ARMED FORCES WILL HEAR CFRA'S "SKY SHIELD"

AN ESTIMATED million servicemen will hear a four-part radio documentary The Sky Shield, Life or Death for North America, produced by CFRA Ottawa and requested by the RCAF for re-broadcast on 14 Armed Services radio stations in Northern Canada, Europe and the Middle East.

The Minister of National Defence, National Defence Headquarters, and several Members of Parliament have requested tapes of the series. Dozens of CFRA's listeners phoned or wrote to ask for copies of the script. Group Captain William Lee, special assistant to Defence Minister CFRA OTTAWA NEWSMAN Sandy Morrison (left) interviewed Voodoo pilot Keith Inkster (centre) and navigator Mel Kenney of the 410 Fighter Squadron at RCAF Station Uplands about their role in NORAD for his four-part documentary "The Sky Shield, Life or Death for North America".

Paul Hellyer has commended the series as "excellent".

CFRA newsman Sandy Morrison produced the programs, which dealt with all aspects of Canadian participation in the North American Air Defence Command and the role of the Strategic Air Command in the defence of North America.

The series was based on a five-day visit to NORAD Headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colorado and SAC

Headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska, plus research in Canada at NORAD installations. Newsman Morrison made the five-day tour with NATO delegates from 15 member countries following the NATO Ministerial Conference in Ottawa in May. 'RA was the only private station to send a reporter on the trip.

The series brought listeners the sounds of NORAD in operation at the Combat Operations Centre in Colorado Springs — the eerie ping of alarm bells when unknown aircraft appear over North America; the impersonal voice of the duty officer scrambling jet interceptors from Canadian and U.S. air bases; the high frequency probes of the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System; radar picket ships on the east and west coasts making routine communications checks; the constant reports fed in on Soviet fishing trawler movements.

The programs included frank interviews with the Commander-in-Chief of NORAD, USAF General John K. Gerhart and the Deputy Commander, Canada's Air Marshall Roy Slemmon. Technical aspects of the operation were clarified by other NORAD officers from Canada and the U.S. The series was aired by CFRA in June and July.

PROCRASTINATION . . . THIEF OF PROFITS

The summer of 1963 is fast approaching its end and everywhere remarks are heard adding up to "It's going to be a wonderful summer, wasn't it?"

Each year seems made up of a succession of seasons — there were four at the last count. Each season is ushered in with optimistic utterances about what we are going to do this spring . . . summer . . . autumn . . . winter . . . and then, before we know it, the season is here . . . we are right in the middle of it . . . and all we can say is: "Well! We'll really have to get onto it this fall."

It occurs to us apt, for this between-seasons smash of philosophy, to reflect on the havoc we inflict on each other and on ourselves by the persistent practice of never doing today what we can put off until tomorrow, which all too often ends up with an emphatic never.

At the risk of sounding trite, it seems worth mentioning that it takes no longer to do something when it should be done, than later. However busy we may be, delay is actually of no benefit to anyone, including ourselves. Also, quite often, more often than not in fact, "things" (whatever they may be) which are done at the last moment are hurried and tend to be slap-dash in their end results. "Things" done ahead of time can be done over if something goes wrong, whereas, left to the eleventh hour, they either emerge any old how, or have to be discarded.

Nearly everyone who reads this rambling article is, directly or indirectly, concerned with the business of advertising. We know from our own experience how seriously we are handicapped in giving our client, sponsor, advertiser the best value for the money he is investing, when someone keeps putting things off. Also, if we are honest with ourselves, we know, deep down inside us, how often we ourselves fail to deliver as efficiently and effectively as we might, because we let things slide until the last moment.

In actual fact, while the process of conducting a business is hampered to a tremendous degree by the restrictive regulations and controls imposed by our many governments, an even greater deterrent is the failure of those who buy or sell to act with the barest understanding and consideration for the problems of the others.

Whether it is a filmed commercial or a display advertisement, and whether we are on the buying side or the selling, the best results make sufficient time essential as far as the producer of the message is concerned — which is up to the buyer in most instances. By the same token, the buyer of the advertising must be competent and willing to take the time to communicate to the producer the background of the story he wants to tell, and he must give this producer the information early enough that he will have the time to transfer it effectively and efficiently onto film, tape, paper or whatever it may be.

There really is nothing very profound in the thoughts we have expressed. Yet how often does a buyer's attitude give the impression he is saying "We're paying for the job, so let 'em sweat." How often does the seller's point of view seem to be, "Let's not bust a gut. He'll never know the difference anyhow."

MASS MANUFACTURER MEETS PUBLIC VIA MASS MEDIA

By BEN HOLDSWORTH

WHEN A MAN MADE a candlestick or sealing wax in the old days, he put up a sign and was his own retailer.

Today we have manufacturing giants and retailing giants on a national — and even international — scale, with levels of contact and influence to bewilder the old timer.

In 1930, the grocery business, for example, did only 14% of all retail business. Today, it does over 20%, and is over $3.8 billion — more than Canada's total volume of retail trade in the 30's.

The two great points of contact with the consumer are the mass media and the mass retailer.

Millions of dollars are spent on consumer advertising — including radio and television, and "others" — and new products are launched by the hundreds to make sales.

What happens at retail?

All of us have had the annoying experience of trying to find a new, or even a standard product in one of the giant supermarkets which now dominate the retail scene — and with little success.

On the other hand, there is reason to believe that the advertiser may not understand the problem at retail. Possibly closer liaison between the advertising people (agencies included) and the retail merchandising people is needed.

After all, the aim is the same, isn't it?

"I want some of that new iced tea mix," said the lady in the supermarket. "I've heard about it this week, and it sounds nice, but I can't find it."

"Come with me, please, madam," said the store clerk. He took the customer to the proper shelf location, and handed her the product.

"Where can I find that new protein bread I hear about?" said the portly gentleman in the suburban store (shopping centre).

"All the bread is in this aisle, sir," said the stock boy. "If it isn't there, we don't have it." Two minutes later, the customer found a section of diet products with the bread he wanted, two aisles away.

"Where is that new cola I hear about?" said the slim matron in a downtown store, supermarket variety.

"Madam, we can't keep track of all the new ones, but I think what you want is over there . . ." said the store manager, pointing to a display of soft drinks — all one brand, none of the diet kind. "Or it might be one of these in the next aisle." That's where they found it.

"Do you have those peach dessert recipes? I can't find them, somehow," said the sad-looking lady.

"They're with the instant puddings, Ma'am," said the stock boy, filling his shelves at the rush hour. "But if they're not there, we may be out of them."

AVAILABILITY VARIES

These dialogues were heard in supermarkets last week. They are typical, perhaps, of the variations on a theme: all of the products were heavily advertised, all were "national brands". But retail availability varies; and the confused customer finds widely varying service in the self-service supermarkets.

The degree of courtesy varies, not only from store to store (regardless of location, or corporate affiliation), but also from clerk to clerk.

This is the human problem of the supermarket today.

Advertisers spend thousands — even millions — of dollars on direct consumer advertising. The consumer is informed through television, radio and other mass media of products which find a niche in the market. But then what?

What happens at retail?

"We carry over 6,000 items on the average — 7,500 in the bigger supers — in our stores," said the merchandising manager of one of Canada's retail grocery chains. "We get perhaps 300 to 700 new products to worry about each year, maybe more," he said.

"You must remember the supermarket has become bigger, and more of a variety store than ever before in history," said a Dominion Store manager. "We are faced with a great product-turnover problem. Keeping goods in stock is now our major difficulty. It's not just the new products we worry about, it's the proper display and shelf exposure of the standard items. This is true for not only the grocery products but the meats and provisions, and the dry goods."

RETAIL REVOLUTION

The grocery - and - combination stores in Canada, as in other countries, have undergone a major change since 1945. In fact, there has been a revolution in the retailing industry, with its effects in the manufacturing and distribution segments, beginning as early as 1930, in Canada.

A Loblaw store manager said: "We get a lot of information from the head office about new products. Some are listed by the central buying committee, and we carry those products they recommend . . . but we determine the quantities, and the shelf location, because we are responsible for the turnover and profit on this store.

"Each manager works within his own district on these things. But we don't have time to inform all of our personnel of every new product advertising program, and that may be the real problem.

"If a customer asks for the 'new whatsit', we don't always have time to give real service, as we really want to. And, you must remember, we are out of stock on about 10% of our stock at any time. Maybe more."

Advertisers may become impatient on these points. Much time and effort have been put into copy and media planning, into the program for selling a product to the consumer — and to the retail trade. Agencies and clients have had many meetings, have devoted research and development money to the product in question.

CATER TO THE CUSTOMER

"Look, the supermarket has come to maturity," said Scott Feggans, vice-president of Dominion Stores Ltd. "We do the best job we can to train our personnel, on new products, standard products, and promotions . . . We have a Seven-Point Courtesy Program for all employees in-store," he said.

"Our system, however, is to give a good deal of decentralization to our districts and to our store managers," said Mr. Feggans. "We have 365 stores across the country, and they carry upwards of 6,000 items — up to 7,500 and more, depending on size of market.

"Number One with our in-store personnel is the Customer Information Service. We ask our people not only to tell the customer where a product is, but to take the customer to the product location and — an important service — to hand the product to the customer . . ." he said.

COMMUNICATIONS AND SPACE

"If there is any falling down on customer satisfaction, it must be in two areas," said Mr. Feggans. "I can only speak for our own company, but the industry faces the same problem. With all of the new products, new sizes, new package designs, new advertising programs, we can only hope that our central merchandising and buying groups have all of the information they should have . . . and that we pass this on to our in-store people."

Mr. Feggans went on to point out the real problems of the supermarket, in terms of size, and of the future plans for individual locations:

"The answer to many of our problems is the 'cube' concept. We must use our floor space more efficiently. For example, our frozen foods, our dairy products, and many others which cannot be stacked for more than the seven or eight courses we can use for some dry products, will have to go on multiple shelving. Our new Yorkdale store, to be opened in February of next year, will utilize the cubic content of the store. It will have far less floor space than some of the biggest supers in our company and others, but it will handle a much larger number of items. We will be able to organize our space and our personnel more efficiently . . ."

SAVING TO MANUFACTURERS

Mr. Feggans explained: "The growth of the supermarket in this country and in the U.S. has reduced the need for the manufacturer to have such a large sales force, to use trade paper advertising to the retailer, to send out direct mail pieces which make no sense . . . Today we have a dozen or so key retail companies, including corporate and voluntary, and a smaller number of the national companies who manufacture and sell to us . . . It's far more efficient in terms of selling than it ever was before, because there are fewer of us to deal with each other . . ."

Said an agency man: "We find that we can't launch a new product in the grocery field unless we pay for a lot of co-operation with the supermarket boys."

"The place of the new, small manufacturer is very difficult," said a sales manager in the specialty product field. "We can't afford the co-operative prices the super chains charge for display, and even shelf footage . . ."

"We are happy to sell our displays, especially our super-colossal display units. We proved a few years ago, in the case of the new Crest toothpaste experimental display, that we could increase our volume by up to 16 times," said Mr. Feggans.

Grocery and combination stores now represent over 20 per cent of all retail volume in Canada. It is over $5 billion in volume, according to DBS. Fewer and fewer manufacturers deal with fewer retail contacts. Fewer outlets, and bigger, represent a larger share of the market for many products.

"More of the key contacts are with head office buyers, and then we let our district people follow through with the retail district managers . . . we don't call on the retail outlet as such any more," said the district sales manager of one of Canada's largest manufacturers. "What happens in the retail outlet may be something else again . . . we have no control over it."

"The broadsides and other direct mail pieces a lot of the manufacturers send out to the so-called 'retail trade' are largely wasted today . . . the time for selling the 'individual retailer' is gone . . . over 70% of the business is done through a dozen contacts," said Mr. Feggans. "Times have changed . . . the advertisers and agencies are wasting their time on the past."

NO TIME FOR PREVIEWS

Do the retail giants get a chance to see the new plans, the programs of advertisers — including the copy and format of new TV and radio scripts?

"No, we have no time to look at those things as such. We do get a lot of brochures after everything is over," said the merchandising manager of a voluntary-chain district office. "We have no time for those things . . . we have to move goods, and definitely keep our inventory and turnover going . . ."

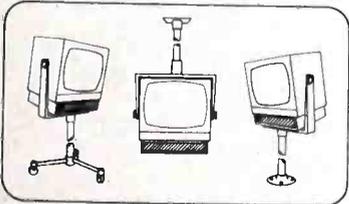

"We don't have the chance to sit down and talk over these things, and would like to — and to bring in the agency too," said a sales manager in the coffee and beverage field. "But where do we start . . . and when do we have the time? I would like to have all of the retail personnel of the supers we deal with hear our radio commercials and see our television spots before a new promotion comes on . . . but how do you do this? I don't know . . . but I think it would help on all sides, don't you?"

RADIO GOES TO THE SPONSOR

LOBSTER IN HAND, CJCH announcer Buddy Guilfoyle is giving a live pitch for Snow's Fresh Lobster, pinch-hitting for the proprietor who preferred to remain behind the counter. In inset, Gordon Morratto, CJCH sales manager, who brought the Hot-Spot idea with him from CKBB, Barrie.

CJCH, HALIFAX has reversed the old "Wherever you go there's radio" slogan by taking radio around town right to the sponsors' places of business.

Any full-time announcer on the station is free to take to the road with the CJCH mobile equipment and cruise around town looking for business.

When a likely enterprise is seen, the equipment pulls in, and, together or by turns, the announcer and accompanying salesman seek out and talk to the manager of the concern.

The idea is to sell him, then and there, on a Hot-Spot on-air commercial.

If there is a special item on sale, or some other feature to warrant it, the boys will put the manager himself on the air then and there for a 30 to 60 second spot.

Following the sale of the idea and a brief discussion on what points should be stressed, the announcer puts in a call from the mobile unit to the station, getting an OK to break in on whatever regular program is in progress for a CJCH Hot-Spot which carries its own music bridge. The spot is thereupon ad-libbed, properly logged and its message received by the station's audience, all in a matter of minutes.

The new idea has turned up a variety of "fringe benefits" along with its thundering success in the station's budget department.

Businesses contacted have discovered this is one form of advertising which never leaves them in doubt as to its value, because the response is always prompt — and good.

Car lot dealers, for instance, have enthusiastically reported back to CJ that people have appeared in droves almost immediately after the spot and sales have soared astonishingly.

Naturally the announcers like it. It gives them a change of scenery. And what salesman ever objected to having a chauffeur?

The idea grew from a non-commercial feature used at CKBB, Barrie, by Gordon Morratto, then with that station and now sales manager with CJCH. Dave Crosby, promotion manager and announcer co-operated in thinking up the new twist.

STUDENTS STATE VIEWS ON C-FUN "COMMENT SHOW"

"THIS PROGRAM is the dream of every student who thinks and who has ideas about the world . . .". The program is High School Views on the News of the Week, which was started last fall on C-FUN Vancouver and returns to the air this month with the opening of school.

The show was originally planned by Roy Jacques, who does the station's regular editorials, as a soapbox for any student who wanted to submit an editorial on any subject. The Vancouver School Board, however, suggested it might be made a school project, and the station expanded the program idea accordingly so that each high school would submit the editorials for a month.

Each program, aired Saturdays at 6.30 p.m. and Sunday afternoons at 12.30, includes student editorials on the past week's news and Jacques' comment on their views. His comments, he invariably finds, remark on the soundness of the teenagers' thinking on national and international issues.

So sound are these student views, in fact, that when Jacques was planning a spring vacation this year ten students, whose earlier contributions to the series were considered best, were chosen to replace him on the station's daily Comments. These are two five-minute editorials, aired at 8.05 a.m. and 6.05 p.m. with repeats at noon and 10 p.m.

THINKING YOUNGSTERS

The students' Comments were a resounding success. Harley Mackoff of Hamber high school charged that the primary purpose of the United Arab Republic is to create a war machine to destroy Israel, and warned that "the situation in the Middle East is comparable to Berlin, Cuba and Laos in its potential danger to world peace."

Closer home, Mary White of Magee high school examined the problem of the Indians on the Musqueam Reserve in Vancouver. "The Indians are not a dying race and they will not conveniently disappear," she said. "Segregation is not the answer. If successful integration is to be achieved, it must be preceded by education."

Peter Smith of Gladstone high school dealt with the space race versus the need for humanities, questioning "the policy that requires billions of dollars worth of equipment to be burned up on launching pads while people in undeveloped countries starve to death."

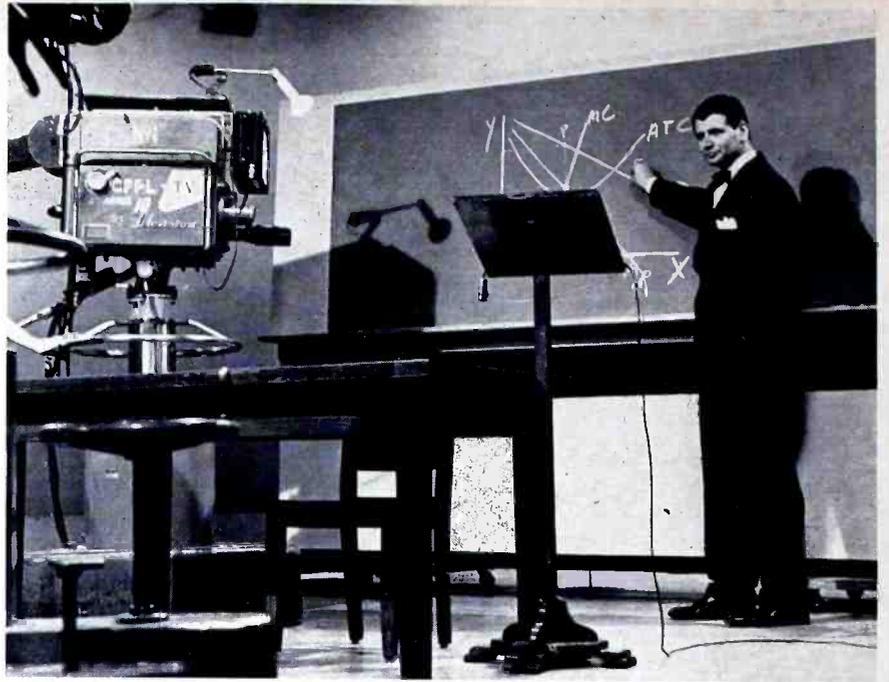

"This program is the dream of every student who thinks and who has ideas about the world, ideas that have been kept to the occasional classroom discussion or a friendly discussion with friends. This program gives us a larger audience and a chance to express ourselves," said Nevan Brail of Hamber in his Comment.

FORWARD STEP

"These students were listened to, I grant that, and it is a tremendous step forward that they were allowed to voice their opinions over the air," he said, "but were they really heard? . . . You listened, but did you consider?" he asked.

"Yes," answers the station, judging by phone calls, letters and personal comments about the 28-week series. "Yes" echoes the Vancouver School Board, which re-printed the ten guest Comment editorials done by the students in May, with the front-page admonition "they are worth your reading".

High School Views on the News of the Week was highly praised in a letter from the Vancouver School Board to C-FUN manager Douglas Greig, as were Behind the Chalkboard, the student Comments, and musical programs which featured five choral and orchestral groups from the schools.

University of Western Ontario

TESTS EDUCATIONAL TV

AN EXPERIMENT in educational television, to learn how students react to being taught a difficult subject via TV, is now being assessed at the University of Western Ontario.

A six-week summer credit course in Introductory Economics was taught by closed circuit television, beamed on an ultra high frequency channel from CFPL-TV London to special receivers in the classroom at University College.

Lecturer of the series, Dr. S. G. Peitchinis, Associate Professor of Economics and Political Science, used only a blackboard for illustration with no assists from special props or prepared graphics.

Another lecturer in Economics, Emile Primorac, conducted an hour-long discussion in the classroom following the broadcast.

When a special question requiring immediate discussion cropped up during the televised lecture, a direct line phone call to the station stopped the tape. The question solved, the tape resumed.

The landline cables and microwave link for the Economics 20 experiment were provided by the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada in London. Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing of Canada Ltd. supplied the University with the tapes and set up the receiver units in the lecture room. Five television sets for use in the classroom were donated by Canadian Admiral Corp. Ltd.

The 29 one-hour lectures were videotaped in advance at CFPL-TV, involving hours of co-operation from producers and technicians.

News from the film front —

THE MONTREAL Film Festival has the right idea, it shows the best of international films and then gives prizes to Canadians, said jury chairman Lindsay Anderson at the presentation of awards in the first Canadian Film Festival, run in conjunction with the Montreal International Film Festival held last month.

Three films competed for the Grand Prix for Canadian features, $500, and the winner was Claude Jutra's A Tout Prendre, a primarily autobiographical film which Jutra wrote and directed and in which he also played the male lead. NFB's Pour La Suite du Monde, directed by Michel Brault and Pierre Perrault, was given Special Mention.

The Grand Prix for short films, also $500, went to Les Bucherons de la Manouane, a 30-minute NFB documentary on loggers, directed by Arthur Lamothe. Special jury awards in this category, $200, went to: InterVideo Productions Ltd.'s The Most, now showing theatrically in New York; Au Plus Petit D'Entre Nous directed by Camil Adam; and the cartoon Le Chat Ici et Là directed by Cioni Carpi. There were 16 entries in the competition for short subjects.

The jury was composed of chairman, British director Lindsay Anderson, and film maker and critic Vittorio Baldi of Italy; André Martin, French film maker and critic; U.S. critic Andrew Sarris; Real Benoit, film supervisor, CBC Montreal; Stanley Fox, director of film services, CBC Vancouver; critics Gerald Pratley of Toronto and Gilles Ste. Marie of Montreal.

The festival included films from the U.S., Britain, France, Italy, Poland, Russia, Bulgaria, Roumania, Japan and Mexico, and the directors of several of the films were at the Festival for the screenings and discussions.

More than one report of the Festival commented on the interest and attendance of international film figures and distributors from the U.S. and the lack of interest or support from Toronto film people, which VARIETY called "studied indifference".

A FILM CO-PRODUCTION agreement between Canada and France will be signed this month, the result of negotiations by the National Film Board and the Department of External Affairs. NFB chairman Guy

Roberge said, in announcing the agreement, that it would be "a shot in the arm" for the Canadian film industry.

Co-production will cut production costs in half, double the market potential, cut across quota restrictions, and pave the way for three-way co-production with other countries with which France has co-production agreements, Roberge explained. It is hoped a similar agreement will be reached with Britain in the near future, he said, but the U.K. is at the moment busy negotiating co-production agreements with European countries.

Primarily advantageous to independent film producers, the agreement will also extend to NFB production.

THE "CANADA ON FILM" exhibit staged by the National Film Board at the Canadian National Exhibition this year proved one of the highlights of "the world's largest annual exhibition". Behind the facade of a movie theatre of the 1918-20 period, the five-part exhibit drew crowds of up to 20,000 people per day and it was estimated that nearly 200,000 would visit the display during the "Ex".

The multi-screen "Sixty years in six minutes" display covered 60 years of Canadian history with more than 50 newsreel sequences on 13 film loops projected simultaneously and continuously on 13 screens along one large curved wall. Oldest bit was from 1898, scenes of the Klondike Gold Rush, and latest was coverage of the ice canoe race in Quebec this year.

Part two of the NFB display was called "Movie Making — Then and Now" and traced the development of film cameras and projectors from museum piece early hand-cranked models to today's sleek, compact models. Another feature here was a film editing centre where NFB editors explained and demonstrated that complex art.

Two film theatres were set up in what used to be the CNE Art Gallery. In the larger one, with seating for over 100, the bill included: La Course (The Ride) in its first Canadian showings; The Runner, a portrayal of Canadian champion athlete Bruce Kidd; and Trans-Canada Journey.

In the smaller theatre, film selections were tied in to the CNE theme of the day, e.g. the Canada at War series on Warrior's Day, several NFB films on Canadian music and musicians on Music Day. Foreign language films were also screened here, on request.

Another section was devoted to filmstrips with the display set up with push-button projectors to be operated by the public.

Lining the corridor alongside the larger theatre, NFB displayed enlarged crowd shots from their stills library and invited visitors to identify themselves and receive a free mounted enlargement of the photo. One of the first takers was the Honorable Paul Martin, Minister of External Affairs, who identified himself in two of the shots.

Also on exhibit was an impressive array of about 50 of the over 500 awards won by the National Film Board at film festivals around the world. Most-pointed-at, NFB staff at the exhibit estimate, was the one of their two Oscars on display.

AN INTERNATIONAL anthology-type feature film made up of four segments, one each from Canada, France, Italy and Japan, is planned for production this fall and release next spring, it was announced at the Montreal International Film Festival.

Overall production of the film, to be called The Adolescents, will be supervised by the National Film Board. The Canadian segment will be in French, set somewhere in the province of Quebec, and directed by NFB's Michel Brault.

The French segment will be directed by Jean Rouch, the Italian episode by Vittorio Baldi, and the Japanese by Masaki Kobayashi or Susumu Hani. Each episode will be about 20 minutes in length.

IN THE CURRENT edition of CRAWLEY COMMENTARY, Graeme Fraser quotes the results of a survey taken by the 1963 FILM AND A-V ANNUAL regarding the main purpose for which business and industry used motion pictures last year.

Sales promotion and advertising lead the field, with public relations second. Tied for third place were training and general information, and fifth was research and development. Other uses were given as recruiting, travelogues, entertainment and education.

Of the films reported, 80% were in color and 28% used synch-sound.

TWO EPISODES of the television series, Route 66, are scheduled for shooting in Canada in mid-October, one in Niagara Falls and one in Toronto. Local places and people will be the backdrop for the adventures of stars Marty Milner and Glenn Corbett, and Screen Gems (Canada) Ltd. and CHCH-TV Hamilton, which carries the series, are collaborating on big publicity plans.

RESULTS OF THE MONTREAL Press Photographers' Association News Clip Contest for April-May-June show Don Smith of CBC placing first for his on-the-spot coverage of the FLQ bomb incident in Westmount, which included the actual explosion that wounded bomb expert Walter Leja. Al Brunelle of CFCF-TV took second place with footage of the Lester Pearson rally that attracted ban-the-bomb demonstrators. Third place went to Jélien St. George. There were 48 entries in the contest.

A LONG-SOUGHT affiliation of the Canadian Radio Sales Bureau, with the American Radio Advertising Bureau has just been effected by RSB President C. C. (Bud) Hoffman.

This project, which has been in a state of negotiation since RSB came into being two years ago, means that Canadian radio stations which have joined RSB will be able to take advantage, if they wish, of the same information and sales help material as is supplied by RAB to its U.S. radio stations for an additional nominal monthly charge of from $5 to $40 a month, depending on gross volume. Most stations, Hoffman says, will pay between $5 and $15.

Membership in RSB is available only to stations which are members of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters and non-member stations desiring to remain or become members of RAB, can subscribe to the American service at rates running as high as $140 a month.

Under the RSB-RAB agreement, RSB members will pay their RAB subscriptions to RSB, which, in turn, will pay a flat over-all fee to RAB.

Referring to the two-year-long haul spent persuading RAB to go along with the deal, Hoffman said the fact that RAB membership by Canadian stations has shrunk recently from 58 to 20 with the strengthening of its Canadian equivalent, RSB, may have influenced the U.S. body into going along with the idea.

Hoffman told THE BROADCASTER that there had been no negative reactions from stations or others, but a great many calls asking "can I get this . . . can I get that . . .?"

He stressed the fact that Canadian members will receive all material sent by RAB to its own member stations in the U.S. He also said the RAB Sales Conferences will be open to Canadian affiliates.

On the advertising side, he quoted the reaction of Henry Nimmo, whose company, Nestlé Canada Ltd. is a major user of radio. Nimmo, who is director of advertising and promotion, said he felt radio was never a "lost" medium, although some people regard it as having been "rediscovered."

"The radio industry as a whole and RSB in particular should be applauded for their efforts in putting this vital medium back in its proper place among the many channels of commercial communication available to the advertiser," he said.

Hoffman submitted willingly to this reporter's questions.

(1) Is Canadian commercial radio still operating more profitably than American radio?

Answer: Yes.

(2) Then why is it a good idea to make this link with the group which, in so many respects, is trailing us?

Answer: Because the U.S. industry is trailing does not mean their tools are less effective. How much worse would they be without the RAB tools? Or, to put it more positively, what if RSB wasn't making its calls for the industry in Canada?

(3) Is not this link with the U.S. organization in direct opposition to BBC's Canadian content views?

Answer: We have nothing to do with programming. We are interested in success stories — case histories — accounts that have used radio successfully.

(4) Is not part of the function of the BBG to "protect" Canadians against U.S. advertising which it considers objectionable?

Answer: This is not advertising. It is success stories. Here is what was good for a group of drugstores in the States. Maybe you would like to try it in Canada.

(5) Then why not drop the Canadian RSB and just let the stations link with the American RAB?

Answer: Our Number One objective is to sell and promote radio with Canadian advertisers for Canadian stations by means of:

(a) Personal calls.

(b) Promotional material with Canadian facts and figures for national and regional advertisers.

(c) Promotional material for stations to use at the local level.

Pointing out that only the Radio Sales Bureau performs these functions for Canadian radio stations, and that these same activities will be continued under the new plan, Hoffman said our activities will be "strengthened and enlarged" from the point of view of the individual Canadian stations, by the addition of the American information and material.

To co-ordinate the additional ser-

AUTOMATION . . . More and Better Service

AS A MEMBER of a management team, I feel the first move in the automatic programming area should be intelligent discussions with staff and talking about what automatic programming means to all concerned. It certainly means different things to different people.

To a chap who is frightened of his job, it certainly means something different than it means to us, or maybe you're frightened of your job. But the sooner a common ground can be established the better. I think we at CFPL think that automatic programming for us means at least four things.

- (1) It means more and better service to our listeners and viewers at a minimum of additional cost.
- (2) I think it means a transfer of dreary, repetitive work to machines in order to free people for work more suited to their judgment, imagination and abilities.
- (3) I think it means a reduction in human errors, particularly in high activity periods and human errors are expensive to all of us.
- (4) I think it certainly means more efficient use of human judgment and skills, things that machines don't naturally have.

Now, I think the next move might be to search through the system in which you intend or hope to insert automatic programming, for areas of work flow where people are doing work not really requiring judgment.

BETTER SERVICE — LOWER COST

The history of automatic programming at CFPL Radio started about three years ago when the management of our station saw, in the trade journals, stories and advertising concerning the use of automatic programming systems in radio stations.

It was then, and still is, our opinion that automatic programming is a partial solution of an operating cost problem that is an increasingly serious factor in our operation.

This is especially true in view of our desire to improve the services we provide to our listeners through better programming and extended hours of both our AM and FM services. Our desire to accomplish this while holding our costs led us to seriously consider, and actually enter into, automatic programming.

The attraction of automatic programming is better utilization of the various skills available at our station and our providing better service at a minimum increase in our costs.

With this objective in mind, we all actively searched for any system commercially available which would meet our needs without compromising the programming philosophy of our staff.

Our search for such a system was not very successful. Each system we found seemed to have drawbacks

IN A PANEL DISCUSSION at the 1963 annual meeting of the Atlantic Association of Broadcasters, papers were read on the subject by four experts, each from a different sphere of the industry. First to address the meeting, which was chaired by Willard Bishop, general manager of Radio Stations CKEN, Kentville and CFAB, Windsor, N. S. was Glen Robitaille, engineering director of CFPL AM-FM-TV, London, Ontario. Mr. Robitaille related the coming of automated programming to the London stations three years ago.

that would give us less flexibility in our programming, rather than more, and would cost so much that we hesitated to invest.

We did not seem to be getting anywhere until a set of circumstances allowed us to jump in with both feet.

In our engineering group, we were getting a lot of ideas about building our own system, to satisfy our own requirements, when our all-night announcer/operator decided to leave us.

We had a meeting with all parties concerned to consider the possibility of automatically programming our radio station during the night. We would not, if this worked out, replace the all-night announcer operator.

When we left the meeting we had decided that the programming group would work toward programming the all-night show using all taped material with the operating function reduced to merely starting and stopping tape machines. If and when they had evolved a system that produced a satisfactory program, we guaranteed to replace the man pushing the start and stop buttons with a box of tricks. A few months and lots of meetings later, the programming format had been developed and our job started.

DECEPTIVELY SIMPLE

The original basic program format was deceptively simple. It was proposed to start auto-programming at 1:03 a.m. after a live news program. It was to continue to 6:00 a.m.

Since music is the vehicle for our service, it was considered first. It was empirically established that the music in this time period could be continuous. It only needed to be faded down or out for service inserts. It was also established that vocals could be faded in or out without materially affecting the service value of the program.

The initial formula was quite simple. The time announcements are the same each night, so only one time tape was made with appropriate announcements recorded in sequence.

The news and weather and sports were all on another tape and recorded in sequence, so, with two music tapes and machines good for three hours each, only four machines were required.

We did originally operate with four machines. It was a new news tape each night, naturally, and the music was on a dozen or more three hour tapes which were rotated and one or two were erased and refilled with new music each week. The programming was quite satisfactory for automatic operation and for this time period.

We resisted the temptation to put in a simple system and installed a system that has automatically programmed six hours a night heavily loaded with commercials, jingles and time announcements, requiring seven tape machines.

Protective circuits installed were such that the DOT and BBG have authorized completely unattended operation of our radio station for the time period from midnight to 6:00 a.m.

TWO TYPES OF SYSTEMS

In choosing automatic programming systems, two general types appear. The first is a sequence or feed back type which starts a program source such as a tape machine or record player only when another program source stops. The simplest form of this type would use two tape machines, each starting when the other stops. With one machine playing musical selections and arranged by cues on the tape to stop at the end of each selection, and the other machine playing announcements and arranged by cues on the tape to stop after each announcement, the result is obvious, music with an announcement between each number.

This system can be expanded to be quite complex and include many refinements but it has one weakness.

It doesn't know what time it is. If it is desired to have any programming function happen at a certain time, such as a time announcement, the system must be modified or the duration of each program unit, be it music or voice, must be known and carefully planned in advance.

A possible modification of the system is to convert it to a "real time" type where each program item is started at a specific time. This can be done by a time clock very simply but this "real time" type has one weakness.

If each item starts at a specific time, the duration of each item must be carefully organized in advance or there will be gaps in the program, or overlaps. The system used at CFPL can operate as either type when programming requires it and is, therefore, not subject to the basic faults in either system.

We have been preparing for automatic programming of station breaks at television for over a year now but engineering preparations are slow and although we are about ready now to get going, holidays and other problems have kept us too busy to complete our project.

Our staff has accepted automatic programming as a tool towards better and more efficient station operations, as a means of reducing human errors. History shows that an antagonistic staff can completely defeat any automatic systems. Even indifferent staff can offset the most careful plans. In our simple case, seven tape machines have to be loaded correctly before the system will function (if seven machines are called for that night) and poor loading will shut the system down.

Our listeners accepted automatic programming with no adverse comments that I know of. The most interesting comment, I think, was the expressed concern of several listeners about our overworking our best announcers. We were accused of working them day and night. This points up an advantage of automatic programming, better use of good announcing staff.

Production with automatic equipment is certainly at least as good as with operators and in most cases better. Time announcements are on time, the music is that which is planned for the time period, the amount of time devoted to music versus voice is known, turntables do not play run-out grooves for several seconds or minutes.

Our out-of-pocket costs for our automatic equipment was about four thousand dollars, exclusive of our own engineering. And the equipment has more than paid for itself in its almost three years of operation. (It must be remembered here that we already had eight tape machines.)

We have no plans at the moment for any further automatic equipment at our radio transmitter beyond the existing remote control system from our studio.

FATSOS PROMOTE NU-V DIET BAR

ONE WOMAN tries out her prize of a set of bathroom scales as members of the winning team in the Nu-V Diet Bar Calorie Counting Contest on CKSL London celebrate their combined weight loss of 67 pounds. The ladies were identified only by their initials and in the back row (left to right) are B.L., J.F. and A.B., Bob Leslie of Air-Time Sales Ltd., creator of the contest; John Funston, CKSL manager; and Art Bartel, program and promotion manager.

ADD TO YOUR LIST of radio sales slogans, "Overweight people listen to radio." Nu-V Corp. Ltd., makers of the Nu-V Diet Bar, proved this in test marketing using CKSL London this summer, and confirmed it with further testing in Kitchener-Waterloo and Guelph. Now the company plans national distribution, using radio all the way and recommending that one station in each market follow the pattern of the successful CKSL promotion.

SL's reps, Air-Time Sales Ltd., created the promotion for Nu-V and advertising manager Bert Foster says it is "ideal, since it creates awareness of the product, demonstrates its values and sells it in quantity."

The promotion is a calorie counting contest in which each of four announcers heads a team of four overweight listeners in a six-week weight control plan using Nu-V Diet Bars. Announcers weigh in once a week and the 16 participating listeners are phoned for their weekly scale-reading.

Slim-along became very popular in London, as 350 listeners wrote in for a Nu-V sample, a calorie counter, and a progress chart to slim-along at home.

"Wherever you went in London people were talking about the Calorie Count Contest," says Vern Birt-whistle, Nu-V account executive at Maquinna Advertising. "It says a great deal for the effectiveness of radio as a major medium in this country."

The prize-winning team, which lost a total of 67 pounds over the contest, was presented with a set of bathroom scales for each member from CKSL. The station provided the prizes, promotional letters to drug and grocery outlets, calorie and progress charts. Nu-V provided sample bars and sufficient diet bars for the four teams taking part in the contest.

"We've captured a major share of the market for diet foods in London," says Foster. "I've been delighted with the results of the promotion." Other stations, too, are delighted with the result, which is a new advertiser for radio.

PAUL L'ANGLAIS EXPANDS INTO FRENCH PRINT

TELEMETROPOLE CORPORATION, owner of Station CFTM-TV, Montreal and the national sales representative organization, Paul L'Anglais Inc., Toronto and Montreal, has declared a dividend of $3.50 a share on its preferred stock. Télé-métropole has been in operation since February 1961.

The Paul L'Anglais organization, headed by veteran broadcaster Paul L'Anglais in Montreal and one-time CBC sales executive Gaston Bélanger in Toronto, besides representing its own station, CFTM-TV, represents radio stations CKLM, Montreal; CHLT and CKTS, Sherbrooke; and CKRB, St. Georges de Beauce; and TV stations CHLT-TV, Sherbrooke and CJPM-TV, Chicoutimi.

Last month, Paul L'Anglais announced an expansion into the representation field for French-language publications besides the two broadcast media. Publications which have affiliated to date include Actualité; Le Fournisseur des Institutions Religieuses; Le Samedi; La Revue Populaire.

Heading up the print division is Maurice Leclerc in Montreal and Marc Girard in Toronto.

Toronto manager Gaston Bélanger explains that the basic purpose of this expansion is to make available to English-language advertisers and their advertising agencies facilities, in terms of information about French-language markets and French-language Canadians, which will make their advertising more effective in French Canada, in all media.

In order to make available the maximum amount of information to national advertisers in Toronto, it was decided to establish a promotion department in the Toronto office, to act as an information bureau on French-Canada. They invited Ian Grant, who broke into the broadcasting business in 1956 through his association with this paper and who was latterly in the TV Promotion department at All-Canada Radio & Television Ltd., to take charge of this promotional activity. He moved over to the L'Anglais office last month.

In keeping with this expansion, the L'Anglais Toronto office will move into new and larger quarters at 2160 Yonge Street, one block south of Eglinton Avenue in mid-November.

The trend is to balanced programming

Free Expression . . . Discussion . . . Argument

IT'S WEDNESDAY EVENING — 7.30 — and a group of men hurry along the ground floor corridors of CFCF-TV in Montreal. They are heading for conference room 120, the launching pad of the weekly program Forum.

These men, a moderator and four panelists, may know each other, they may know of each other, or they may be meeting for the first time; brought together here by a careful selection process "with the aim," says Forum producer-director Clifford Brown, "of sparking lively debate by the unusual juxtaposition of talent."

Montreal, as Canada's largest city, is rich in local figures, and their ranks are expanded by a changing through traffic of philosophers, educators, theologians, sociologists, politicians, writers, crusaders and the like.

A particular Wednesday night gathering in room 120 may have been sparked by the visit of a Japanese psychiatrist who has come to lecture at the Montreal Neurological Institute. An eminent specialist from the Jewish General Hospital may have disagreed with a paper by the visiting psychiatrist.

Forum researchers will have spotted this in the Montreal press or the professional journals and snatched the opportunity to bring them together. Brown will round out his panel with a local social worker and someone who has "gone through the mill of experience".

The moderator will be selected for his skill in the particular field under examination and some previous television experience. In this case, he would probably be the director of a local social agency with post-graduate training in psychiatry, and some television chairmanships under his belt.

READY FOR THAT BETTER JOB?

Gathering momentum — the annual after-vacation job switcheroo! Employers placing advance orders . . . employees registering, others up-dating resumes. This Fall will be our busiest in years.

Don't delay your decision to move — you might miss the ideal spot by just a few hours. Don't wait till you quit or get fired — it's easier to place you while you're still working.

The majority of our placements are made from registrants on file. Once registered, your qualifications are constantly under review against openings. So let's have your typed resume, in duplicate, without delay.

If you want more info call — Perc Gill, Dick Paterson, Ken Bottoms, Jack LaPlant, Joe Charles, Lynn Reid, Kay Kirkpatrick, Wilma Kay, or Liz Carr.

PRELIMINARY SKIRMISH

Prior to this pre-taping gathering in room 120, Brown and his moderator will have gone over all available background material on the visiting psychiatrist and his views, and the local specialist's objection to these views. They will have decided what issues will make good television, issues that will be stimulating to the thinking viewer yet not so technical or academic as to leave him scratching his head in bewilderment.

In room 120 Brown and the moderator will have this working outline with them, prepared to scrap any and all of their previous ideas as the warm-up discussion gets underway and more entertaining or significant issues emerge.

By 7.45 the panelists have sized each other up and are sparring verbally. By eight, a vigorous disagreement may have developed and tempers may be wearing thin, or perhaps all are being over-polite and saying what is expected of them rather than what they really think.

The studio is ready and the cameras are hot and at some point in this preliminary discussion Brown must move his panel from the conference room to the studio. This timing can mean a program that's meaningful and exciting, or one that's dull and flat.

While the panel settles into its seats in the studio, Brown confers with his moderator, deleting one theme and expanding another, plotting the ideal progress of the next half-hour.

ON WITH THE SHOW

Once the "roll tape" cue has been given, the kind of telepathy that comes only with teamwork comes into play. Brown knows and trusts his moderator and can anticipate his reaction to the twists and turns the program takes as it unfolds. Brown himself now operates on two levels.

As producer, he gives the floor manager his suggestions that this issue be expanded, that one dropped, and the floor manager passes them on by hand signals to the moderator, who follows through.

As director, he manoeuvres his cameras to catch the speakers in close-up, nab reaction shots and capture a panelist's visual personality, betrayed by a tapping pencil, clenched fist or raised eyebrow.

When the script assistant has counted the show down to zero, the booth announcer tells viewers what next week's program will be, and it could be anything from a discussion on legalized abortion to a group of clergymen talking about "The Nature of Christian Unity".

As the video tape operator cues the show for playback and the Forum set goes into storage, Brown, his moderator and the panelists move to the viewing room and watch the show.

"Sometimes there are sighs at lost opportunities on the part of one member or another, and sometimes there's chagrin at being bested in debate," says Brown. "But this, for better or for worse, is the show the viewer will see on Sunday afternoon."

The program is also carried on CFCF radio Sunday evenings. "I know people who watch the program at 3 o'clock on channel 12 and then listen to it on radio at 6.30," says Brown, "to get the finer meaning that is sometimes clearer without the visual."

FREE-WHEELING FORMAT

In almost three years of continuous weekly production, Forum has covered almost every conceivable subject, yet new material constantly suggests itself. With a free-wheeling, open-discussion format the program can take on almost any subject, and it does.

Past shows have presented a young Indian girl with a deep contempt for North American whites; a young unwed mother telling of her struggle to support her child; a panel of criminologists and sociologists who startled Montrealers with a report on what happens to a family when a parent goes to jail.

The program, however, is not always concerned with such questions. Forum viewers have seen a light-hearted study of the fair sex with an ex-member of ex-King Farouk's ex-harem and enjoyed previews of Montreal's annual Film Festival.

Panelists have discussed "Public Relations and the Public Interest", "First Year University Failures", "Women in Politics", "The Influence of Montreal's Old Families", "The Canadian Novel". The program has asked its viewers, "Is Canada Rough on its Immigrants?", "Is the Approach to the News Changing?", "What's Funny about Humor?"

"Sometimes we wish a larger audience could catch a particular show," says Brown, "and occasionally they do, through program exchanges."

Recently CJOH-TV Ottawa, CFTO-TV Toronto and CJAY-TV Winnipeg carried a Forum program "People Preaching Christ" which dealt with the World Faith and Order Conference held at McGill University.

Reviewing the show's long-run success, Brown says "Perhaps the secret is the program's flexibility and adaptability to the ever-changing spectrum of Montreal. By and large, Forum still tries to do well what it set out to do in 1960, 'to provide for the alert viewer a weekly view of the city and the world'".

MONTREAL STAR TV reviewer, Pat Pearce, says "Forum is casually and without fanfare regularly proving a city (at least this city) has all kinds of citizens able to express themselves."

Free expression, open discussion, thought-provoking argument, that's Forum.

What's Your Problem?

ON TUESDAY morning, September 3, at 9.30, a warm feminine voice asked CJKL Kirkland Lake listeners, "What's your problem?" and Anita Thompson began the tenth anniversary year of her open-line show, which the station believes is the oldest continuous program of its type on Canadian radio.

The attractive housewife's daily hour-long show is an encyclopedia of the air, answering questions mailed or phoned in on subjects ranging from removing stains from clothing to the cost of education at the local high school.

The program started as a summer replacement show called What's Your Problem? in 1954, with only Mrs. Thompson's side of the telephone conversations going on the air. It was so popular that it was made a regular feature that fall, airing both sides of the phone calls, and now its called The Anita Thompson Show.

While the show performs the necessary homey tasks of finding lost dogs and cats and solving household problems, both hostess and listeners enjoy it most when the topic under lively discussion is a controversial local issue, with civic, provincial and federal figures taking part.

The need for a home for the aged, school uniforms, curfew, gasoline prices, any and every topic of local interest is welcome grist for the program's mill.

LISTENERS COME FIRST

Mrs. Thompson attends town council meetings regularly and reports on them to her fans. She has often been nominated to a seat on the council or on a school board, but always declines because she can't do justice to the position and her listeners too — and her listeners come first.

Researching the answers to a constant flow of questions takes considerable time, but Mrs. T. also teaches Sunday School, is secretary of the Kirkland Lake and District Community Chest, and is an active member of the Business and Professional Women's Club. She and her husband, Donald, a mining engineer, have two children.

Prior to joining CJKL, Mrs. Thompson was with CFNB Fredericton and CKWS Kingston. She began her broadcasting career in the 30's when she appeared on the children's hour on CHSJ Saint John.

Urges Kids to Stay in School

SOME OF CANADA'S leading business executives are urging teenagers to complete their educations in a "stay in school" radio campaign created by Northern Broadcasting Ltd. The spots are being run on a saturation basis of ten or twelve daily on the Northern stations — CHEX Peterborough, CKWS Kingston, CFCH North Bay, CJKL Kirkland Lake, and CKGB Timmins — and have been offered to other stations across the country through the CAB Program Exchange.

"Each of our stations had recorded 'stay in school' messages from local businessmen, civic dignitaries and educators," says Jack Weatherwax, national sales director for Northern. "Then we felt that a word from top executives of national companies would add weight and prestige to the campaign. We found most of the men we approached were very interested in the school drop-out problem and they were very cooperative."

The campaign includes messages from E. H. Walker, president of General Motors Products of Canada Ltd.; J. Herbert Smith, president of Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd.; Ralph Sewell, president of Coca-Cola Ltd.; W. O. Twaits, president of Imperial Oil Ltd.; George St. L. McCall, president of Christie Brown

The spots were taped at Dominion Broadcasting Studios in Toronto through the co-operation of Cy Strange.

principal or principle?

Both. Principal man at CFQC radio, Station Manager Vern Dallin, doesn't mind a little fuss when there's a principle involved. As there was when Vern evolved the controversial "Dallin plan", a move that endeared him to some, annoyed others. In the course of his duties as school board member, Vern proposed the complex scheme by means of which Saskatoon children would be assured a maximum number of hours in overcrowded schools. An issue still hotly discussed in Saskatoon.

The scheme typifies the CFQC attitude to public service. No mere board members, the CFQC staff take an enlightened part in community affairs, including the most controversial. They're part of the community family . . . and that's why CFQC is part of the life of every Saskatoon family . . . a most important part.

Why Choose Tarzian Recording Tape?

■ Tarzian Tape is manufactured to professional quality specifications by Sarkes Tarzian, Inc., a leading manufacturer in the electronics and communications industries. Given good sound in the first place, Tarzian Tape will keep it for you—and give it back undiminished and undistorted. There are four sizes, from which you can choose the right one for every recording requirement:

- 1½-mil acetate in 3, 5, 7, 10½, 14-inch reels plus hubs;
- 1-mil acetate or 1-mil Mylar* in 3, 5, 7, 10½, 14-inch reels plus hubs;
- ½-mil tensilized Mylar in 3, 3¼, 5, and 7-inch reels.

Look at a reel. The oxide surface is smooth, tightly bonded—your protection against flaking, abrasion, wow and flutter. The windings are perfectly slit, perfectly wound—that's tape to capture every high, to give you virtually flat response for all recording frequencies. Now listen. You'll find distortion less than 2½% at maximum recording level (as measured by U. S. Navy Specification W-T-0061); uniformity that stays within plus or minus ¼-decibel from "Record" or "Playback" to "Stop."

We don't know where you can find better audio tape than Tarzian—at a price that makes it practical for every recording assignment. We'll deliver a reel or a carload. Just say the words. Tarzian Tape. Write for a free sample and attractive prices.

Who can deliver a fully transistorized low-cost VTR* to your station?

AMPEX

Low cost television tape recording is now a reality. It is possible because of the VR-1100, Ampex's newest Videotape* Recorder. The VR-1100 is an all solid-state recorder that costs about half as much as some other broadcast recorders. It occupies less than half the floor space of previous VTRs and is ideally suited for use in mobile vans and small studios. It weighs half as much as other VTRs and requires considerably less power. This low power requirement, combined with a new convection cooling system, eliminates the need for special air-conditioning or blowers in the van or studio. The VR-1100 has two speeds—7½ and 15 ips. At 7½, three hours of programming can be recorded on a single reel. The VR-1100 is a 4-head recorder compatible with other 4-head recorders. It comes equipped with the Vertical Lock Accessory which allows use of the Ampex Electronic Editor—permitting complete single camera production. Operation is simple. There are fewer controls. Maintenance costs are very low. Reliability and performance characteristics are high. For additional information on these fully transistorized, low cost VR-1100s, please write the only company providing recorders, tapes and core memory devices for every application: Ampex of Canada Ltd., 1458 Kipling Avenue North, Rexdale, Ontario. Telephone Cherry 7-8285. Worldwide sales and service.

Visit the Canadian Electronics Conference, Sept. 30 - Oct. 2, Toronto. See Ampex at Stand 152.

A SALE HAS BEEN MADE

No need to sell this customer on the desirable qualities of the appliance she has just purchased. She was pre-sold by CFPL-TV.

Latest statistics* show that residents of London and Western Ontario spend more than 46 million dollars a year for appliances and furniture. Total retail sales for the area are over one billion dollars. How big is your share?

CFPL-TV will help you sell appliances and furniture (or anything else) in Western Ontario. Remember too, that CFPL-TV covers Canada's number one test market. No other major market is so dominated by one television station.

Call your All-Canada man or contact CFPL-TV, London, Canada.
