THE GIRL ON THE COVER

BECAUSE radio listeners continue to follow with unabated interest the lives of serial-drama folk and also because the starring actresses of these programs are among the most beautiful in broadcasting, RADIO GUIDE begins this week a series of serial star covers. First in the series is Nan Grey. Miss Grey is Kathy Marshall, leading lady of "Those We Love," heard over NBC on Thursdays. Just two years ago, when radio executives planning a new serial drama to originate from Hollywood were casting about among Hollywood starlets for a girl who was charming, young, and who also possessed exceptional acting ability, they chanced on seventeen-year-old Nan Grey. A Houston, Texas, girl, Miss Grey had already made several films, including Deanna Durbin's "Three Smart Girls," but had only one radio broadcast to her credit. Nevertheless, she survived an audition which included twenty-three more experienced girls, was chosen for the role of Kathy, twenty-one-year-old daughter of the Marshalls. During two years of radio stardom she has also become increasingly popular on the screen, appeared as the only woman actress of "The Storm" in 1938. Blond with blue eyes, five feet five inches tall, Nan Grey is married to Jack Westrope. She is an enthusiastic turf fan, likes flying and driving. Overindulgence in these latter, however, is effectively checked by a long-term contract with Universal and her starring role in "Those We Love."

Mr. Fairfax will give personal answers to all readers who send self-addressed stamped envelopes. Remember that he must confine himself exclusively to network personalities and programs. Address Arthur Fairfax, RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

Miss Jane King, Peoria, Ill.—MARY HUNTER, more familiarly known as "Marge" of "Easy Aces," was born in Bakersfield, Calif., on December 4, 1910. She attended high school in Hollywood, went to Wellesley for a year, then returned home, determined to work in pictures. "Marge" got a job as script girl at Lasky's, where she obtained excellent experience and guidance from DeMille and Clara Berenger. Later Miss Hunter spent a year at the University of Chicago, then remained in the Windy City, where she did theatrical-promotion work, staged children's pageants and became active in a series of radio features, which brought her to a Chicago station as a studio hostess in charge of broadcasting women's features. In 1932 Miss Hunter began her work with Jane and Goodman Ace—all by accident. Because of a studio mix-up, in which no one was called to audition for the role of Marge, Miss Hunter was obliged to "front" for the casting department . . . and was given the job! Since "Easy Aces" has been broadcast from New York, Miss Hunter has been heard on other network programs also. She was married in 1932 to John F. Sullivan, a lawyer and Manhattan executive secretary for the American Labor Party. Mary is five feet five inches tall, weighs 134 pounds.

MEDAL of MERIT

An Award for Excellence in Broadcasting

AWARDED TO "INFORMATION, PLEASE"

SPARKLING and wholesomely different from anything then heard on the air, "Information, Please" was a hit show from that night in May, 1938, when it made its aerial debut over an NBC network. Watching in the studio that night was Dan Golenpaul, creator and producer.

It was just an idea—an idea that people, even in these bustling days, would enjoy the great things of literature and music if presented in an attractive and understandable manner. His plan was to use a board of experts—men who were scholarly and at the same time intensely human—who would answer, without preliminary examination, questions put to them by the public.

"Information, Please" (NBC, Tues.) has not deviated from that original plan. It was one of the first radio quiz shows, it remains one of the best. This is due partly to the "game" element. But mostly it is due to the high caliber of its experts and their guests. Clifton Fadiman, author and literary editor of the New Yorker, is the alert emcee who keeps the program moving at top speed, while Oscar Levant, musical scholar, John Kieran, sports expert, and Franklin P. Adams, master of general knowledge, give their witty answers.

"Information, Please" has played—and plays—an important part in bringing to the people literature and music in which the essentials of our faith are rooted. It has established a nice balance between scholarship and erudition on the one hand and a whimsical humor on the other. For these reasons, and because its high entertainment value has never been dimmed, we are happy to award RADIO GUILD'S Medal of Merit to "Information, Please."

JOIN NEW YEAR'S EVE BANDWAGON!

On New Year's Eve America takes down its hair and cuts loose with frivolous merrymaking or in other more quiet ways expresses its spirit of jolly welcome of a new year of opportunity. Many prefer to see the old out and the new in calmly at home. But even those often like to have merry music in the late hours and to witness by ear the more clamorous celebration of others. With this in mind the networks traditionally bring to listeners the dance melody and merrymaking from prominent hotel and restaurant spots in the big cities. A special custom observed again this year over Mutual is to have Guy Lombardo's playing of "Auld Lang Syne" usher in the New Year at midnight New York time. Listeners may wish to sing or shake hands or observe similar good-will gestures. For complete information concerning the dancebands to be heard see the Sunday pages of the program section.

The Inside Story of the McCarthy Program Break-Up

When we first received an inkling of the radical upset which the new year has brought in radio's top variety show, "The Chase and Sanborn Hour," we wired our Hollywood wiseman, Evans Plummer, immediately, assigned him to the job of digging up the behind-the-scenes story we knew must be there. Here is Mr. Plummer's answer—and a very interesting answer it is. Every disappointed listener, every McCarthy, Lamour, or Ameche fan should read it by all means.—Editor.

AN ANGRY burble of protest has arisen in the land. When the settled habits of millions of Americans are rudely upset, such a burble is inevitable. When the upset concerns a pet radio show around which those millions plan their Sunday listening throughout the year, the burble is likely to blow up into a blast, but quickly. "Just what," they ask, "do the Chase and Sanborn people mean by tearing our favorite radio program to shreds?"

Well, what do they mean?

Before going into that, here is what the culprits have done. They've thrown out the old "Chase and Sanborn Hour." Come the New Year and January 7, the great multi-starred, hour-long program will emerge from a high-powered streamlining process. It will fit very nicely into thirty minutes. It will have to struggle along without the aid either of Don Ameche or of Dorothy Lamour. It will have said good-by to Nelson Eddy forever. Now, what do they mean?

Briefly, it was a matter of money. Standard Brands, the combine which sells Chase and Sanborn Coffee, had to readjust its advertising budget. The "Chase and Sanborn Hour" got the ax. Which is no adequate answer, however, to the major operation now being performed on radio's most popular broadcast. To explain more fully, then:

It might be wise to first squelch certain rumors which already are flying. Rumor No. 1, that the show had proved itself a failure, is false. Rumor No. 2, that Don Ameche and Nelson Eddy and Dorothy Lamour had fallen into disrepute with the sponsor, is definitely false. Rumors Nos. 3, 4, 5, etc., that any variations of these two tales (as dispensed by have-an-ax-to-grind sources) is the truth, are most definitely false.

Having laid all the fanciful stories in one fell swoop, there remains the money angle to clear up.

The aforementioned Standard Brands sells Fleischmann's Yeast, Royal Gelatin, Tenderleaf Tea and Chase and Sanborn Coffee. It sells dozens of other food products, too, but only these four figure in the radio picture. Only they are "on the air." To advertise gelatin, tea and coffee, Standard Brands paid out $4,000,000 for radio shows in 1938. This is how they doled it out:

Network time for—
"Chase and Sanborn Hour"	$1,000,000
"Rudy Vallee Variety Hour"	1,000,000
"One Man's Family"	500,000
Talent for all three shows	1,500,000
Total	$4,000,000

To depart from the coffee hour are two full-fledged radio and film stars—Don Ameche and Dorothy Lamour. Indications are they won't wait long for new radio contracts

$4,000,000 is big money, but if it had stopped there the grocery moguls would have been well content. Several unforeseen changes, however, cramped their style—in financial parlance, unbalanced their budget.

In the first place, Rudy Vallee, after ten years on the air, was becoming a radio problem-child. Finding his show form more and more difficult to deliver because of the scarcity of comedians and novelty acts—his past performers now had shows of their own—he decided to take a long-needed rest. So Rudy quit radio temporarily. To replace him, the grocerymen introduced two serial dramas, "I Love a Mystery" and "Those We Love." Despite big savings in star salaries, increased expenses in other directions raised rather than lowered expenditures by $340,000.

SECOND, Chase and Sanborn's salary scale was becoming a problem. Increased salaries given to keep the performers happy—an unhappy performer doesn't perform—and to reward successful service had blown up the show's weekly pay-roll to an average of $20,000 weekly, totaling $156,000 more than for the preceding year of 1938.

Add up those petty-cash items and the grocerymen were almost a half-million dollars over their radio advertising budget. They, like all good businessmen, knew that going overboard would ultimately lead to writing more red ink than blue on the ledger sheets. They, like all good businessmen, knew also that paring was in order.

Add to this the cold fact that the coffee hour was consuming sixty-two percent of the budget. Add to this another cold fact—that coffee nets Standard Brands the lowest profit per unit sale of any of their products—and the partial liquidation of Charlie McCarthy's gang was just in the cards.

So the worthy grocerymen put their heads together, consumed aspirin copiously, and called in the stars. Nelson Eddy was first, Don Ameche and Dorothy Lamour came later. The worthies laid their cards on the table in a series of friendly talks.

The show Standard Brands had started out to build in May, 1937, said they, had turned into quite something else. A ventriloquist named Edgar Bergen, who had made seven brilliant appearances on Rudy Vallee's program, had been thrown in the program pot at a bargain starting figure of $1,500 weekly. That was because he had not "arrived" yet. Don Ameche had been doubtfully started at a similar begin-

Comes the revolution in Sunday listening and America wants to know why. Here are the facts hot from the scene of action

BY EVANS PLUMMER

Young baritone Donald Dickson, who had already filled Nelson Eddy's shoes successfully during vacations, stepped into them permanently a few weeks ago. Result: zig salary drop

To remain—as the whole show, the "Charlie McCarthy Show" (NBC, Sun.)—are Edgar Bergen and the dummy which made him famous. Mortimer Snerd may sneak in too ning salary to master-of-ceremonies the show and act in dramatic spots. Dorothy Lamour had been signed very reasonably for about $500 weekly. W. C. Fields, whom the sponsor and the program's producers had thought would dominate the show as 1937's great air comedy find, had been added to star with Nelson Eddy. Fields was to receive $5,000 a broadcast and Eddy, $4,000.

To bolster this mass of talent, an additional sum of $3,000 weekly had been provided for screen-name guest stars (who have cost anywhere from a thousand to five thousand dollars). Total cost of the show as scheduled was therefore to have been $18,800 for talent.

Instead, this happened:

Genial Mr. Fields didn't last through the fall of 1937. He tired of the weekly grind of preparing new material, it is said. But some folks think maybe he didn't like the way a little dummy named McCarthy and his lap, Edgar Bergen, were getting most of the laughs. Listeners were even calling the show the "Charlie McCarthy Hour."

In fact, from that point on the mass of listeners continued calling it that. Not the Nelson Eddy program or the Don Ameche show—but the Charlie McCarthy Hour! At the same time, doubtful Don Ameche was fast developing into radio's No. 1 master of ceremonies. Lamour and her sarong were becoming the talk of male America. Today, the rise of Bergen and Ameche and Lamour would seem to have been inevitable, but at the start it wasn't so evident either to listeners or grocerymen. At any rate, they rose to stardom and were entitled to stars' salaries. They got them.

And as the salaries began to grow top-heavy, the grocerymen couldn't help noticing the obvious preference of listeners for one act of their great variety program. Whatever changes were made—and they became more and more certain of this—the famous wooden dummy would have to remain.

So when Eddy, Lamour and Ameche met their sponsors and looked over the pay-roll late in 1939, they saw something like this:

Bergen-McCarthy	$5,000
Nelson Eddy	6,000
Don Ameche	3,500
Dorothy Lamour	1,500
Guest star (average)	3,000
Drama material	300
Orchestra and leader	3,000
Total	$22,300

Nelson Eddy's contract had originally called for $4,000 weekly with annual increases of $1,000 per broadcast. Mr. Eddy, gentleman and astute businessman that he is, agreed with his sponsor friends that their budget could not stand his scheduled increase; that a new $1,000-a-week vocalist like young Donald Dickson might help cure their financial headache. He withdrew gracefully.

On November 30, Don Ameche was called in. The grocerymen stressed the fact that his work was tops; that he was worth all of his present salary and more. They did not ask him to take a cut. They just felt they couldn't afford that amount now.

IN HOLLYWOOD Don's agent—who does not get ulcers from Don's overwork—told a trade-paper reporter that Don had been asked to take a cut and stay on the show. Standard Brands denies this charge and the denial holds water, because the grocerymen have never been known to chisel or cut artists' salaries. They don't believe in employing unhappy artists.

No, Don understood the problem and agreed that a further rest wouldn't hurt him. He agreed to finish off his contract and await a new radio call later in 1940. Chances are he won't be long waiting. Already plans are under way to feature him as guest star on most of the important Hollywood shows.

Dorothy Lamour received the news the same day that Ameche was told. She also agreed that there was but one solution to the problem.

And so, kind listeners, you have the answer coming in the January 7 edition of the Chase and Sanborn show. It will be the Charlie McCarthy program, with Edgar Bergen, Donald Dickson and a streamlined, smaller orchestra still directed by maestro Robert Armbruster. There is still some doubt about the new guest-star policy, but it is likely that Hollywood glamour girls will continue to flirt with Charlie on Sunday nights.

Savings which will thus accrue to the grocerymen-sponsors are substantial. They believe that they have found the antidote for their headache. They also have the comforting hunch that another coffee program—"Good News of 1940"—is planning to trim its hour show to thirty minutes, leaving a "Baby Snooks Show," perhaps?

And what of those millions of Americans? Whether or not they'll stick to Charlie sans Ameche and Lamour is a question which only time will answer. For the present, however, who first gave the lion's share of the laughs to a certain wooden dummy? Who first called Chase and Sanborn's Sunday broadcast the Charlie McCarthy Hour?

You, the public, did. You pick your own favorites, and those you will continue to get!

The "Chase and Sanborn Hour" may be heard Sunday over an NBC network at:

EST 8:00 p.m. — CST 7:00 p.m.
MST 6:00 p.m. — PST 5:00 p.m.

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

Lowell Thomas misses news broadcast; mike scares radio and show veteran Tony Martin

By Martin Lewis

—Phyte

NEW YORK.—Lowell Thomas missed a broadcast the other Wednesday night for the first time in years, and it was no fault of his. He was scheduled to broadcast from Utica, N. Y., where he was lecturing, and when he went to the studios for the broadcast he learned that through some misunderstanding the lines were not hooked up. Hugh James, regular announcer for the Thomas airings, read the news reports from New York and the control-room engineer read the commercials. After hearing the broadcast in Utica, Thomas wired back, "I might as well resign right now, boys, after that swell job of substitution you've done."

Tony Martin's Mike Fright

Tony Martin gave the producers of his CBS show with Andre Kostelanetz a big scare the other Monday night when he became violently ill a few minutes before the program went on the air. Coming out for his first song, your reporter, who was sitting in the first row, remarked that Martin was so white he looked like a ghost. At first I thought it was just an ordinary case of mike fright, which is very common even with your biggest stars of the ether. When I went backstage after the broadcast I learned of the seriousness of the situation. While the broadcast was on the air, lines that were to have been read by Tony had to be rewritten and were read by announcer Dan Seymour. The few times Tony did speak or sing into the mike, Dan stood in back prepared to catch Martin in case he keeled over. It was an exciting thirty minutes for everyone connected with the program and the listeners were none the wiser. Immediately after the program, Martin was rushed to his hotel. So in radio the old "show must go on" tradition continues.

Charles Stark Takes Busman's Holiday

CBS announcer Charles Stark has to get out of his warm bed at 5:45 in the chilly dawnings Mondays through Saturdays in order to be at the studios at seven for the Phil Cook program. How he does it, I'll never know. Sunday is the one day he has to catch up on lost sleep. Last Sunday morning I was scheduled to report at the CBS studios at 8 ayem B. B. (before breakfast) to be interviewed by Hal Davis on his "In the Spotlight" program, and believe it or not, neighbor Charley got up early on the one day he had to sleep and went to the studio with me. I still think the only reason he did it was to heckle me during the broadcast.

Kilocycle Chatter

CBS is auditioning a quiz show with a very clever and unique twist. The idea is to have three musical experts seated at pianos, one for classical music, another for semi-classics, and the third an authority on popular music. The contestants from the audience will ask one of the experts to play a song, and if they're unable to play it the contestant will get $5. Then the music expert will play a tune, and if the contestant knows the title of it he or she will get an extra five-spot . . . Some New York radio execs are holding a few round-table discussions in regard to hiring Don Ameche as the star of their radio show. The announcement should come forth any day now . . . Orrin Tucker and Bonnie Baker, who undoubtedly like anyone by the name of Johnny, are being discussed for a commercial radio series. Their sudden climb up the ladder of fame since reviving the twenty-year-old tune "Oh, Johnny, Oh!" is the talk of Tin Pan Alley and Radio Row . . . Raymond Paige with a huge orchestra may be another new show added to the schedules the early part of 1940.

After an absence of almost six months, Edward MacHugh, the Gospel Singer, is back on NBC five times weekly . . . Maury Amsterdam, Mabel Todd and Tony Romano have moved their Sunday night broadcasts from California to Radio City. They're worth earing and are good for many laughs . . . "Old Uncle Jonathan," heard over CBS every afternoon, is worth fifteen minutes of anyone's time. There "ain't no two ways about it, the way he conducts his Bottsville radio station is good entertainment" . . . "Mr. District Attorney" fades from the airplanes with the broadcast of January 7, which is too bad . . . Wiley Sholar, football commentator for WBIG, the BIG station in Greensboro, N. C., will umpire the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena New Year's Day . . . "Best Broadcasts of 1938-39," compiled by Max Wylie, CBS director of script and continuity, is in the book-stores now, and he couldn't have made a better selection of broadcasts to put between covers.

Oddities in the Radio News

Freddie Rich, former CBS musical director, and CBS announcers John Reed King and David Ross all work on the Tommy Riggs show, which is heard over NBC . . . In twelve years the NBC sound-effects department has had many devices for mimicking different telephone rings, sound of nickel dropping in coin-telephone boxes and what not. However, they have had nothing to simulate the closing of a telephone-booth door. Last week a listener complained about it, so the sound-effects boys went to work and completed a telephone booth—all for the sake of realism . . . When Phil Spitalny was organizing his all-girl orchestra he couldn't find a tuba-player, and it proved to be quite a serious problem. He finally decided that his trombone-player would have to take tuba lessons, and after a short time she mastered it. Now she doesn't want to play anything else, despite the fact she seems to have a hard time playing and holding up the huge instrument.

A recent "Battle of the Sexes" broadcast featured five sophomores from Yale against five sophomores from Vassar. As soon as the broadcast was over one of the girls let out a loud scream when she discovered one of her diamond earrings (an heirloom) was missing. One of the page-boys, who happened to be a Harvard grad, found it a few minutes later on the floor and looked at the boys from Yale rather suspiciously. Nevertheless, everyone was happy it was found and the boys took the gals out for a good time . . . At Colonel Stoopnagle's Quixie-Doodle program for Miennens (and womens, too), heard over MBS on Friday nights, the Colonel seeks volunteers from the audience to act as contestants on the program. First he calls for some girl in the audience who has eloped, and quite surprisingly a number of hands are raised. He selects one and then calls for a telephone operator, a college student and a married man fond of animals. The reason for the select group is to tie in with the gags in the script, which was very amusing, as it is almost every Friday night.

HOLLYWOOD SHOWDOWN

Two New Year's resolutions false! Greatest array of artists put on benefit show

By Evans Plummer

HOLLYWOOD.—Just by way of opening with a reference to the new year before telling a story that is important enough for a whole column, I might mention that among the many radio resolutions for 1940 are these similar ones: Chatterbox Arlene Harris of the Al Pearce Gang resolves to muzzle her mouth and yours truly resolves to muffle his typewriter—and we're both kidding!

The world's greatest array of stars ever assembled for a radio broadcast enlisted with "Lum and Abner" and donated their high-priced talents December 16 to a seven-hour-long benefit performance which was aired over a single station, KNX, the Columbia key and outlet here. Organized to raise money for the Salvation Army, to date, with checks still arriving every mail, the $20,000-mark already has been passed.

There is no way of estimating the monetary value of the more than a hundred actors, singers, comedians and bandleaders who donated their services and stayed up half the night to do it. Attempting a conservative guess, your reporter cannot see how the program could be duplicated commercially for less than $100,000. Why, there were over a score of headline acts alone! What's more, instead of being paid the stars themselves pledged contributions averaging $100 to the fund.

The Salvation Army gave honorary colonelcies to "Lum and Abner" for their organization of this, the all-time greatest broadcast, and if you had been one of the privileged few members of the audience, here's what you might have seen:

Cantor an Opening Act

Eddie Cantor, who never has opened a show since he left Hester Street, did this night and put his all into singing, with the St. Brendan's Boys Choir. "All I Want for Christmas." For an encore he sang "Oh, Johnny" the way he did twenty years ago when he first introduced the famous song, which had new life blown into it recently by Bonnie Baker and Orrin Tucker.

Al Pearce followed with Bill Wright in an "Eb and Zeb" sketch; Don Reid, Al's tenor find, sang. Lon Chaney, Jr., enacted a highly dramatic excerpt from "Of Mice and Men," and Mary Lou Cook next sang a Hawaiian number to Lud Gluskin's music. Don Wilson came to the microphone and appealed for funds, and Andy Devine began a running gag by demanding to know "Can I sing now?" The latter raised many a contribution during the seven-hour show when listeners pledged various amounts to let or to prevent the gravel-throated Devine from vocalizing.

Billy House offered a comic spot and then went out of character with a serious poem dedicated to the work at hand. Bing Crosby drew heavy applause with his singing of "South of the Border," and Arlene Harris followed with a new telephone chatterbox episode. Burns and Allen next drew laughs with special material and Frank Parker sang "The South American Way."

"Voice" Pledges $100

"The Voice of Experience" spoke a few words of praise for the work of the Salvation Army and then, remarking that an example of action meant more than words, he contributed $100. Mischa

Auer, supported by Elliott Lewis, enacted a powerfully serious role as the Unknown Soldier in heaven. Marie Greene and her Merry Men, of the Pearce Gang, drew long applause when they sang two numbers, and Edward Arnold voiced a plea for help from the listeners.

Andy Devine was once more suppressed from singing, and Jack Benny, Mary Livingstone and "Rochester" appeared in a mirthful episode especially prepared for the benefit. Then came sad news for Devine. Jack L. Warner phoned in a pledge of $1,200 toward the fund to keep Andy from singing!

Barbara and Bob Taylor Appear

Barbara Stanwyck and Bob Taylor came to the mike and won all by just being themselves, and Don Ameche, freshly back from the Canal Zone, sang "Lilacs in the Rain." Benny Rubin, with his "Refugee" tone-poem set to Lud Gluskin's music, drew many a handkerchief which disappeared when "Elmer Blur" and Blanche Stewart took the stage. Dennis Day was never better singing "My Prayer."

Then came the "Blondie" troupe, including Arthur ("Dagwood") Lake, Penny Singleton, and the original "Baby Dumpling," four-year-old Larry Simms. Their "Uncle Tom's Cabin" performance was a riot—but still funnier to the audience was Dumpling's innocent young efforts to shake the microphone loose from its mooring while production men and announcers stood aghast and afraid to say, "Naughty! Mustn't touch!"

Garfield in "Winterset"

John Garfield and Wendy Barrie enacted the morbid love-scene from "Winterset," and the smooth music of Eddie Dunstetter's orchestra followed. Dick Powell and Joan Blondell appeared, and after Joan had done an excellent New York shop-clerk monolog, Dick sang "Blue Orchids." Loretta Young, supported by Elliott Lewis, provided a smart comedy-drama spot, after which Gene Autry sang "Only Love in a Lifetime" to Johnny Marvin's guitar accompaniment.

The Bob Hope cast took over, and after Jerry Colonna's "song," Hope pledged $100 more to keep Andy Devine from warbling. "Texaco Star Theater," minus concert-touring Kenny Baker and Ken Murray, who was ill with the flu, nevertheless drew wild applause with Frances Langford's "Day In, Day Out" to David Broekman's music, an uproarious "Archie" sketch provided by producer Ed Gardner and announcer Jimmy Wallington, and a comic song by Irene Noble Ryan.

Still They Came

Morton Downey's "Oh, Come, All Ye Faithful" was impressive, as was likewise the appeal by author Louis Bromfield which followed. Next, Fibber McGee and Molly, aided by Bill Thompson and Billy Mills, brought laughs galore, and almost topping them was the tongue-twisting monolog which was handed to Tyrone Power to read without rehearsal.

Credit Where Due

Truly, it was a program to be remembered. Never has such a galaxy of talent been placed on the air, and with specially prepared material, too.

Bows should be given also to the hundreds of unnamed musicians who gave their time and skill to the cause—and, of course, to Charles Vanda and Bill Stewart, who handled most of the production; likewise to CBS publicity man Hal Rorke, who helped Lum and Abner organize the show.

CHICAGO.—Predictions for 1940: "Li'l Abner" will be an outstanding hit among the serial sketches. Reasons: 1. It transfers Al Capp's popular cartoon faithfully to the air in continuity and characterization. John Hodiak won the role of Li'l Abner over 170 auditioners because he distinguished between the traditional Southern speech and the dialect of the mountain "kentry" actually required. 2. The sketch is a humorous relief from the weight of woe borne by most serials.

"Breakfast Club" will not only be sponsored by local firms in different localities without (thank goodness!) damaging the present format of the show but it will do such a selling job as will revolutionize the smug little ad-agency kingdom, already groggy from the "Chase and Sanborn Hour" blitzkrieg.

"Club Matinee" will follow in the trail blazed by "B. C." This is based on not the slightest whit of official information. Any resemblance of this prediction to what actually may transpire is purely coincidental—and a lucky scoop.

A group of Chicago radio actors, writers and directors will do well in 1940—according to the good-luck chain-letter which bore many of their names and which came into my hands, and which I faithfully relayed, getting three good breaks the same day.

The young Dinning sisters, who with brother Wade arrived in Chicago a few months ago with thirty cents after a triumphant putsch from Oklahoma in a 1929 jalopy, will breathe hot notes on the backs of the necks of the Andrews sisters.

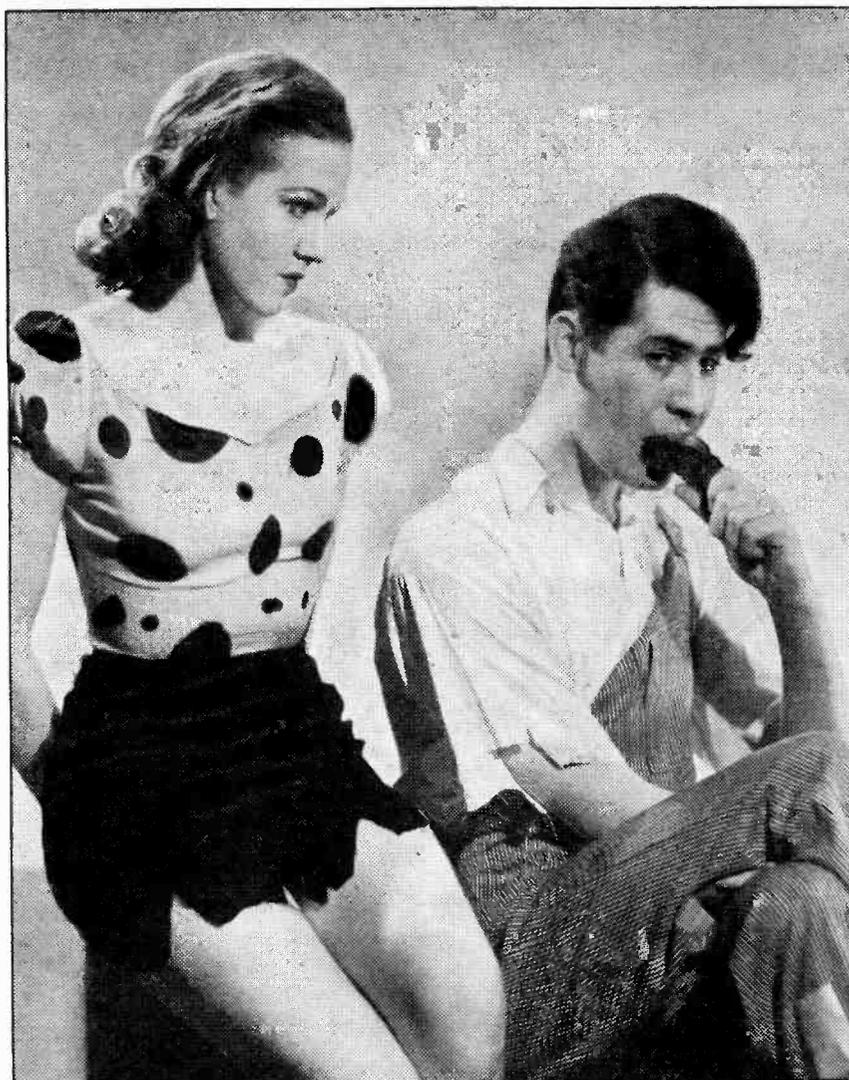

The early morning WBBM-CBS variety show, "Good Morning," with Tommy Bartlett as master of ceremonies, will roll along and gather no moss but great recognition. More big Columbia shows will originate in Chicago studios.

No new daytime serials will be inaugurated. (Excuse me! I got New Year's Day confused with April Fool's Day!)

"Avalon Time" Change

Effective this Wednesday, slap-happy Grandpappy Cliff Arquette, after a couple of guest appearances, will succeed Red Skelton as comedy headliner of "Avalon Time." Simultaneously, Don McNeill will take over the master-of-ceremonies duties. In other respects the format will remain as is. Skelton and Edna Stillwell, his wife and stooge, will step immediately back into the theatrical field, where Red has been a comedy hit for years. I still think if Red can find the exact formula for transforming his pantomimic, burlesquing brand of comedy into radio terms, he'll be a sensation.

A new Wrigley show to replace "Gateway to Hollywood" is in the making, to begin probably this Sunday, probably in the same spot being vacated by "Gateway," and probably originating here. Much auditioning and discussing is being done, but at this writing not a thing has been settled. Tune in and see what you hear . . . You "First Nighter" listeners undoubtedly heard Mary Christmas in person interviewed Friday, December 22. This Mrs. Christmas, of Racine, Wis., carries out the personification of the season spirit with her hobby, the "Mary Christmas Shut-In Club," with members in forty-two states and as far away as Hawaii and South Africa.

Versatile Laurette Fillbrandt and newcomer John Hodiak (above) play the roles of love-sick, fluttery Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner, who prefers po'k chops, in radio version of "Li'l Abner" (NBC, Monday through Friday)

Remote pick-up: Tony Wons, whose poetry-philosophy program will probably go on a network early in 1940, burst a small blood vessel in his throat during his local broadcast over WMAQ on Thursday, December 14. He was able to finish the program, but was ordered to bed for a brief rest by the doctor. Franklyn MacCormack filled the breach during Tony's absence. Tony had read on that program during which the mishap occurred a touching letter from an old lady in the Cook County Infirmary, Oak Forest, Illinois, asking him to send her one Christmas greeting because she was alone in the world and hadn't received a Christmas card or gift for eight years. The letter was reread by MacCormack. If one greeting would have pleased Grandma Mary McDonnell, she must be very happy, indeed, for she was showered with hundreds of messages of good cheer from listeners. If you get a bit weary now and then of the phrase "wonders of radio," it takes only an incident like that to give it a fresh meaning.

On-the-spot pick-up: Don McNeill is mighty proud of Tommy, Donny, and Mrs. McNeill, who appeared on the "Breakfast Club" Saturday, December

16, and well he may be. The Mrs. is charming and the kids—Donny, three and a half, is no bigger than a minute, and redhead Tommy, five, is only fifteen seconds bigger—are both as snappy as a second hand. Sitting one on each of Mama's knees, the lads had all the answers to Daddy's questions without benefit of script, but with a bit of evidence now and then of rehearsal! McNeill had Donny subtracting numbers which somehow always gave the answer three. Donny correctly answered each time, "Free." After the program I asked him what was five minus one. "Free," he answered. To the question, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" one of the boys replied, "On the radio like Daddy, because it's better than working!"

Radio Accompanies Stork

While Mrs. Leonard Radecki of Chicago, under a local anesthetic at Chicago's Henrotin Hospital, listened to a radio program over station WAAF called "Canary Serenade," the sudden cry of a real baby mingled in the delivery-room with the ecstatic warbling of the radio canaries—and seven-pound Joseph Leonard Radecki was hearing but paying no attention to his first radio program, broadcast from 9:15 to 10:00 a.m. CST on December 4. I wonder if this isn't an unusual first—for mother and father, for baby, for doctor, for canaries. All are doing nicely.

"Manhattan Mother" definitely moves to Manhattan this week and will be recast. I wonder if as many listeners will protest as did when "Betty and Bob" upset the story picture in their minds in the same manner . . . Baritone Johnnie Johnston, showing his mother, Mrs. W. L. Robinson of Kansas City, around the NBC studios, seemed justifiably proud that she is former woman's bowling editor of the Kansas City Star, using the name of Johnnie Johnston herself, and is one of the few women to ever bowl a perfect 300. Singer Johnnie is an expert with the pins himself . . . "Dusty Trail," written by Happy Jack Turner and published by "Uncle" Will Rossiter, has the earmarks of a hit ballad.

Les Damon (John Knight in "Girl Alone") has one of the few candid pictures taken of George Bernard Shaw. He snapped the world's satirist number one at the Old Vic theater in London when Shaw attended the rehearsal of his play "Pygmalion," in which Damon was playing . . . After five years of rummaging through antique shops, Joan Kay (Mary Ellen Beckman of "Caroline's Golden Store") has finally found new selections for her valuable music box. The huge disks used in this box are very rare, but Joan found the great-grandson of the inventor and he gave her part of his collection . . . Jeanne Juvelier (Mme. Babette of "Arnold Grimm's Daughter") flew to New York for the funeral of her father, Kalman Juvelier, renowned actor.

Actress Lillian Roth says she may go on the air regularly when her personal-appearance tour is completed . . . Some of the radio leading men are finding relief from dramatic tribulations in the gymnasium. Ed Prentiss (of "Guiding Light"), Bill Bouche (of "Midstream") and Frank Dane (of "Mary Marlin") are among those seen working out.

CLASPED HANDS AT MIDNIGHT

How Amos 'n' Andy
have kept a strange
New Year's ritual
for fourteen years

SPEAKING of New Year's resolutions—and no doubt you will be speaking of them, piously or jokingly, on the morning after December 31—there is Amos 'n' Andy's amazing New Year's story. If you are inclined to pooh-pooh resolutions or if you have never been able to make them work, you should hear their story . . .

Its beginning reaches far back into the lives of Amos, who is Freeman Gosden, and Andy, who is Charlie Correll. The charms of Madame Queen and the connivings of the Kingfish had not then even faintly stirred in either of their imaginations. The blackface radio act which was to bring them wealth and success had yet to be born. Amos 'n' Andy, those two friendly, not-too-intelligent blackamoors, were as yet strangers to the American scene. Frankly, Gosden and Correll are convinced that all of these happy events came to pass largely because of a certain New Year's resolution.

Back in 1925 "Gos" and Charlie had knocked about together for five years. They had met accidentally while coaching amateur theatricals in whistle-stop towns for the same company, and early in the year, when they were called into Chicago headquarters, the two had decided off-the-bat to team up and try for radio.

Things hadn't gone so well during the year. They had sung as a harmony team over a Chicago radio station until October, but without pay. Nobody was paid for radio performances then. Sure, they were meted out generous allotments of chicken a la king at the hotel which operated the station, but for pocket money they had to scratch. Then the Chicago Tribune's pioneering station signed them to a contract as staff artists. The end of the year rolled around with a bang, and on that December 31 Charlie and "Gos" were in the mood to celebrate.

Leaving one New Year's Eve party on the North Side to connect with another on Chicago's South Side, they boarded an I. C. commuters' train. At the stroke of midnight they sat on a side seat, jogging along somewhere between Twelfth and Forty-ninth Streets. Bells rang, whistles tooted. Yells and laughs echoed a volley of gunshots.

"Well," said one of them, "this past year has been good to us; we've finally cracked radio with a paying job."

And either Charlie or "Gos," they can't remember which, shot back:

"Well, we've got one more year to go, and it may be our last one, so let's try to crack 'em wide open this next year."

Although they'd been pals for five years, until now there had only been an easy-come-easy-go fraternalism between them. A change in circumstances might have parted them at any moment. But something in that single statement on the smoky old electric made them suddenly realize how close they really were to each other. It was the beginning of radio's most solid friendship. It was also the beginning of a joint New Year's custom.

"Those same words," says Gosden, usually spokesman for the pair, "have been said by us every year-end at the stroke of twelve o'clock since then. If we were in different cities as we were once or twice during the past fourteen years, we would get together by long-distance telephone and repeat our pledge. When we were in the same city but attending or giving different parties, we would join one another at a predesignated place at midnight to repeat our ritual."

THE years have brought changing scenes and changing situations. Youth has passed into middle age. But with each change their sentimental custom has acquired richer meaning and deeper significance. There was the close of that first year, for example.

They had had the luck to develop a radio serial comic strip for the Tribune. Choosing a pair of colored buffoons for characters, they called it "Sam 'n' Henry." Novel and amusing, "Sam 'n' Henry" caught on with Chicago listeners quickly. The whole year seemed to be a fulfilment of that New Year's pledge. Until the evening of December 31, 1926 . . .

"Sam 'n' Henry" had received an invitation to appear at the New Year's Eve party of Mrs. Samuel Insull. In Chicago that was equivalent to a royal command performance in London, for Samuel Insull, in those days, was czar of a fabulously far-flung public-utilities empire and also reigned as a great patron of the arts. Charlie and "Gos" were flattered. It was to be the first personal appearance of Sam 'n' Henry.

From a concealed loudspeaker they were introduced by Mrs. Insull as "radio's newest find," did a composite episode of the funniest gags they had pulled in ten months of broadcasting. They were in their element. Pyramiding laugh on laugh, they intended to save the biggest till last. Then they would walk into the room where the guests were seated and receive an ovation.

EVERYTHING went according to plan.

They finished and ran into the living-room, where the guests were seated on thirty-five gold chairs. Only to find Tito Schipa, Rosa Raisa and thirty other operatic bigwigs—Mrs. Insull was a great opera patron—none of whom understood ten words of English or even that much of blackface comedy. The only ovation was a battery of raised eyebrows. It was Correll and Gosden's biggest flop.

They walked down Lake Shore Drive, a flat taste in their mouths and with hopes fallen even flatter. Suddenly whistles blew, bells rang, guns fired. Charlie looked "Gos" in the eye and with one thought in mind and heart they chanted in unison:

"Well, we've got one more year to go, and it may be our last one, so let's try to crack 'em wide open this next year."

Three years later, in 1929, they joined station WMAQ in Chicago to introduce—locally and inauspiciously—"Amos 'n' Andy." In August, Pepsodent sponsored them over one of the earlier Coast-to-Coast hook-ups. "Amos 'n' Andy" had already become a Chicago hit and high-powered promotion men set about now to give the show a national build-up of fantastic proportions. It was announced as the coming American radio show. Newspapers differed quite sharply with that thesis in their reviews on the morning after its premiere. One paper carried an eight-column streamer reading "Radio's Greatest Flop Has Arrived." A New York Sun critic devoted three-quarters of a column to her "disappointment over the heralded 'Amos 'n' Andy' broadcast which started last night." Even after the application of large grains of salt to the opinions of anti-radio newsmen, this reception could hardly be construed as enthusiastic. Truth was that listeners hadn't been conditioned yet to radio serials in which the plot continued from day to day. "Amos 'n' Andy" had to sell themselves and a new entertainment idea besides. It was nip and tuck when Pepsodent renewed their contract for 1930.

That New Year's they lived in different apartments in the same building. Both gave their own New Year's parties. At twelve o'clock guests at neither party could find their host. The hosts were down in the lobby saying smilingly to one another:

"Well, we've got one more year to go, and it may be our last one, so let's try to crack 'em wide open this next year."

SO FOR fourteen years they have kept their New Year date. With each passing year, they seem to their fans to have established themselves more solidly as an American institution. Other radio stars tell them jealously, "There's one thing certain, boys, 'Amos 'n' Andy' will last forever."

No person having watched their record of popularity on the air would be so bold as to dispute that dictum. Nobody but Amos and Andy.

For sure as shootin', this December 31, midnight, will find them together—this time in Hollywood. "And it's not a superstition," says spokesman "Gos," "it's just our policy:

"Well, we've got one more year to go, and it may be our last one, so let's try to crack 'em wide open this next year."

—John W. Carlson.

"Amos 'n' Andy" may be heard Monday through Friday over a CBS network at:

Another fine program by pianist Vera Brodsky seems to carry on the CBS new plan of giving proper place to an instrument far too much neglected on the air.

An undeservedly neglected composer, too, is Alexander Scriabin (1872-1915) and Miss Brodsky makes a fine gesture by reviving one of his ten sonatas for piano.

Scriabin visited the United States in 1906, and appeared as a pianist in a number of cities here. Some of us remember him well as a shy little man with much wavy hair, a tiny Vandyke beard and clothes of fashion-plate elegance. He played extremely well and won resounding success. His piano works have abundant melody, spicy harmonization and in general a distinct style of their own.

Rachmaninoff's music remains universally popular and Miss Brodsky has tastefully chosen three of his loveliest prelude to his three-act comic opera (premiered in 1813) based on a comic tale of romantic intrigue. The music has typical Rossinian humor and orchestral sparkle.

Mendelssohn's Italian Symphony (1833) resulted from his visit to Italy in 1831. The music, however, has distinctly Italian flavor only in the last movement, a whirling saltarello (native dance) which seems to have been inspired by a carnival in Rome, described by the composer in one of his letters dated February 8, 1831. Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, who delights in putting texts under well-known symphonic themes, tells us to try this one, singing it to the opening measures of the symphony:

*Italian, Italian is Mendelssohn's name
For a symphony whose melody with

THE ROCHESTER CIVIC ORCHESTRA, NBC. Guy Fraser Harrison, conductor. Rhapsodie on Tunes from the Country of Oc. (Paul Lacombe), The Enchanted Lake (Liadoff), Aubade (Lalo), Overture to "The Bat" (Strauss).

Anatol Liadoff (1855-1914) is best known for his short piano pieces, even though they are strongly reminiscent of Chopin and Liszt. One of his three symphonic poems, "The Enchanted Lake," iridescently orchestrated (Liadoff was a pupil of Rimsky-Korsakoff) describes in sound the picture of a lake which reflects the shadows of the great forest, while nymphs disport themselves in the waters. There is an introductory undulating theme in the muted strings, and that forms the principal material of the composition.

Lalo's amiable "Aubade" (Serenade) was written originally for ten instruments, wind and string.

Not at all familiar, the work by the Frenchman Paul Lacombe, who lived to be ninety (1837-1927), is built on folk-tunes from Oc, old name for part of that section of southern France known as the Midi. He has treated the subject with characteristic devotion and flavor. It seems odd that so little of Lacombe is known in America when one considers that he left about 150 compositions, including three symphonies, much church music and many chamber-music compositions. By the way, do not confuse him with Louis Lacombe (1818-1884), also French, whose output (five operas, etc.) was also important in its day.

A Cry for Reform

By Leonard Lieblich

TWO wishes the new year might grant with benefit to all concerned are improvement in the quality of musical broadcasts by the smaller stations and better transmission when they pick up the programs of the networks.

The "March of Music" is continually in receipt of complaints regarding the foregoing faults, but with all the goodwill in the world this department does not see what it can do to effect reforms. We write condemnatory editorials, and we even write to the offending sources, but beyond promises we seem to get no results. One thing we always advise complainants to do is to mass objection in the form of petitions and protests signed by as many persons as possible to be forwarded to the station and networks whose broadcasts are mediocre in quality or inadequate in transmission.

The massed documents might register too, if sent to the Federal Communications Commission in Washington. That body is granting more and more licenses for new stations and allotting more and more kilowatt power to a number of older ones. That is one reason for the criss-crossing of airwaves and the ensuing interferences with the clear receptivity of broadcasts.

There is, of course, the commercial angle to the question. The smaller stations need sponsors even more badly than the networks and can hardly be blamed for preferring paying programs to those which bring in no revenue.

The editor of "March of Music" has no scientific bent whatsoever and cannot suggest what ought to be done in the way of improving listening conditions for smaller localities (although some larger ones are among the complainants), but it seems only logical to assume that in these days of mechanical and electrical proficiency there should be no insurmountable difficulty in keeping neighboring stations from spoiling one another's broadcasts and in enabling them to give satisfactory hearing to the programs of the networks. The situation cries for immediate remedy, especially as there is a new chain on the air just now, the Transcontinental, which threatens to create more confusion than ever.

Some of the writers who have asked us for help strike a truly tragic note,

—Wide World

Giovanni Martinelli, tenor, sings heroic role of Enzo in "La Gioconda" on the Met broadcast (Sat.)

like the lady in Laramie, Wyoming, who says, "I can get everything good and clear on my radio except the Toscanini concerts."

Others rage against the daytime serials, one recent correspondent asking "whether the average intelligence of women is considered so low by the broadcasters that they furnish us with those piffling and odorous serials instead of with some good music or other dignified and uplifting entertainment?"

Not long ago Myrt of "Myrt and Marge" gave out an enlivening interview in the New York World-Telegram (October 28) wherein she told that when her sketch was shifted from an evening spot to a daytime hour, she and her partner had to change their material altogether, as it was considered too sophisticated for afternoon listeners. (Sophistication, then, seems to be a matter of the clock!)

This department tries to avoid offensive words but cannot refrain from quoting what Myrt said in sincere but humorous conclusion of her interview: "Most of those daytime serials are alike and they are lousy. If they'll let me, I want to try out a new idea I have and write the programs myself for a few weeks."

A new idea when the old ones suit the sponsors and the advertising agencies? That's rank heresy. Revolt! Communism! If Myrt doesn't watch out she'll be sent back to where she came from.

Up and Down the Scale

WILLIAM PRIMROSE, the ace viola-player and leader of that section in the Toscanini-NBC orchestra, soon will be an American citizen and says: "When I receive my final papers I shall have the happiest moment of my life—except when Toscanini chose me as a member of his orchestra." By birth, Primrose is Scotch. He calls the viola "the Cinderella among string instruments," because so little solo music has been written for it. No one has done more than he to help popularize the viola. Just recently he finished recording seventeen viola compositions, for Victor, I believe.

Our national eagle is likely to let out a fortissimo scream if he hears what Edward Johnson told me last week: "Sixty-six percent of the Metropolitan Opera singing personnel is American."

John Barbirolli made a change in his Sunday program, the substitution occurring almost at the last hour—an unusual thing for him to do. However, he felt that at this particular time Nicolai's "Merry Wives" overture is not nearly as appropriate as Sibelius' "Finlandia."

John Charles Thomas announces his intention to give up concert-singing (but not opera) and go into film-acting. He did once make a silent picture in his earlier career, but feels that he has now learned to be a real actor after interpreting some of the great baritone tragic roles on the lyric stage. The story he is to film revolves about a successful man who becomes disgusted with the world and seeks truth and reality in a small town—where he finds life just as ugly. He reforms the natives, brings about two marriages, and then disappears down a road, singing to the stars.

Has anyone ever asked you what is your favorite composition? Mine consists of about 100 works by the masters.

"La Gioconda"

This Week's Opera

Saturday, December 30, The Metropolitan Opera Company will present Amilcare Ponchielli's "La Gioconda" on NBC at 2:00 p.m. EST; 1:00 p.m. CST; 12:00 noon MST; 11:00 a.m. PST.

THE CAST:

La Gioconda . . . Zinka Milanov (soprano)

Laura . . . Bruna Castagna (mezzo-soprano)

Enzo . . . . . Giovanni Martinelli (tenor)

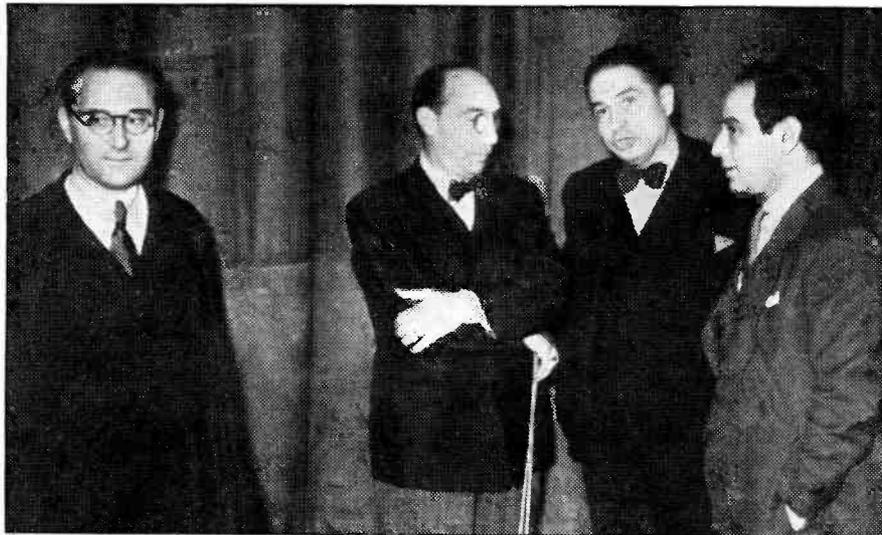

La Cieca . . . (To be announced) (contralto)

Alvise . . . . . (To be announced) (bass)

Conductor: Ettore Panizza

ranges a rendezvous between Laura and Enzo aboard the latter's ship, but treacherously informs Alvise of the meeting. Jealous Gioconda also learns of it and, encountering Laura at the trysting spot, is about to kill her when the intended victim holds up a rosary given her by Gioconda's mother. Before Alvise can board the ship, Enzo sets it on fire.

At his palace, Alvise forces Laura to drink poison, but the repentant Gioconda has replaced it with a sleeping-draught. The gloating Alvise exhibits the "dead" Laura to his guests. Now

Backstage at the Metropolitan, Ettore Panizza (center with glasses), distinguished Italian conductor, discusses details of the opera "La Gioconda" with other officials. Panizza will conduct on the Saturday broadcast, NBC

TOGETHER with Mascagni and his "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo and his "Pagliacci," Amilcare Ponchielli (1834-1886) is what the musical sharps call a "one-opera composer" with his "La Gioconda." All three wrote other operas too, but each man survives in the active repertoire with only a single work.

"La Gioconda," dating from 1876 (premiered at La Scala in Milan), has one of those overstuffed melodramatic plots which exist only in grand opera and chiefly for the purpose of furnishing incidents, scenes and action as pegs on which to superimpose as much effective music as possible.

Venice in the seventeenth century is the background for "La Gioconda." The carnival is on, with the populace masqueraded and roistering in the streets. Barnaba, sinister spy for the Council of Ten, has no mind for pleasure after his rejection by the ballad-singer, Gioconda, who loves the Genoese nobleman, Enzo Grimaldi, although she discovers that he is infatuated with Laura, wife of Alvise, the Inquisitor. Laura, while masked, rescues Gioconda's blind mother, La Cieca, from being killed by a mob incited by Barnaba, who denounces her as a witch.

Under the guise of friendship he ar-comes Enzo's turn and he tries to stab Alvise but is prevented and taken prisoner. To secure the release of Enzo and Laura, Gioconda offers herself to Barnaba, but after the lovers are freed and he comes to claim his reward, the tragic heroine kills herself. That is the story, briefly.

The author of the foregoing concoction called himself Tobia Gorrio. Rearrange the letters in that name and you get Arrigo Boito. He was the composer of the operas "Mefistofele" and "Nerone" but preferred the pseudonym when he wrote librettos. In his later ones, "Otello" and "Falstaff," done for Verdi, he discarded the tawdry "Gioconda" style and showed high literary imagination and skill.

Its music ensures "La Gioconda" a certain lease of life. Of the vocal pieces, the outstanding ones are the duet for tenor and baritone in the first act, and the celebrated second-act tenor aria, "Cielo e Mar" (Heaven and Ocean), in which Enzo apostrophizes the beauty of an Adriatic night and voices his passion for Laura. Then there is the famous ballet (Act III), "Dance of the Hours," its tuneful and spirited score seemingly indestructible as a concert number.

OUR SONGS ARE STEEPED IN MEMORIES

Stories 48,000 listeners told Phil Spitalny about their favorite melodies

BY DICK DORRANCE

IN SOME private corner of every human heart is enshrined a melody.

Not necessarily, you understand, the bright music of a high-stepping band or the intricate patterns of a multipiece symphony. Usually it is a simple melody that had its birth in the essentials of human happiness, spanning the generations because of its sincere simplicity and an association with personal memories that cannot be lost.

That, it seems, is what forty-eight thousand radio listeners think. These are the forty-eight thousand radio listeners who recently sat down and wrote individual letters to Phil Spitalny, maestro of the "Hour of Charm," heard over NBC, when he asked them for the name of their favorite song.

And the outpouring of human emotions as mingled in their words proves that America's best-loved music is not recruited from the brittle octaves of the hit parade nor from the overrich ranges of the opera stage.

America, in its secret heart, loves songs which tell of security and the simplicity of slow-burning love.

More than eighteen percent of those forty-eight thousand letter-writers named the soft and prayerful refrain of

"Ave Maria" as their favorite. Whether by Gounod or Schubert is immaterial. "Ave Maria," in the gentle twilight of memories, meant more to some nine thousand people than any other selection in the vast catalog of our nation's songs.

And, along the same vein, "In the Gloaming" came second on the list, followed closely by such imperishable numbers as "I Love You Truly," "End of a Perfect Day," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." Only two compositions of relatively recent years were included among the first ten—Hoagy Carmichael's haunting "Stardust" and the ever-popular "Night and Day" of Cole Porter.

Phil Spitalny, whose all-girl orchestra is well known to radio audiences, early this year conceived the notion of inviting his listeners to submit the title of their favorite songs. The first flood of mail showed that his suggestion had struck a particularly vibrant chord of national sentiment. And so, for a period of fifteen weeks, the "Hour of Charm" offered a prize of $100 each week for the best letter received.

Those letters, now in the possession of Spitalny's sponsor, afford a poignant glimpse into thousands of lives which, somehow, you might gain in no other way. The reason is simple. Songs live because of associations. When played, they summon up memories. And these people who wrote the myriad letters—in asking for their favorite songs—were unconsciously revealing the happiest, most dramatic and tenderest moments of their lives.

Take, for a simple example, a woman in the Middle West who wrote: "Darling Nelly Gray" is one of the first songs I recall hearing my mother sing. In my childhood days we did not hear music very often and were not familiar with all types of music such as radio brings today. Our mother sang the old familiar songs to us and 'Darling Nelly Gray' was our favorite. I remember sitting on the edge of our porch, five children in a row, listening to Mother sing."

For her, this song went back to the peace of childhood. Others, in similarly deathless melodies, find recollection of young love which today is only a sweet memory never again to be experienced.

"Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet" has given me the greatest happiness because it brings back memories of youth and my first love. In the 'horse and buggy days' my father owned a horse named Bill. He never wanted to go away from home, so when my sweetheart and I would go for a drive I held the reins while George held the whip to keep old Bill going. But coming home we had some ride. 'Old Gray Bonnet' was our favorite melody and we always sang it on these excursions."

Many of our best-loved songs, of course, have made their deepest impression during moments of extreme stress. The Great War and faraway thoughts of home provided many an American soldier and sailor with memories which he can never forget. "Often hungry from the meager rations served, our clothes frozen to us from the spray of the North Sea in sub-zero weather, plunging through the night with all lights extinguished and in waters so dangerous that we never knew if we would reach our destination—that was the lot of many American sailors during the World War. Still, my thoughts were always of home, not of death. Would the folks back in the States 'Keep the Home Fires Burning'?"

Many of those thoughts of two decades ago still linger on in twisted bodies and tortured minds which have nothing left but their memories. A veteran writes:

"ALL lights except those on the emergency exits are out. A nurse, flashlight in hand, tiptoes softly down the corridors. She enters the ward where we former doughboys are patients in a veterans' hospital, still being treated for disabilities incurred more than twenty years ago 'over there.' A kindly 'good-night,' a caress on the forehead of a tossing, fever-stricken patient, and she is on her way. Thus that sweet song of World War days, 'The Rose of No Man's Land,' is my favorite. That work of the Master Hand still carries on with the indomitable spirit of Clara Barton."

The scope and feeling behind these many letters is as vast as it is intense. One old-timer, his long life behind him, sent this message to the "Hour of Charm":

"'Oh, Susannah' brings back childhood memories so vividly that I instantly chose it as my favorite song. When I was small we 'crossed the prairies' in covered wagons. At night the young folks would gather around the campfire and sing 'Oh, Susannah.' It was the favorite song. They ended it with 'I'm just from California with a banjo on my knee.' I'd often hear the cowboys singing or whistling this same song until it made an indelible impression. Even now, at seventy-four, I get a thrill whenever I hear it sung or played over the radio."

"I am a refugee from Germany," writes still another, "having come to this country not long ago. When I heard for the first time 'The Star Spangled Banner' and saw Americans listen proudly and joyously but without coercion or pressure, tears came into my eyes! I felt free again. Since then 'The Star Spangled Banner' is to me the symbol of everything good in the world, of justice and freedom, the highest goods of mankind."

There are, in these letters, evidence of human courage and struggle far greater than that demanded by the problems of an average life. From the far West came this short but significant note:

"In 1934, to the tune of 'The Champagne Waltz,' my brother and I danced our way to the waltz championship of the University of Denver. This song is dear to me not because we won the contest but because it brought to my brother, who is totally deaf, the realization that in spite of his handicap he could compete with hearing people and win with the best of them. So to me 'The Champagne Waltz' is a symbol of a stepping-stone in my brother's life, the crossing of which I made a little easier."

The result of this poll, over the months that he has conducted it, tends only to convince Spitalny that average radio listeners, far from wanting just rug-cutting and hot licks, long for simple and tuneful melodies.

AND it is interesting to note that among compositions which ranked in the first ten, the fairly contemporary "Stardust" has those same properties of indelible association with events listeners never want to forget. It differs from other favorites because it is not basically simple. "Stardust" is a melody replete with chromatics and calls for a vocal range beyond that of the average singer. Yet it captured third place in Spitalny's list.

Phil's innovation of an all-girl band—thirty-two in number—marks the only experiment of its type in big-time radio. The young ladies range in age from seventeen to thirty, and as part of their contract pledge not to marry while members of the unit. They have a versatility that is the equal of any all-male orchestra, playing everything from popular tunes to the slower measures of old favorites with equal facility.

But it seems to be the old favorites rather than the constant reiteration of bright new tunes which win greatest acclaim from the unseen millions who sit at home by their loudspeakers. Those forty-eight thousand letters prove it. Give us, they say, our songs that are steeped in memories, mellow with the richest things in our lives.

America is a busy nation. It bustles—but still has time for priceless moments of recollection. So long as there are memories, there will be songs. And so long as there are songs—there will yet be memories.

Phil Spitalny may be heard Sunday on "Hour of Charm" over an NBC network at:

With the object of bringing to light a great, new American semi-classical number for voice, the National Song Search issues this week a last call for entries in the Semi-Classical Contest. This competition, which offers the same prizes and additional rewards (see rules) as Pop-Song winners received, is the opportunity of a lifetime for writers of fine music. Have you written or can you write such a song as "Trees" or "Indian Love Call" or "Sylvia"? Mail all entries before midnight of Sat., Jan. 6, 1940.

Read These Rules Carefully

1. Contestants must live in the United States or Canada. Anyone may enter the National Song Search with the exception of employees or members of the families of employees of Radio Guide or the Davis-Schwegler Company.

2. Entries must be addressed as follows: National Song Search Headquarters, Radio Guide, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill. No manuscripts will be returned unless accompanied by self-addressed stamped envelopes.

3. An entry must be written in ink (not pencil) on regularly ruled music copying paper. It may be a full piano arrangement or a simple melody. Words will not be considered in judging.

If Your Heart's In Your Work

A former matinee idol now
in radio speaks to youth

By Francis X. Bushman

SHE was a gray and wrinkled little old lady, bowed with age, and she stopped and stared at me in the corridor of the Columbia Broadcasting System studios in Chicago.

"Aren't you Francis X. Bushman?" she asked at last.

When I nodded her face lighted up. "Why, I remember you when I was a little-bitsie girl. We used to skip school to go see your pictures."

I was virtually accused of being aged and decrepit. I wasn't that old, I knew. As a matter of fact, I felt very young at the moment. My new radio contract had just been signed and—that was several years ago—I was starting out to help pioneer another entertainment medium. Already I had done my share of pioneering on the early American stage and in the movies, watching the latter grow from its crawling period to full man's estate. And yet I didn't feel old, and this was largely because there was still work to do, a challenge that had been thrown down and which I was now picking up.

But oddly enough it wasn't the implication that I was old that impressed me in this lady's remarks. It was the grand compliment that she had paid me. Many, many years after my face and my voice had ceased to be public property, she remembered me and her face lighted up with the remembrance. She was seeing me not as Francis X. Bushman, a man standing in a corridor, but as the hero of countless screen adventures she had shared with me in her younger years. And that, friends, is a thrill. More than a thrill, it is the very measure of success. Once, when I was much younger and the world laid its adoration at my feet (and some of you may be old enough to remember that once the world did just that), I measured my success in the crowds I could attract. I used to thrill to the knowledge that in Chicago merchants sent their goods to my rooms rather than permit me to enter their stores, because when I did go into their stores shopgirls left their counters to gaze at the man they had seen so often on the screen. I used to thrill at the large farm—Bush Manor—I kept in Maryland with its stock of animals from all over the world.

TODAY, with a wisdom tempered by time, I measure my success in the number of hearts where Francis X. Bushman still lives. That is the only real measure of success an actor can have—the number of hearts in which he still lives because of his performance. A writer, a painter may take out their books and their portraits and look at them as often as they wish, but an actor's work lives—or perishes—in the hearts of his audience.

Hardly a day passes without some ambitious youngster, striving for a foothold in radio or the theater, coming to me and wanting advice. "How can I get my chance?" they ask. And I tell them, "I wouldn't worry so much about getting a chance. Today there is a systematic search for talent. I know of few radio stations that do not hold regular audition periods for new talent, and getting yourself heard by producers isn't the big problem it once was. I'd worry more about myself. I'd want to be sure that when my turn did come to audition that I was ready for it; that I'd do such a slambang job of the lines they gave me that they'd have to hire me."

And that brings us right back to that measurement of an actor's success. Various producers may call it by other names, but there is only one real measuring-rod used in sizing up an actor or an actress. Can he, or she, turn in a performance that will make listeners feel that they are living the role with the actor? Do they touch the heart, strike a deep responding chord that can lift the listener out of his ordinary life and for a short while carry him along on whatever adventure the playwright has written? And there is no formula I or anyone else can give that will help you.

It's simply a matter of putting your heart into the role!

You must be able to forget, for the moment, everything else. Forget that you're Jane Jones or Dick Brown, of Iowa, and remember only that you are Romeo or Juliet or Cyrano or Lightning Jim, or whatever role you happen to be playing. You must live your part so completely that your own heart and soul is lost in the heart and soul of your stage being. There are different techniques, just as each of us has a different interpretation of the same character, and I have seen Hamlet played in so many different ways that it would be hard to recognize him as the same character. Technique is something that others may help you with. But putting your heart into a part to make it come gloriously alive for listeners—that is something only you can do. If you find that you cannot do this, then the theater or radio is no place for you.

I recently talked with a young college graduate who had majored in dramatics at a large university. Well educated, talented, he wanted to know what he could do to get a foothold in radio, and I told him just what I've said above. "But I've been trying to get a chance for three months now, and I'm still walking the pavements. Sure, I've had auditions, but nothing happens."

WELL, the turnover in radio is slow.

If you've done well on your audition, it still may be months and months before you'll get a call for work. But if you think that's any different from other lines of business today, you should know some of the young people I know—accountants, newspapermen, mechanics. They're all waiting for calls to work. But while they're waiting, the chances are they're studying and preparing themselves to go ahead by leaps and bounds once they do get the happy word to come to work. There is no reason why actors and actresses shouldn't do the same.

There are plenty of small stations scattered throughout the country that would welcome the talent of the dramatic student I just mentioned. He would be of invaluable aid to the station, and the station would be of a similar—or greater—value to him. There he wouldn't receive the grand salary he might receive as a star on a network program, but he'd be able to experiment with radio technique, learn to use the microphone properly, get a variety of experience he'd never be able to acquire in a large station or with a network. Also, he'd stand a better chance of being heard advantageously by radio executives who are important if he is actually broadcasting than if he stayed at home and nursed a feeling that he was being discriminated against or that his chances for success were nil.

AFTER all, if you're sold on radio—

if your heart is in it—nothing can really stop you. There may be hardships at first, but today there are hardships in every line of endeavor, and if you have no stomach for struggle and despair, you're a lost soul to begin with. But if you know a deep and driving urge to succeed in the face of all obstacles, an urge that starts in the bloodstream of your heart and spreads out to your every fingertip, forget about "getting that big break" and take all of the little "breaks" that come your way. In the end, you'll find that a lot of little breaks will add up to one big break anyway, and, instead of being lost when that big opportunity comes your way, you'll find that the experience you've been gaining will make you right at home in it. This isn't just true of radio. It's true of everything and every field in life.

Don't let either time or circumstances put out the spark in your heart, if you're really sure you belong in radio. After all, the little old lady thought I was ancient, and I broke into broadcasting! I came in the hard way, for aren't they inclined to quickly label as has-beens these days even those veterans who have formerly commanded universal recognition? If I am at all successful in radio acting, it is because I accept it as another job to be done with all the vigor I possess—a job I can throw my whole self into, as I once threw myself into the things the little old lady recalled.

Put your heart into the job you're doing and nothing can stop you!

On Short Waves

Edited by Charles A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Programs from foreign countries subject to change without notice

LET'S LISTEN TO GUATEMALA

THE National Broadcasting Station of Guatemala consists of three short-wave transmitters, namely, TGWA (15.17 and 9.685), power 10,000 watts; TGWB (6.415), power 1,000 watts; TGWC (2.32), power 1,000 watts, and one broadcast transmitter, TGW, power 5,000 watts, which operates on 1520 kilocycles. TGWA is, in the opinion of this writer, the most outstanding Latin short-wave station on the air—not only because it is received with tremendous signal strength and clarity but also because its programs are of an unusually high caliber.

TGWA, "The Voice of Guatemala," operates as follows: On 15.17 megs, in the 19-meter band, weekdays from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. PST and on Sundays from 9:45 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. PST; on 9.685 megs, at the high-frequency side of the 31-meter band (just above Paris), week-nights from approximately 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. PST, and on Sunday nights from 4:00 to 9:00 p.m. PST. All broadcasts are directed to North America (beam centered on Chicago), with the exception of Sundays from 12:30 to 2:15 p.m. PST, and Wednesday, Friday and Sunday nights.

TGWA does not employ an identifying signal, but since the majority of its programs consist of marimba music and all announcements are in English as well as Spanish, it is not hard to locate on the dial. The musical theme for the station is "El Ranchito," a marimba selection. In addition to its many delightful marimba concerts (featuring some of the world's finest players), a complete opera is broadcast on Wednesdays at 7:15 p.m. PST; a Spanish play similar in style to the Lux presentation on Fridays at 7:00 p.m. PST, and a fine symphony concert called the "Exquisite Hour" on Sundays at 7:00 p.m. PST.

Reception reports are welcome at TGWA, and these should be addressed to TGWA, the National Broadcasting Station of Guatemala, Guatemala City, Guatemala.

FROM THE EUROPEAN ARENA: A program from Sweden is now being directed to North America nightly from 5 to 6 p.m. PST over stations SBU (9.535) and SBP (11.705). The identifying signal, which is repeated over and over, consists of twelve piano notes. The program opens with carillon bells, followed by the opening announcements in English and Swedish and the reading of the news bulletin in English. . . . England and Germany may now be heard on their midwinter 49-meter band frequencies. GSL (6.11), London, has replaced GSD (11.75), in transmissions five and six directed to North America, daily from 3:22 to 6:15 and from 6:37 to 9:30 p.m. PST. DJC (6.02), Berlin, is now in use nightly from 6 to 10 p.m. PST. The best evening frequencies for London and Berlin at the time of writing are still GSC (9.58) and DXB (9.61) respectively.

THE NEWS IN GENERAL: VLW (6.13), the new Australian government station at Perth, West Australia, is conducting initial tests and may be heard in the East from 2:30 to approximately 4 a.m. PST. . . . The mystery Montevideo, Uruguay, station on 11.825 megs has been identified as CXA14. It relays the programs of broadcast station LR6 of Buenos Aires and is being heard from as early as 2 to as late as 6:20 p.m. PST. . . . John Larsen of Geneva, New York, writes that HH3W (9.78) of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, has a new sister station operating on 6.345 megs. Both stations are on the air week-nights from 4 to 6 p.m. PST and on Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m. PST. . . . PSK (8.20), a new station at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, operates simultaneously with PSH (10.22), week-nights from 2:55 to 4 p.m. PST. On Mondays, from 5 to 5:30 p.m. PST, a special program is broadcast for North American listeners. . . . The announcer of a mysterious new station, heard on a frequency of 9.68 megs from 4 to 4:30 a.m. PST, by Desmond Callan of Readville, Mass., made what was believed to be the following announcement at 4:15 a.m. PST: "La Vos da Teherana, Ay-Koo-Say" (EQC). It is possible that this was the new 20,000-watt station at Teheran, Iran (formerly Persia), which was scheduled to take the air next May but may have been rushed to completion due to present unsettled situation in East.

Bull Session, CBS.

Striking at the very roots of this broadcast—the unique American privilege of argumentative investigation—a mixed group of university students from Northwestern, Chicago, Wisconsin and Iowa consider "The Place of Discussion in a Democracy." On this potentially dynamic subject an alert, informed "Bull Session" group should make this a lively half-hour.

Art for Your Sake, NBC.

In this week's discussion of American artist Mary Cassatt, living-room art-lovers will hear, in many cases for the first time, the term "impressionism" used. This theory, described as a late nineteenth-century French mode of painting, involves the problem of light and its refraction, the result of which in practise presents forms without modeling, shadows in color, and achieves the effect of distance by color value. Rated one of the world's greatest woman painters, Mary Cassatt, though American-born, spent most of her life in France. Her work, greatly influenced by impressionists Renoir, Manet, Courbet and Degas, exhibited notable qualities of simplicity, originality of design and firmness of delineation. On her favorite subject, motherhood, artist Cassatt created a number of superb works, "The Young Mother," which will be described at length in this broadcast, being one of her best known.

LISTENING TO LEARN

"If radio can stimulate a person to look further into things, or if it can provoke a man to think—then it's an education, and you have a college in your living-room."

The Reviewing Stand, MBS.

"Comes 1949"—a prediction of probable economic and political developments in the United States during the next ten years—will complete the pattern started on last Sunday's broadcast when Professor Earl H. DeLong and Chicago Times editor Richard J. Finnegan interpreted the economic and political trends of the last ten years. A. R. Hatton, of the department of political science at Northwestern, and a guest speaker will participate.

*Headlines of 1939, NBC.

Hitler Wants Poland! German-Russian Pact! Britain Declares War! Finns Oppose Soviets! You've seen these headlines in 1939, you've read the newspaper accounts. Now you'll have a chance to hear them recreated when NBC presents a dramatic cavalcade of the year's most important news developments as selected by editors of Associated Press. The last twelve months have been the busiest in more than twenty years for newspapermen, which may be taken as a tip that "Headlines of 1939" will probably be the most exciting news cavalcade since this practise was started in 1934.

The program will be novel in its use of recordings made at the time of actual broadcasts. In addition to outstanding news announcements, on-the-scene descriptions and first-hand accounts of significant events of the year, the broadcast will also include recorded excerpts from important speeches made by world leaders during 1939—among them Franklin D. Roosevelt, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Pope Pius XII, Mussolini, Hitler, President Daladier, King George VI and Lindbergh.

†Cavalcade of America, NBC.

This broadcast marks the return of a series whose previous performances rank extremely high in educational merit as well as entertainment value. And although the series is of particular interest to lovers of history, in past performances the choice of stories, excellent scripts and superb dramatization gave the programs an appeal for all of us. The series opens with the tale of Amerigo Vespucci, the adventurer who gave his name to a great continent and thereby started a historical controversy that has raged through the years.

Person-to-Person . . .

● When Larry Roller visited Chicago recently he gave an interesting account of the radio workshop he's directing in Cleveland for the American Automobile Association. Comprised entirely of students from Cleveland and near-by high schools, the workshop produces a number of different types of radio programs every year. Although all these productions are not put on the air, one series, titled "Trail Blazers of 1940," is broadcast every Wednesday night over twenty-two stations of the Mutual network. This program is Larry's pride and joy—and something to be proud of if all the programs measure up to one I heard played via transcription.

● On Tuesday, January 2, "Cavalcade of America" returns to the air after an absence of several months. It's sponsored, but don't let that turn you away if you are seeking dividends from radio in addition to entertainment. Speaking of this series at a recent meeting of NBC educational directors in Chicago, Dr. James Rowland Angell, former Yale prexy and now NBC's educational counsellor, made this statement: "We are particularly impressed by the increasing disposition of the great industrial and business interests that make use of radio to render a genuine public service by incorporating into their programs material of distinct educational value. We welcome this trend not only because of its intrinsic significance but also because it will help to break down the common impression that all educational material must be dull and that only the bespectacled recluse should be concerned with it."

The series gains added authority with the addition of three distinguished historians to the "Cavalcade" staff: Marquis James, twice winner of the Pulitzer Prize; Carl Carmer, noted author, editor and professor; and Dr. Frank Monaghan, professor of history at Yale and a fellow at Calhoun College—men to add the touch of familiarity to stories of America's past.

Voice of the Listener

$1.00 will be paid to the writer of every letter used in this department. Express your opinions, write V. O. L., 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

Efficiency Plus

Dear V. O. L.: Here is a simple method of making the complete radio programs contained in RADIO GUIDE more quickly accessible to fans. This is my plan. I first turn to the first page of the program section. At the top of this page is listed the log of stations. The first day's programs also start on this page. I tear off a half-inch of the top and bottom corners of the preceding pages, being careful not to tear off the page numbers. For the entire week the station log may thereafter be referred to instantly.

Each day of the week I tear off the lower corner of the pages giving the previous day's programs. Thereafter the current program can be turned to instantly and without thumbing through all the pages. I've been using this scheme for years and find it most convenient. Other RADIO GUIDE readers may also find it so.

J. R. Thomas, Indianapolis, Ind.

• We are sure they will. And we are pleased that so many of our readers find such novel methods to systematize their listening.—V. O. L.

Courtesy—But Expensive

Dear V. O. L.: There are a lot of programs on the air that use up about one-half of their time practically begging you to write in a joke, a question, a biography, and so on. That's all right, but can't those shows have the common courtesy to acknowledge an entry when submitted? Whether an entry wins or not, the one who submitted it should be notified that it was received and considered. If a program can't make provision for answering its mail, it should not undertake the task of commanding listeners' attention.

Ruth LaVecchia, Rutland, Vt.

• Acknowledgments of all entries submitted would of course be a fine gesture, but, in defense of the sponsors of such shows, we believe it only fair to point out the tremendous volume of such mail. We know one of these programs that receives as many as 40,000 such entries in a week. Answers to all those would mean some $1,200 a week in postage alone—no chicken feed for any sponsor.—V. O. L.

REHEARSAL

MOST INFORMAL, because there are so many of them, are serial-drama rehearsals. So informal that the pretty shrew of “Scattergood Baines” (CBS, Monday through Friday); Catherine McCune (right), may remove shoes for comfort and good luck as she does a scene with Francis Trout

FOOTBALL'S

↑ SMEARED is the word your football announcer uses to describe a scene like that above where several opponents gang up on the ball-carrier, tangling with him and preventing any yardage gain

← THE STRAIGHT ARM indicates a play such as is pictured here, where the halfback carrying the ball is about to be tackled. He pushes the opposing quarterback with stiff, outstretched arm to hold off tackler

← HIT HARD, high and low is your announcer's description as the ball-carrier is tackled as at left. One opponent has him by the knees, the other tackles higher, near his shoulders, in a typical gridiron play

FAREWELL

ON NEW YEAR'S DAY, the outstanding gridiron champions of America will gird themselves for the last heroic battles of the season. Millions of listeners will be tuned to the games they play—to the Orange Bowl game at Miami (CBS), to the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans (NBC), to the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas (TBS) and the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena (NBC, MBS, TBS). To make listeners' enjoyment of the games more graphic, Radio Guide presents here a pictorial lesson in football plays.

Perhaps of most interest to listeners because of its relation to the world-famous Tournament of Roses, is the Rose Bowl game (see picture). Since 1890, amateur sports, flowers and athletics have been featured on New Year's Day in Pasadena. Years have passed and the Tournament of Roses has become a great institution. The prodigal parade (MBS) this New Year's morning, led by joint marshals Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, and the football classic in the afternoon are radio's great New Year's attractions.

Photographs by Acme, Wide World, International

← HERE IS an air view of the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, where on New Year's Day the undefeated eastern team of the University of Tennessee meets University of Southern California of the far West

→ INTERCEPTED PASS, common knowledge to all football fans, is the play shown here. Fast southern teams, which play a passing game, utilize this exciting technique for quick ground-gaining moves

→ QUICK KICK, in which the player waits to kick until the last possible moment, is shown here. In order to allow his own team to get far up-field he waits until opponents are nearly on him before kicking

HOLE IN THE LINE is the professional as well as the radio term for this thrilling opening and chance for a good gain. Spotting an unguarded point in the line, ball-carrier breaks through You're wrong, Mrs. J., and we offer this pictorial proof that Nikki and Ellery are as attractive in real life as they are on the air. Leaving the skiff for Mark Warnow's yawl are, left to right, Ellery Queen, radio's supersleuth, in real life, Hugh Marlowe; George Zachary, producer and director; Nikki Porter (Marion Shockley); Warnow is on deck.—ED.

YOU ASKED FOR THEM AND HERE THEY ARE

Radio Guide will pay one dollar for any letter from a reader which the editors accept and print on this page. Address Pictorial Editor, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

This might be some polished scene from an adventure of radio's gentleman detective, Ellery Queen, for both Ellery and Nikki seemed to be in character as this photograph was taken. But it isn't. Good pals in life, as well as on the air, they were photographed while enjoying an outing on Mark Warnow's yacht. "Adventures of Ellery Queen" is heard Sunday night, CBS, 10 EST; 7 CST; 6 MST; 5 PST.—ED.

Dear Radio Guide:
Ellery Queen has become to radio fans the peer of all sleuths. But in real life, could anyone be as attractive as he and Nikki prove themselves on the air? Why doesn't Radio Guide turn Ellery, the real Nikki for its many radio fan readers?
Mrs. J., Boston.

—Walter Seigal

In the script, Ellery is a mystery-story writer who tries his hand at solving crimes, Nikki is his secretary and confidante. In real life, Ellery (Hugh Marlowe) was born in Philadelphia, educated in Chicago and Madison, Wis., spent four years with the Pasadena (Calif.) Playhouse before coming to radio as an announcer at Davenport, Iowa. Nikki (Marion Shockley) was born in Kansas City, started her career in films, went to New York stage, thence to radio.—ED.

—Wide World

Dear RADIO GUIDE: Why don't we see more of Evelyn Lynne in RADIO GUIDE? — Susan Prior, Lantz, Md.

Evelyn Lynne, soloist on "Club Matinee" and "Breakfast Club" (NBC), is one of radio's promising young stars. Note hat made entirely of Xmas-tree decorations for the holiday.—ED.

Dear RADIO GUIDE: Who is Doc Barclay in real life; how does he look?—J. B., Dumas, Texas.

Doc Barclay of "Doc Barclay's Daughters" (CBS, Mon. through Fri.) is Bennett Kilpack, veteran character actor of radio and N. Y. stage.—ED.

Dear RADIO GUIDE: If Brenda and Cobina look like they sound, why not a picture?—Jane Coul, Athens, Georgia.

Brenda and Cobina (really Blanche Stewart, left, and Elvia Allman), show-stopping comics with Bob Hope (NBC, Tues.), live up to all expectations (above)—we hope!—ED.

OF THE AIR"

THE completeness with which radio serves the every want and need of its public was never better demonstrated than in radio's "Church of the Air" (CBS, Sundays, 10 a.m. EST; 9 CST; 8 MST; 7 PST; and 1 p.m. EST; 12 noon CST; 11 a.m. MST; 10 PST—two entirely different services are held each Sunday). Planned to conform as closely as possible to actual church services, the purposes and aims of this program are much wider in scope. It is broadcast with a view to bringing to every American home—and to millions of shut-ins in American hospitals and institutions—the most distinguished religious leaders of all denominations and faiths in America; to bring to its listeners everywhere the outstanding religious thought of America and of the world. To this end, programs are presented not by any one faith or any one minister but by leading clergymen of all faiths and from all parts of the country. In the best tradition of American freedom of religion, Catholics, Jews, Protestants, Christian Scientists, Mormons, Dutch Reformists stand before the same microphone on successive Sundays and give their messages to the same far-flung congregation—perhaps the largest congregation in the world. Magnificent in its scope and aims, Columbia's "Church of the Air" (see detailed program schedule at left) has become a looked-for Sunday program throughout America.

HATS BY HEDDA

CHARMING Hedda Hopper is famous in Hollywood for several reasons, but for two in particular. First, she is one of the film colony's most well-liked gossipers in newspapers and on the air (CBS, Mon., Wed., Fri.). Second, she is a hat fan with a startling collection numbering in the hundreds. Seen in a chic turban above, she demonstrates here how to wear the latest creations and how not to wear them.

USING ONE of her newer models, at right, Miss Hopper illustrates the slap-bang method of pulling on hat without regard to coiffure or appearance. Do it that way, says Miss Hopper and the effect is likely to be as she appears in the photograph above

—Gene Lester
PROPER WAY to put on most of the new creations is from the front, as Miss Hopper has done above. She picks up some hats in bargain basements, others in fine shops. This one, favorite, is a Lily Dache model

Radio Guide Welcomes a New Network

To the Radio Guide program pages will come the strange initials TBS, which will not only stand for Transcontinental Broadcasting System but also for some grand programs. This new network is to be inaugurated January 1, 1940. The log on the Saturday page indicates those stations which will broadcast TBS programs. However, as we go to press the program schedule of this new network is not available. Therefore, the schedules of TBS stations will be extremely inaccurate this week through no fault of ours. We beg your indulgence until next week, when we hope to be able to give you a complete and accurate schedule of TBS programs. The story of this new network will be told in an early issue.

COMING UP!

STARK naked realism is the temper of a brutal but shockingly true story of war which you may read in next week's RADIO GUIDE. It concerns a book called "Johnny Got His Gun," written by Dalton Trumbo after he had visited a veterans' hospital. From that visit emerged the tale of Joe Bonham—a simple American boy who had come back from "over there" with mouth, nose, ears, arms, legs shot away. RADIO GUIDE will give you some of the most revolting and some of the most poignant scenes from "Johnny Got His Gun" because an important radio dramatic show will feature the story next week starring screen-star Jimmy Cagney as Joe Bonham. The story and the broadcast should be "must" reading and listening for every American.

Other exciting presentations of next week's issue will be exclusive pictures of Horace Heidt's "Pot o' Gold" show, a picture-story of Jimmie Fidler which turns his "Little Black Book" technique on his own life, and a brand-new 1940 Log of American stations.

I WILL TRAIN YOU AT HOME in Spare Time FOR A GOOD RADIO JOB

Radio is a young, growing field with a future. It offers you many good pay spare time and full-time job opportunities. And you don't have to give up your present job, go away from home, or spend a lot of money to become a Radio Technician. I train you right at home in your spare time.

Jobs Like These Go to Men Who Know Radio

Radio broadcasting stations employ engineers, operators, technicians and pay well for trained men. Radio manufacturers employ testers, inspectors, foremen, servicemen in good pay jobs with opportunities for advancement. Radio jobbers and dealers employ installation and service men. Many Radio Technicians open their own Radio sales and repair businesses and make $30, $40, $50 a week. Others hold their regular jobs and make $5 to $10 a week fixing Radios in spare time. Automobile, police, aviation, commercial Radio; loudspeaker systems, electronic devices, are newer fields offering good opportunities to qualified men. And my course includes Television, which promises to open many good jobs soon.

Why Many Radio Technicians Make $30, $40, $50 a Week

Radio is already one of the country's large industries even though it is still young and growing. The arrival of Television, the use of Radio principles in industry, are but a few of many recent Radio developments. More than 28,000,000 homes have one or more Radios. There are more Radios than telephones. Every year millions of Radios get out of date and are replaced. Millions more need new tubes; repairs, etc. Over 5,000,000 auto Radios are in use and thousands more are being sold every day. In every branch Radio is offering more opportunities—opportunities for which I give you the required knowledge of Radio at home in your spare time. Yes, the few hundred $30, $40, $50 a week jobs of 20 years ago have grown to thousands.

Many Make $5 to $10 a Week Extra in Spare Time While Learning

The day you enroll, in addition to my regular course, I start sending you Extra Money Job Sheets which start showing you how to do actual Radio repair jobs. Throughout your course I send plans and directions which have helped many make from $200 to $500 a year in spare time while learning.

Also Give You This Professional Servicing Instrument

I send you special Radio equipment; show you how to conduct experiments, build circuits illustrating important principles used in modern Radio and Television receivers, broadcast-station and loudspeaker installations. My 50-50 method of training gives you both printed instruction and actual work with Radio parts—making learning at home interesting, fascinating, practical. I ALSO GIVE YOU A MODERN, PROFESSIONAL, ALL-WAY RADIO SET SERVICING INSTRUMENT to help you make more money fixing Radio Sets while learning and to equip you with a professional instrument for full time work after you graduate.

Find Out What Radio Offers You

Act today. Mail coupon for my 64-page book, "Rich Rewards in Radio." It points out Radio's spare time and full time opportunities and those coming in Television; tells about my course in Radio and Television; shows many letters from men I trained, telling what they are doing and earning. Read my money-back agreement. Find out what Radio offers you. Mail coupon in envelope or paste on a pennypostcard—NOW.
