JOHN BARBIROLI, eminent conductor of the Philharmonic, was born in London, won laurels in England. His father was Italian, mother French

WILLIAM S. PALEY, distinguished head of the Columbia Broadcasting System, has courageously fostered cultural features like the Philharmonic

MEDAL OF MERIT

An Award for Excellence in Broadcasting

AWARDED TO "THE NEW YORK PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA"

IN ITS ninety-seven years of existence the Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra of New York has presented great music to six generations of Americans. But those thousands who have heard its concerts in Carnegie Hall are few indeed compared with the millions who are hearing its broadcasts, for the tenth glorious season now, as a Sunday afternoon presentation of CBS (3:00 p.m. EST, 2:00 p.m. CST, 1:00 p.m. MST, 12:00 noon PST). Several personalities have played important roles in making these broadcasts possible. One of them is Columbia's president, William S. Paley. To him goes the ultimate credit for the close cooperation between orchestra and broadcasters which has made this feature great and successful. To British-born John Barbirolli, now in his fourth year as conductor of the Philharmonic, listeners are indebted, if to any one person, for the inspired musicianship of the orchestra. As for the broadcast itself, it has set a splendid example in the use of radio to bring the American public great symphony music; it has done much to open a new era of interest in serious music. Recognizing these services and also the masterful artistry of its music, RADIO GUIDE is happy to present its Medal of Merit to the "New York Philharmonic Orchestra."

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

Mr. Fairfax will give personal answers to all readers who send self-addressed stamped envelopes. Remember that he must confine himself exclusively to network personalities and programs. Address Arthur Fairfax, RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

Miss Doris R. Place, Oswego, N. Y.—The theme song of "Big Sister" is "Valse Bluette."

Mrs. P. W. Winler, Long Beach, N. Y.—BETTY WINKLER was married to Robert Jennings, Chicago advertising executive, August 23, 1939. She has made no announcement that she intends leaving radio work, and is continuing her roles of Patricia Rogers in "Girl Alone" and Helen Gowan in "Road of Life."

Miss Betty Ann Mais, Hampton, Iowa.—At present PAT MURPHY appears regularly as Scoop Curtis in "Girl Alone" and Donald Burke in "Right to Happiness." He is married to the former Lucille Edwards.

Mr. Albert G. Fitzgerald, Baltimore, Md.—The theme of the "Voice of Firestone" is "In My Garden," composed by MRS. HARVEY FIRESTONE, SR.

Miss Martha Holstein, Carpinteria, Calif.—DICK JURGENS and his orchestra are broadcasting from the Aragon Ballroom in Chicago over the Mutual Broadcasting System every evening excepting Monday. They left the ballroom for a short while in December in order to play some one-night stands.

Miss Cecilia Giacomelli, Johnston City, Ill.—The theme song of "Betty and Bob" is "Salut d'Amour" by Elgar; "Those We Love," by Cal Kuhl and Lou Silvers, is the theme of the serial by the same name; "Life and Love of Dr. Susan" has for its theme "Erotick" by Grieg; Brahms' "Lullaby" is used on "Hilltop House"; the theme of "Pretty Kitty Kelly" is "Kerry Dance" by Molloy; and "Cecile Waltz" is the theme of "Girl Alone."

Mrs. Kate B. Neddo, Baltimore, Md.—"Melody in C" is the theme of "Life Can Be Beautiful." This was written by DON BECKER, one of the authors of the script for the show.

Mr. Clarence W. Penland, Pageton, W. Va.—In "I Love a Mystery" MICHAEL RAFFETTO portrays Jack Packard, Reggie York is played by WALTER PATERSON, and "Doc" Long is, in reality, BARTON YARBOROUGH. CARLTON E. MORSE, author of "One Man's Family" also writes this show, and the Three Comrades may be heard in "One Man's Family" as Paul Barbour, Captain Nicholas Lacey, and Clifford Barbour.

into Artie Shaw's rip into the popular-music business

By Sammy Kaye

ARTIE SHAW SAID:

"The musician in America hasn't only a financial and artistic problem with which to contend but he must fight politics, corruption and a system of patronage."

"Anyone can lead a dance band. At least, anyone could lead many of today's name-bands. None of them need leaders—and very few have them. The average bandleader is only a front, a window-dressing."

"Mountebanks have cheapened popular music to such an extent that a wisecrack or a catch phrase becomes more important to their success than the music they play."

"Give me fifty thousand dollars, fourteen good musicians and a press-agent and I'll make Joe Doakes, who doesn't know a C-scale from a snare drum, one of the most popular bandleaders in America."

". . . it's almost axiomatic in the business that if a band isn't booked through one of the Big Four offices it hasn't a chance of ever playing a decent spot."

"Radio, more than anything else, is responsible for this frantic fight to tie up wire hotel spots. The Great God Microphone is deity to the bandsman and he worships at its shrine."

—Reprinted from the December 2, 1939, issue of "The Saturday Evening Post."

ARTIE SHAW'S blast against the band business, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post recently, is certainly open for argument. Artie dashed off his article after he had recovered from an almost fatal illness, which might have jaundiced his viewpoint.

Possibly Artie was battling tremendously magnified evils. Like the lovable, if misguided, Don Quixote, he was tilting at a windmill.

I have a positive outlook on the band business. Like many another new industry, it is robust, vigorous, fast-paced and strenuous. In that respect it is typically American. Competition is strong and rivalry intense. To survive, a bandleader must possess strength of purpose, strength of mind, and just strength.

He must love the band business, love it enough to put up with back-breaking, brutal hops from town to town on one-night tours, love it enough to want to kiss every youngster who thinks enough of him to clamor for his autograph.

At the bottom of page fourteen of that particular Saturday Evening Post article, Artie declares that the musician in America, in addition to other problems, must fight politics and corruption in the band business.

LET'S get the situation straight. No top-ranking bandleader deals directly with the executives who book bands, and these headaches are not his. As any other artist, he hires a reputable manager or manager organization to handle these affairs for him.

In any case, Artie contends the bandleader (or his representative) must fight politics and corruption. I think the answer to this is that Shaw confuses corruption with intense competition. There is no gainsaying that there is bitter competition in the band business, with managers and booking-agencies fighting hard to land the juiciest engagements for their client-bands. That is not only practical but good business sense. Especially when you realize that the four rival booking-agencies between them have a roster of almost four hundred bands, which include the top-rankers and the lesser known, while there are thousands of other independent bands throughout the country always looking for jobs.

To my knowledge, there no longer exist any iron-bound contracts between hotels and booking-agencies by which the hotel must take the bands given it by the agency. The field is wide open. But it is to the hotel's advantage to favor an agency which can supply it with big name-bands, the bands that draw crowds. It is, again, a matter of business sense. But Artie calls it playing politics.

No, a bandleader doesn't fight politics and corruption. He fights competition from rivals who want the hotel spots he thinks he ought to have. And if he is angry at being beaten out, it is no more than a human gesture for him to cry, "I wuz robbed."

On page fifteen Artie says, "Anyone can lead a dance band . . . None of them need leaders—and very few have them. The average bandleader is only a front, a window-dressing. If he has capable musicians behind him and imaginative arrangers behind the musicians, it doesn't matter whether he's on or off the platform—the music will sound the same."

In part, I agree with Artie. Yes, anyone can lead a dance band, if by leading a band you mean getting up in front of it, giving the downbeat and waving a stick in correct tempo. Matter of fact, there is a movement afoot, in symphonic circles, to dispense entirely with the maestro as an unnecessary appendage during public concerts. The answer is, all the work of the orchestra-leader, popular or symphony, takes place before the orchestra goes on the stand.

The music doesn't go 'round and come out smooth and sweet just with a snap of the finger or a wave of the baton. There are hours of rehearsals behind each number played, hours of good hard work. That's where the bandleader figures. Nor am I at all ruffled at the accusation that some leaders are not terrific musicians or instrumentalists. A drama critic need never have written a play and yet be an expert on things dramatic. But of this you can be assured: that these leaders know what they want in the way of music and they aren't satisfied until they get it from their boys.

They may not be able to read music (most of the musicians in the golden era of jazz, of which Artie speaks, likewise couldn't read music), but they had the business acumen and sense to organize a band of capable musicians and hire these imaginative arrangers and weld the various parts into a good band. Without him there would be no band.

Several paragraphs later, Artie cries that a wisecrack or a catch phrase becomes more important to the success of the leader than his music. There isn't a wisecrack or catch phrase invented that will make bad music good. Bad music remains bad music and attaching a phrase to it will never, this side of heaven, magically change it. In the final analysis, people don't dance to wisecracks or catch phrases. They dance to music.

I will say this, however—that a catch phrase may help in gaining publicity for the leader. That, when his name is attached to a snappy phrase, it will more likely be remembered by hurried readers. Take my own case, for example. "Swing and Sway with Sammy Kaye" is so euphonious that it stuck in listeners' minds, and people, hearing it for the first time, remember the name of Sammy Kaye. This was proved by the sudden jump in fan mail immediately after we introduced the phrase. But our music was the same, since we had swing-and-sway rhythms before we attached the title to it.

In the next paragraph Artie declares that, given fifty thousand dollars, fourteen good musicians, and a press-agent he'd make Joe Doakes into one of the most popular bandleaders in America. Here's where Artie just didn't face the facts. He knows, as well as I do, many cases where money was poured into bands liberally—with no results. Financial backing is available, just as it is for a good legitimate production, but no amount of money will make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

And then Shaw declares, "It's amazing what a powerful booking-office or music-publisher can do to assist a new band up the ladder." And I say amen to that! It's not only amazing but it's wonderful. How many of our really good bands, now on top, would still be wasting away in roadside cabarets if it weren't for the help given them by some such organization? Plenty. The situation is a simple one: booking-agencies are constantly looking for talented newcomers. It means business to them. Newcomers are investments which, in time and if handled right, pay nice dividends.

I'll use a real case as an example. A representative of one of the agencies spotted this band working in a roadside spot for virtually nothing. He recognized the talent in this outfit and passed the word along to his home office. An executive flew out and caught the band at work. He signed up the leader. The band needed to be spruced up for public appearances. That required monetary investment, which the agency supplied. It bought uniforms, new and better instruments, guaranteed the salary of the arrangers and vocalist whom the leader hired. Then it went to work for the bandleader and in a short time got him his first hotel engagement at a salary of $200 a week. The second engagement brought $400. And so it went, until the band was ready for New York. The results: The agency was making money on its investment, the leader and his musicians were making money, and the public was enjoying a good dance band.

IS THAT an evil of the band business? I hardly think so.

Skipping to page sixty-seven, we find Artie saying that if a band isn't booked through one of the Big Four offices, it hasn't a chance of ever playing a decent spot. The answer to this is simple. If a band isn't booked through one of these agencies, chances are it isn't worth being booked. As I've pointed out before, these agencies are in business to make money. It would hardly be good business acumen to pass up a good band.

On the same page Artie indicts "The Great God Mike" as another obstacle to the new bandleader. Yet every bandleader will tell you that the greatest thing that happened to the band business was radio! It has brought the music of bands into the homes of millions of far-flung listeners throughout the country and it has worked toward acquainting these listeners with the leaders and their individual styles of music. Thus, when the band is booked into the ballrooms and hotels of these far-flung cities, their music has preceded them and a hearty welcome is assured.

I assume that Artie's indictment against radio is that it is used artificially to hypo a band's popularity; that, through politics, a wire is given a band, bad or good, to make it successful. Again, the answer is that a bad band will remain bad and, just as no catch phrase will better it, so no wire will make it good. Look through the late-hour program listings of bands on the air and you will find dozens who have had network wires for years and yet remain third- and fourth-raters.

THERE is no arguing with the importance of radio to the bandleader. It has helped me as it has helped others. If what Artie says is true, then there would be no Glenn Millers, no Kay Kysers, no Dorseys, no Hal Kemps, no Bob Crosbys, and no Sammy Kayes. We'd still be plugging along, slowly making our way up the ladder.

Unlike Artie, I have no misgivings about the future of dance music in America. Never before have dance-band leaders been thought of so highly, respected, and even loved by men and women, boys and girls, in all walks of life throughout the country. It is good for the bandleader to be considered in this light and it is good for the people to have this feeling. Never before has there been so much music played in America, and good music, too, for people who want to, and deserve to, kick up a bit and dance or settle back comfortably alongside their radio sets for a bit of lighter musical entertainment; and never before have so many musicians been working, and the outlook is even brighter.

In the future, as at present, the bandleader will continue to be a hard-working fellow with a terrific urge to make his band the best in the business. New bands will be formed and leaders will take them on those brutal one-night tours—and love it. And if they are good, they will become great attractions and make a lot of money. And it will be worth it.

But don't get me wrong. I still think Artie is a sterling musician and a fine clarinet virtuoso.

"Easy Aces" revealed as Fred Allen fans; Mr. and Mrs. Lone Ranger have a baby daughter

By Wilson Brown

NEW YORK.—After their broadcast Wednesday night we noted the Easy Aces—Jane and Goodman—rushing downstairs. We stopped them and asked them where the fire was. "No fire!" said Goodman. "We just didn't have time to eat our dinner before the program and will have to hurry up and eat so we can get to the Fred Allen broadcast in time." It develops that the Aces never miss an Allen broadcast. In fact, they have a page-boy reserve a front-center balcony seat for them each week. Fred is their favorite comedian by far. "Even more so than the Easy Aces," we ventured. Goodman, at that, said softly: "Modesty forbids me . . ."

The deal for Eddie Cantor to advertise 57 varieties of pickles and stuff has fallen through . . . The suit of Beth Brown, author of the book "For Men Only," against the radio show by the same name, has been settled out of court. She claimed ownership of title . . . Ralph Hitz, the hotel czar who died January 13, was the father-in-law of radio's Buddy Clark. It was Hitz who made the appearance of bands in hotels a big business . . . There may be a suit because some contend "Serenade in the Night" too strongly resembles "Violino Tzigano" . . . Benay Venuta replaces the Merry Macs on George Jessel's show January 25.

Shep Fields is rippling his rhythm in the Strand Theater . . . Artie Shaw, the run-away swing leader (who may return to a Manhattan theater soon), found himself a hero down in Acapulco, Mexico, January 11 when he rescued Anne Chapman, Connecticut deb, from drowning. In the struggle Shaw was tossed against a rock, suffering a broken knee . . . Mary Jane Walsh of Broadway's "Too Many Girls" and orkster Ernie Holst are romancing . . . Teddy Powell has been booked into Boston's "Southland" for two weeks starting February 5 . . . Frankie Masters' new movie short, "The Key to My Heart," is based on his theme song . . . Because the response to his Christmas week all-vocal hymn program, Fred Waring will reduce his orchestra to a minimum on his Wednesday eve shows and stress the vocal unit instead . . . After twelve years with Paul Whiteman, Roy Bargy, arranger, has left to go out on his own . . . Although Guy Lombardo winds up his NBC cosmetic program January 26, he continues his CBS session . . . Del Courtney is holding forth at the Baker Hotel in Dallas and remains there until February 16 . . . Sammy Kaye of "Swing and Sway" left his clarinet in a cab. The driver who returned it not only got a $5 reward but the job of taking Sammy home each 3 a.m. after ending his hotel playing.

War Dispatch

William L. Shirer, CBS correspondent in Berlin, thought war had come in earnest when the rationing of food began. The Nazis apportioned victuals according to the calories required to perform one's work. But apparently Hitler realized that the way to a man's pen is through his stomach, for he classified newspaper and radio men as hard laborers and allowed them double rations. Besides that, Shirer gets a box containing bacon, eggs and butter from

Jack Benny's program is the most popular of all programs, according to the annual New York World-Telegram poll of radio editors from Coast to Coast. And the same editors picked Jack as their favorite comedian. Other poll winners are: Quiz program, "Information, Please"; popular orchestra, Guy Lombardo; popular girl singer, Francis Langford; popular male singer, Bing Crosby; sports announcer, Bill Stern; commentator, Lowell Thomas; studio announcer, Don Wilson; classical singer, Nelson Eddy; symphonic conductor, Arturo Toscanini; dramatic program, "Lux Radio Theater"; children's program, "Let's Pretend"; quarter-hour program, Fred Waring; outstanding new star, Alec Templeton.

Benny Herrmann, musical director of "Campbell Playhouse," wasn't on the air when Helen Hayes did "Vanity Fair" because his airplane was grounded in Arizona . . . Paul Wing succeeds Cal Tinney as "Youth vs. Age" emcee Saturday, January 27, and the show will be heard at 9 p.m. EST instead of 8:30, on NBC-Red instead of NBC-Blue . . . Mrs. Lauritz Melchior, the former Maria Haaker of European films, has turned down Hollywood movie offers to remain with her husband.

Our Oddity

Parker Watkins is a Negro who sings tenor. During the holidays the railroad stations featured organ music, and Watkins took advantage of the crowds and the music to do a bit of public singing. After his songs, he'd pass the hat, and the income was good. People admired his spunk and his voice and first thing he knew klieg lights were playing upon him and newsreel cameras were grinding. Then along came S. Hurock, who manages Marian Anderson, famed Negro contralto, to take Watkins under his arm. Immediately Watkins sang a farewell song for the train commuters and an audition for MBS with the result that he appeared on the Benay Venuta program last week and is now playing vaudeville around town. His voice is the kind that bears watching.

Where is the Rudy Vallee who was to take a long, much-needed vacation from radio? Listeners have been hearing Mr. Vallee almost continuously during that "vacation." On March 7 he begins a series for Sealtest

HOLLYWOOD.—Rudy Vallee can't leave radio alone, or vice versa, for on Thursday, March 7, he begins a new series of broadcasts, this time for Sealtest, over the NBC-Red network. And clearing time for him, the "Kraft Music Hall" may back up and start a half-hour earlier. The date looms, too, as the possible time when "Good News," with Baby Snooks, will pare its budget and reduce to thirty minutes duration instead of the current full hour—as first exclusively hinted by this column. Vallee will air from Hollywood, where he is committed by contract to produce two Republic pictures.

More show changes: After celebrating, on January 30, the anniversary of their first program in Hollywood, with the following week's broadcast "Fibber McGee and Molly" will add the King's Men to their fold—and after February 6 you won't be hearing Jimmy Shields singing with them . . . "Big Town," with Edward G. Robinson and Ona Munson, and Joe Penner's "Tip Top Show" have moved to New York for a few weeks to give their eastern sponsors and dealers a break . . . And Gene Autry will corral his "Melody Ranch" at Washington, D. C., for a single airing January 28 because he has to be there the 24th and 25th to ride with the First Lady at the Fort Meyers horse show and appear by command the 30th at the President's Birthday Ball.

Bobby Breen, now twelve years old, and only recently a star of both screen and stage, has retired. Because his voice was changing, doctors warned him to do no more singing for the time being. His last picture was "Escape to Paradise," and his last regular radio work was for Eddie Cantor. It is estimated that he will not sing for at least two years.

Ann Sothern drydocked at Good Samaritan Hospital last Monday to have her jumpy appendix removed . . . Meantime, Doris Kenyon, once top screen star, went into rehearsal for her air debut Sunday, January 28, in "Saturday's Child," a new script serial by Frances Marion, to be aired over the NBC-Red net . . . Lum and Abner readied for their film debut and announced that the women characters in their picture will be entirely different from those they use on the air—so as not to puncture listeners' illusions . . . And Don Ameche, holding out reportedly for $5,000 a week or nothing, was said to have a deal so hot with Old Gold that you could light a cigarette on the sparks!

Speaking of Salaries

Resulting from this reporter's explanation of the McCarthy show's breakdown, the wife of a truck driver pens this thought-provoking letter:

"The money Standard Brands paid the cast in the program! And that's only one of their programs! When was a person ever worth that money for one hour—singing and talking? Of course, Edgar Bergen is wonderful, but the others I don't think are worth the money. I am the wife of one who works for Standard Brands, and if they can afford to pay such big wages for one hour, why can't they give their truck drivers more money? Just enough, at least, so they don't have to live from hand to mouth, and to give our children more in life."

Lady, I have known Don Ameche when he ate peanuts and drank water to get by. Nelson Eddy, too, didn't have it easy. These past two years they sold lots of coffee to keep those trucks busy. If they hadn't, what then?

No Scarlett O'Hara Miking

"Gone With the Wind" producer David O. Selznick has been offered upwards of $5,000 for broadcasting rights to sequences from his famous and just released picture, but he won't let the epic, or any part of it, be aired until he is sure he has milked his movie theater box-offices dry. When Vivien Leigh (Scarlett) was heard over NBC in the New York movie critics' award broadcast, he permitted her to appear—but she was not paid for it, nor was she allowed to do a scene from the picture. Backstage note: Laurence Olivier escorted Miss Leigh to the studios. Merle Oberon and Vivien were so nervous before the broadcast that their teeth were chattering.

Rom-Antics . . .

Truman Bradley, your "Burns and Allen" mikeman, could only spend two days honeymooning at Las Vegas, Nevada, after eloping last week with showgirl Myra Bratton, 24, Earl Carroll Vanities beauty. Mrs. B. has given up her career to make a home for her hubby . . . Hanley ("Daddy" Higgins) Stafford plans an April Yosemite wedding with Vyola Vonn, providing he can make his last divorce decree stand up in court.

This Week's Riddle

Hollywood is wondering: Just what part will Orson Welles play in the Campbell Playhouse rendition January 28 of "It Happened One Night" since he has announced the signing of William Powell and Miriam Hopkins as guest stars?

Business for Baby Andy

If an exciting note creeps into Charlie Correll's voice as he plays "Andy" these evenings to Freeman Gosden's "Amos," it's because his heir or heiress is expected sometime between February 4 and 11, but he's hoping the stork will land February 3 when he observes his fiftieth birthday. Last week the team went into business by acquiring an interest, along with Bing Crosby, Harold Lloyd and Paul Whiteman, in radio station KMPC, Beverly Hills, and new supplementary CBS program outlet in southern California. G. A. Richards, also owner of WJR, Detroit, and WGAR, Cleveland, still retains controlling interest in KMPC, however.

Bennys Defy Hoodoo

The Jack Bennys, she's the Mary Livingstone of his radio series, took time out January 14 to celebrate their thirteenth wedding anniversary—and were given a good-luck horseshoe of flowers by Barbara Stanwyck and Bob Taylor, close friends . . . But on his late or western broadcast that night, Jack spoonerized a line into a pippin which never would have been passed by the F. C. C. or the National Board of Review. It's even unprintable! . . . No jinx, eh, what? . . . The week before, Jack was nervous at his radio rehearsals when his writers had fixed it so he must kiss guest Barbara Stanwyck for fifteen seconds duration. Charged with being jittery, Jack answered, "Why not? Here I've got to kiss Barbara and hold it—and next Monday I'm going huntin' with her husband, Bob Taylor!"

Backstage on a Pass

At Bob Hope preview: Jerry Colonna, after a fall in a mud puddle on the NBC parking-lot, borrowing a page boy's pants in the emergency—and two nights later being selected the "Oomph Man" of Hollywood by Hope's glamour girl sextet . . . At Woodbury Playhouse: Charles Boyer in sideburns he's growing for his start, January 22 at Universal, of "All This and Heaven, Too" with Bette Davis . . . After Silver Theater, January 14: Conrad Nagel putting the finger on Madeleine Carroll and signing her for a voluntary performance, within two months, on the Screen Guild Theater series . . . At Hedda Hopper's Hollywood: Hedda gleaming with smiles over being signed for Paramount's "The Woman from Hell," as if she didn't have enough to do already. What a gall!

CHICAGO.—Jack Fulton—stratosphere tenor; descendant of steamboat inventor Robert Fulton; one-time member of the famous Whiteman Trio and roommate of Bing Crosby; haberdashery businessman; erstwhile band leader; last starred on the networks in "Poetic Melodies," "Just Entertainment," and "Laugh Liner"—has just returned to the air as soloist of Anson Weeks' "Lovely Lady," Sunday on CBS, replacing Skip Farrell. And the many Fulton fans will probably be clamoring for a Coast-to-Coast expansion of this program, which is now heard chiefly through the Middle West.

The Escorts and Betty, poised to crash into the sensation bracket in 1940, are doing a personal appearance at the Chicago Theater this week, and later in February they're scheduled to go into New York's Paramount Theater, where the Merry Macs have been making a hit. Look out, M. M.—Nyanh, nyanh! They may catch you! . . . "This Amazing America" will be rediscovered via NBC beginning February 16. It's to be a quiz show, but hold on now!—it's different, with a really interesting angle, involving questions designed to acquaint listeners with their great homeland . . . Another new audience-participation game-show called "Broadcast" will be launched on MBS February 19.

The Wayne King commercial will originate for the one broadcast of February 3 in New Orleans, where Wayne will play a Mardi Gras engagement at the Jung Hotel. And by the way, King's thirteenth broadcast in this series fell on the thirteenth of January, but the maestro whose orchestra has been voted tops in RADIO GUIDE's annual listeners' poll every year but one doesn't scare easily. His show is still gathering popularity momentum and will continue with the same format . . . Joan Winters, who came back from the Atlanta premiere of "Gone With the Wind" praising the natural beauty of Vivien Leigh, will herself be "Lovely Lady" guest on CBS this Sunday afternoon. And why not? She is considered one of the most beautiful women in radio. You'll hear bits of her interesting background on the show.

Verrill's Fan No. 1

Seven years ago when Virginia Verrill (now featured on "Uncle Walter's Dog House") was just an ambitious youngster singing with the late Orville Knapp's orchestra in Santa Monica, Calif., a bus-boy named Daniel Perretty fell for her voice. Since then he has showered her with wires and letters almost daily, sometimes a half-dozen a day. Not a Christmas or birthday passes that he doesn't remember her with a nice gift. When she starts a new series or makes a personal appearance anywhere, he sends her a corsage or two. When Virginia was in the Paradise Restaurant in New York for six months, Daniel saw the show at least once a week. Last year when Virginia met with an accident on the Coast, Daniel called NBC to inquire about her condition three times and refused to speak to her personally.

For, you see, Mr. Perretty has never met Miss Verrill, even modestly shuns a meeting, although he has talked with Virginia's mother a number of times. Daniel says he is not in love with the

Duke of Paducah Gets Furnished

Several years ago Whitey Ford, "Plantation Party's" jabbering Duke of Paducah, did a broadcasting series for a St. Louis furniture dealer. A couple of weeks ago Whitey received a pair of tickets and the former sponsor's invitation to put on his shoes, board the steam wagon with his wife, come down and pick out complete furnishings for the house they're moving into . . . William E. Green, veteran stage and radio actor whose voice weaves those soothing "Smoke Dreams" on Sundays, is also often heard in Chicago shows such as "Orphan Annie" and "Romance of Helen Trent." He flies between here and Cincinnati where "Smoke Dreams" originates, will move his wife and two boys here after the school year is over . . . Vivian Fridell has been scurrying to and from broadcasts bundled in a taxi. The "Backstage Wife" star has had a siege of flu.

Les Tremayne may be flying west for a screen test soon, or may have already done so when you read this . . . The "Hey, look!" department: (1) Wonder if the networks have noticed the warm, rich baritone speaking and singing voice of Hal Culver, featured on WLS' "Smile Market." (2) One of radio's best all-round conductors and super-finest personalities deserves bigger

The Arkansas Woodchopper was so startled when he broke a string on his guitar during an air show that he chirped, "Darn, there goes another string!" Since then he has received 137 guitar strings from fans in twenty-two states.

Thank you, Dick Todd, for singing "Twilight on the Trail," which sounded so very—(or did you know I asked you herein to sing it?) . . . Hugh Studebaker, who likes to ride on trains, took a sudden whim the other week-end and hopped an express for New York with his charming wife, Chickie, who thinks all Hugh's whims are okay. It's really "half-way up in the next block" now, with author Paul Rhymer of "Vic and Sade" and all his cast—Art Van Harvey, Bernardine Flynn and Billy Idelson—living on Chicago's near North Side.

Cast of "Right to Happiness"

"Right to Happiness," the serial which stemmed from Irna Phillips' "Guiding Light," exercised its privilege to change networks and is now heard on CBS. The cast remains the same as follows:

Mrs. Kransky—Mignon Schreiber.
Rose Kransky—Ruth Bailey.
Jacob Kransky—Seymour Young.
Emily Burke—Bernardine Flynn.
Tom Burke—Carl Kroenke.
Donald Burke—Pat Murphy.
Mildred Burke—Nancy Hurdle.
Terry Burke—Carlton KaDell.
Kathy Burke—Lucy Gilman.
Dr. Ruthledge—Arthur Peterson.
Helene Cunningham—Lesley Woods.
Charles Cunningham—Bill Bouchey.
Bill Walker—Reese Taylor.
Doris Cameron—Constance Crowder.
Caroline—Laurette Fillbrandt.
Grace Mead—Jane Green.

Helen Trent Has Real Trouble

If Virginia Clark has any woeful acting to do now as heroine of "Romance of Helen Trent," there may be an extra note of distress in her voice, for the "dream home" near Glenview, Illinois, into which she and her husband have only recently moved, was almost ruined by fire resulting from a blaze in the second-floor fireplace. Our sympathy, Virginia . . . Dick Holland, juvenile star of the new "Bud Barton" sketch, doesn't go near a certain department store since he accompanied his mother on a shopping-trip and several customers complained mousetraps were snapping at them and the clerk discovered Dick hovering near with a gleam in his eye.

Roy Shield, NBC music director for the central division, predicts that the middle field of light classical music will be boomed in 1940, with American composers' stock rising and the trend of giving music back to John Q. RADIO GOES TO THE SOUTH POLE

The radio cabin shown above was Byrd's only link with the outside world on his last expedition. Again radio plays its part on a new expedition

SPANNING the icy wastes of Antarctica, radio again will bring to members of the U. S. Antarctic expedition, headed by Admiral Richard E. Byrd, messages from their relatives and friends to lighten their long, ice-locked months at the bottom of the earth and within reaching distance of the South Pole. Radio again will provide the only connecting link between the intrepid explorers and the civilization they have left behind to explore and claim for their country lands which, some day, may be of the greatest value. Both ships—the "North Star" and the "Bear"—are equipped with receivers capable of receiving not only short-wave broadcasts but regular broadcasts as well, and the two land bases to be established will be similarly equipped. Every other Friday night, beginning February 2, the National Broadcasting Company, in cooperation with the General Electric Company, will broadcast a program of interest to these isolated men and a "Mailbag," in which friends and relatives will send personal messages to members of the party. These programs, sponsored by prominent newspapers, will be heard over an NBC network at 11:30 p.m. EST; 10:30 CST; 9:30 MST; 8:30 PST.

BY WALTER COMPTON—

SMART TOM DEWEY is the brightest Republican hope for 1940, largely because he has been as busy learning to talk as busting rackets

REPUBLICAN SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT'S ideas may be good but he'll have to be less mechanical on radio to land in the White House

IN THE pages of history, in the convictions of those who remember, in the reverence of those who have been told, William Jennings Bryan was as great a speaker as ever lived. Though this gentleman of the biting tongue was never President of the United States, his fame is more enduring than the men who defeated him.

The days when a poor speaker can vanquish the man of a million golden words have vanished. Those days have been supplanted, via radio, by an era of great speakers who, though they use a different technique from the revered Bryan, nevertheless endeavor to achieve the same effect. Despite his intuitive handling of a mass audience, despite the limpid flow of choice phrases, William Jennings Bryan could never reach the people as our presidential aspirants may today—they had to read Bryan's speeches in the morning newspaper, minus the dramatic Bryan pauses, the brilliant Bryan satire.

Tomorrow's newspaper is for the record these days. When the 1940 political battle starts, America will be treated to the groggiest, dizziest, most vocal three-ring circus ever conducted within our boundaries.

Few men have recognized the power of radio as has Franklin Delano Roosevelt. On that memorable March night in 1933, when the thirty-second President first took to the air from the Oval Room of the White House, a new gauge for American domestic diplomacy was created. Chatting from a fireside that was not there, to perhaps the largest audience of all time, the President asked for faith. He promised to thwart the thirties. And those millions of unseen listeners hung on every word—believed what they heard.

That America heard and believed Franklin Roosevelt was no mere accident, no quirk of hard times. This man is a technician of mass psychology, a talker who reads well, a speaker who extemporizes with a facility that astounds even those familiar with his methods. From a speech crammed to the last letter with meat, Mr. Roosevelt extracts every drop of juice, flavors the dish with an exact portion of the salt and pepper of this superb sarcasm, garnishes the verbal platter with an assortment of vocal eye-raises and heart-warming grins. No mean opponent in radio debate, Franklin D. Roosevelt speaking alone is formidable.

When the whine of the bullets of satire, the boom of the bombs of bromide are let loose over America's ether within the next few weeks, it will take a neat knowledge of who's who and what's why for the average intelligent listener to make a decision between one assertion and another.

None of us knows, as this is written, whether or not the President of the United States will indulge in 1940's war of words in his own behalf. Let there be no mistake, however. If Mr. Roosevelt does not choose to run in 1940 and he nonetheless decides to speak, his words will ring from one corner of the land to the other. He will speak with a confidence born of conviction and, perhaps, just a little opportunism. In other words, those aspirants to either the Democratic or Republican nominations had best look to their radio laurels if they would brave the windmill. And unlike Don Quixote, sheer bravado will not carry them very far.

OF FIVE presently leading Democratic possibilities,

Roosevelt, Garner, Hull, McNutt and Farley, but two have declared their candidacies—and one of them reserved qualifications. The Vice President, John Nance Garner, seems to be intent on running his campaign either from the front porch of his home in Uvalde, Texas, or from the cloakrooms of the United States capitol. To Mr. Garner, this may appear to be keen psychology, based on the belief that America gets its fill of politics. And Mr. Garner may be right. Come what may, and disregarding his current Chief's radiator abilities, the Vice President is smart if he shuns the mike. He is no speaker. In nine years John Nance Garner has made one public address, and that during the 1932 campaign. He seems to be the only presidential aspirant who can get away with not appearing on the radio. He might do it.

Paul V. McNutt, ex-Governor of Indiana, current administrator of the Federal Security Administration, claims the benignity of the White House. With a toothy smile that flashes on and off like a traffic light, with a shock of white hair that gleams like sterling, Mr. McNutt is undoubtedly the Robert Taylor of 1940 politics. But unfortunately for Mr. McNutt, television is not among us yet. And Mr. McNutt's addresses are rather stodgy. Recently he spoke before Washington's National Press Club. Perhaps he didn't see them, but several people walked out on him. Chiefly, I think, because Americans these days are not interested in banalities supported by beauty and grins. It is quite possible, though, that Paul McNutt will improve his delivery and his content when he faces the mike over the next six months.

Of the others in the Democratic fold, no more can be said than that each is waiting for the other to jump. From a speaker's angle, Postmaster General Farley would appear to have it all over Secretary of State Hull. Mr. Farley has had sufficient said about his marvelous memory for name and face, of his passion for detail. That passion for detail must have carried him through in his speaking ability. For the Farley of today, on a microphone, is not the Farley of 1932. Once a jerky reader, one who frequently lost his place, Farley today reads with éclat—to the point where, at times, he sounds amazingly like the President. Such improved delivery must be due to the little-known fact that the Postmaster General's speeches are typed in enormous "box-car" letters, separated by much white space between the lines.

We have observed that Mr. Farley seems to have the jump on Mr. Hull, but one must not overlook the respect with which Mr. Hull is held in most American minds. Despite his current reciprocal trade difficulties, everybody on the Hill likes Cordell Hull—and darned near everybody respects his opinions. Though he speaks in a high, monotonous voice, totally lacking in astute phrasing or pausing, Mr. Hull usually says something—and people know it. One or two of our aspirants aren't even remotely guilty of that offense.

Now, unlike the Democrats, the Republicans can't count their possibilities on one hand. The sickly elephant can look to five political doctors who have indicated that they're willing to accept a call at any time of day, one very good doctor who might be routed out of bed at the eleventh hour, one general practitioner who had lost his clientele but who has made a definite comeback recently.

Dr. George Gallup says that today young Thomas E. Dewey, the Republicans' closest approach to a glamour boy, has the best chance for the Republican nomination. Dr. Gallup is probably aware that Mr. Dewey's lead can be attributed to his air personality. All the while that Tom Dewey, in his capacity as New York's district attorney, was busy attending to "Lucky" Luciano, Jimmy Hines and Lepke, he was also very busy taking lessons in how to talk. Previous to that time Tom Dewey had developed a neat baritone singing voice. So much so that he ran a close enough race for the governorship of New York State to frighten Governor Herbert Lehman not a little. Dewey's voice has been well trained. He employs a dramatic technique; he is youth, vigor and bravery incarnate. Tom Dewey is the American conception of the dashing racket-buster. From a radio angle, he is the one big threat to the Democratic stronghold.

IN STRONG antithesis is Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. There was a time when Mr. Vandenberg made the most comprehensive and the most utterly fatiguing speeches on the floor of the United States Senate. He had a case to state, he stated it thoroughly, he sat down. He has said frequently that he is uninterested in occupying the White House. Paradoxically enough, Mr. Vandenberg's delivery has improved considerably in recent months. Instead of his characteristic drone, he now employs a variety of tone and a change of pace. Somebody has tipped the Senator off. A bit more shading, a little more friendliness in his voice, and Arthur Vandenberg must be reckoned with.

What Senator Vandenberg has done, Senator Robert A. Taft has failed to do. Looking like a thorough, intelligent, somewhat stodgy businessman, Mr. Taft still sounds like one. Perhaps it is because he lacks the public experience of his colleagues. Perhaps it is by intention, but that is doubtful. His convictions have merit, his "curealls" have their points, but Mr. Taft will have to learn that we are an emotional people and none of us is interested in a recitation of the business index, or even the Constitution of the United States. American voters want their leaders to be human. To date Mr. Taft is very much on the mechanical side.

Now, Senator Styles Bridges is of a different metal than the preceding two statesmen. He lacks no color. Put him before a microphone or an audience with no typed speech and he can almost extemporize Franklin Roosevelt. Unfortunately for Senator Bridges, it's almost impossible to ad-lib a political address these days. And Senator Bridges reads poorly.

Comes next Governor John Bricker of Ohio. Hard-headed but experienced, Mr. Bricker sounds much like he actually is—a personable, well-informed executive. Apparently his radio personality will not enter too vitally into the campaign for the nomination. But should he be nominated, he will need to cultivate a flair for the dramatic, a more comprehensive understanding of American mass psychology.

As to the doctor whom the Republicans may call in a pinch—minority leader of the U. S. House of Representatives Joseph William Martin, Jr.: theoretically, he is not a candidate. In such capacity he has therefore and will therefore make few speeches. Joe Martin is no great speaker. Though a newspaper owner and publisher, he is no great writer. But he is a neighborly, likable gentleman, and his voice and delivery are characteristic.

But one probable candidate remains—the Republican general practitioner, former President Herbert Clark Hoover. The Hoover of 1940 is not the Hoover of a decade ago. He is a rested, younger man today. He speaks now not in the stilted, weary delivery of his term in office but in the glowing, living manner of a man reborn. Herbert Hoover has made a comeback. Whether he wants to—whether it will return him to the White House, is a matter of conjecture.

A political campaign is not a horse-race. You can't always judge your candidates by past performances. It is in the new tricks they learn, the new stride they develop, that the finish is decided. Like the great Man o' War, only one man stands out as a pretty sure winner now, if he's in the race. That man is the present President of the United States. But, with proper training and a knowledge of the track, there's always a Seabiscuit.

SIMON BARER, Russian pianist, who had sensational reviews in his New York recital last year, plays the popular B flat minor piano concerto of Tchaikowsky with the New York Philharmonic Sunday.

Rarely heard on the air is Elizabeth Schumann, outstanding concert singer, featured Sunday with the New Friends of Music in five Mozart songs.

On Sunday, Ossy Renardy, brilliant Viennese violinist, will be guest soloist on "Radio City Music Hall of the Air."

Island") was originally meant by Debussy to be included in his "Suite Bergamasque" for piano (the one that contains the beloved "Clair de Lune"). However, it was published in 1904 as a separate piece.

As his subject, the composer took Watteau's painting "Embarquement pour Cythere" (Embarkment for Cythera). Cythera is a Greek island whose name is sometimes substituted for that of Aphrodite-Venus, as she is supposed to have risen from the sea near that place.

Debussy makes his music sensuously suggestive, tinted with poetic imagery and opulent hues, but also rhythmical

Excellent Russian pianist Simon Barer is playing the great Russian concerto of Tchaikowsky; therefore something racial and racy should result.

Such an outpouring of vim, brilliance and passion went into those pages that Tchaikowsky was reproached by purist critics with having written too hastily and been moved more by feeling than by a sense of form.

He showed the composition to the pianist Nicolai Rubinstein, who condemned it unmercifully, but Hans von Bulow accepted the dedication and gave the premiere in 1875—in Boston! Regardless of other opinions, the Bostonians immediately loved the concerto and encored the finale after the several local performances.

The luscious chief melody of the first movement is derived from a tune which Tchaikowsky heard sung by a blind beggar at a village fair. The waltz-like refrain played by the violas and cellos in the second movement is a chansonette called "Dance and Sing, to Be Amused."

The final movement starts with a furious Cossack dance and climaxes with a broad, full-throated, irresistibly triumphant paean of revelry. The entire concerto, universally popular, is unique in style and appeal.

Arthur Rubinstein and the London Symphony Orchestra under John Barbirolli have made a magnificent recording of the concerto for Victor. VM-180 (Alb)—$10.00.

Of these Mozart songs, "Das Veilschen" (The Violet) is the only one well known. Masterful as he was in other forms of composition, he did not especially shine in solo songs with piano accompaniment. However, that should not be set down to Mozart's detriment. (He was, it should be remembered, not an originator of new forms, but an imaginative developer of old ones.)

Mozart's contemporaries and immediate predecessors, Haydn and Beethoven, were no more successful than he in that field, and it remained for young Schubert to invent the lied and show how descriptive and eloquent it could be made.

Of course, nothing that came from Mozart's pen is without merit musically, and so one finds expressive melody and a fluent vocal line in his songs.

The Brahms quintet ranks high in his list of creations, with its deep sentiment, dramatic moments and episodes of verve and vivacity. For a long while Schumann's famous E flat quintet was the most popular work in that form, but now Brahms' is giving it a close race for supremacy.

The Busch quartet with Rudolph Serkin recorded the Brahms piano quintet only a few months ago. VM-607—$10.00.

Some Musical Pleasantries

By Leonard Liebling

EACH season furnishes some new anecdotes about famous composers and performers that help to bring a chuckle or two into our present rather smileless world. It is worth while to offer readers of this department a few of the current sallies and storiottes.

Last summer a vaudeville team vacationed in Balboa, an island near Los Angeles. They were dozing aboard a sailboat moored to the dock, across from a luxurious sloop on whose deck lay a man picking out a simple tune amateurishly—and incorrectly—on the accordion. The discords awakened one of the sleepers, who called to the player, "Hey, you, what do you think you're trying to do? Think you're Phil Baker?"

"No, indeed," answered the amateur, "I've just taken up the accordion and I'm practising."

"Well, come over here and I'll show you how to play it."

The invitation was accepted, the instrument handed over and the teacher began. "First of all you got to know the notes on the keyboard. This one is C, the next D, then E"—and so on through the scale. "When you play two or more notes together, that's a chord. The black keys are the sharps and flats, see?"

"I see. I didn't know all that."

"You got to learn how to keep time, too . . . Say, my name's Tom Ward. Maybe you've heard of me. I'm on the stage. What's your name?"

"I'm on the stage, too. My name is Jascha Heifetz."

Lawrence Tibbett was asked by a young woman, "Is it true that a properly trained singer should be able to hold his breath for one minute and a half?"

"Quite true. But I once knew a singer who held his breath for more than half an hour."

"Really?"

"Yes—he was dead."

A tradesman delivered a package to Lily Pons recently and said, "You're the opera star at the Metropolitan, aren't you?"

"Yes, I sing there."

"Well, I once paid a dollar and a half to hear you and I couldn't make a thing of all that tra-la-la and umpty-um-ump."

"That's too bad. You certainly didn't get your money's worth and I'm going to return it to you." And Lily did, too.

Musician of the Week

(Elisabeth Rethberg)

By V. Vidal

SO MUCH romantic nonsense has been written about opera singers' dressing-rooms that it comes as a shock to find one that actually conforms to the romantic pattern. Elisabeth Rethberg's dressing-room at the Metropolitan (also used by Lotte Lehmann) has all the trimmings described by the books. Green and silver brocade covers the couch, the curtains of the closet, the dressing-table with its gigantic mirror, and the easy chair. In one corner stands a small piano, in another a door leads to a bathroom. Typical prima-donna touch, a bunch of red roses stands on a shelf. The next act's costume hangs under a protective sheet.

HALF an hour before the first act of "Lohengrin," Rethberg sits at her mirror fussing with a new wig. She wears a long, flowing white-and-gold robe. The wig is platinum blond, the hair reaching to the waist. It is the first time she has worn such a light-colored wig and she is a bit doubtful about it. Mrs. Marchand, her dresser, a small, plump, unflurried woman who has been with Rethberg for twenty-five years, reassures her. The wig is probably Mrs. Marchand's choice. She spends half her time peering into antique shops picking up things to go with Rethberg's costumes. The golden circlet which fits over the long white veil covering the hair, Mrs. Marchand found in Germany. The gold-and-turquoise diadem matching the turquoise-velvet mantle of the second act costume was another Marchand discovery in an old shop in Paris.

Mrs. Marchand pins on the veil while Rethberg braids the platinum hair. The new wig is too flat, so off come crown and veil again, Mrs. Marchand pins a few puffs of hair on top of the wig, and the veil goes back, satisfactorily high this time.

RETHBERG is heavily but not too brightly made up. In the first act Elsa must appear pale and suffering. Karin Branzell, as the villainess Ortrud, comes in for a moment in her dark, flamboyant costume and highly colored make-up. She moans that she sang in Worcester the day before and, "It was so coldt, liebchen. I do not feel so goot," to which Rethberg listens sympathetically. Leopold Sachse, stage director, brings Rethberg a new penny, which he does before all her performances, and reminds her to make her entrance from the proper side of the stage. Erich Leinsdorf, the conductor, trots in, and a flood of German fills the room as he kisses her hand (exactly like the novels). Edward Johnson knocks timidly at the door, also kisses Rethberg's hand, and they both sigh reminiscently over the time when Johnson sang Lohengrin to Rethberg's Elsa—Johnson still looking young and slim enough to fill in for Melchior.

The final knock and "Three minutes, Mme. Rethberg." She dabs on an extra fluff of powder, stands up, kicks her train in place and is ready to go on.

"Lohengrin"

This Week's Opera

Saturday, January 27, The Metropolitan Opera Company will present Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin" on NBC at 2:00 p.m. EST, 1:00 p.m. CST, 12:00 noon MST, 11:00 a.m. PST.

THE CAST:

Elsa Elisabeth Rethberg (soprano)
Lohengrin Lauritz Melchior (tenor)
Ortrud Karin Branzell (contralto)
Telramund Julius Huehn (baritone)
King Henry Emanuel List (basso)
Herald Leonard Warren (baritone)
Conductor: Erich Leinsdorf

many (tenth century), and his followers are assembled on the river bank near Antwerp. The Duchy of Brabant is without a ruler, for its young heir, Gottfried, has vanished mysteriously. Telramund and his wife, Ortrud, plot to obtain the Duchy, and he accuses Elsa (Princess of Brabant) of having murdered her brother Gottfried. Henry orders Elsa to be tried by ordeal of combat, but no champion appears to defend her against Telramund until a boat approaches drawn by a swan and bearing a knight garbed in resplendent armor.

In her dressing-room here, Mme. Elisabeth Rethberg examines the gown she will wear as Elsa of "Lohengrin" on The Metropolitan Opera Company broadcast Sat., NBC. Plump Mrs. Marchand, her dresser, brushes a wig

HERE we have the eternally romantic story of the valiant knight in shining armor come to save ye ladye faire in distress. Of course, before he succeeds, he has to circumvent the machinations of her tormentor (there are two of them in this case) and overthrow him in mortal combat.

The tale covers more than that, however, and the mythological legends (German, Dutch, Belgian) on which it is based go into many side-lines. With his usual sure theatrical instinct, Wagner eliminates most of them and changes others to meet the needs for active drama and musical illustration. In the main, he has combined two different legends, one about the Swan-knight, and the other about the Holy Grail and its guardians.

In 1850, when Wagner was a political refugee in Switzerland, Liszt, his greatest admirer (and subsequent father-in-law), premiered "Lohengrin" at Weimar. The opera was phenomenally successful and traveled to all the important stages, which made the still-exiled composer say that he was the only German who had not heard "Lohengrin"! In 1861 he was permitted to return to his native land and then he had his initial hearing of the work.

The libretto story, briefly, runs as follows: Henry the Fowler, King of Ger-

He asks for Elsa's hand in marriage, provided she shall never ask him who he is or whence he came. She has dreamed of just such a protector and she consents happily. Thereupon Lohengrin strikes down Telramund in their duel but spares his life.

In the second act the ungrateful Telramund and Ortrud plot further against Elsa and try to persuade her to ask Lohengrin the forbidden questions. The knight again frustrates the plotters and he and Elsa are married.

The third act finds the newlyweds in their bridal chamber. Elsa (finally influenced by the insinuations of Ortrud) breaks her promise and insists upon knowing her husband's name and origin. Telramund bursts in to assassinate Lohengrin but is himself killed by the former's magic sword.

In the final scene, again on the river bank, Lohengrin sadly reveals his identity and takes farewell. He is the son of Parsifal and knight of the Holy Grail! The swan reappears to bear the hero away, when Ortrud proclaims herself a sorceress and confesses that the bird, enchanted by her, really is the missing Gottfried. Lohengrin breaks the spell, sails away forever (the boat now is drawn by a white dove) and Elsa dies in the arms of her restored brother.

Radio find of 1939, Alec Templeton. (NBC, Mon.) has risen meteorically since the 1939 Star of Stars Poll. Will he place in the 1940 ballot?

VOTE FOR YOUR STARS

THE rush for ballots has begun! Everywhere listeners are rallying to pull their favorite stars and programs to victory in the gigantic Star of Stars Poll. How about you?

Who is your favorite star? What are your favorite programs? In this biggest and most important radio poll of 1940 you have a chance to choose them. The personalities and programs which win RADIO GUIDE's poll are tops in broadcasting because listeners choose them, and listeners are the final arbiters of broadcasting merit. By their interest or lack of interest, listeners make and break stars; keep programs on the air and take them off. Therefore, if you really like a star or a program, the one swell way of proving it is to help them win radio's biggest popularity poll.

On this page is the third ballot in a series of eleven to be published in eleven consecutive weeks, the final ballot appearing in RADIO GUIDE for the week ending March 29. Thus, there are nine more chances for every listener to vote. Don't miss a single one!

Each ballot provides a new opportunity to pick your favorites in different types of programs and different kinds of stars. Each ballot also provides a new chance to vote for your Star of Stars—who may be anyone you have already voted for in special divisions or someone entirely different. The latter applies also to the "My Favorite Program" blank. After filling out the ballot, paste it on a penny post-card and mail immediately. Remember that only official ballots appearing in RADIO GUIDE will be counted in poll results. One further caution: Note the condition on the ballot ruling out any star or program not featured on a network broadcast within the last six months. No ballot ignoring this rule will be considered.

Star of Stars poll results for all classifications will soon be appearing in every issue of RADIO GUIDE. For thrilling, neck-and-neck popularity races between stars and shows, follow the results as they are published. Send in your ballots regularly each week and watch the standing of your choices as the weeks pass! Make this poll work for your favorites!

OFFICIAL BALLOT: Mail to Radio Guide Star of Stars Poll, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Illinois.

Who Wins the "POT O' GOLD"?

How Horace Heidt's "selector" saved a home, helped a church, while it thrilled America

—Harry Rubenstein

This "selector" finds the lucky telephone number which "Pot o' Gold" (NBC) calls Tuesday nights

THE secret ambition of the average American radio listener these days is to have his telephone ring just before 9 o'clock, eastern time, some Tuesday night. Of course lots of telephones do ring just before 9 o'clock, eastern time, on Tuesday nights. But only one of them will have a voice on the other end that says, "This is the 'Pot o' Gold' program. We are sending you $1,000 by telegraph!"

It's a modern Klondike, this new and startling program which in the space of four months has seen its Crossley rating of popularity zoom up to a bulging figure of twenty-one. That means almost one out of every four families listening to the radio between 8:30 and 9 p.m. has its dials tuned to Horace Heidt and his "Pot o' Gold." Which, in the annals of radio entertainment, is almost unprecedented.

The lure of free gold, unexpected and without toil, has been dubbed the root of all evil. Avarice, greed, unhappiness are invariably reputed to follow in its wake.

But the "Pot o' Gold" and its free $1,000 given away each week seem to upset this time-honored axiom. The records show that the money has done a startling amount of good in every case, performing such heart-warming tasks as the rehabilitation of families beset by hard luck, helping a small-town clerk pay for his home, and even giving a preacher funds with which to start a new church! In fact, you'll find not a single blemish on its unbroken record for doing good.

If you've never bent an ear to this program, here's the way it runs. There's a complex and highly unpredictable mechanism called the "selector," which whizzes through a master library of telephone books from all parts of the nation. The "selector" not only narrows out a certain book but even designates the page and a single name on that page. A phone call is then put through to the chosen party. Should the call be answered, the individual whose name was chosen gets $1,000. If the ring goes unanswered, then the party is presented only $100, with the remaining $900 being added to the following week's pot.

Of the first fourteen calls made—dating to the start of 1940—only five went unanswered. The "selector" plays no favorites, for the golden shower has fallen in many diverse corners of the country. Always benevolently, however, for not one of the recipients has been a person to whom the money did not mean much.

Take, for example, the Connecticut housemover with four children who had been forced to give up his home because his life had financially been too much up-hill. To him came a two-week accumulation of $1,900—a golden windfall that enabled this typical American to buy back his house, reestablish his family life, and face 1940 with hope, all because the wily "Pot o' Gold" selector picked his name from a welter of the nation's telephone subscribers.

Out in Norwalk, Ohio, there is a busy, happier housewife this winter. Although her husband was injured four years ago and can no longer work, she now knows that her family has a far better outlook than before a certain Tuesday when the phone rang and a voice from Radio City announced them to be $1,000 richer. They were previously so poor that even a few dollars to repair a broken radio set could not be mustered. A new receiver was one of her first purchases.

AND there have been other commonplace, hard-working Americans on the list of the lucky—a Florida exterminator, an Ohio paperhanger, a Massachusetts woodworker and a Michigan grocery clerk. The latter individual has used his gift—a three-week total of $2,800—to finish paying for his small and modest home. The public likes to see this money go to deserving people and often the studio applause is thunderous when a phone call reveals that the recipient is employed at a simple, down-to-earth occupation.

Probably one of the most interesting donations in the history of the "Pot o' Gold" was that $1,000 which went to Rev. W. H. Lash of Salisbury, N. C. He gratefully wrote:

"On the morning of October 2 I was called out of town to attend a funeral in Durham, N. C., because of the sudden death of my daughter-in-law's mother. The occasion was indeed a very sad one, which left me in a state of sorrow and melancholy.

"When I returned from Durham, my youngest son, John, greeted me very enthusiastically and excitedly even before I had time to step out of the car. He insisted that I hurry into the house, 'for,' he said, 'I have something to show you.' At the time I could not imagine what had happened. My whole family greeted me with joy, mirth and laughter. At first I could not believe that what was stated in the telegram was true. When the lady at the Western Union office handed me your check for $1,000, adding her congratulations, it still did not seem real to me. It was more like a dream. But when the one thousand 'bucks' was paid to me in cold cash, I realized that it was not a joke.

"I am a Lutheran minister and pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Salisbury, N. C. My small congregation is considered a mission and we are striving to make it self-sustaining. At present we are badly in need of a church home, one in which we can worship God according to the dictates of our conscience and call our own. Your donation will buy a lot on which we hope to be financially able to erect a small church. What you have done for me will go a long way in helping my struggling congregation carry out our plans. When our church is finished it will stand as a lasting monument to the Horace Heidt program."

One of the biggest chunks of "Pot o' Gold" cash—a mere $2,800—went to Henry Wilpolt, a railway engineer from Kaukauna, Wisconsin, who has a regular day's run on the Chicago & North Western. Mr. Wilpolt had just come home on that memorable night, after rolling his locomotive into the roundhouse, and was eating supper, when a member of the family snapped on the radio. The music of Horace Heidt filled the room.

As they ate, the family listened to the program. The "selector" went through its unpredictable gyrations which pick the telephone number to be called. "Just think," said Mr. Wilpolt's son-in-law, "that call could go anywhere in the whole United States."

And at that moment the phone began to ring!

"New York is calling Mr. Henry Wilpolt," droned the toll operator. It was one of those breathless events which can never be forgotten in an entire lifetime.

SEVERAL hundred brother engineers, many of whom he had never met, wrote and congratulated this Wisconsin man. From Hollywood actor Hugh O'Connell wired his greetings—for O'Connell remembered Wilpolt from years before when the screen star had been a "call boy" for the Chicago & North Western. It was in the days when most engineers had no telephones and if the railroad needed a throttle-man for an early morning special run, the "call boy" was sent to throw pebbles at his bedroom window.

A flood of mail usually follows on the heels of all "Pot o' Gold" windfalls. Many of them are from well-wishers, but an equal number originate with people selling oil stock, shares in busi-

On Short Waves

Edited by Charles A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Programs from foreign countries subject to change without notice

LET'S LISTEN TO "LITTLE AMERICA"

AFTER an unbroken polar silence of some years, "Little America" will soon be on the air again. The Byrd Expedition, now nearing Antarctica, will use short wave extensively, both for local and for international communication purposes.

The first broadcasts from Antarctica, subsequently to be made every two weeks, will originate from the expedition's west base, a new site for "Little America," 100 miles east of the 150th meridian. This camp will be equipped with two 500-watt short-wave transmitters, one of which will establish commercial contacts with American networks, using the call KRTK; the other, an amateur station to be known as KC4USA.

After the west base has been established, the ships will backtrack to Valparaiso, Chile, to refuel, and then set up the east base on Alexander Land, south of the southernmost tip of South America. Here the commercial transmitter will operate under the call KRTK; the amateur transmitter, under the call KC4USB.

The great, lumbering snow-cruiser, also completely radio-equipped, houses commercial short-wave transmitter KRTA and amateur transmitter KC4USC.

In addition, there will be twenty-five low-power outpost stations, including nine radio-equipped dog sleds and powerful transmitters in each of the expedition's five planes.

Amateur transmitters KC4USA, KC4USB and KC4USC will operate optionally on 7.075 megas in the 40-meter band, 14.15 megas in the 20-meter band, or 28.300 megas in the 10-meter band.

Commercial transmitters KRTK, KRTC and KRTA will be heard on experimental frequencies 6.425, 9.135, 11.06, 12.862 or 23.100 megas, as well as special commercial and mobile frequencies.

En route to Antarctica, when the expedition stopped at Pitcairn Island, they found supplies of food, clothing and medicine very low (as predicted by RADIO GUIDE some weeks ago). Radio operators repaired the island's single radio receiver, but their only means of contact with the outside world, transmitter VR6AY, after having been repaired in Panama, is still stranded there, awaiting some means of transportation back to its south-seas home.

FROM THE EUROPEAN ARENA: Members of the International DX'ers Alliance report Lahti, Finland, short-wave stations OFE (11.78) and OFD (9.50) are still being heard when conditions are favorable. A new series of timely talks entitled "What Is This Freedom," in which freedom as understood in a democracy and its place in the ordinary life of the British man and woman is discussed and analyzed by Sir William Beveridge, may be heard from London weekly, Tuesdays at 9 p.m. CST over GSC (9.58) and GSL (6.11).

THE NEWS IN BRIEF: Chicago is soon to have its first of the new-type, frequency-modulated short-wave broadcast stations. To be installed and operated by the Zenith Radio Corporation, it will broadcast with a power of 1,000 watts on a frequency of 42.8 megas. NBC's new steerable antenna is constructed so that the narrow beam of signals which it radiates may be swung across South America through an angle of twenty degrees merely by touching a push-button. Thus its effective signal strength of more than 600,000 watts power can be concentrated on main centers of population which lie along the coast and can be shifted so that the greatest possible listening audience may be reached, first on the East Coast, and then, as the evening progresses, on the West Coast. This arrangement gives our short-wave stations a distinct advantage over those of Europe, which have to spread their beams fanwise across the continent at all hours and therefore cannot concentrate on particular centers of population to any great extent or separate their Spanish and Portuguese programs. VLV3 (11.83), Perth, West Australia, actually operates from 2 to 9:30 a.m. CST (Sundays to 8:30 a.m.), but the best hours of reception are from 7 a.m. CST on. I want to once more call your attention to CR7BE (9.65). Lourenco Marques, Mozambique, Portuguese East Africa, which is transmitting experimentally from 1 to 3 p.m. CST. The signals from this station at times reach tremendous volume. If you have never heard Africa direct here's your chance. The India stations on the 60-meter band, namely, VUD2 (4.96), Delhi; VUC2 (4.84), Calcutta; VUB2 (4.88), Bombay, and VUM2 (4.92), Madras, are being heard throughout the United States with fine signals from about 6:30 a.m. CST on. The news in English is given at 6:30 a.m. CST. The recent earthquakes in Turkey apparently did not harm short-wave station TAP (9.465) at Ankara, as it was heard one afternoon last week with excellent signals up to its regular sign-off time at 3:30 p.m. CST.

A NEW COVER FOR YOUR RADIO GUIDE

AND NOT ONLY A NEW COVER—BUT

A BRAND-NEW magazine! The publishers of Radio Guide have long felt the need for a single magazine which would serve as a family guide to the two most popular forms of entertainment—radio and movies. So Radio Guide now becomes your Movie and Radio Guide. And at no extra cost. This doesn't mean that the world of radio will be neglected in future issues. All of the features—program guides, stories, information—which you look for in Radio Guide will still be there. BUT added to them will be the same sort of stories and features about the movie world. It's two magazines for the price of one—two magazines prepared and published for the American family.

Plea for Pen

Dear V. O. L.:
Radio has been in many cases the stepping stone to success for amateur entertainers—comedians, actors, singers, musicians—inasmuch as it has given these people an opportunity to present their talents to a widespread audience for their acclaim. Wouldn't it be possible for radio to give aspiring amateur script-writers and fiction-story writers the same sort of opportunity—present amateur hours for them wherein they could read or dramatize their material and try for prizes?

Miss Margarite Strobel,
Union City, N. J.

● Is there another Major Bowes in the house? After all, the pen is mightier than the sword or the musical saw.—V. O. L.

Shrewd Salesman

Dear V. O. L.:
I sell used radios in my home in my spare time and whenever I sell someone a radio they ask about certain programs, so now I have several Radio Guides on hand. Now also I give a Radio Guide with each radio sold.
Harold Wurm, Appleton, Wis.

● Mr. Wurm hit upon the common-sense principle that you'll sell more steaks if you give the customer a knife and fork to eat it with.—V. O. L.

Not-So-Big Sister

Dear V. O. L.:
I made an error in giving you the data on Alice Frost. I wonder if you would be so kindly as to rectify it. She was born August 1, 1910, not 1907.

BONNIE BAKER

The "OH JOHNNY, OH JOHNNY" Girl

SELDOM has a singing gal of the popular-orchestra world soared to fame so swiftly on the notes of a song as has Bonnie Baker. A few months ago Bonnie was singing very nicely and very anonymously with the orchestra of handsome Orrin Tucker. Today everybody is wild about Bonnie Baker. A resurrected ballad twenty-two years old, called "Oh Johnny," is the song which did it—and radio, the Mutual Broadcasting System in particular, played its essential part. Bonnie hails from Texas and sings for the love of it. Her father was well enough off to have done pretty well by his brown-eyed daughter, but Bonnie landed a job with maestro Tucker. When, almost by accident, she happened on "Oh Johnny," sang it with Tucker over MBS wires, she and the song became twin sensations. Recordings spread like wild-fire. The "Hit Parade" (CBS, Sat.) corralled her recently, but MBS still airs Baker and Tucker frequently. Radio Guide presents them, suggests there will be more of Bonnie anon.

ROYALTIES, THAT'S WHAT HAPPENS

"GANG BUSTERS" The Show

THROUGH its weekly thriller dramas on the "crime does not pay" theme, the radio show "Gang Busters" has accomplished a number of remarkable things. In its fourth year now, the Phillips H. Lord program (heard over CBS, Saturdays, 8 p.m. EST; 7 p.m. CST; 9:30 p.m. MST; 8:30 p.m. PST) has presented upward of 175 dramatizations of actual crimes. The crime clues given at the close of each show have been credited with the arrest of scores of wanted suspects. The comments of narrator

Col. Norman Schwarzkopf, former head of New Jersey State Police, and the dramas themselves have made "Gang Busters" a favorite with every kid. Less widely known is the astounding financial success of "Gang Busters." Today the show's originators collect in the neighborhood of $20,000 a year for a bevy of by-products which bear the name "Gang Busters." Shirts, ties, suits, guns, badges, books, magazines sell like hotcakes. On these pages Radio Guide shows its readers how a successful radio program grows rich on royalties.

Photographs by CBS, Charles P. Seawood

Here is "Seth Parker" today—not the moralizing New Englander beloved by listeners everywhere but, in real life, Phillips H. Lord, operator of his own show-producing corporation, which produces, among others, "Gang Busters"

ABLE COL. H. NORMAN SCHWARZKOPF took over narrating duties from Lord some time ago. A retired police official, he lends solid authenticity to the dramas

CHILLINGLY REALISTIC dramatizations of facts taken from police files require much emoting by "Gang Busters" actors, split-second timing. Presentation of the drama, above, is accompanied by Col. Schwarzkopf's scene-setting and interviews with police who worked on the case

You Asked for Them and Here

Dear RADIO GUIDE: Let's have a recent picture of the hot, rhythm-singing Andrews Sisters.—Frank Downs, Chicago, Ill.

This gag-shot of sisters Maxene, Patty and LaVerne (left to right) is not symbolic. Fans who hear them with Glenn Miller (CBS, Tues., Wed., Thurs.) know they have never needed tuning-forks to produce their brand of harmony.—ED.

Dear RADIO GUIDE: Please, a picture of the "One Man's Family" Grubbs.—J. B., Fargo, N. Dak.

Here are Winifred Wolfe and Jack Edwards, who play Teddy and Wayne Grubb (NBC, Sun.), and there's romance here in real life as well as on the air—as this fraternity-dance shot suggests.—ED.

Dear RADIO GUIDE: Are the Moylan Sisters radio's youngest harmony team? Show me.—Margaret Blake, Troy, N. Y.

Harmony teams don't come much younger than this cute one. Left to right, Marianne, 7, and Peggy Joan, 5, are heard as the Moylan Sisters on Sunday afternoons over NBC, recently made a hit guest appearance with Fred Allen.—ED.

TIES EVERYWHERE

WHEN IT CLICKS WITH MR. AND MRS. JOHN Q.

NARD SCHUBERT is the man who farms out the name of "Gang Busters," arranging royalty acts with the firms who use above he reads "Popular Comics" the "Gang Busters" magazine

BOYS EVERYWHERE prize nothing more than a "Gang Busters" belt. When show executives tumbled to that fact, Mr. Schubert licensed Hickok, Inc., to make them. 20,000 dozen have been sold at fifty cents—with a neat royalty

LABELING THIS TOY MACHINE GUN "Gang Busters" made it a natural for exploitation in a war-conscious world. Louis Marx, Inc., New York, have already sold 350,000 at one dollar each. Operating one here is Santos Ortega of the cast

By-Products of "Gang Busters"

CHILDREN WILL DEVOUR "Gang Busters" in book as well as in dramatic doses, Mr. Schubert learned. The book which actress Barbara Weeks reads above is third published so far. Total sales: 600,000 copies at ten cents

"GANG BUSTERS" neckties cost twenty-five cents, now grace the necks of 50,000 boys. Phil Lord's office man Arthur Hagenlocher models one below

SWEATSHIRTS MANUFACTURED by Gardiner Warring Mills come in sizes to fit boys from age six to sixteen. Seen on actor Carl Frank, below, the shirt costs fifty-nine cents. A badge costs Junior a dime extra

"GANG BUSTERS" play suits retail at one dollar. Holster and pistol vary from twenty-five cents to one dollar. Note model below

HERE IS THE "GANG BUSTERS" auto as demonstrated by May Bolhauer (below) of the Lord office. Department stores have sold 150,000 to date at one dollar per chassis. Louis Marx, Inc., makes them

"GANG BUSTERS" exhibit at the N. Y. Fair included this death-chair act with actor Floyd Woolsey. Admission was 25c

Dear RADIO GUIDE: Please show us racket-busting Edward G. Robinson at home.—Mary Guest, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear RADIO GUIDE: Is Gene Autry married? I've never seen a picture of his wife.—James B., Albany, N. Y.

Gene Autry, heard now on his own radio show (CBS, Sun.), is happily married to his childhood sweetheart from Oklahoma. Here are Mr. and Mrs. Autry as they attended the Hollywood premiere of "Gone With the Wind."—ED.

LEONA PETTIGREW, harpist, is comparatively new to radio but well known to the American concert-goer

JEAN DICKENSON, protegee of Lily Pons and new addition to the Metropolitan Opera Company, is show's soprano vocalist

THE BUCKINGHAM CHOIR, joining the show three years ago, renders background music in addition to choral selections

FAMILIAR TO "AMERICAN ALBUM" fans since the premiere of the program nine years ago have been the exquisite violin solos of Bertrand Hirsch, an old favorite

ARDEN AND ARDEN, the two-piano team which handles the more intricate melodies, are, oddly, not related. Phil is at piano in rear, Vic in foreground

THE STRING SECTION of Gustave Haenschen's "American Album of Familiar Music" orchestra bears the brunt of responsibility for making it a program of sweet and lasting quality with listeners everywhere

FRANK MUNN, tenor soloist, is recognized as a performer who has but little competition in the ranks of radio singers. His renditions, without seeming effort, make him a welcome loudspeaker visitor to American homes year in and year out

ELIZABETH LENNOX, who shares the feminine vocalist spotlight with Jean Dickenson, is also well known to concert-goers, has appeared in every state except New Mexico. She is one of the few radio contraltos

GUSTAVE HAENSCHEN conducts the magnificent orchestra which provides the groundwork for the whole broadcast

ANNOUNCER ANDRE BARUCH'S melodic voice is nicely in key with the "Album's" tone

"It's a good picture except for her ridiculous costumes!"

357 LAUGHS FOR FOUR BITS

THIS is just one of the 361 cartoons that appear in Click's Cartoon Annual, which will give you and your friends many evenings of fun, as each of these cartoons packs a belly-laugh.

One hundred and twenty-eight pages of the best gags ever published—many of them in full color—drawn by America's best-known artists. See the cavalcade of cartooning—from crusading Thomas Nast to modern Peter Arno.

Click's Cartoon Annual will be the hit of 1940. If you want to be smart, you must get yourself a copy. You'll find it on the newsstands at 50c a copy. If you want to order by mail use the coupon below.

QUARRELS

IN A TYPICAL "I Want a Divorce" scene, Gale Gordon as husband and Rosemary De Camp as wife tell Lee Millar, judge, their reason for divorce—a family quarrel

INDIFFERENCE

WHEN A WIFE consistently refuses to listen to her husband's financial woes, as does Virginia Gordon to husband Lee Millar's here, there's trouble ahead

WHY GET A DIVORCE?

"I WANT a divorce!" That is the shrill cry which heralds the breakup of thousands of homes every year. Men and women who once lived happily together throw their troubles into the divorce courts for all and sundry to discuss. But seldom does anyone look behind the sordid headlines to the real causes—to ask why? One exception is "I Want a Divorce" (NBC, Sun., 3 p.m. EST; 2 CST; 10:30 MST; 9:30 PST). Here are common divorce complaints which this dramatic show proves are highly remediable.

NBC Hollywood Photographs

DRUNKENNESS

JUDGE LEE MILLAR hears of the old marriage stumbling-block—drunkenness. This time Virginia Gordon (married to Gale in life) is wife, John Deering, husband

BELOW, Rosemary De Camp is the wife who has driven husband John Deering to desperation through irresponsible extravagance. Dramas offer a cure for such cases

CRUELTY

ROSEMARY DE CAMP, who shares wife roles with Miss Gordon, intends to leave husband John Deering to escape cruelty and meanness in personal matters

IN HIS FAVORITE role as Judge, Lee Millar shows below how wise counsel can adjust many marital ills, start couples back on the road to happiness

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It Is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections
No MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band (frequencies and short wave channels).

ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD
Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.

NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED
On the market five years, 100,000 customers in U.S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radlos for doublet aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radlos. Mail coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a 5 DAYS TRIAL (free pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.)

JUST MAIL THIS COUPON

F & H Radio Laboratories, Dept. 120, Fargo, N. Dak.
Send F & H Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check here if sending $1 with order—thus saving postage cost—same refund guaranteed. Check here if interested in dealer's proposition.

WHAT USERS SAY
LaPorte, Tex. After using the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 small 7 tube set can say it brings in reception with fine volume and clarity, pulling in stations from Japan, Europe, South America, and broadcast stations from all over the U. S. Efficiency proven, I took down my old outside aerial.
Signed:.....
Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago. Signed:.....

Here's the Way to Curb a Rupture

Successful Home Method That Anyone Can Use On Any Reducible Rupture Large or Small

COSTS NOTHING to FIND OUT

Thousands of ruptured men, women and children will rejoice to know that the full plan so successfully used by Capt. W. A. Collings for his double rupture from which he suffered so long will be sent free to all who write for it. Merely send your name and address to Capt. W. A. Collings, Inc., Box 506W, Watertown, N. Y. It won't cost you a cent to find out and you may bless the day you sent for it. Hundreds have already reported satisfactory results following this free offer. Send right away—NOW—before you put down this paper.

"POT O' GOLD"

ness ventures, insurance policies and a hundred other schemes for the making of money.

Lee McCoy, a veteran bachelor of Dallas, Texas (who was playing penny ante with friends when the $1,000 call came through), admits receiving several proposals of marriage from leap-year-minded ladies—after his good fortune became noised abroad.

Among other things, the "Pot o' Gold" should prove conclusively that there is witchery in numbers. The person called on the thirteenth program failed to answer. His name was in volume 148 of the many phone books scanned by the "selector." (Add up the digits in 148.) The name was on page twenty-two of the book, and the ninth listing on that particular page. (Add the digits in 22 and 90!)

Then, whipping to the opposite extreme, let's return to Mr. Wilpolt, the engineer, who was the recipient on the seventh program. (He got $2,800.) The call came through on the night of November 7. And he has seven letters in his name.

The "Pot o' Gold" craze has swept across the land with the fever of a modern '49. All you need to stake a claim is a telephone, with the added comfort of a receiver to eavesdrop on the proceedings. Tuesday becomes a spot of utter silence in the social life of America—with hubby and wife alike unwilling to venture from the home hearth lest they miss the golden ring of a telephone bell!

In some towns the "Pot o' Gold" has constituted a real menace to the Tuesday night movies. Theater-owners have looked out in despair over an acre of empty seats. But one bright operator, working with a sliderule and the law of probability, offered $1,000 of his own to any person who missed the "Pot o' Gold" donation while attending the movies.

It's worked out fine. The people pack his theater. If they're at home they get only $1,000. But if they're not on hand to answer the phone, they get $100 plus the theater's $1,000.

And that, as anyone will tell you, is $1,100!

—Dick Dorrance.

"Pot o' Gold" may be heard on Tuesday over an NBC network at:
EST 8:30 p.m. — CST 7:30 p.m.
MST 6:30 p.m. — PST 5:30 p.m.

NATIONALLY KNOWN ROOFING MANUFACTURER HAS A FEW OPENINGS FOR GOOD SALESMEN

If you feel you've gone as far as you can in your present job and want advancement, with a chance to make more money and build a fine future for yourself with a nationally known company, write me a letter about your past experience. We have a special kind of roofing that saves users big money for it is applied right over old roofs with a brush and guaranteed to last for ten years. An exceptional product at a low price makes it relatively easy to sell. We turn over old accounts and prospects and get behind you in every way. Our men are successful and happy. We pay you

SALARY and EXPENSES

Based on Small Monthly Quota

Your age doesn't make any difference. Nor do I care whether you are working now or not. The men I will appoint for the places now open must be serious, intelligent, able to talk to executives and willing to put in an honest day's work for a decent salary. If you measure up, write me and I'll send you complete information and copy of my salary contract for your territory. Here's a fine opportunity for old timers who have no connection to get back on their feet, or for men who feel that their present line offers no future. If you want a new start, with a new product, and a good house behind you, write to me right away.

Back Pain and Kidney Strain

Wrong foods and drinks, worry, colds and overwork often put a strain on the Kidneys. Backache, Getting Up Nights, Burning Passages, Swollen Ankles, Rheumatic Pains, Nervousness, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feeling worn-out, often are caused by non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. Usually, in such cases, the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess acids and wastes. And this cleansing, purifying kidney action, in just a day or so, may easily make you feel younger, stronger and better than in years. A printed guarantee wrapped around each package of Cystex insures an immediate refund of the full cost unless you are completely satisfied. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose under this positive money back guarantee so get Cystex from your druggist today for only 35c.

COMING UP NEXT WEEK

This is the time of year when new stars are born, when old ones are shifted about as new radio shows are built and contracts signed. So the columns of news and gossip from Hollywood, New York and Chicago which are found in each each issue of RADIO GUIDE are filled with names that make news and alive with interest for fans who like to keep abreast of today's happenings in the radio world.

A special treat for "Pepper Young's Family" fans will be the cover of next week's RADIO GUIDE. Adorning it will be the lovely Peggy Young of "Pepper Young's Family," as played by Betty Wragge.

Everything that King Midas touched turned to gold—remember? But Radio's King Midas has the silver touch, and to the 1,080 contestants who have had their palms crossed thus far, he has given out $20,000. Meet this King Midas in next week's rotogravure section of RADIO GUIDE and learn how you can benefit by his munificence.

Stars in the sun is no astronomical omelet but a very beautiful picture feature in which RADIO GUIDE will take its readers to one of America's winter resorts where the stars relax and play under the warm sun. We recommend this feature as a mental medicine for rheumatism, the sniffles and snow to be shoveled.

To be able to listen to every program on the air is a sheer physical impossibility. But every week there are special events that everyone will want to hear. This is especially true now, with radio in its greatest season, and if you haven't been following the Coming Events page in RADIO GUIDE, you'll want to start now. Here in a brief and snappy style the big events of the coming week are spotlighted for you, and choosing your program becomes a simple matter.

The "Cavalcade" rolls on! And that's important news for all of us, because here is a program—"Cavalcade of America"—which brings along the big moments and the big men of American history with the biggest stars of radio, stage and screen participating. Next week RADIO GUIDE gives a pictorial idea of what is in store for us in the new "Cavalcade" series which has just started. These pictures will recapture for you the thrilling moments from each of these broadcasts.

"JUST LIKE A MANIKIN!"

is how many alert readers cleverly describe our big, unique ultra-modern MAGAZINE. For—like a manikin—it really turns human nature inside out and makes everything very plain to wide-awake folks who want to keep up with the latest discoveries and discussions, scientific and social, on such vital subjects as: Physical Fitness, Social Prestige, Modern Married Life, Practical Psychology, Personality, Marital Difficulties and Differences, Divorce, Sex Efficiency, Virile Manhood, Hygiene and Health, Heredity and Eugenics, Physical Culture and scores of similar topics! Never have you read a Magazine like The Confidant! It is a veritable encyclopedia of up-to-the-minute information on such subjects as affect your personal and social welfare—as reprinted and digested from leading professional and other publications the world over! To equal its condensed contents, you would have to read over 100 different magazines in a given time—or a whole shelf of books! Thus it actually serves as a magazine clearing-house—terse, timely, dependable, inexpensive yet all inclusive! Even read by many Physicians, although edited to meet a layman's popular need. If you are married or ever expect to be both you and wife will certainly benefit—for over 14 years it has proved its worth in many specific cases. (WIVES! Show this ad at once to your husbands!) Folks everywhere urge best friends to get it. So why not take this tip yourself, and be up-to-date, be currently informed? Information you have long wanted will be had in every issue! Information you have long wanted will be had in every issue! Information you have long wanted will be had in every issue! You take absolutely no risk of being fleeced! Don't confuse The Confidant with some cheap, silly publication—but remember that over 14 years it has been relied on by thousands of serious-minded subscribers—married and single—who usually save their copies for repeated reference. You will know WHY when you see it. SEND $1 TODAY for Special Trial Offer of 8-month subscription with $1 Worth of Back Issues Free (a $2 Value). Sample Copy 25c. Satisfaction or refund. Be alert, wide-awake, accept $1 offer at once! Be Wise! Be Safe! Wake up, Men! It's No Fake. Not sold on newsstands—only by mail. (Read Ad again—Act!)
