For this Tuesday's feature on skin-diving on How About That! (CBWT only), host Jim Mitchell and a technical crew visited Fort Osborne Barracks in Winnipeg, where members of the Fort Osborne Free Divers Club gave Jim pointers in their art. Tuesday's program will include interviews with army skin-diving instructors and underwater sequences by rubber suit frogmen and some of their children. Capt. D. S. Caldwell, chief instructor, will be Jim's special guest on the program.

Joan Fairfax Guest —Georges LaFleche

"I was very glad to hear your program again on the air in the evening," said a Saskatchewan listener in a recent letter to Georges LaFleche, our cover subject this week. "I have never seen a picture of you, but even if you are only half as nice looking as my blind mother thinks you are, you are still very handsome. Her image of you is thus: tall, dark, not too wavy hair, quite fair complexion, quite a short straight nose, brown eyes, and age about 36."

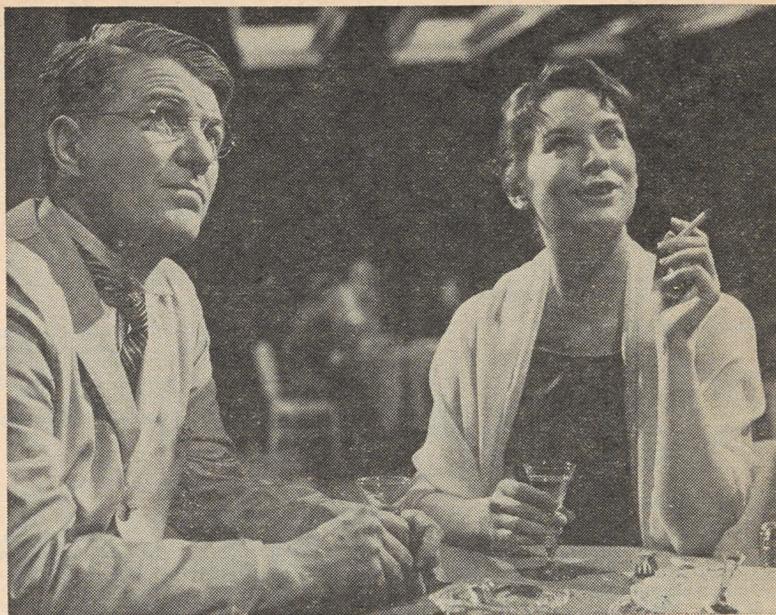

Well, Georges is only 24, and not really so tall. Otherwise, as this week's cover shows, his blind fan's mental picture of him is fairly accurate. Georges' face is a familiar one, of course, to most television viewers; he was emcee on the recently concluded Stage Door series, and has been guest in many Winnipeg stage and TV productions.

Born in Winnipeg, Georges Edouard LaFleche received a thoroughly classical training as a cellist, and could have been a professional musician of an entirely different sort if he had so chosen. However, he decided to make an early start in broadcasting, and when he was only 18 he joined station CKSB, St. Boniface, the CBC's French network affiliate in Manitoba, as an announcer. After two years at CKSB Georges moved east, spending six months as a bilingual announcer at a Montreal radio station, and another six at a TV station in Quebec City.

Since returning to Winnipeg, Georges' voice has become a familiar one to CBC listeners. He has been singing host on Georges LaFleche and the Minstrels, the CBC Variety Hour, and two series of The Georges LaFleche Show, all on radio, and on Stage Door on television.

Georges did double duty on the opening day of CBWFT, the CBC's French television station in Winnipeg. He was one of the guest stars on the inaugural broadcast in the afternoon, and he played a leading (and completely non-singing) role in the play written especially for presentation by Le Cercle Molière in the evening.

This Sunday (May 15), during a two-week visit to Toronto, Georges will be guest singer on a program of French music and dances to be presented on The Joan Fairfax Show.

JOHN DRAINIE and LOIS NETTLETON star in "Mr. Arcularis" this Tuesday night on CBC-TV's Ford Startime. Drainie plays the title role, and Miss Nettleton is cast as Miss Dean, the young woman Mr. Arcularis meets and falls in love with on shipboard. The adaptation of Conrad Aiken's story is by Robert Herridge.

A Modern Ghost Story on CBC-TV

MR. ARCULARIS is a sad, inoffensive little American with a bad heart. He is also quite unable to accept the idea of death. The famous play which carries his name opens with Mr. Arcularis on the operating table, the surgeon repairing his damaged heart. From the operating theatre to the saloon of a Trans-Atlantic liner, and we find Mr. Arcularis recuperating from his operation on a cruise to Europe.

On board, Mr. Arcularis meets a girl and they become friendly. But as the voyage continues Mr. Arcularis finds that he has started walking in his sleep. More, he always takes the same route: to the freezers in the hold beyond the ship's kitchens. His new friend, Miss Dean, reminds Mr. Arcularis in a curious way of his mother, who died many years previously. As their friendship deepens, he reveals why he is haunted by resentment and unhappiness from the past.

Gradually the compulsion behind his sleepwalking becomes clear, and the play mounts to an eerie climax as Mr. Arcularis comes to the end of his convalescence.

Ford Startime will present Mr. Arcularis, by Conrad Aiken, adapted by Robert Herridge, Tuesday on CBC-TV. John Drainie plays Mr. Arcularis and Lois Nettleton plays Miss Hoyle, with Hugh Webster, Gillie Fenwick, William Needles, Douglas Campbell, Jeremy Wilkin, and Josephine Barrington.

Author of Mr. Arcularis, Pulitzer prize winner Conrad Aiken originally wrote it as a short story which appeared in T. S. Eliot's Criterion in 1932. With British actress-writer Diana Hamilton, Aiken dramatized the story, but it ran only four weeks in London before folding. Still believing in its dramatic possibilities, Aiken rewrote the play himself. And of this version, Time magazine once wrote, "Subtle, intriguing, and full of originality, the play recalls other writers who, steering by Freud with a list to Oedipus, showed a man haunted by the ghost of his mother and combines the pursuit of love with a longing for death. But Aiken is first and foremost a poet with an intricate set of symbols all his own . . . No other major U.S. writer is more traditionally American than he—and yet no other gives a stronger feeling of being an explorer beyond his own land."

John Drainie, who plays Mr. Arcularis, has played the same role before—four times; three of them on CBC radio, once on U.S. television. Andrew Allan, who produced the radio version of Mr. Arcularis, once said of John Drainie, "I don't know of a better radio actor anywhere, and I know of very few better actors in any medium." In fact, Drainie is recognized both by members of his profession, and by drama lovers as one of Canada's top-flight actors.

Vancouver-born Drainie began his career in drama when he was seven: in the back chorus of a school production he shouted, "Soldier, soldier, will you marry me, with your musket, fife and drum?" From the ranks to stardom was but a step, and in the next school production of Robin Hood, he played Allan-a-Dale.

As a boy he was fond of athletics and scouting. But at the age of 14 a car accident led to a dislocated hip which left him with a limp. From there he channeled his interests into the theatre, school drama, little theatre groups, until, at 21, he earned top marks in a CBC audition. The next day a call came from the CBC, but Drainie had another commitment; he was playing—for no pay—in a Stanley Park production of A Midsummer Night's Dream.

In the late thirties, Drainie began concentrating on radio rather than theatre because there was more money in radio. Pay ranged anywhere between one dollar and two dollars for a half-hour show.

"However, things were brightening," he has said. "I was hired by the CBC to do 13 shows at the phenomenal rate of $3.00 for 15 minutes."

A brief holiday in Hollywood in 1939, staying with his aunt, led to no film contracts, and he returned to Vancouver's station CJOR as an announcer, with acting jobs on the side. Among those acting jobs were some with Andrew Allan with whom later Drainie was to do so much famous work.

In 1941 he joined CBC as announcer and sound effects man, the following spring he married actress Claire Murray, and in 1943 he went to Toronto, first as a CBC

Four's Company

Toronto Drama Quartet (Mavor Moore, John Drainie, Diana Maddox and Ruth Springford), with Dr. Charles Fielding, dean of divinity at Trinity College, Toronto. This week—a documentary prepared from Father Trevor Huddleston's controversial book on racial segregation in South Africa—"Naught for Your Comfort." Father Huddleston fought a one-man crusade for the coloured people of South Africa for 12 years, mainly among the shanties of Sophiatown, a district of Johannesburg. He battled against all the apartheid laws enacted in recent years, and against the brutality with which they have been enforced. The coloured people loved him and called him "the dauntless one." Eventually he took out South African citizenship papers. Occasionally he was able to modify some gross miscarriages of justice, and although he was uncompromising in his fight for simple justice, the odds against him were tremendous. In "Naught for Your Comfort" he tells straightforwardly but very movingly of the problems he encountered in his ministry, and the radio adaptation weaves in many touching, amusing and and horrible examples of injustices and indignities he witnessed among his community. When his book was published five years ago the "Guardian" of Manchester called it "a noble book, a superb book, to be read by anyone who cares about race (or any human) relations. It vibrates with humanity."

Father Huddleston was persecuted by the South African police, who seized all his papers, but fortunately it was the day after he had posted the manuscript of his book to England. Shortly afterward he was recalled to England by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Many things were said about Father Huddleston then. An Englishman wrote that "in the middle ages people like Huddleston would have been burned at the stake." A South African said that he "deserved to be drummed out of the country or strung up from the nearest lamp post as a renegade." When he left his people in the shanties of Sophiatown, he said nothing, but the oath of obedience which he had taken as a member of his Order could have taken him away from Africa. Now his name is a legend there. But of all the things that have been said about him, the one he cherishes most is a remark by an African student, who said: "I wish he was black."

WHATEVER form the agenda for the Summit Conference eventually takes, the question of the future of Germany is bound to be discussed. Even if Germany were not even mentioned at the conference table, it would still necessarily form the background of talks because it is on the problem of a German settlement to liquidate the Second World War that some of the main conflicts between the Western World and the Soviet bloc have developed. With this in mind on the eve of the Conference, Venture this Sunday afternoon on CBC radio presents a composite study of the German nation and its problems as they look to a hand-picked group of experts. This is just one of the many CBC radio and television programs this week giving special reports and background information about the Summit Conference, in addition to news and views on all the major news broadcasts in both media.

The Venture feature was recorded in Cologne through a hookup with Bonn, the federal capital, and Hamburg, one of West Germany's principal press centres and her main port and window on the outside world. The contribution from Bonn was recorded in a studio in the Bundeshaus, the West

Sunday on radio

A Look at Germany Today

Special "Venture" feature is one of many CBC programs scheduled during Summit Conference

German Federal Parliament. Cast in the form of a 90-minute discussion (the program has been extended a half-hour for this occasion), Venture makes a searching study of selected, vital aspects of contemporary German life and problems as they affect both the Germans and the rest of us. Subjects include the psychological condition of the German people at this moment; the state of German democracy; the flourishing economy and the question of its soundness; anti-semitism; an examination of the charges of reviving militarism; reunification; and Berlin itself. A great deal of ground is covered in a free-wheeling but coherent debate.

Participants include Freiherr Karl Theodor zu Guttenberg, a baron and member of the Federal German Parliament in Bonn belonging to the Christian Democratic Union governing party; Dr. Stefan Thomas, director of the Eastern European Bureau of the Social Democratic opposition party; Gert von Paczensky, a leading German foreign correspondent who has been with Die Welt of Hamburg for the last three years and is now establishing a new West German newspaper; Ernest Leiser, for 10 years an observer and reporter of the German scene for the Columbia Broadcasting System; and George Vine, German correspondent of the London News Chronicle. Freiherr zu Guttenberg speaks from a studio in the Federal Parliament; Thomas, Leiser, Vine and Charles Fullman, moderator and organizer of the program, from Cologne; and Paczensky from Hamburg.

Also on Sunday afternoon, CBC radio's Capital Report will preview the conference direct from Paris. And following News magazine on Sunday, Douglas Lachance reports over CBC-TV on the current situation in Berlin and Germany. Later on TV, Background will show up-to-the-minute film on Berlin. Wednesday night's Midweek Review offers radio listeners a summary and comments on highlights of the conference to date.

Paris In The Spring

By CHARLES GUNNING,
CBC General News Editor

PARIS in the Spring. . . . That could be the theme song of four renowned world travellers who will meet in the French capital in mid-May.

May 16 is the scheduled meeting date—the date on which President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan and Premier Khrushchev will join President DeGaulle in Paris to open their long-planned, much-discussed conference at the Summit.

It was Macmillan who started the leaders of the Big Four powers moving toward the Summit when he flew to Moscow more than a year ago. He also spurred a year of intensive personal diplomacy by the world leaders.

In the months after his visit to Moscow, Mr. Macmillan carried his proposals, arguments and opinions to France, Africa, Canada and the United States. Mr. Khrushchev went even farther away from home: to several of the Communist countries of Eastern Europe, to India, Communist China, Indonesia, across the United States and to France. Mr. Eisenhower, not to be outdone, took to the road to carry American ideas to the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Pakistan, India and South America. Mr. DeGaulle joined the group with visits this Spring to the United Kingdom, Canada and the United States.

Everywhere they went, the leaders and their staffs of economists, diplomats and other advisers were followed closely and covered voluminously by scores of newsmen. Each pilgrimage was recognized as a vital step toward the East-West Summit, and every move, every statement, every development along the way was reported in detail around the world by television, radio and newspaper.

For the CBC News Service, the world travels of the big power chiefs meant an almost continuous job of concentrated coverage by our top reporters: James M. Minifie and Stanley Burke in the United States, Douglas LaChance, Dostaler O'Leary and Don Gordon in the United Kingdom and Eu-

Twentieth Century

Presents "Rommel," a biography of the late, famous German general, Erwin Rommel. The program will follow Rommel's ascent to fame, from Hitler's body-guard to "Desert Fox," leading the vaunted Afrika Korps in North Africa. His use of Panzer units almost led to the winning of Africa for Germany. A Field Marshall, he was in command of German forces in Northern France when the Allies invaded Germany. Wounded in an air raid in July, 1944, he had just recovered when he was reportedly ordered to take poison for having taken part in the plot against Hitler in July of 1944. There will be an eyewitness account of Marshall Rommel in a filmed interview with General Siegfried Westphal, former chief of Rommel's Afrika Korps operations section.

Today — A special Summit Conference half-hour feature on videotape from Paris through the facilities of Radiodiffusion - Television Francaise. Douglas LaChance and Don Gordon report from the CBC new headquarters in Paris in a scene-setting half-hour on the eve of the Summit Conference. They sum up the events leading to the conference, the issues that are expected to be discussed and will interview leading personalities at the conference.

New Magazine Special

Douglas LaChance goes to both sides of the Iron Curtain to take a look at the two Germanies as they are today and at the two Berlins. He looks at it in the light of possible discussion of Germany and Berlin at the Summit Conference — the problems that face Germany and the issues that will confront the heads of state at the Summit Conference (which starts in Paris on May 16). His report will include interviews with leading Germans in the East and West.

Betty Anderson is both intrigued and frightened by the prospect of involvement in a romantic triangle when she is asked for a date by her best friend's fiance. Carleton Carpenter plays the college Lothario, George Frazer.

Joan Fairfax Show

Singing star Joan Fairfax, with the Alan Lund Dancers, orchestra conducted by Samuel Hersenhoren. Tonight's guests are internationally-known French-Canadian singer Jean

MARTIN ANDREWS and JACK CRELEY play leading roles in "Substitute Soldier," a play by John Whelan, Sunday night on G.M. Presents. Jonathan White, recently returned from England, stars as a young Canadian farmer fighting on the side of the North in the American Civil War.

Cavall; Winnipeg vocalist Georges La Fleche; and jazz pianist Maury Kaye and his instrumental group. In keeping with a Paris theme, Joan will sing Pigalle, and music and dance numbers throughout the show will have a French flavour.

G.M. Presents

"Substitute Soldier," by John Whelan and starring Jonathon White, Lloyd Bochner and Jack Creley, with Sharon Acker and introducing Scott Peters. A young Canadian farmer, Jamie McTague, is "hired" to fight on the side of the North in the American Civil War. His motive—to pay off the mortgage on his father's southern Quebec farm. But Jamie doesn't want to kill, and this moral scruple lands him in a tight spot when he finds himself stranded in enemy territory with the badly-wounded Captain Biggars. Hiding out in the backwoods farm of Matt Tearle and his niece Melody, Jamie finds he has to deal singlehanded with his ruthless captain, a young Confederate soldier and a band of marauding renegades. He also finds himself in love for the first time. The reluctant "substitute soldier" makes a decision that brings him face to face with death.

Jack Benny

Jack Benny dances with Ginger Rogers and proves that his forte is comedy. On the promise that he will bring Fred Astaire on his program as Miss Rogers' partner, Jack wins an agreement from her to dance. When Fred Astaire fails to show up, twinkletoes Benny slips into dancing pumps and tails and cuts up a few ballroom touches with Miss Rogers. Disaster, inevitably, results.

Open House

BUYING AN OLD HOUSE - If you want to live in a house downtown, the chances are you'll have to buy one of the older homes. David Molesworth, a young architect, believes that many of these older homes can be modernized quite easily, and providing the house is solidly built, can represent a good investment. Architect Molesworth will talk about the pros and cons of buying an older home, and show us examples of simple conversion which can modernize an old house.

P.M. Party

With host Alan Millar, singers Donna Miller and Allan Blye, Rudy Toth and his orchestra, Rex Loring, and Daniel the Spaniel. Today—entertainer Billy O'Connor will appear as guest.

CBWT—How About That!

Today, Jim Mitchell's feature will be a filmed visit to the Fort Osborne Free Divers Club (A Royal Canadian Army Frogman Club) in Winnipeg. Jim, equipped with mask, fins, weight belt, and aqua lungs, joins his underwater guests for some pointers on the fine art of skin diving. In addition to interviews with army skin diving instructors, the program features underwater sequences with rubber-suit frogmen and some of their youngsters, particularly 11-year-old Beverly Johnson. Captain Caldwell, chief instructor, will be Jim's special guest. Surface and underwater photography is by CBC staff photographer Steve Solilo. (See pictures page 2).

Front Page Challenge

Fred Davis is host as panelists Toby Robins, Pierre Berton, Gordon Sinclair, and a guest panelist attempt to identify a headline news event of the past by questioning someone connected with it. From Toronto.

The Teenager

A special "Explorations" feature from Toronto

CANADA has more than 3,000,000 citizens between the ages of 13 and 19. They are not what their fathers were at that age.

This criticism may mean that today's teenager lacks initiative, lacks drive, lacks any desire for anything except the pensions and health plans of a comfortable job with a large organization. It may also mean that today's teenagers are a bunch of ill-mannered and undisciplined delinquents, constantly seeking trouble and excitement.

The two blanket criticisms are contradictory. But this does not prevent adults making both in the same breath.

Other people, accepting that teenagers have in fact become a new social class, ask Why? without necessarily applying any moral judgments. Marshall McLuhan, professor of English at the University of Toronto, suggests such an answer on The Teenager, a thirty minute documentary, sometimes funny, often serious, and occasionally alarming, on the CBC-TV program Explorations this Wednesday.

Producer Daryl Duke wrote the script. "Marshall McLuhan, program organizer Eric Koch, and I spent hours discussing this whole question," says Duke. "This is just a fragment, meant to stimulate some ideas."

Central concept of McLuhan's answers lies in the nature of the new electronic society in which young people are now growing up. Just as the invention of movable type revolutionized the medieval world, producing a mass of people with new values, new habits, even new ways of thinking, so electronics are bringing their own immense changes.

"I think the best distinction might be found in the phrases 'with it,' meaning we've understood completely," says McLuhan, when talking to Alan Millar, host with John O'Leary of The Teenager. "In the older book or print culture people weren't with it, they were away from it, by themselves with their own point of view . . . Electronics has made the world like a continuously sounding tribal drum where everybody gets the message all the time. A princess gets married in England and boom boom boom go the tribal drums and we hear all about it; an earthquake in Africa, a Hollywood filmstar gets drunk . . . away go the drums again. I use the word 'tribal'; it is probably the keyword in this half-hour."

We are all affected by this tendency to turn away from the individual to the group, to the tribe, McLuhan suggests. But the teenager, brought up in a period when television and radio and record players and tape recorders are be-former in Britain, where she regularly performs in sketches and sings for both children and adults. We welcome her to Open House this afternoon.

P.M. Party

Audience-participation program for women with emcee Alan Millar, singers Donna Miller and Allan Blye, Rudy Toth and his orchestra, Rex Loring and Daniel the Spaniel. Today—Maggie St. Clair, choreographer for Music 60 will chat with Alan Millar about "the dance".

CBWT—Ladies First

Audience - participation program for women, with pianist-vocalist Jose Poneira and announcer Ken Dunstan. From Winnipeg.

CBC Film Playhouse

"Apples On The Lilac Tree." MacDonald Carey and Joan Caulfield star in this story about a married couple which has a strange marital arrangement: he likes to do housework while she spends the day at the office.

Friendly Giant

Friendly presents a Mexican scene today, and reads a book entitled Roberto, about a little Mexican boy who takes his father's pottery to market with the help of his little burro. Rusty and Jerome, in sombreros and serapes, try out castanets and maracas, and do a spirited version of the Mexican hat dance.

Uncle Chichimus

Titled—"Jams and Jellies," today's show finds Chich and Holly on a bird watching expedition. Holly finds a witch's house and tries to work some magic on Chich. Helene Winston plays the part of the witch.

Come Dance With Us

Beginning a new series of programs featuring the Royal Winnipeg Ballet. The ballet in this series will interpret various themes, and the first program is about springtime, with Virginia Wakelyn as premiere danseuse. The springtime theme will be illuminated by interpretive dancing, music and film. Music will include some original work by Bob McMullin, musical director for the show, and some music by Eric Coates. Each episode will deal with situations easily recognized by children.

R.C.M.P.

Today—"The Gentle Executioner." The Baird household receives two kinds of milk. Some come to the front door and some comes to the back—and some contains arsenic! Guest cast:

Alex Baird Terrence deMarney
Roseanna Baird Eleanor Stuart
Nobby Clark George Sperdakos

Live A Borrowed Life

Anna Cameron, Elwy Yost, Bill Walker and a guest panelist try to identify the roles assumed by contestants. Charles Templeton is moderator.

Perry Como

Perry's guests this week will include comedienne Edie Adams, songstress Della Reese, Ray Walston and dancer Jose Greco.

One Step Beyond

Today—"The Riddle." An American couple vacationing in India, meet an old man aboard a train and the American husband goes beserk for no apparent reason. Later, the American—as though possessed—staggers to the hut of the old man, determined to kill him.

Explorations

"The Teenager." Alan Millar and John O'Leary are hosts for this program, comparing the teenager of present-day "electronic culture" with the adolescent of yesterday's "Book culture." Dr. Marshall McLuhan, of the University of Toronto, gives his views on the influence of radio, television, and films and other electronic media on today's younger generation. Vignettes, illustrating the attitudes and mores of "the teenager" and "the adolescent of yesteryear," are enacted by Ivor Barry, Joe Austin, Susan Vayda, Gail Gerber, Beth Morris, Mary Jane Ferguson, Jonathan Erland, Michael Mitto and Garrick Hagon, and a group of rock-and-roll dancers.

CBWT—Something in Common

Panel game with ad-man Jim Gibson (moderator), award-winning newspaperman Gene Telpner, singer Florence Faiers, businessman James C. Baird and guest panelist, Don Browne-Wilkinson, producer. From Winnipeg.

The necessity of getting reconciled with the idea of his possible extinction may breed a new humility and may rid man of that biological jingoism which made him regard himself as the crown of creation. The idea that the world will go on even if mankind does not may prove an antidote to that cosmic anxiety which has held us in its grip since the burning star fell on Hiroshima, distorted our sense of values, exposed us to various forms of blackmail, undermined our dignity and our power of decision.—Arthur Koestler, author and journalist on BBC.

coming as influential as books, at least in his informal education, is moulded more than his elders. The effect is more startling.

Watching rehearsals of The Teenager, it struck us that, quite apart from its content, the structure of the program illustrated an important thesis of McLuhan.

To take but one example, with a flip of a controlroom switch, the producer can take the viewer from a 1960 appliance store full of electronic gadgets, to a couple courting in a 19th century garden full of roses, to a modern apartment very much full of a Brigitte-Bardot-like teenager.

"I wonder what it really means," asks Millar, "to be able to flick a switch and to bring in any part of the world, or to see the personal relationships of mankind acted out before us."

The Teenager uses dramatized sketches in realistic settings, documentary techniques, straight discussions, sound effects and pictures, film and artwork to make its points. And so vivid are all these techniques we need only describe a character as "Bardot-like" and the whole western world under the age of 75 knows what we mean.

McLuhan stood beside us watching some youngsters jiving. "You know," he said, "I've been lecturing on these matters for years. I don't expect viewers to get these points solely from this half hour program. But this script of Duke's—in some ways it's way ahead of many sociologists." He walked from the modern apartment through the appliance store and sat down in the 19th century garden.

The teenagers went on with their tribal dance to the tribal music of rock 'n' roll. A pretty teenager standing alongside us, clicking her fingers, grinned a friendly grin and asked, "Do you dance?"

We looked at the rock 'n' rollers, shook our head, and said that we didn't dance, thanks; we just waltzed. Then we tottered off to write our story.

"The Unknown Man." Hearing that a young Polish seaman has attempted to jump ship and escape from behind the Iron Curtain, Polish-born news correspondent Baleslaw Wierzbianski obtain a judicial order from a London court but the ship's captain refuses to honor the order.

CBWT—Mary Liz Show

Marking Citizenship Day, a visit to the International Club at the Y.W.C.A. is a highlight of today's program, with Mrs. Elsie DeVoin telling the story of the group and its activities. Ellen Simmons has some observations to make on citizenship in action. Mrs. Mat Gauer shares another favourite bread recipe and Frances McKay has advice for shoppers with suggestions for "The Buy Of The Week."

The Millionaire

Today—"Karen Summers." Thwarted in her attempts at free-lance writing, Karen Summers receives $1,000,000 and goes on a materialistic binge. A new book by an unknown author becomes a best seller and Karen's sudden display of wealth is taken to mean that she wrote it.

Just Mary

Our story today is "Polly Petticoats," about a lovable scrub lady who dreams she will one day own a petticoat for every day in the week. Cast includes: Winnifred Dennis, Toby Tarnow, Joe Austin, Barbara Hamilton and Alex Barringer.

This Living World

Though the world of nature is often thought of as being in conflict, it is also the world of co-operation. Host Steve Bloomer introduces some of the creatures who "co-operate with nature," such as bees.

CBWT—Green Thumbs

A program of interest to amateur gardeners with host John MacLeod and featuring Stan Westaway of the University of Manitoba.

CBWT—Scan

CBC Information Service program. This week—"The Writer." Interviews showing contrasting personalities and methods of writers John Reeves ("A Beach of Strangers") and Arthur Hailey ("Flight Into Danger," "The Queen's Peace," etc.). From Toronto.

Nation's Business

Progressive Conservative—Today's speaker will be Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

JOHN REEVES

producer of Four's Company (see page 21) and author of the Italia Prize-winning play "A Beach of Strangers," will be interviewed on "Scan" this Thursday night (CBWT and CBWT only).

Talent Caravan

George Murray with Ricky Hyslop and the orchestra introduce and accompany amateur and semi-professional talent from the Orillia-Peterborough area.

The Gambler, the Nun and the Radio

By Ernest Hemingway. The story concerns several patients and a nurse in a Montana hospital: Cayetano Ruiz, a Mexican gambler who has been shot but who refuses to identify his assailant; Sister Cecelia, a nun who prays for his recovery; and various other patients who divert themselves by listening to a radio. Cast includes Eleanor Parker, Richard Conte and Charles Bickford. (CBS production).

CBWT—Sergeant Bilko

Starring Phil Silvers. Another episode in the humorous series depicting the antics of a U.S. Army Sergeant and his platoon.

Actor From Saskatchewan

SCOTT PETERS returns from Hollywood to play his first CBC-TV role Sunday on "G.M. Presents"

WHEN he strolled into the CBC Times office the other day, the first thing we noticed about Scott Peters was that he had the deepest tan we have seen north of the 49th since September, a casual manner but a direct look, and he called us "ma'am." But this was no polite cowpoke from upcountry—although he's as Western as they come, at home in the saddle since childhood, and has toted a gun and a Stetson in enough TV Westerns to make even "Gabby" Hayes a little green.

He is a 30-year-old Saskatchewan-born-and-bred actor who, in three-and-a-half years in Hollywood, has had the sort of breaks he used to dream about back in Prince Albert, Winnipeg and Regina when he turned platters as a night-time disk jockey. You will see him in two new movies—Wake Me When It's Over with Ernie Kovacs, and Terror at Cape Canaveral, in which he stars. And Sunday night on G.M. Presents he plays his first CBC-TV role in Substitute Soldier, an original teleplay by Montreal writer John Whelan. It unearths a little-known facet of the American Civil War—the fact that Canadians were hired to fight in the Northern army.

We were anxious to know how this particular Canadian drifted south, and whether it was much of a fight to break through the Hollywood phalanx.

"Well, ma'am," he said, "I guess you could say it began when I studied dramatics at the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon and then won the Saskatchewan Best Actor Award in the semi-finals of the Dominion Drama Festival. That was in 1954. I was very lucky, because I had the chance to play leads in quite a variety of productions out West — Country Girl, The Medea, The Mad Woman (Please turn to page 19)

Jerome Kern. Violinist Francis Chaplin will play Deep River, by Burleigh, and Scherzo Tarantelle, by Weinawski. Harpist Phyllis Ensher will play Penthouse Serenade, pianist Gordon MacPherson will play Waltz in F by Chopin.

Golf With Stan Leonard

A practical series for beginners in golf with commentary by well-known CBC sportscaster Ted Reynolds. Today—"Short Bunker" (next to green). The edge of the green in short bunkers and how to play a notoriously tough shot—the buried ball.

Man From Interpol

Today — "The Feathered Friend." Scotland Yard calls in Interpol agent Anthony Smith when a diamond-carrying pigeon is discovered in a pigeon race to Amsterdam. Smith interviews likely suspects, posing as a representative of the trade paper, "The Feathered Friend." During the next race, police birds are substituted in an attempt to trace the smuggler.

Highroad With John Gunther

Today — "Survival." John Gunther presents a film story (by award-winning film-maker Arne Sucksdorff) of the struggle for existence of a family of foxes and a flock of terns. The animal film was shot in the Swedish forests and the bird footage on the cliffs of the Baltic coast.

Great Movies

With host Fred Davis. Today—"Rebecca," starring Sir Laurence Olivier, Joan Fontaine and George Sanders. The Daphne Du Maurier drama about a man whose second marriage is haunted by the memory of his beautiful first wife. Directed by Alfred Hitchcock.

Twilight Zone

Presents — "When The Sky Was Opened." After returning from man's first successful trip to outer space,

He was luckier still when he learned that the Pasadena Playhouse — famed for starting a good many stars on their way — was offering scholarships to the top students in North American university dramatics courses, and he had been chosen as one of them. At the end of his first year—1955—he won the Mary Margaret McLeary Best Actor Award at the Playhouse. He returned to Saskatoon but not for long. A few months later NBC signed him up for a live TV series, Matinee Theatre, and in his second week in Hollywood he was cast as Horatio to John Carradine's Hamlet at the Laguna Beach Playhouse. Since then he has piled up over 40 TV and movie credits. His films have included Outlaw Sons, The World Was His Jury, and F.B.I. Story, in which he plays John Dillinger.

Does he intend to become an American citizen? "No, ma'am! I plan to stay a Canadian, and I come back every year. Things die down there in December and January so I head for home." Does he like Hollywood? He hesitated, then gave us a candid smile. "I like it as a city, ma'am, but most of my true friends are not in the movie business, so I see very little of the night life out there. What I like is swimming, deep-sea diving, riding, playing the guitar and singing. That sort of thing."

We asked if he had set his sights on directing in Hollywood, or was he content with acting. "I was offered the chance to direct out there," he told us, "but I felt I wasn't ready for it. I did take a fling at it in Canada last Spring, though, and I'd like to tell you about it ma'am, because it's a project I'm very keen on. It's called That They May Live, filmed entirely in Canada with a supporting cast of non-professional actors — doctors, lawyers, students at the University of Saskatchewan, Boy Scouts, secretaries and members of the general public. It's a film on direct artificial breathing—mouth-to-mouth breathing, most people call it — and two of Canada's leading authorities in this field gave us technical help: Dr. Morris H. Brook, inventor of the famous Brook Airway that's featured in the film, and Dr. Alan B. Debkin, associate professor of Anaesthesiology at the University of Saskatchewan's College of Medicine. Well, all I knew about directing was what I'd been able to pick up around the sets in Hollywood, but I wrote, directed and starred in the film, and everyone was so co-

FRENCH NETWORK HIGHLIGHTS

TELEVISION

Pierre Paquette's guests this Sunday on "Music Hall" are singer Guy-laine Guy, harmonicist and guitarist Jean Thielmans, pianist Paul de Margerie, monologist Jean-Claude Deret, and La Chanson Canadienne with Eve Gagnier, Lucile Servat and Hervé Brousseau. Choreography is by Michel Conte, and Henry Matthews is musical director.

On Premier Plan Sunday night René Lévesque moderates a discussion on racial segregation in the U.S. "La Première Légion" by Emmet Lavery will be presented on Premier Sunday night.

Harpist-composer Marcel Grandjany will be featured on Monday night's recital. Following is the program: Rhapsody on a Hungarian Theme (Grandjany), Fantasy on a theme by Haydn (François-Xavier Desargus), Clair de lune (Debussy), and Légende (Henriette Renié).

Joan Maxwell, Winnipeg mezzo-soprano, is soloist on Friday night's concert. She will sing Mon coeur s'ouvre a ta voix ("My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice") from Saint-Saens' Samson et Dalila, Tchaikovsky's None But the Lonely Heart, and Rachmaninoff's In the Silence of the Night. Roland Leduc conducts the orchestra.

Joan Maxwell

Guests on Le Club des autographes this Saturday are Ginette Ravel, who will sing "Mon coeur est un clown," Michèle Andray ("La rue de nos amours"), and Aimé Major. Charlotte and Jean Durand are the dancing instructors; Pierre Paquette is host.

RADIO*

Contralto Maureen Forrester and pianist John Newmark will perform four songs by Canadian composer Violet Archer on "Concert Canadien" this Sunday on CKSB (6:30 p.m.), CFNS and CFRG (5:30 p.m.). The program will also include the Five Wesendonck Songs of Wagner.

On the Sunday night recital (9:30 p.m. on CKSB, 8:30 p.m. on CFNS and CFRG, 7:30 p.m. on CFHA) violinist Ethel Stark and pianist Charles Reiner will play sonatas by Mozart (No. 6 in G Major) and Schumann (No. 1 in A Minor).

Four's Company Returns May 14

Producer JOHN REEVES promises
no "gimmicks" in Toronto
Drama Quartet series

WE have just been talking to radio producer John Reeves, who tells us that the drama quartet he formed last spring with such success for the warm-weather series Four's Company is getting ready to present more off-beat dramatic entertainment, starting Saturday, May 14, on CBC radio. Reeves is lining up an exciting pot-pourri of material that will often be amusing, sometimes serious, but — he hopes — never stuffy. Some of it you would probably never hear on any other radio program.

This year the group will be a genuine drama quartet. Last year, Mavor Moore acted as host, and the quartet was really a trio, but this season Moore will be heard regularly as part of the acting quartet, along with John Drainie, Diana Maddox, and Ruth Springfield. Reeves will introduce each program himself. There will be no background music, sound effects or other microphone gimmicks — Reeves calls them "cliches." Instead, he says, they will concentrate entirely on interpreting the words of the text. The result, he hopes, will be like "a good conversation, a sharing of books."

The series begins May 14 with something that will probably touch and shock you with its tale of grim injustice, the more so because of the straightforward way it is presented. It is a documentary prepared from a most controversial book, Naught For Your Comfort, by Father Trevor Huddleston. C.R., one of the world's most ardent opponents of racial segregation. The main part of the reading will be by a guest, Dr. Charles Fielding, Dean of Divinity at Trinity College, University of Toronto, with the drama quartet assisting in the dramatized portions of the script. (See Late Notes, page 4, for details).

The May 21 program will present Mavor Moore's adaptation of Aldous Huxley's Brave New World. On May 28 — Evelyn Waugh's The Loved One, adapted by Alan King. Later in the series there will be an examination of the Spanish Civil War, with particular reference to its effect on writers, prepared by Dr. Alan Wilson, of the department of history at Acadia University. Actor Barry Morse is putting together what promises to be a highly entertaining study of the Olympic Games, apropos of the Olympics being held in Rome in August. Although Morse is not active in athletics himself, he has always been intensely interested in them. He has a brother who is

by BOYD NEEL

THE New York Philharmonic concert Saturday (May 14) includes Acts III and IV of Four Saints in Three Acts, the famous opera by Gertrude Stein and Virgil Thomson. That this is no ordinary opera can be gathered from the fact that Miss Stein described it as "an opera to be sung." Just what other sort of operas there are, nobody knows, but evidently she knew. It was first given in concert form at Ann Arbor in 1933 and it had the first stage performance at Hartford, Connecticut, the following year by the Society of Friends and Enemies of Modern Music. It has been heard quite a few times during the last 25 years.

The text has little meaning and has been described as "partly evocative, partly satirical." Virgil Thomson has told us that "the lack of expected dissonance is the most striking characteristic of the score." This idea of making the expected the unexpected is, as far as I know, quite original. The composer decided on a negro cast because of their wonderful diction and because of their natural approach to religious subjects, but he has noted in the score that "this precedent need not be considered binding."

On Saturday we shall hear only Acts III and IV. Act II is headed "Saint Ignatius and one of two literally," and the scene is a garden in a monastery on the sea coast. It is in this Act that the well known aria Pigeons on the Grass, Alas occurs and also an off-stage chorus singing the words: "Let Lucy Lily Lily Lucy Lucy let Lucy Lucy Lily Lily Lily Lily Lily let Lily Lucy Lucy let Lily. Let Lucy Lily." Act IV has the sub-title "The sisters and saints reassembled and re-enacting why they went

MATINEE HIGHLIGHTS

A Book For A Desert Island. George Woodcock is an author and editor of the University of British Columbia quarterly, Canadian Literature. He's made a list of the books he'd like to have with him on a desert island and he discusses one of them today—Tolstoy's War and Peace. (Repeated from Trans-Canada Matinee 13/5/60).

Wanted — Cook-Housekeeper. One of the reasons Canadian families find it so difficult to obtain and keep household help is because of the demands they make upon their cooks, housekeepers and nursemaids. Monica Downes, a Vancouver writer and freelance broadcaster, has personal experience in this, both as an employer and an employee. (Repeated from Matinee 9/5/60).

Peters passed across a pamphlet publicizing the film and we saw that it had won the top award for 1960 by the National Committee on Films for Safety in Chicago, as "the finest documentary to be produced in Canada in recent years," and then Peters told us he had just received word that it had won the Chris Award at the Ohio Institute.
 Already the film has been shown to over 2,000 groups in Canada, and while he is up here Peters is making public appearances with it. "But the nicest part of it all, ma'am," he said, "is the fact that a New England mother was able to save her child from drowning because she had seen the film."

Peters plans to make a documentary film in Toronto this month, an extension of That They May Live, and starting June 18 he will be playing Louis Riel in a production of John Coulter's play at the Saskatchewan Festival. Then he goes back to Hollywood to make another movie: Operation Survival, with Frank Lovejoy, and to play the leading role of a young

Contrary to general belief, the Captain is the most relaxed man aboard the ship when she is at sea.
 In fact, when conditions are good he is practically superfluous; leaving the Chief Engineer to keep the ship chugging along, the Chief Officer prodding the men into doing as much work as possible, and the Chief Steward thinking up what dishes are least likely to cause provocation.
 Thus the most popular shipmaster from the crew's point of view is he who has a hobby which keeps him out of their way.—*Captain

This Modern Age. As a modern housewife, Jean Tweed thinks the machine age is a great thing. But some machines take a lot of getting used to as the entire Tweed family found out when their new and modern clothes dryer arrived not long ago. Jean Tweed is a freelance broadcaster who lives on a farm near Toronto.

In my Opinion. This week a Vancouver panel will examine the drug business and the costs of its products to the consumer. Dr. A. W. Matthews, Dean of Pharmacy at UBC, and Vancouver pharmacist, Norman Babb will defend the high cost of drugs. Taking the opposing view will be another Vancouver pharmacist, Ivon Garcia and Dr. James Foulks, member of the faculty of Pharmacy at UBC.

Wanted — Cook-Housekeeper. Second of a two-part talk. Speaking from her own experiences as a cook-housekeeper, Monica Downes, today offers some practical solutions to the servant problem. Mrs. Downes is a freelance writer and broadcaster who lives in Vancouver.

Daily features . . . News commentary by Muriel Armstrong from Montreal, recorded musical selections by Pat Gallagher of Toronto, and a reading by Toronto actress, Amelia Hall, from Lilli Koenig's "Tales From the Vienna Woods," adapted for radio by Mary Brown.

W-2:03 pm K-3:33 pm X-2:33 pm

SCHOOL BROADCASTS

Saskatchewan — "Rhythm and Rhyme," for grades I and II. Final program in this series presented in an attempt to link poetry with experiences within the child's own scope or with those he can relive. Today—"The Happy Months," and poems "The Four Sweet Months," by Robert Herrick; "Spring," by Celia Thaxter; "Spring Secrets," from Primary Poetry, book 1; "Who Has Seen The Wind," by Christina Georgina Rossetti; "Train Talk," by Hilda I. Roston; "In The Country," by Ursula Hourihane, and "At The Seaside," by Robert Louis Stevenson. Part two of today's broadcast, "Ice-le Francais," for grade 10 students, provides an opportunity for students to hear French spoken with correct accent and intonation.

K-3:00 pm

NOW AND THEN

With co-hosts Gordon Sinclair, Jr., and veteran actor Gerry Rowan. From Montreal. The show will look back on the music, news and customs of other years and make humorous comparisons with today's trends. Singers Sheila Graham and Fred Hill, the Buck Lacombe Quintet and accordionist Gordie Fleming will provide music and song from now and then—the swinging music of today and the authentic old tunes of another era.

well-known English long-distance runner, and Barry used to cycle beside him on some of his training runs, feeding him glucose and timing his speed.

Funnybone ticklers include John Bethune's adaptation of The Education of Hyman Caplan by L. Q. Rose, the amusing account of an American immigrant who attends night school, has a wonderful philosophy of life, but never manages to get anywhere. Diana Maddox has dramatized Through the Looking Glass, and if you have not looked at your dog-eared copy since nursery days; now is the time to sample it again, and this time really enjoy its satire. "This," says Reeves, "will be a real virtuoso showpiece, because there will be no guests on the program. All the voices will be done by quartet." Tommy Tweed is putting together what Reeves can only describe as "a bestiary"—an anthology of writings of real or imaginary animals. Just as we were discussing this one, Tweed stuck his head into Reeves' office to say he was just getting cracking on the script, and went out chuckling—which bodes well.

James Bannerman is preparing a documentary drama on capital punishment, John Dranie is doing a study of prohibition, and Henry Comor is adapting The Trial of Mary Todd Lincoln by James A. Rhodes and Dean Jauchius.

PROGRAM NOTES

UNIVERSITY OF THE AIR

"The Greek and Roman World." Seventh program in a ten-week series by Dr. W. G. Hardy, head of the department of classics at the University of Alberta. Today—"The Roman World." The Roman character was forged by a centuries-long struggle for survival. But with the principate of Augustus (31 B.C.—14 A.D.), the Pax Romana began. For roughly two centuries there was security and physical comfort such as the world has seldom attained. This lecture will describe the size of the Roman Empire, its roads and seaways, its trade, and its method of travel. It will look at the recent discoveries at Pompeii and Herculaneum to examine the housing, the plumbing, and the general conditions of living.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

What's New. Today — What's new in the North?

Matinee Quiz. Questions on nutrition, child psychology and home management are dealt with today by Matinee's panel of experts. Today's panelists are Dr. Elizabeth Chant Robertson, research associate at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children and nutrition consultant for the CBC women's programs; Dr. Eleanor Long, psychologist with the Forest Hill Village Schools in Toronto and consulting psychologist with the Children's Aid Societies of Ottawa and Barrie; and Mrs. Beth Crofton, home economist and mother of two children.

Daily features . . . News commentary by Isabel Wilson from Toronto, recorded musical selections by Sir Ernest MacMillan from Toronto, and another reading by Toronto actress Amelia Hall from Lilli Koenig's "Tales from the Vienna Woods," adapted for radio by Mary Brown.

W-2:03 pm K-3:33 pm X-2:33 pm

SCHOOL BROADCASTS

Saskatchewan—"Poetry for Seniors," for grades 7 and 8. Fourth broadcast in a five-part series to introduce students of senior grades to some of the work of our Canadian poets. Today's program will include: "The Dawn, The Birds," by W. W. E. Ross; "Heat," by Archibald Lampman; "The Clouds," by James Reaney, and "The Wind Our Enemy," by Anne Marriott. Part two of this program—"Young Saskatchewan," for grades 7-10. Today—"Oil From Remote Time." Millions of years ago ancient seas covered southern Saskatchewan. Prehistoric fish and other strange forms of marine life lived in these oceans and died in their muddy bottoms. Chemical changes of the remains of this marine life began the process that formed the crude oil discovered and produced in Saskatchewan. Oil search and discovery is a fascinating business. Drilling bits probe rock formations that belong to ages when the caveman stalked the dinosaur. Oil production is a multi-million dollar industry in Saskatchewan.

K-3:00 pm

HALIFAX THEATRE

"Captain Andy's Retirement," the first of a two-part drama by Kay Hill from a book by Joseph C. Lincoln; starring Bill Fulton, David Murray and H. Leslie Pigot.

W-3:30 pm K-4:30 pm X-3:30 pm

MUSIC ABOUT NATURE

String group conducted by Lucio Agostini, with songs by Annabelle Adams and commentary by Byng Whitteker. From Toronto.

PARADOX OF PLENTY

Today—"Coal," with Keith Barry of Halifax. Millions of tons of coal lie untouched in Canada, yet we are using less and less of it. Further demand for coal is dwindling because of inroads by oil, surplus hydro and natural gas. A couple of years ago, Ontario imported 98 per cent of its coal requirements from the U.S. Stockpiles of coal continue to grow—recently Sidney had a pile of one million tons—and an unemployment crisis is imminent.

* * *

The essence of Puritanism is naivety. For instance: In Alberta we're not allowed to drink vodka on the grounds that it has no taste when mixed with orange juice. Presumably this is because it would be possible for a lecherous old man to pour vodka into the orange juice of an innocent young maid. But if the innocent young maid is drinking orange juice it's breakfast time and too late to worry about her innocence anyway.—A. D. Henry on "Points West."

STU DAVIS

Canada's Cowboy Troubadour—Tuesdays on CBW, CBX (both 12:45 p.m.) and CBK (1:45 p.m.).

The problem is not just more education, not just more science, and how are we to provide this—it is essentially the problem of how are we going to produce young people who are educated both in science and in the humanities, who are trained in the skills of the modern world and yet have some acquaintance with the wisdom of the ages, who have a knowledge of the techniques but also an understanding of the significance of human life. Technology is easy, education is difficult—our task for the 1960's is to combine the two.—Norman Fisher, Principal of the Staff College of the National Coal Board on BBC.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

Bright Children Who Can't Read. Rockcliff Park School in Ottawa is the only public school in Canada which has a special class for bright children without visual memory. Such children, though of average and above average I.Q. have great difficulty in learning to read and write. Today, Frances Baldwin, Ottawa freelance lance broadcaster tells us what Rockcliff Park School is doing to help these bright youngsters overcome this handicap.

Tom Mboya Interview. Matinee's guest today is Tom Mboya who at 30 is Kenya's leading politician and a classic example of the African success story. In 1957, Mr. Mboya became the first African ever to be elected to Kenya's Legislative Council, a position he still holds. He is also chairman of the All Africa People's Conference and Secretary General of the Kenya Federation of Labour. In this interview with Christa Singer, Toronto freelance broadcaster, he outlines some of his hopes for the future of his people.

How to Invest Money Wisely. In deciding to invest your money the first essential is to find out what you want from that investment. Continuing her series of talks on how to invest wisely, Jean Edmonds of Winnipeg, discusses the relative merits of investment clubs, mutual funds and individual investment. Mrs. Edmonds who is heard frequently on Trans-Canada Matinee is an economist and contributing editor of the Financial Post.

Daily features . . . News commentary by Muriel Armstrong of Montreal, recorded musical selections by Pat Gallagher from Toronto, and another reading by Toronto actress Amelia Hall from Lilli Koenig's "Tales from the Vienna Woods," adapted for radio by Mary Brown.

SCHOOL BROADCASTS

Saskatchewan - "Neighbours of Wood and Plain." In this program we continue our study of how birds help man. We are all aware of how weeds choke our gardens and fields if they are not controlled in some way.

away to stay." At the end the Compère announces "Last Act" and the chorus and the principals reply fortissimo: "Which is a fact."

I strongly recommend readers to listen to this extraordinary work on Saturday.

Somebody has asked what is the exact definition of "sacred" music. I am afraid I haven't the slightest idea. I would say that, to musicians, all great music was sacred, but I have looked at the programs of some so-called "sacred" concerts and I see very little there which any musician would regard as such. The Oxford Dictionary tells us that the meaning of sacred is: "Esteemed especially dear or acceptable to a deity" and I cannot imagine something like Gounod's "Nazareth" being especially dear to any deity, nor to any musician, for that matter.

In addition to man's efforts we have the services of many birds. The chief seed-eaters are the members of the sparrow family, the true larks and the doves. Some of our weed warriors are: Snowbuntings and redpolls - winter seed eaters. Sparrows-vesper, Savannah, Lincoln, white-throated, white-crowned and Harris. Chestnut-colored longspurs, horned larks, gold-finches and mourning doves. To aid listeners in recognizing our many birds, we will review old calls and add new calls.

K-3:00 pm

WHO'S THE COMPOSER?

W-4:00 pm K-5:00 pm X-4:00 pm

RECITAL IN MINIATURE

With violinist Marta Hidy accompanied by Snjolaug Sigurdson. Norman Lucas, producer. From Winnipeg.

Adagio Kodaly
Sonatina Bartok

W-6:45 pm K-7:45 pm X-6:45 pm

If sacred music means music to do with Biblical subjects, then we must include such works as Saint-Saëns' Samson and Delilah, with its voluptuous love scenes, Walton's Belshazzar's Feast, with its wildly pagan choruses, Verdi's Nabucco, and Strauss' Salome, which was at one time banned from the stage by the censor, so I don't think that gets us very far.

Yet, I have seen music at concerts and in catalogues described as "sacred" music, so somebody evidently has a fixed idea as to what it should be.

This subject occurred to me because I should say that Four Saints in Three Acts might be considered "sacred," dealing as it does with a religious subject, but I am quite certain that it would not be considered as such by the purveyors of so-called "sacred" music. Could we get a definition? Any suggestions?

rope, Norman DePoe in Canada, Michael Maclear in Africa. Their reports on film and direct by TV microwave and radio lines gave Canadian viewers and listeners a vivid, fast-moving account of the world-shaping events as seen through the eyes of Canadian newsmen for Canadians.

Plans have been made to continue this intensive coverage of what is probably the most important story since World War II at the Summit meetings in Paris. LaChance and Gordon will be on hand to report for CBC's English television and radio news and other programs. O'Leary will be there for the French network.

Television camera crews will be on hand; radio lines will be booked from Paris to Montreal and Toronto for immediate coverage from the conference scene. Much of the television news coverage on film will be sped across the Atlantic by jet aircraft to provide Canadians with visual coverage in a matter of hours. Even faster TV news coverage will be provided on occasion by the use of the "slow scan" method of transmitting TV film across the Atlantic by cable. This can bring TV newsfilm across the ocean to Canada within minutes of the actual event.

Same-day coverage in daily TV newscasts will be augmented by reporting in greater depth on News magazine, the Sunday TV news program, and in special news programs which will be scheduled as necessary. The first such special program is already being arranged, with Douglas LaChance doing a report on the current situation in Berlin and Germany. This special will be televised to the CBC network immediately following the regular News magazine program on May 15, the day before the opening of the Summit meeting.

CBC Radio News will have reports direct from Paris throughout the day and evening. Enlarged coverage will be provided by Radio News specials as Summit developments warrant.

Similar Summit coverage will be supplied to the CBC French networks.

No agenda has been made public for the Summit Conference. Nor has it been announced how long the meetings may last. Experts are suggesting at least a week.

Observers agree that Berlin and the whole problem of the future of Germany could be high on the agenda. World disarmament and an end to the testing of nuclear bombs are also expected to occupy much of the time at the conference table. From there, they could move to a discussion of a code for East-West co-existence, co-operative economic aid to the under-developed countries of the world, and other items vital to world peace.

In any event, there is no doubt that Paris in the Spring of 1960 will be very much more than flowers, sunshine and sidewalk cafes, for the world leaders and the tremendous corps of newsmen, without whom no Summit Conference is complete.

Time was when the director of an orchestra was a pianist, an organist, a violinist; a composer with a club which he banged on the floor, and I can myself remember, in an important south-European capital, a man who helped the conductor at the royal opera house by striking up on a wooden clapper the moment the chorus began, and going on all the time they were singing. The silent conductor came in in the early nineteenth century, and seems to be a fixture for present.—Sir Adrian Boult on BBC.

NATIONAL SCHOOLS

Fourth program in a five-week series titled "What Makes Music Tick?" Today—"The Music Ticks." Victor Feldbrill begins this program with the comment that just as the instruments of the orchestra were developing so vocal art was progressing and the art-song was becoming more and more popular. From the simple song with its simple accompaniment, the art of composing songs developed to the point where music-dramas were written. Victor Feldbrill goes on to discuss the development of an instrument as an independent "voice" needing accompaniment. The playing of the first movement of Grieg's Piano Concerto will be used as evidence of this development. To conclude the broadcast the problem of interpretation and its relation to music-making will be dealt with. Mr. Feldbrill will explain such simple directions as allegro, andante con moto, largo and presto. Music to be heard on this program will include:

- Serenade Schubert
 - Toreador Song Bizet
 - Triumphal Chorus from "Aida".....Verdi
 - Piano Concerto (excerpt)Grieg

Talent Festival Winners On CBC Symphony Broadcast

Auditions now being planned for 1960-61 series

Soloists on this Friday's CBC Symphony broadcast—Toronto pianist Gordana Lazarevitch and Toronto baritone Cornelius Opthof—were the winners of the 1959-1960 CBC Talent Festival.

A paid performance with the CBC Symphony is part of the prize given to winners of the series. Cash awards are $1,000 each for the top instrumentalist and singer, $250 each for the two runners-up.

Plans are already being made for next season's Talent Festival series on CBC radio. Auditions will be held during the last week of May in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary and Edmonton.

The competition is open to any resident of Canada (not necessarily a citizen) under 30 years of age on January 1, 1961, who has not performed as a soloist on the full CBC Trans-Canada Network in the past. Candidates who have already appeared on Talent Festival may, however, re-audition for the new series.

At the audition, singers will be required to sing one aria (operatic or oratorio), and one song (German lieder, French or English art song). Instrumentalists will be required to play one movement (except the slow movement) from a sonata in the standard classical repertoire and one short piece. Accompanists will be supplied by the CBC, but candidates may bring their own accompanists if they prefer.

- Piano Concerto in A minorSchumann
 - Songs of a WayfarerMahler
- W-10:00 pm K-10:30 pm X-9:30 pm

ANTHOLOGY

Radio's literary magazine—Two Poets: Arnold Edinborough discusses the work of two contemporary English poets, Phillip Larkin and Donald Davie.

W-11:00 pm K-11:30 pm X-10:30 pm

Successful candidates will be informed by letter. On the broadcasts singers will perform one aria and one other song, or two arias. Instrumentalists will play one movement of any standard concerto (except the slow movement). All selections are subject to the approval of the conductor, Sir Ernest MacMillan. Candidates should avoid selecting works requiring a very large orchestra. Works requiring trombones and large woodwind forces should in general be avoided.

Candidates must agree to be available if called upon to perform on a semi-final or final broadcast. In addition to travelling expenses (except local), the CBC will pay a $50 fee to every candidate performing in the series.

An appointment for an audition can be made by phoning or writing to the CBC in Winnipeg (P.O. Box 160, Phone SP 4-2541), Regina (1840 McIntyre Street, Phone LA 3-6641), or Edmonton (Room 713, MacDonald Hotel, Phone GA 4-8221).

U.S. Listener

• I wish to compliment you on the excellent quality of your programs. It is refreshing to hear programs aimed at providing cultural enlightenment rather than at selling some product. I especially enjoy Tempo and Rawhide, your plays in the evenings, the English comedy teams, and some of the local programs, such as A.M. Commentary. — Dr. K. W. C., Crookston, Minnesota.

Another Viewpoint

• We have enjoyed the CBC Times for some time now, and have found recent issues particularly enjoyable, thanks to the delightful wit of Professor Robert Wardle. One word in reply to the gentleman from Calgary who feels Little Nell is Dead is a "good example of mediocrity tilting at greatness." Mr. Kavaner must have neglected to read the last paragraph, for in it Prof. Wardle gives Dickens his due, stating clearly: "But he was also the world's finest storyteller . . . and within limits he was the world's greatest humourist." Far from being a "writer of trash," Prof. Wardle is a man whose humour goes much deeper than our Calgarian seems able to grasp. Alas, I fear Mr. Kavaner is a product of the age of ineptitude of which he so vociferously complains. — Mrs. G. R., Winnipeg.

Distant Viewer

• Received your signal for about half an hour tonight. At times both sound and picture came in as if the station was local. — J. D. M., Hay River, Northwest Territories.

Red River Jamboree

• I feel obligated to show my appreciation to CBC Winnipeg for Friday night's Red River Jamboree—a masterpiece of its kind. It takes the west to produce a really authentic western show, and there is no artist better suited to star in such a show than Stu Davis. Many bouquets to CBWT. I hope to see Jamboree with us for a long time to come.—D. F., Winnipeg.

"Red River Jamboree" will replace "Country Hoedown" on the full CBC-TV network starting July 8.

About Reading

• I would like to applaud CBWT's Eye to Eye for its attempt to shed more light on the reading problem. It was a gallant attempt, and from all the highfaluting nonsense that the American experts have treated us to, one pertinent fact emerged—that reading in schools is silent, and so are the tests, and progress is determined by some sixth sense the teacher has. A child does not need to be articulate, the experts say, and I wonder where CBC will get its announcers from in the future, and how we will get any news, as obviously books and newspapers will be obsolete unless they are printed in sight-method words. I hope Eye to Eye will stay with us for a long time.—Mrs. I. V. L., St. Boniface, Man.

Need Many Opinions

• Reverend Matthew Meehan, preaching at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Toronto, in Religious Period on April 3rd besought his listeners to write to their radio stations and tell them what they thought about the programs offered. I am taking him at his word. Please pay no attention to the list of undesirable topics he mentioned. An atheist giving his sincerely held views, the recent excellent documentary on the "population explosion," programs using rock 'n' roll music and mentioning "going steady," plays dealing with divorce—all these things came under his wide ranging scrutiny. I agree with what he said about these things more than 50 per cent, but the moment we stop publishing, or writing, or saying, or listening to views that differ from our own, we are lost as a democracy—utterly, irrevocably lost. —R. T., Towson, Kitchener, Ont.

Ford Startime

• I felt I must drop you a line to let you know how much I appreciated The Juggler on Ford Startime last night. Tony Curtis was just superb.—Mrs. F. G. T., Winnipeg.

• The legend of St. Barnabas, as shown on Ford Startime Tuesday night was in our opinion one of the most beautiful movies ever seen on TV. We hope to see more movies of this type on your station; they're the finest form of education, as well as the best entertainment.—G. S., St. Boniface, Man.

• I just want to send a letter of appreciation for the Ford Startime program of April 19, when Sir Thomas Beecham conducted the Toronto Symphony Orchestra. It was an hour of pure delight and I hope we may have more of the same kind of program.—M. D., Otterburne, Man.

• I know you must have a very hard time to have plays shown on TV to please everybody, but I do feel impelled to drop a line of protest in connection with that silly and disgusting one, The Young Juggler. It would surely receive very little approval by the general public. Surely we have very few, if any, who would relish such twaddle.—J. M., Winnipeg.

Two Points of View

• Congratulations on Sit Back With Jack—the first half decent musical program from Winnipeg. After many hopelessly poor attempts, such as Happyland, CBC Winnipeg has finally come through. — "Encouraged," Winnipeg.

• Sit Back With Jack was one of the worst shows you have had. Why not bring back Happyland?—Mrs. J. A., Winnipeg.

Good Friday Programs

• I simply wish to state that your presentation of The Hill on Good Friday was magnificent. CBC programs on both radio and TV are on the whole good. So long as your tendency is to make them better I have no complaint. We always have "button controls" for programs we do not like.—Dr. M. A. R. Y., Lamont, Alta.

• Please convey my thanks to the weatherman for an outstanding talk on CBK on Good Friday. I would like to nominate him for the reader on Eventide. We were also pleased with the thought-provoking play—The Hill—seen on TV that same night.—Mrs. O. O., Saskatoon.

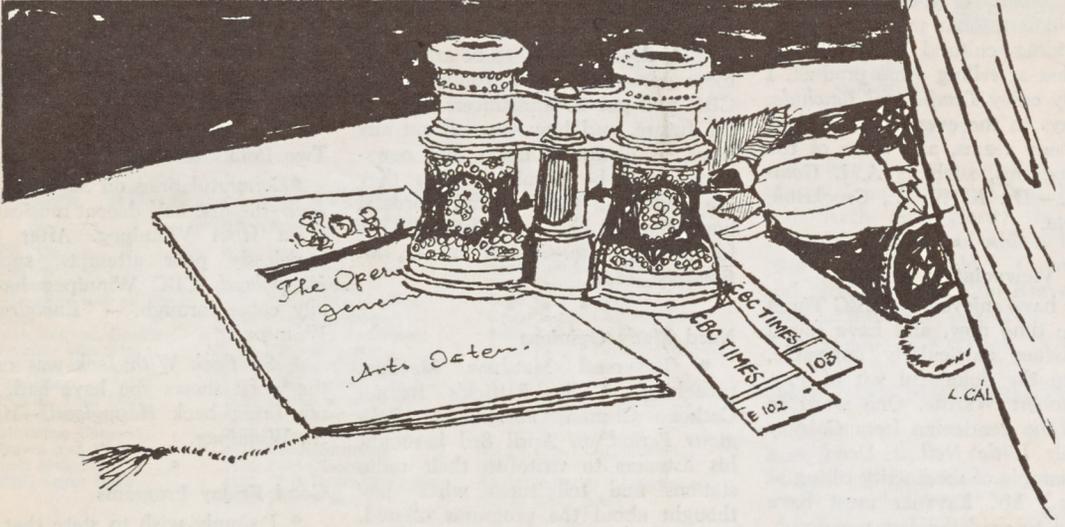

Farm Broadcast

• Please let me draw your attention to a very serious mistake you have made on the CBC Farm Broadcast since the time change. In western Saskatchewan there is not a farm man in the house at 11:15 a.m. MST. All farmers are very interested in this program, but are unable to listen to it now. It is certainly too bad that the town and city people don't consider the farmer more. If it weren't for the farmer they couldn't live.—Mrs. M. D., Vera, Sask.

YOUR "TICKET" TO 1000 CONCERTS

WOULDN'T IT BE LUVERLY . . . free passes to concerts, operas, plays, the ballet . . . to be able to share the thoughts of the world's most interesting people . . . to look into the complex machinery of our age, back into our history, forward into the future. All these are possible to anyone who owns a radio or a television set. All the entertainment or information is there on CBC networks. No ticket, no time-machine. All we need to do is choose. But to make a choice we need to know all the facts—what, who, where, when, and sometimes why. This is where CBC TIMES comes in. It's not enough to put on top-quality programs. The most wonderful program isn't worth a thing if the people who would enjoy it most have decided to play golf, go to a party or write a novel. Just as the CBC must plan its programs, the audience needs to plan its listening and viewing. The annual charge for CBC TIMES is a small investment that pays off handsomely in many hours of pleasure-planned listening and viewing. (1 year—$2.00, 2 years—$3.50, 3 years—$5.00).
