A Radio Saved My Life

By VICTOR BORGE

IN THE bedroom of my home in Hollywood there's a little portable radio. Part of the paint has been chipped off and the corners are battered. But it still brings me the news of the world, and it stands there as a reminder that radio saved my life in Nazi-dominated Europe and helped bring me to America and freedom.

I was in my native Denmark when the war broke out in 1939. My work was on the stage and in films, but my thoughts were constantly on the threatening German hordes—thoughts that I had been expressing through a daily syndicated newspaper column in Denmark.

During the winter I accepted a contract at the Royal Theater in Stockholm, Sweden, and left my wife in Copenhagen. And one morning in the following spring I received a wire from her saying my mother was ill and I must return at once.

I made a plane reservation and was waiting at the airport, listening to my little traveling radio, when the horrified voice of the announcer broke in: "The Germans have just invaded Denmark!"

Had it not been for the magic speed of radio my plane would have taken me to Denmark and a Nazi concentration camp or a firing-squad. I learned from friends later that my sharply satirical newspaper comments about the Nazis had put my name well up on the Gestapo lists.

My life from then on was a succession of minor miracles that somehow brought me to America with my wife—and a battered portable radio.

Weeks passed before I heard from

"War Widows" Cut Down Expenses...

MANY of the Big Brains in the country today say that the American people as a whole still don't know what sacrificing to win the war means. Perhaps that is true. But out in Hollywood, the last place in the world one expects to hear of folks cutting down expenses, are two smart "war widows" who are doing just that!

They are Ann Sheridan and Brenda Marshall. In private life, Mrs. George Brent and Mrs. William Holden. Brenda's Bill has been in the service almost a year now, and George may be in the Air Forces or the Coast Guard before this reaches print. So their wives have joined forces until victory is won. Each has given up her home, and the two are living in an old house that Ann owns out in the San Fernando Valley.

Both Warner stars, the girls became good friends while working on the same lot and decided to pool their resources in order to swell their weekly contributions for war bonds.

And can't you imagine just what a fortunate little girl Brenda's small daughter by a former marriage is going to be with two such lovely mothers to look after her?

Of course this plan mightn't work out in all cases; but Ann and Brenda have much in common—they both can cook, like the same informal mode of living.

Furthermore, although Brenda was born in the Philippines, where her father was a planter, she was sent to the United States for her education, and was graduated from the same schools as Ann in Denton, Texas.

Perhaps many homemakers will say, that's all very well, but two women in the same kitchen is something else again! All right! We'll grant there will be problems to face, as there always are in any experiment; but we're still banking on Ann and Brenda to do a good job of sharing until VICTORY!

The greatest star of the screen!

Our Department of Curious Statistics informs us that "Mrs. Miniver" has hung up the Lost Kerchief record.

It seems that more handkerchiefs were left in the seats than in the case of any previous duct-draining cinema.

A more solid statistic about this M-G-M masterpiece is that from all indications "Mrs. Miniver" will play to more people than any other single film ever released.

"Mrs. Miniver" brought out some nice work on the public's part, too! The fact that one of the most deserving pictures of all-time should be the record-breaking picture of all-time—is a tribute to the national taste.

"Mrs. Miniver" is more than a movie. It's a message of moment!

For a waggish lion we are sounding too terribly in earnest. If you'll promise to go and see "The War Against Mrs. Hadley"—another "Mrs."—and another motion picture that's timely, topical and top-notch, we'll get on to lighter aspects of shadow life!

★ ★ ★ ★

As for instance "Seven Sweethearts" the charmer which brings out so many talented new faces, led by Kathryn Grayson, Van Heflin and Marsha Hunt.

★ ★ ★ ★

And Red Skelton's new comic confection called "Whistling in Dixie", the ultimate in gaiety since "Whistling in the Dark".

★ ★ ★ ★

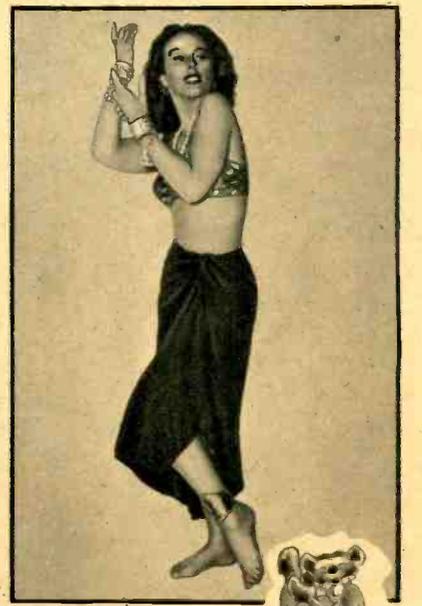

Red's maternal parent might be called The Whistler's Mother.

Perhaps the best music since such things began will be Judy Garland in "For Me and My Gal". Watch as well Gene Kelly of "Pal Joey" fame.

★ ★ ★ ★

And the most effective looking morsel ever to be shot by a photographer is Hedy Lamarr as Tondelayo in "White Cargo".

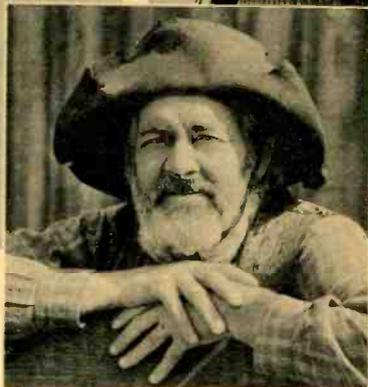

We're pretty effective too

WESTERNS Are Here to Stay

Men Are Men, Right Always Conquers, and Action Is Swift Out Where the
Westerns Begin, So We Love 'Em

HOLLYWOOD fads come and go, but the westerns keep rolling along. Shunned by the top-flight critics, passed over by metropolitan first-run theaters, the dramas of life on the open range continue to be, year in and year out, the best money-makers in the whole Hollywood bag of tricks.

Westerns are favorites on the airways, too. Programs like "Lone Ranger" and "Red Ryder" are gaining new listeners and enthusiastic fans.

When radio and screen fame are combined, as in the case of Gene Autry, a western star's fame soars to the skies. Gene's fan mail is the largest in Hollywood, topping that of such romantic actors as Cary Grant and Robert Taylor.

What is the explanation of the lasting popularity of Red Ryder, Gene, Bill Boyd, Roy Rogers, the Lone Ranger and others of the western entertainment field? How can they rule the roost in radio, movies, comic strips?

The answer probably lies in the simple, direct, action-packed stories, the gallant and upright characters. No one is bored when charging mounts race down mountain-sides, when guns blaze, and when last-minute developments save the old homestead from the mortgage-shark.

Everyone loves the western hero, the ever pure, ever gallant, ever generous hero. We love the rough old-timers with hearts of gold, and the pals of the hero, young and old, who help get him into trouble and out of it again.

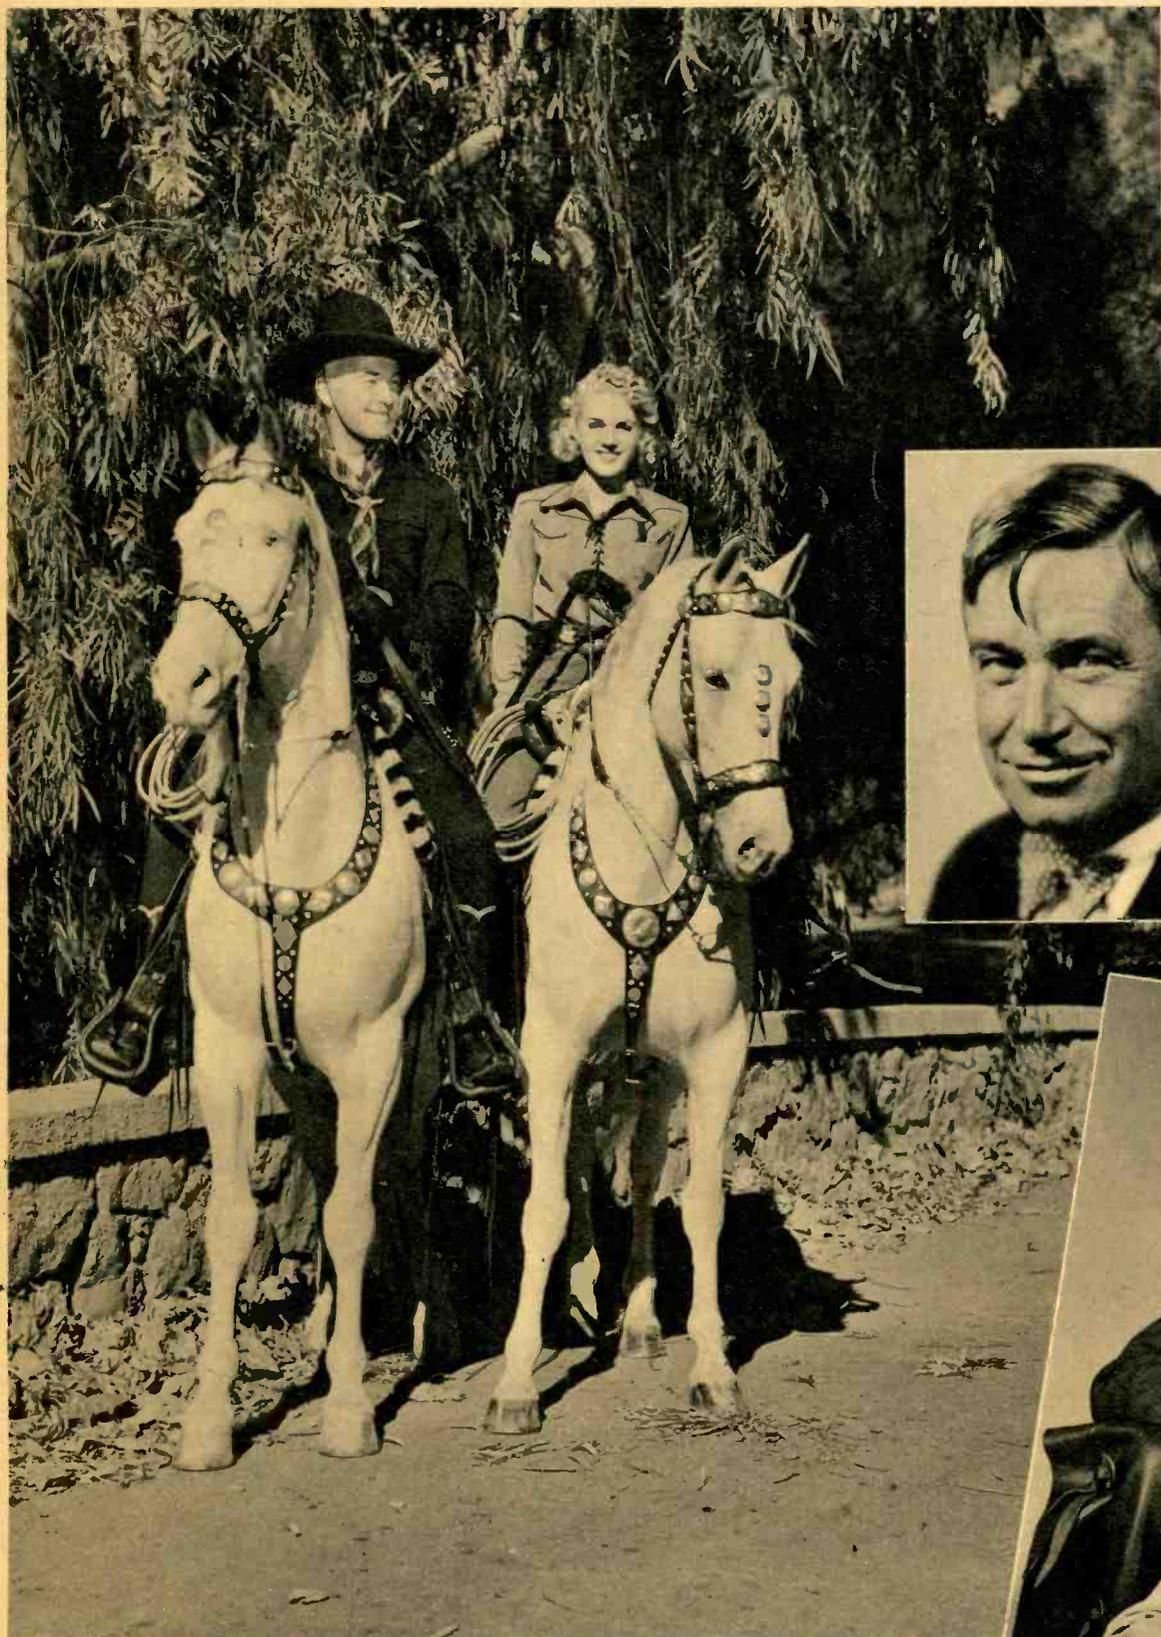

Right always triumphs in the westerns. The horse opera leaves us with no uncomfortable doubts or sadness. Villainy is punished. The good man is always the best spot when the final gunplay begins.

Yes, the western is here to stay, and we're all glad of it!

WILL ROGERS, left, brought rope tricks and a western drawl to Broadway, became our best-loved philosopher

ROY ROGERS, above, worked long and hard to win his present starring berth in westerns. He started with Autry

ACCOMPANIED only by McCarthy and Snerd, Edgar film, "Here We Go Again," to show at camps. Above: Bergen made a 14,000-mile trip by plane to entertain Trio in an advanced post in the Alaskan area. Cracked our armed forces in Alaska. With him he took his latest Charlie: "I can't see any Japs, but I can smell 'em!"

McCarthy at the Front

Fifty-One Shows in Twelve Days, That Was What Bergen, McCarthy and Snerd Gave in Alaska!

EDGAR BERGEN and Charlie McCarthy "mowed 'em down" in the biggest theater they ever played in—the theater of war in Alaska.

The planes that took them through the war zone were bombers with a full load of bombs in their racks. Full fighting crews manned every post. Every minute of the flight they scanned the sea for signs of enemy subs.

They flew in fog so thick that the planes skimmed the ocean at fifty to a hundred feet to get under the ceiling. And in storms so heavy that Bergen couldn't see the wing-tips. Altogether, they traveled 14,000 miles. Eight thousand of those miles carried them far into the active combat zones.

Originally the trip was scheduled for six days and shows of twenty-five minutes in length. As it turned out, the tour stretched into twelve days, and the performances, fifty-one in all, lasted over forty-five minutes—every one of them filled with fun and wisecracks that only Bergen and McCarthy, assisted by Mortimer, can deliver.

For when Bergen saw how hungry the men were for entertainment, heard them cheer and ask for more, he forgot all about time and GAVE!

At the camp theater in Dutch Harbor, where the NBC comedian went through thirteen straight shows, irrepressible Charlie got the biggest laugh of his career. Within easy flying-distance of Jap bases, a plane was heard approaching, and McCarthy chirped: "Here they come! Let me at those yellow ——! I'll mow 'em down!"

But there were no wisecracks when Bergen returned to Hollywood. He came back dead serious, with the grave determination to help the boys in our fighting forces anywhere and everywhere he can. Almost his first remark was: "I want to go back to Alaska. I want to go anywhere our men are stationed. I know now how hungry they are for some link that will connect them with the ties of home. Japs hold no fear for them, but they are afraid they might be forgotten by the folks back home."

Yes, Mr. Bergen brought back from Alaska's theater of war the gratitude of thousands of men and their officers in that strategic outpost of America; but the most important thing was a determination to help the boys out there. To let everyone back in the homeland know there is something

THE MOVIE FRONT

HOLLYWOOD

By FRANCES LONG

In reverse. Mr. and Mrs. Public filling the bleachers to watch the stars go by isn't news; it's just an accepted fact. But last week in Hollywood the stars changed places with the public. Movie stars and other film biggies paid one hundred dollars a seat to see the men in America's armed forces at the dedication of the Hollywood Canteen as they entered its doors for the first time. Stars did their share of cheering and neck-craning, too, as well as adding a substantial sum to the coffers of the canteen fund in the price they paid for their seats . . .

Migrating wife. Mrs. Gene Autry is preparing to close the family manse in Hollywood and will move to Phoenix, Arizona, where Gene, now a technical sergeant with the Air Forces, is located at Luke Field . . .

No more movie-making for Myrna Loy, which we are sorry to report, and we hope that the lady will change her mind. However, she is very happily married to Mr. John D. Hertz, New York advertising executive, has put on fifteen pounds and never looked better, even though she would be on the plump side for streamlined camera angles. When M-G-M officials presented another "Thin Man" script for her to read, she turned it down, said she was through with movies . . .

Garbo's in the doghouse because she is so conspicuous by her utter lack of participation in the war effort. While other stars are working overtime to do their share in bond-selling and auxiliary service, Garbo remains out of all activities. Now it is reported that the Swedish recluse has invested a nice piece of change in a Mexican tin mine. Of course that's her business, but we hope it isn't because the profits are non-taxable by the United States. (Continued on Page 32)

MOVIE REVIEW

"The Flying Tigers"

John Wayne and Anna Lee in "The Flying Tigers"

Cast: John Wayne, John Carroll, Anna Lee, Paul Kelly, Edmund MacDonald, Malcolm "Bud" McTaggart, Bill Shirley, Mae Clarke and Ann Jeffreys. A Republic picture, produced by Edmund Grainger and directed by David Miller. Screenplay by Kenneth Gamet and Barry Trivers, from the original story by Kenneth Gamet.

Type of Picture: Gripping drama woven around an American transport flier who joined the American Volunteer Group in China.

This Is the Story: Better known as "The Flying Tigers," the American Volunteer Group joined the Burma Road patrol originally as soldiers of fortune, eager for adventure, and not averse to accepting bonuses offered them by the Chinese government for bagging Japanese planes. But from the squadron leader to the lowliest grease-monkey, all of them are imbued with more lofty motives on; they realize the courage and heroism of the Chinese people, fighting desperately for freedom. One member of their group in disrepute in America redeems himself through his heroism. Another who entered because of financial and legal tangles in America shows himself to be a heel in making trouble, but the real story behind his actions is a poignant one when the truth finally comes out.

Verdict: A fine effort to reproduce the stark realities China faces in this war.—Adult.

NBC TO AIR LOUIS-CONN BATTLE FOR THE ARMY . . . MARGO TOURS WAR CAMPS

Sergeant Gene Autry Transferred to Arizona; Patty Hill Named "Most Likable Girl" in Atlantic City Contest; Autograph Dimes Go to USO

WASHINGTON

By LT. COL. CURTIS MITCHELL

There is no doubt that the biggest listening audience of the year will assemble around the loudspeakers on the night in October when Joe Louis fights Billy Conn for the world championship. The price paid to Army emergency relief for the right to put that battle on the air was $71,200, which is about twice as large as any other sum ever paid for the same purpose.

The bidding was open to all networks as soon as the fight was announced. That afternoon in New York City was the occasion of one of the maddest scrambles in recent radio history. The fight had been dead, there seemed little chance of its being fought this year, when the War Department suddenly stated that a committee of sports writers would put it on.

Every network-time salesman immediately went to work in a frantic effort to bring some big advertiser into the picture. Bids were submitted and the National Broadcasting Company got the plum. I'm told that Columbia's offer was a poor second, with Mutual's third.

Sergeant Louis and Private Conn ought to put on quite a good scrap. It is too bad some sailor or marine with handy fists couldn't be up there with Joe. Then we would have enjoyed a great Army-Navy battle . . .

Those Army football teams which have been playing the professional clubs have finished their seasons.

Their members are already scattered to the four winds, some into the skies in flying fortresses and others into officer training-schools and replacement centers. Before they broke up, there was some pressure to bring the two teams together here in Washington for a final east-west championship game. The players themselves wanted none of it. Each man on both squads wanted to get back at the business of soldiering so that he would be trained and able to take his place in the big team that is going to lick Hitler one of these days.

I was asked recently if the Army would organize new teams of soldiers next year, as was done this year. This opinion is purely personal, but I can answer only in the negative. Next year it will be a bloody, horrible business. We might as well face it. Next year all of this season's Army teams will be on the fighting fronts. The members of the school teams or professional teams that they might have played will be either in the fighting forces or working in some vital war industry. There will be no big-time football next year . . .

Hollywood is worried about its stars. Producers met in New York recently, discussed the problem. If all the stars go into the armed forces, they say, what will keep people coming into the movies? The Government must answer that. Does the good of the country require the movies and the radio? President Roosevelt has said that it does. Yet Gable and Tyrone Power and many others insist on deserting the movies for the real thing. The answer is difficult, but it is typical of the whole gamut of new problems which the war places on the desks of our war executives in these unparalleled times.

Margo—American. No more Latin oomph girl, just an all-around American gal doing things in the American manner. Margo has left a lucrative regular spot on the "Camel Caravan" to devote most of her time entertaining boys in uniform. This does not mean you will no longer hear Margo on the program. She will make an occasional appearance on the show . . .

Anne Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," did visual casting as well as aural when the program returned to the air after a summer hiatus. Miss Nichols insisted her characters fit the parts they play in appearance, as she plans to use the same cast in the picture version of her famous play . . .

Gertrude Lawrence, long a resident in the U. S. A., never has got the hang of American broadcasting systems. Gertie accepted and then canceled a booking on the Thursday night CBS "Stage Door Canteen" program, a Coast-to-Coast show. Advised that advance publicity was sent out on her and that it was too late to make a substitution for that week's program, Miss Lawrence calmly said, "Very well, then. Change the broadcast to Tuesday and I'll be glad to appear on the program" . . .

Barry Wood and a host of other radio stars have banded together and are now asking their fans to send in one dime for each autographed picture requested. These dimes will be turned over to the USO. Photographers, be prepared for a landslide business . . .

Conrad Thibault, the handsome baritone, returned from Atlantic City, where he helped pick "Miss America." This was his third consecutive year as a judge. The forty-eight pretty girls who participated in the event turned the tables on Conrad and picked him as the "handsomest" judge . . .

How would you like to tune in a station and be assured of diversified entertainment and news during the course of an hour's listening? Well, that's exactly what the Mutual Broadcasting System is planning for the coming winter radio season. A specially planned hour-by-hour format for the entire day will be put into effect immediately after the World Series. Each sixty-minute period will cover news, music, variety, and special emphasis will be placed on the war effort . . .

Betty Rhodes, the pretty blonde who is heard on "This Is the Hour," has been adopted by one of the A. E. F. outfits in Ireland as their "colleen" . . . Connee Boswell bids farewell to the "Camel Caravan" program as of October 2 . . . Ed Byron has enlisted in the V. O. C. as a private. Jerry Devine will carry on as writer-producer of "Mr. District Attorney" while Ed is packing a gun.

Wally Maher, to the kids who see and hear him on the "Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou" show, is Wilbur, and no amount of arguing to the contrary can do any good. After a recent broadcast a youngster approached him enthusiastically with "Hello, Wilbur!" Wally said, "My name is Wally Maher." The youth insisted, "No, it ain't—I know you." Wally shook his head negatively, gave the boy a pat on the back and started toward the door. "Hey, Wilbur!" again called the boy, Wally, without thinking, turned around. "SEe-ee-ee. I told you so, you are Wilbur." Wally could do nothing but utter Wilbur's familiar "Huh-lo," which satisfied his fan . . .

Bob Hope, while being fingerprinted for his Alaskan tour, was asked by one of the boys, "What would you do if the Japs broke in during one of your performances?" Answered Bob nonchalantly, "Why, it's a cinch—I'd keep right on clowning. My act has been known to knock 'em dead!" . . .

The Bud Abbotts have added a nursery to their home and we wouldn't be surprised if the decorations were in red, white and blue. It was during the Abbott and Costello record-breaking bond-selling tour that Bud heard from a Treasury Department official the availability for adoption of a certain youngster. The Abbotts, childless throughout their twenty-three years of married life, could hardly wait for their initial meeting with the child. Bud and Betty were smitten with the three-year-old, blue-eyed, blond baby, and adoption papers were taken out immediately . . .

Private Hoyt Bohannon, former trumpeter with Harry James, is the newest addition to the

There's nothing subtle about Gale Robbins' good looks. Nature gave her a good start, and make-up, hair-do and costuming have heightened the effect. The Bernie songstress is, to put it mildly, conspicuous. Gals like Gale always alarm me a little—they're such competent-looking creations that they seem hard and dangerous. For that reason, I'm always surprised to find that they're human, with the same heartaches and problems as ordinary, less decorative mortals. Here's Gale's:

When she was a kid of seventeen, she met a boy a year younger than herself at a high-school dance. The boy, Bob Olson, went on to become a civil engineer with the Santa Fe Railroad, and Gale became a professional entertainer. The school-day romance continued, and three years ago Gale said "Yes" to Bob Olson's proposal. This spring they set the wedding date in April. But this wasn't a cheerful spring. Olson considered joining the Army, and the couple decided to delay things a while. In June they set another date, but the same doubts and uncertainty canceled that—and canceled yet another date in July. Gale is a worried girl these days. Olson is almost set to enter the Air Forces, and the singer still doesn't know whether to go ahead and marry or wait till after the war. The fact that it's the same problem facing thousands of American women this year doesn't make it any easier to solve . . .

HARRY JAMES (right), conductor and star trumpeter, confers with his vocalists, Johnny McAfee and Helen Forrest. James and his music-makers launched a new Tuesday-Wednesday-Thursday series over CBS, replacing Glenn Miller's crew, now that Miller has become an Army captain Speaking of Gale reminds me of Bernie. The Ol' Maestro is slated for a trip to Maxwell Field, Alabama, on October 10. He'll take part in the graduation exercises for a new crop of fighting airmen. But it will be no routine camp show for Ben—his son Jason will be one to get his wings . . .

Patty Hill ("Green Hornet") copped third place in the "Miss America" finals at Atlantic City. Judges also voted her a trophy as the most likable girl in the gorgeous gang. Paramount offered a movie contract pronto, but Patty turned it down . . .

John Hodiak, often the lead in "Author's Playhouse," has been signed by M-G-M, and Fred Brady's gone coastward for screen-testing . . . Newlywed Wayne Van Dyne may be in uniform soon . . . Bring your old radio set (if it still works) to the Navy Mothers' Club, 335 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago. It will be passed on to a sailor at Great Lakes . . .

Word goes round that the Tommy Bartlett-Hildegard romance is flaring again. Tommy, former CBS announcer and now air cadet, once was reported on the verge of engagement with the beautiful Hildy. These two Milwaukee folk drifted apart as each made his way in big-time radio, but the split seems all patched up now . . . And Ginger Dinning deserves special felicitations for her patriotism. She was slated to marry September 18 but postponed her happiness a day to appear in a special bond-selling broadcast on what would have been her wedding night . . .

Luddy-LeFevre amalgamation went off as per schedule with much fuss and feathers and some yodeling by Bret Morrison, Mr. First Nighter on Barbara's weekly dramatic show . . . "First Nighter's" sponsor, Campana, has a proper sense of values. It puts on a solid half-hour of drama from Chicago every week, but it allots only fifteen minutes to that little village out in California—what's its name—oh, yes, Hollywood. Beginning October 10, Campana will shoot the movies' Dick Powell over the nets for a quarter-hour Saturday evenings.

NICOLAI MALKO CONDUCTS NBC SYMPHONY CONCERT SUNDAY, OCTOBER 4

Russian Music Featured in Latest Columbia and Victor Recordings;
Musical Experimentation Leads Bandleader Carl Hoff Back to Radio

By ROBERT BAGAR

New York World-Telegram Music Critic and Associate Program Annotator for Philharmonic-Symphony Society of New York

THE first seasonal concert of the NBC Symphony on October 4 brings forward a Russian conductor, Nicolai Malko, who has some pretty strong opinions concerning music and musicians. Mr. Malko, for instance, calls the "power of Wagner's music a dangerous poison." And he goes on—in anything but blithe fashion—to say that Wagner had little "sense of the theater. He was a poor dramatist. His music blinds you to that."

Mr. Malko, however, enjoys conducting Wagner in concert because there the music counts. One is not confused by a lot of complicated, heavy staging, he opines.

Verdi is the one great opera composer who knew what to do at all times. Mozart, Mr. Malko suggests, less so, but still much above the Wagnerian level.

"Verdi," he said, "was not afraid to do the finale of an opera without an eye-filling spectacle. 'Aida,' for instance, carries all the dramatic impact in the world at its conclusion and there are only two persons who count on the stage. 'Otello,' almost the same way. Verdi did not find it necessary to people the stage with a million characters or call forth a volcanic eruption every five minutes in order to convey his powerful ideas."

Mr. Malko considers the "Ring" one of Wagner's bad accomplishments, dramaturgically speaking. "Tannhauser" and "The Flying Dutchman" are much better from the stage viewpoint than any of the members of the tetralogy.

"I am fully aware," he said, "of one of the important aspects of great music—its emotional side. Yet emotion should exist only as one of the components up to a certain point and not as its dominating feature."

"Music is a pure art, and it should aim at every possible concept of the human heart and spirit, like any true art. I don't feel, though, that Wagner has always achieved these aims."

The conductor, a middle-aged man of rather serious mien, related that form would always exist in music. "No matter what changes come about," he continued, "the sonata form, for instance, will probably remain as one of the best means for the development of musical ideas."

He admitted that with changing times there might be other forms, perhaps entirely new ones, but the essential fact remains—there will always be some kind of form, some frame necessary for the logical presentation of music.

With all his flailing away at Wagner and his "inferior" dramatics, Mr. Malko could praise the German composer's excellent musicianship. "Besides," he said, "he is probably responsible for the high level of symphonic performances today. He was a tireless worker. He drove himself and the others about him with an endless energy. Perfection in performance was one of his most exalted objectives. In that respect Wagner brought the function of the conductor to its all-important place in the scheme."

Mr. Malko has traveled widely and he has conducted in many countries. Beginning as a ballet director at the State Marinsky Theater in St. Petersburg, he held sway many times over productions in which such stars as Nijinsky, Pavlova and Fokine appeared.

For teachers he has had Rimsky-Korsakoff, Glazounov, Tcherepnine, Felix Motl and Liadov. He recounts with undisguised pleasure one of Liadov's bits of ironic pedagogy. It seems that a certain pupil with ideas thought that he would take special liberties with an assignment in composition. When asked by Liadov why he had done so, the pupil replied, "Oh, I thought it would be better this way."

Liadov, a martinet of no mean proportions, declared, "Oh, you wanted to do it this way. You wanted to put your shoe on your hand and your glove on your foot. You chose to come in through the window instead of through the door. How interesting!"

Needless to say, the pupil learned his lesson. From that moment on he was a confirmed non-innovator. He never experimented gauchely again.

Mr. Malko has conducted in this country. Two years ago he directed the Boston Symphony Orchestra at its home concert hall. He believes in devising programs that reflect different composing styles.

(Nicolai Malko directs the NBC Symphony Orchestra Sunday, October 4, over NBC.)

Concert Records

Shostakovich is in the air, literally, but he is also on records. All of which is prelude to the fact that Columbia has just released the Russian composer's Fifth Symphony, as performed by Artur Rodzinski and the Cleveland Orchestra. Mr. Rodzinski, one is happy to say, finds the work most congenial, with the result that it emerges in a sharply defined, clear and altogether enjoyable performance.

A special release which comes in advance of the November list is the Sir Thomas Beecham Philharmonic-Symphony recording of the Tchaikowsky "Capriccio Italien." More Russian music. We can take all that they can give us of it—these days, anyway. Sir Thomas really turns in a smooth and moving performance. The album is being highly touted by Columbia. There is good reason for it. It is an excellent accomplishment.

Two more Columbia sets should be recommended: The one presenting Lily Pons in a group of Mozart arias—four from opera and one concert piece—in which she is assisted by an orchestra under Bruno Walter's direction, and the Budapest Quartet's performance of Beethoven Quartet in F Minor, No. 11, Opus 95. Thus far the Budapest foursome has already recorded the First, Ninth, Fourteenth and Sixteenth Beethoven Quartets. The present one makes five of the series to be made by them.

The Chopin Piano Concerto in E Minor is another Columbia offering. Soloist is Edward Kilenyi, who is assisted by Dimitri Mitropolous and the Minneapolis Symphony. With the pat and musicianly contribution of conductor and orchestra to aid him, Mr. Kilenyi achieves what I think is one of his best recording jobs to date.

A Victor item of worth is the album presenting Alexander Kipnis, the noted basso, and a balalaika orchestra under the direction of Gleb Yellin, in a collection of Russian folk-songs. Mr. Kipnis can be usually depended upon for solid, musicianly interpretations, and no less so in this case. The orchestra of native instruments helps the cause along immeasurably.

Then there is the Victor envelope offering four marches by Johann Strauss, "Egyptian March," "Persian March," "Indigo March" and march from "The Gipsy Baron." These, played effectively by the Boston "Pops" Orchestra, conducted by Arthur Fiedler, are most engaging works.

NOW ON RECORDS is the Artur Rodzinski (above) presentation of Shostakovich's feted "Fifth Symphony" by the Cleveland Orch.

POPULAR MUSIC

Carl Hoff: He reversed the usual procedure

CARL HOFF is one orchestra-leader who doesn't believe in doing the conventional thing. Whereas, there are many examples of leaders who give up the lucrative positions with dance orchestras to enter the strictly radio field, he did the reverse. A year ago he was the musical director for the Al Pearce radio show, the type of post in a sponsored program that many leaders would give their right eyes to hold. However, Hoff came right down from that exalted pinnacle and plunged into the maelstrom—to use a figure—of the dance-music world.

His reasons for the change are revealing. There was little chance of experimenting with certain ideas he had. There was too much that he wanted to express but could not express because of the time-clock schedule of radio broadcasting. To put it in different words, Hoff did not want to play ready-to-wear music. Not he. He wanted to play custom-made music patterned to the best Hoff taste.

It was some time before the batonist found the right group of musicians to work with. He then drove them nutty with rehearsals and, finally, he discovered that he had created just the orchestra that he wanted.

Accepting an engagement at a club in a suburb of New York City, the band became so popular that its stay was prolonged to over four months. But if Hoff thought that he had kissed radio good-bye he was all wrong, for before he knew it he was broadcasting over the CBS and MBS chains several times a week. He was now doing the radio thing wholesale—or something like it. Further engagements followed at other night-spots, and the network wires brought his music to the fans Coast to Coast.

To complete the story, the Carl Hoff band now makes records for Columbia—something else, perhaps, that the leader had not looked forward to. Or had he? In any case, the Hoff music now comes forth as the leader wanted it to. There is, apparently, all the time in the world for musical experimentation—one-nighters, trials and tribulations involved in moving from place to place, difficulties in finding quarters for the musicians, and so on, taking no time from that.

In summation, Hoff left the radio only to go back to the radio in a different way. In the meantime he has his own band. That band is coming up in the world. And Hoff is happy.

SEVERAL NEW FM STATIONS PREPARE FOR REGULAR COMMERCIAL OPERATION

New Transmitters to Serve Limited Areas; Prepare for Winter at FM Transmitter on Clingman's Peak; Westinghouse to Serve Ft. Wayne, Ind.

By DICK DORRANCE

Guide to Programs

October 3 through October 9

FM Moves Ahead

THE month of September has been a period of accelerated FM activity in many parts of the country. Frequency-modulation enthusiasts will recall that during August the Federal Communications Commission waived certain of its regulations so that wartime restrictions would not excessively hold back the development of FM. The wisdom of those revisions has been reflected in a recent spurt of progress that is gratifying both to broadcasters and the FM listening audience.

Several new stations are now on the air, testing their equipment preparatory to starting regular commercial daily service. Others are expected to start before the end of the month. In most cases these new FM transmitters are unable to serve quite so wide an area as their plans originally called for, but it must be remembered that many of the building materials and transmitter parts they would normally require are seriously needed by America's fighting men. These new stations count themselves lucky indeed even if they supply FM reception throughout only a part of the wide regions they ultimately hope to serve. They know that many other proposed FM installations will not be able to get started at all.

Introducing K49KC

Among recent developments is an increase of FM service for listeners in Kansas City, where a new transmitter—K49KC, owned by the Commercial Radio Equipment Co., a firm of consulting engineers—is now operating daily from 3 to 9 p.m. Estimates place the potential FM audience within its area at about 10,000 listeners. K49KC is the second local station on the dials of their FM sets. Experimental transmitter W9XER has been heard by Kansas City FM fans since last year, operated by KMBC.

Fourth for Philadelphia

Philadelphia—which already has three active FM stations broadcasting each day—is soon to have a fourth, followed by a fifth. Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc. (which owns such well-known amplitude modulation (AM) stations as KYW in Philadelphia; KDKA, Pittsburgh; and WBZ, Boston) reports that its W57PH is now undergoing transmitter tests and will inaugurate regular daily service on September 21. Like other Philadelphia FM outlets, W57PH is authorized to cover 9,300 square miles, embracing large sections of New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

A fifth Philadelphia station expected on the air shortly will be W73PH, owned and operated by the William Penn Broadcasting Co. (WPEN). Philadelphians are now able to hear W53PH (WFIL), W69PH (WCAU) and W49PH (WIP).

Fort Wayne Gets One

Another Westinghouse FM station, which will bring frequency modulation to a city that has not hitherto enjoyed noise-free, full-fidelity service, is W49FW at Fort Wayne, Indiana. Present plans call for placing W49FW on the air by the end of September, using a temporary antenna.

An ardent booster of frequency-modulation broadcasting, Westinghouse has previously constructed two other FM stations—W67B at Boston, which began service last March, and W75P, Pittsburgh, on the air since April.

Up on the FM Mountain

Down south in North Carolina, America's loftiest FM station, W41MM on Clingman's Peak, is now on the air six hours daily (3 to 9 p.m.), seven days a week. W41MM, which will use 50,000 watts as soon as delivery of such a high-power transmitter is possible, now runs at 3,000 watts, permitting coverage of perhaps half the 70,000 square miles it has been authorized to serve. Of particular interest is the fact that many of W41MM's programs now come from Winston-Salem, 105 miles to the east, over a special FM radio relay.

This studio-to-transmitter link employs a small FM unit in Winston-Salem which transmits via a highly directional antenna on the roof of the W41MM studios. The antenna aims a narrow but strong beam of radio energy straight at Clingman's Peak, much as a searchlight might do. Special receiving equipment at the peak (where the regular W41MM transmitter is located, 6,800 feet above sea level) picks up these programs and feeds them into the regular transmitter, which then sends them to all FM listeners within range.

Builders have been rushing their work on the mountaintop in anticipation of winter, which comes quite early at such altitude. Among various projects just completed is a half-mile ditch which had to be blasted into solid rock so that water-pipes might be laid from the nearest stream up to the W41MM transmitter structure. Snows, of course, will maroon the engineering crews there for long periods during winter months. Fuel-oil tanks, big enough to hold 30,000 gallons, are also being buried underground and at a safe distance from the building. The oil is used not only for heating but to run five big generators that supply the electric power for this transmitter in the clouds.

RELEASED NEWSMAN RELAYS MESSAGES OF ANZAC PRISONERS IN ITALY

American Fighter Planes Reported Superior to Zeros in New Guinea Fight; Conquered Nations Must Cooperate or Perish, Say Nazis

Short Wave Comforts Mother

A NEW ZEALAND mother is happy today in the knowledge that her doctor son is safe and well in an Italian prison—disclosed to her by Harold Denny, New York Times correspondent, in a broadcast over WGEO, Schenectady, N. Y.

"Thanks for the comfort your words gave us," wrote Mrs. Elsie Easton, Dunedin, N. Z., after listening to Denny early last month.

Denny was captured in North Africa while covering the fighting in that area for the New York paper. Later he was transferred to a prison in Italy which formerly was an old castle.

While there, Denny made friends with a number of army men from Australia and New Zealand, memorized their names and vowed that if he were ever freed he would communicate with their families.

The correspondent eventually was released and returned to this country on a diplomatic-exchange ship. One of his first acts was to broadcast to "down under" over WGEO.

In his program he described the many prison activities the men had organized to pass the time, listed their names and assured their families of their well-being.

"I felt I must write and tell you how very thrilled we were to hear your broadcast last night," Mrs. Easton stated. "Dr. Walter Ronald Easton is my son. So you can imagine how we felt and how very fortunate it happened that we were listening. You described it all so graphically, especially the leave-taking. I can imagine how you would wish they were all going along with you. By now, he should be receiving our parcels and that should help . . . it is well to know that he is safe and that we shall see him again."

Reversing the above story, many mothers in this country are being made happy to hear from their boys "down under" via the Australian short-wave radio. One of these was Mrs. Lulu Morrow of Lincoln, Illinois, who, in answer to my invitation, drove some seventy miles before sun-up to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE'S Short-Wave Listening Post to hear her "eighteen-year-old Joey" speaking from "somewhere in Australia." Mrs. Morrow almost missed the supreme thrill of hearing her son's voice over 10,000 miles of ocean and land, for in her excitement she had left detailed instructions on how to reach the listening-post at home. With only one minute to go before her son was scheduled to take the air, while newspaper photographers and reporters waited, Mrs. Morrow still hadn't shown up. The theme song that introduces the program, "American Voices Calling Home from Australia," was played, and Joe Morrow from Lincoln, Illinois, the first boy to speak, was introduced. Just about that time a several-years-old but still serviceable Ford sedan rattled up in front and an excited Mrs. Morrow and five little Morrows disembarked. As we rushed Mrs. Morrow before the speaker, Joe was just finishing his little talk and had been asked by the announcer if he would like to send a personal message to his mother. He said this: "Hello, Mother, I just want you to know I am fine and I don't want you to worry about me." That was all, but it spoke volumes to beaming Mrs. Morrow and her little flock gathered around the radio. She had arrived just in time.

Meet Margarita Deschamps

Short-wave radio is as powerful as bullets, according to young, pretty, smart Margarita Deschamps, Spanish news writer and announcer in NBC's international division. "It is one of the world's most powerful weapons and is growing by leaps and bounds," says this young lady who speaks and reads English, Spanish, French and Italian. "Especially by this country are the short waves employed effectively in the strategy of truth, employed to tell the world about freedom and how best to achieve it."

Miss Deschamps has a true cosmopolitan background. She has resided in most of the glamour cities of the world—Washington, Madrid, London, Rome, Geneva, and in several cities of Central and South America.

Much of her extensive knowledge of politics and economics, reflected in her daily broadcasts, was gained in diplomatic circles. As a child she accompanied her father, Enrique Deschamps, a Dominican Republic diplomat, to the capitals of the world.

Miss Deschamps' duties in NBC International, where she has been employed for nearly two years, require her to write several daily news and editorial round-up programs for Latin-American and European listeners, in addition to weekly dramatic scripts for the "Radio Theater of America" series over WRCA, WNBI and WBOS.

No New Amateur Licenses

The FCC has discontinued the issuance of new, renewal or modified amateur-station licenses until further order. This action has been taken in view of the many difficult problems which have arisen in connection with the issuance of amateur-station licenses as a result of the war. Inasmuch as many licensees are in the military services or engaged in war industries in various parts of the country, it is impossible for such station licensees to exercise proper control of transmitting apparatus and the control of the premises upon which apparatus is located. On December 8, and January 8, respectively, the commission issued orders which required complete cessation of all amateur radio operation in the interests of national security. The commission, however, continued to renew and modify existing amateur-station licenses in view of possible utilization of such stations in connection with civilian-defense activities. The establishment of the War Emergency Radio Service, however, will provide civilian-defense and state-guard organizations with the desired emergency communication in connection with national defense and security. The present order sounds the death-knell for any hopes of amateur activity as such for the duration.

Shorts From the Short Waves

According to Frederick Kuh, prominent journalist speaking from London, a German general recently stated that if after the war any nation should be recalcitrant in cooperating with the new order that entire nation would be eliminated, erased from the face of the earth . . . General Blamey, speaking of the hardships our men were enduring in the defense of New Guinea, in a talk rebroadcast by the Melbourne short-wave station, mentioned that it is so difficult to transport medical supplies over the crude mountain trails that it is sometimes necessary for wounded men to walk back for medical attention . . . According to a commentator over the Australian short-wave station, American fighter planes are proving superior to the Jap "Zeros" in the difficult fighting over the Owen Stanley Mountains in New Guinea, despite the greater maneuverability of the latter.

News About the Stations

VLR (9.58), Melbourne, and VLW6 (9.68), Perth, broadcast the same news bulletin in English at 8:00 a.m. The English news bulletin from London is rebroadcast by the same stations at 9:00 a.m. VLR signs off at 9:30 a.m. after announcing that the program will be continued over VLR8 (11.76), starting at 4:30 p.m. EWT . . . It took over a year for a reply verifying his reception of TAP (9.465), Ankara, Turkey, to reach the sender, Grady Ferguson of Charlotte, North Carolina. Turkish broadcasting authorities stated that they were still glad to receive reception reports, but that due to mail uncertainties listeners must be patient about receiving replies . . . The North American transmission from Chungking, China, is heard from 10:00 to 11:25 a.m. EWT over XGOY, usually on 9.625 megs. A transmission for Europe, starting at 11:30 a.m. EWT, is broadcast over XGOY on a frequency of 11.90 megs.

POWERFUL as bullets. That's short-wave radio, according to Margarita Deschamps, youthful member of NBC's international division. Miss Deschamps writes and announces Spanish programs, including many daily news round-up features, for NBC's Latin-American and European transmissions

Sunday Night at San Quentin

The weekly "Quiz Kids" program has millions of faithful listeners, but none are more attentive than the inmates of that famous house of correction, San Quentin prison, in California. Each Sunday night, 3,600 prisoners tune in to hear the young scholars tussle with difficult questions. And every week, large quantities of enthusiastic fan mail come from the supposedly thick-shelled incorrigibles.

In the Nick of Time

The "Army Hour" often works on a close margin of time. For a recent broadcast, two channels had been arranged for a pick-up from Australia—one by way of San Francisco, the other through London. Before air-time both channels became doubtful. A last-minute choice had to be made. London was chosen and came through as clear as a bell. The decision was made exactly ten seconds before the program went on.

Mortality Motor Note

Josephine Antoine, soprano star of the "Carnation Contented Program," has interned her car for the duration. She drove it back to Boulder, Colo., and left it in the home garage. "It was a very good excuse," says Josephine, "to pay a visit to God's country."

Kirby's Only Kidding

Durward Kirby, m.c. of "Club Matinee," asserted his manliness with a new metaphor on a recent broadcast. Said he, "I'm so tough I rub railroad spikes with mint leaves and use 'em for chewing-gum."

Fete Earl Godwin

Typical of the warm popularity enjoyed by Earl Godwin with capital folk was a luncheon tendered recently in the newscaster's honor. Staged by the secretaries of Congressmen as a token of their great affection and esteem, it was their own idea and they footed the bill. The dean of White House correspondents was the only male present.

"Army Hour" Film Narrator

George F. Putnam, NBC newscaster and "Army Hour" m.c., was narrator for the motion-picture short the U. S. Army Signal Corps made of the "Army Hour" one Sunday. The film will be used for training purposes.

Just Plain Bill's Versatile

Arthur Hughes, who plays the title role in "Just Plain Bill," has appeared in more than fifty Broadway stage productions, including such hits as Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra" and Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen."

THE MOVIE FRONT

That would be a pretty poor way to show gratitude for the fortune that Uncle Sam has poured into her lap . . .

Virginia Field and Paul Douglas have dated Dr. Stork, and it's no more pictures for Mrs. Douglas until after the heir arrives, now that she's finished "Crystal Ball" for Para-

Lionel Barrymore insists he's going on a bond-selling tour, even though his doctor has vetoed the idea . . . Veronica Lake wants to play the femme lead in "Frenchman's Creek" . . . 'Tis reported that Jean Pierre Aumont is shopping for an engagement ring for Hedy Lamarr. "Tennyrate, Hedy sold $25,000,000 in bonds during her recent tour . . . By EDITH HAMPTON

Be Gay Though Gray

IT CAN'T happen to you? But it can . . . it does, and if it hasn't, it will! So when you first discover that first strand of gray hair, don't jump up and down and smash the mirror to bits. Face the facts sensibly—youth and beauty have not passed you by; tragedy has not stalked through your life; and age can no longer be determined by the amount of gray hair.

Perhaps you are too young to start accumulating silvery tresses, or you may feel that it is a detriment to you professionally and socially. Worse yet, you may hail from a long line of robust people who lived to the ripe old age of 90 without a single strand of gray hair. Then why are you blighted with such a curse?

There are many reasons why our generation turns gray much sooner than our forefathers. And probably the greatest contributing factor is our present high-pressure mode of living. Jittery nerves and emotional disturbances have a way of winding up in the form of gray locks. Other causes include improper foods, deficiency of vitamins, anemia, infections, acute illnesses or diseases.

But there's no turning back, so what can you do about it? The best thing, of course, is to like it and leave it alone. Try being satisfied with a philosophical attitude. Undoubtedly fortune has graced your existence in some manner regardless of the ups and downs. So be glad for it all! Keep your hair brushed for life, luster and elasticity. Then arrange it neatly and attractively. And as a flattering coiffure for gray hair, we recommend short hair with a swirl in the back for gracefulness.

However, if you simply can't abide the fact that life has left its wicked mark, you can either use a rinse as a temporary measure or turn yourself over to a competent salon for a complete dyeing job. Rinses, of course, are preferable, as they will wash out in a shampoo. Tussy has produced a splendid product for white-and-gray hair called Flozor "French" Bluing, which neutralizes any and all yellow streaks. It's very economical because it is bottled in a concentrated liquid form and sells for fifty cents an ounce. By adding a few drops to the last rinse-water, you become a lovely platinum-haired charmer. And if you want to achieve that fashionable lavender or bluish-mauve effect, add a few additional drops.

Another very effective rinse is "Silvery Tone," created by Laurent (of the Dorothy Gray salon), which gives the hair a delightful steel-gray effect. This comes in several shades for a lighter or darker variation, and will also wash out of your hair when shampooed. It sells for $1.25 a bottle.

But rinsed or not, you still have gray hair, which you may consider positively obnoxious. So if you are ready to burst into tears every time you look in a mirror, then dye it. And here's a trick of the trade. For a softening effect on the features, have your hair dyed a shade lighter than its natural color. But remember, once you have started such a thing, you become a slave to the hair-dresser. What's more, it is costly! And there is nothing more hideous to the human eye than a sharp dividing line between the natural and the dyed. So if you absolutely must postpone visits to the hair-dresser, use a Moorish Pencil as a temporary measure for darkening the roots.

The day will come, however, and not in the too distant future, when eliminating gray hair will be as simple as swallowing a capsule. Scientists have made some very sensational discoveries from a derivative of coal tar. By experimenting on animals, they have found that grayness can be artificially induced by a vitamin-deficient diet, and then restored by generous doses of Paba—otherwise known as pantothenic acid and paraminobenzoic acid. So while you're waiting for these experiments to become perfected, you might try three teaspoonfuls of brewer's yeast each day. It contains the same vitamin substances and can't hurt you, as it is a natural food and not synthetic.

But there's a certain graciousness in gray hair, and it adds a great deal of distinction and drama to your beauty. So play it up. You can make it your greatest asset!

A Radio Saved My Life

my wife again. Then she suddenly appeared at my hotel in Stockholm. My mother had died, and my wife was going to board a ship in Petsamo, Finland, headed for the U. S. An American citizen, she had won permission from the Nazis to leave Denmark. But I could join her at Petsamo only if I could obtain a U. S. passport, money, a release from my contract, a plane that would get to the Finnish town in two days, and special permission to board an already overcrowded ship.

It looked impossible. Hundreds were waiting at the American consulate for passports. Clerks spoke of weeks of delay.

Then an astonishing train of events set in. The American consul had been to the theater the night before. He recognized me—and I had a passport in an hour, with the parting admonition: "You must promise to make America laugh."

But there were many obstacles ahead before I would even see America. I had less than twenty dollars in Swedish money in my pocket. All my property was in occupied Denmark. A Swedish bank held the funds from my theater appearance, but a new ruling limited withdrawals to one hundred crowns (about twenty-five dollars).

I went to the bank manager and told my story. Again I stumbled into luck. He was a theater devotee, not only released my entire bank balance but gave me a letter to the Petsamo ship captain, an old friend.

I got the last reservation on a plane bound for Petsamo. But there was the matter of my signed contract at the Royal Theater. If I attempted to leave without word to the manager, legal restrictions might be put in the way of my departure. I called and laid the whole story before him, won my release and a "God speed you."

My plane reached Helsingfors, where it was forced down by bad weather. Thursday morning—and my ship left Petsamo on Friday. The weather grew worse.

Frantic, I sought to charter a private plane. There was none available. Besides, the weather was too bad. But one plane operator informed me that occasionally—perhaps once a month—a special mail plane carrying official correspondence flew between the two cities. It had not left in three months, but if I wanted to check it—

Then my final miracle happened. The plane was leaving in an hour. A critical turn of the war made it imperative that certain information be flown to Petsamo regardless of the weather. I told my story once more and won the extra seat.

I joined my wife less than an hour before sailing-time. The captain read my letter, shook his head, but permitted me to come on board. There were 1,150 of us on a ship with normal capacity for 250.

So I came to America to a new freedom, and once again radio has been good to me. My first major job was on the "Kraft Music Hall." Through it I have found new friends and another home. Above all, I have found a people and a spirit that is bound to carry through the war to a victorious conclusion and freedom again for the oppressed countries of Europe.

Victor Borge may be heard Thursday over NBC on the "Kraft Music Hall" at 9:00 p.m. EWT, 8:00 CWT, 7:00 MWT, 6:00 PWT, sponsored by Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation.

Women Past 30 Often Look Old

Worn-out
Because of Excess
Acids

Only 30, but looks like 40

The speed and strain of life today, worry, hard work, frequent colds, or excessive eating or drinking may create an excess of acids and body poisons which may slowly but surely undermine your health, if not properly removed.

Excess acids frequently are highly irritating to the skin and the nerves, so you can see how they may make the skin look dry, older, more wrinkled.

Other signs of excess acidity may be Bladder Irritation, Frequent, Smarting or Burning Passages, Backache, Nervousness, Dark Circles Under the Eyes, Swollen Ankles, Rheumatic Pains and Dizziness, due to non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder trouble.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Fourteen years ago a physician's prescription called Cystex was made available through drug stores and has since proved so successful that it has been used by millions of women and men in over 70 different countries as an aid for suffering caused by non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become irritating. 2. Palliate burning and smarting of the Bladder and urinary passages. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy which may easily make you look and feel years younger.

Bulls and boners are a part of broadcasting. No matter how experienced the performer or how famous the star, chances are that he will make an occasional slip or a statement with twisted meaning which is extremely funny. See how good your ears are. Try to catch broadcasters in some error—the funnier the better—and send your entry to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago. ## QUESTION SERVICE

Mrs. A. E. Hauss, Lincolnton, N. C.—When the world celebrates Father's Day, there are six little ones who run to announcer WARREN SWEENEY for their kiss. Last year Sweeney, seeing that he had a chance for a humorous sign-off the morning of Father's Day, said, "Papa Sweeney speaking. This is the Columbia Broadcasting System." Born in Clarendon, Virginia, and educated in private schools in Washington, the CBS announcer went to Georgetown University and studied piano at the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore. His radio career started in 1931. . . . Sweeney views the world from six feet two inches up, weighs about 175 pounds, has dark-brown hair and gray eyes.

Mr. P. G. W., Fairfield, Maine.—The twenty-two-year-old screen beauty, LARAINÉ DAY, was born Loraine Johnson. When Laraine was in the fifth grade the family moved to Long Beach, where Laraine finished high school, entered the Players' Guild, got herself a role in the movie "Scandal Sheet." After several attempts to crash the movies she finally succeeded in securing a role in Wallace Beery's "Sergeant Madden." After that she made a succession of Kildare pictures. Laraine is five feet five inches tall, weighs 112 pounds. Athletics hold no attraction for her. She admits that she's lazy in all respects but her work, but that gal has a sense of humor that's infectious, likes to read murder mysteries. She has light-brown, wavy hair, and very twinkling blue eyes.

Mrs. V. A. Short, Freeman, Va.—You can write to GENE AUTRY in care of the Columbia Broadcasting System, Columbia Square, Hollywood, Calif.

B. Kent, Syracuse, New York.—Since EDDY DUCHIN is in the Navy, the boys of his band have scattered over the country, some working with other orchestras.

Barbara Brown, Forest Park, Ill.—Chicagoan BRET MORRISON was born on May 5, 1912. While at Senn High School Bret went out for track, made the apparatus and swimming teams, was president of the dramatics class. After attending the Art Institute, he worked in the Chicago Art Theater, then in stock, and at the Pasadena Playhouse. During his stay in California he appeared in several movies, one of them "Cavalcade." Morrison never studied voice, music or dramatics, but managed to convince station WCFL in 1929 that he really ought to go over the airwaves, and he did go over. Bret made his first appearance on Mutual's WGN as the star in "Love Song." He's been playing Lewellyn Van Buffington on NBC's "Tent Show Tonight," and has appeared in WGN's operettas. He's returned to CBS as Doug Stanwood on "Romance of Helen Trent" and is also heard as the host on Mutual's "First Nighter" program. . . . Bret is five feet nine and a half inches tall, weighs about 170 pounds, has blond hair, green eyes.

Mary Ball, Torrington, Conn.—Yes'm, ARLENE FRANCIS is handling the role of Linda Harper in the NBC five-a-week "Helpmate." DOLORES GILLEN is Tommy. BILL JOHNSTONE is Whitney Lewis in "The Story of Bess Johnson," and John Parker in "Portia Faces Life."

TEMPTING WAY to disguise untouched vegetables: Serve piping hot vegetable soup. It gives the utmost in flavor and nutriment

WHAT'S COOKING!

By GEORGIA SCOTT

Serve Soup and Save!

NOW that fall has rounded the corner, there are many chilly days ahead—days when cheering meals of hot, savory food are the perfect answer. So start planning how you can give vent to your creative genius via the soup-kettle!

Back in grandmother's day, every household proudly boasted of the big soup-kettle which constantly bubbled and simmered at the back of the coal stove. And rightfully so, for every kettle contained something different and held its own individual secret! Our grandmothers were amazingly versatile in the culinary arts, and they attained their reputations by being thrifty as well as ingenious. Not a scrap of food was wasted. Odds and ends of left-over meat and outside leaves of vegetables went into that simmering and aromatic pot. The result was a tempting, mellow blend of ingredients. And now the time has come when we too must be equally as thrifty, so conserve every bit of usable food! The dignity of the soup-pot has been restored by the war, so let it be a challenge to your imagination.

As a working basis for your inventive mind, start with a rich, tempting stock, for it is the foundation of any good soup. And in case you're not too sure how to concoct this handy refrigerator staple, here's a standard recipe:

- 2 lbs. lean beef (shin)
- 1 lb. marrow bone
- 1 medium onion
- 2 carrots, cut
- 2 outside stalks celery
- 1 sprig parsley
- 1 small bay leaf
- 2 quarts water
- Salt, pepper and seasoning to taste

Wipe beef and cut into pieces. Put with bone into soup-kettle and cover with water. Let stand a half-hour to draw juices. Heat to boiling-point.

SOUP rates high with Jessica Dragonette, CBS soprano, because it's nourishing, there is no waste

SIMPLE to make but tasty is cream of apple soup (r.). To soup stock, add apple butter, cream

Cover and simmer four or five hours. Add vegetables, salt and pepper. Cook one more hour. Strain, add any other seasoning you may wish, and cool quickly.

Jessica Dragonette uses this stock as a consomme and dresses it up with a thin slice of avocado, lemon or a sprig of parsley. However, if your taste should turn toward vegetable soup, cook your vegetables right in the stock. But remember, don't overcook them. Start by first adding those vegetables which take longest. Then, by degrees, add those requiring a shorter amount of time. You will find that practically anything can go into soup, provided the total ingredients are combined with taste and discretion. So start experimenting with pieces of meat, chicken, vegetables, barley, rice or anything else you might want to add.

And if you're looking for a hearty dish to set before your hungry man, here's the perfect answer!—"Portia Blake's Bean Soup for Grandpa."

- 1 pint of dried beans
- ½ lb. of ham
- 1 quart of stock
- 1½ quarts of boiling water
- Salt and pepper to taste

Wash the beans and soak overnight. In the morning, drain off the water and cover them again with the boiling water. Add the ham and boil gently for two hours. Now add the stock. Press the beans through a sieve, return them to the soup-kettle, and bring to a boil. Add salt and pepper and serve with crackers.

So serve soup as a substantial and inexpensive food. You can use it as a main course for a light meal such as lunch or supper. Then, by adding a green salad, whole-wheat bread and milk, you have a fine, well-balanced meal. Or soup can be used as part of the main meal—dinner. And it may not be very many months before soup will play a very important part in your heavy meal of the day. If meat is rationed, and it is not improbable, a thick meat soup would help fill out that part of the meal.

So rummage through the ice-box, add a dash of imagination, and create a soup that tastes like more!—a dish to warm the very "cockles of his heart."

he can do, too. His special message to all of us on the home front is: "Write them, send them trinkets, gifts. Even the tiniest token or an autographed picture is rare treasure to them—a fortune in morale. Especially to those who are stationed far up in the bleak hills or out on the reefs in tents, just a few feet away from their guns, and who are there twenty-four hours a day. Let them know you are thinking of them. For those men are hungry—terribly hungry—for some word, some thought from home."

For one show Bergen hiked up into the mountains, carrying Mortimer Snerd, to do an impromptu sketch for three boys who were manning a lonely machine-gun position. It was so cold that his voice froze and Mortimer was obliged to do his act tonguetied.

As for Bergen himself, this is only the beginning of a series of global shows he plans for our fighting forces.

The afternoon Bergen returned to Hollywood from Alaska he went scouting for sixteen-millimeter film, prints of comedies, anything he could find on film, to send back to our fighting men in the Northland. For he found that most of the camps have movie projectors but no film to run in them.

The only time Bergen smiled, and became excited, was when he talked about the fighting-pitch of America's fighting forces in Alaska. "The closer they got to the Japs, the better were their spirits," he grinned.

Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy may be heard Sundays over NBC on the "Chase and Sanborn Program," sponsored by Standard Brands, Inc.

MONEY BACK! The beautiful, sentimental solitaire has a gorgeous, brilliant center replica, nearly  $\frac{3}{4}$ -karat size and two dazzling replicas on each side. The mounting reproduces in fine detail the same popular ring styling which has been the rage from Miami to Hollywood. It is the ring of youth, of love, of affection. You have your choice of genuine sterling silver or yellow gold-plate mountings. Remember, we're not trying to tell you these are real diamonds. The originals would cost \$100.00, \$200.00 or perhaps more. But these replica diamonds ARE one of America's greatest imitations. Not too big, not too flashy, it takes the closest inspection to tell the difference. Stage stars, celebrities, social leaders and millionaires don't risk their precious originals but wear replica diamonds without fear of detection.

The solitaire is offered to you for only $1.00. The solitaire and wedding ring to match are specially priced at only $1.69 . . . the perfect pair for only $1.69. Send no money. Just mail the coupon below and deposit $1.00 for the solitaire alone or $1.69 for both the solitaire and wedding ring, plus 10% Federal Excise Tax, and postage charges. Inspect these beautiful replica diamonds. Wear them, see how real-like they sparkle, how amazingly brilliant they are, how envious your friends may be. Convince yourself—compare these replica diamonds with originals. Consider them on-approval, on free trial for ten full days. Then, if you can bear to part with your rings, if you aren't satisfied in every way, return them and get your money back for the asking. Don't wait, but mail the coupon, today!
