WNYC
Celebrates Summer

SUMMER SUPPER MONDAY, JUNE 10

June 1996

To My Fellow WNYC Listeners:

Just one year ago, more than 32,000 WNYC listeners declared "It's My Station" and contributed the first $1.4 million to launch the WNYC Independence Campaign. Many foundations and major donors have followed your lead, including a very generous $1 million grant from the Ford Foundation. To date $6.9 million has been raised to purchase the WNYC licenses. Transfer of the licenses is pending FCC approval, a process we are told will take two to six months or longer, when the first $3.3 million payment will be due.

In the meantime we have other good news to share. You may have read in The New York Times that the WNYC Foundation has been awarded a challenge grant of $285,000 from the National Endowment for the Arts to help establish an endowment for arts programming on WNYC. We are particularly gratified that the NEA, as its own budget is being reduced, chose to recognize WNYC's long-standing commitment to the arts.

We are also fortunate to have received a $55,000 Challenge Grant from the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs for an Artists-in-Residence program for the commission of new works, their performance and broadcast from venues throughout the City, as well as expanded arts coverage on Around New York.

On Monday, June 10 we will celebrate the new WNYC with a Summer Supper at the Crab House in Chelsea Piers. Garrison Keillor, Richie Havens, and many WNYC friends and supporters will share a special moment and toast the future. Tickets, while they last, are available at $125 per person. (Call 212-669-2470 for details.) I personally look forward to meeting many of you on this festive occasion.

So, one year into the Independence Campaign, we are at the beginning of our new era. We expect to have more good news to share with you as the new WNYC takes shape and fulfills its potential. But we will need more help to make those good things happen. Please continue to support WNYC generously. We are partners in the future of New York Public Radio.

Sincerely,

Laura Walker
President/CEO WNYC Foundation

WNYC Remembers Chernobyl

Vasyl Kavatiuk was a conductor of the Kiev Radio Orchestra when he was called up for his reserve military service in the spring of 1986. His post – an explosions officer assisting in the clean up of the nuclear accident at Chernobyl. The 91 days the young father of a three-year-old and his pregnant wife spent in Chernobyl tragically and irrevocably changed their lives. Their child died, and Vasyl has endured three bone marrow transplants as a consequence of his exposure to radiation.

Vasyl's gripping story on Brian Lehrer's On the Line was part of WNYC's special programming marking the 10th anniversary of Chernobyl. Coverage began on Thursday evening, April 25 with a live broadcast of the Odessa Philharmonic, conducted by Hobart Earle, in concert at the United Nations, and continued all day on Friday, April 26, with music, features, and discussion on AM820 and FM93.9.

Throughout the day WNYC listeners called in to answer the question, "Are you afraid that another nuclear accident might occur in your lifetime?" Here are just a few of your very thoughtful responses:

"Nuclear energy is efficient, but it unfortunately produces waste that can kill us all very quickly."

"...A very slim possibility... I think that society is missing out on the opportunity to utilize a source of power that we need desperately and is environmentally sound...It is necessary for us to do research on how to dispose of nuclear waste."

"Just as it was inevitable for the space shuttle to explode, it is inevitable that another nuclear power plant will explode or burn or melt down. The odds are just as good for this during my lifetime."

"Nuclear radiation has poisoned the Earth now and for many years into the future. This technology has got to be stopped now and forever for the safety of humanity, or it will happen again."

"I think we have become complacent because of the sense of nuclear accord that exists and because of the breakup of the Soviet Union, but this is a very grave concern for me."

Saint Paul Sunday Orchestrates A Peabody

WNYC congratulates Saint Paul Sunday, the popular classical music program, produced by Minnesota Public Radio, which has just won its first Peabody Award for broadcast excellence, joining WNYC's Oscar Brand among the honorees.

"It is so satisfying for a classical music program to win a Peabody," says senior producer Mary Lee. "Much of classical music programming has been very simplified, and there is not much risk-taking going on. It's very affirming for us to get the award. Saint Paul Sunday tries to capture a snapshot of a musician, so the audience gets a glimpse of how musical moments, mentors, and colleagues have shaped the artist."

Host Bill McGlaughlin draws out the human side of his guests by combining in-studio performances with conversation. This allows the music to tell the story of the artists' lives. "Each show is as spontaneous as it can be," says McGlaughlin. "Sometimes I can't believe I'm doing this – the Emerson Quartet, the Guarneri Quartet, and this kid from Philly is sitting next to them. It's unbelievable."

Saint Paul Sunday, FM93.9, Sundays, 8pm

Sound Bite...Catherine Deneuve

The renowned French actress was a recent guest on New York & Company. Here are a few of her observations to host Leonard Lopate:

On being discovered: "I was very lucky. But at that time it was not that common to get a director to give such an important part to such a young actress (referring to her role in The Umbrellas of Cherbourg). I was only 19 at that time. Today it's quite normal to see a very young actress get a big part in a film."

On stage acting: "I never worked on stage because I have stage fright to the point of uncontrollable nerves among the smallest groups of people...I love to challenge myself, so I often take roles on live television. Once I did some singing with (Gerard) Depardieu a long time ago. I believe film actors have this incredible responsibility to be on cue every time...Scenes are shot over and over and each time an actor has to be perfect."

On being a sex symbol: "I am not a sex symbol, and I'm glad because my personality would have suffered. I would not want to be the kind of actor people would like to touch. I was present with Brigitte Bardot on the street when something happened... I think it's unbelievable!"

Life of Brian

Brian Lehrer usually talks about the issues with guests and listeners during On the Line. Here, for a change, he talks with us about himself.

Talk Show Fever

I love the intimacy of the talk show format. I feel like I know whom I'm talking to and how I can best serve them. That's a lot different from doing straight newscasts or interviews, which seem to go out into the ozone.

Originally I went into radio thinking I wanted to be a disc jockey. But all I could get was a news reporter position in Albany. Two years later when I finally got a disc jockey job, I quickly found myself bored and hungry to get back into news. I asked the station if I could open up the phones late on Sunday night. Within a year, I had moved into news and talk fulltime.

Before coming to WNYC I was an anchor and environmental reporter at the NBC Radio Networks. My interest in environmental issues led me to a Master's Degree in Environmental Sciences at Columbia. But like so many other people, I will die as an ABD (All But Dissertation). My attempt to get a doctorate in the field was cut short when I was hired by WNYC in 1989.

Brian Lehrer

Musical Family

One of my loves is music. I come from a musical family. My father played the fife in the army, one of his brothers is a piano teacher, another was a piano tuner. A cousin of mine was a professional cellist. My brother has a CD that's been featured on David Garland's show. I perform occasionally on the flute and digital horn, accompanying my brother, Warren Lehrer, and his wife, Judith Sloan, who write and perform original theater.

Keep 'Em in the Bronx

I also love baseball. I am captain of the WNYC softball team, which often manages to win in spite of my managerial decisions. I hold a partial season box at Yankee Stadium and am convinced there's a way to keep the Yanks in the Bronx.

A Little Secret

I first became a WNYC member while listening to FM, not AM, in 1983. I sneak over to eavesdrop on the FM music programs quite regularly.

Off the Air...

Danny Stiles

Each Saturday WNYC AM listeners travel down memory lane with Danny Stiles, the "Vicar of Vintage," the "Dean of Deja Vu." Danny feels Big Band Sounds is part of the rich heritage of American popular classics. Each week he combs his collection of 250,000 records for that show. In his spare time Danny talks about his ...

Favorite place to "hang" in New York:

Red Blazer Too

349 West 46 St. A place to go to unwind and watch the musicians perform. The food is good, too.

Can You Top This?

WNYC broadcasts two special events from the 4th Annual Toyota Comedy Festival. On June 7 WNYC recreates the popular 1940's comedy program,

Can You Top This?, broadcast live from the legendary Friar's Club. Freddie Roman, Dean of the Friar's Club, heads a panel of comics and comedy writers. The panel reads a funny story or joke submitted by a listener or audience member, then each in turn tries to "top it." If you succeed in outdoing the comedy professionals, as judged by an old-fashioned "laugh meter," you'll also win a prize. Listen for your chance to be in the audience and you may just have the last laugh!

Then on June 4 at 8pm the Firesign Theater returns to public radio in a live WNYC broadcast from The Knitting Factory. This concert performance by the legendary comedy group will be fed simultaneously via Real Audio to the Internet, making it a true multimedia simulcast event.

Favorite Record:

Body & Soul

(1939) Coleman Hawkins. First record I ever bought, two years after its release. I paid $2.50. That was a lot of money back then since most 78's cost 35 cents.

Favorite War:

World War II.

I was a Navy Seaman. But I did most of my fighting at the Newport Rhode Island USO, trying to get a girl to dance with me!

Danny Stiles is bringing a 15-piece orchestra to WNYC's Summer Supper for dancing under the stars.
