Different Record Available

● Concerning a reader's request to know the theme music used on G.M. Presents, in a recent issue you said that that second part, "Idol of Paris," is not available in Canada. A 45 r.p.m. recording of it is available, on Columbia Record No. C 42625.—M. C. S. Co., Calgary.

Ed.—The record you mention is not the same one used in the theme music. It is similar, however.

Project '61

● I was very disappointed with the Project '61 program "The Clergyman." It was full of pious platitudes, half truths and vague generalities. Anyone with his eyes and ears on the world would know such a situation described existed. It was an hour wasted.—Rev. D. G. H., Birch Hills, Sask.

U.S. Listener Interested

● I was much interested in Kerry Wood's broadcast on private wildlife preserves and benefits to agriculture from wild birds and animals.

I listen a great deal to the CBC. I especially enjoy your programs of classical music. The one on the "Unknown Haydn" some time ago was most impressive. I also enjoy most of the dramatic programs, and the talks on international affairs.—F. P. B., Grand Forks, N.D.

● I wish to express my appreciation for the fine programs on your radio stations. Here in the U.S. they rarely broadcast anything worth listening to and I am indeed grateful for being able to hear your broadcasts. Special thanks for letting us hear the New York Philharmonic on Saturday nights.—E. M., Gonnick, Minn.

AROUND CBC . . .

by The Editor

● MOUNTAINS OF GIFTS . . . almost unbearable suspense and excitement . . . unlimited quantities of good things to eat: these are the traditional ingredients of a child's Christmas. But what of the hundreds of invalid children who must spend all their days in hospital?

In an effort to relieve the dreary aspects of a bedridden Christmas away from home for a group of Winnipeg children, the performers of Red River Jamboree recently went to the auditorium of the nurses' residence at Winnipeg Children's Hospital to video-tape the show which appeared on CBC television Christmas Eve. A group of 50 youngsters were carried and wheeled into the auditorium to be the very special live audience for the show.

Andrew Jergens Company, sponsors, waived their commercials so that the performers could have the complete broadcast time for entertainment of Christmas Eve audiences. Each of the sick youngsters was presented with a gift by the Company, and roses were given to the nurses and performers.

The true spirit of Christmas still prevails.

● THE SHOW MUST GO ON is as much the motto of radio and television as it is of the legitimate stage. And come Manitoba blizzards and flat tires, one Winnipeg reverend gentleman realized that he must appear at our studios in time for his 10:00 a.m. broadcast of Morning Devotions.

It was the morning after a violent snowstorm that swept the whole of the prairies, and the mentioned pastor shivered as he dug his car out of the snow that had drifted around it overnight. After considerable coaxing, the cold motor started to purr, and in jumped the reverend, with barely sufficient time to reach the CBC studios.

Just as he turned onto Portage Avenue and the home stretch of his hurried trip . . . thump! . . . thump! . . . came the unmistakable noise of a flat tire.

"No time to stop," he said to himself, and the remainder of the route was driven on the rim of the wheel, with the pastor smiling benignly to acknowledge the frantic gestures of pedestrians and other motorists.

● KINDERGARTEN OF THE AIR has a very loyal listener, little William McKenzie of Regina. The lad never misses a broadcast, and habitually keeps tuned in for CBC's Saskatchewan morning commentator Jean Hinds.

The other day on one of her morning programs, Jean interviewed a visiting celebrity, questioning him on his activities. After a minute, young William remarked to his mother, "Gee mom, she doesn't know anything, does she? She's asking him all the questions."

ON OUR COVER . . .

"Local coverage in depth" is the rather impressive phrase describing the policy which dictates that wherever news takes place, a CBC newsman will be there. Fulfilling this policy for the past 20 years as of Jan. 1, has been the CBC's Prairie Newsroom, directed by the News Supervisor for the Prairies, Norman Lacey, centre. Upper right, staffer Herb Nixon interviews Prime Minister Diefenbaker in Saskatoon. Proceeding clockwise: the housewives of Wolseley Ave. in Winnipeg rally to save their middle-of-the-street tree; newsmen tally the results of the 1957 federal election; a major fire receives coverage; and TV cameras bring the world to the scene of a cave-in that traps a Winnipeg worker.

Prairie Newsroom Marks 20th Anniversary

by N. J. LACEY

News Supervisor for the Prairies

In 20 years, the world has passed through some of the most momentous periods of history. In those two decades, the Prairie Newsroom in Winnipeg and the national network of newsrooms have kept Canadians informed of the triumphs and disasters that have highlighted man's rapid progress

TWENTY YEARS ago the world was trembling. Hitler's armies reigned supreme in western Europe, German and Italian forces were well on the way to conquering North Africa and the Japanese were making ominous noises in the Pacific.

In Canada more and more men were being trained for the coming battles in Europe and Canadian industry was entering an advanced stage of war production. Canadian airmen and seamen were already in the thick of combat and the war became a very personal thing to millions of Canadians. There was a growing need for news and more news, and radio came into its own as an information medium.

The demand resulted in the CBC setting up its own news service on January 1, 1941. It started off in a small way with about two dozen men and women turning out three or four main news bulletins a day from each of five geographical regions. The National News Bulletin heard from coast to coast each evening became an institution in almost every Canadian home. As the war grew in intensity CBC correspondents went overseas and the newsrooms at home turned out more and more to satisfy the news appetite.

In the later war years events were moving so swiftly that the assassination of Benito Mussolini rated only third place in the National news bulletin. It was a sign of the times that a man who had made headlines all over the world for two decades had his death reported in newspapers and on radio newscasts in an almost incidental manner.

The war ended, and the world settled into the uneasy condition which still exists in 1961, but the interest in news developed during the years of conflict did not decrease. Radio newscasts became more numerous. Then television arrived on the scene, the first program on the air in Canada being CBC Newsmagazine.

As television developed across the country new TV newsrooms came into being or radio newsrooms were expanded to handle the extra load. New techniques were born and ways were found to speed the delivery of film to newsrooms far from the centre of operations in Toronto. Regional newsrooms evolved into the local reporting field while in the other direction CBC newsmen were established in such places as London, Paris, Washington and the United Nations.

In these few years the CBC news service has grown into one of the biggest in the world. Today there are 200 men and women scattered across the country and overseas, producing 120 radio and 25 television newscasts daily—in both English and French. In fact, CBC news is heard in English, French and 14 other languages over five national networks and the CBC International Service. The service receives about 2,000,000 words of news every week from the world news agencies, in addition to the material from its own people in the national, regional and overseas CBC newsrooms.

The Prairie newsroom was established in Winnipeg 20 years ago to provide CBC news to the three Prairie Provinces. It started modestly with four people producing three main radio bulletins a day. The total staff now is 16, and the production amounts to about 20 radio newscasts and two main television news programs a day.

One reason for the steady growth of the news service has been the policy of the CBC to treat news in the nature of a public trust. Simply stated, the policy is to give the news honestly, to stand for no outside interference, and if wrong, to admit and correct our errors. While the news was not without its critics, especially in the early days when there was deep suspicion and charges of government control, adherence to this straightforward policy has over the years won wide public acceptance.

Perhaps one of the most interesting developments has been the move toward more reporting by CBC news editors. At one time we relied almost exclusively on the news agencies. The news was received by teletype in our various newsrooms, was rewritten into good radio style by our editors and then broadcast.

But since the advent of television the need has arisen for reporting local events in depth. Now, CBC newsmen in the prairie newsroom cover regular beats such as the Winnipeg City Hall and the legislature. As many as 10 or 12 local news events appear on film every day on CBWT.

Q for Quest

Anything Goes

by ROSS McLEAN

THIS TUESDAY Andrew Allan and I begin a new program project on the television network. In a sense we are opening an orphanage and in it providing a refuge for the homeless idea and the displaced desire.

It is a new series to be known as Q for Quest. In the total North American program schedule, described a bit unfairly by some critics as inflexible and lacking variety, it is meant to be as flexible as all get-out and to have infinite variety.

Its formula will be the scrupulous avoidance of formula. It will present plays, dance, music and talk with the greatest ingenuity that Canada's finest creative minds can muster.

It will be an outlet for writers, performers, composers painters, poets, personalities to do what they want to do most and can do best.

It is an entirely "free form" exercise in the inventive use of television.

If I have put you off already by the unfortunate way I'm describing this venture, I am sorry. That is one of the dangers of trying to explain Q for Quest. It is, frankly, experimental in nature and it does concern the arts. These facts can't be hidden but they ought not to hinder anyone's enjoyment of the series.

The producers will be drawn from all program departments of the CBC by arrangement with the individual supervisors. In this way Q for Quest will have unique access to the rich directorial resources of all staff producers. The producers themselves will have access to a program in which they can display coveted ideas and test techniques.

Canadian writers such as Ted Allan, Ralph Allen, John Bethune, Brian Moore, Norman Newton, Eric Nicol, E. J. Pratt, Mordecai Richeler, Lister Sinclair, Tommy Tweed, Ethel Wilson and many

PROGRAM NOTES JANUARY 1

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Junior Magazine

With hosts Doug Maxwell, Hank Hedges and Ross Snetsinger. Film: "This is Young Canada." A collection of the best of "This is Young Canada" shown in 1960. Hank Hedges talks about large apes and shows film taken at the Bronx Zoo, N.Y. Boys and girls from one of Toronto's public schools take part in a quiz, with Doug Maxwell. Ross Snetsinger talks about some of the things he'll be looking at in 1961—stamps and coins.

Country Calendar

"Agricultural Highlights, 1960." A special New Year's show featuring Hon. I. C. Nollet, Saskatchewan; Hon. L. C. Halmarst, Alberta; Hon. George Hutton, Manitoba (provincial Ministers of Agriculture), also a film of Federal Minister of Agriculture, Hon. A. Hamilton. Stan Westaway will discuss—preparations for 1961—planning your program—checking stocks and stores.

Soho Story

Denis Mitchell's documentary film showing the Soho district of London. It includes scenes of many of Soho's best-known citizens: Mutton Eye, with his harmonium and bowler hat, the "Countess," and Iron Foot Jack, self proclaimed king of Bohemia. The film is seen through the eyes of Mac the Busker, who for 20 years has declaimed Shakespeare to theatre queues against the noisy opposition of London traffic.

Silents Please

Today's feature—"Son of the Shiek."

Twentieth Century

"POW—Part One: Korea." A two-part report on American prisoners of war in Korea and a current U.S. Air Force training program designed to help military personnel overcome "coercive persuasion" by any future enemy. Part one features interviews with Captain Theodore R. Harris, USAF, and Commander John W. Thornton, USN, who resisted communist coercion while POW's in Korea, and with unidentified Americans who "confessed" to the communists.

Yearbook 1960

The year-end review of world news for 1960 prepared by the CBC television news department. Five CBC correspondents will take part: Douglas LaChance (Paris), Donald Gordon (London), James M. Minifie (Washington), Stanley Burke (United Nations) and Norman DePoe (Ottawa). The correspondents will discuss the following major events of 1960: the South African riots at Sharpeville (Don Gordon); an appraisal of American power and prestige with a study of the president-elect Senator John Kennedy (James M. Minifie); an appraisal of the Canadian economic situation (Norman DePoe); a comparison of independence as it was sought in the Congo and Nigeria in terms of the United Nations (Stanley Burke). In addition, Earl Cameron will report on the film highlights of the year such as the earthquake in Agadir, the Japanese riots and the Cuban situation. John Hood is news editor.

The Nature of Things

The only weekly science series on any television network on this continent, with host Professor Donald Ivey of the physics department, University of Toronto. Using a magazine-type format. "The Nature of Things" will offer a major topic each week, supplemented with short features dealing with science news and seasonal information. Some of the major topics include a study of the causes of schizophrenia, a review of what is happening in space technology, information about what the brain is and how it works, a study of the controlled isolation of human beings and explanation of the fundamental laws of conservation.

"The Aurora." This program is an explanation of what is known about the aurora borealis (the northern lights). Today, although there are many legends and theories about the reasons for the aurora, there is still no scientific explanation. However, one thing is certain: the aurora has a good deal to do with particles from the sun impinging on the magnetic field of the earth. This program about the aurora separates the legends from the facts. To do so, a rare film of auroral displays has been obtained from the University of Oslo in Norway, and from laboratories in northern Canada. Participating in the program: Dr. Peter Forsyth and Dr. B. W. Currie of the department of physics, University of Saskatchewan, and Dr. Ray Montalbetti, of the Defence Research Telecommunications Establishment at Shirley Bay, near Ottawa. Host for the program is Dr. Donald Ivey of the department of physics, University of Toronto.

Annie Farge plays the French-born, hot-tempered, bewildered, warm and funny wife of Marshall Thompson, who loves her in spite of it all, in the comedy series each Sunday on CBC television.

Walt Disney Presents

"The Postponed Wedding." Zorro has to overcome a two-faced Don Juan and his hired assailants to save a naive senorita from being swindled out of her dowry by a fortune hunting Spanish rogue. With Guy Williams, Gene Sheldon and Annette Funicello.

National Velvet

"The Prize." After winning first prize for jams and jellies at a county fair, Mrs. Brown is approached by a food company to have her products packaged commercially. The Brown farm becomes a scene of chaos and the children find themselves pushed into the background, and even Mr. Brown feels insecure because of the food company personnel on his farm.

The World of Music

With host Wally Koster. A series devoted to classical, popular, sacred and ethnic music. Each program will introduce artists who have never before been featured on network television.

Today—The cast of the popular variety program, While We're Young, seen last summer, takes over the program. Included in the cast are Tommy Ambrose, Bonny Hicks and the Bob Van Norman Dancers. Wally Koster is host and Dave Thomas is producer.

PROGRAM NOTES

JANUARY 2

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Chez Helene

French for pre-schoolers, with Hélène Baillargeon and her assistants—Susie the mouse (Corinne Orr), Peter (Anthony Tremblay), and Marion. From Montreal.

Nursery School Time

Miss Teddy and Hoppy have some noisemakers left over from a New Year's party. They look at a calendar and discuss it; how many days in a year, in a week, etc. Then Miss Teddy reads a book which Hoppy got for Christmas, "The Four Puppies Who Wanted A Home."

Open House

Children Are Like That. Toronto psychiatrist, Dr. John Rich, begins a new series today, in which he'll explore the world of children from babyhood up to the age of twelve years. Some of the topics he'll touch on during the next six weeks are "The Child and His Family," "The Child and His Neighbours," "Disciplining the Child," "Play," and "Television and the Child." He begins his series with a discussion of "Psychiatry and the Child."

Journey to Bangkok. Joan Barberis of Montreal is a well-known Canadian newspaper woman who has recently returned to Canada after working her way round the world. One of the highlights of her travels was a trip to Bangkok where she visited some of the famous temples and where she became involved in temple rubbings. She appears on Open House today to tell us of her experiences and to show some of the pictures taken in Bangkok.

Information on the third segment of today's program was not available at press time.

Reflections

With Gordon Macpherson's orchestra, harpist Phyllis Ensher, soprano Jean Marshall, and violinist Francis Chaplin. From Halifax.

The orchestra will perform the Waltz from Carousel and Liebesleid (Kreisler). Soprano Jean Marshall will sing In My Little Corner of the World, I'm a Cockeyed Optimist (South Pacific) and My Ain Folk. Violinist Francis Chaplin and harpist Phyllis Ensher will play Humoresque (Dvorak). Chaplin and pianist Gordon MacPherson will play Levee Dance. Phyllis Ensher will be featured with the orchestra in Shangri-La.

CBWT—Three's Company

A new series begins today as Mary Liz Bayer and Bill Guest welcome Professor Lloyd Dolmage who will study and reveal the secrets of investments, with special reference to the "limited income" group of would-be investors. Trish Mumford contributes more suggestions for informal home entertaining, and Anne Du Moulin offers the first of a two-part story on our community.

Junior Roundup

Friendly Giant. Another concert in the music room of the castle, when Angie and Fiddle, two musical cats, come to visit. They have some new "train" music which engineer Rusty and conductor Jerome like to play.

Host Murray Westgate shows another film from Ottawa. Dave Broadfoot and Jean Templeton help a studio audience of boys and girls participate in games and contests. And some lucky boy or girl somewhere in Canada will win the grand prize on this week's telequiz.

Don Messer Jubilee

With Don Messer and the Islanders, vocals by Marg Osburne and Charlie Chamberlain, and emcee Don Tremaine.

The Buchta Dancers will dance to Crooked Stove Pipe and Plaza Polka. Marg Osburne will sing Ask My Heart and Banjo Boy. Charlie Chamberlain will sing McNamara's Band and West of the Great Divide. Marg and Charlie will team up to sing Don't You Hear Them Bells. The orchestra will perform to Growling Old Man and Woman, Red Wing and Texas Quick Step.

Danny Thomas Show

"The Plant." A fan gives Danny Williams a potted plant which guest star Gale Gordon, who portrays the Williams' landlord, regards as so rare and valuable that he insists it get special treatment in Danny's apartment.

Jack Kane Show

Jack Kane, the Music Makers and Sylvia Murphy welcome musical comedy star Peter Palmer as guest. Guest choreographer will be Danny Daniels, former choreographer for the Steve Allen show. Palmer, 6 ft. 4 ins. and a former football star, was chosen to play the lead role in the Broadway production of Li'l Abner after he appeared on Ed Sullivan's G.I.

Marshal Matt Dillon (James Arness) and Kitty (Amanda Blake) are key characters in the popular western "Gunsmoke," a regular Monday feature on CBC television.

show. Li'l Abner ran on Broadway from November, 1956, to July, 1958, and Palmer was in the touring company that played at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto in December, 1958. He also played the title role in the movie version of the musical.

Festival '61

"Ring Round The Moon," a comedy by Jean Anouilh, translated by Christopher Fry, starring Leo Ciceri and Toby Robins. Anouilh's witty and delightful Cinderella story about a lovely young ballet dancer who goes to a ball under false pretences and outshines all the aristocratic guests. Hugo, handsome and dashing young man-about-town, arranges the plot hoping that Isabelle (the dancer) will break up the engagement of his twin brother, the diffident Frederic, to the beautiful but icy Diana. Before the evening is over, lives are entangled, a millionaire is ruined and Isabelle sheds tears of humiliation. But a happy ending is achieved — largely through the machinations of a sharp-tongued and wise old noblewoman, Mme. Desmormotes, the twins' aunt and hostess of the gala event at her great chateau.

PROGRAM NOTES

JANUARY 3

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Nursery School Time

Dick would like to be able to tell time, and Miss Madeleine gives him a basic lesson. She reads a book called "The Noisy Clock Shop."

The Verdict Is Yours

Unrehearsed courtroom drama series produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System. Judge and counsel

with his orchestra, George Gobel, Peggy Lee and Frankie Avalon, this famed musician will appear on the "Chevy Show."

are portrayed by professional lawyers; the parties to the case and the witnesses are played by actors and actresses. The jury, selected from the audience, gives its verdict at the completion of each case, most of which run one week (five programs). Newsman Bill Stout acts as courtroom reporter, supplying sidelights and background on each case.

Three's Company

Mrs. G. R. Rowe of Brandon joins Mary Liz Bayer, Bill Guest and Jose Poniera today to report on her recent travels. Mat Gauer goes all French with onion soup, herb butter and croutons and Jose selects appropriate musical diversions.

Maggie Muggins

Maggie and her meadow friends are going to put on a Nursery Rhyme Play. Fitzgerald is to be Little Boy Blue, and Grandmother Frog is Old Mother Hubbard. Rueben Rabbit is to be the rabbit skin in Bye Bye Bunting and he doesn't want to be skinned, so he runs away, and Violet Skunk doesn't want to play the Old Woman Who Lived In A Shoe and whips her children, so she runs away too. They finally realize that it is only pretend and come back. From Montreal, host Murray Westgate presents "This Living World," with Steve Bloomer: how animals spend the winter. Steve talks about beavers, squirrels, bees, butterflies, hares, bears and birds. From Toronto, Percy Saltzman with another report on space.

Chevy Show

"Headliners of 1961." With George Gobel, Percy Faith and his orchestra, special guest Peggy Lee, and extra added attraction Frankie Avalon.

Guest panelist for this program is Ed McGibbon, Toronto television personality. He joins regulars Toby Robins, Gordon Sinclair and Pierre Berton in attempting to identify news headlines. Host is Fred Davis. Jim Guthro, producer.

Red Skelton

Inscrutable San Fernando Red (Red Skelton) catches the crest of the American dieting craze and comes out with his own diet formula, "San Fernandocal." Guest star Mary Beth Hughes portrays Ruby, San Fernando's shapely assistant who helps him bilk a veritable herd of fat ladies with his concoction, which is nothing more than plain water. Also seen in this episode will be Barbara Morrison, as one of Red's hefty victims; Milton Frome and Jack Albertson, a pair of crooks who try to horn in on Red's good thing, and Morry Ankrum and Bill Baldwin, as a pair of federal agents who try—in vain—to keep Red honest.

Close-Up

Diana Maddox, CBC actress, interviews Harry Belafonte. They talk about his start, his social and political beliefs, his ambitions. He recalls his visit to Japan, and gives his views on riots there. Belafonte gives his opinion on America's racial problems, particularly from his standpoint as a well-known entertainer, and on the effect on the rest of the world of the attitude in the South.

Q For Quest

A new series of programs under the guidance of executive producer Ross McLean. Regular host is Andrew Allan. Title chosen from the dictionary definition of the noun "quest"—a journey in search of adventures, a

HARRY BELAFONTE

Diana Maddox, CBC actress, interviews Harry Belafonte Tuesday on "Close-Up." He recalls his visits to Japan and gives his views on riots there, and then gives his opinion on the U.S. racial problems, particularly from his standpoint as a well-known entertainer.

heroic expedition in search of a particular object. McLean admits that this program is largely experimental—"In a sense we are opening an orphanage and in it providing a refuge for the homeless idea and the displaced desire. It will be flexible and have infinite variety. It will present plays, dance, music, talk with the greatest ingenuity that Canada's finest minds can muster. It will be an outlet for writers, performers, composers, painters, poets, personalities to do what they want to do most and can do best. It is entirely free form exercise in the inventive use of television," says McLean. Today—"Burlap Bags," by Len Peterson. A disturbing modern play first heard on Andrew Allan's Stage 46 radio series. Two down-and-outers find a manuscript in the room of a man who has just committed suicide. The manuscript is enacted and turns out to be a way-out "autobiography" by the dead man who philosophizes on life around him and sees the world peopled by men and women who live in a blind daze, blind to everything—in fact, with burlap bags over their heads.

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Chez Helene

French for pre-schoolers, with Hélène Baillargeon and her assistants—Susie the mouse (Corinne Orr), Peter (Anthony Tremblay), and Marion. From Montreal.

Nursery School Time

Miss Teddy and Hoppy have a rhyming game to help the boys and girls practice counting. It's snowing out, and Hoppy is wearing a scarf. But instead of going outside, he and Miss Teddy make a snowman inside (out of Plasticine). Then they make a winter scene to go with the snowman.

Open House

Artist in the Kitchen. A touch of the right herb to certain dishes can turn them from everyday dishes into food to tempt a gourmet. Eustella Langdon brings her wide knowledge of the use of herbs in cooking when she appears in the Open House kitchen today.

The Diet Club. In keeping with the spirit of the New Year and the resolutions that go with it, Open House presents three Toronto women who've resolved to lose weight during the coming months. On this first program today, they'll discuss their individual problems and we'll learn about the kind of diet each one has been assigned to follow in her efforts to lose weight. Our three dieters will return to Open House once a month for the next few months to report on the progress they're making.

On The Map. Paul Fox of the Economics department of the University of Toronto is our News Commentator on Open House today.

On the program and behind the scenes are, left to right: V. "Des" Jakovac, TV technician; Helen Wood, script assistant; Gren Bates, producer; Moe Smith, lighting; W. J. Parker, president, Manitoba Pool Elevators; Harry Makin, cameraman; Miss Edith Shields, in charge of exhibits, and Lionel Moore, CBC Farm Supervisor for the Prairies.

Bar, and the Chevalier of the Legion of Honour. He was wounded so badly that his right leg had to be amputated. In 1921 he married Pauline Archer of Montreal, and today they have four sons and one daughter. On September, 15, 1959, he was appointed Governor-General of Canada.

Where History Was Made. Today—Chateau of the Governors. We take viewers to one of the oldest houses in Canada—the Chateau de Ramezay, built in 1705. Since Claude de Ramezay, for whom it was built, was Governor of Montreal for many years, the Chateau became the meeting place for all the leading citizens of the town and for such important visitors as the Governor and the Intendant of New France. In 1763, the British took over the Chateau as their headquarters. In 1775 when the colonies declared war on Britain the rebels captured Montreal and used the Chateau as their headquarters for a period of six months. In 1776, the Army of Congress moved south and the Chateau again became the headquarters for such British governors as Lord Sydenham, Lord Metcalfe, and Lord Elgin. This program will trace the history of the Chateau.

CBWT—Three's Company

Today—we welcome two gorgeous poodles with their friend Bob Kelpin, President of the Gateway Dog Training Association, in the first of a new series on dogs and dog training. Mary Liz and Bill Guest chat with Cynthia Coop and Stanislaw Wujec as they continue their interior design and costume series.

Junior Roundup

Friendly Giant. Rusty has a book in the book-bag called, "Is It Hard, Is It Easy?" Some things are easy for one person and hard for another. Playing the guitar is easy for Rusty but hard for Jerome. And dancing is easy for Jerome, but hard for Rusty.

From Winnipeg host Murray Westgate presents "The Outrider": songs and stories of the West, with Stu Phillips. Stu tells the story of "Maskepetoon," Canada's greatest chief, and shows how Maskepetoon earned the title of "Peacemaker." From Halifax, another Micmac "Indian Legend." From Toronto—Harry Freedman has another musical session. With a tuba, French horn, trumpet and trombone, musicians show how mutes are used.

Countrytime

Lionel Moore, Regional Supervisor, Farms and Fisheries Dept., for the Prairies will emcee this program when we visit the Manitoba Pool Elevators 13th Rural Folk Festival. Mr. Moore will interview W. J. Parker, President of the Manitoba Pool Elevators, Miss Ethel Shields, who is in charge of the exhibits, and Mrs. Holly Rattray one of the judges.

My Three Sons

"Domestic Trouble." When Bub is called out of town, Steve Douglas tries to hire a temporary housekeeper but mistakenly telephones the head of a marriage bureau.

First Person

"Man In Town," a drama by John Grey, starring Jack Creley, with Ivor

PROGRAM NOTES

JANUARY 5

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Chez Helene

French for pre-schoolers, with Hélène Baillargeon and her assistants—Susie the mouse (Corinne Orr), Peter (Anthony Tremblay), and Marion. From Montreal.

Nursery School Time

Miss Madeleine and Dick take down their Christmas decorations. They have fun making things out of play-dough and sing songs about winter.

The Verdict Is Yours

Unrehearsed courtroom drama series produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System. Judge and counsel are portrayed by professional lawyers; the parties to the case and the witnesses are played by actors and actresses. The jury, selected from the audience, gives its verdict at the completion of each case, most of which run one week (five programs). Newsmen Bill Stout acts as courtroom reporter, supplying sidelights and background on each case.

Three's Company

The company of three, namely Mary Liz Bayer, Bill Guest and pianist-singer Jose Poniera spend a pleasant half-hour with members of B'Nai B'Rith, who are guests on today's program. Jose has chosen some of his own favourite songs.

Junior Roundup

Uncle Chichimus. This is the first episode of a new series replacing "Just Mary." Today's episode, "It's in the Bag"—Chich is trying to win a telephone quiz prize of $1,000. A traveller tricks him into exchanging a bag containing the "secret of all knowledge" for Hollyhock's bazaar pie. The bag really contains a hive of bees, and Chich gets stung.

Host Murray Westgate presents a look at sound and what it means to enjoyment of the world, and what the world is like for children who can't hear. In the film, "The World of Silence," viewers visit a school for the deaf, where children learn to read lips, feel vibrations and speak. For those who can hear, some of the nicest sounds are the outdoor sounds of birds and animals. Dr. Gunn will tell how he does his recording, the problems involved, and will show birds and animals seen in Algonquin Park.

Roy Rogers

"Go For Your Guns." Dale's nephew has a bad case of hero-worship for a flashy gun-fighter. Roy sets out to expose the man for what he really is.

Stop, Look and Listen

Today—Dick Sutton, curator of the Manitoba Museum, returns to begin a new series titled "Looking at Wildlife." In his latest venture, Dick will bring a Natural History section to the program, all about Manitoba and prairie wildlife. Today he will deal with our winter birds. In "Science in the News," Jack Robbins will discuss and show examples of the simpler types of rockets presently in use for military purposes and low altitude scientific research. Geoff Spurl will show how to make things with wire coat hangers, such as a toast rack and newspaper and tool racks. As usual, host Warren Davis will wrap up the show by "Looking at Books"—a selection of good reading as selected by the Winnipeg Public Library. From Winnipeg. Don Browne-Wilkinson, producer.

CBWT—Father Knows Best

A domestic comedy series starring Robert Young and Jane Wyatt as Mr. and Mrs. Jim Anderson, and Elinor Donahue as their oldest child Betty.

Live A Borrowed Life

With Bill Walker, Elwy Yost and guest panelists. Charles Templeton is moderator.

Guest panelists on this program will be Diana Maddox, actress, and lawyer Royce Frith, with regulars Bill Walker and Elwy Yost. Moderator is Charles Templeton.

Klondike

Based on Pierre Berton's book, The Klondike Fever, this adventure series featuring Ralph Taeger as danger-loving Mike Halliday, James Coburn as the charming scoundrel Jeff Durain, Mari Blanchard as enterprising businesswoman Kathy O'Hara and Joi Lansing as Durain's sweetheart and accomplice, Goldie. The series tells of the discovery of gold in the Klondike River valley in 1897, which turned an uncharted Canadian wilderness into a magnet for fortune hunters and prospectors.

Tennessee Ernie Ford

With singer-comedian Ernie Ford, the Top Twenty singing group and special guests.

Today's program will be devoted to music about American song-heroes. Tennessee Ernie will sing Tom Dooley, and, with the Top Twenty, Davy Crockett. The Top Twenty girls only will sing Jesse James. The Top Twenty boys only will sing When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again.

TENNESSE ERNIE FORD

The unique folksy humour of Tennessee Ernie Ford sparks his regular show each Thursday on CBC television.

others who have been infrequently represented in conventional series ought to be more heard from in this one.

The program provides a forum for the virtuoso performance—the one-man show or recital.

The personal narrative, or "talk" as we know it in radio, has a place in the series. Sir Brian Horrocks proved how potent this form of television could be. I'm sure it can be well used on more peaceful subjects.

One of the real sources of pride for me as I embark on this Canadian Quest, is the prospect of a close association with Andrew Allan as the program's on-air host and off-air mentor. As I began my broadcasting career in Brantford as a 16-year-old announcer of unsettled baritone and unclear ambitions, the two radio craftsmen whose work I most admired were Frank Willis and Andrew Allan. It's been my privilege to form a professional relationship with first one and now the other of those two important producers.

PROGRAM NOTES

JANUARY 6

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Chez Hélène

French for pre-schoolers, with Hélène Baillargeon and her assistants—Susie the mouse (Corinne Orr), Peter (Anthony Tremblay), and Marion. From Montreal.

Nursery School Time

Miss Teddy ties suet to branches for the birds. She sings a song about birds too and Hoppy tells a story, "Tommy's Adventure."

Open House

The Folk Songs of Canada. Children's songs, courting songs, marriage songs, work songs for men and women—all these will be heard on Open House today in a program of folk music designed to start off the New Year in a relaxed and easy mood. The accent will be on Canadian folk music and the performers will be three young Canadian folk singers: Ian Tyson, Don Francks and Elan Stuart. The program will also feature two special guests who have made the folk music and folk lore of Canada their work as well as their hobby. Max Ferguson will talk to Marius Barbeau, 77-year-old Canadian anthropologist, folklorist, historian, author, poet and lecturer. Dr. Barbeau has delved deeply into the story of the Indian people, their legends and their culture. From material gathered at first hand, Dr. Barbeau has produced more than 700 books, essays and other articles. Another of Canada's leading authorities on folk songs is Edith Fowke who'll tell Open House viewers how she goes about collecting music. Mrs. Fowke has travelled from coast to coast searching for folk songs in out of the way places and some of these have been used by a number of professional singers such as The Travellers and Pete Seeger. Two of her books on the subject are "Folk Songs of Quebec" and "Folk Songs of Canada," and last fall, in collaboration with Alan Mills and Helmut Blume, she published "Canada's Story In Song."

The Verdict Is Yours

Unrehearsed courtroom drama series produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System. Judge and counsel are portrayed by professional lawyers; the parties to the case and the witnesses are played by actors and actresses. The jury, selected from the audience, gives its verdict at the completion of each case, most of which run one week (five programs). Newsman Bill Stout acts as courtroom reporter, supplying sidelights and background on each case.

CBWT—Three's Company

This afternoon, Bill Guest explores the mysteries of the telephone system with Mr. H. J. Harris of the Manitoba Telephone System. Gerdine Crawford and Mary Liz sew a fine seam, offering suggestions and patterns as one of our services to viewers.

Junior Roundup

Friendly Giant. Another visit to the giant castle on the hill, to see Rusty the Rooster and Jerome the Giraffe and Friendly. They read stories and sing songs.

From Vancouver, host Murray Westgate presents another episode of "Tidewater Tramp" and the adventures of the crew of the Flying Kestrel. This week: "Fire on the Docks." Peter and Gail wander around the Vancouver docks. When they sit down to eat their lunch, it disappears. The afternoon which began quietly, soon becomes an exciting adventure involving a fire on the docks. From Toronto—another addition of "Junior Roundup" News. There will also be more winners in the photography contest.

Fury

"The Renegade." Joey and Fury save a dog which a rancher wanted to kill, and conceal it from the rancher who believes the dog had been raiding his chicken shed. Then the chicken shed is raided again.

Bachelor Father

"Bentley the Gentleman Farmer." Kelly's botany class project is to grow a vegetable, but Kelly has little success because of the efforts of an ambitious gopher. Bentley becomes interested and plants quite a crop . . . then comes the problem of the gopher.

Perry Mason

"The Case of the Envious Editor." Mason defends the wife of a magazine editor when she is accused of slaying her husband's ruthless publisher. With James H. Coburn, Philip Abbott, and Barbara Lawrence.

Danger Man

"The Nurse." Drake meets a Scots nurse in the Arabian desert and is plunged into a strange adventure concerning a baby prince and murderous rebels.

Richard Boone stars as the gunfighter Paladin on "Have Gun, Will Travel," a favourite western show each Friday on CBC television.

Have Gun, Will Travel

"A Quiet Night In Town" (part one). Paladin is forced to watch as four men capture and lynch a half-Mexican sheep-herder wanted for murder in Wyoming.

CBWT—Men Into Space

Col. McCauley picks up three young lieutenants—pilot, copilot and navigator—as standby crew on the S107 rocket ship. They consider McCauley to be more interested in drills and lectures than in action until a runaway satellite races toward the Space Station and McCauley takes them on a suicide mission to intercept the satellite.

CBWT—Peter Gunn

"Pecos Pete." Peter Gunn (Craig Stevens) exchanges his sharply tailored suits for a 10-gallon hat and a set of cowboy duds when he goes western in "Pecos Pete." He is hired by Clay Baxter, a rich cattleman, to come to Texas to investigate the mysterious death of his brother, an expert horseman, who has been found in a desolate spot on Baxter's 40,000-acre ranch.

PROGRAM NOTES

JANUARY 7

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Cartoon Party

Leon the Lion introduces a half-hour of cartoons: Films: "Back to Back with Ack Ack" (Bozo the Clown)—Bozo and Butch are at the fair, and one of the amusement aeroplanes breaks. They go out to buy new parts and get involved in a real rocket plane. Another episode in the "Crusader Rabbit" series. "Mow Bile" (Bozo the Clown)—Bozo makes a do-it-yourself lawn mower which runs wild, and Bozo ends up in hospital. "Three Cheers for Rocketeers" (Bozo the Clown)—Bozo and Butch head for California when they see a space rocket. Escaping thieves make them fly the rocket, but the robbers are shot out and become planets.

Speaking French

With host and instructor Professor Jean-Paul Vinay and assistant, Montreal fashion model Phyllis Clapperton. Professor Vinay teaches high school students and children the art of speaking. (Please turn to page 33)

Late French Notes

Information not available in time for inclusion in last week's issue.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 25 (Christmas Day)

- 7:00—A special program titled "Chez Miville en voyage" replaces "Papa a raison." This is a filmed resume of the team's visit to different parts of France in preparation for a series of programs on the CBC French Radio Network. Miville Couture, host and principal star, presents impersonations of different "characters" including Henry McCarthy, a wealthy, cigar-smoking American, and Lord Hi-Fidelity, a curt British gentleman.
- 12:15—Reportage—announced last week for 11:30—now will be seen after midnight because of the duration of the preceding "Christmas Concert" starting at 10:30.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30

- 7:00—A special Christmas program of "Pile ou Face" will be seen instead of the regular "Idees en marche."

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31

- 11:00—The "Long Metrage" titled "L'Etrange desir de M. Bard" will be replaced by two programs. The first is "Monsieur Boum" from the series Defi au danger. The second is a special New Year's Eve program that will run into the new year with wishes and reports from all over the country. Starting at 11:30, this special program of "Au p'tit cafe" will star Norman Hudon, Dominique Michel and Pierre Theriault, the regular hosts, along with groups of singers and musicians.

New Year Specials On CBWFT

Sunday, January 1—8:00 p.m.

"The Story of a Sad King" will be the theme of a special New Year program to be seen January 1st at 8:00 p.m. on CBWFT.

"Rrron . . . rrron . . . rrron . . . who is this day-dreamer who snores so loudly? Is it Brother James or the Miller? No, this man who sleeps like a log, has a name that smells of pine scent and fresh-fallen snow, that has the ring of a familiar song. He is "Monsieur Noel." Please . . . do not wake him with your shouts and laughter because he is dreaming a magical dream which all of us will share, providing of course each and every one is quiet and well-behaved . . ."

So goes the beginning of this enchanting program for children and adults alike: "Le Reve de Monsieur Noel," which will feature along with Monsieur Noel, such popular and fantastic characters as Maboule (alias King Pablum Ist), and a host of others picked out at random from the files of "La Boite a Surprises" a daily feature for children.

Monsieur Noel (Guy Mauffette) will have the surprise of his life in finding all his familiar friends transformed, in particular, Maboule, who for this festive occasion becomes Pab-

Churchill in America

A ONE-MAN ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION

THE JAUNTY John Bull figure of Sir Winston Churchill is so familiar that often the North American aspects of his life and career are neglected.

Churchill, however, summed up his feeling about himself in relation to this continent when he said to Adlai Stevenson during a luncheon at Chequers July 29, 1953:

"My mother was American and my ancestors were officers in Washington's army. So I am myself an English-speaking union."

Actually, Churchill made a score of trips to North America between 1895 and 1959 and many of his famous speeches and some humorous incidents occurred during those visits.

Some memorable moments in Churchill's trips to North America will be recaptured in a one-hour radio program, Churchill in America, to be heard on the CBC Trans-Canada network Sunday, January 1.

The program was researched and written by Robin Woods, supervisor of CBC programs archives, and produced by Murray Edwards. In gathering the material, Woods came across many items which had not been published or broadcast previously.

Included in the recordings, says Woods, are many of Churchill's own American and Canadian addresses; the speeches and tributes of his friends and colleagues—Franklin Roosevelt, President Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman, Bernard Baruch, Mackenzie King and Louis St. Laurent. Several will be used in the program.

Some material from the BBC archives and some specially recorded interviews also are included in Churchill in America.

During his probing, Woods uncovered several humorous incidents involving Churchill in his visits and tours of North America.

For example, Churchill went on strike in Toronto while on a lecture tour in 1900. Lecturing about the Boer War, he received headline treatment in the Toronto papers when it was rumoured that he would not continue his lectures unless his fees were doubled. It was said that he was receiving $250 for a lecture which drew 5,000 Torontonians who paid between 75 cents and $1.50 to hear him. Apparently a more equitable arrangement was made because he finished his Canadian tour.

The reason for the tour was to help finance his career in politics, or as Woods writes in the script:

"In 1895 Churchill came to America a poor man in search of fame. He returned in 1900 a famous man in search of money."

Another incident occurred in 1941 when Churchill visited the White House in Washington on official business. During his stay, Churchill and President Roosevelt became accustomed to wandering in and out of each other's rooms. On one occasion when Roosevelt wheeled himself into his visitor's room, he was surprised to find Churchill standing stark naked.

Upon excusing himself, Roosevelt received this answer: "It's quite all right. The prime minister of Great Britain has nothing to hide from the president of the United States."

While addressing the American Congress in 1941, Churchill drew a great ovation with the following statement: "If my father had been American—my mother British—instead of the other way around, I might have got here on my own."

Some excerpts from famous speeches made by Churchill in North America:

"When I warned (the French) that Britain would fight on alone whatever they did, their generals told their prime minister and his divided cabinet, 'In three weeks England will have her neck wrung like a chicken.' Some chicken; some neck." (Canadian Senate and House of Commons, Ottawa, December, 1941.)

"I feel on both sides of the Atlantic. . . . In my mother's birth city of Rochester, I hold a latchkey to American hearts." (Rochester, N.Y., June, 1942.)

"From Stettin, in the Baltic, to Trieste, in the Adriatic, an iron curtain has descended across the continent. . . ." (Fulton, Missouri, March, 1946.)

"The two world wars of the terrible twentieth century have turned the economic balance of power from the old world to the new. It is certain that Europe could not have survived without the moral and the material help which has flowed across the ocean from Canada and the United States." (Ottawa, January, 1952.)

Types of English

The CBC's department of Broadcast Language suggests that the following types of cultivated English can be distinguished: Southern English (standard English or public school, most used by educated people); standard English of Scotland; Northern English; Eastern American; Southern American; Western (or general) American, resembling Northern English, and common in Canada; standard English spoken by educated Irishmen. Certain peculiarly Australian and South African pronunciations are also mentioned.

later this year the emphasis again will be on local news in newscasts prepared by the Edmonton newsroom. National and International news, of course, will continue to be emphasized in the National News bulletin each evening from Toronto.

Faster transmission of film has helped to increase the importance of television news. By using the CBC's microwave network facilities the news service is able to bring viewers from coast to coast same day coverage of major news events.

For example, just recently the disastrous collision of two airliners over New York City was graphically covered on film and seen all over Canada just a few hours after it happened. A few years ago we would have had to wait two or maybe three days before we could show such film in such places as Winnipeg or Vancouver.

Still we have not run out of challenges. Radio must still fight the clock every day, using its flexibility to get out the news with all speed consistent with accuracy, to spread further its contacts across Canada and the world for eyewitness reporting.

Television is still working on further speeding film coverage by microwave, closed circuit, slow scan or cable-film process, or by judicious use of video-tape.

It's very difficult to predict what the next two decades will bring. Perhaps cross-ocean live television will be a matter of routine, with live press conferences by Mr. Khrushchev (or his successor) brought to viewers instantaneously all over the world. Or maybe a royal wedding in the Middle East, or an important religious function in Rome will be brought into Canadian homes as easily as we now see the exploits of the local football team.

The possibilities are limitless. But there's one thing the listener and viewer will always be sure of—the CBC news service will be at the forefront of better and faster methods of reporting world and local news.

Canada's Walt Whitman

Oozing Canadianism, Bruce Hutchison has been dismissed by critics as "that professional Canadian." But he truly knows Canada and its people, and he has had a remarkable career. Project '61 will outline this extraordinary man and his life on Sunday

IF THERE is a Canadian edition of Walt Whitman, it is probably Bruce Hutchison. In half-a-dozen books, numerous magazine articles and as a newspaper editor he has been a perceptive, enthusiastic champion of the Canadian scene, explaining Canada's history and people to us and the rest of the world for three or four decades.

His critics dismiss him as "that professional Canadian." But he has certainly managed more than any other Canadian, to give us a sense of our own identity. He knows us through and through. But most of us are pretty much in the dark about him.

Though he is a warm, friendly man when you track him down, he has the reputation of being a very private sort of person, even a recluse. Recently Project '61 went exploring in the world of Bruce Hutchison and picked up some fascinating glimpses of the many facets of this extraordinary man and his career — from Hutchison himself, and from others who know him as a friend, critic and worthy opponent. They will be presented Sunday afternoon on CBC radio.

The program is based on an interview producer Jed Adams had with Hutchison last summer.

When he was in Vancouver on another assignment, Adams suddenly decided he would like to meet Hutchison, so he rang him in Victoria and Hutchison said come on over. They talked for nearly an hour in a Victoria radio studio and Adams discovered that Hutchison is not nearly as privately isolated as he is made out to be. Early in December, Vancouver broadcaster Jack Webster visited Hutchison for further information.

Then Peter Stursberg interviewed four people who know Hutchison well: Grant Dexter, Editor emeritus of the Winnipeg Free Press and a lifelong colleague; John

PROGRAM NOTES

POSTMARK U.K.

"Glasgow," a sprawling, noisy, friendly city in Scotland on the banks of three rivers, the Clyde, the Kelvin and the Carp, and built on seven hills is the home of many varied industries, ranging from ships, through heavy and light engineering to textiles, knitwear, shoes and nuts and bolts to screw things together with. Its people are friendly and gregarious and adore its vaudeville theatres — while vaudeville shows are fast dying out elsewhere. John Lindsay interviews a midwife, an architect, and a divinity student in order to give you a short sound picture of Glasgow's inhabitants.

MATINEE HIGHLIGHTS

New Year's Day With Mr. Pepys. Gilbert Highet dips into the diary of Samuel Pepys and talks about some of the entries made in the diary on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day each year. Samuel Pepys started his diary in 1659 and kept it up for ten years. Gilbert Highet is Professor of Greek and Latin Languages at Columbia University, and well known as broadcaster, teacher, critic and author. He was born in Scotland and has lived in the United States since 1937. Professor Highet's latest book, his tenth, is "Powers of Poetry." (Repeated from Trans - Canada Matinee—30/12/60).

Dawson City. Klondike Nights in Dawson City are recaptured by Lynn Harrington who talks with, among others, an 87-year-old man who recalls the old days of the sternwheelers and the Palace Grand. Athol Retallack tells Mrs. Harrington about the plans for a gold rush festival in Dawson, starting in 1962, and how Dawson City has just discovered the tourist industry. Lynn Harrington is a Canadian freelance newspaperwoman who has travelled widely with her husband, Richard, a well-known photographer. (Repeated from Trans-Canada Matinee—7/12/60).

Ron Ely Signed As New Star of "The Aquanauts"

Ron Ely will star in the new role of Mike Madison in the Ziv-U.A., Inc. produced series, "The Aquanauts" presented on the CBC Television Network Saturday nights at 7:00-8:00 p.m. CST.

Simultaneously, it was announced that Ely has been signed to an exclusive contract with the CBS Television Network.

Jeremy Slate will continue to enact the role of Larry Lahr in "The Aquanauts."

Ely, a relative newcomer to Hollywood, has compiled a long list of television credits, including "Playhouse 90" and "Father Knows Best." He formerly was under contract to 20th Century-Fox and appeared in such films as "South Pacific" and "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker."

Keith Larsen, who has played Drake Andrews in "The Aquanauts," since its debut this fall, requested and was granted his release from the series, upon his physician's advice, last week.

Something for Everyone

In its programming plans — radio and television—the CBC has always proceeded on the assumption that each listener, each viewer, is an individual whose likes, dislikes, tastes and needs are seldom identical with those of his family, or his neighbour. There may be similarities, but there are also many differences.—CBC President Alphonse Ouimet, in a statement to the Board of Broadcast Governors.

Winston Churchill

"The Raven's Remain." July, 1940. The Luftwaffe commences the blitz. Churchill's appearances during the height of the bombings is an example to the British people—a symbol of national resistance.

Explorations

"The Face of Labour." In a series of four half-hour programs, Explorations talks to leaders and members of the Canadian labour movement. Each participant in the series is interviewed separately by William Kilbourn of the Department of History, McMaster University. Dr. Kilbourn is the author of a recently completed history of the Steel Company of Canada, called "The Elements Combined." Today—"The Present." This first program deals with the position of the labour movement today and with the climate of opinion towards labour. Labour leaders are asked by Dr. Kilbourn why public opinion has become less sympathetic towards labour in the last few years, why there seems to be a growing apathy among the rank and file members of the movement, and why only one-quarter of the work force has enrolled in unions. Taking part are: Claude Jodoin—President, Canadian Labour Congress; George Burt, Canadian Director, United Autoworkers; Larry Sefton, Director, District 6, United Steelworkers, and Huguette Plamondon, Quebec Representative, United Packinghouse Workers.

Stevenson, formerly Ottawa correspondent for the London Times; Michael Barkway, Ottawa bureau chief for the Toronto Star; John Pickersgill, Liberal M.P. for Bonaventure, Twillingsgate, Newfoundland, and a former Cabinet Minister who was closely associated with Hutchison during the W. L. Mackenzie King regime.

Discussing Hutchison's anti-USA feeling, Barkway described it as "a very characteristic view with an underlying dislike overlaid by a deliberate determination to be polite and good neighbours. Few Canadians express it so well as he."

Dexter feels that Hutchison's chief virtue is "his clarity of mind. It is like a searchlight. His second virtue is that he judges public action by his own private standards."

About the other side of the coin, Hutchison's faults, Dexter noted that "he doesn't verify his references and he strains too much for the dramatic."

What will history have to say of him? Barkway is saddened by a feeling that history will be unable to capture Hutchison's vitality and enthusiasm. "I fear a vision of a desiccated Hutchison, and there is nobody less desiccated."

And what does Hutchison have to say about what history will think of him?

Nothing.

Says Adams: "Bruce is unusual insofar as he comments on the Canadian scene so knowledgeably from his lonely outpost in Victoria, and because over the years he has developed such valuable sources of information that his pipeline rarely runs dry, and rare is the end result far from the facts.

"In this Project '61 hour he will talk about the press and its responsibilities, politics as he knows it, books and himself. We will likely round off the program with readings from his writings on the Canadian scene and character," which include such Longmans, Green and Company books as Canada: Tomorrow's Giant, The Struggle for the Border, The Unknown Country—Canada and Her People, The Incredible Canadian, The Fraser and Canada's Lonely Neighbour.

Narrator and writer on the show is Douglas Leiterman of the CBC, a former member of the Ottawa Press Gallery and correspondent for the Southam newspaper chain. As such he was in direct competition with Hutchison, whose writing appeared in the Sifton newspaper chain in western Canada. But Leiterman has been a lifelong admirer and friend of Hutchison, has visited him at his Victoria home and at his summer cottage on a lonely lake 20 miles north of the city.

Pakistani Customs. On the North-West frontier of Pakistan at the Warsak Dam project, Canadian Colombo Plan families live side by side with Pakistanis and a lively interchange socially is just one of the happy results. When she visited the project, Muriel Ross of Ottawa talked to the Kureschis, a modern family by Pakistani standards, since many of the women there are still in Purdah.

The Hired Man. Kerry Wood tells of a rather unusual hired man, with an artificial leg, who helped "Mrs. X" to carry on farming when her husband went overseas with the Canadian Army during the war. Kerry Wood, who lives in Red Deer, Alberta, is a professional writer and naturalist, and a popular Prairie broadcaster.

Consumer Broadcast. Jean Morrison talks with Canada's champion skier, Anne Hegtveit, about ski fashions. Mrs. Morrison is Matinee's regular consumer broadcaster and the mother of three children.

Radio Still Vital

Radio and Mark Twain have much in Common—the first reports of their deaths were greatly exaggerated . . . Radio . . . shows few signs of departing the scene, despite what appears to be senile decay or second childhood in some areas. Fortunately, this is offset by vigorous maturity in other areas.—CBC President Alphonse Ouimet, in a statement to the Board of Broadcast Governors.

FRENCH TV NOTES

lum the First, King of the day. Unfortunately for all, Pablum is not a good king. He is a tyrant, a glutton and speaks in a stentorian sort of way. And his pot-bellied figure is a much-feared one in all the Kingdom.

But today, Pablum is bored stiff! And according to him, everyone else should be happy, especially since they will have the privilege of humouring him. First come Stanialas and Théodule, the King's fools, whose antics serve only to aggravate the King's weariness. But Pablum 1st doesn't even crack a smile.

Michel the magician is next in line to humour the King. By some extraordinary magic trick, he will send Le Courier du Roy (The King's Messenger—a regular feature) to the world of nowhere! Yet a very faint smile from Pablum is his only reward!

Piccolo and Picoline join the array to present their version of a couple of travelling musicians. How dreary, thinks the King! Finally, a poet-troubadour singing a Christmas carol, a group of six mimics doing "Le Roi Dabogert" and even Bim and Sol's formidable banquet table leave the King completely undisturbed.

Alas! the King is about to get very angry . . . when one of the Magi makes his entrance. He has, says he, a very important message but he will not say a word until Pablum has made formal excuses and asked forgiveness from the Court. And when the King does, a solemn procession sets out toward Bethlehem to salute the Infant Jesus while all around a joyous group of Angels sing

*"The Kings have set out all decked in gold
On an unknown road, toward secrets untold
Their guide: a Star, so shiny and bright
A lonely figure in the darkest night."*

"Le Rêve de Monsieur Noel" will be produced by Claude Caron. Paul Buissonneau has written the texts and all the songs except one: "Le Roi Dagobert," an old French folk song. Herbert Ruff composed the original music and will conduct the orchestra.

CBC Montreal production.

Other Highlights for CBWFT—Jan. 1

At 3:00 p.m., a film entitled "La nuit merveilleuse" will star Fernadel and Charles Vanel. It is the story of a young refugee and his wife, who ask for shelter in a small village of Provence. All doors are closed, so it seems, except one . . . that of an aged couple of peasants who give them lodging.

It is Christmas Eve, and everyone in the village prepares for an evening of rejoicing. The young woman gives birth to her child and only then, do the people of the village realize that hundreds of years ago a similar story was told . . . in Bethlehem.

Madeleine Robinson stars as the young woman, with Fernandel and Charles Vanel.

At 5:30—His Excellency the Governor General of Canada Georges Vanier and the President of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Mr. J. Alphonse Ouimet, will present their season's greetings to the viewers.

At 10:30—"La Paix," a special report, will draw a parallel between war and peace. A group of teenagers will be interviewed for their views on the cold war and such danger spots as Algeria, the Congo and Cuba, while elder people will be asked to draw a comparison between the world situation in 1918 and today. Jean-Paul Nolet will host the program with Andrée Lachapelle and Robert Gadouas as commentators.

Note: For one occasion only, "Music-Hall" will be presented at 9:30 p.m. on January 1, to permit the presentation of "Le Rêve de Monsieur Noel" at a suitable time for the children.

At The United Nations. Kathleen Teltsch, United Nations correspondent for the New York Time, gives her weekly report on activities at the U.N.

Arthur Phelps. Arthur Phelps, a favourite with Matinee listeners, is in his regular monthly spot on the program today.

A Help For Childbirth. A machine to cut down the time and pain in labour has been devised by Dr. Louis Quinn, chief of staff of the Obstetrical and Gynaecological Department at St. Mary's Hospital in Montreal, and Dr. Robert McKeown, obstetrician and gynaecologist also on the staff of St. Mary's. Montreal freelance broadcaster Kati Vita talks with the doctors, and asks them to describe how it works and what the results of their tests have been.

Who Listens to Radio?

Radio draws its audience from many sources. There are about 3,500,000 Canadians who do not have television . . . There is a daily audience of hundreds of thousands of housewives . . . At any given time of day there must be several hundred thousand car radios tuned in (and) we should not discount the amount of radio listening that goes on in television homes . . . There are those who turn off their television and turn on their radios when TV fails to meet their tastes or needs.—CBC President Alphonse Ouimet, in a statement to the Board of Broadcast Governors.

IS OUR TREATMENT OF CONVICTS

“Still in the Dark Ages?”

Playwright Len Peterson, champion of the “little guy,” has well-defined views on our treatment of convicts and ex-convicts. These views have been expounded in such plays as “The Long Road Back,” seen on “G.M. Presents” in mid-December PLAYWRIGHT LEN PETERSON has the knack for probing deep into the heart of the “little guy,” and picturing his hopes and fears with great understanding.

In a book-lined workroom at the back of his house, overlooking a 450-foot-deep garden, he has literally hundreds of case histories of people with problems of all types and sizes. In more than two decades as one of Canada's leading playwrights, he has researched for dozens of dramas and documentaries about human relations, some for well-known, prize-winning radio series like In Search of Ourselves, others for single radio and television dramas.

Because he never discards any of the information he collects, he has an almost unlimited supply of authentic pictures of the best and the worst in Canadian life stories. His bulging file cases are proof that truth is much stranger and more powerful than any fiction.

For a long time he has been interested in the dilemma of prisoners, both in confinement and after release, and recently he got an idea for a play about a youngish man on parole after a long prison term. The CBC liked his outline and he went off to Kingston Penitentiary to talk with prison officials and inmates. Later he had long discussions with rehabilitated convicts. They all talked freely about the special problems and fears of the released prisoner.

From their conversations Peterson evolved an imaginary man of about 32, Jeff Rollins, a composite of all the ex-prisoners who have tried to win acceptance in the outside world. A play based on him, called The Long Road Back, was seen on CBC-TV's General Motors Presents, Sunday, December 11, with production by Mel Breen.

Peterson is disgusted with our society's attitude to convicts. He admits that it is a lot better than it used to be, but feels that “we're still in the Dark Ages. Most of the people in our prisons haven't much education, so in a sense our whole system is designed to punish the uneducated, maladjusted, and stupid. The rest of us are clever or well-adjusted enough to manipulate things so we don't get this punishment.

“We all have evil streaks in us, and guilty consciences, and our treatment of people outside the law provides us with something to salve our own uncertainties and discomfort. Gives us a target outside ourselves, a scapegoat.”

He deplores the isolation of prisoners in locked cells with no contact with the opposite sex. “It's enough to drive a man insane—yet he's supposed to act completely rationally when he gets out. I'm all for allowing prisoners to spend time with wives or girl friends.”

Peterson feels that prisons are at a disadvantage in hiring people. Because they pay low wages they cannot attract specially-trained staff. “This,” he says, “is poor economics because prison employees, no matter of what rank, have some contact with prisoners, and can in a sense influence them. And with a helpful influence constantly close at hand, a prisoner's chances of happy rehabilitation are infinitely better.”

We asked Peterson whether it was any easier for a writer to make a living in Canada than it was, say, 10 years ago. “A little in some fields,” he said. “TV has made a big difference, but there is less market for short magazine stories. There is some slight hope in the theatre, but it is still not possible to make any real living out of it, except at great sacrifice. The sale of novels has increased slightly, but it's still an uncertain trade.”

He tells us he gets “the impression that everyone in TV is a little restless with what they are producing—actors, directors, writers—so there's an atmosphere of question and self-criticism. It's a good sign. I hope it will result in an improvement of television fare.”

Gala de la chanson Canadienne: Through the combined efforts of radio, television and the International Service of the CBC, Canada will participate in January in an international song writing contest limited to French-speaking countries. Canadians will enter along with contestants from France, Belgium and Switzerland. The Canadian phase of the contest will start in January 1961, on radio. It will consist of ten broadcasts to be followed by a special performance on the French network on the day after the gala broadcast organized by the television services of Switzerland, Belgium and France. The grand prize is $2,000. In Canada, prizes of $1,200, $800, $500, $300, $200 and $100 will be given to six successful song writers.

*Favourite recipes from a favourite show seen on CBC television Tuesday and Thursday
CBWT Monday to Friday*

Compiled by MRS. A. R. "MAT" GAUER

with THREE'S COMPANY

MAT'S BROCCOLI RING

Cook 2 packages of frozen or fresh broccoli. Requires about 10 minutes cooking in boiling salted water. Chop broccoli.

Beat 3 eggs and add ½ cup soft bread crumbs, 1 tbsp. grated onion, salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate and nutmeg to taste. Place in buttered ring mold. Place into pan of water. Bake at 350 degrees from 30 to 35 minutes or until set. Serve with Hollandaise Sauce.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

- ½ cup butter
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 to 3 egg yolks
- ½ cup boiling water

Cream butter and egg yolks. Add lemon juice. Pour in boiling water and cook over hot water for about 5 minutes. This must be made just before serving time.

STUFFED TOMATOES

Have one ripe but firm tomato for each guest. Cut off about ¼ of the top and scoop out insides leaving a wall about ½ inch thick. Mix equal amount of cracker crumbs and scooped out tomato, ½ tsp. minced onion, ¼ tsp. crushed garlic, sauteed mushrooms, salt and pepper to taste. Stuff tomatoes. Set into baking dish and top with butter. Bake uncovered in a 375-degree oven from 30 to 35 minutes.

FROM OUR MAILBAG

Points West Proves Popular

• The program Points West, with its salute to Book Week, the story of discoveries in the field of archaeology and the two anecdotes by Kerry Wood was charming.

This letter is meant to say "thank you" for this program, and many others that are brought to us by CBC radio and television.—N. J. P., Calgary.

• CBC's program "Points West" of Nov. 20, 1960 proved very interesting. The story of the Hudson's Bay Co. boat was written by a lady in B.C. May I have a copy of the text of this program.—Miss M. D., Edmonton.

Not a Western Fan

• Must we have all these so-called western programs? For that matter, why must we in the West be blamed for them? I know of several that I'd like to see abolished, and they originate in the east.—E. O. H., Saskatoon.

• • •

Westerner Likes Westerns

• In reply to letters in the "Mailbag" column of Nov. 27 to Dec. 3, I am sure that all red-blooded people with TV sets watch western shows with interest and wish there were more.—C. H. K. G., Rolling Hills, Alta.

• • •

State Department Garbles News

• I found your half-hour program on Cuba (Nov. 27) most worthwhile. But how in the name of integrity can you go back to State Department-garbled "news"? If the CBC is self-sufficient to the extent of having reporters in areas of vital concern, why not let us have their news rather than information which is moulded for political purposes?—D. K. D., Donalda, Alta.

Understanding for Indians

• Orchids to the CBC for the Close-Up program on our Indian friends. There is little wrong with the Indian that sympathy and understanding won't cure. Given these, together with an education and some place to use it other than on a pick and shovel handle, our original Canadian will take his place in society.—H. S. M. K., Prince Albert, Sask.

• • •

Indian's Opinion Of "Pale-Face" Program

• Reference is made to your "Close-Up" program of Nov. 29, about the Canadian Indian.

One would understand the reason for some opinions about the Indians in Canada, expressed by the "pale-face" who worked for or with the Indians and has a knowledge of the complex Indian problem in this country.

However, it is hard to understand why the CBC, or the Welfare Council of Winnipeg, invited a representative of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews to express his opinion of the "Indian-ego." Does this mean the problem of the Jews in Canada is identified with the integration process of Indian Canadians?

By far, Rev. Ian Harvey's understanding and knowledge was superior to all other theories expressed by Manitoba experts on Indian affairs.—An Indian.
