Prairies' Chief Executive

J. R. Finlay is the CBC's chief executive in the largest network Region from the standpoint of area, the Prairies. His field of operations extends from Winnipeg in the southwest to Edmonton and Peace River in the northwest, and comprises more than 750,000 square miles and a population of potential listeners of more than 2,500,000.

A native of Cheshire, England, Mr. Finlay has been in radio since he built his own first crystal set in 1919. He came to Canada in 1927, and has been actively associated with radio in the Dominion and the United States since 1932. He joined the CBC's program division in 1937, serving as a producer in the Vancouver studios. His national network series, The Romance of Sacred Song, a series of dramas based on hymn tunes, and By The Sea, a musical program introduced by the sound of the surf beating along the coast at Vancouver, are still remembered.

In 1941, Mr. Finlay went to Toronto as a producer, and in 1943 was appointed Manager of the CBC's 50,000-watt station there, CBL. The following year, 1944, brought him back to the west as Prairie Regional Representative, with headquarters at Winnipeg, a post he has held ever since, during a period of tremendous CBC development in the Region. The complicated and difficult management of affairs leading up to the opening of the CBC's two new high-powered stations in Manitoba and Alberta, and the taking over of the Manitoba government's veteran station, CKY, has fallen to a considerable extent upon the shoulders of the Prairie Regional Representative.

Mr. Finlay has been interested in music and drama, "ever since I played Marguerite in Faust at a performance in our boys' school in Cheshire." He refuses to make a distinction between classical and popular music, insisting that he likes both when they are good. The standard of performance, he thinks, counts a great deal, and he believes that since the CBC began broadcasting in 1936 standards in this connection have risen considerably.

Issue Statement Re Edmonton Station

CBC Board Will Keep CJCA Broadcasting Activities Under Ob- servation

The Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation today released the following statement following a board meeting in Montreal:

In the matter of complaints by Mr. Gordon S. Henry regarding activities of the Edmonton Broadcasting Company Limited, licensee of Radio Station CJCA, Edmonton, the Board has heard and considered statements from Mr. Henry and from the president and other officers of the licensee company.

The Board feels that the complaints of Mr. Henry were important questions in relation to basic principles of freedom of the air.

The kernel of the matter as far as the Board is concerned is whether or not the licensee kept off the station broadcast material which would normally be broadcast under general policies governing radio in Canada and the responsibilities of a licensee as trustee of a radio frequency. The Board has found it difficult to determine exact pertinent facts, which in its mind depend largely on unwitnessed conversations between Mr. Henry, former manager of the station, and Mr. W. A. MacDonald, President of the Licensee Broadcasting Company and also publisher of the Edmonton Journal. The Board has heard different versions of such conversations. The Board, however, is of the opinion that there has been some undue influence in favour of the Edmonton Journal with regard to broadcasting over Station CJCA which is not in the public interest since such a situation tends to restrict the free flow of information on the air, fair access to the air, and the presentation of all main points of view.

The Board, therefore, will keep the broadcasting activities of Station CJCA under observation, and onym of Q, Sir Arthur has written numerous novels and books of poetry, among them being Dead Man's Rock, The Splendid Spur and Fort Amity.

CBK 9:00 p.m., CKY 10:00 p.m.

Orchestra: I Want To Be Happy (Youmans); Apologies to Rossini, from William Tell (Rossini); All Through the Day (Kern); Begin the Beguine (Porter); In an Old Fashioned Town (Squire). Therese Deniset: L'Anneau d'Argent (Chaminade). George Kent: Mattinata (Leoncavallo); Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair (Foster). From Winnipeg.

CBK 9:30 p.m., CKY, 6:30 p.m.

will review them carefully when the present license comes up for renewal. It believes that the licensee company would be well advised to make clear arrangements for the responsibility as to what is broadcast on the station, under which no official of the newspaper could give direction regarding particular broadcasts. The Board is further of the opinion that where there is dual ownership of a newspaper and a radio station the operations should be distinctly separate one from the other.

The Prairie Gardener

Summary of Broadcast of July 11, 1948

Summer Gardening Problems:

1. The number one problem in many districts this season is securing enough moisture for garden crops. The following suggestions should be considered.

(a) One hundred per cent weed elimination to conserve all moisture for crops.

(b) Wide spacing between rows and between plants in rows to give each plant ample range for soil moisture.

(c) Choice of crops and varieties that survive best under dry conditions.

(d) Provision for watering from a dugout or other artificial supply basin. As a rule two or three thorough irrigations during the early summer are sufficient.

(e) Mulching crops early in the season while moisture is already in the soil.

Pioneer Gardeners:

Mr. James Barrie in the Shellbrook district and Mr. Ernest Fisher between Jumping Lake and Crystal Springs in the park country of Northern Saskatchewan are both living on homesteads filed upon well over forty years ago. They improved their farmsteads with shelterbelts and hedges, set out fruit lots, made gardens and developed ornamental plantings. These enterprises have been important factors contributing to permanency of farm tenure and the establishment of fine living conditions. The lesson of these and other pioneers should be taken to heart by every young farmer. Good homes need good grounds and a healthy, happy family is best nurtured in an environment that includes trees, shrubs, grass, flowers, fruits and other gardening interests.

Radio Technique. — We need ruthless cutting back to the roots — of our musical bridges, our narrator continuities, crossed and criss-crossed by dramatized episodes—the so-called stream of consciousness flowing both ways at once, back into the past, forward into the future, and flooding all over the place in the total confused "now" of the radio play. — John Coulter, on CBC.

MORNING DEVOTIONS

Rev. George A. McMillan, Sparling United Church, Monday to Saturday. From Winnipeg.

CBK 7:50 a.m., CKY 7:50 a.m.

A BOOK I LIKE

Recollection Of Things Past, by Marcel Proust, discussed by Constance Carneau, Montreal writer and broadcaster. Recollection Of Things Past is not one book, but seven. Proust began it in 1905 as a three-volume autobiography of a social climber, and after working on it for seven years found that he had a picture of French society in the period from 1870 to 1914. Although the titles are varied and give little indication to the casual observer of the unity of the group, the books form a continuous history of the social activities of France during that period. The titles are Swann's Way, Within a Budding Grove, The Guermante's Way, Cities of the Plain, Captive, The Sweet Cheat Gone, and Times Regained. From Montreal.

CBK 3:33 p.m., CKY 4:00 p.m.

MUSICAL ROMANCE

Orchestra conducted by Richard Seaborn; Kerr Wilson, baritone. Orchestra: Holiday For Strings

(Rose); Mama Inez (Grenet); Love For Love, from Escape Me Never (E. W. Korngold); Donkey Serenade, from The Firefly (Friml); Kiss Me Again (Victor Herbert); Two Guitars (traditional). Kerr Wilson: Begin the Beguine; Oklahoma; Jerry Jericho. From Winnipeg.

CBK 7:00 p.m., CKY 8:00 p.m.

SUMMERFALLOW

The story of the pioneers who went into Manitoba's Swan River Valley will be this week's dramatization. The script is by Mary Rogers Pattison, of Rivers, Man., author of The Jackson Family sketches heard Monday to Friday on the CBC Prairie Region Farm Broadcast. From Winnipeg.

CBK 8:30 p.m., CKY 9:30 p.m.

DATE AFTER DARK

Mitchell Parks and Percy Burdett, duo-pianists; Lois Gibson, vocalist. Pianos: Così Cosa; La Cinquantaine; I Concentrate On You, from Broadway Melody of 1940; Carioca, from Flying Down to Rio; Hungarian Dance No. 5 (Brahms); In the Gloaming; Cuckoo in the Clock. Lois Gibson: Love Somebody; Tea Leaves; That's My Desire; Indiana. From Winnipeg.

CBK 9:00 p.m., CKY 10:00 p.m.

Chanteuse

If it's an operatic aria or a song from the hit parade, SIMONE QUESNEL, Montreal vocalist, sings it with a husky contralto that has charmed radio listeners for 13 years. Currently she is broadcasting her interpretations of modern ballads in Stringtime, a weekly program of popular music in a sentimental mood, heard Mondays at 6:00 p.m. on CBK, and 7:00 p.m. on CKY.

Manitoba Pioneers

Story Of The Swan River Valley Told On CBC Summerfallow

Driving through the seventy miles of the Swan River Valley, three hundred miles north-west of Winnipeg, few strangers realize that only fifty years ago the valley's rich farmlands were mosquito-ridden bogs. Few of them know about the years of patience, perseverance and hard work with inadequate implements that went into the land's development.

On Monday, July 19, listeners to Summerfallow will hear the story of the hardy pioneers who went into the Swan River Valley with little money or equipment but lots of determination, and stayed there until their sod shanties had become comfortable farm houses and their brush-covered fields were waving with oats and barley.

The script for the drama is by Mary Rogers Pattison, of Rivers, Man., the author of The Jackson Family sketches heard Monday to Friday on the CBC Prairie Region Farm Broadcast. Summerfallow will be heard at 8:30 p.m. on CBK, 9:30 p.m. on CKY, and will be presented from Winnipeg. Archie MacCorkindale, drama producer, will be in charge of production.

Selection.—Soap operas for those who like them, and CBC Wednesday Nights for those who like them. After all, we can be selective in our listening. — Graham McInnes, on CBC.

To Allot Time When Leaders Are Chosen

CBC Board Announces Policy re Political Conventions; Time Also For Other Parties

OTTAWA. — The chairman of the CBC Board of Governors, A. D. Dunton, said in a press release today:

"The Board of Governors has been considering questions raised by the possibility of broadcasting speeches from important conventions of national political parties. This was not possible in war time under censorship regulations, but is possible in peace time.

"The Board feels that it would be in the public interest for the CBC to broadcast some speeches from those national conventions which are of outstanding importance because they are called to choose new national party leaders.

"The Board, however, is anxious to maintain the fullest possible fairness among qualifying parties in all political broadcasting, and speeches from such conventions are naturally of a highly political nature. In Canada such balance is difficult in this connection because party conventions to choose new national leaders occur at such irregular intervals.

"It has been felt that a general policy, applying to all parties, should be worked out for such broadcasts, taking into account Canadian political practices.

"The Board believes that a fair principle will be for the CBC to broadcast some speeches from such conventions as may be held in the future by qualifying national parties to choose new leaders, but as counter balance to this to give each other party additional time on the air immediately afterwards.

"The following statement of policy has therefore been adopted by the Board: When a qualifying national party holds a national convention for the purpose of choosing a new national leader the Corporation will, at its discretion, allot free national network time for the broadcasting of a speech or speeches at the convention; and during the following week the Corporation will offer to each of the other qualifying national parties, national network periods of approximately half the time devoted to speeches from the convention."

The Men of Scarlet

Into the teeming cities, on to the racetracks, into the shady places, into the quiet little towns of Canada they go; and far into the lonely reaches of the north they serve silently as counsellor, friend, encyclopedia, hero, doctor and administrator of the law. In fact the men of scarlet help to make Canada legal. If it were not for Mounties wandering alone over the vast roof of the world, we could not lay legal claim to thousands of square miles. — John Fisher, on CBC, June 20.

Another facet of life in the big city—what goes on in the bar—is put under the microscope in today's drama. Dohnanyi Work

Rarely Performed Composition To Be Presented By Vancouver Group

The Quintet in C Minor for Piano and Strings, Opus 1, a rarely performed work by Ernst von Dohnanyi, one of Hungary's foremost musicians, will be a CBC Wednesday Night presentation from Vancouver on July 21. It will be heard on CBK at 7:30 p.m., and on CKY at 11:00 p.m.

The work will be played by an instrumental group conducted by Jean de Rimanoocz, concertmaster of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra; Norman Serkin, second violinist; Smyth Humphreys, violist; Audrey Piggott, cellist, and Norma Abernethy, pianist.

Born in Pressburg in 1877, Dohnanyi combines careers as composer, pianist and conductor. He has been particularly interested in chamber music since his teens, when he first began composing. His works in that form follow the Brahms tradition, and are distinguished by fine craftsmanship, freshness and originality of treatment. The Quintet in C Minor, written in his youth at the turn of the century, is romantic, colourful and witty.

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN

Utopia Limited, a witty take-off on British society and politics, is the next in this CBC series of Gilbert and Sullivan operas. Soloists, chorus and orchestra under the direction of Geoffrey Waddington. From Toronto.

Utopia Limited

Next CBC Opera

Gilbert And Sullivan's Take-Off On British Society And Politics To Be Heard July 20

After Gilbert and Sullivan patched up their famous quarrel over the price of a carpet for the Savoy Theatre, London, and "made friends," they produced two more light operas together. One of these, Utopia Limited, a witty take-off on British society and politics, is next in the current CBC series of Gilbert and Sullivan operas. It will be presented by the CBC Light Opera Group and an orchestra directed by Geoffrey Waddington, on Tuesday, July 20, at 10:30 p.m. MDT, 7:30 p.m. CDT, on the Dominion network.

When Mr. Goldbury, a company promoter, made a limited company out of the little south Pacific kingdom of Utopia, he had the king's blessing. The poor monarch a helpless tool of two unscrupulous Wise Men, had been at his wits' end to know how to remedy the situation in which he found himself. Mr. Goldbury's first step in his remodeling program was to Anglicize Utopia from head to toe—assisted by the king's elder daughter, who had gone to school in England and could hardly wait to introduce her countrymen to court trains, biscuits and tea, and hearty games of cricket in the garden. At one point the opera brings back Captain Corcoran and a tune from Pinafore, along with the Cuncy, humorous songs of the Utopians.

Haydn Symphony

On CBC, July 18

Waddington To Conduct Work Written As A Hint

Haydn's Farewell Symphony, written for a lonely orchestra in 1772, will be performed by a CBC concert orchestra under Geoffrey Waddington, on Sunday, July 18. It will be heard as the next broadcast in the Little Symphonies program series heard on CBK at 8:30 p.m., and on CKY at 9:30 p.m.

The symphony originated in rather an unusual way, at a magnificent villa named Esterhatz, where Haydn's patron, Prince Nicolaus Esterhazy, took Haydn and an orchestra for a stay each year.

The villa was in an isolated part of Austria, and the members of the orchestra often became lonesome for their families. One year, when there were rumblings of revolt and discontent among the players, because of a longer-than-usual visit, Haydn became alarmed, and decided to give the Prince a hint about leaving.

He wrote the symphony in the usual four movements, except that in the last the score was so arranged that the players could, one by one, blow out their candles and depart, until none were left. The story has a happy ending—the prince took the hint, and shortly afterwards the musicians were homeward bound.

Speaks On Swiss Women Workers

Anna Martin To Discuss Women In Business In Switzerland

If the women of Switzerland were asked to name the country's ten most outstanding citizens, chances are that Anna Martin would pull a heavy vote, for she heads an organization which is doing a great deal to improve women's professional and economic status.

On Wednesday, July 21st, the CBC will broadcast a talk by Anna Martin about the kind of work Swiss women engage in, the difficulties they meet, and how these are surmounted. The program is one of a weekly series, Women In Business, and will be heard at 3:33 p.m. on CBK, 4:00 p.m. on CKY.

Anna Martin is president of the National Federation of Office Workers, a group to which she has devoted much of her free time ever since she began office work as a young girl. She is also general commissioner of the Swiss National Exhibition for Women's Work, called SAFFA.

This was organized twenty years ago, to show what women have accomplished in the home and in business, in agriculture and trade, in arts, science, social economy and the manifold industries of the land. The first exhibition was a great financial success, and the money has been used since to give help to women wanting to establish themselves in independent careers—doctors, dentists, nurses opening homes for children and the aged, teachers doing special studies, dressmakers or shop-keepers needing help. Together with one of the leading banks of Switzerland, it also has set up advisory offices for any women in financial difficulties.

The Dybbuk To Be Wednesday Feature

The Dybbuk—which was originally written in Yiddish—is a simple folk tale about the Chassidic sect of the Jewish people. Its setting is eastern Europe during the last century. The play conveys the mystic atmosphere that might well prevail in another world and portrays the effect of superstitions as old as the world itself.

The Habimah Theatre group of Palestine, which first produced The Dybbuk in 1922, recently gave a number of performances of the play in New York where it was again received with enthusiasm. Rupert Caplan, who will produce The Dybbuk for CBC listeners, has been identified with the famous play since the time it first came into prominence as a classic. He produced it on two occasions in Montreal and his was the first performance in English following its presentation by the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York. It is thought that the July 21 program will be the first time the play has ever been broadcast.

THE DYBBUK TO BE—Concluded

The play has been adapted for radio by Mac Shoub, and will be heard with music scored by Neil Chotem.

A talk on Ansky's play and the Habimah Theatre group will be given by A. M. Klein, a Montreal poet, lawyer and Hebraic scholar, at 9:45 p.m. on CBK, 10:45 p.m. on CKY. Mr. Klein is well qualified to talk about the mysticism and the mood of The Dybbuk. In addition to writing poetry dealing with the long Jewish struggle for survival, he has translated many Hebrew poems. He was visiting lecturer in poetry at McGill University during the three sessions from 1945-1948.

FARM BROADCAST NOTES

Tractors.

The International Harvester Company announced from Chicago yesterday, that I.H.C. tractor prices would increase from two and one-half to 14 per cent.

The announcement applied to all their wheel type tractors. The reason given was heavy production costs. Officials said they had held off price increases for the past six months hoping that production costs would stabilize but the move was decided on when sales on certain models were reported to be selling in the red. It is estimated the average advance on the entire tractor line will be less than 10 per cent.—Broadcast of June 8.

B.C. Floods.

Alberta farmers are remembering the generosity of B.C. farmers during the drought years when carloads of B.C. fruit were shipped from the Fraser Valley to dried out areas in Alberta. They are laying plans to repay this debt by sending feed grain and hay to the flooded Fraser Valley.

Directors of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture announced last night in Calgary, that they were offering all possible assistance to the B.C. Federation of Agriculture in relief for flood victims.—Broadcast of June 8.

Churchill Excursion.

A special six-day railway excursion from Regina to Churchill, Manitoba, in August, planned to coincide with the arrival of the first ship into the port this year, was announced by the Co-operatives Minister, Hon. L. F. McIntosh. The special train accommodating 250 passengers will leave Regina August 6 and arrive at Churchill August 8. It will call at Saskatoon, Prince Albert, Melfort, Tisdale, Hudson's Bay, and The Pas, with a side trip to Flin Flon. The first ship to reach the northern port this year, the North Anglia of the Dalgleish Line of Newcastle-on-Tyne, is scheduled to dock on the evening of August 8 or the following morning.—Broadcast of June 28.

Introduce New March At Prom Guest Conductor To Direct Orchestra In Premiere Of His Own Composition

Victor Kolar will be playing a double role—that of conductor and composer—at the Promenade Symphony Concert, Thursday, July 22. On that date he will conduct the Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra in a program to include the premiere of his own British-American March. The guest artist will be Vivian Della Chiesa, lyric soprano. A portion of the concert will be broadcast on the CBC Dominion network, beginning at 7:30 p.m. MDT.

Mr. Kolar was for many years director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and has appeared as guest conductor with leading orchestras throughout Canada and the United States. He is also widely known as a composer, and has written many lively marches. The composition to be introduced on the July 22 broadcast is dedicated to the mother of Ernest Johnson, manager of the Proms, whom Mr. Kolar has met often on his visits to Toronto, where the concerts originate.

Crime Aboard

The S.S. Marigold Baffling Theft On Mythical Ship Still Causing Reverberations

If you are a devotee of detective story fiction you probably know that one of the most ingenious and baffling thefts in the annals of international criminology was committed on the Salmon River, N.S., aboard the jaunty S.S. Marigold, the fabulous Nova Scotian ship powered by electric eels. That theft not only piqued the curiosity of the Marigold crew and people living along the Salmon River shores, but today is still receiving the attention of the R.C.M.P., the FBI and even famous Scotland Yard. And it all happened because of the icing for Herk McNuff's birthday cake.

To say more about this startling crime and the suspicious characters involved in it would be giving away the plot of the next broadcast of the S.S. Marigold Stories, which will tell listeners all about the event. Sub-titled Lost Package, the program will be heard on Thursday, July 22, on CKY at 7:45 p.m.

Talks Assistant

A new assistant in the CBC's Prairie Region Talks Department at Winnipeg is BERNARD TROTTER, formerly of Kingston, Ontario. Mr. Trotter is a graduate in arts of McMaster University and an M.A. of Queen's. He studied at the Academy of Radio Arts in Toronto during 1946-1947. The West is new to him, except for a war-time harvesting expedition in 1942, which took him to Swift Current, Sask.

GROWING UP

Series of talks about personality problems. Today's broadcast will tell the story of Ruth, a little farm girl trained as a drab family drudge. Her mother dressed her in dowdy clothes and threatened to be ill if Ruth neglected her chores for a bit of fun. Ruth might have been an unhappy, mousy sort of person all her life if it had not been for a school friend who showed her how to grow up, how to throw off her drabness and be herself. From Toronto.

CBK 3:33 p.m., CKY 4:00 p.m.

LUBKA KOLESSA

Lubka Kolesa, Toronto pianist, is currently broadcasting a series of weekly Mozart recitals. A staff member of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto since 1942, Lubka Kolesa was acclaimed one of Europe's leading women concert pianists before coming to Canada in 1940. After several brilliant tours of European capitals, Madame Kolesa spent the 1938 season in South America. Since coming to this continent she has appeared with many leading symphony orchestras in Canada and the United States. From Toronto.

WAR'S AFTERMATH

The condition of the world, and what people thought about it, after six different wars—from the Crusades until the first Great War—will be portrayed in this new series. The scripts have been written by Ron Hambleton, of Toronto. From Toronto.

CBC Men At Whitehorse Visit Sam McGee's Cabin

Also See R. W. Service's Quarters Over Bank, And Hunt Absent Grizzly Bears

Ten CBC men, from the International Service and the domestic service, swarmed through Sam McGee's cabin at Whitehorse, N.W.T., and went grizzly bear hunting at nearby Aishihik about ten days ago after a flight from Montreal in an R.C.A.F. North Star D.C.4.

There were no bears, and Sam McGee wasn't home — (he was cremated, you may remember, at the marge of Lac la Barge about 1892)—but the CBC men were able to inspect the quarters occupied by Sam's creator, Robert W. Service, poet and author, over the Bank of Commerce at Whitehorse.

Sam's cabin, according to W. J. Dunlop of Toronto, CBC supervisor of religious and institutional programs, is made of logs and is in pretty good shape. It stands near the middle of the town of Whitehorse—a place of 3,000 or 4,000 inhabitants now, though it had about 40,000 during the war. The cabin will probably become a museum.

Service's poetic tale, Mr. Dunlop thinks, is fiction, but there does seem to be an authentic story of a doctor who lost a patient and didn't know what to do with the body, it being impossible to conduct a burial in mid-winter on a rocky terrain. The doctor arranged with one of the paddle steamers to cremate the departed in the ship's furnace.

The R.C.A.F. flew the CBC men from Montreal with the idea of showing them something of the work going on along the Alaska Highway. Mr. Dunlop himself was interested in surveying the northern radio stations to see what sort of thing they were getting for their listeners.

The members of the party, all except Mr. Dunlop of International Service, were: Hugh W. Morrison, South American Section; Gunnar Kristiansson, Swedish; M. B. Sorenson, Danish; Krabb Smith, Norwegian; Neville Friedlander, Australian; Franz Kramer, German; Ota Reichmann, Czech; Paul Malles, Dutch, and Dick Halhed, U.K. Section.

Ex CBC Correspondent On Western Speaking Tour

A recent visitor in the west was Peter Stursberg, former CBC correspondent overseas, and now a member of the staff of the London Daily Herald. Stursberg covered the Italian campaign for CBC, and accompanied the first wave of Canadians into action in Sicily in 1943. He followed the armies north to Rome and to southern France. He was in the west on a speaking tour.

Since the war he has travelled widely for his paper, covering events in India, North and Central Africa, and the West Indies. In Central Africa he saw the British Colonial administration's $100,- 000,000 project for the production of vegetable oils. In the West Indies he attended conferences on Dominion status for these islands. He has also visited many European countries.

Mail Bag

Types.

Heigh! You can't do that! Who told you to change the type for your daily program so that half your subscribers can't read it? The most important part of your weekly bulletin, and now it is unreadable, and when winter comes and the light is bad, it won't be readable at all.

Put it back in the old size type, and if you want to cram all your news on eight pages, then let it be the "Notes" that are printed in small type, for then we do have the privilege of reading it or not, as we feel able. Lord lumme, the way it is now is terrible!

And if I may say so, thirty-five (35) corrections for one week is by far too many. See your issue of June 25th. It savours of inefficiency, so please give us a program that is a program, and not something that is subject to everlasting correction.

Now, no back talk! Your reasons will only be considered excuses, so make amends, and earn our grateful thanks.—W. Thompson, Subscriber and Part Owner, Leask, Sask.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: We beg our shareholder to note that amends have been made in this week's TIMES. The corrections, we implore him to observe, were the result of having to make some changes in the programs of Station CKY when that station was taken over by the CBC on July 1.)

The Daily Burden

I suppose not all laymen . . . have considered the task of keeping a network going. . . . This should be taken into consideration in any critical approach to radio. . . . How often have we heard a superior person give an opinion on radio which runs something like this: "Oh, I rarely listen to radio. Most of it is trash, anyway." I have watched these people operate their dials. They generally have a few favourite shows. They know the day and the hour of these shows; they have usually been listening to them for a long time. They take these shows for granted. But there often comes a time when there is further leisure for listening. They turn their knobs and they, I shall not say hope, but expect the best. Nine times out of ten they have never studied radio entertainment. Nine times out of ten they are disappointed. The serious music lover gets jazz. The intellectual gets a low comic, and so on. . . . And then they complain that a public service is not being properly conducted. They want everything and give nothing.—Thomas Archer, on CBC.

THE SEA IS OUR HOME

Free-lance writer Will Dawson describes places and people on British Columbia's west coast in this series of Saturday talks. During the past two years he and his wife, Eileen, have made their home aboard their 45-foot yawl West Wind. From Vancouver.

Grinning Irishman Is Canada's Top "Criminal"

What city in Canada has most crime? Is it committed on the waterfronts of Vancouver or Halifax? In the dark industrial areas of Hamilton? In the bigness of Toronto or Montreal or in the mushroom towns of the frontier? No — year round more crimes are committed in quiet tidy Regina. And most of these crimes are done by a man with an Irish grin. Every time he steals or sets fires he grins. His grin is known by Mounted Police from coast to coast. He averages a criminal offence every day. He not only gets a kick out of it—but this man picks the hottest spot in Canada. He works right under the noses of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Regina. And never once have they arrested him. This is one time they fail to get their man. They can't get him—for he is paid by the Mounties to commit crime. It's part of the course for rookies in the R.C.M.P. Out in peaceful Regina—smack on top of the rolling plains—is one of Canada's two schools for the Men in Scarlet. The "criminal" is a corporal in the R.C.M.P.

The day I was out on the broad quadrangles of this exclusive college, the corporal had just finished stealing the curling rink stones. During this crime, he had carefully left a match torn from a match book in his pocket, on the scene. The R.C.M.P. rookies or students, in solving the mystery, not only have to find the culprit, but collect enough evidence to lay a legal charge. In solving fake crimes, the R.C.M.P. are trained to solve the real tragedies of the unhappy underworld.—John Fisher, on CBC, June 20.

The Sloblands of Radio. — There is a vast area of broadcasting that to me is a dreary waste—the sloblands of radio, where the tide seems to be nearly always out. — John Coulter, on CBC.

Radio Broadcasting

An Editorial in The Country Guide

One does not have to dig very deeply into the record to find steady Canadian pursuance of policies at variance with American practice. One such is control over radio broadcasting, dealt with elsewhere in this issue. The CBC is the child of the Aird report of 1929. That report, and the national broadcasting system which grew out of it, has had the unswerving support of the organized farmers of Canada. As late as June 1, 1944, H. H. Hannan, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, appeared before the parliamentary committee on radio broadcasting and reaffirmed that support.

The farm organizations are fully aware of the attacks on the publicly owned chain, and the purpose of those attacks. As individual listeners they are conscious of the increasing commercialization of radio after the American pattern. Nowadays even the news and weather reports are sponsored. The sheet anchor against unrestricted commercialism is the CBC. Those who put forward the plausible argument that both CBC and private radio should be controlled by an outside authority, know that this would be the beginning of the end for that great system as conceived by Sir John Aird and his associates.

Apart from the views expressed by farm organizations there is still in Canada a wide measure of support for the principles recommended in the Aird report. Critics of the CBC would be better employed in improving their own programs than in protesting CBC control.

The Dreadful Norm.—So long as I'm on the air, I'm going to speak chiefly, perhaps only, of those programs which deviate sufficiently from radio's dreadful norm to command some kind of interest.—Graham McInnes, on CBC.

England's Children.—The superlative health of the children is by far the most impressive and exciting thing about Britain today. You never see a hungry child in Britain; you never see the poorest child begging for bread. You don't see the . . . stunted children that, even in my boyhood, a generation ago, were far too common around our industrial cities.—John Connell, on BBC.
