Gagman Tells: HOW TO BE FUNNY!

PROGRAMS for WEEK BEGINNING AUGUST 13th

Jess Gilley, 5523 South Western Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Judging everyone else by myself, I think you should give Jimmy Scribner of "The Johnson Family" a page or two in Radio Life. It would be very interesting reading, I'm sure. I would like to know how many different voices Jimmy vocalizes. What are the names of all his characters?

Jimmy Scribner is really a one-man show. He writes and produces "The Johnson Family." heord over Don Lee-Mutual, as well as enacting all the parts himself. Latest report had his number of characterizations at 22—there may be more by now. Other readers have indicated an interest in this very versatile personality, so we hope to be able to give you more news about him in an early issue of Radio Life. early issue of Radio Life

Sirs: We have saved all issues of Radio Life for over two years and will have them bound in book form for future reference. There are so many good pictures of our radio stars as well as articles about them.

Have you interviewed Forman Phillips of the "Western Hit Parade? And do you at some future time intend to give him space in your valuable magazine? All those who love the western songs and music will be interested in a good article and pictures of him and his Barn

On Our Cover

On our cover this week are those irresistible Bumsteads, Blondie and Dagwood, with their dog, Daisy, whose doings, together with those of Alexander and Cookie, Mr. Dithers and Cora, are aired under the title of "Blondie." July 21, the Blondie family moved from one air spot to another on the Blue network, where they are being heard every Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. If you don't want to miss their antics, tune KECA, and you won't be sorry, because what we're telling you is SO right!

all, it's YOUR magazine!

Miss Carrie Newman, R. F. D. No. 1, Hightstown, New Jersey.

Sirs: Received the March 12th copy of Radio Life a few days ago with the Horace Heidt story by Shirley Gordon. The story is really swell and will make a wonderful addition to my scrapbook. Personally I think Horace's Hires show is the best commercial he's ever had and he and the Hires people deserve a lot of praise for the grand job they're doing.

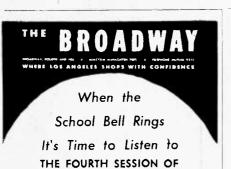

I've been a Heidt fan for years and like to correspond with other Heidt fans. So if this is printed in your "Ear Inspires the Pen" column and if any Heidt fans out that way would like to write to me I'd be so glad to hear from them.

I think Radio Life is a swell magazine and as long as I have the sub-scription price I'll never be without it.

Announcer Doesn't Like His Voice!

Bob Andersen Became Newscaster After Acting and Announcing: Hopes Still To Be a Radio Reporter When War Ends

Monday through Friday, 4:15 p.m., Sunday, 5:45 p.m.* CBS—KNX

DON'T like my voice," Bob Andersen suddenly declared during our discussion of his ten-year career as a radio newscaster. "I simply try to read the news in a manner to make sense," he went on. "I don't believe that a news broadcaster should try to sell himself, as a singer or an actor would do." or an actor would do."

Bob Andersen started his radio career as an actor, then became an announcer. That led to his audition as a newscaster.

"I was scared to death," he recalls, "so I stepped up to the microphone and shouted. It sounded 'Winchellistic', I guess, and listeners seemed to like it.

Later, when the trend changed, Andersen acquired the more conservative unemotional style of delivery he so successfully employs today as one of the west coast's most popular newscasters.

Lunching with the mikeman one recent afternoon, we found him to be an affable fellow who smiles on July as his lucky month. He met his wife on July 2, 1938, and married her exactly one year later. His own birthday is on the same July date, and the month also marks the beginning of his newscasting career.

Started In S.F.

His interest in radio dates back to his high school days in San Francisco. When it came time for him nis nigh school days in San Francisco. When it came time for him to try his luck in the business world, the depression had come upon the country and jobs were scarce. Undaunted he directed his efforts toward radio dramatics, joining a group that enacted daily dramas on the local sirlanes. the local airlanes.

Later, after he had accepted announcing stints and the opportunity

BUSY NEWSCASTER, Bob Andersen, shown here with his wife and snown here with his wife and daughter, finds his broadcasting schedule doesn't leave him much time for home and family. "Every time the baby sees me," bemoans Bob, "she waves bye-bye-" arose to audition as a newscaster, Andersen relates that he tried it just for fun and was the only one who didn't really want the post. But fate would have it, he won. Later, he went to KPO to broadcast for three years as the Call-Bulletin radio re-

Always maintaining the policy of thoroughly digesting and rehearsing the news copy he is about to deliver, Andersen made his pre-war news broadcasts highly competitive to the major network news by his forceful highlighting of local items.

When he commented then on the news items aired before the advent of World War II, Bob declared with enthusiasm, "I hope to continue radio reporting after the war is over, when the news once again falls into its regular pattern.

His other chief ambition is to work on shows that are fun, and he likes doing his weekly announcing chores on CBS' "Dr. Christian" program. "Everybody on the show is so nice," he enthuses.

How "Nerves" Banished

But he admits that he was shaking from head to foot the first evening he walked out on the stage to conduct the pre-broadcast "warm-up" session with the studio audience at the "Christian" show. Then an odd coincidence occurred that put him promptly at ease.

He was asking servicemen out front the names of their home-towns. To Bob's surprise, one's answer was, "Denmark".

"Denmark what?" queried Andersen incredulously.

It turned out that the man in the audience was from the very section in Denmark where Bob's grandparents had lived, and that, what's more, the man's name was actually Bob Andersen, too!

"We're probably forty-second cousins, or something," smiles Bob.

In addition to his radio duties, Andersen does the narration for Paramount movie "trailers," and was

THE ARGUMENT—When the Los Angeles guest-jury participated in a recent "American Women's Jury" broadcast, the case to be tried concerned a son-in-law's petition to limit the number of visits made to his home by a well-meaning but ubiquitous mother-in-law. Four of the guest jurors were mothers-in-law, and three of them voted for the limitation of visits. The fourth mother-in-law sitting on the jury, Postmaster Mrs. Mary Briggs, did not concur with the majority only because she felt there was another solution to the problem.

Air Jury of American Women Render-Verdicts on Provocative Problems

Monday—Friday, 10:45 a.m. MBS—KHJ

ADIES, what would you do, if you were in my place?" From all over the United States are pouring in to Mutual-Don Lee's "American Woman's Jury," letters containing problems too big to be solved by the writers, all ending with the plea, "What would you do?"

These letter writers are asking twelve typical American women what they would do if they were faced with the individual writer's problem. The result is a most unique radio program, allowing members of the listening audience to be both defendent and jury . . . either to present a problem for discussion, or to participate as a juror and help another woman with her problem.

Most of the problems brought before the jury are of a family relations type. In one case, a woman who is divorced from her husband wonders if she should remain in the small town where they lived or go out into a larger city and seek to forget her unhappy marriage. Another woman wishes to know if her husband would be right in selling a farm they have sacrificed to build into a paying venture and start again to develop a new tract with new privations.

A mother asks the Jury if she should continue to live with her son, where she feels unwelcome, or should she go to her daughter who, though financially not as well off as the son, is most anxious to have her mother share her home. A young wife, with two children, is faced with the problem of deciding whether to live with her husband's elderly parents when he enters the service or fo reside with her family where she feels a sense of loyalty, though her family is prone to be slightly quarrelsome.

How Set Up

Three raps of the gavel call to order each hearing before the jury, made up of twelve women drawn from Boston Women's Clubs. Mrs. Emily Williams, played by Dolly Springer, acts as judge or 'trial referee'. She reads the letter containing a specific problem and then charges the jury to vote on one of two possible solutions. The counselors, Mrs. Jane Allen (in real life Evelyn Hackett) is the defense attorney representing the writer of the letter, while Robert Coulter assumes the role of a prosecuting attorney.

Shortly after the program sprang to over-night prominence (it was sold on a coast-to-coast hookup of 212 stations two weeks after it's initial airing) the producers found that in addition to receiving problem letters from the entire nation, there were many parts of the country that wished also to present a jury. Guest juries in major cities then became

A "Sharp" Unswer Turns Away Wrath

By Evelyn Bigsby

HEN I was a kid, I was too small to fight, so I had to have a smart answer. That's how I started making with the joke," explained Vic McLeod. Top gag writer Vic, one of Radio Life's award winners and the man who currently is putting the funny words in Gracie Fields' mouth, has never stopped making with the joke.

"Didya hear what Crosby said to Hope,"? queries Vic.

"He said he could put Bob up in a nice spare room over his stables."

Bob answers: "What! And be kept awake all night by your horses coming in late!"

"Until I was fifteen I was a midget," Vic relates. "Then I grew up in one year. Mother had to let my pants out every other week."

As a youth, one of McLeod's numerous jobs (he claims to have had a thousand) was as a soda jerk at Catalina. He and his fellow jerk (no gag intended, Vic) so disliked washing the mirrors which adorned the fountain that they swirled over them with Bon Ami. Then, one day, they scrawled some jokes on the frosted glass. Business picked up immediately and the proprietor soon learned that it wasn't the sundaes or banana splits that were responsible. It was such bon mots as: "If you find a fly in your raisin pie, bring it back and we'll give you a raisin for it"... "Don't holler about our prices. You can eat dirt cheap farther up the street, that is, if you like to eat dirt!" . . . "Not responsible for any hats or coats left that fit our help." . . . "The best dish in the house: The cashier, but she's off today!"

Vic even says he may have originated the old chestnut: "we don't know where Ma is, but we've got POP on ice."

His "Case History"

Anyone guzzling a soda and benetiting by such choice pearls of wit should have known then and there that Vic was going to turn into a gag writer. It's even impossible for him to relate his "case history" with a straight tongue.

"Roughly forty" (his birthday was August 2, 1903) Vic says "I was born in Nampa, Idaho, in a little house I helped my father build. We moved to Boise. We'd bought a piano in Nampa, and when the payments became due, we moved."

By the time he had finished high school in Blue Hill, Nebraska, he was already interested in visiting travelling shows that came through town. He won first prize for his gag routine at an amateur night. "I stole gags from eight shows I'd heard and I've been stealing material ever since!"

Soon after, he joined a tent repertoire at winter quarters in Pawnee City, Nebraska. Two suits, one on his shoulders and one chucked in a broken down suit case, comprised his worldly goods. "Actor with large wardrobe; will travel' described me," Vic joked. He pulled down $25 a week, worked with eight other people who used to perform condensed versions of plays originally requiring a cast four times as large. Between acts, young McLeod staged a specialty. "We got our jokes from big headine vaudeville we'd catch in the big cities. Those people in the Hinterlands never got into town, so you were actually doing them a favor telling them the jokes."

Two years of trouping, then stock and an act in which he teamed with Norman Blackburn (now talent head for J. Walter Thompson Agency) as the "Beach Boys" ultimately brought Vic to Catalina and the jokes on the mirrors. He and his buddy had devised the mirror gags so they wouldn't have to wash the glass every day, but soon the boss was saying: "You'd better change the jokes. Folks are yelling because you've got the same ones you had yesterday!"

Forged (Or Gagged) On

After five years in Walter Lantz's cartoon department, McLeod went to Universal picture studios and wrote westerns and musicals for two years. He still scripts for the flickers, his latest being Columbia's "Hep Cats."

Radio claimed McLeod about the THINKING UP A "ZETZER." Gagman Vic McLeod is apt to be struck with a joke almost any time, writes the key phrase down on any available piece of paper. Sometimes, afterward, he can't read his own handwriting, but often a new and better joke results.

VIC ARRIVES to write special material for entertainment troupes touring Canada and arctic regions, and is welcomed by Lt. Ray, Army Air Corps (center), and Radio Life's Editorin-Service, Sgt. Johnny Whitehead, U. S. M. C. (right).

time Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou rose to prominence. Vic wrote for "them," then for the Ballantine show with Milton Berle, Charles Laughton and Bob Crosby; for the Old Gold show with Lucille Ball and Herbert Marshall; finally Kraft, which he describes as "a wonderful thing for the ins and out of radio. Then, when you're writing for Bing, you're writing for one of radio's top comedians." Only recently Vic left Kraft, after two and a half years, to assume the duties of head writer for the Chase and Sanborn program.

How He Writes

One of the most brilliant and prolific gag writers in the business, Mc-Leod is constantly thinking of something funny and grabs the nearest piece of paper to make a note. "I make notes nobody can read," he confessed. "Sometimes when I can't decipher them myself, I get a new and altogether better joke." He does his best work at night, and also when he's under pressure. According to friends, he's always kidding, but his wife, Mary, has learned to take Vic's gags in stride. So has the cocker, Duffy, who is pet at the McLeods' North Hollywood home.

"Most of the time I just like to write to see how it comes out," Vic said. "Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night and as the hours tick by, I think up something which seems very funny. "This'll be great,' I say to myself before dropping back to sleep. But in the morning it's always very foggy.

"A writer," he continued, "should be able to write anything—serials, westerns, two-reel comedies, cartoons, plays. I like to write comedy the best."

His grasp of the humor field is intriguing. Discussing the different types of jokes, he explained: "First, in writing personal jokes, you consider the personality or the qualities of the personality for whom you're writing or their association with different things. By that, I mean well-known facts about them. For instance, John Scott Trotter being advertised as rather portly, you make up jokes with this slant, or should I say, curve? Take the time that a well-known traveler guested on the Crosby show. Trotter asks innocently... 'How does it feel to be a globe trotter, sir?' ... and the answer which paid off with a zetzer (meaning hilarious) was: 'You ought to know (Please Turn to Page 28)

Blind Since Five, Chuck Collins Is Ex-Hobo, A College Graduate, Musician, A Sports Fan, Radio Star, Happy Husband and Proud Father!

> Saturday, 10:15 a.m. Blue-KECA

HUCK Collins, the Blue Network's new Saturday morning dispenser of cheery songs and friendly, philosophical patter, is writing a book. An amiable fellow, who has a habit of throwing his head back and laughing heartily, Collins has a story to tell, and he feels that now is the time to tell it. With the thought of the many men who will return from war with great afflictions, he has been inspired to write of the way in which he found it easy to accept the handicap that was inflicted upon him when he was a boy of five. It was then that he lost his sight as a result of infantile glycoma.

He has no use or respect for pity. "It is a hideous, ghastly thing," he declares with an emphatic frown. "It does no one any good."

Nothing pleases him more than to have someone not realize at all that he is blind. This happens occasionally. The times that have tickled him most are the occasions when he has sat down in a restaurant to order a meal, only to have the waitress hand him a menu. He looks up from it and queries cheerfully, "Well, what have you to eat today?", to which the waitress unsuspectingly replies with typical sarcasm, "What's the matter, can't you read?"

No Dog Or Cane

One has to watch Collins closely to realize that he is blind. He walks about the streets unfalteringly, without the aid of a Seeing Eye dog or even a white cane, and he boasts proudly of not having a bruise or a broken bone to show for it.

"I guess my body got tired of being banged up," he reflects. When he first lost his sight, he still insisted on doing all the things that other youngsters did. He ran and played and led an active, useful life from the very beginning. Eventually, he developed the "skill" that soon enabled him to do almost everything a person with all five senses can do. The "skill," says Chuck, just growed, like Topsy.

He has developed what he terms "a sense of obstacles." When we walked down the street with him, he told us the location correctly of parked cars, light posts, and stairways. He explained that he hears the echo of objects. "But when I hold my hands over my ears," he exclaimed, "I'm blind as a bat!"

Asked if he remembers any of the things he saw before he lost the use of his eyes, Chuck smiled and replied, "Yes—I remember one Idaho sunset very vividly. I can recall seeing flashes of lightning in the sky, and I can remember the moon." He paused then, threw back his head for another of his hearty laughs. "And one other thing," he chuckled, "I remember a page of shoes in a Sears-Roebuck catalog!"

Collins attended the Idaho State School for the blind, graduating from high school there, then set about to earn his own living. For four years, he worked as a piano tuner and played piano with dance bands.

In 1933, when he was vagabonding around the country, he and a couple pals hitchhiked to the Chicago World's Fair. "Part of the way we rode the rods on a flyer," he related with the relish of an adventurer. "One slip from them, and you're hamburger!"

"Bumming Around"

In Chicago, Chuck worked at night spots, seven hours a night, seven nights a week, earning enough, as he explains it, "to bum around some more." But with the money earned as a pianist and as a piano-tuner, he then entered the University of Idaho, graduating from there in 1937 with a major in political science and

Formula for Fame

Radio Life had an enjoyable chat one recent afternoon with Charles S. Lawman, a local vocal instructor who told us the story of Jimmy Cash's climb to success as the singing favorite of CBS' Burns and Allen show.

Lawman related that Cash became his pupil in February of 1940. At that time, Jimmy was a grocery clerk in a Burbank Safeway store, and having a wife and youngster, he couldn't afford much money to study voice.

For almost two years they worked hard on voice production, songs, musicianship and microphone technique. Then Lawman presented his pupil for radio auditions. Lady Luck was smiling since Burns and Allen were in the market for a new singer, and once Jimmy was heard, he was "it". He signed a contract on the counter of the Safeway store while he was at work.

It brought particular joy to Charles Lawman, because he saw in Jimmy's success the fulfillment of dreams that had been shattered for him. Back in the twenties, he informed us, he was an outstanding radio and recording artist himself. His voice broke under a severe attack of sinus trouble? Coming to California for his health, Lawman has since established his own voice studio at 1552 Cross Roads of the World in Hollywood and has coached such personalities as Sunnie O'Dea, Elyse Knox, Sylvia Sefton, and of course, Jimmy Cash.

One of his prize possessions is a photo of Cash, autographed "To Mr. Charles Lawman, my manager and teacher, who deserves full credit for my being where I am today."

Asked for the formula for a successful vocal career, Lawman advises: "First have the talent. Then find the right teacher. Then work and more work. Then when you get the break, remember it's harder to stay there than it is to get there. When you start coasting, you can only coast down."

Pearson Predicts

Almost 70 per cent right—that's what Blue commentator Drew Pearson's political predictions are, the records say. Outstanding example of the "Washington Merry-Go-Round" columnist's accurate prophecies is his announcement in September, 1942, that Thomas E. Dewey would be the next Republican candidate for president.

As early as last October he said on his program: "Hitler's new weapon will be a long range rocket built somewhat like a glider which will be able to cross the English Channel and bring terror and destruction to the very heart of England."

Glamor In Politics

Come next November and election time, the persuasiveness of two political-minded glamor girls as well as party platforms and politicians will be tested.

In a recent poll among 376 radio commentators, the Republican party's Clare Booth Luce was voted probable best vote-getter over the Democrats' Helen Gahagan Douglas. But the wife of Actor Melvyn Douglas made a greater contribution to her party in her convention speech than did Congresswoman Luce, most radio-newsmen agreed.

Of the five questions commentators were asked, the answers came out like this:

Will draw the most votes: Luce-225; Douglas-151.

Greatest contribution to party: Douglas—254; Luce 122.

Most convincing: Douglas—254; Luce—122.

Best voice: Luce—225; Douglas—151.
Personality: Douglas—188; Luce—188.

Harassed Hanley

Being "Daddy" to radio's incorrigible "Baby Snooks" seems to have excellently qualified Hanley Stafford for his role of "Family Man" on the Belasco stage. But there is one line in the play's dialogue that has him throwing up his hands in admitted defeat. It's "Why, Daddy?", to which Hanley puts his hands to his head in dismay and screams, "No! Not that! Anything but that!"

Statistically Speaking

Before the Blue Network's "Blind Date" show goes on the air each week, announcer Jimmy Wallington usually calls on the studio audience for a show of hands on various romantic matters. So far, here's what he has discovered:

Ten per cent of an average audience has never gone on a blind date. Of the seventy per cent who have, three per cent has married their dates. Three of these couples first met at the "Blind Date" broadcast.

And thirty per cent are too lazy to raise their hands!

Robert, Young Returns

Pobert Young, popular illim actor, will return to a regular spot on the airlanes this fall when he fills in a prominent role on the new NBC "Maxwell House Coffee Time" show Frank Morgan will be the series star, with Cass Daley as its femme comic.

Literal Minded

During the warm-up preceding the Blue Network's airing of "Stop or Go" the other evening, Joe E. Brown was giving out a series of jokes that had the studio audience roaring with laughter.

"I've got a million of them," beamed Brown at the end of a big laughgetter.

A little girl in the first row shouted quickly in reply, "Tell them!"

Jarvis Contest

Inspired by the title of the song "Blues Upstairs" which he played on his "Make Believe Ballroom" program on KFWB, Al Jarvis is conducting a "Blues Upstairs" contest. Listeners are asked to write brief letters describing their own "Blues Upstairs"—annoying habits or actions of upstairs neighbors. Best letters win an album of records and tickets to the August 18 Jive Jamboree at the Philharmonic.

Drama

Sunday, August 13—Pacific Story, KFI, 11:15 p.m. (30 min.). Sinkiang: China's Wild West.

Monday, August 14—Star Playhouse, KFI, 3:15 p.m. (15 min.) Monday through Friday. "Casablanca" will be the new play, to appear in serialized form for the next several weeks.

NEXT WEEK

An array of radio personalities will pass before your eyes as you read the August 20 issue of Radio Life. Jimmy Durante's amusing story, "If I'm Elected President.." should please, and in similar vein is the article on Ransom Sherman's "Nitwitt Court." Kenny Baker and Announcer Terry O'Sullivan are profiled. We discuss whether Dick Haymes can take his meteoric success. And for you mystery fans, we run an article on Mercedes McCambridge: "Murder Is Her Business." Buy your copy early and pass it along to some friend after you've read it.

Monday, August 14—Screen Guild Players, KNX, 7:00 p.m. (30 min.). "The Nervous Wreck" stars Edward Everett Horton.

Monday August 14—"Suspense" KNX, 9:00 p.m. (30 min.). "The Man Who Knew How" stars Charles Laughton.

Wednesday, August 16—"Meet Miss Sherlock," KNX, 9:30 p.m. (30 min.). Third in a new series of plays called "Six for Tomorrow."

Whats Special?

Music

Sunday, August 13—NBC Symphony, KFI, 2:00 p.m. (One hour). The orchestra will present a world premiere performance of "Panorama, A Symphonic Impression" by Domenico Savino.

SUMMER MOOD

Just before Hank the Night Watch-Just before Hank the Night watchman from 9:30 to 10:00 p. m. nightly, KGFJ has instituted a new program "In the Blue of the Evening". This is a string concert of mood music for summer night listening, or haven't you noticed the moon lately.

KECA APPOINTMENTS

Temporary offices have been established for KECA, now under Blue net-work ownership, at the Blue Play-house, 1440 North Highland Avenue, Hollywood. Staff appointments include Clyde Scott, general manager; John I. Edwards, program manager; Amos Barron, sales manager; Matt Barr, sales executive; Bill Davidson, production manager; and Jimmy McKibben and Bill Holmes, writer-producers.

AWARD WINNER

Edward R. Murrow, chief of CBS' European news staff, has been presented with a 1944 Award by the National Headliners Club for his "Orchestrated Hell" broadcast, a description of his first for a characteristics. tion of his flight as an observer on a bombing run over Berlin on December 2, 1943. It is the second time Murrow has been so honored.

HOLLYWOOD'S OWN Capitol Recording Company is, as our Uncle Hector would put it, "skinning the pants" off of some of its competitors, as far as times and talent are con-cerned. In the recording industry, it's all-important to be FIRST with hit tunes. Of course, many times it might be difficult to predict just which tunes will be hits. Even Bing Crosby has had his doubts many times. Recordings, essentially, are made months before the tunes reach the Hit Parade. An artist who has a hit song can be made overnight.

TAKE, FOR EXAMPLE, Capitol's Jo Stafford. Jo was just another singer with just another group until the Capitol gang decided she had plenty of stuff on the ball and was worth a hazard as a single. They tried her out with "How Sweet You Are" and "Old Acquaintance." First was a good time and got a good play So they tune and got a good play. So they gave her "Long Ago" and "I Love You." Both were firsts for Stafford and Capitol. Both were solid clicks. And Capitol became aware of the fact that it had a potential new star on its hands. Capitol also gave the music world Ella Mae Morse, you will recall.

DECCA HAS Dick Haymes, Columbia and Victor has Perry Como, so Capitol threw a bombshell into the baritone-crooner racket with a young baritone-crooner racket with a young Los Angeles boy name of Andy Russell. Andy, who hails from the east-side Mexican colony (real name's Rabago), tossed off a hit in "Besame Mucho;" and then followed it with "Amor," both in the Latin style. Both were firsts for Andy, and "Amor," particularly, has given the jukebores a royal working over.

ANOTHER NEW CAPITOL star is Betty Hutton, who makes her debut as a recording artist with a smash novelty which she performs in Paramount's new musical, "And the Angels Sing." Tune is "Rocking Horse Ran Away," and it's a dilly, done in the slap-bang Hutton bombshell manner ... Martha Tilton returns to the Capitol label with "Texas Polka," a rhythm novelty, and "I'll Walk Alone," a ballad in Tilton's effortless, pleasing style.

CAPITOL'S FIRST album of ten inch discs bearing the royal purple Capitol Criterion label comprises eight Capitol Criterion label comprises eight sides of favorites featuring Johnny Mercer, Jo Stafford, the Pied Pipers and Paul. Weston's orchestra. Album is called "Songs by Johnny Mercer" and tunes are all Mercer hits, including "Blues In the Night," "On the Nodaway Road," "Too Marvelous For Words," "I Remember You," "You Grow Sweeter," "You and Your Love," "Jamboree Jones" and "The Dixieland Band."

When the "Grand Ole Opry" spot-light flashes on via KFI Saturday nights at 7:30 the odds are you'll agree with most that Minnie Pearl is one bright spot indeed. The humorous interludes by the babbling gossip from Grinder's Switch can't be matched unless it could be the nonsensical comments of the Duke of Paducah, Whitey Ford, who invariably chats about that old American tradition known as the "fam-

And then, of course, there's the Smoky Mountain Boys, who can be counted on to dress up the show with a lively square dance or two.

Other "Opry" favorites always include Jimmy Riddle, the harmonica virtuoso of the program, and the Old Hickory Singers who harmonize one of your favorites.

Brahms, Berlin and Frimi are but three of the famous composers whose works are to be featured by the Stradivari Orchestra on Sunday morning at 9:30 on KFI.

Of course, as you probably know, the Stradivari Orchestra is an ensemble of genuine Stradivari violins under the direction of Paul Lavalle.

Sunday's program will include "Hungarian Dance No.1" by Brahms; the ever-popular "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" by Irvin Berlin, and Friml's "Allah's Holiday" from Katinka.

At last we're to get something rare in radio dramatics. For the next few weeks, starting Monday afternoon at 3:15, NBC presents via KFI, a radio adaptation of "Casablanca."

The choice was made, we under-stand, after the "Star Playhouse" was literally deluged with requests for the story which was the Academy Award picture winner last year.

Starring in "Casablanca" will be Gale Page, who also acts as your host and narrator on the "Star Playhouse" series. The story will run in serial form for six weeks.

Often called "the mammoth redwood that grew in Brooklyn," Jackie Gleason takes over as comedian when the "Old Gold Go" show moves from Hollywood to New York on Sunday.

The program, heard on KFI at 7:30, finds Gleason in his first starring radio role, which according to early radio role, which according to early reports will make air-lane history.

Two years ago, Gleason set Hollywood on its ear with his work in such films as "Springtime in the Rockies," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" and "Escaped Convict."

NAMESAKE

Jerry Cooper, singer of CBS' "Song of the Week," has received a fan letter signed by seventy-three coeds who want to name their new college mascot after him. It's a canary!

His Buddy

Whenever Chet Lauck, "Lum" of the Blue-KECA
"Lum and Abner" series, goes hunting on his California ranch, he is always accompanied by his faithful 14-year-old dog, Buttons.

* * BIG GAME

Ken Niles, announcer on the Blue-KECA "Life of Riley" series, recently re-turned after a week's hunting expedition in Arizona. Single-handed, he bagged a six-foot mountain lion!

\star SISSY STUFF

Joel Kupperman, eightyear-old math marvel of the Blue-KECA "Quiz Kids," plans to get married and become a farmer when he grows up. "But I'm not go-ing to kiss my wife," he stoutly avers. "Kissing is sissy."

ANNIVERSARY

It was almost fifteen years to the day that Ted Malone broadcast his famous program, "Between the Book-ends" when he left for overseas duty as a Blue Net-work foreign correspondent on May 8 of this year.

* *

MEET MR. BOGUE

Ish Kabibble, Kay Kyser's familiar fringe-browed comic of the NBC-KFI "College of Musical Knowledge," didn't know how to spell his real name until he sent for his high contification and the sent for his high continuous sent for his h birth certificate recently. His name is Merwin A. Bogue, but Ish has always spelled it 'Merwyn'.

MONDAY, AUG. 14

At hours where no listing is shown for a local station, recorded music has been scheduled.

ART COLLECTOR

Many outstanding examples of juvenile art, the prized possession of Fanny Brice, "Baby Snooks" of Maxwell House Coffee Time" fame, are now being exhibited at the Associated American Art Galleries as the "Baby Snooks Collection." The pictures are the work of children from nine to sixteen years of age.

a minor in English. Chuck smiles over the recollections of his college life. A member of the Phi Gamma Delta, he went dating and dancing all the time.

Upon his graduation from college, Collins went to Seattle, Washington, where he started his radio career, initiating his "Collins Calling" series. He appeared on KJR-KOMO for five years, then went on a 40,000-mile tour of sixteen western states for the National School Assemblies of Los Angeles, during which he addressed and performed for nearly a quarter of a million students in six hundred schools.

Prior to that, he had the opportunity for a professorship and continued to study for it, but still retained too strong a taste for vagabonding to settle down again to campus life.

"Prof" Still

"There's still some of the professor in me, however," he maintains, "and it sometimes shows up in my programs." Collins writes all the material for his Blue airshows, including the commercials, using a Braille writer. He is able to read Braille at the speed of approximately 250 words a minute by employing the use of both hands at once. While one hand is fingering the impressions he is reading, the other is being applied deftly to the following line.

"In other words," smiles Chuck, "I never let my right hand know what my left hand is doing."

Collins told us that his brother was blinded while still in high school. "Lightning struck twice in the same place," he pointed out. But his brother, too, is enjoying an active, successful life. He is a licensed radio engineer, and now works as a travelling salesman, with the aid of a Seeing Eye dog.

"He needs the dog, because he's always going to unfamiliar places," Chuck continued, adding quickly, "I've never wanted one. A dog would be a nuisance to me."

He told us proudly of his various accomplishments. He used to have an act during which he played piano and trumpet at the same time, but now he devotes himself exclusively to piano, practising regularly on the instrument for two hours or so every day. He has also written several songs, one of them we particularly liked called "Rainy Night."

He plays cards, using a braille set, but doesn't call himself a card player. He enjoys baseball and has always had a yen to play it. "I understand it well," he told us, "and I talk a good game." He likes to hike, and he reads every kind of book, enjoying them all thoroughly.

Romance, Too

Collins is married to Marjorie Byrd, whom he met in Seattle. They got off the same bus one day, and she offered to help him across the street. Traffic wasn't heavy, and he resented it. "I'm not going across the street," he growled at her, then promptly apologized for being rude and invited her to have a coke with him to make up for his impoliteness.

"I knew that she was the girl I was going to marry," Collins recalled with a chuckle. Less than two months later, he made Marjorie his Mrs.

Now they have two children, fiveyear-old Judith and one-year-old Michael. "Mike is a roly-poly teddy bear," Chuck told us proudly, "and Judith has big round blue eyes that everyone talks about." Judith is musically-inclined too, and sings songs like "I'll Be Home For Christmas" perfectly, maintains her father.

Collins performs every sort of chore in and around his West Los Angeles home. During his tour of the schools, he learned to fix a flat tire in less than ten minutes. He told us then that he nicknamed his old car "Butch," but has dubbed his new one "Claudia," because she has more class.

He likes to work in the yard, mowing the lawn and watering the flowers. He hangs out the wash for his wife, helps her with the dishes, vacuums the rug, and what's more—changes the baby!

Smiles Chuck, "that's my special-ty!"

A "Sharp" Answer Turns Away Wrath

how it feels to be a GLOBE-TROT-TER'!

A Morgan Joke

Certain comedians, observed Vic, have styles that suggest the way to set up their jokes. For instance, Frank Morgan in bragging about being an explorer, says: "There I was, lost in the snows of Mount Everest, lying there cold and stiff until a dog with a flask of brandy showed up." ... "Did it help you?" ... "Well, yes. I got over being COLD, but I was STIFF for a week."

Further explaining how he contrives to think up so many wise-cracks, McLeod brought up the double entendre joke, which always plays well. Such as: "We've got a rule in the Army that soldiers can't shoot craps with the WAC."

"Why is that?" ... "'Cause the boys always make too many passes!"

Sometimes Vic digs into his joke bag and pulls out a gag based on common expressions or well-known sayings. "One of this type," he remarked, "goes this way: Personal column—Boy with sack of flour would like to meet girl with spaghetti-factory. Object, macaroni."

Or again, there's the insult type, based on word switches, such as, "I had a good part in my last film, in fact, I was all through the picture." Obviously, the answer is: "Yes, when I saw the picture I imagined you were all through."

It all depends for whom you're writing, Vic points out. Sometimes an unexpected reply type of joke is indicated, and it's always good for a giggle. Such as: "I know you, We work at the same studio together. We're both out at Paramount." And then the other one says: "I knew you were out, but when did you find out about me?

Another example of this same type of joke was when Hope said: "They had a rule against taking pictures in army camps, but I fooled the colonel. I told him my camera was nothing but a box lunch". Did he believe it? He sure did. In fact, he stood right there and made me eat every bit of it."

As fast as he keeps on talking, Vic can deliver a joke. He listens to people on the street and often gets his best material from some small, truthful incident. Or he gets an idea for a pay-off that, with a beginning, polishes into a zetzer. "A good joke is one based on minute happenings," Vic observed. "For instance, Hope says to Bing: "That's a nice coat you have on. Looks like it's made out of old diapers." Bing's answer: 'It is. Nowadays you gotta use what you got the most of!"

With so fertile a brain and such a comprehensive knowledge of the gag-writing technique, it should be smooth scripting for McLeod. For the past few years since he became part of the Thompson staff, it has been a comparatively easy voyage, but as recently as three years ago, he remembers he had to borrow money on his car—"and me half Scotch," Vic clucked.

Time means almost more than money to him. One of his pet hates is committing to dates long ahead of time. He prefers the spontaneous to the planned. Perhaps one of his most unusual traits is his ability to awaken himself at any pre-determined time, no matter how irregular the hour may be.

Now, not a big chap (he stands five, eight and weighs around 155 pounds) Vic, nevertheless, could hold up his end in a fight without defense of wise cracks. But he still finds that a punch line is a lot better than a punch.

"Besides, where can you get good punch nowadays," shrugs the evergagging McLeod.

Radio Is Her Playground

By Corine Lamon

UST as filmstars Shirley Temple, Deanna Durbin and Judy Garland have virtually grown up on motion picture lots, young radio-actress Gloria McMillan has spent most of the last seven of her eleven years in front of a microphone. Radio Life suggests that the networks take a tip from Hollywood and keep an eye on this youngster who has zoomed into the big-time faster than many an airlane personality thrice her age.

Currently playing the role of Sharlee on CBS' "Mayor of the Town," Gloria has had featured parts in over 15 top-notch radio shows. Just before she was signed for the Barrymore series she appeared several times on Don Ameche's "What's New," heard over the Blue network. She recently played the part of Amy in the "Dr. Christian" show, has also starred on "Silver Theater," "Star and the Story," "Nobody's Children," "Big Town," the Bob Burns show, "I Love a Mystery," the Elgin Christmas program, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, "Screen Guild," and—the list goes on and on and on.

Big things started happening to this little girl at an early age—the age of 4, to be exact. She was introduced to radio as a child "blues singer" on station KGW in Portland, Oregon. After winning a talent contest and subsequently being auditioned for radio, she sang songs in a blues way, ad libbed a few speaking lines and danced on kid shows several times a week for two and a half years.

Four years ago the McMillan family took a vacation trip around the country, stopped off in Hollywood where their youngest member was offered a motion picture contract. The offer was refused and the family returned to Oregon for the time being. Later when they did move to Southern California to stay, Gloria did her first radio work in Hollywood with Edward G. Robinson and Director-Producer Crane Wilbur.

No Mike Fright

In seven years of radio Gloria has never been late to a broadcast or a rehearsal. And she's never had mike fright, either. When she first went on the air she was too small to know the nervousness that besets most radio artists at the beginning of a performance, later experience had given her self confidence. It's Mrs. McMillan who vicariously goes through the agonies of mike fright for Gloria—every broadcast, still, after all these years.

Long blonde curls, blue eyes and 51 inches tall describes Gloria only in part. The freshness of youth combined with the confidence of maturity, enthusiasm for everything and everyone around her, and a quick wit must be mentioned to complete the picture. Example: your reporter found herself answering instead of asking the questions half-way (Please turn to Page 34)

GLORIA AND LIONEL BARRY-MORE exchange a few words before "Mayor of the Town," broadcast over CBS every Monday night. Gloria plays the role of Sharlee, while Barrymore portrays the mayor.

1. WHEN PEGGY BECAME ENGAGED, Aunt Mary decided it was time she learned some culinary tricks, such as the art of whipping up a luscious chocolate cake. "Add the sugar gradually," instructs her aunt as Peggy smiles in anticipation of the finished product.

Aunt Mary Whips Up A Chocolate Cake

3. PEGGY LOOKS ENRAPTURED by the sight of the smooth rich batter, as her aunt pours it carefully into greased layer pan to be baked in moderate oven. "It won't be long now," carols Aunt Mary.

2. PEGGY'S FIANCE, Sgt. Bill Meade, is called in to do the heavy chore of beating the mixture well after the addition of eggs and milk.

Monday—Friday, 10:30 a.m. NBC-KF1

Aunt Mary's Recipe for Chocolate Cake

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- I tsp. soda
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup butter or other shortening
- 1 1/4 cups brown sugar, firmly packed 2 eggs or 3 egg yolks, unbeaten
- 3 squares (Baker's) unsweetened
 - chocolate, melted
- I cup milk
- I tsp. vanilla

Sift flour once, measure. Add soda and salt, sift three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream until light. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each. Add chocolate and blend. Add flour alternately with milk in small amounts, beating after each addition. Add vanilla. Bake in greased 10x10½ inch pan in moderate oven, 325 degrees, one hour—or in two deep 9 inch layer pans, greased, 25 minutes, 350 degrees.

4. LOVE GOES BLITHELY ON in the process of learning how to bake a cake. Peggy has burned her finger placing the pan in the oven, and Bill obligingly plants an affectionate peck on the injured "pinkie" to make it well again.

5. PEGGY GETS FROSTING everywhere but on the cake. Aunt Mary offers her kindly encouragement, however, and has no doubt that her pretty niece will make a fine wife for any young man, especially a soldier, who travels on his stomach.

6. BILL AGREES, and proves that a woman like Aunt Mary knows the way to a man's heart. As for Peggy, she's simply all tuckered out. "Now that I've made it," she groans, "I'm too tired to eat it."

7. BUT AUNT MARY and Bill find her ready and willing when the slices are being served. Bill beams, "Honey, you're wonderful!" and Peggy decides that being a good cook is pretty simple, after all.

four pretty smiles, four pairs of beautiful blue eyes, four voices that blend in smooth harmony and easy elasticity—and their very own dress shop out San Fernando way, called "The King Sisters Valley Vogue." To be more accurate, just three of the girls (Luise, Alyce and Donna) own the gown shop, and rent the millinery concession to sister Yvonne. "Vonnie has the sideshow." they explain. "She sells hats that go with our dresses."

The girls do the purchasing for their business themselves, during their frequent trips to New York, and also employ a resident buyer there. "Before we started the shop, we used to want to buy every gorgeous gown we saw for ourselves," they went on. "Now, we buy them but we can't keep them, We have to save them for our customers!"

Among their best customers are Mrs. Dick Haymes, wife of the singing star, and none other than their own singing "rivals," the Andrews Sisters. Tea is served at the shop every afternoon, with one or all of the King quartet presiding.

If it is Luise, you'll like her quiet manner, the aristocratic tilt of her head, the serenity that shows in her clear blue eyes. She is twenty-seven, the oldest sister, and has been married for seven years to bandleader Alvino Rey, who is now in the Navy and stationed on the east coast.

Alyce Is Gay

If it is Alyce, you'll find her gay and friendly, with a likeable straightforward manner. She is twenty-five years old, and has a sixteenmonths-old son who bears the impressive name of Alexis King de Azevedo. Her husband is also in service and stationed on the east coast. "But he expects to be shipped at any time," Alyce told us at this writing.

Donna, who has brown hair and blue eyes like her older sisters, is twenty-three years old and also married to a serviceman. Her husband is Jim Conkling, who is in the Navy, but home at the present time recuperating. "So we've put him to work doing all sorts of odd jobs for us," the girls smilingly informed us. "He even wanted to do some arranging, but, not having seen any evidence of his musical ability before, we had our doubts." Conkling, how-

John Charles Thomas?

By Lynn Roberts

Sunday, 11:30 a.nr. NBC-KFI Thursday, 8:30 p.m. Blue KECA

HEN John Charles
Thomas decided to take time off from his NBC
Sunday morning Westinghouse program, he personally selected Lee Sweetland to replace him.

Like Thomas, Lee is a big man with a big voice. He came to Hollywood radio in 1936, after a varied and slightly unorthodox background of musical training and experience, having attended none of the famed institutes of music nor studied extensively under any artist of great renown.

"I took glee club in high school," Lee informed us, smiling. "Like all kids I considered it an easy course to get credits."

Actually, from the very beginning, he has taken singing seriously, eagerly devoting his time to long hours of hard study. "But it isn't work when it's something you love," he pointed out.

By the time he was sixteen, he had become an member of the Civic Opera Company in Seattle, Washington (which he considers his home town), and had started to study under an ex-prima-donna—an old-time diva who had a remarkable voice but had never achieved great fame. "She had grown too heavy." smiled Lee, "but she still could sing and she taught me a great deal."

After three seasons with the Seattle Civic Opera, he came to Hollywood where he attended dramatic school for a time. An instructor told him then that he would never be an outstanding singer, smashing all of the aspiring young baritone's dreams with one cruel blow. But Lee wasn't the fellow to stay down for long, and music meant much to him. He resumed his singing studies shortly, once again with an old-time artist as his tutor.

"People said I was crazy to study with these unproven unknowns who were far past their prime," Lee told us. "And I must admit, I was about the only pupil they ever had. Nobody else but me would go to them."

But, as he continued to tell us of the rare, invaluable training he received under these wonderful oldworld artists, it is obvious he was always, and still is, highly respectful of them and deeply grateful to them.

He told us of one of his instructors in particular — an old man who taught him a great deal. "I learned from him," Sweetland stressed, "things that I could not have learned from any other person."

Sad Story

But it seems the old man was continually warning Lee, "We must hurry, son; there's not much time." Then, in the month of October, the old-timer apparently had a premonition of his own death, and he told his pupil the date would be November 12th.

"On the night of the eleventh,"
Sweetland went on with his story,
"I was summoned to the old man's side. He had experienced some undue excitement, and was suffering with a violent heart attack." On his deathbed, the elderly artist gave his pupil a final lesson, and left with him a set of rules to follow. The old fellow died early in the morning on the following day, November 12!

Lee recalls that he was panicstricken then. Honestly fond of the old man, and feeling strongly dependent upon him for further instruction, the young baritone became desperately uneasy about a forthcoming appearance he was to make with the Standard Symphony in San Francisco. When the time of the performance came, Sweeland relates, "I sang badly—very badly."

Later, feeling discouraged and un-(Please turn to Page 35) ever, came through with the swell arrangement the girls do of "Milkman, Keep Those Bottles Quiet."

Yvonne, "Fireball'

Yvonne, who is twenty-one and the "baby" of the quartet, has blonde hair and snapping dark blue eyes which show that she is the "fireball" of the family. "Vonnie" is her nickname, and she is married to "Buddy" Cole, who played with the Alvino Rey orchestra. He is now a staff musician at KHJ-Mutual. Yvonne and Buddy have a ten-months-old daughter.

"We've proved it can be done," Alyce declared at this point. "We're all married, have two children among us, and yet, we're still singing together and still going strong."

The girls told us they are all domestically-inclined, and have always made a home wherever they happened to be, which was often on the road with a band. Now, however, they have settled in California and have made work secondary to living.

All four King Sisters live in the valley—Yvonne and Buddy in their own home, Luise in hers, while Donna and Alyce stay with their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. King Driggs.

All in all, the Driggs' have six girls and two boys. One sister, explain the girls, is "simply married," meaning she's a non-professional. Their other sister is the stand-in for the quartet, meaning she steps in to substitute for any absent member of the group. Her name is Marilyn, she sings beautifully, her sisters boast, is only thirteen years old "but looks sixteen."

One of the girls' brothers is artistically-inclined, and can also swing out with a mean boogiewoogie beat. The other brother is the bookkeeper at their dress shop.

Talk About Selves

Complying with our request to talk about each other, the girls came forword with the following facts.

"Donna is our secretary. She handles our correspondence, and is the business head of our organization."

"Luise is the calm and coolheaded member of our group. She makes the vital decisions. But her worst fault is being absent-minded."

"Yvonne has artistic talent. Both she and Luise design clothes cleverly. Vonnie's worst fault is her quick temper."

"Alyce is our little Elsa Maxwell. She's always giving parties, and she'll do anything for a laugh. Once, she came 'to a party dressed like a 'Ubangi.' She looked hideous, but she won first prize. And one time during our act at Slapsy Maxie's, she tripped on a microphone cord and took a bad tumble. She hurt her arm, but she came up grinning at the audience and promptly proceeded to take a bow. She's always the clown."

Alyce admits to procrastination as her chief fault, but her sisters contradict her. "She wheedles," they complain. "She's always been able to turn on those big blue eyes, and get anything she wants."

All the girls can cook and sew (except Yvonne, who is handier with a sketch pencil than a needle). They all love to go swimming and picnicking.

Being strict Mormons, the girls neither drink nor smoke, and they have never been late for a performance. "But," they giggled, "we sure scare people." It only takes them five or ten minutes to apply their complete makeup and dress, so many's the time they've been found sound asleep when called for their cue!

through the interview. Our subject had to know all about Radio Life, how to write a story, plus the life history of her interrogator.

Radio isn't the only thing in her young life. Like any other 11-year-old, Gloria goes to school, and there, as in the multitude of other things she does, she shines. For the last two years she has received all 'A's' on her report cards. Her favorite subjects in school are spelling, English, geography, history, nature study and Spanish. She doesn't particularly like math or French.

Is Musical

In addition to radio and school Gloria takes piano lessons. She sandwiches four hours of practice a day in between school, rehearsals, and broadcasts. She plays classical music under the tutelage of Madame Leginska, undertakes such ambitious works as Bach's Prelude and Fugue and Beethoven's Festival, nourishes a secret ambition to play boogie woogie, much to her mother's chagrin.

Biking, skating, horsebacking, and badminton are Gloria's favorite sports—when she has time for them. But an indoor sport—chess—is her greatest enthusiasm. (She learned to play at school, says "I play by myself when no one will play with me. My mother and sister don't like it very well, they get bored." So she sets up the chessmen, proceeds to pit her own wits against her own wits.

Her ambitions are several. First and most serious, she wants to be a dramatic actress—an actress Broadway-bound. This is no ill-founded dream, either. Three years ago she was in the Pasadena Playhouse production "Escape to Autumn," and since then she has been in several plays put on by Flower Guild of the Assistance League. She does authentic dialects and plays parts of children three to 14 years of age. She claims the biggest thrill of her life was the opening night of "Escape to Autumn," when she received flowers and presents "just like a star."

More Ambitions

Other ambitions are to be a chess champion with a shelfful of cups to show for it, and to beat out a mean boogie woogie on the piano, in addition to excelling at classical music.

No typical career girl, Gloria likes to cook. She does very well at it—attempts pies and cakes with good results, adjudges her mother. She also likes to shop for groceries with her grandmother, and looks forward to taking cooking in school.

Victory gardening in the McMillan family is a highly competitive proposition. Gloria, her sister, who is a senior at UCLA, and her mother each have separate plots, vie to see who will get the most produce. Gloria claims her crop (of 6 tomatoes) is the best so far this season, says she "uses scientific methods," consisting of "green stuff" sprayed on the plants to kill the blight and twice as much water as other members of the family use.

Little Miss McMillan likes school and hates to go to bed, in fact, she'd much rather practice all night than go to bed. She gets up at seven every morning, doesn't eat breakfast (and never has), then goes to school from 8:30 to 12:30 those mornings when she has no rehearsals. On such days she studies and practices in the afternoon. Otherwise the procedure is reversed.

Here in Gloria McMillan we find a young radio star who "would like to be doing so many shows I would never have time for a vacation." Here is an 11-year-old girl it will be as interesting to watch grow up in radio as la Temple, Durbin, and Garland did in pictures.

also heard as narrator in the screen production of "Gunga Din."

Away from the mike, he likes to read, swim and sail, and to take pictures of his little eighteen-monthsold daughter, Kristen. But he has little time for such pleasurable pursuits with his working schedule so full. Saturday is his only day off.

"And it seems," frowns Bob, "that I always spend that day mowing the lawn and doing chores around the house." The rest of the week, he manages to be home just long enough for breakfast and dinner.

"Every time the baby sees me, she waves bye-bye." Bob bemoans. "In fact," he added, "until recently, she didn't even know who I was!"

The Ladies Speak Their Minds

enjoys spending money and time on the couple, but accompanies her gifts by unwanted and unasked for advice. Her calls are so frequent as to offer a real crisis in the lives of this couple who have been married just three years.

So great an irritant have these visits become, that the husband has asked his wife to limit her mother's visits to one a week. "Ladies, of the jury, what would you do?"

The Los Angeles jury concurred with the Boston resident jury by deciding, 7-5 that the young wife should limit her mother's calls, with three out of four Los Angeles mothers-in-law in real life voting for the limitation Courtroom procedure was certainly not unknown to at least two of the members of the Los Angeles panel, though they, as practicing attorneys, were more accustomed to presenting a case than being on a jury. These attorneys, Katherine Adams Stoll and Percilla Lawyer Randolph were just two of those on the panel whose business it is to know and understand the problems that arise in the field of family relations. Mrs. Ivy Grace, Welfare Director of the Salvation Army was also a member of the jury. Dr. Bernice Harker, counselor in psychiatry lent her training to the problem before the jury.

Each member of the jury, besides being a qualified business woman, was also a homemaker and represented a cross section of the typical American woman who is daily called upon to solve the problems that each day are brought before the air-court and radio jury.

Daily the voice of Dolly Springer in her role of Mrs. Emily Williams, judge on the program, opens the trial hearings. Early Shakespearean training as Pottia in "The Merchant of Venice" prepared her to assume her present calm legal position. A New Yorker turned New Englander, Dolly inherited her love of the theater from her mother, a dancer, and proceeded to achieve her first prominence in the field by winning a two year scholarship to the New England Conservatory of Music's Drama Department. In addition to her radio work, she also plays in local stock companies and is a monologist of note in women's clubs throughout New England. She enjoys her role of judge because each case is a real human interest problem.

Attorneys New Englanders

The two attorneys who daily air the pros and cons of each case, are both native New Englanders. Robert Coulter, (actor Bill Syran), the only man in the American Women's Jury, has been called the bravest man in radio, as he is surrounded by 14 women daily. Acting as prosecuting attorney is no easy job, for frequently his role must be that of the conscience of the writer-attempting to present all the possible avenues of solution to the listener's problem, while the defense attorney presents the writers' side. Sympathy is naturally in favor of the bewildered writer seeking help. Coulter's unwelcome task of factual prying is frequently resented by the air audience. "The listener's letter has to be overwhelming in my favor," he says, "or else I don't have a chance."

Evelyn Hackett who pleads so eloquently for the writer in her role of Mrs. Jane Allen, defense attorney, is a discovery of the Pulitzer Prize winner and beloved actor-producer, Eddie Dowling. A Northwestern University and Mt. Holyoke College graduate, Evelyn applied her theater and speech majors to good use. Shortly after college, she returned to her Providence home town to win not only a radio job but a husband as well. Her job-winning audition took place in June. Five months later she became the bride of scriptwriter Walter Hackett, now Chief of OWI's Radio Division in New Eng-

Brad Simpson, creator of the program is a 300-pound plus writer, who after a long career of soap operas, variety shows, and screen writing, hit upon the happy idea of blending all the drama of the courtroom into a backdrop for a human relations program especially designed to allow the daytime feminine audience to exercise its "I-know-what-I'd-do-if-I-were-in-her-place" attitude into a channel that would benefit the puzzled defendants who daily submit their problems to be analyzed and tried by The American Women's Jury.

Another John Charles Thomas

happy, and longing for the help and encouragement of his former instructor, Lee told us he had a dream, during which he seemed to be wandering through the hills with his wife, Sally.

Dreamed of Him

"In the dream, he recalls, "Sally asked me to pick some flowers for her higher up on the hill. So I left her for an instant, and climbed toward the top. Then, a door suddenly appeared before me and when it opened, there stood the beloved old man himself—in his tattered sweater, looking just like he always looked when I went to him for my lesson."

The old teacher, the singer related, spoke kindly to him in the dream, and gave him back the confidence that had been drained from him with the aged man's death.

"I know," smiled Sweetland. "the whole story sounds fantastic, and the dream is something I willed with my strong desire to see my former instructor again. But it is all unforgettable, and it kept me from giving up."

Today, in addition to substituting for John Charles Thomas on the Sunday morning Westinghouse show, Sweetland is being heard weekly on the Blue Network's "Club Good Cheer."

Besides his radio work, Sweetland is preparing for further concert tours and also studying roles for the Metropolitan Opera, which has already approached him with gratifying offers.

During the long years of preparation for his now-blossoming musical career, Sweetland has worked as a newsboy, factory laborer, janitor, truck-driver and mechanic. While working at the Boeing Air Field, he learned to fly and being a commercial pilot would be his second choice to a singing career.

Wife Admires

To bring you a more personal picture of this big baritone who is so obviously going places these days, we turned to the lovely Mrs. Sweetland, the lilting-voiced Sally, songbird with the Ken Darby chorus on their very-much-missed "Top of the Evening" programs. Sally is her husband's staunchest booster.

"He's just wonderful in every way," she enthused, explaining what a handy man he is around the house—being a good cook (he sometimes dreams up delicious roasts for Sunday dinners), a clever carpenter, and a willing and able nursemaid. "He's marvelous with children," smiled Sally, adding that their small son, Stephen Lee (nicknamed "Stinky"), is the image of his father.

Sally went on to tell us that both she and Lee like to dream up gag gifts for each other, and that his sense of humor is drawn to such subtle comedy as that of Thorne Smith.

"He's always trying to read it to me," she said, "but he can't stop laughing long enough to do it."

As for faults, Lee admits to overeating. "But if you ask Sal," he declared quickly, " she'll say singing to myself. I do it all the time."

SEEN ON THE RADIO SCENE

ROBERTA HOLLYWOOD recently heard on Mutual's "Screen Test."

If she should win a film contract and come to movietown, however, her name would have to be changed, as it is the rule of movie czar, Will Hays, that no personality may bear the name of cinema city.

RON HAYES, fifteen-year-old son of ace newscaster, Sam Hayes, made his radio debut recently on his dad's morning NBC program. The two talked about airplanes, and young Ron delivered the commercial about the sponsor's offer of model planes. The youth attends high school in Ojai, is working at a service station during the summer months.
