000 feet, radioed back information about temperature, altitude and cosmic ray intensity. A few days later a fisherman off Nantucket got the most unusual "catch" of the year when he salvaged the equipment from the water.

● Under consideration is the possibility of making the School Broadcast Conference, two meetings of which so far have been sponsored by the Chicago Board of Education's Radio Council, a national gathering. Idea has many favorable angles, particularly Chicago's central position, geographically, and Chicago's central position regarding radio-education activity (the most of which is taking place at present in the Middle West).

● Stimulating contrast keynotes new Mark Sullivan-Jay Franklin series. Both nationally known Washington correspondents, Sullivan is classed as "conservative," Franklin is decidedly "liberal." Opposing viewpoints and interpretations of the country's problems and the solutions to these problems promise to make this series a lively one.

● Catching is the title of John Boylan's adult education series on station KECA, "Parents on Trial." So noteworthy is its mission that the Los Angeles Probation Department will publish a book for national consumption, composed of scripts of past programs in this series.

A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION FOR MOM AND DAD

Admitted: That we, perplexed parents, don't understand modern education's methods because "they don't do things today the way they did when I went to school," and admitted That we don't exactly know what modern education's problems are, and therefore cannot wisely do our part to help solve them, we are

Resolved: That we will avail ourselves, at once, of the golden opportunity radio offers by supplying us with the answers to these every-day problems of upbringing and education.

This resolution, we believe, will enable us to cooperate in the schooling of our offspring and enlighten us regarding the part we should play in the modern scheme of education.

Signed,
Mom
Dad

RIES DEFINES JOB, DOES IT

Living, breathing example of the principles guiding selection, preparation and presentation of programs in Mutual's "The Nation's School of the Air" series is its director, Joseph Ries. Dynamic, interesting, "on his toes" every minute is Ries, and, fortunately, these qualities are reflected in his work.

"It is not the function of radio in a national facility to take the place of the teacher," says director Ries, "but rather augment the teacher's classroom activity in bringing the world to the pupils at their desks."

"In so far as radio has brought to the classroom material which the classroom could not otherwise secure, so far, and so far only has radio as an art made a genuine contribution to classroom education."

What radio can give the classroom that "the classroom could not otherwise secure" is convincingly demonstrated in the "Nation's School" weekly history lesson, Pioneer Pathways. Here the story of the development of the Northwest is presented by vivid dramatization, in which the students meet (in the same way that they meet Charlie McCarthy and the Lone Ranger every week) the pioneers of that episode in the history of the United States. They hear Pontiac and Tecumseh speak, they take a radio trip down the Ohio and see how life on the river was in those days; they get a "blow-by-blow" description of Perry's famous battle on Lake Erie.

One "Nation's School" program is broadcast from the scene of a different basic industry every week; in another we go to Washington, D. C., to learn the workings of the various governmental departments. So we see in many fields of study "The Nation's School of the Air" attempting to bring to the classroom that which "the classroom could not otherwise secure."

The job being done is a thorough one devoted to the needs of the classroom and Joe Ries can be depended upon to keep "The Nation's School" abreast of latest developments.

—The "Nation's School of the Air" is a WLW educational feature, broadcast over the Mutual network. Joseph Ries is educational director of station WLW.

Harriet Hester coordinates four states in WLS education project

Give students what they wouldn't otherwise get, says Joseph Ries

NBC Has Full Course Treating Parent Problems

The National Broadcasting Company not only leads the network field in the presentation of programs designed to solve parent problems but, at present, is also the only national network carrying any regular series of programs devoted to this significant phase of adult education. Despite the fact that they are doing the job alone, they are doing it comprehensively and well through the cooperation of numerous educational and civic-service agencies. No less than six different series are presented over NBC every week, each treating a different parent problem.

The six programs take a total of one hundred and fifteen minutes listening-time a week. When you consider that the average family spends at least thirty-five hours at the radio every week, the comparatively small amount of time necessary to get a thorough education regarding parent problems presents itself as a challenge to every mother and father.

Yasuhiro Chichibu, who will be the speaker, to visit our fair where the tryon is not a bayonet and the perilous is not a bomb.

Sunday, April 9. Here is a trip that will leave a good taste in our mouths. We are going to see quiet, beautiful, peaceful Sweden, home of popular King Gustav V and popular Greta Garbo. We can tell the great king wholeheartedly that we admire his perpetual virility and his democratic attitude toward his subjects. We can point out: "You have in Stockholm one of the most beautiful cities in the world. We have in New York one of the greatest cities in the world. Let us work together to make the city of tomorrow both beautiful and great."

Sunday, April 16. We are invited to the home of another near neighbor, Brazil. Here, as in all the countries of the Americas, we will find many similar interests, social, political, economic. Dr. Getulio Vargas, president of Brazil, will be our host at Rio de Janeiro, and as he speaks we will be hoping that the New York World's Fair will be another step toward the practical ideal of pan-Americanism and world cooperation.

Sunday, April 23. This will be the last of our delightful journeys to foreign lands to meet foreign figures. What nation is more appropriate for a climactic visit than Great Britain, our sister in race and culture. Sir Louis Beale, commissioner general to the fair, will introduce us in London to the highest dignitaries of the great empire. They will tell the world over the air that the two English-speaking nations will ever act as a unit in seeking a better world order. We will probably be making mental reservations about alliances for aggressive warfare. It will be a grand final thrill to sit in spacious Buckingham Palace in the company of royalty with such an illustrious tradition, and to walk through the unpretentious door at 10 Downing Street with the officials of the land that knows no setting sun.

Then we must close our date-book and get ready to visit the great fair ourselves. Of course, we are sorry that time prevents our visiting other great countries. Others are not in our schedule for other reasons. There will be no "Heils" from Germany. Reichsfuehrer Hitler withdrew his plans for participation in the fair because of "expense"—expense, perhaps, of creating a personal world of tomorrow. Spain has no plans for participation, being occupied in a war to determine its own future.

Nevertheless, we have radio to thank for one of the biggest treats of its history. We have lived with royalty in fairy-tales and literature. We have read great names in the news. Never, however, have we been afforded the opportunity of hearing the voices of so many of them.

We are indebted to the New York World's Fair of 1939 for this privilege. It is fitting that we give the closing inscription in our book of dates into the hands of Mr. Grover Whalen, whose hand guides the transformation of a dump on Flushing Bay into a symbol of the World of Tomorrow. He says:

"These broadcasts lead up to the opening of the New York World's Fair April 30, 1939, and offer further evidence of the extraordinarily international character of this great exposition. When kings and queens, leaders of nations, find it worthy to salute the fair, then we are again reassured that this vast undertaking is certain of fulfilling the high purpose to which it is dedicated—building the World of Tomorrow, which means building for world peace and progress."

This series of International broadcasts will be heard from January 1 to April 23, inclusive, over NBC, CBS, MBS and short waves each Sunday at: 1:30 p.m. EST — 12:30 p.m. CST 11:30 a.m. MST — 10:30 a.m. PST

Solution to Puzzle Given Last Week

be done to further the war on crime and racketeering? Under "domestic tranquillity," what about strikes, un-American activities, and unemployment? Under "providing for defense," will the government follow through its immense program of fortifying our military ramparts? Under "promoting the general welfare,"—what a host of questions there are about jobs, taxes, wages, homes, food, health and innumerable others.

So, as we witness the proceedings of the opening of the 76th Congress, we may not be thinking definitely about it, but subconsciously each of us will be patting ourselves on the back for helping govern a nation that depends upon one person—me. We know, just as Mr. Roosevelt knows, that he can say, "This I desire; this I recommend; this I must have," but Congress can say, "No!" We know that both Mr. Roosevelt and Congress can say "yes" or "no," and we can cancel either the "yes" or the "no" with our votes.

That's a democracy at work. That's healthy.

The opening activities of the opening of the 76th Congress, including President Roosevelt's message, will be broadcast on Tuesday, NBC, definitely, and probably CBS and MBS, will carry the broadcast at the following times: 12:00 noon EST — 11:00 a.m. CST 10:00 a.m. MST — 9:00 a.m. PST

Simple instructions
furnished with unit.
Rapidly connected by anyone in aerial and

and tune in the same manner as if it were connected to an aerial. Operates on both short and long waves.

WHAT USERS SAY
"I have used the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 model tube set and can say it brings in reception with low volume and clarity, pulling in stations from Japan, Europe, South America, and broadcast stations from all over the U. S. I thoroughly recommend it to anyone who has a radio set."—Davenport, Ill. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. After weeks of dull reception, when I had found it long ago. DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL
It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Metal Connections
MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and select when using a 1/2 x 1/2 ft Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band—increasing both reception and sound volume.
ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD
Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—more your set anywhere—no more ret. climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.
NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED
On the market five years, 155,555 customers in U.S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on standard broadcast reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground

Olaf E. Roivang's "Giant in the Earth" is considered by many the finest, most powerful novel about pioneer life in America. Roivang (1876-1931) came to the United States from Norway, where he had been a laborer, at the age of 20. He worked on a farm, acquired a college education, became professor at St. Olaf's in 1906. First literary success was in 1924 with "Giant in the Earth."

This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

On Short Waves

Edited by Chas. A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Times given are EST. For CST subtract 1 hour; MST, 2 hours; PST, 3 hours

A DAZZLING array of emperors, kings, queens and ranking diplomatic figures of seventeen nations will be heard in a series of weekly broadcasts saluting the New York World's Fair, to be broadcast Sundays from 1:30 to 2 p.m. EST, over the combined networks of CBS, NBC and MBS. Each of these feature programs will be in the nature of a short-wave pick-up from some foreign country. The first broadcast, Sunday, January 1, at 1:30 p.m. EST, will bring a good-will message from President Lebrun of France. . . . A series of international good-will broadcasts dedicated to various foreign short-wave stations are being transmitted over W6XKG (25.95) of Los Angeles, Calif. The next in this series, to be heard on Wednesday, January 4, at 5 p.m. EST, will be directed particularly to TGWB, Guatemala City, Guatemala.

Ronald E. J. White of St. John's, Newfoundland, writes he logged the new 5,000-watt short-wave transmitter at Oslo, Norway, at 6:05 a.m. EST, on a frequency of approximately 11.73 megacycles. The station is also being heard on approximately 15.17 megacycles, and is reported to be operating on 9.522 megacycles nightly from 8 to 9 p.m. and from 10 to 11 p.m. EST.

The story of Sark, the last independent feudal state within the British Empire, will be broadcast on Wednesday, January 4, at 9:30 p.m. EST, over Daventry stations, GSB, GSC and GSI. This lovely refuge in the Channel Islands is governed by Dame de Serq under a charter granted by Queen Elizabeth to the King, then Duke of Normandy. There are no motor cars or motion-picture shows in Sark. . . . Of particular interest to DX'ers will be the amateur contest sponsored by the South African Radio Relay League, which will take place this week-end, starting on Saturday, January 7, at 11 a.m. EST, and continuing to Sunday, January 8, at 5 p.m. EST. This will be a grand opportunity for the "long distance" hunter to log numerous South African amateurs. Reception on the 10-meter band (28 to 30 mcs) will be best from 8 to 9 a.m. EST, and from 12 noon to 2 p.m. EST, and on the 20-meter band (14 to 14.4 mcs) from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. EST and from 10:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. EST.

DJM (6.08), still another new frequency for the Vienna short-wave station, is now being heard nightly from 4:50 to 10:50 p.m. EST.

HIGH FREQUENCY HIGHLIGHTS: R. B. Oxrieder of Corozal, Canal Zone, reports: HP51 (11.9) of Aguadulce, Panama, is permanently off the air; that HP5F, Colon, which relays the programs of HP5J (9.61), Panama City, is now operating near 6.147 megacycles; that a new station, HJ4-ABG, La Voz del Choco, is being heard irregularly in the evenings near 6.065 megacycles. . . . Mildred and Harve Amers of Pomona, Calif., inform me that the mystery station which is being heard about once a month on 6.08 megacycles, has been definitely identified as CRY9 of Macao, a Portuguese city, near China. . . . Herbert Campbell of Athens, Pa., has received advice to the effect that PJCI (9.091), "Radio Curom," of Curacao, D. W. I., is on the air nightly from 7 to 9 p.m. EST. . . . Ashley Walcott of San Francisco, Calif., is hearing a Soviet station believed to be RV59 of Moscow, on a frequency of 6.03 megacycles, after 9 a.m. EST. . . . Broadcast station CMQ (1010 kc), power 25,000 watts, and its well-known short-wave relay COCQ (on 8.82 at the time of writing), power 5,000 watts, of Havana, Cuba, are now affiliated with the National Broadcasting Company. . . . The new Tirana, Albania, short-wave station described in a recent issue of Radio Guide, will broadcast under the call ZAA. . . . News of Nationalist Spain, may be heard in English, over "Radio Nacional" (10.37), Burgos, daily from 3 to 4:30, 5 to 7 and 9 to 10 p.m. EST. . . . C. F. Fern of Lihue, Kauai, Hawaii, writes he is hearing XTV (9.44), a Chinese commercial phone station, broadcasting daily near 2:30 a.m. EST, using the call XGOY.

Listeners to Daventry, England, will hear a New Year's address by the Reverend Pat McCormick, vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, London, over short-wave stations GSB, GSC and GSI at 9:20 p.m. EST

"I had an $18 a week job in a shoe factory. I'd probably be at it today if I hadn't read about the opportunities in Radio and started training at home for them."

"The training National Radio Institute gave me was so practical I was soon ready to make $5, $10, $15 a week in spare time service Radio sets."

"When I finished training I accepted a job as serviceman with a Radio store. In three weeks I was made service manager at more than twice what I earned in the shoe factory."

"Eight months later N. R. I. Employment Department sent me to Station KWCR as a Radio operator. Now I am Radio Engineer at Station WSUI. I am also connected with Television Station W9XX."

"N. R. I. Training took me out of a low-pay shoe factory job and put me into Radio at good pay. Radio is growing fast. The field is wide open to properly trained men."
