Posies

We have chosen to devote our editorial page this week to a tribute to as worthy a gentleman as these eyes and ears have beheld. Who among us has not heard the National Broadcasting Company's "Music Appreciation Hour"? Who has not heard the high but kindly inflection of the dean of that eleven-year-old program, Mr. Walter Damrosch?

This program, as well as Doctor Damrosch's participation in it, is designed to give to those of us who have not had the advantage of a musical education all we need to know in order to enjoy and understand opera and symphony. In consequence, it has come to be employed in thousands of schools and home-study groups. How many of us realize, as we sit listening, just what we have got in that program.

Consider the music student of the last century. He traveled miles over pitted roads, across frontiers, to the home city of the great music-master. Then he worked at any task he could find while he studied and practised and studied again. Sometimes the master would not have him. Often he could not get together the means of reaching the master's side.

But now the master comes to us in our parlor. Make no mistake about it, Walter Damrosch is a master. School-children listening today cannot be expected to appreciate their great fortune, for that is not the way of children, but some day they will learn that their teacher was one of the musical giants of his day.

Walter Damrosch's father was a well-known conductor in Europe when Richard Wagner was conducting at Bayreuth. In 1870, he brought his family to America at the invitation of a German choral society. Three years later, Walter was singing in the newly organized Oratorio Society just formed by his father. Four years later, the same auspices founded the Symphony Society, and then the elder Damrosch began to conduct German opera at the Metropolitan Opera House.

By now, Walter was eighteen. Though tender of years, his ability was already so recognized that he had become conductor of the Newark Harmonic Society, while at the Met he was an unofficial assistant. Then, in the midst of the season, the elder Damrosch sickened swiftly and died. Because no one else understood German music, Walter Damrosch became the principal conductor. At the age of twenty-three, he took the Metropolitan Opera Company on tour. One month later he conducted his first performance of the New York Symphony Orchestra, and was acclaimed so highly that he was elected permanent conductor. So many other honors followed that they placed him on a musical pinnacle that no other conductor in America has reached.

Under his baton Tschaiakowsky's Sixth Symphony was heard for the first time in America. And many others.

He wrote an opera, then a magnificent Te Deum inspired by Dewey's victory at Manila. When he played it, both President Theodore Roosevelt and Admiral Dewey were in the audience. Every year brought new triumphs, new achievements, and new understanding of his amazing world.

Think of that the next time you hear his voice. Remember that there labors a man who, in the last century, would have been feted by kings and dukes, whose instruction would have been reserved for children of royalty or those other fortunate ones who could afford to find their way to his studio.

There labors a man whose distilled experiences, from his witnessing the immortal Richard Wagner conduct to his intimate association with every great musical event in America for three-quarters of a century, are at the disposal of us and our children for the mere flip of a switch.

To say that such a privilege is another miracle of radio is to sound trite and stuffy. We do not mean to sound that way. But say it we must, for in our opinion nothing that broadcasting has ever done is of greater importance or of more lasting benefit than the work of Walter Damrosch and his NBC "Music Appreciation Hour."

Commercials

Commercials are too long. We don't say so; the listener says so. In particular, daytime commercials are annoying and irritating. They insult the intelligence of the listener. They pretend to be one thing and turn out to be another. They take too much time from the entertainment offered. They are uttered by insincere young fools who think the listener believes what he tells them. They misrepresent.

The above opinions come to us in letters from listeners. Lately, they have come more rapidly than ever. Whether advertisers are taking more time or employing louder-mouthed announcers or misrepresenting, we cannot say. But we can use this means of telling sponsors that the public in rapidly increasing numbers apparently believes those things are happening. Such a situation is bad from every point of view.

There is one quick and simple remedy. Follow the example of the Ford Motor Company. Its commercials are pleasant, authoritative and easy to take.

Nominations

Some of the most impolite studio whistlers have been ejected. But many remain. We should not give up our efforts to bar them from every studio. Let each listener who does not like his entertainment marred by whistling now elect himself a RADIO GUIDE Listening Post, on guard against whistlers. Let him report to the editor of any program on which he hears such uncouth sounds. We are preparing a blacklist of programs which, when we invite them into our homes, insist on abusing the privilege. Nominations are in order.

GREAT AMERICANS THINK ABOUT RADIO

RADIO'S RESPONSIBILITY

BY RAY LYMAN WILBUR — PRESIDENT LELAND STANFORD UNIVERSITY

SKILFUL, imaginative workers, by arranging in precise order the facts concerning certain natural forces gathered over many years, gave to the twentieth-century world the phenomenal achievement we call RADIO. Considering all of the equipment of civilization, this great new invention has had more prominent world spread in just a few years than any similar discovery. It has carried the words of men everywhere, outspanning every other means of communication, crossing all boundary lines.

The wide spread of this miracle of modern science sets it apart as an instrument of peculiar power. If pushed as an instrument of any single-interest group, whether government or business or education, its use in a biased manner is almost inevitable. If the force of its influence be honestly recognized and responsibility accepted on the highest idealistic plane, radio can be the agency to bring the human family into a closer, more pleasant and more peaceful relationship.

In these first decades of the twentieth century we have been aware of the deep plowing of the social soil throughout the world. The planting has been greatly varied. Whatever the harvest may ultimately bring to mankind, we know that radio will have contributed to its quality, to its effectiveness.

Let us face, squarely and honestly, the power, the force, the influence of this great new instrumentality. It can be managed so as to serve private enterprise without objectionable monopoly and excessive profits. It can be so directed as to serve government without oppressive censorship and bureaucratic control. It can be guided to serve education without presumptuous indoctrination or tedious dullness. Its use requires regulation, order and system, which can be brought about within a nation or internationally without interfering with the freedom to have the radio used by all in every orderly and wholesome way. It must be as free from absolute control as the air through which it moves. We can prevent contamination of that air but not the right of anyone to breathe it.

In the maelstrom of the Great War, propaganda played a vital part. It has been used recently with almost incredible effectiveness to serve the purposes of the dictators. For them, the radio has been nearly a perfect device. Their use of it must challenge the serious thought of every person who believes in the rights of free men.

The radio is an instrument to reach the mass of men who are moved by feeling rather than by thinking. This makes it imperative that the American radio be more positive in its acceptance of the responsibility created through this combination of power and emotion.

As a means either to increase antagonism or to reconcile conflicting viewpoints, no other force can be so potent as the radio. We must use it wisely and pacifically to enlighten or to entertain with good taste. In a rapidly developing new area, some mistakes and even some imprudence are inevitable. If radio is handled only from the standpoint of a few abuses great damage may result. The radio must be measured by its manifold successes. We must not hamper the advancing movement of this great business, great art, great science if, voluntarily, with its privileges, it takes seriously its obligations and endeavors honestly to maintain independence and responsible freedom of speech. I urge the men and women in American radio to carry their jobs in this spirit. In this way only can the fullest use of the great instrument, RADIO, be secured for all.

CAMOUFLAGED BALLADER

THIS UTTERLY FRANK STORY RIPS
OFF THE CAMOUFLAGE OTHERS HAVE PAINTED ON THE REAL NELSON EDDY

BY JAMES STREET

In spite of often harsh criticism, handsome baritone Nelson Eddy last year won Radio Guide's poll for male classical singers, was second as Star of Stars, recently won World-Telegram poll for leading classical singer

Though Nelson Eddy is not currently on the air, his following among radio listeners is probably greater than that of any other singer. We present this second part of James Street's story about him as plain, bald fact, revealing a man of great sincerity without sham or pretense and as he really is.

NELSON EDDY is an egoist without conceit who believes his star of destiny is fixed. Gene Tunney has the same characteristics. Jefferson Davis believed in his star, but it fell. Every great man has a Boswell. Johnson had his. Wilson had House. Roosevelt had Howe. The Gracchus brothers had their Cornelia, their own mother, who made them the darlings of Roman history. Eddy has his Cornelia, his mother, and a Boswell, Dr. Edouard Lippe, the teacher.

It was Lippe who persuaded Eddy to go to Germany and study. And today, in Hollywood, Eddy heeds Lippe's criticisms, although they often are harsh. The two have many temperamental feuds, but they always settle their battlés and each storm strengthens their friendship. Incidentally, Lippe usually wins.

"It was my faith in Lippe's judgment that actually brought him to Hollywood," Eddy said. "He now teaches other singers besides me. When I was learning film work I felt suddenly that something was wrong with my voice. Lippe was in North Carolina fishing. I wired for him and he came to Hollywood.

"We have strange ways of working together, but they get results. On a concert tour when I was dissatisfied with results, I took Lippe along. Night after night he heard me, but told me he hadn't decided what was wrong. Then at the end of the week he handed me a letter. He had made a detailed diagnosis of everything he had heard and believed. He recommended remedies, and there was the whole thing in one report."

Eddy was just another fair-to-middling baritone back in Philadelphia when Lippe got him to borrow on his future and go to Dresden and study under Vilonat. He worked hard in Germany, shunned the fleshpots, and finally his course was completed. To please Vilonat, he gave an audition in Dresden, then took a holiday in France and England. Back in Dresden, Vilonat was beside himself, for Eddy had been chosen as baritone with the Dresden Opera Company.

The young singer did what seemingly was an insane thing. He refused the job. Vilonat pleaded and stormed, but Eddy wanted to come home.

"I had decided to put myself in the hands of the American public," Eddy said. He made his professional grand-opera debut in 1924, when he sang the part of Tonio in "Pagliacci" at the Metropolitan with the Philadelphia Opera Company.

The critics agreed—there was no

Eddy was cast in his first big movie role opposite Jeanette MacDonald in "Naughty Marietta." Promptly the ladies began to swoon all over the country, and Nelson was launched on his sky-rocket journey to the top doubt that the man could sing.

But he needed to relax, unbend.

Eddy then went to the highroad and sang just about everywhere he could get an audience. Birmingham called him "something new." Pittsburgh said "superb." Salt Lake City voted "vivid." "Brilliant," said Louisville, "extraordinary" said Niagara Falls, "outstanding" said New York.

It was 1933. A concert had been arranged for Hollywood. Everybody, my dears, was there, including many film tycoons whose knowledge of music rises no higher than "do." Hollywood had been flooded with singers. But a concert is a place where big-shots like to be seen, so many flocked that night to the show.

It was all fixed. A great singer was to be heard, but he caught a cold and Eddy was run in as a ringer. He flew there, and the audience wondered who the heck he was when the big blond fellow stepped onto the stage.

He got eighteen encores! And every time applause swept the crowd the movie moguls automatically counted box-office receipts.

By all the rules of Hollywood fables, the moguls should have rushed up to Mr. Eddy and buried him under contracts. But that just didn't happen, although the story is abroad that it did happen.

As a matter of fact, the movie big-wigs knew he could sing. So what? Could he act? There is a heap of difference in acting in grand opera and facing movie cameras. Eddy knows that.

"Realistic acting," he said, "is not taught in opera. That is what the screen must have."

And Mr. Eddy's acting was nothing to run a fever over. Back in 1930, A. C. Blumenthal spotted him as leading man for a musical, "Music in the Air." He was given a tryout, but he couldn't make it. Hollywood knew that story. They know what's going on in the show business, and the consensus was that Eddy wasn't an actor.

Nelson did not get a fat contract after his tremendous reception in the Hollywood concert. But somebody at RKO reckoned he had possibilities and should be tied up and salted away for future use. They called Eddy into a conference and offered him $3,000 for a picture.

Eddy picked up his hat and coat and told them to jump in the lake, or whatever a gentlemanly descendant of Gentleman John Eddy says. The movie folks were surprised.

"I'm going to Boise," said Eddy. He had a date there, and he could make more money singing for his supper than he could in the movies. The depression was on, the hard times helped him. The famous singers charged $2,000 a performance. Eddy would work for $200 an engagement, and he had all the work he could possibly do. So he told Hollywood "so long" and went on a tour.

L. B. Mayer had a brainstorm then and telephoned Eddy during the tour to hurry back to Hollywood; that all was forgiven and that he would be done all right by. Eddy fell for it and signed his name to a lien on his life. Then for two years one of the greatest box-office attractions in history got the old Hollywood runaround!

HE WAS ignored. Every morning he reported for work, but even the keeper of the gate didn't know him. He collected his pay every week and twiddled his thumbs. Finally, one of the M-G-M boys noticed him.

"Listen, mister," the movie man said. "You are a nice fellow and we like you, but what are you hanging around here for?"

Eddy told him he was on the pay-roll. "We'll call you when we need you. Go read the funnies."

But Nelson used those valuable hours to improve his acting. He visited sets and watched Gable, the Barrymores and other stars work. He talked with actors and producers and remembered what they said.

Eventually, somebody remembered that the studio had a singer and they needed a singer for a part in "Dancing Lady," the Crawford-Gable picture. They let Eddy sing a song in that. He was getting $1,000 a week and could have been earning at least five times that amount on tours. They gave him another two-bit part in "Student Tour," then proceeded to forget all about him again.

Nelson begged them to fire him. Concert stages were pleading for him. But M-G-M held his feet to the fire. They were doing "Naughty Marietta" and threw Eddy into a breach. His jobs were limited to three duets. He frowned, and acted tough, and boomed out his notes in a thoroughly villainly manner. But about that time Director Van Dyke had an idea.

"Could you sing a solo?" the director asked.

Eddy, whose solo voice was known from Dresden to Podunk, reckoned he might if he tried real hard. And so he did. Mr. Van Dyke said, "Hmmm, pretty good, eh boys?" The boys said, Sam takes eighty-one percent of the jack-pot.

Eddy wasn't a stranger to radio. He had done some mike work back in Philadelphia but hadn't set the woods on fire. He was a natural on the Chase and Sanborn Hour. He sings the songs people like. He is not wild about opera and he knows the American public is not. The movies had tried to pose him as a swashbuckler, but it wouldn't click. He is a ballader, a minstrel, and if you peel off the camouflage you will find a man so normal that he's almost colorless. Nelson has never camouflaged himself. But writers have, and he doesn't like it.

He has taken perhaps as much criticism as any two other stars combined. His fans raise Cain with his critics. Eddy answers every fan-letter personally and has built up a following as loyal as Napoleon's grand army. One of the better-known movie-writers threw the hooks into him in her column, and his fans threatened to boycott her

Eddy was a "natural" for the "Chase and Sanborn Hour," with Charlie McCarthy and company, for Nelson sings the songs people like. He earns $6,000 a week on the radio show except when away on tour, as at present

—Jack Albin

There have been only three women in Eddy's life—his grandmother, his mother and Ann Franklin (with him, above). Nelson's recent elopement with Ann surprised the country, but hasn't lessened his popularity

"Yes, Mr. Van Dyke," in unison.

Nelson sang another solo. Van Dyke changed the picture, cast Eddy as a sympathetic character, put him opposite Jeanette MacDonald, and the gods of chance laughed out loud and slapped their knees. For when the picture was released, young ladies began swooning. Perhaps Mr. Eddy couldn't act. But that pretty little girl in row seven didn't know it, and didn't care. And her forty cents was good. All she knew was that Nelson's voice did things to her.

Next he was cast in "Rose Marie" and jumped to the top of the heap.

He still was getting only $1,000 a week, which was pin-money. He could have been making $300,000 a year in concerts.

He now is earning $6,000 a week from the Chase and Sanborn Hour, except when he is absent on tour, and the movies pay him $180,000 annually for thirty weeks' work. His concert income averages $20,000 a week for twenty weeks a year. He gets a nice sum from phonograph records. Uncle papers. Some actually canceled subscriptions. When radio commentators on Hollywood want a stack of letters to impress their sponsors, all they have to do is take a pot-shot at Eddy and the fans do the rest.

He studies his mail carefully, and from it decides what songs his followers want, sings them Sunday night.

IF THE party gets dull in Hollywood, it can be pepped up anytime by bringing up Eddy's name. For the guy is always a good subject for conversation, pro and con.

On the con side, his critics seem to be members of the press.

They tell this story about him: A reporter asked for an interview and Eddy said nothing shaking. "Know what that guy wrote about me once?" he demanded of several press-agents. "He said I may think I'm an actor and I have a good voice, but to him I looked like a white grub-worm." The more Eddy thought about it, the madder he got, until he stormed out. When

PREVIEWS OF SOME OF THIS WEEK'S BETTER PROGRAMS

THE WEEK'S BEST DRAMA

Sunday, NBC

The courses of William Schwenck Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan were crossed by Fate, for through their combined efforts a new and enduring note of happiness was added to the scale of life. They were the gayest, most original and most exciting craftsmen to emerge from the Victorian age. They carved for that universally known phrase, "Gilbert and Sullivan," a niche completely unique. One of the most pleasant and most tuneful of their many operettas, "Patience," will be presented this week by NBC's "Great Plays."

Sunday, CBS

Whatever two young aspirants to movie fame appear this week on "Gateway to Hollywood" will have an extra obstacle to hurdle. The risk of mike fright is a natural handicap for all beginners, but in this chapter the youngsters will have to face in addition to the microphone the man who specializes in scaring people, Boris Karloff. Being, however, known to be in real life a harmless, indeed meek gentleman, Boris will probably lend the prospective Alice Eden and John Archer moral support as well as his talent.

Sunday, CBS

Three men and a maid will join efforts on the charity-motivated "Screen Guild Show" this week. They are Paul Muni, twice winner of the Motion Picture Academy Award; Josephine Hutchinson, who played with Muni in "The Story of Louis Pasteur"; Lionel Atwill, screen heavy, and George Irving. The play is "Bridge of Mercy," by Norman Reilly Raines, author of "Tugboat Annie."

Monday, CBS

Rivaling the Canadian Mounties in the popular mind as a group of glamorous adventurers are the Texas Rangers. Their feats of daring and determination of the past have been rendered legendary in story. But the tales of their accomplishments in enforcing the law of America's biggest state are by no means all fiction. Their tasks of coping with rustlers, smugglers and other law-violators are quite real and exciting. The story of the Texas Rangers will be dramatized by "Cavalcade of America."

Cecil B. DeMille presents two of Hollywood's top-ranking stars this week in the "Lux Radio Theater" production.

Freddie Snite, the lad in the iron lung, has attracted the interest of thousands in his fight against paralysis and death. "The World Is Yours" will dramatize the story of the machine that breathes for him, Sunday, NBC

Suave William Powell and smooth Norma Shearer will appear together in "One Way Passage," filmed a few years ago with Powell and Kay Francis.

THE WEEK'S BETTER PROGRAMS

ITALIAN-AMERICANS Sunday, CBS

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York will participate in the "Americans All—Immigrants All" program this week. The program will dramatize the story of one of our largest immigrant groups, the Italians. The specter of a conquering Caesar or the spectacle of a dictator Mussolini has prejudiced many Americans against the whole race of sunny Italy. On the other hand, however, many phases of American life have benefited from the Italian influence. The field of music especially claims a wealth of Italian genius, with names such as Caruso, Tetrizzini, Patti, Martinelli, Scotti, Toscanini, and many others. The frescoed "Storia dell' America" of Italian sculptor Antonio Brumidi adorns the walls of the House of Representatives in Washington. In trades and commerce many Italians are outstanding. In some sections they have built successful farming communities. The story of the contribution to Amer-

VAN LOON REFLECTS Sunday, NBC

Anything from the recent death of his pet dachshund "Noodle," mentioned often in his and other books, to the implications of international politics—a range such as that is at the disposal of Hendrik Willem van Loon in his new NBC series of commentaries. Van Loon is an authority in a number of fields. One person might know him as an author, another as an illustrator, still another as a world traveler. His present radio series is entitled, "Deliberate Reflections." Such a general subject gives him a wide enough latitude to speak of any of his many activities and experiences. The broadcasts feature Van Loon's personal observations in the individual style that has made him famous. He is one of the world's most prolific writers of international best-sellers, some of which are "Our Battle," "The Arts," "The Story of Mankind," "The Story of the Bible," and "Van Loon's Geography."

MODERN CRUSADE Sunday, NBC

Only a short time ago young Freddie Snite, the lad in the iron lung, attracted the interest and admiration of thousands with his heroic and dramatic struggle against paralysis and death. Since then the public has become more conscious of the wonder of the machine that breathes for human beings who could not breathe otherwise. There are other phases of America's great struggle with infantile paralysis and other dread diseases which are not so familiarly known. Highlights of the mighty crusade for health will be dramatized this week on "The World Is Yours." The use of insulin as a cure for insanity will be dealt with, also uses of serums, antitoxins and vaccines. The story of the iron lung and of the violet ray will be presented. Reports show that more than eighty stations now carry this weekly feature, now in its third year over the airwaves.

MATH TO MUSIC Sunday, MBS

Mention Benny Goodman and all the jitterbugs within hearing-distance go into their war dance. Mention Guy Lombardo and the sweet-fans swoon in ecstasy. Mention Ted Weems. The jitterbugs, the "sweets" and the "in-betweens" exclaim, "There's a band!" Weems' band is one of those steady outfits that goes right along on a consistently high plane without the flashy ballyhoo of some but continuing to please the public in a big way. What about this fellow Weems? From steel bridges to brass trombone is his story. As a youngster he was a whiz at mathematics, and he pointed for engineering, but music furnished an easier course, so he joined the musical parade as a means to an end. He liked it so well and clicked so definitely that the means became the end itself. Even now, though, music isn't Ted's only big interest. He has written many short stories and is a keen conversationalist.

GOLDEN GLOVES Mon., Fri., MBS

The manly art of self-defense takes on a special sprinkling of sanguine offense this week. A lot of boys will parade through the ropes of the square rings in Chicago and New York. And a lot of things will parade in their eyes—bright lights, roaring spectators, publicity, personal pride of conquest, leather gloves and Golden Gloves. In some cases the leather gloves will put a glassy film over the eyes so that the Golden Gloves will fade out of sight. These boys will be boxing in the finals of the gigantic tournament held each year under the sponsorship of the New York Daily News and the Chicago Tribune. After coming through elimination rounds, the finalists will fight for championships in New York on Monday night and in Chicago on Friday night. Then later the two teams meet each other. Both these fiascos of the amateur boxers in the tournament that produced Joe Louis a few years ago will be broadcast by MBS at the same time on both Monday and Friday.

TWO ARTS Tuesday, CBS

Poetry is not a lost art, nor an outgrown, old-fashioned costume, nor an evidence of weakness or neurosis. As long as there are human hearts and minds, no matter how deliberately the hearts are sometimes concealed, poetry will be lived, written and loved. Chaucer wrote poetry for entertainment, Milton for morals, Spenser for imagination, Pope for education, Poe and Shelley for moods and music. Whether in tum-ta-tum meter or impressionistic free verse, poetry is closely allied to music. Archibald MacLeish, Pulitzer-prize-winning poet, will appear with Bernard Herrmann and the Columbia Broadcasting Symphony this week to demonstrate that relation. MacLeish will discuss "Music and Poetry" on the "Music and the Friendly Arts" series of "American School of the Air." Herrmann and the symphony will illustrate with selections of famous poems set to music, such as Goethe's "The Erlking," which Schubert put to music.

PRINCIPLES OR PORK? Tues., CBS

What would you do if you were a Congressman? Would you work for worth-while laws for the country as a whole? Or would you concentrate on keeping the folk back home satisfied enough to ensure re-election? Which is right? Which is the proper and foremost duty of a national legislator? That is a problem every Congressman has to face. Both extremes are represented. Many are out-and-out pork-barrelers. A few determined crusaders hew to the mark of national ideals at all cost. The majority, perhaps, try to straddle the fence and keep their conscientious principles while still keeping the constituency happy. Some interesting light will be thrown on this phase of government by Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, and Representative T. V. Smith of Illinois, Republican and Democrat respectively, when they discuss the subject "Congress—Showmanship and Statesmanship" on their "Foundations of Democracy" series.

5-IN-1 Tuesday, CBS

Five comedians for the price of one!—and that price is nothing but the energy required to turn on the radio Tuesday evening. Of course, if you consider any of the five a half-wit, then the number of comics is lessened, but the price remains the same. There will be Al Jolson, Parkyakarkus, Martha Raye, and their visitors, George Burns and Gracie Allen. The number will very probably be augmented also by Gracie's ringing in a few of her zany relatives. If said Gracie's brain is in its usual form—that of a pretzel—then the program will probably follow the track of most parties Gracie breaks into. That is, they'll all take turns testing their patience in conversation with her. Burns and Allen make their guest appearance on the show on Jolson's next-to-last broadcast before his departure from the program line-up.

FAR PLACES Wednesday, CBS

Listeners will be able to journey on the ether waves this week to far and fabulous spots, places whose stories stimulate the imagination and wonder. On the "New Horizons" series of "American School of the Air" the exciting journey will be offered. One of the places in the travelog will be Pitcairn Island, the world within a world, with a true story of mythical proportions. Pitcairn is the home of less than 200 people, descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty. Only recently widely publicized by the motion picture, "Mutiny on the Bounty," and by a radio-reported epidemic on the island, this unusual story has fired the imagination of millions. No visitors are allowed on the island without permission from the inhabitants. In the course of a century and a half, human inbreeding has occurred there in unparalleled degree, but without apparent weakening of the race. There are other fascinating small islands in the Pacific—Easter Island, for instance, where mighty figures thirty or forty feet high stand, hewn out of stone. How and why these great monuments were put there nobody knows. Stories about these islands and other little-known places will be told by Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, director of the American Museum of Natural History; Dr. Harry L. Shapiro, who has visited Pitcairn Island; Dr. William Hall Holden; Dr. Harold Vokes, geologist, and Dr. James P. Chapin, explorer.

PAIR OF ACES Thursday, CBS

"Rodgers and Hart" is almost a byword in modern American music. Like Mayor LaGuardia of New York will participate in the "Americans All—Immigrants All" program, Sun.

"Show of the Week" features the music of Ted Weems and his band, Sunday, over a Mutual network

Those nitwits of the networks, Burns and Allen, will be guests of the Jolson show, Tuesday, CBS

Boris Karloff, specialist in scaring people, visits "Gateway to Hollywood," Sunday, over CBS

Gilbert and Sullivan at the end of the nineteenth century, Richard Rodgers and Larry Hart are constant collaborators; and like their predecessors in musical stage productions, Rodgers and Hart contribute rollicking, colorful works. Since their first big hit with the "Garrick Gaieties" in 1925, the pair have made a smash success in the musical-comedy field, with Rodgers writing the scores and Hart the lyrics. Well known among their shows are "A Connecticut Yankee," "Simple Simon," and "Jumbo." The latest hit is the breezy, pseudo-Shakespearean show, "The Boys from Syracuse," the source of the current favorite song, "This Can't Be Love." Dick Rodgers and Larry Hart will appear this week with Walter O'Keefe, Andre Kostelanetz and Kay Thompson on "Tune-Up Time" to tell about their work together and to listen to the orchestra playing some of the famous Rodgers and Hart hit tunes.

ALEC BACK Saturday, NBC

Back as a welcome guest on the "National Barn Dance" is the man who makes a piano talk—in a unique language. Alec Templeton doesn't just play musical notes. Though blind, he sees behind the insignificant black dots and circles a world of "between-the-lines" melodies and messages. His technique is superb, but more important, his remarkable feeling for subtle variation adds a distinct flavor to his music. He is a master of the difficult art of improvisation. Alec's versatile "come-one-come-all" range of selections and his individual treatment are always welcome on the air-lanes.

THE RADIO PLAYBILL:

THIS WEEK—"THOSE HAPPY GILMANS"

"THOSE HAPPY GILMANS" is, as the name implies, a story of an average American family—a happy family. It has made a rapid climb in radio popularity because of this pleasant lack of melodramatic tragedy. Ethel and Gordon Gilman, the parents, face the ordinary problems of a $2,000-a-year family. Phyllis and Stan are just a normal American girl and boy, experiencing the usual things that most happy, carefree youths experience. The current plot deals with a misfortune of Wheezy, the youngest child. The boy is suspected of having disobeyed his father and gone out of the house when he had promised not to. He is innocent, but the evidence is strong against him. To add to his discomfiture, some ice cream is filched from a party, and Wheezy's mittens are found beside the abandoned freezer. He can't explain that he traded the mittens to Butch, because they were a gift. Wheezy's dog is taken away for punishment, and the boy begins to get rebellious. "Those Happy Gilmans" may be heard Monday through Friday over NBC at 1:45 p.m. EST, 12:45 p.m. CST, 11:45 a.m. MST, 10:45 a.m. PST.

Caught in the kitchen at cake-baking time are three of "Those Happy Gilmans": l. to r., Wheezy (Cornelius Peebles), Stan (John Hench), Ethel Gilman (Edith Adams)

Young Stan Gilman gets a close-up, first-hand demonstration in the art of whisker-removing from the titular head of the household, Pa Gilman (Bill Bouchey)

One of the less happy situations in the lives of the Gilmans was the time Pa helped Wheezy with his cranium-cracking algebra and Wheezy brought home a zero

In spite of the youthful pride of Stan (John Hench) and Phyllis (Joan Kay), it isn't always war in the household. They're really a devoted bunch under the skin

THE CAST

GORDON GILMAN (played by Bill Bouchey) is husband and father of the happy Gilman family. When things at the office aren't so smooth, he might seem at home as a stern disciplinarian. Generally, though, he is pretty sunny and easy-going. He is often annoyed at the office by relatives employed by his superior, but he's a likable fellow away from his work

MRS. GILMAN (played by Edith Adams) is a wife and mother who puts her home and family above everything else, and she is wise in her handling of her husband and children. She patiently lets Gordon get rid of his business troubles by unburdening at home. Her word is law with the children and seldom fails to restore peace even when Gordon's storming fails

STANLEY GILMAN (played by John Hench) is the eldest of the Gilman children, a youth in his late teens. Like most high-school students, he is quite sure that, in spite of his parents' opinion, he is grown up. He expects to be looked up to by his sister and brother, and an affront to his dignity rouses him to verbal combat. He's an average American lad in every respect

PHYLLIS GILMAN (played by Joan Kay) is, like Stanley, convinced of her adulthood. She considers herself a young lady and is just as stubborn as Stanley in holding to her position, resenting any attempt of his to dominate her. She has her trials, of course, with school and social activities, like any girl of her age. She has some of her mother's traits

WHEEZY (played by Cornelius Peebles) is the youngest of the Gilmans and, as such youngsters often do, provides many of the laughs packed into the program. Wheezy is constantly getting into difficulties with Stanley and Phyllis because they think he is presuming to encroach upon their rights as elders. He too has his troubles of the lighter sort

AUNT BESSIE (played by Henrietta Tedro) just can't get away from the Victorian influence. "What will the neighbors say?" is her code of ethics in trying to conduct the life-courses of the Gilmans. The young people aren't what they were in her day, and she doesn't know what the world is coming to. She's finicky, tiresome sometimes, but beloved by all

DONALD THOMPSON, announcer, left Drake University in 1925 to become a newspaperman. Instead he went west to be a movie-producer. Then he headed to New York and found his way to the stage, where his work included "Constant Sinner," with Mae West. Finally found his way into radio as actor, announcer and producer. Thompson has also written two detective novels

NEXT WEEK—"THE O'NEILLS"

IRENE BEASLEY MAKES A PLEA

Once again the limitless possibilities of radio for well-doing and the whole-hearted sympathy of the American public have been demonstrated. A few weeks after Christmas Irene Beasley, whose program, "R. F. D. No. 1," was formerly heard five times weekly on CBS, broadcast a unique request

She asked listeners to send her Christmas cards they didn't care to keep. Left: Miss Beasley with some of the 600,000 received

Above: Miss Beasley proceeded to use the greetings in a very worthy cause, visiting hospitals, distributing to children

Irene herself experienced a great deal of joy from visiting with the sick and injured children, helping them fashion toys out of the colorful cards and witnessing their unusual pleasure over the novelty of the idea

The delight of the children and overwhelming response of the public to her unique and beneficent idea prompted Miss Beasley to resolve to use her popular radio personality for some such cause as this each year

EMPEROR OF OPERA

NEVER DOUBTING HIS OWN GENIUS, RICHARD WAGNER
HURDLED A LIFETIME OF OBSTACLES TO TRIUMPH

Musical Giant Series No. 8

BY LEONARD LIEBLING

—Wide World

Once a hungry youngster eking out a sustenance making arrangements of popular dances in a Paris garret—then composer of the most amazing series of musical creations ever contributed, but between the two a lifetime of failure, abuse, bitterness, controversies. That is the story of Wagner

THE most amazing series of musical creations ever to come from the brain of a single man came from the brain of Richard Wagner. They came to a climax in the year of 1876 at a place in Germany named Bayreuth, where that gentleman himself was celebrating an occasion unlike any other in the world's history. He was celebrating one man's independence and coming-to-glory, and he did it with all the fancywork the occasion demanded.

Arrived at the pinnacle of triumph after forty harsh years of failure, bitterness, controversies, political exile, utter ridicule, and severest abuse, Richard Wagner could say now with joy what he had once cried so headily, "The world owes every genius a living."

For Richard Wagner had never once doubted that he was a genius.

But now this glamorous evening in August of 1876 was to witness the opening at the new Bayreuth Festival Theater, and Richard Wagner's own art was to be given a fresh impetus. The opera was the first of that four-part cycle called "The Ring of the Nibelungen." In the audience were two kings, Emperor William I of Germany and King Ludwig II of Bavaria, and critics and pilgrims from every civilized land in the world.

The curtains parted, and the resplendent stage and glittering audience vied with each other in the matter of beautiful women and rich costume. A long way back were those other nights when a hungry Wagner sat by flickering candle-light in a dingy Paris garret and eked out a few meals by making piano-cornet arrangements of popular dances of the period. He was then twenty-six, had written a moribund symphony, several overtures and three still-born operas. When Bayreuth crowned him with laurels, Wagner was sixty-three. In the meantime, however, he never lost belief in the superiority of his talents.

Hours after the hullabaloo of the Bayreuth premiere and the subsequent Cosima was the wife of a friend, but that did not prevent Wagner taking her for his own second wife. He loved her truly and adored her hair wine-drinking and toasts had passed, the thin, wiry composer, preparing for bed in his magnificent villa, might have paused to study his face in the mirror. Perhaps he compared the worn features and baldish gray-fringed dome with the description issued by the Dresden police in 1849, when he was "wanted" by them for having taken part in the revolutionary disturbances the year before: "Of middle height, has brown hair; wears glasses; open forehead; eyebrows brown; eyes gray-blue; nose and mouth well-proportioned; chin round." Singularly unobservant, the officials made no mention of the prominent hooked nose with which every Wagner portrait has made the world familiar.

That face in the mirror, though older and wiser and wearier now, was not so very unlike the face of the lad who, at six years of age, had been told that his father was dead. His mother, he would never forget, had tried to live vainly on a too small pension and then had married Ludwig Geyer, actor, playwright, and amateur portrait painter, who turned out to be a most kindly stepfather. But seven years later Geyer, too, passed away, and Richard, then fourteen, had heard him whisper to Mama Wagner on his deathbed, "Do you think the boy might have a gift for music?"

UP TO that time Wagner's gift consisted only of a superficial knowledge of harmony and bad piano-playing which was never to be improved. His ambition was to be a dramatic author, and he had read all of Shakespeare's plays in German. His own first extended effort as an author was a grand tragedy made up of Hamlet and King Lear: forty-two men died in the course of it, and some of them had to return as ghosts to keep the fifth act going.

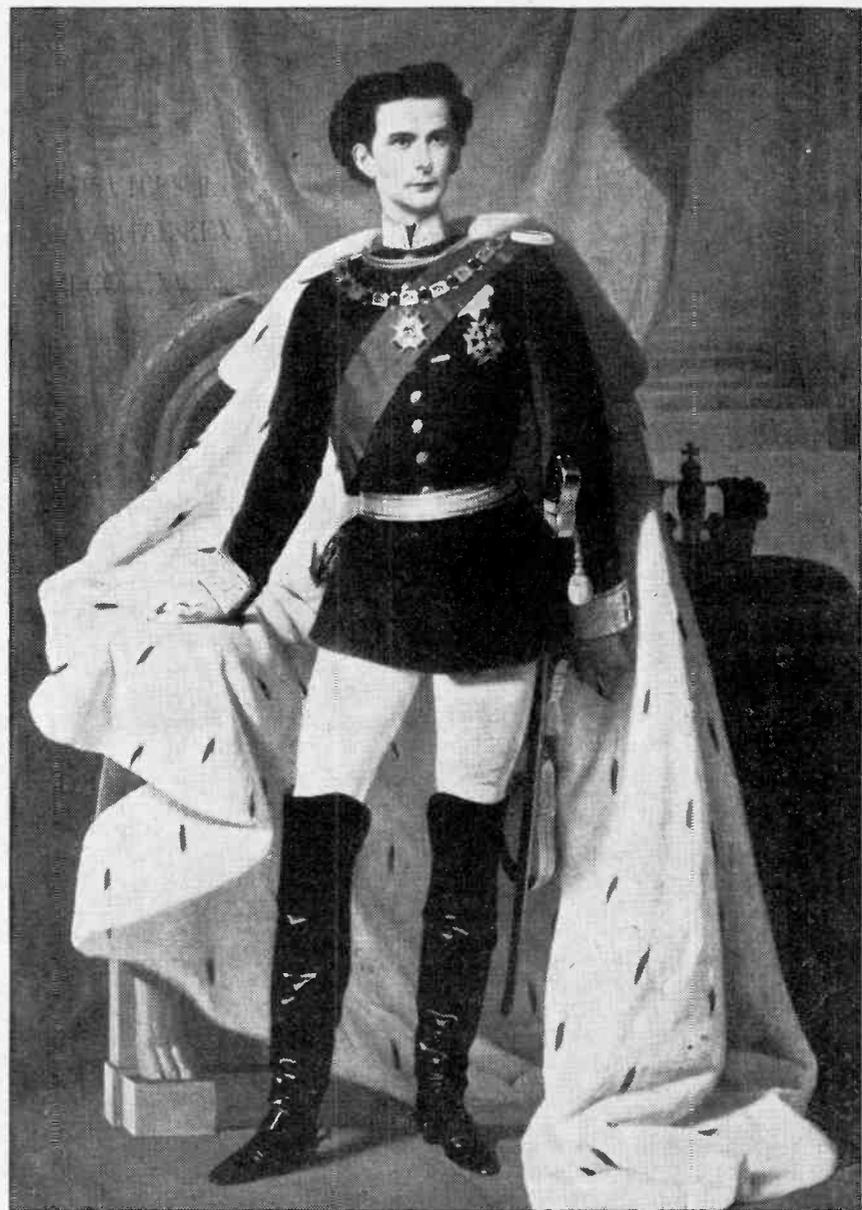

The family had moved from Leipzig to Dresden, where the great Weber, already successful composer of "Der Freischuetz," was conductor at the Opera. Wagner remembered to have written later: "When Weber passed our house on his way to the theater, I used to watch him with something akin to religious awe . . . I was quite overcome when he stepped in now and then to have a chat with my delicate-featured and intelligent mother, whose sweet ways and lively disposition had a special charm for our artistic friends."

Looking into a mirror, that old gentleman, finally full of triumph and self-glory, what regrets had he, what feeling of virtue? What memories . . .

There had been Dorn, a good man and Richard Wagner's teacher. He had written of his pupil: "I doubt whether there ever was a young musician who knew Beethoven's works better than Richard in his eighteenth year. He copied the orchestral opuses in penciled completeness. He went to sleep with the quartets, sang the songs and whistled the concertos; in short, he was possessed with a true Beethoven furor." The same Dorn had conducted Richard's first overture, brought to paper when he realized his ineptitude as a dramatist and had begun to dissipate with students and bluster about politics. The overture, the mature master of Bayreuth described as "the height of my adolescent absurdities." Perhaps it was, for the public was puzzled that night by the persistence of the Wagnerian drummer who had to give a fortissimo tap every four measures from start to finish. People grew impatient and finally laughed at what they considered a great joke.

The old days—some called them good who had enjoyed good luck in their youth—were still vivid in Wagner's mind. Those early jobs conducting in tiny theaters paid nothing, eating less. But studying day and night. History and mythology, the folk-lore operas of Marschner and Weber, who were then breaking away from the tinkling and syrupy tunes and illogical arias of Ludwig II, idealist king of Bavaria, as a young man was a fanatical Wagner enthusiast. He later became a lavish patron, inviting Wagner to Munich, spending huge sums on the composer and even planning a theater

Above is Wagner's piano, presented to him by Steinway. Unlike his friend, Liszt, Wagner was never an accomplished pianist. His original ambition was to be a great dramatic author, and he did make early dramatic attempts the Italian composers of that era.

Then Riga, in Russia. He had been busy and cold, and then he was busy and warm. For in Riga he composed "Rienzi" and met a pretty actress named Minna Planer, whom he married forthwith. Wagner had told the story later:

"We took the boat for France, where I boastfully intended to create operas which would route the popular Rossini and Meyerbeer from the Paris stage. The voyage was rough, and during one of the terrific storms I heard sailors relating the story of the 'Flying Dutchman' eternally sailing the seas to seek peace from the buffetings of life and redemption through a woman's faith for his sin in renouncing God.

"In Boulogne we met Meyerbeer, who cheerfully gave me introduction letters to Paris powers." (Mirror, tell Wagner how he later wrote shamefully about that same generous Meyerbeer. Remind him, too, of all his other acts of ingratitude toward the men and women who helped to further his career.)

His first success had come to Richard with "Rienzi," done at Dresden in 1842. "After the premiere we should all have gone to bed, but we did nothing of the kind." He had become the hero of the day in the Saxon capital. In 1844, the remains of his old idol Weber were brought from London to be buried in Dresden, and Richard Wagner led the music for the ceremonies.

What other memories? "Ah, the first performance of 'Tannhaeuser,' in Dresden." He recalled the bewilderment of the public and the cast, with Devrient, the soprano, exclaiming, "You are a man of genius, but you write such eccentric stuff it is hardly possible to sing it." The critics? "He has no melody, no form," they had said. But Schumann, already a musical overlord, differed. "It is an hundred-fold better than his previous work. He may become of great importance and significance to the stage and I am sure he is possessed of sufficient courage." By then he had finished a new textbook, "Lohengrin." Of course, Schumann could have known nothing about sketches for "Parsifal" and "Meistersinger" seething in that busy brain.

But what of the political brawls, the fugitive days, the fights at the barricades in 1848? The man at the mirror frowns and walks back. Outside, the air is warm with his triumph and the curbs are still crowded with those who have seen his newest opera and gasped at his genius. All he will ever want is his, wrested from a hard world by the persistence of his loud genius. No need to think of unpleasant days when he asked and demanded and got nothing.

So we do not know whether or not he actually manned a barricade, rifle at shoulder, or why he fled to Paris. We can only surmise, for we do know that he fled using money borrowed from Liszt, which, by the way, was the first of a huge sum he borrowed from the pianist and never repaid.

Paris provided renewed disappointments, and the firebrand went into voluntary exile in Zurich, Switzerland, where he began the first of his many essays on music, literature and kindred subjects, including a fierce attack on

The March of Music

Edited by LEONARD LIEBLING

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air..."—Wordsworth

"Fascinating Rhythm"

LITTLE by little, a new trend in American music is making itself felt. Following the example of the late George Gershwin, the popular-song writers are beginning to show respect for harmony, counterpoint and the classics. And in their turn, the serious composers are looking with more tolerance on Tin Pan Alley.

With the resurgence of swing, a more sophisticated return to the earlier crude jazz of the honky-tonks has come a new interest in orchestration and instrumentation. Benny Goodman, hottest of hot clarinetists, spends his more restrained moments in experimental concerts with the Budapest String Quartet, a phenomenon impossible five years ago. Leith Stevens, of Columbia, conducts the Saturday Night Swing Club, but appears occasionally with the Columbia Chamber Orchestra. A Juilliard student, he has had experience with both types of music and conducts them equally well.

Raymond Scott and his six-man quintet are responsible for some of the most original harmonic combinations in recent years, and have made bosom friends of jazz and chamber music. Morton Gould in his Tuesday programs and Lyn Murray in his "Moods for Moderns" have successfully combined both types of music, and Gould as a composer has shown exceptional talent in his use of the modern musical idioms.

Gradually our serious composers are turning away from European influences and discovering the wealth of material awaiting them in their own country. They are realizing that the only authentic folk-music we have are the popular songs reflecting every period of American life and history; hill-billy songs, cowboy ballads, sentimental love-songs, Stephen Foster's work, jazz in all its manifestations. Three titles on this week's League of Composers' Concert on MBS are eloquent indication of the foregoing: "Whoopie Overture," "Swing Serenade" and "Workout."

The art-music output of the last few years has been interesting, technically daring and of great experimental value. But its stepsister jazz has developed spontaneity and unself-consciousness to a greater degree. A blending of the sincere unaffectedness, warm emotion and melody of jazz at its best with the more intellectual and objective approach of serious composition would benefit both. And all signs point to such a combination, which, if realized, may eventually produce American music as great as the greatest.

Speaking Up

By V. V.

Not so long ago, a sure bet was that Ford's Model T would keep turning up year after year with not one variation in appearance. Shiny black Lizzie, like Tennyson's brook, seemed capable of going on forever. It wasn't until 1932 that Ford, with his Model A, proved to a delighted world that he knew the value of novelty, and now not a year passes that some gadget or the latest in streamlining doesn't add surprise interest to the new-model Fords.

However, forward-looking as he has become with his cars, Ford is still in the Model T stage with his radio program. Although in quality the Ford Sunday Evening Hour is the best full-hour commercial musical program on the air, it is suffering from the same disease as poor old Lizzie—namely, monotony of design. Ever since its inception, the Sunday Evening Hour has stuck with unflinching regularity to a rigid program formula; an orchestral opening, a solo, more orchestral or choral numbers, a group of solos, a final orchestral outburst and a hymn. Singing stars have to be content with an aria and a short group of songs. Instrumentalists are usually limited to one skimpy movement of a concerto and two or three short pieces.

Naturally, the time element is an important factor in the program planning, but that still shouldn't prevent some elasticity in the method of presentation. Why not, for instance, let soloists like Myra Hess, Robert Virovai or Casadesu perform a whole concerto, or devote half the hour to a group of longer violin or piano pieces? Also, why not present the Ford Sunday Evening Hour Chorus once in a while in a full-length program? Certainly the equal of any choral group on the air, it should be given the opportunity to do more than serve as a background for the orchestra and guest stars. Or why don't each of the conductors appearing during the season plan an individual type of program?

Any or all or more of these variations would not only benefit the artists but would indicate that Ford's welcome flight from conservatism was not limited only to his cars. Radio-listeners like to be surprised as much as car-buyers.

Every time he corrects the orchestra during rehearsal, Bruno Walter apologizes. The gentlest and most affectionate of men, this great conductor was nevertheless brutally deprived of his posts in Berlin and Vienna and evicted from his country as an "enemy of the State"! Never interested in politics, he has always lived only for his music and his family, but gangsterism shows little discrimination in its choice of victims.

Since his eviction, Walter has become a French citizen and makes his home in France. Music fans who remember his performances with the New York Philharmonic will welcome his return March 11 with the NBC Symphony.

Joseph Knitzer, violinist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, Sunday afternoon, CBS

FORECAST

THE last opera broadcast of the season, Bruno Walter's return to the air and brilliant young Robert Virovai's Ford appearance are all "musts" for the music-lover this week. Also, for those who follow new music, there is the League of Composers' Concert on Thursday, and for Mozart fans the all-Mozart program under Bruno Walter Saturday.

SUNDAY, MARCH 5

Dr. Charles Courboin, organist, MBS. Sarabande et Fugue (Couperin), Andante from Violin Concerto (Mendelssohn), Alegretto (Lefebvre), Fantasy and Fugue (W. T. Best).

A Sunday treat, these organ programs are outstanding for the variety and high quality of Dr. Courboin's selections.

Radio City Music Hall of the Air, NBC. Erno Rapee, conductor; Annelies von Molnar, soprano; Jan Pearce, tenor; Louise Bernhardt, mezzo-soprano; Lorenzo Alvari, bass. Concerto for Orchestra (Vivaldi-Bach-D'Antalffi), Two Spanish Dances (Granados-Bernstein), Te Deum (Kodaly), Suite from "The Bolt" (Kodaly).

Here are two striking novelties, Kodaly's "Te Deum" and Shostakovich's ballet "The Bolt." Both Kodaly and Shostakovich are among the most vital of contemporary composers.

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra, CBS. John Barbirolli, conductor; Joseph Knitzer, violinist. Overture to "Rosamunde" (Schubert), Symphony No. 3 (Brahms), The Orchestra; Poeme (Chausson), Tzigane (Ravel), Joseph Knitzer and Orchestra; Polka and Fugue from "Schwanda" (Weinberger), The Orchestra.

Ernest Chausson, French composer (1855-1899), was an ardent disciple of Cesar Franck, and his music reflects a strong Franck influence. The "Poeme," a favorite in the violin repertoire, is at once melancholy and impassioned, with a tinge of mysticism... "... aspirations and strivings that finally subside into a peaceful, somewhat wistful resignation, as at the end of a day of tumult, passion and sorrow, one's perplexities are transmuted into a spiritual tranquility."

Chausson's music was never well known during his lifetime. Like his master, Franck, he was timid and retiring, and lacked the courage to push himself and his work. He died early in his forties in a bicycle accident.

Of the operas written by Schubert, little remains except the Overture and ballet music to "Rosamunde." It was originally composed for a melodrama called "The Magic Harp," which failed, and Schubert used the music later for an operetta of his own. The second theme of the Overture is one of the loveliest melodies Schubert ever wrote.

Eastern 3:00 p.m. Central 2:00 p.m. Pacific 12:00 noon

The Metropolitan Auditions of the Air, NBC. Metropolitan tryouts. Edward Johnson, master of ceremonies; Wilfred Pelletier, conductor. Semi-finals.

The names have not yet been given out, but The March of Music's choice would be among the following: Garfield Swift, Margaret Harshaw, Emery Darcy, Mary Frances Lehnerts, Morton Bowe.

Eastern 5:00 p.m. Central 4:00 p.m. Pacific 2:00 p.m.

The New Friends of Music, NBC. The New Friends of Music Orchestra, Fritz Stiedry, conductor; Webster Aitken, Frank Sheridan, Rosalind Tureck, pianists. Symphony No. 99 (Haydn), Concerto for Three Pianos (Bach), Symphony No. 87 (Haydn).

Symphony No. 87 is another one of the "restored" symphonies which have not been heard since Haydn's time.

Eastern 6:00 p.m. Central 5:00 p.m. Pacific 3:00 p.m.

The Bach Cantata Series, MBS. Alfred Wallenstein, conductor; Genevieve Rowe, soprano; Mary Hopple, contralto; William Hain, tenor; Raoul Nadeau, baritone. St. John's Passion, Part II. One of Bach's great oratorios.

Eastern 7:00 p.m. Central 6:00 p.m. Pacific 4:00 p.m.

The Ford Sunday Evening Hour, CBS. The Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Eugene Ormandy, conductor; Robert Virovai, violinist. Entrance of the Gods into Valhalla from "Das Rheingold" (Wagner), the Orchestra; Rondo from Concerto No. 5 in A (Mozart), Robert Virovai and Orchestra; Chorale Prelude "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" (Bach), March Movement from Symphony No. 6 "Pathetique" (Tchaikovsky), the Orchestra; The Zephyr (Hubay), Dance Espagnole (De Falla), Robert Virovai; Tales of the Vienna Woods (Strauss), the Orchestra.

Ormandy's list is highlighted by the Bach Chorale Prelude and the Wagner excerpt. The gods' entrance in Valhalla comes at the end of the "Rheingold." The giants, Fafner and Fasolt, have built a magnificent new castle in the clouds for the gods, and in payment are given the gold stolen from the Rhine-maidens by Alberich the dwarf. Wotan, chief of the gods, foresees the trouble this will cause, but the gods, unheeding, march in solemn procession over the rainbow bridge connecting the castle with the earth. The broadly magnificent theme of the Entrance is framed in orchestration of shimmering beauty.

Robert Virovai, seventeen-year-old violin sensation of the year, plays a selection by one of his own countrymen. Famed equally as a virtuoso and teacher, Jenő Hubay (1858-1937), Hungarian violinist, also composed several operas and symphonies, and a large quantity of violin music. Among his pupils were

Robert Virovai, violinist, is this week's guest of the "Ford Sunday Evening Hour" over CBS

Szigeti and Eddy Brown, both well known to radio audiences.

Eastern 9:00 p.m. Central 8:00 p.m. Pacific 6:00 p.m.

MONDAY, MARCH 6

The Curtis Institute of Music, CBS. Chamber music. Students of the Curtis Institute perform regularly every week on this program.

Eastern 3:00 p.m. Central 2:00 p.m. Pacific 12:00 noon

The Rochester Civic Orchestra, NBC. Guy Fraser Harrison, conductor.

Eastern 3:00 p.m. Central 2:00 p.m. Pacific 12:00 noon

The Voice of Firestone, NBC. Alfred Wallenstein, conductor; Margaret Speaks, soprano. Good singing, good orchestra, but unoriginal programs.

Eastern 8:30 p.m. Central 7:30 p.m. Pacific 6:30 p.m.

Whittall Foundation Chamber Music Concert, NBC. Adolph Busch, violinist; Rudolph Serkin, pianist. A noted team who specialize in sonata playing.

Eastern 9:00 p.m. Central 8:00 p.m. Pacific 6:00 p.m.

Westminster College Choir, NBC. An interesting series of American choral music.

Eastern 9:30 p.m. Central 8:30 p.m. Pacific 6:30 p.m.

TUESDAY, MARCH 7

Music and the Friendly Arts, CBS. Music and poetry, discussed by Archibald MacLeish. The Columbia Symphony Orchestra, Bernard Herrmann, conducting.

Eastern 2:30 p.m. Central 1:30 p.m. Pacific 11:30 a.m.

Violin Series, MBS. Alfred Wallenstein, conductor; Benno Rabinoff, violinist. Concerto in C Major (Vivaldi-Kreisler), Devil's Trill (Tartini).

The Concerto is heard for the first time in America.

Eastern 9:30 p.m. Central 8:30 p.m. Pacific 6:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8

The Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, CBS. Fabien Sevitzky, conductor. Symphony No. 4 (Schumann), Rambling Sailor (English Suite) (Mason), Caucasian Sketches (Ippolitov-Ivanov).

Eastern 3:00 p.m. Central 2:00 p.m. Pacific 12:00 noon

THURSDAY, MARCH 9

Eastman School Band, NBC. Frederick Fennel, conductor. Overture to "Oberon" (Weber), Suite from "Water Music" (Handel), Fugue A La Gigue (Bach), Romeo and Juliet Overture (Tchaikowsky).

Eastern 8:30 p.m. Central 7:30 p.m. Pacific 5:30 p.m.

Sinfonietta, MBS. Alfred Wallenstein, conductor. League of Composers' Concert. Whoopie Overture (Henry Brandt), Concerto for Five Solo Instruments (Boris Koutzen), Swing Serenade (Robert McBride), Workout (Robert McBride).

Alfred Wallenstein presents the first of three League of Composers' Concerts devoted to new music.

Henry Brandt, born in Montreal, Canada, in 1913, is a former pupil of George Antheil, famous modern composer. Brandt has had works performed by the League of Composers, New School for Social Research and the Yaddo Musical Festival. His Overture was played over Columbia last October.

Boris Koutzen, born in Moscow, studied with Ghieri and is at present head of the violin department of the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music. His Concerto, written in 1934, is for flute, clarinet, bassoon, horn, cello and string orchestra.

Robert McBride is a native of Tucson, Arizona, and has had many performances of his orchestral and choral works. His "Workout," commissioned in 1936 by the League of Composers, is based on adventures in a jazz band. Its three movements are entitled "Go Choruses," "Sweet" and "Fast Swing."

Here is a program that reveals Bruno Walter at his best. Considered by many as the foremost exponent of Mozart in the world, Walter not only conducts the orchestra but appears as soloist in one of Mozart's most charming piano concertos. It is an unusual sight to see Walter at the piano, nodding his head at times at the orchestra, and holding the performance together with the irresistible force and rhythm of his playing.

Although I have said much in these pages about the G Minor Symphony, it is still not enough to emphasize the delight I feel each time I hear it. For those unacquainted with Mozart here is the most entrancing introduction they can possibly have.

The Opera: "Rigoletto"

BY GIUSEPPE VERDI

Presented by the Metropolitan Opera Company

SATURDAY, MARCH 11

On NBC at 2:00 p.m. EST; 1:00 p.m. CST; 12:00 noon MST; 11:00 a.m. PST

THE CAST:

Gilda . . . . .	Lily Pons
The Duke . . . . .	Jan Kiepura
Rigoletto . . . . .	Lawrence Tibbett

VERDI'S "Rigoletto," second in worth and popularity to his "Aida," ends the Metropolitan broadcasting season. An opera that of later years has been the vehicle for epochal solo debuts in America, it served to introduce the luminous Caruso to us in 1903, when he sang the part of the Duke. Amelita Galli-Curci, unknown in this country before 1916, triumphed sensationally in that year at the Chicago Opera in the role of Gilda.

Based on Victor Hugo's drama "The King Amuses Himself," Rigoletto has a tremendously active and compelling libretto in which all the human passions are revealed. Called "The Fool's Revenge," the Hugo play long afforded Edwin Booth one of his greatest characterizations.

Verdi's music for "Rigoletto" is the work of genius, both inventively and constructively. Now eighty-seven years old, the score has a degree of vividness and power approached since then only by Strauss and Puccini—and by Verdi himself in his "Aida," composed twenty years after "Rigoletto."

It might be added with no wish to discourage present-day composers, that "Rigoletto" was completed in less than forty days.

Listeners are, of course, well acquainted with the work of Lily Pons and Lawrence Tibbett. The appearance of Jan Kiepura, internationally known Polish tenor, in "Rigoletto" is significant. His first performance in an opera broadcast in America was in the role of the Duke in a broadcast of "Rigoletto" almost exactly a year ago.

Born the son of a prosperous Polish merchant, Kiepura was sent to Warsaw to study law. His persistence in singing led to an abrupt break in parental support. On his own thereafter, young Jan picked up a living and had a lot of fun with a traveling troupe. In a provincial village an operatic scout heard him sing "Faust" and took him to Warsaw to sing a Puccini role. His success was immediate and he was called to perform in Paris, Berlin, Brussels, Vienna and Milan. Then he returned to Poland, famous at the age of twenty-two.

ACT I

The Ducal Palace in Mantua, Italy, during the sixteenth century. The Duke, an incorrigible rake, ruling a debauched court, tells a confidant about his pursuit of a young girl.

A song, "Questa o Quella" (This One or That One), voices the Duke's admiration of Count Ceprano's wife, with whom he dances so fervently that her husband's jealousy is aroused.

Rigoletto, malevolent hunch-backed jester, arranger for many of the Duke's amours, taunts Ceprano. Rigoletto has been discovered indulging in a regular nightly rendezvous with an unknown charmer.

ACT II

The end of a deserted street. Rigoletto's dwelling. Gilda, the jester's daughter, greets her father. Of course, she is the "mysterious" one of the Duke, and the "charmer" of Rigoletto. The Duke, lurking outside in the courtyard, learns of the relationship. Rigoletto leaves and the maid and her ducal admirer (whom she knows only as "Walter") sing their love duet.

Alone she delivers her aria, "Caro Nome" (Dearest Name). Masked courtiers, led by Ceprano, appear for revenge, and tell the returning suspicious Rigoletto that they wish to abduct Ceprano's wife (who lives across the street) for the Duke. The jester joins the plot, is masked and blindfolded, and unknowingly holds the ladder against his own wall.

ACT III

Salon in the Duke's palace. Gilda has been brought to the next room, where the Duke joins her. Rigoletto seeks his daughter, trying to hide his grief under assumed jauntiness. Gilda enters and the pair utter their devotion and distress, Rigoletto ending with his resolve for revenge upon the Duke.

ACT IV

The inn kept by Sparafucile and his sister Maddalena. Rigoletto and Gilda are outside, the latter disguised as a young cavalier, to aid her intended flight from Mantua, which her father decrees after he is convinced she still loves the Duke. That noble intriguer, in soldier attire, comes for a drink and sings his great cynical air "La Donna e Mobile" (Woman is Fickle). Maddalena flirts with the willing Duke, Gilda overhearing his ardent declarations.

Sending off Gilda, Rigoletto hires Sparafucile to murder the Duke and deliver his body in a sack. Maddalena, now another victim to the Duke's wiles, makes her brother promise to slay any other guest who might come, and deliver his body instead of the Duke's.

There is a storm. Gilda, drawn irresistibly, returns, knocks, and is stabbed. Rigoletto receives his gruesome booty, but as he drags the sack away he hears the Duke singing "La Donna." The horrified father opens the bundle, finds his daughter's body.

NEW YORK.—It has been my contention for quite some time that radio-broadcasting lacked showmanship. It seemed that all the networks were interested in was to sell time and did very little in the way of building and developing new talent and programs. With television being just "around the corner," it was good news to learn that NBC engaged Max Gordon, noted producer of Broadway hits, to advise and assist in the production of sight-and-sound broadcasting programs. Radio is sorely in need of the experienced theatrical touch, and the hiring of Mr. Gordon and other producers of his caliber will do a lot for the industry in general.

Money spent wisely is bound to bring dividends. CBS invested quite a bit of its profits in developing the Orson Welles dramatic offerings, and the idea turned out to be a good one, having sold the program to Campbell's Soup. "This is New York" is another costly airing which offers good entertainment, and according to reports several sponsors are interested in the show. NBC paid the bills for "Information, Please" for several months, building up a huge listening audience and then selling it to Canada Dry. That they intend to build more shows is evidenced by the fact that on February 21 they launched a new program called "Dr. Rockwell's Brain Trust." Assisting Rockwell are Allen Roth and a 30-piece orchestra and a choir of fourteen voices. The only thing I don't like about it is the fact that they are trying to compete with Fibber McGee for listeners, which gives them two strikes before they even get started. NBC should find another spot for this show if they want a big following. Anyway, getting back to my original purpose of the paragraph, it is heartening news to me (and I'm sure to you too) to know that the networks are at last getting wise to themselves and doing something that they should have done long ago. Perhaps it was all prompted by the fact that they see the handwriting on the Hollywood wall.

Lanny Ross Entertains

Your reporter received a telegram from Lanny Ross to be his guest at a luncheon and help him celebrate his tenth radio anniversary. When I walked into the room at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where the luncheon was held, and looked around the room I was greeted by many people whose names are familiar to you. Among those present besides Lanny were Ben Bernie, Graham McNamee, David Ross, B. A. Rolfe, Frank Munn, Mark Warnow, Phil Duey, executives of the three major networks, and last but by no means least a man who spends more money for radio time and talent than any other sponsor. He is Mr. R. S. Butler, vice-president of General Foods. The purpose of the luncheon was to organize a club of radio stars who have been on the air ten years or more. During the course of the discussion a plan was developed for a program to be heard over all three Coast-to-Coast networks four times a year, with these big-name stars of the radio telling about experiences during the early days of radio.

The stories that were related during the afternoon would be more than welcome to the listener. For instance, Graham McNamee told about the time he was assigned to announce the first broadcast of dance music from a hotel spot. When he reported back to the studios he was reprimanded by his superior for permitting the orchestra-leader to talk so much and was told to make sure it didn't happen again. When he went back to the hotel the next night, he requested the leader to lay off the gab. The ork-pilot promised he would, but when he got on the air again he seemed to forget his promise, because he went right on talking, much to McNamee's discomfort. In telling the story, Graham added that to this day nobody has been able to stop the orchestra-leader from talking in front of a microphone. His name is Ben Bernie and the one who got the biggest laugh out of the yarn was the Ol' Maestro himself. There were many more interesting stories told, which convinced me and all those present that Lanny Ross has a swell idea and it was enthusiastically endorsed by everyone. A committee is being appointed to work out all the details, and I for one am looking forward to the first program. Ben Bernie made a motion that got a long and loud laugh. He proposed that sponsors be kept alive as long as possible.

An Open Letter to Kay Kyser

Dear Friend Kay:

On February 15 I listened to your program with a group of friends. We were all impressed with the intelligence of the two finalists, but we were unanimous in finding fault in the way you decided the winner of the first prize of $35. You asked Lester Golumb these questions:

"Name the operas from which the following well-known selections are taken—

1. Quartet from —.
2. Sextet from —.
3. The Wedding March from —.
4. Pilgrim's Chorus from —.

Mr. Golumb named three out of four correctly. Then you addressed the feminine finalist, Judy Jasper, with this question: "While on the subject of vagabonds, we shouldn't pass up this song, which was made famous in a certain show by a certain singer." Then your boys played "The Vagabond Song" from "The Vagabond King," which Miss Jasper named correctly and which resulted in her winning the first prize.

Our complaint is that in reality you asked Mr. Golumb a question in four parts that required four answers, three of which he answered correctly. Whereas Miss Jasper had to identify only the song and the name of the show, which is only a two-part question and in our opinion wasn't fair to the lad. In fairness to both contestants, don't you think that in the future the questions for the finalists should require only one direct answer? Best regards.

Seen Behind the Scene

Before the Kate Smith program hits the air, Andre Baruch issues instructions to the audience on how to react to the entertainment. He states that on other shows directors come out on the stage and wave one hand as a signal to applaud. "We don't do that here—we're different—we use two hands" . . . It was a treat to watch Fredric March in a scene from "The American Way." He acted his part in front of the mike just as though he were in front of the movie camera. By popular request Kate sang "God Bless America" for the seventh time . . . If you listened to the show and wondered why the audience howled after Abbott and Costello finished their comedy cracks, it was because Costello tripped over a sword he was wearing with his George Washington outfit, and almost broke his neck . . . It was a lot of fun watching rehearsal of the "Campbell Playhouse" at CBS last Friday. Orson Welles and his co-workers were getting "Burlesque," famous Broadway play about a hooper, whipped into shape, and the place was a beehive of activity. Five tap-dancers were there to tap out dancing sound-effects.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD.—Al Jolson has notified his sponsor that he wishes to rest a bit from radio, concluding his participation in the Rinso-Lifebuoy opus March 14, and perhaps return to the air in the fall in a new type of show he has in mind. The vacancy has been filled by no less than Dick Powell, who will take over the m.c. reins of the current Jolson show (then to be renamed) on March 21 for $2,500 a week and the promise that he won't feel hurt if someone else in the cast gets more lines or laughs than he does. Hundreds of thousands of fans of Powell, kept off the air after his Hollywood Hotel success by a clause in his Warner Brothers movie contract, will be glad and waiting once again to hear their favorite every week.

The Movies vs. Radio Battle

Before believing everything you read about how the film moguls are spanking radio for swiping their movie-going cash customers, let's ponder the facts: Only two of the major cinema studios, 20th Century-Fox and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, have raised any fuss. Darryl Zanuck, heading the former, is reported to have said he removed Tyrone Power from the air to stop him from detracting from Sunday movie theater attendance . . .

But really Power had a mutual falling-out with his sponsor over an entirely different matter—something relating not one whit to the issue of movie attendance . . . Next week Mr. Zanuck "took steps" to see that Alice Faye, another of his contract stars, would broadcast no more. But Alice hasn't been on any regular air series during the past year! . . . At the same time, Mr. Zanuck denied that he intended to remove Don Ameche from the (theater-hurting) Chase & Sanborn Hour, and defined his stand further by stating that he intended to continue to use radio where he thought he could promote his pictures . . . Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer assuaged its exhibitors by announcing that it would withdraw from participation in the Maxwell House "Good News" airing after June 29. And again—the funny part of this gesture is that "Good News" will fold for the summer anyway on that date—and be back again in the fall, probably with Fannie Brice, Hanley Stafford and maybe even Frank Morgan.

Your correspondent feels that movie-makers should concentrate on producing better pictures instead of issuing statements.

Kay promptly lost Skinnay, so now Ed's giving her an Irish terrier . . . On Jack Benny's birthday, also made famous by St. Valentine, gagman Bill Morrow kept sending him assorted telegrams of congratulations, each signed by a different first name. The messages tickled Jack silly and he kept wondering who the senders were. This will let him know . . . Songstress Gertrude Niesen's signing with "Good News" for a six-week term casts a shadow ahead

First stooge for Horton in the cast is Zasu Pitts . . . Now Norma Shearer and Lew Ayres are dating . . . Best crack of the week is Jack Haley's solution for the slightly flattened "Circle" show, which has been losing its stars so rapidly. "Let 'em use the stars' movie stand-ins," quips Haley, "and rename the show 'The Semicircle!'"

Fibber Stands Pat

Fibber (Jim Jordan) McGee didn't come to Hollywood to go Hollywood, no sir! He's ordered his writer to stick to the mythical Wistful Vista locale and leave the cinema puns for the dozen-odd Hollywood broadcasts that already are overdoing it. What's more, a glance into McGee's rehearsal reveals that the cast is still eastern in dress. The girls still wear dresses instead of slacks and the men cling to neckties and conservative suits.

Charlie's Troupe Follows

While Charlie McCarthy and his voicemaker will be in New York by March 5, they won't be alone for long, for the entire coffee-hour crew will join them for the following two Sundays, March 12 and 19, to broadcast from NBC's Radio City studios. The big idea is to get the New York bee out of the bonnets of all the performers at one and the same time, let them see the shows on Broadway and have their fling, then get them back to Hollywood and down to business. Speaking of business, Charlie McCarthy will have his own bungalow at the San Francisco Fair, where his wardrobe, trophies, pictures and associated toys, dolls, books, games and so forth will be exhibited . . . Visiting in the reverse direction are Professor Quiz and Tommy Riggs. The former will be here for three broadcasts starting March 4, and Tommy and Betty Lou will strut their stuff from Hollywood for four weeks beginning the same date.

Back-Stage Stuff

"Two-Gun" Eddie Cantor, posing for publicity pictures in a cowboy suit just prior to his prevue performance of February 19, leaned menacingly over a poker hand. Just then there were two loud reports and Cantor fell to the floor, six-guns and sombrero scattering in every direction. The "shots" were two faulty photographer's flash-bulbs which popped by accident . . . Parkyakarkus greeting a fair-touring and hangover-nursing eastern editor with: "Must been someting you edited" . . . Bob Hope and cast amazed at rehearsal when the usually meticulous Paulette Goddard appeared without make-up in sweater, play-skirt and low shoes, while the generally sloppy Patsy Kelly reported dressed fit to kill in a black satin dress and mink coat! Which reminds that the superstitious Patsy always wears a good-luck charm-bracelet. When an NBC engineer complained that its rattle came through the mike, she compromised slightly by wearing the bauble as an anklet . . . Madaline (Genevieve Blue) Lee, turning down the visiting luscious Lucius Beebe's request for a date.

Contrasts: Virginia Payne plays old “Ma Perkins” and elderly mother Carter in “Carters of Elm Street,” yet is actually an attractive, vivacious girl in her middle twenties. Catherine McCune and Janet Logan of “Scattergood Baines” live together and pal together in spite of the fact that Catherine is five feet nine inches tall and Janet ten inches shorter . . . Record-dealers report a sharp pick-up in the sales of Marek Weber’s recordings since his inauguration of “International Nights” on “Contented Hour” . . . Harold Stokes flies to Wheeling, West Virginia, to be guest conductor on “Musical Steelmakers” March 5 . . . Cunning little contralto Nancy Martin claims some sort of championship for a long-distance echo—a voice-recording made from one of her solos by a short-wave listener living at Newcastle up on Tyne . . . Hal O’Halloran, who was for some four years a favorite m.c. of the “National Barn Dance,” has joined the WLW Rural Program staff. Hal started in radio at Chicago’s WCFL and, after the “Barn Dance,” reached WLW via WOR, Newark, and CKLW, Windsor . . . When Captain Clifford J. MacGregor appeared as guest of Don McNeill’s “Breakfast Club” February 23 it was the culmination of a correspondence instituted when MacGregor led an expedition in 1937-38 in search of the lost Russian explorers. His expeditioners listened to “B. C.” from the arctic and sent short-wave fan messages to McNeill and the “Breakfast Clubbers.”

Listeners in Iowa report they set their alarm clocks so they won’t miss the early morning broadcasts of Gene and Glenn . . . Readers ask what to do to keep pet programs on the air or bring them back—buy the product and write letters, especially to the advertisers . . . Calling your attention to three youngsters you’ll be hearing more of in the future: “Skip” Farrell, now soloing on the “National Barn Dance”; Ted Smith, colored lad with a remarkable tenor voice singing from the Grand Terrace with Fletcher Henderson, also over WAAF three times weekly; Eunice Clark, singing and getting notice thrice weekly over WAAF . . . Correction: The All-American Turkey Show was held in and broadcast from Grand Forks, North Dakota, instead of Fargo. Sorry . . . Ransom Sherman’s fetching “Smile Parade” from Chicago has moved to Thursday afternoon; “Avalon Time” from Cincinnati changes time this week . . . War Department Clipping from column of Ed Sullivan, movie columnist: “In the current war between movies and radio, the movies have forgotten to point out that in the last two years the only performer developed by radio has been Edgar Bergen.” Maybe, Ed, they haven’t forgotten, but just don’t care to point out, as you do, that a wooden dummy tops all the movie stars on the air as a radio attraction. Would they be willing to stack their Power, Gable, Taylor, or Lombard against Charlie on the air? The only one to compete with Charlie successfully on the same time-spot was the radio-built Orson Welles, whom you forgot to mention.

Come home, radio, all will be forgiven.

IN CHICAGO

L. to r., Gordon Vandover, Marlin Hurt, Bud Vandover, famed as Chicago’s Tom, Dick and Harry, are now on “Plantation Party,” Fri.

Marek Weber, musical director of “Contented Program” (Mon., NBC), is handy in the kitchen, often cooks for his own supper parties

LISTENING TO LEARN

The Future?

A GROUP of men in a unique position — planning and operating schedules of educational broadcasts—recently was asked this question by your "Listening to Learn" editor:

In the light of past experience and present activity, what may the future hold for RADIO-EDUCATION?

Four of them ventured an answer; here they are, those four—keen and interesting insights into educational broadcasting and its probable future, enlightening and significant answers to the question:

HENDERSON H. LEAKE, director of production, station WNAD, owned and operated by the University of Oklahoma.

Mr. Leake's answer, in part, follows:

"If we turn our backs on radio for a moment and look at education, we find that people learn because of their interest. Careless teachers expect the student to be stimulated by a sense of the importance of the things to be learned, but smart teachers on all levels arouse interest in the student and use that interest as a foundation for the education process.

"This active principle, in my opinion, will determine the future of radio-education. Such important factors as money spent for network talent and advice, or the allotment of special frequencies for educational purposes, are 'small potatoes' when compared to the attitude of smart teachers toward radio as a teaching aid. Smart educators hold the future of radio-education in the palms of their hands, and when they wake to its possibilities they will certainly be eager to develop one of the most powerful of proved agencies for teaching.

"Radio-education educates 'him that gives and him that takes.' To get the very most out of this parallel we might truthfully say that it bids fair to become the 'mightiest of the mightiest,' and that it becomes the educator almost better than anything else he has worn.

"The future of radio-education lies with smart teachers and enthusiastic students. Writing and speaking are the means whereby students are ordinarily asked to express the terms of their progress. Radio offers a fine combination of both in a glamorous new kind of laboratory.

"Only one thing can keep radio-education down. Radio technique, like a teaching technique, must be mastered. Mere radio communication cannot take away the dullness of subject-matter.

"Radio-education without a future? Not if educators are smart."

KENNETH E. YEEND, director of station KWSC, owned and operated by the State College of Washington.

Mr. Yeend's answer, in part, follows:

Reflecting on the fact that news-casts and on-the-spot broadcasts have played a significant part in developing public interest in national and world affairs: "... Radio-education has tremendous possibilities. Not formalized education, but vitalized education."

Regarding the public's realization of their dependency upon news sources for reliable information: "... college stations have the reputation for authenticity backed by years of faithful service to the public, which augurs well for the future."

College-station broadcasting: "... Commercial stations are unable to appeal to specific groups because they continually strive for maximum audience. College stations will continue to fulfill an important need in our radio system by giving service to minorities."

Quality: "... With the development of appreciation for good music and drama, and informational, thought-provoking programs, education will be called upon to supply more of the type of material which it has championed."

In the classroom: "... this new instrument can never replace the teacher or the classroom. But as a supplement to the course of study, a great motivator, as an instrument to change vague ideas to concrete experiences, radio will gain its greatest reward. Bringing new personalities into the classroom and utilizing the master teacher, this form of communication may prove to be the greatest vitalizing force in education. Through radio, classroom instruction may be applied to daily living. Educational stations, because of their ability to adjust schedules and maintain schedules to meet the schools' needs, will lead in this important work."

Educating educators to understand and utilize radio: "... Individuals returning to their communities to direct programs over commercial stations will be far more qualified to utilize the radio for educational purposes than in the past. This will lay foundations for the use of radio hardly dreamed of yet."

Television and facsimile broadcasting: "... will give a new impetus to the social and instructive value of radio."

FRANK E. SCHOOLEY, program director, station WILL, owned and operated by the University of Illinois.

Mr. Schooley's answer follows:

"That question should be reversed. What may radio-education hold for the future. In that reversal is found our answer. Radio-education will bring us a more enlightened nation, an enlightened world. True radio-education will bring truth. Even the tainted propaganda of the dictators, who are now apparently so successful in their use of radio, will not stand the light of truth. Radio-education will take truth to man. In our democracy, radio-education is one of man's means to enlightenment. We must always remember, however, that there is another which will always have a profound place in education—it is the printed word.

"Education by radio, like entertainment by radio, news and information by radio, has grown rapidly from birth. Perhaps, however, it has not been so colorful as entertainment. But education does not need to follow the footsteps of entertainment in radio. Education by radio will succeed in the future not by aping popular radio programs of today but by working out its own techniques and methods. Much has been done in a short time; much will be done in the future."

ELMER G. SULZER, director of radio, University of Kentucky.

Mr. Sulzer's answer follows:

"What does the future hold for radio-education? I would say that the future will see more specialized educational broadcasting, or, I should say, more classified educational broadcasting. By this I mean that we will eventually see broadcasting programs phased so as to hit certain audiences much in the same way that our present radio set-up is devised. We will have a comprehensive system of generalized education for the entire country, which, of course, will be a network proposition. Then we will have a set-up of programs designed for utilization by large sections of the country, such as states, and this will be done by the larger stations in collaboration with the larger educational institutions. These first two forms of educational broadcasting are rather well established at the present time. Lastly, we will have the type of broadcasting that is not well established at present but which is certain to assume very important proportions in the future. I refer to the distinctly localized broadcasting. The availability of the ultra-high-frequency waves from 42,000 to 43,000 kilocycles for educational purposes makes it possible now to establish numerous transmitters in the smaller aerial units, such as counties in which a distinctly necessary type of localized broadcasting can be developed. I believe that the big development in educational broadcasting in the next few years will come in this field. Its potentialities are unlimited."

"Descendants of the Mutineers"

"NEW HORIZONS" explorers, meaning the several thousand listeners who have followed this intriguing series of radio visits to strange and interesting parts of the world, today will journey to that little spot in the Pacific Ocean made famous as the home of the mutineers of the Bounty. The stirring and romantic history of the mutiny on the Bounty is brought up to date with a first-hand account of the descendants of the mutineers, now living on Pitcairn Island. The story of present-day Pitcairn is told by one of the few men who, in recent years, has had the privilege of making an extended visit to this lonely island in the Pacific, Dr. Harry L. Shapiro. No one, not even a scientist or explorer, may put foot on Pitcairn unless his visit is approved by formal vote taken by the inhabitants, which number less than 200 people.

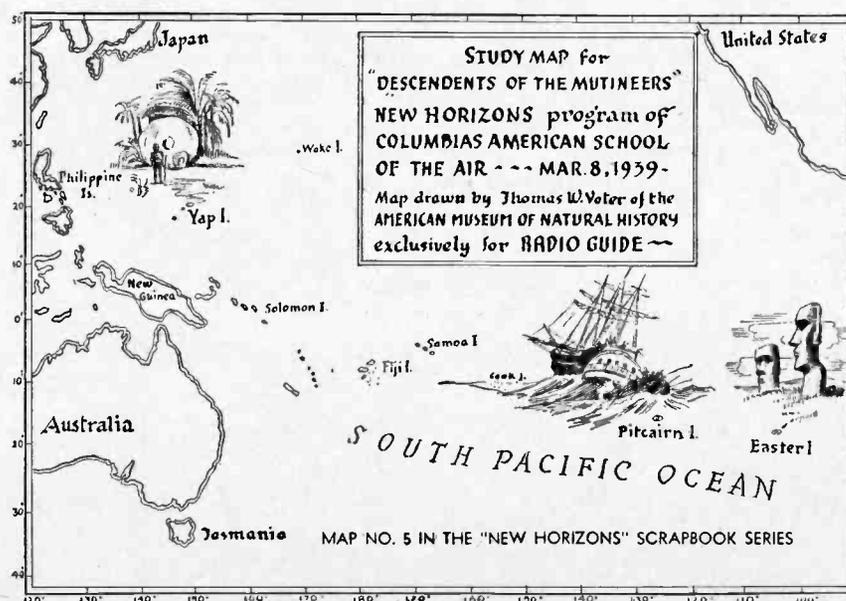

Community life on Pitcairn is peaceful and harmonious and women have an equal share with the men in elections and conduct of the government. Nature and time, in the course of a century and a half, have produced some experiments in human breeding and inbreeding that are without parallel in modern history. Dr. Shapiro discovered that inbreeding does not necessarily lower the human standard if the stock is sound to begin with.

From Pitcairn, American School of the Air listeners go next to Easter Island in the South Pacific, a strange, dismal place, where Goliaths hewn out of stone stand guard on the sloping banks of an extinct volcano (see map above). Partly buried or standing erect, these monoliths, some as high as thirty or forty feet, are tangible proof of a once powerful social force. No one knows, as yet, how the great stone "Easter Island Men" were erected, how they were transported from the quarries, or what significance they had.

Among the many unusual things to be found in the South Sea islands, the stone money of the island of Yap is among the strangest. Here, gigantic stone wheels, often twelve feet high and a foot thick, serve as money. A circle of stone about a foot in diameter is worth almost a hundred dollars. The basis for the value of the strange coins is that the stones had to be obtained from far-away Guam, under circumstances of difficulty and danger.

"Descendants of the Mutineers" is the title of the March 8 program in the "New Horizons" series of Columbia's American School of the Air. Time: 2:30-3 p.m. EST; 1:30-2 CST; 12:30-1 MST; 11:30 a.m.-12 noon PST.

Radio Guide's March Educational Program Classifier will appear in the issue dated March 18, 1939

 Dramatizing the highlights in the struggle of Italian immi-grants to make America their homeland, this episode also shows how we have gained in nearly all artistic and cultural fields from their participation in our national life. Italian-born singers, composers, sculp-tors, and painters have done much to develop American cul-ture. In the realms of agricul-ture, banking, and commerce, also, the Italians have been outstanding.

Subject of today's dramatization is Sigrid Undset, eminent Norwegian novelist and winner of the Nobel prize. "Kristin Lavransdatter," her most famous work, is a trilogy with a medieval setting. Although most of her books are set in medieval Norway, she has also written a number of modern stories.

OLD BOOKS WANTED

We pay big cash prices for thousands of different titles. We bought over 7,500 books in past twenty-one months, and have paid as high as $500.00 for a single book. For ex-

Table listing books and prices: Pilgrim's Progress $4,000.00, Adventures of Tom Sawyer 200.00, Old Swimmin' Hole 75.00, Black Beauty 100.00, Treasure Island 50.00, Scarlet Letter 35.00, Venus and Adonis 5,000.00, Snow-Bound 45.00, Uncle Tom's Cabin 50.00, Leaves of Grass 250.00, Ben Hur 25.00, Last of the Mohicans 50.00, Moby Dick 100.00, Little Women 25.00, McGuffey Primer 100.00, Tamerlane & Other Poems 5,000.00

These are but a few of the many thousands of books we want. DON'T SEND BOOKS until you have checked our latest list giving full information. Don't delay—a single old school book, story book, Bible, poetry, history travel, almanacs, newspapers, letters, autograph, etc., may bring you $25, $50, $100, $500 or even $5,000 cash for certain books. Better investigate NOW. Send 10c to the American Book Mart, 140 S. Dearborn St., Dept. 8801, Chicago, and we will send you latest list of old books we want to buy and cash prices we will pay.

Senator Robert Taft and Representative T. V. Smith devote their time tonight to a discussion of the subject "Congress—Showmanship or Statesmanship." The subject has been chosen presumably because of the present tendency among some lawmakers to dramatize their own personalities rather than to spend their energies in the cause of constructive legislation.

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections
No MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet with using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequencies and short wave channels.

ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD

Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.

NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED

On the market five years! 100,000 customers in U. S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radios for double aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios.

BEFORE
Does away with Aerial entirely—Just place an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator (size 1 1/2 in. x 4 in.) within your set. Complete Simple instructions furnished with unit. Easily connected by anyone to aerial and ground of set. Your radio will then operate and tune in the same manner as if it were connected to an aerial. Operates on both short and long waves.

AFTER
5 DAYS TRIAL coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.

WHAT USERS SAY

LaPorte, Tex. After using the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 small 7 tube set can say it brings in reception with fine volume and clarity, pulling in stations from Japan, Europe, South America, and broadcast stations from all over the U. S. Efficiency proven, I took down my old outside aerial.
Signed: Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago.
Signed:

JUST MAIL THIS COUPON—
IF & H RADIO LABORATORIES, Dept. 73, Fargo, N. Dak.
Send F & H Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check here if sending $1 with order—thus saving postage cost—same refund guaranteed. Check here if interested in dealer's proposition.

 Eve Curie, daughter of the famous Mme. Curie, discoverer of radium, arrives in New York from Europe this week en route to the San Francisco World's Fair. Listeners are given this opportunity to become acquainted with the author of "Madame Curie," a biography of the great feminine scientist which has been universally acclaimed as an outstanding piece of non-fiction.

Guests are Richard Rodgers and Larry Hart, who collaborate on musical comedies such as Gilbert and Sullivan a half-century ago. With Rodgers writing the scores, and Hart the lyrics, they have created a series of smash hits, latest of which is this year's pseudo-Shakespearean "The Boys from Syracuse." Tonight, they tell about their work and listen to Kotelnetz' rendition of some famous Rodgers and Hart hit tunes.

 "Lee, the American Warrior" is Dr. Griggs' theme today.
 One of the few Civil War heroes recognized by northerners and southerners alike, Confederate
 Commander-in-Chief Robert E.
 Lee displayed a rare combination of military genius, humane conduct and old-fashioned gallantry. Such was his fame even at the beginning of the war, that Lincoln asked him then to take command of the Union armies.

CAMOUFLAGED BALLADER

he had gone, one of the boys who had heard him said, "Well, he does look like a white grub-worm."

Eddy probably is somewhat justified in holding himself aloof from reporters, particularly sob-sisters. There is no doubt that he has been "colored"—pictured as something he is not. As a former newspaperman he wants only facts to be written about him. But his life has been rather flat and prosaic, and that doesn't make good copy. The reporters have a side, too. An editor tells them to get a "color" yarn on Eddy—or else. And there is no color there. Reporters have to eat, so they give their pieces "the needle"—dress them up and make Eddy a swashbuckler. Then he gets peeved.

The publicity office of M-G-M had quite a problem with him until Dan MacElwaine took the Eddy publicity in hand. A fan magazine suggested some time ago that the reason he hadn't married was because he was in love with one of his patronesses. Eddy hit the ceiling. He got a complex against fan magazines and particularly girl reporters. They had a way of wheedling information out of him that he didn't want to say.

ON CONCERT tours, Eddy gives mass interviews. He doesn't mind talking to men, but he's shy of women reporters. They put too many frills on him, he thinks.

He has taken some verbal blows from musicians, too. One described him in these words:

"It seems that nothing seems natural for him. Every time he reaches for high notes, he strangles himself. Dr. Edouard Lippe is his teacher and keeps as close to Eddy as a nest-egg.

"At rehearsals, when he is in a good mood, he will clown. He seems to enjoy himself then. Likes to play with the drums. But he has his bad moods at times. For two or three weeks at a spell, everything is 'off,' but it isn't everything that really is 'off'—it's Eddy who is off.

"He is a very talented technical student of music. He strains himself instead of letting his notes flow. He seems to have no feeling, because he's too worried about technical details.

"He's generous, however. Summing up his character, I'd say he is a very nice boy."

Another man who knows him said: "His naivety borders on a pretty youthful age at times. He used to hang around the M-G-M publicity department, and when people weren't looking he would draw mustaches, beards and such on the faces of stars whose portraits lined the walls.

"He's a honey for facts. One Christmas a sob-yarn was turned out about him. The story said a blind man always recognized the horn of Eddy's car and would shout, 'Hello, there, Mr. Eddy.' That was true, but the story sort of stretched a point and said that on Christmas Eddy showered the blind man with gifts. When Eddy saw the story, he insisted on making it good. He wouldn't live a lie. So he did shower the poor man with gifts."

They called him "mama's boy" behind his back, and the story is told that one evening he and a secretary were working in his library and something funny was said. Nelson laughed loudly, and his mother appeared on the scene and asked, politely but firmly, what was so funny.

But for every crack against him, there are a hundred for him.

Don Ameche certainly knows him and said:

"His most impressive characteristic is his terrific will-power. He really likes to have fun. Why, at a formal party once, he did a burlesque strip-tease in tails. He's a wonderful host, and is very ethical. He will never do anything that might hurt somebody. He's always a gentleman and can hold his liquor like a man."

Mary Hanrahan, Edgar Bergen's secretary, said he's a "lovely person."

"There is a lot of the boy left in him," she said. "He's afraid of newspapermen and that's why they rap him. He can't figure them out."

When he got to the top in Hollywood he began to live well. Of course, his mother was with him. His servants included Hans, his jack-of-all-trades, a Swedish cook, a maid, and a houseboy. His private secretary handles all of his business mail.

He is a man of a hundred hobbies, and when he takes up a new hobby he dives into it feet first. Right now it's wood-carving and clay-modeling. He does it well, too. He also paints.

He's a collector of Tang dynasty porcelain horses. The genuines are 2,000 years old and very valuable. Eddy heard about one in San Francisco about a year ago and went to see the Chinese who owned it. The Chinese told him the horse wasn't genuine Tang, and that it was only five hundred years old.

"However," the Chinese said, "there is a twin horse to mine. If you buy mine and locate the twin you will have a very valuable pair." Then the dealer told Eddy of a friend who had the twin and who, the dealer thought, had sold it for a genuine Tang. When Eddy got home, he discovered the twin in his own collection. He had bought it as genuine.

Last year a Chinese escaped Shanghai without a possession except one Tang horse. He sold it to Eddy for enough to start life over.

He owns two big cars and drives himself. He has only one pet, a wire-hair named Obie.

EDDY'S romances, or rather the lack of them, have been the causes of most of the knocks he has got from the sob-sisters. It simply was hard to figure out how a man, handsome, rich and famous, could pass the dangerous 30's without falling for some of the thousands of women who were ready to fling their hearts at him.

Women have flocked around him for years, if they got a chance. His mother helped protect him. Once he gave out a statement that his ideal girl must be cultured, witty, amiable and sweet. He didn't care whether she could cook or not. He got fourteen proposals the next day. A story goes that one moon-struck girl thought he was singing to her every time he sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." It seems she had requested the number, and when she found out she was just another fan to Eddy she threatened suicide. That sounds like a gag, but it's passed along for what it's worth.

Those who know Eddy say there have been only three women in his life—his grandmother, his mother and Ann Franklin. And all of them help mold him. Ann Franklin's first husband, Sidney Franklin, married Mrs. Conrad Nagel about the time Eddy went to Hollywood.

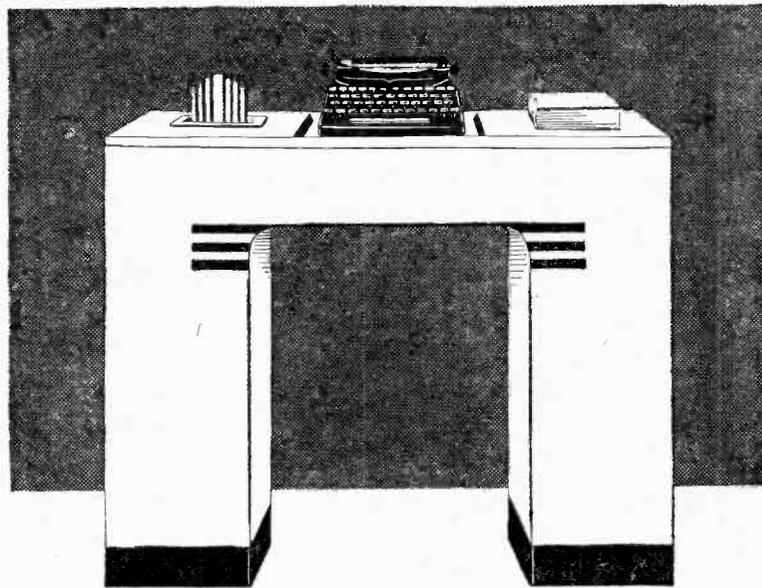

Mrs. Franklin was rather unhappy about the drama of her own life, and Eddy, young and gay, filled a great gap in her life. She and his mother were congenial. Mrs. Franklin loved music, too. She had much in common with Eddy and the bonds of friendship naturally tightened. They spent a great deal of time in each other's company.

Then last January they went to Nevada and were married. M-G-M worried how Eddy's fans would take it, but the studio was snowed under with telegrams of congratulations.

Mrs. Nelson Eddy is older than her husband. She gave her age as forty. She has two sons. One is in college and he is more like a brother to Eddy than a stepson.

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 20. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

EUGENE DARLINGTON, manager of short-wave broadcasting for the General Electric Company, informs me by telegram that W6XBE, their new 20,000-watt international station on Treasure Island at San Francisco, is on the air. The station made its initial test broadcast on Saturday, February 18, from 6:15 to 7:30 p.m. EST. The broadcast schedule for the new station is as follows: On 15.33 megs, daily, from 7 to 10 a.m. EST (8 to 11 p.m. in Shanghai), directed to Asia, and from 6 to 10 p.m. EST (7 to 11 p.m. in Buenos Aires), directed to South America.

The North American transmission from France heard nightly from 9:30 p.m. to midnight EST, is being picked up as a rule over TBP11 (9.55), but occasionally on a new frequency of 9.62 megs.

The eagerly anticipated short-wave broadcasts direct from Pan-American's new Super-Clipper during its initial flight from Seattle (via Washington, D. C.), to London, England, and return, first mentioned three weeks ago, will take place just as soon as the "go" is given for the hop. A 100-watt transmitter, operated jointly by CBS and NBC, under the calls WCBN and KFMS respectively, has been installed aboard the Clipper and it will operate on any one of the following frequencies: 2.4, 4.797, 6.425, 8.655, 12.862, 17.31 or 23.1 megs. The following Rocky Point, N. Y., transmitters have been licensed to communicate with the Clipper during flight: WLL (17.9), WQV (14.8), WCG (10.38) and WDN (4.555).

Dorothy Hall, operator of amateur station W2IXY at Springfield Gardens, N. Y., informs me that OQ5ZZ (14.285 and 14.35), amateur transmitter of the Gatti Expedition in the interior of Belgian Congo, is on the air. The expedition contacts Capetown, South Africa, regularly.

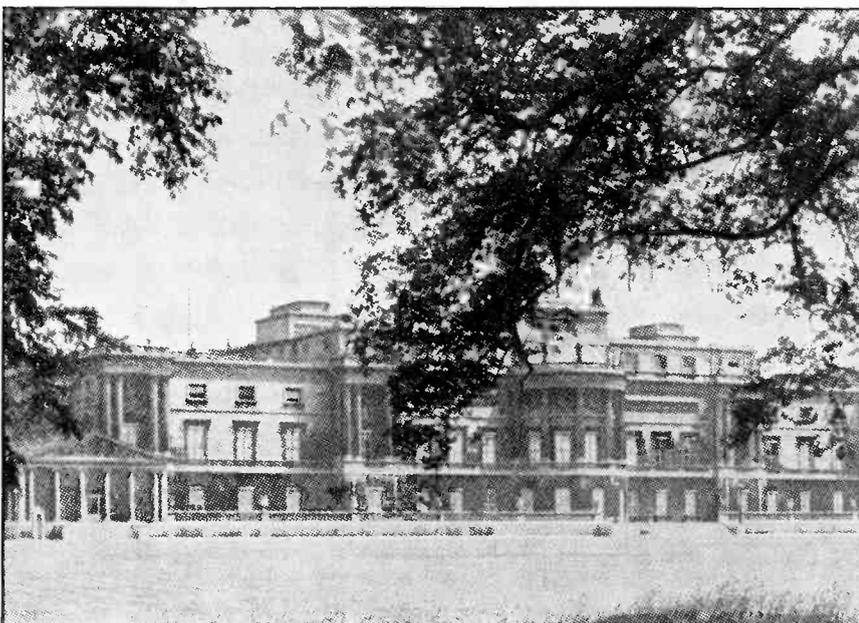

SHORT-WAVE SHORTS: Martin Olthoff of Independence, Kansas, reports a new Latin HKF (9.71), "La Voz de Bogota," Apartado 312, Bogota, Colombia, is broadcasting irregularly evenings . . . DJH (17.82), of Germany, operates daily from 10:40 a.m. to 1 p.m. EST, in parallel with DJL (15.11) . . . CB1510 (15.1), a new station located at Valparaiso, Chile, has been heard testing by a number of listeners . . . OAX2A, "Radio Rancho Grande" of Trujillo, Peru, is now being heard on a new frequency of 5.942 megs, Sundays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 7 to 10 p.m. EST . . . Harold Amers of Pomona, Calif., tells me that the anti-Nazi station "Deutsche Freiheits Sender," which I have mentioned several times in these columns, is no more. Incidental to the finding of an unlicensed transmitter in a panel-body truck by Nazi secret police, a noted writer was charged, tried and convicted of operating same . . . ZAA, Tirana, Albania, 9.987 megs, was logged with excellent signals from 9 to 10 a.m. EST, by Herbert Campbell of Athens, Penn.

A new Chinese station XMHA (12.23), operated by the Continental Broadcasting Service at 445 Race Course Road, Shanghai, is broadcasting daily from 4 to 7 a.m. EST. Chimes help to identify the station . . . TAP (9.465) of Ankara, Turkey, operates daily from 11:30 a.m. to 4 or 5 p.m. EST. TAQ (15.195), operates daily from 5:30 to 7 a.m. EST. Reports on reception should be sent to Radio Ankara, Turkey, Muehlendistler, Birligi, 5 No. Lu Oda Yeni-Sehei, Ankara, Turkey.

The new 25,000-watt national transmitter at Schwarzenburg, Switzerland, which will be inaugurated in May, will operate on the following frequencies: 6.056, 9.537, 11.867, 15.306, 17.783 and 21.522 megs. Four separate beam aerials will direct programs to North America, South America, East Africa and Asia respectively . . . Two new 100,000-watt transmitters at Daventry, for operation on the new 40-meter broadcasting band (7.2 to 7.3 megs), will be put into service next September . . . The two transmitters at Lahti, Finland, are now operating as follows: Over OFE (11.78), from 1:05 a.m. to 12:05 p.m. and over OFD (9.5), from 12:15 to 5 p.m. EST; over OIE (15.19), 1:05 to 4 and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. EST, and over OIH (17.8), from 4 to 9 a.m. EST.

HH3W, Port-au-Prince, Haiti, has shifted in frequency to a clear channel of 9.77 megs . . . Is the Costa Rican station on the frequency of 6.165 megs, TILS or TIEM?

Buckingham Palace, one of the most famous buildings in England, will be described in a broadcast Tuesday at 7 a.m. EST over Daventry stations GSF, GSG and GSJ. This concludes the "Royal Palaces" series

EMPEROR OF OPERA

Meyerbeer. Then Liszt conducted "Lohengrin" at its Weimar premiere, and from that memorable night dates the success of the Wagner movement in Germany, at least with the public, for most of the critics continued to revile him until long after his glorious emergence at Bayreuth. The things critics called him and his operas are incredible and have been collected in a book called "Wagner in the Mirror of Criticism." It should never be read by innocent children and susceptible grandmothers.

By now, "The Ring of the Nibelung" was nearing completion, and "Tristan and Isolde" were taking shape, Wagner being his own librettist as usual. The muse pursued Wagner relentlessly. When did he eat or sleep? But his spirits remained mostly high, except for passing periods of intense depression. In his merriest moods he could perpetrate boorish jokes, and at the height of his joyous frenzies, stand on his head and crawl about on all fours, to amuse his companions.

A call as conductor of the London Philharmonic—just eight concerts resulted. Then a trip to Paris. Napoleon III and the Princess Metternich had forced the Grand Opera to produce "Tannhauser." At the opening it was whistled from the boards in one of the most dreadful fiascos in all musical history. However, the sympathetic Princess achieved Wagner's political pardon and he returned to Germany. Vienna wanted "Tristan and Isolde," but after fifty rehearsals the work was shelved as being unplayable and unsingable! Karlsruhe, Prague and Weimar rejected "Tristan" for the same reasons. In Leipzig, Wagner led the overture to "Meistersinger" in a half empty hall and with almost a complete absence of professionals. This seemed to be the end. But one spark brightened the future: the music-lovers present cheered enthusiastically.

Soon Ludwig II of Bavaria, who as a young man had become a fanatical Wagnerite, invited the hard-pressed Wagner to Munich. "Come here and finish your work in peace," was his message. The idealistic monarch gave his protege a comfortable income and planned to build a special theater for the performance of his works. (It never materialized, but it gave Wagner his later idea for the operatic edifice at Bayreuth.) At Ludwig's own Royal Opera, Wagner commanded a performance of "Tristan," at which the King was the only auditor.

But presently Ludwig's ministers and people grumbled at the huge sums Ludwig spent on Wagner and the latter was forced to leave Munich. He settled at Tribschen on the Lake of Lucerne.

During another stay on another lake at Zurich in a house provided by a rich admirer, Wesendonck (rich admirers always had the composer's attention), he had returned his friend's generosity by making love—purely platonic, he always claimed—to the beautiful poetess, Madame Wesendonck, author of verses of which Wagner made songs. His wife's jealousy at last led to a break with the Wesendoncks. Poor Minna, she was never without jealousy, for her Richard philandered unceasingly wherever he went.

At Munich Hans von Buelow conducted the Wagner music, and his chief reward was that he lost his wife, Cosima, to his famous friend, who first lived with her and then sealed the union matrimonially after Minna kindly divorced him. Buelow's highly connected relatives insisted that he duel with Wagner, and he replied, "What, possibly kill the world's greatest musical genius?" He continued to remain a Wagner apostle and led his operas everywhere. The theft of Cosima was, too, a fine crack at friend and patron Liszt, her father. But man of the world, Liszt forgave Wagner—and lent him more money. Wagner loved Cosima truly, and raved about her wonderful long hair.

The great Bayreuth project came to life with Wagner's scheme to sell "Patrons' Certificates," the holders being promised dividends of seats at the Festival performances. (No doubt one of the earliest forms of a modern stock "promising" corporation!) His financial astuteness was further evidenced when he premiered "Parsifal" there in 1882 and decreed that "because of its sacred nature" it should never be heard outside of Bayreuth, where the spirit was "consecrational." The "Parsifal" monopoly, effective until copyright expired, enriched Cosima and her children lavishly.

The Bayreuth days of rehearsal found the Festspielhaus a beehive of industry. Wagner conducted, drilled, explained, taught, screamed, exhorted.

THE years after that Bayreuth triumph were prosperous despite the never-ending caviling of our friends, the critics. Wagner, always in love with luxury, wore swansdown dressing-gowns at home. He was in love, too, with Cosima and her beautiful hair. His days were happy. He had given masterpieces to the world; reformed opera and banished its absurdities; created deathless melodies, a new system of harmonies, orchestration of a might and glow never known before. He had made opera what Beethoven made symphony.

In September, 1882, aged sixty-nine, he fell ill, and he and Cosima went to Venice, where they rented a palazzo on the Grand Canal. In February, he worked at an essay called "On the Feminine in Human Nature." On the thirteenth he was fatefully penning the words "Liebe- Tragik" (Love- Tragic), when he suddenly bent over his manuscript, gasped, clutched at his heart and fell over. Cosima rushed in, dragged him to a couch and screamed for a doctor. When he arrived Wagner was dead.

Cosima, kneeling beside the body, asked for a pair of shears. With them she slowly cut off the tresses her Richard so loved and placed them on his breast.

WAGNER BIBLIOGRAPHY

Wagner's own "My Life" up to 1864 might be consulted after the reading of other biographies, notably "Richard Wagner" by H. F. Chamberlain, profusely illustrated; Glazenapp's "Life of Richard Wagner," and that by Ashton Ellis.

Also one might read Ernest Newman's "Wagner As Man and Artist," Henry T. Finck's "Wagner and His Works," and William Wallace's "Richard Wagner As He Lived."

Then there are the correspondence of Wagner and Liszt, Wagner and Mathilde von Wesendonck, and letters of Richard to Minna. H. von Wolzogen's personal reminiscences make informative reading. "The Mad King" by Pourtales and "The Ludwigs of Bavaria" by Channon tell about the Bavarian episode in Wagner's life. Wagner's own published literary efforts are rather verbose and analytical.

"JACKY" WAVE SETTER SETS NATURAL WAVES AND PERMANENTS at Home

A new, entirely different, patented finger waver which does at home, mechanically, what a beauty operator does with fingers and comb when giving a set. Reduces the expense of "Wave-Up-keep." "JACKY" quickly gives your permanent or your natural wavy hair, a smart, professional-looking wave. "JACKY" is different from dime curlers. You don't have to go around the house looking like a Christmas tree. You need only ONE and for just a few minutes to draw any type wave by merely pushing thumb and forefinger together. Uses no heat; no electricity; no chemicals; its sturdy comb-like material lasts years; light as a feather. Saves many dollars on beauty bills. Sent only $1.00 for "JACKY" postpaid or we will ship C.O.D. plus charges. Guaranteed as advertised in Good House-keeping. If not delighted return within 10 days for your dollar back. Order today.

HOW DID THIS FAMOUS FEUD START?

The Best Broadcasts In Brief

Run the full gamut of emotions from laughter to shudders—always entertaining—ever interesting. Smile at the funny quips of famous comedians.

Become absorbed in the thrilling eye-witness description of the burning of the Hindenburg.

Let Ronald Colman's amazing story, "The Professor Chooses Death," exalt you.

Shed tears with little Peter Levine's father as he appeals for mercy for his kidnaped son.

What did Babe Ruth say about his dying boss?

What did one radio program do to help a starving family?

When was Will Rogers a South African carnival spieler?

Read RADIO DIGEST. It tells you all these things and many more.

RADIO DIGEST is the new magazine that supplements RADIO GUIDE. It reprints—condenses—adapts—interprets—the best broadcasts in brief.

It is the perfect answer to the listener's prayer to read and to preserve the programs he can't hear or misses.

You will find RADIO DIGEST on sale at many newsstands at 25c a copy. The April issue is out now. It is in the small digest size with a blue cover.

Jack Benny threatened to play "The Bee"—on his violin. That settled Fred Allen—and their famous feud was on—and still going strong!

Chuckle over "Picklepuss" Allen and "Buck" Benny as they renew their airy battle in the April RADIO DIGEST—the new magazine that contains "The Best Broadcasts In Brief." It's good fun. Don't miss it.

What Will Tom Mooney Do Now?

What did the famous prisoner No. 31921 of San Quentin promise the first time he faced a microphone? If you missed this historic broadcast, you will find it in the April RADIO DIGEST.

Kate Smith's American Credo

What was the answer the well-loved Kate Smith broadcast when she received a letter asking her, "What is your creed as an American?" You will find it on page 84 of RADIO DIGEST for April.

Robert Benchley's Problem Children

"There comes a time in every father's life when his young son must be told . . ." But read it for yourself and chuckle over it.

Why Not Have a Baby?

So many favorable comments resulted from the first article on this subject that we continue the series in RADIO DIGEST and answer the burning question, "Will your baby be a boy or a girl?"

Walter Winchell Asks for Attention

What did Walter Winchell ask every child to learn? See page eight of the April RADIO DIGEST.

Is Our Press Free?

Harold L. Ickes, U. S. Secretary of the Interior, shouted "No" over the air some weeks ago and drew from newspaper - owner Frank E. Gannett his furious reply. Read this vital debate in April RADIO DIGEST.

Dorothy Thompson—

"A Redeclaration of American Faith"

The famous international correspondent dramatizes a stirring appeal to you. Read it on Page 101.

LOSE FAT Controllable FAT

OHIO NURSE lost 47 lbs.

-Tells How

• Would you like to get rid of controllable fat quickly? You are possibly one of those many overweight people who are embarrassed and made uncomfortable with unsightly fat. Mrs. Gladysse Ryer, Registered Nurse of Dayton, O., writes: "I had been overweight for 13 years... was getting heavier. Then I tried RE-DUCE-OIDS and lost 47 lbs. Results were most satisfactory." Mrs. J. Fulfs, Honey Creek, Ia., writes: "Lost 34 lbs. Delighted." Mrs. Porter Tyler of Crandon, Wis., writes: "Reduced 67 lbs., felt better from the start." Miss Dorothy Lawrence of Detroit, reports reducing 36 lbs. Violet Haskett, Registered Nurse, San Francisco, writes: "Lost 27 lbs. with RE-DUCE-OIDS, felt fine ever since. Recommend them to my friends."

We do not claim that everyone will receive the same results, but we do feel that you will agree that RE-DUCE-OIDS are worthy of a trial.

RE-DUCE-OIDS are not offered as a cure-all for all ailments, and no attempt is made to diagnose or prescribe; and most naturally they are not to be taken by children, and are not intended for, and should not be used by, persons suffering from active or latent tuberculosis, diabetes or goitre. This advertisement is intended only for fat adult persons for use according to directions, who are otherwise healthy and normal; whose overweight condition is caused by a disturbance of the glands of internal secretion, with accompanying subnormal metabolic rate, one of the common causes. In other words, these glands of internal secretion do not aid the system in using a sufficient amount of calories, therefore, energy is not made available for the system to maintain proper functioning. When these glands fail to work properly, weight usually increases. RE-DUCE-OIDS are intended to assist these glands. RE-DUCE-OIDS have been on the market for over twenty years, and millions have been sold. Testimonials tell of their results. If your druggist does not have RE-DUCE-OIDS in stock, ask him to order from his wholesaler today. If still unable to obtain RE-DUCE-OIDS, write at once giving dealer's name, to American Medicinal Products, Inc., Dept. G439, 6630 Santa Monica Blvd., Hollywood, California.

GOOD RECORDS

A department reviewing the recordings of your radio favorites

Benny Goodman. Like several other tunes of the day, St. Louis Blues, Deep Purple and Begin the Beguine for instance, I Cried for You is being pushed as a big revival. The way Alexander's Ragtime Band hit the Hit Parade last year probably brought on this wave. At any rate, Bunny Berigan made a nice swing arrangement of I Cried for You, out several weeks ago. Dick Robertson's little band has also swung it for Decca, and best of all, Benny Goodman's impeccable Trio now offers it on Victor.

Ziggy Elman, Goodman's trumpeter, issues his second record on Bluebird, and it is one to rush out and snatch off the nearest record-store shelf. The two titles are Fralich in Swing and Bublitchki, both 'way above average.

Larry Clinton, like most arranger-composers, resorts to pat phraseology and stock licks in his creation of tunes. In a series of "studies," Mr. C. bears out this fact. A Study in Brown was made some time ago by Bunny Berigan. Clinton himself has recently released A Study in Green and A Study in Red, both highly patternized swing. A Study in Blue, however, rises above the mediocrity of the above, mainly due to the great swing sense of Erskine Hawkins' band, plus the advantage of a good other side, Easy Rider. (Hawkins on Bluebird.)

Jimmy Dorsey's newest is a nice job of rewriting Melancholy Baby, called Kinda Lonesome. Carmichael, Robin and Coslow are responsible for the tune. Jimmy performs well, Lee Leighton sings. (Decca.)

Harold Rome, smart tunesmith who wrote the songs for "Pins and Needles" last year and "Sing Out the News" this year, sings two of his own on a Decca personality record. Plaza 6-9423 is the tale of a male escort; Yip-Ahoy is a parody on western songs. Mr. Rome is clever but no great singer; both are from "Sing Out the News."

Tommy Dorsey's newest releases are part commercial, part swing. In category A, comes Old Curiosity Shop and What Do You Know About Love? both aimed at the pop trade; category B sports jive jobs on Old Black Joe and Cocktails for Two. (Victor.)

Alec Templeton, clever British blind pianist recently featured on the Alka-Seltzer "Barn Dance," has a special album out, released by the Gramophone Shop of 18 East 48th Street in New York City. It includes most of his very smart bag of tricks, best of which is the capsule Wagnerian opera. Other recommended items include The Lost Chord if Sir Arthur Sullivan had written it for a light opera with Gilbert, and a travesty on The Music Goes Round. Very smart stuff. (GSV set 1. $5. Order by mail.)

Paul Whiteman is producing some good stuff in his new Decca releases, noticeably the two Gershwin tunes by his "Swinging Strings," one of the rare successes in making the fiddles sound anything near the groove. A guitarist so like Django Reinhardt enhances the disk immeasurably, so like Django Reinhardt that it must be Django Reinhardt. Liza and Lady Be Good the songs. (Decca.)

Mary Martin has waxed her sensational song from "Leave It to Me" for Brunswick. You know, My Heart Belongs to Daddy.

Maxine Sullivan finally made Night and Day for Victor.

Bob Crosby's I'm Free still a honey. Decca.

—Joe Thompson.

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

No personal replies to questions unless accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Caroline E. Evans, Glen Mills, Pa.—John of "Seth Parker" is played by Adrian Revere. Hal Gordon portrays Fred. Norman Price is a member of the choir.

Miss Sally B. Shaffer, Clarksburg, W. Va.—Mildred Bailey is not colored.

Miss Mary Jensen, Mount Vernon, N. Y.—The theme song of the radio serial "Big Sister" is "Valse Bluette" by Drigo. The opening and closing song for "Second Husband" is "If Love Were All." The song "Diane" serves as an entry motif for Miss Menken. "Those We Love" has for its theme song "Weeping Willow." Alice Frost was born August 1, 1910. Ned Wever's birthday was April 27, 1902. Jackie Kelk takes the role of Terry in the radio serial "Terry and the Pirates."

Mrs. Dean Cole, Saegerstown, Pa.—Edward MacHugh was born May 26, 1893, in Dundee, Scotland. He married the former Mrs. Jean Harmon, his secretary, March 16, 1936.

Mrs. Comisky, Joliet, Ill.—Matt Crowley was Dr. Jim Brent in the radio serial, "Road of Life" until October 24, 1938. The sketch then moved to Chicago and the cast changed. The role of Dr. Brent is now taken by Ken Griffin, who also takes the part of Larry Noble in "Backstage Wife." Hugh Studebaker was born in Ridgeville, Indiana, May 31, 1900. His family moved to Kansas City when he was three years old, therefore he attended school in that city. Studebaker entered radio in 1929. His first program was a song feature, but he soon turned to announcing and drama. He also played the organ for Ted Malone's "Between the Bookends" program for a time. Studebaker is five feet ten and a half inches tall, has blue-gray eyes and brown hair. He is married to Bertina "Chick" Congdon.

Miss Kathryn Green, Cressona, Pa.—David Gothard used to portray Philip King in "The Romance of Helen Trent." He now plays the roles of Bryant Chandler in "Women in White," Bill Riley in "Pafnted Dreams," David Hunter in "Party Line" and Alex Stevens in "Stepmother."

Miss Anna M. Barrett, Chicago, Ill.—Joan Kay used to take the part of Jill in "Kitty Keene, Inc." She now portrays Phyllis in the radio serial "Those Happy Gilmans." Jill is now portrayed by Janet Logan. Bob Jones is played by Dick Wells.

Back Pain and Kidney Strain

HOW TO WIN $50 CASH!

DOT AND DAN SHOW YOU HOW

NOW SEE IF YOU CAN TELL ME HOW MANY MILES I TRAVELED!

REMEMBER: — EACH DOT IS A MILE

It's Easy (Oh Yeah!)

THINK YOU CAN COUNT THEM?

So, you think anybody can do it, huh! Well JUST TRY IT. It starts out nice and easy like there's nothing to it, but I'll bet before you're through, you'll be seeing dots hopping all over where there ain't no dots, and big black jumping dots will probably chase you all over the ceiling after you go to bed tonight. You'll probably forget how many dots you've counted just about when you think you've got it finished too—so, you'll have to start all over again, and that'll be just dandy. But, if you should be interested enough to try, you might WIN FIFTY DOLLARS cash and $25.00 more just for being prompt.

COULD YOU USE $50 CASH NOW?

If you are interested in making an easy $50.00 extra cash on the side in your spare time, then send in your answer QUICK! For first prize I'LL PAY $50.00; 2nd $15.00; 3rd $10.00; 4th $7.50; and 5th $5.00. So, whether you win $50.00 or $5.00, YOU'LL BE PAID REAL CASH MONEY promptly. You may send your answer any time up to midnight, Sat., April 15, 1939—BUT send it NOW because I'm giving a nice big extra CASH prize just FOR PROMPTNESS.

$25.00 EXTRA — FOR PROMPTNESS

If you send your answer now—within 3 days—I'll give you an EXTRA $25.00 CASH for Promptness if you win the first prize of $50.00. Both the $50.00 and the $25.00 Extra may be yours. So, HURRY!—WIN THEM BOTH. That's easy money now—isn't it?

THEN — WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Let's go! Times a'wastin'. So hurry! Start NOW to Lasso, shoot, net or club every last dot on the map. And, the idea of course is to TRY and count them ALL—so don't keep a couple out for pets when you send your total in. Open to anyone living in U.S.A. and only one answer can be accepted from each family and the judges' decision will be final. And you can be sure that your answer will receive full and careful consideration when the entries are judged and the prizes awarded for accuracy, originality and neatness and remember that if you win first prize, you will receive $50.00 cash and an EXTRA $25.00 if you answer promptly. Duplicate prizes will be paid in case of ties. So, hurry! Rush your answer now. BE THE BIG WINNER.

A Money-Making Opportunity for Men of Character

EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISE FOR AN INVENTION EXPECTED TO REPLACE
A MULTI-MILLION-DOLLAR INDUSTRY

Costly Work Formerly
"Sent Out" by Business Men
Now Done by Themselves at a Fraction of the Expense

This is a call for men everywhere to handle exclusive agency for one of the most unique business inventions of the day.

Forty years ago the horse and buggy business was supreme—today almost extinct. Twenty years ago the phonograph industry ran into many millions—today practically a relic. Only a comparatively few foresighted men saw the fortunes ahead in the automobile and the radio. Yet irresistible waves of public buying swept these men to fortune, and sent the buggy and the phonograph into the discard. So are great successes made by men able to detect the shift in public favor from one industry to another.

Now another change is taking place. An old established industry—an integral and important part of the nation's structure—in which millions of dollars change hands every year—is in thousands of cases being replaced by a truly astonishing, simple invention which does the work better—more reliably—AND AT A COST OFTEN AS LOW AS 2% OF WHAT IS ORDINARILY PAID! It has not required very long for men who have taken over the rights to this valuable invention to do a remarkable business, and show earnings which in these times are almost unheard of for the average man.

Not a "Gadget"—
Not a "Knick-Knack"—

but a valuable, proved device which has been sold successfully by business novices as well as seasoned veterans.

Make no mistake—this is no novelty—no flimsy creation which the inventor hopes to put on the market. You probably have seen nothing like it yet—perhaps never dreamed of the existence of such a device—yet it has already been used by corporations of outstanding prominence—by dealers of great corporations—by their branches—by doctors, newspapers, publishers—schools—hospitals, etc., etc., and by thousands of small business men. You don't have to convince a man that he should use an electric bulb to light his office instead of a gas lamp. Nor do you have to sell the same business man the idea that some day he may need something like this invention. The need is already there—the money is usually being spent right at that very moment—and the desirability of saving the greatest part of this expense is obvious immediately.

Some of the Savings
You Can Show

You walk into an office and put down before your prospect a letter from a sales organization showing that they did work in their own office for $11 which formerly could have cost them over $200. A building supply corporation pays our man $70, whereas the bill could have been for $1,600! An automobile dealer pays our representative $15, whereas the expense could have been over $1,000. A department store has expense of $88.60, possible cost if done outside the business being well over $2,000. And so on. We could not possibly list all cases here. These are just a few of the many actual cases which we place in your hands to work with. Practically every line of business and every section of the country is represented by these field reports which hammer across dazzling, convincing money-saving opportunities which hardly any business man can fail to understand.

EARNINGS

One man in California earned over $1,600 per month for three months—close to $5,000 in 90 days' time. Another writes from Delaware—"Since I have been operating (just a little less than a month of actual selling) and not the full day at that, because I have been getting organized and had to spend at least half the day in the office; counting what I have sold outright and on trial, I have made just a little in excess of one thousand dollars profit for one month." A man working small city in N. Y. State made $10,805 in 9 months. Texas man nets over $300 in less than a week's time. Space does not permit mentioning here more than these few random cases. However, they are sufficient to indicate that the worthwhile future in this business is coupled with immediate earnings for the right kind of man. One man with us has already made over a thousand sales on which his earnings ran from $5 to $60 per sale and more. A great deal of this business was repeat business. Yet he had never done anything like this before coming with us. That is the kind of opportunity this business offers. The fact that this business has attracted to it such business men as former bankers, executives of businesses—men who demand only the highest type of opportunity and income—gives a fairly good picture of the kind of business this is. Our door is open, however, to the young man looking for the right field in which to make his start and develop his future.

Profits Typical of the Young, Growing Industry

Going into this business is not like selling something offered in every grocery, drug or department store. For instance, when you take a $7.50 order, $5.83 can be your share. On $1,500 worth of business, your share can be $1,167.00. The very least you get as your part of every dollar's worth of business you do is 67 cents—on ten dollars' worth $6.70, on a hundred dollars' worth $67.00—in other words two thirds of every order you get is yours. Not only on the first order—but on repeat orders—and you have the opportunity of earning an even larger percentage.

This Business Has Nothing to Do With
House to House Canvassing

Nor do you have to know anything about high-pressure selling. "Selling" is unnecessary in the ordinary sense of the word. Instead of hammering away at the customer and trying to "force" a sale, you make a dignified, business-like call, leave the installation—whatever size the customer says he will accept—at our risk, let the customer sell himself after the device is in and working. This does away with the need for pressure on the customer—it eliminates the handicap of trying to get the money before the customer has really convinced himself 100%. You simply tell what you offer, showing proof of success in that customer's particular line of business. Then leave the invention without a dollar down. It starts working at once. In a few short days, the installation should actually produce enough cash money to pay for the deal, with profits above the investment coming in at the same time. You then call back, collect your money. Nothing is so convincing as our offer to let results speak for themselves without risk to the customer! While others fail to get even a hearing, our men are making sales running into the hundreds. They have received the attention of the largest firms in the country, and sold to the smallest businesses by the thousands.

No Money Need Be Risked

in trying this business out. You can measure the possibilities and not be out a dollar. If you are looking for a business that is not overcrowded—a business that is just coming into its own—on the upgrade, instead of the downgrade—a business that offers the buyer relief from a burdensome, but unavoidable expense—a business that has a prospect practically in every office, store, or factory into which you can set foot—regardless of size—that is a necessity but does not have any price cutting to contend with as other necessities do—that because you control the sales in exclusive territory is your own business—that pays more on some individual sales than many men make in a week and sometimes in a month's time—if such a business looks as if it is worth investigating, get in touch with us at once for the rights in your territory—don't delay—because the chances are that if you do wait, someone else will have written to us in the meantime—and if it turns out that you were the better man—we'd both be sorry. So for convenience, use the coupon below—but send it right away—or wire if you wish. But do it now. Address
