Trans-Canada Matinee

• Presumably your program is directed mainly at and for women, but I am sure many men like myself across the country listen to Trans-Canada Matinee (Monday-Friday, CBC Radio) whenever able, and derive a considerable degree of pleasure from so doing. . . .

I think that the CBC does a wonderful job for Canada and I shudder to contemplate the barren desert of the Canadian "ether" without it.

—R.A.W., Vancouver.

• Yours is a most interesting radio show, not only for the ladies in your audience but the men also. Long may it flourish.

—V.S., Quebec.

Playdate—Sick, Sick, Sick?

• Having forced myself to watch Playdate, The Typists (CBC-TV, November 18), I feel that I must write and tell you what I think of it. Never have I seen such drivel and idiotic senselessness. What are the taxpayers of Canada paying for? Slop? Any programs that are fit to be called amusement are taken off and replaced with trash. The only ones that can be enjoyed by a lot of people are the children's cartoons, and the odd American import and Don Messer (Mondays, CBC-TV).

Another complaint among 90 per cent of television viewers is the blaring, stupid background music. This music is necessary in both TV and movies but should be only loud enough to entertain and not to overwhelm. The programs you present make me sick. Sick, Sick, Sick. Hoping that they will someday improve.

—D.B.H., Solsgirth, Man.

Winnipeg Pops Concert

• We spent a most frustrating evening, October 30 last. Quite often our CBC Times does not arrive until part of the week for which it is issued is past. The issue for that week had just arrived on that date, and we noted with considerable pleasure that Winnipeg soprano Nona Mari was scheduled to sing that evening with the Winnipeg Pops ensemble (Wednesdays, CBC Radio). We looked forward to it all day but when the hour arrived CBW suddenly got crowded out of our dial by some strong neighbouring stations on adjacent frequencies, and all we managed to salvage was a few brief seconds now and then until the program was over. . . .

So we shall have to wait until this personable young lady is scheduled again with her appealing soprano voice. We hope it will be soon and often thereafter.

We have been enjoying your programs immensely for nearly two years, not to mention reading your CBC Times and its many fine feature articles. . . .

—J.F.B., Henry, Ill.

Two Beefs and a Bouquet

• We enjoy some of your programs, but when the shows Festival (Wednesdays, CBC-TV) and Playdate (Mondays, CBC-TV) come on, we could and do shut off the TV. These programs aren't worth watching.

We enjoy the westerns and especially Music Hop (Thursdays, CBC-TV).

—Mrs. E.W., Redvers, Sask.

Debbie Drake

• A word of appreciation for the Debbie Drake Show (Monday-Friday, CBWT and CBXT). Hope you find it possible to run the series permanently even if it repeats. I have half-a-dozen friends exercising along with Debbie! What I can't understand is why my husband, who works nights, also enjoys the show. He has never shown such interest in my waist-line before !!!

—Mrs. I.M., Winnipeg.

Front Page Challenge

• For the past year or so I have been disappointed with Front Page Challenge (Tuesdays, CBC-TV) which of late has been turning more and more into some sort of inquisition program, which could only serve to embarrass and confuse the challengers. Instead of three challengers as in the past there is now only time for two. . . .

CBC TIMES

Christmas, 1963

Our full-colour cover from a transparency by Malak of Ottawa, draws attention to the special Christmas programming on CBC Radio and Television.

C. F. GREENE, CBC's Neighbourly News Editor for the Prairies, died December 5 at his home in Winnipeg, at the age of 74.

Ken Black, prairie regional supervisor of public affairs for the CBC, has prepared the following tribute to Mr. Greene, heard on the December 8 broadcast of Neighbourly News. It was read by C. E. L'Ami, founder of the CBC Times and former supervisor of information services for the CBC prairie region, now retired. (Mr. L'Ami will act as Neighbourly News editor until a firm decision is made on a permanent successor to Mr. Greene.)

"For 17 years, Mr. Greene had gone about the task of compiling interesting, amusing, and significant items from the weekly newspapers of western Canada . . . then forming them into an entertaining distillation of homespun events and happenings for his broadcast each Sunday.

"The things he talked about weren't concerned with momentous affairs of state or the great crises of our times. They weren't meant to be. The things he talked about were firmly based in the plain and homely affairs of everyday life in rural communities . . . in the durable down-to-earth round of events that give character and colour and meaning to the prairie scene . . . things that had their roots in crops and small-town life and the changing seasons. That, of course, was what the program was for and about."

"The Neighbourly News program had its beginnings in Ontario, in 1940, when the CBC inaugurated the first of these weekly broadcasts. Soon each CBC region had its own program. On the prairies, it began in 1941, with R. D. Colquette, the editor of the Country Guide, as its first editor. Then in 1946, Mr. Colquette moved to the Maritimes, and Mr. Greene succeeded him.

"Over the years, C. F. Greene's highly personal style of broadcasting, his friendly chuckle, his sincerity, and his genuine interest in prairie people and their everyday life won him a wide circle of loyal listeners.

"He forged a close bond with the editors of the weekly newspapers on the prairies, hob-nobbing with them at their conventions and gatherings, always enjoying the chance of renewing friendships, many that had come to him as a result of his weekly broadcasts.

"In Winnipeg, where he made his home, Mr. Greene was a well-known figure. For many, many years he took an active part in civic and community life. In the 'thirties, he had edited a weekly newspaper of his own, and until the time of his death, he had been engaged in a wide range of public relations work.

"The weekly Neighbourly News broadcast took up a lot of his time—there are some 240 weeklies in the three prairie provinces, and putting together the material from them each week was no easy task.

"But it was something Mr. Greene enjoyed, in some ways a labour of love. For Mr. Greene himself was neighbourly, a friendly man, invariably gay, an easy person to know.

"In fact, it seems odd referring to him as C. F. Greene . . . because to his friends and associates—even those many years his junior—he was always 'Slim': a nick-name that needed no explanation for anyone who knew his tall, lean figure.

"In the past few years, Mr. Greene had been in poor health. Probably few of his listeners were aware that he went on preparing and delivering his weekly broadcast under a growing burden of physical pain and disability.

"But it was characteristic of him that he went on week after week, despite his increasing handicaps, and that he did so with courage and buoyant cheerfulness to the end.

"And it was also characteristic of Slim Greene that to the end, his customary farewell to his listeners at the conclusion of each program never changed in form or in the warmth with which it was said:

"'Good morning, neighbours, and keep smiling.'"

C. F. "Slim" Greene, at the job he liked best.

THE ROARIN' GAME

CBC Television's
CROSS-CANADA CURLING
makes its seasonal debut Saturday, December 21.
Don Wittman, left, is host for ten weeks of the world's finest curling.

CBC TELEVISION'S Cross Canada Curling series returns Saturday, December 21, for its third consecutive year as part of the World of Sport. The hour-long programs will be seen Saturday afternoons at 3:00 p.m. for the next 10 weeks. In addition, there will be two curling specials in the same time period on February 29 and March 7, featuring the championship rinks from Scotland and the U.S.

As in past years, rinks competing in the Cross Canada Curling series will be those which represented their respective provinces in last year's Canadian Curling Championships. There are 11 rinks in all, two from Ontario and one from each of the other provinces.

Each program will consist of videotaped highlights of a 10-end sudden-death game, and at least some portion of each end will be shown to maintain continuity throughout the telecast. In the first program the Ontario foursome, skipped by Bob Mann, will meet the Richardsons of Regina, under skip Ernie Richardson, winners of last year's Scotch Cup (emblematic of world supremacy in curling), Canadian Championships, and Cross Canada Curling series.

All matches will be televised from Rossmere Curling Club in Winnipeg, and will be described by Don Wittman. This represents a change from former years, when inter-provincial matches were played in different regions across the country. Winnipeg was chosen for this season's matches because of its central location and the fact that interest in curling runs high in that city.

Program organizer Bob McLaughlin and producer George Kent have organized their technical set-up to obtain maximum unobstructed coverage of the games. In addition to cameras shooting from ice level, two cameras will be fitted above the houses, aiming straight down.

After nine weeks of elimination play, the winner of Cross Canada Curling will be decided in the 10th and final game. The following week the championship rinks from Scotland and the United States, skipped by Chuck Hay and Mike Slyziuk respectively, will meet in a sudden-death game. The winner will go on to meet the Cross Canada Curling champions in the game to be telecast March 7.

LATE NOTES & CORRECTIONS

Included are tape-recorded greetings from patients in Charles Camsell Sanatorium, Edmonton; Clearwater, Manitoba, Sanatorium, and Ninette, Manitoba, Sanatorium. Produced by W. H. Randall.

Christmas on Radio

TO ADD to the enjoyment of the festive season, CBC Radio will carry a number of special programs reflecting many different aspects of Christmas.

Many of the network programs are broadcasts of Christmas music, and information about these is contained in the program notes in this issue. A few of the other highlights of Christmas Day radio programming are mentioned below.

Radio service will begin at 7:00 a.m. with a news report, followed by programs of Christmas music. A message of greeting from CBC President Alphonse Ouimet will be broadcast at 8:30 a.m. Max Ferguson, with his many voices, will provide his own inimitable introduction to the day on Max Ferguson's Christmas Tree, at 8:35.

The annual Commonwealth Broadcast, to be heard at 9:30 a.m., will originate this year in Britain, with contributions from many different Commonwealth nations. It is entitled A Harvest of Gifts, and it will attempt to illustrate moments that mark a linking between continent and continent, race and race, man and man. Dame Flora Robson, the famous British actress, will act as narrator and will introduce the various items, including an exciting account of a rescue from a shark attack off the Western Australian

Christmas on Television

CHRISTMAS IS a time of holy joy, of festive merry-making, of warm human relationships. It is a time when, more perhaps than on any other day of the year, one feels the close ties of family and friends.

But even in the midst of the happy procession of events that make up the day, one may find the time and inclination to spend an hour before the television set, and find a program that will help make the festival more joyous or more meaningful.

The television programs scheduled for Christmas Day, and for the days preceding it, will reflect many different views of the season, in a variety of moods.

On Monday at 3:00 p.m., for instance, Take Thirty will include two humorous items about the season—an alphabetical gift list prepared by Dave Brock of Vancouver, and a reading of Stephen Leacock's story, Hoodoo McFiggins's Christmas—along with a portrayal of the Christmas story in puppet form, by Montreal puppeteer Mrs. M. J. Burke.

Also on Monday, Don Messer's Jubilee (7:30 p.m.) and The Garry Moore Show (8:00 p.m.) will present their special Christmas editions.

The Critic

Richard Sheridan's burlesque still takes shots at sacred cows two centuries after its first performance

Eric House

Marigold Charlesworth, Jack Creley

EVEN AFTER 184 years, Richard Brinsley Sheridan's popular burlesque, The Critic, exhibits no creaking joints or other signs of senility as it chuckles over the ways of the theatre. A satire on the foibles and excesses of critics, playwrights, actors and audiences, it is still fresh, searching, and verbally ingenious, perhaps because it aims its sharpest barbs at basic weaknesses of unchanging human nature, rather than at particular pomposities of Sheridan's time.

Of all its delightful characters, one of the most amusing is Puff, "a Practitioner in Panegyric, or a Professor of the Art of Puffing," whose analyses of all the kinds of ballyhoo in the theatre is as much to the point today as it was in Sheridan's time.

The Critic, which offers a play within a play, is constantly being revived to startle new generations of theatre-goers with its pertinent and impertinent digs at sacred cows. After a successful New York opening a few years ago, critic John Chapman pointed up the timelessness of the play when he said that The Critic is "as wise to showbusiness as tomorrow's drama page or next week's tradesheet. Wiser. It deflates the conceit of everybody connected with the stage. It hands the audience many laughs about critics—and then quite deftly deflates the audience. Its comments on playwrights cannot be bettered . . . And, as the company romps with abandon through the performance, it is a definite and utterly delightful example of dreadful acting. The play within the play is just bad enough to mirror all the sins of Actors Equity and British Equity combined."

CBC-TV's Playdate presents The Critic on Monday night, December 23, at 9:00 p.m., in a production by Norman Campbell. Jack Creley, John Colicos, and Eric House will play leading roles, with Marigold Charlesworth, Joseph Shaw, Tom Kneebone, Paul Harding, Norman Welsh, Patricia Collins, Deborah Turnbull, Hugh Webster, Robert Christie, and John Vernon.

The Critic was presented originally on October 30, 1779, as an afterpiece at the Drury Lane Theatre in London, in which Sheridan had, three years earlier, bought out Garrick's share.

The Diary of a Scoundrel

A translation of Ostrovsky's most popular play is seen Christmas Night on CBC-TV's FESTIVAL

OF NIKOLAI OSTROVSKY'S dozens of plays about the manners and morals of the merchant, official, and upper classes in Czarist Russia, one of the most popular, and, critics agree, one of the best-written, is Enough Simplicity in Every Man, a lighthearted, satirical comedy, poking fun at the stuffiness of arrogant poseurs and giving the little man his day of glory. A new translation of the play by Rodney Ackland, titled The Diary of a Scoundrel, will be presented on CBC-TV's Festival on Christmas night, December 25, at 9:30 p.m. The television adaptation by Tony Van Bridge will be produced by Eric Till.

Ostrovsky's gallery of rogues will be headed by Peter Donat as Gloumov, an ambitious, clever young Muscovite determined to make a fortune and a place for himself in society, who lies, cheats, flatters and hoodwinks his way up the ladder, playing on the snobberies, hypocrisies and weaknesses of those who can further his ambitions.

Before long he has a good job, sponsorship by some of the most sought-after social lions, and prospects of marrying an heiress. But he makes the mistake of keeping a diary in which he records his real feelings about the people he flatters—and it is discovered.

Among his victims are his rich uncle Mamaev (played by Tony Van Bridge), who has two eccentricities: constantly changing his mind about who will benefit from his will, and looking over apartments he has no intention of renting; Mamaev's wife, Kleopatra, an elderly, would-be-young person who imagines that all men are in love with her, played by Norma Renault; Gorodoulin, a civil servant for whom Gloumov writes speeches to gain a sinecure, played by Paul Harding; Mme. Tourasina, a gay lady with a past who turns to religion late in life, played by Margot Christie; her beautiful niece, Mashenka, whose dowry will be substantial, played by Julie Rejai; Kroutitsky, an old bore for whom Gloumov writes newspaper articles, played by Gerard Parkes; and Kourchaev, Gloumov's cousin, who loves Mashenka and may lose her because of Gloumov's trickery, played by Len Birman.

Others in the cast are Hugh Webster as Styopka; Hilary Vernon as Mme. Gloumov; Cosette Lee as Manifa; Sam Donaldson as Gregori; Edward Simay as The Clerk; Orest Ulan as Golutvin; and Dennis Sweeting as Nikita.

CBXT—Saturday's Heroes

Glenn Bjarnason and Ernie Afaganis present a play-by-play description of the second game in the semi-finals of the CAHPER (Kayfur) High School Basketball tournament being played at Ross Sheppard High School. Competing teams are the Victoria Composite Redmen and the Strathcona Composite Lords. Producer, Les Mac-Diarmid.

CBC Championship Golf

Commentator Steve Douglas reports the third qualifying round of matches in which Jack Bissegger of Val Morin, Que., Peter Hildrop, Mt. Hope, Ont., and Lyle Crawford of Vancouver play for match honours.

Cross Canada Curling

Host, Don Wittman. Played at the Rossmere Golf and Country Club in Winnipeg. First of 12 consecutive matches to determine a champion. Saskatchewan skip Ernie Richardson meets Ontario skip Bob Mann.

The Forest Rangers

Al Hamel introduces the exciting story called The Bird Watchers. The Rangers become involved with Professor Black who has come north to study some rare birds who live in Northern Canada.

Actor Basil Rathbone reads from A Christmas Carol, by Dickens, Saturday on Juliette's Christmas show.

Countrytime

Shopping for Christmas meals, and the federal inspectors' role in food stores. Their supervisor, Jim Hay, is the guest.

Frank Werschler, from the Manitoba Department of Agriculture offers new ideas for turkey preparation.

Stan Westaway shows special Christmas flowers.

Gren Bates, producer.

CBXT—Journey of a Lifetime

Baptism in the Jordan. A series in which a young couple of today re-discover the past. Today Anne and John see above them the Monastery of St. George near Jericho, and Jericho itself.

NHL Hockey

Bill Hewitt reports the game from Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, where the Detroit Red Wings meet the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Juliette

Basil Rathbone is the special guest on this show, reading an excerpt from Dickens' A Christmas Carol.

The Saint

The Gentle Ladies. Simon Templar's holiday plans are shelved when he goes to the aid of three ladies in distress. He tries to stop a blackmail threat and erase the fear which is hanging over them.

Another 'Show From Two Cities'

ON CHRISTMAS NIGHT, December 25, at 8:30 p.m., CBC-TV presents A Show From Two Cities (De ville en ville), second of four bilingual variety shows featuring leading English- and French-speaking performers in Toronto and Montreal. Produced in Montreal by Jacques Blouin, in co-operation with Don Brown of Toronto, it will have choreography by Jack Ketchum, an orchestra directed by Henry Matthews, and a script by Eloie de Grandmont and Jean Rafa.

Heading the cast are comedians Olivier Guimond, Roger Garceau, Jimmy Tapp, and Paul Dupuis; opera singer Richard Verreau; songstress Joyce Sullivan, Monique Gaube, Yolande Guérard; comedienne Elaine Bédard and Juliette Pétrie; actor Paul Kligman, actress Corinne Conley, singer Jean-Pierre Ferland; as well as the voices of some of Canada's best-known announcers and commentators: Earl Cameron, Miville Couture, Steve Douglas, René Lecavalier, Henri Bergeron, and Fred Davis.

On Christmas Night CBC Television presents the second in the series A Show From Two Cities. Above, an excerpt from the Broadway hit Irma La Douce, is a featured segment.

I May Be WrongJose
She Didn't Say Yes.....Maxine
Nagasakitrio

Heritage

A film showing the life and beliefs of Ontario's Mennonite community.

Country Calendar

CBC Farm commentator Al Richardson talks with Jack Perkins about his Wainwright, Alta., hog ranch.

General rat control throughout the province of Saskatchewan is discussed with helpful detail supplied by the Saskatchewan Department of Information.

A short news item on Wheat Board over-privileges.

The Sixties

Good Will To All. Dr. A. Forrest, editor of the United Church Observer, visits Rome and there talks with members of the Ecumenical Council on the meaning of church unity.

Some of Those Days

Special Christmas Show. Setting for the program is Christmas Eve in the year 1900. Scene, a family living room of that era. Special guest is soprano Audrey Farnell. Regulars, Roma Hearn, Pat Morgan, Barney Potts, and host Bill Bellman. Script by Dave Brock.

Mister Ed

Ed's Christmas Story. Mister Ed gets in the Christmas spirit when he phones in an order for gifts for his horse friends and the result almost wrecks the Posts' Christmas.

Hazel

Hazel and the Halfback. Hazel helps a friend get back his business losses, almost at the cost of losing one of George's customers.

Ed Sullivan Show

Ed Sullivan's guests include musical comedy star Florence Henderson; singer Teresa Brewer; and the Italian Mouse, puppet personality.

Featuring the St. Anthony's Boys Choir hosted by Colin MacLean and produced by Don McRae.

CBWT—Desilu Playhouse

Trial at Devil's Canyon. A tough sherriff is confronted by a hostile citizenry when his unorthodox approach to law and order causes consternation among the people of the town. Starring Lee J. Cobb.

A gentle, simple way of life, little known to most Canadians, exists amidst the scurry of our modern society. On Sunday, December 22, CBC-TV's Heritage presents Peace Church, a half-hour film examining the life and convictions of Ontario's Mennonite community.

Horizon

And Then There Were None

DINOSAURS as we all know, are extinct. But at one time, back in the dim eons of pre-history, they dominated the world. Their decadence, decline and eventual disappearance was brought about by combinations of genetic principles—the dynamics of competition, mutation, suitability for environment and other causes.

But the extinction of the dinosaurs took a long time, millions of years. The advent of man has drastically altered nature's time scale. Extinctions of species have been greatly accelerated. From the time of Christ to 1800, one mammal became extinct every 55 years; from 1800 to 1900 there was a mammal extinction every year-and-a-half; from 1900 to the present the figure has been one per year. At the moment, about 1,000 species are on the "critical list," facing oblivion in the very near future.

Extinction as a biological phenomenon and a factor in the process of evolution is just beginning to be given attention by science. But in different parts of the world many conservation organizations have been working to stem the tide of species' extermination and to reverse the process of extinction that has been speeded up so greatly by man's arrival on the scene.

A study of the vanishing species and what can be done to preserve the world's wildlife will be presented on CBC-TV's Horizon, Sunday, December 22, at 10:00 p.m., in an edition entitled And Then There were None.

Host John Livingston will introduce statements and discussions by a group of distinguished supporters of the conservationist cause, including HRH the Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Bedford, both of whom are associated with the World Wildlife Fund; W. E. Swinton, director of the Royal Ontario Museum and a leading authority on dinosaurs; Roger Tory Peterson, one of the world's best-known ornithologists; and Peter Scott, a British conservationist, naturalist and painter.

host Allen Ludden, and celebrities as guest panelists.

Take Thirty

1. Anna Cameron and Paul Soles start Christmas week with an alphabetical gift list prepared by David Brock of Vancouver.

2. Christmas story portrayed in puppet form by Mrs. M. J. Burke of Montreal.

3. Paul Soles reads a Christmas story by Stephen Leacock.

This Living World

Steve Bloomer gives some interesting facts about the way animals and birds survive the winter.

CBWT—Kerry Wood Storybook

A Horn Hobby. Antlers, cow horns, bull horns, and steer horns are rescued from the scrap heap by Kerry Wood and are turned into gift objects such as candy dishes, jewellery, blowing horns, and Boy Scout neckerchief slides. Kerry describes where to obtain the horns and gives step-by-step directions on how to prepare and polish them.

CBXT—Kerry Wood Storybook

Toy Shops. Alberta's naturalist and expert on early living in Western Canada, Kerry Wood, describes how, as a boy, he and his Boy Scout troop took part in one of the earliest known Christmas toy projects. Producer, Les MacDiarmid.

Time Out for Music

The theme is Time Out for Music from Toyland and is presented especially for the children at Christmas-time. Starring Georges LaFleche, Mary Nowell and Bob McMullin and the orchestra. Ray McConnell, producer.

CBXT—Gateway

Co-hosts Colin MacLean and Jim Mitchell present a special Christmas feature in the form of silent films, giving viewers highlights of outstanding Christmas lighting and decorations displayed throughout the city; film of children being interviewed by Santa Claus and their impressions of him; and a visit to toyland to see the new trends in toys. Producer, Dave Smiley.

CBXT—Sports Page

In addition to a special Christmas feature, the Keen Ice Curling series returns with its second game of this year's competition. Matching skills this week are Wes Montgomery and Mel Watchorn. Producer, Dave Smiley.

CBWT—Reach for the Top

The teams competing this week will be Glenlawn Collegiate and Charleswood Collegiate. Produced by Jean Mackay.

Don Messer's Jubilee

Special guests on the Christmas Show are the Farnell Sisters from Halifax and step-dancer Valerie Penny from Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Garry Moore Show

Garry's guests include Eileen Farrell, soprano; singer Dorothy Collins; singer-comedienne Dorothy Loudon; and comedian Norm Crosby.

Playdate

The Critic. Richard Brinsley Sheridan's 18th century classic, satirizing the theatre and the foibles of its adherents. Mr. Dangle and his friends attend a rehearsal of Mr. Puff's new tragic drama, The Spanish Armada, surely one of the most hilarious productions ever staged.

Cast: John Colicos as Mr. Puff; Eric House as Mr. Fretful; Jack Creley as Mr. Dangle; Marigold Charlesworth as Mrs. Dangle; Joseph Shaw as Mr. Sneer. Others, Tom Kneebone, Paul Harding, Norman Welsh, Patricia Collins, Deborah Turnbull, Hugh Webster, Robert Christie and John Vernon. Produced by Norman Campbell.

Explorations

Fellow-Canadiens. First of a two-part story of the first student exchange program between Western Canada and Quebec. Teenagers from Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver live with the families of French-Canadian mates in Trois-Rivieres. The story is told through the eyes and words of Jane Love and Richard Rice of Winnipeg. Some of the sites visited were the Plains of Abraham, the pulp and paper mills of Trois-Rivieres, the former home of Maurice Duplessis, and the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec City. One of the rules governing the exchange is that in Quebec only French is spoken.

CBXT—Christmas Carols

Featuring the All-Saints Cathedral Choir. Program is hosted by Colin MacLean, and produced by Don McRae.

CBXT—Thriller

Portrait Without a Face. A well-known painter is killed while working in his studio. Shortly after his death a likeness of the murder scene begins to take form, piece by piece on a blank canvas.

Edmonton and district high schools form two panel teams to compete for prizes and awards. Producer, Don McRae.

Pinocchio

A television musical version of the famous children's story, produced at CBC Vancouver, with songs composed by Marj Adelberg. Adapted for television by Joy Coghill, telling the original version of Pinocchio.

Red River Jamboree

Jamboree spends Christmas Day with the children at Winnipeg's Children's Hospital. Special guests are the Junior Valley Beaux and Belles, Host Stu Phillips, and regulars Peggy Neville, The Altones, Ted Komar and the Selkirk Settlers, and Joe Johansson will entertain these youngsters in hospital. Armand Baril, producer.

Rudolph	Stu
Shake Me, I Rattle.....	Peg
Go Where I Send Thee.....	Altones
Sleigh Ride	Ted Komar
	and his Band

A Show from Two Cities

Second of a series of four bilingual variety shows using top talent from the CBC's major English and French language production centres, Toronto and Montreal.

Show opens with an Overture for Santa Claus, continues with a skating number, a medley of Christmas airs by operatic tenor Richard Verreau, a sketch, a Christmas ballet, a medley of chansons, and a production finale featuring songs from Irma La Douce and My Fair Lady.

Cast: Olivier Guimond, Joyce Sullivan, Richard Verreau, Corinne Conley, Paul Kligman and others. Produced by Jacques Blouin and Don Brown.

Festival

The Diary of a Scoundrel. Alexander Ostrovsky's comedy of Russian society in the 1860's. Translated by Rodney Ackland, and adapted for television by Tony Van Bridge.

Gloumov flatters and schemes his way into high society at the expense of anyone who can further his ambition. He records his progress and his low opinion of his benefactors in a diary.

The Queen's Christmas Message

A repeat telecast of Her Majesty's message to the Commonwealth.

CBXT—Desilu Playhouse

Bernadette. Pier Angeli stars in an inspiring story of the miracle of a child's faith, based on events which took place at Lourdes, France, in the year, 1878.

Chez Helene

Helene, Louise and Susie have a gay time around the Christmas tree.

A Visit to Disneyland

Walt Disney calls upon English actress and singer Hayley Mills to help him relay season's greetings to everyone in an hour long program which originates in Disneyland.

Christmas at the Alberta Game Farm

Game Farm curator Al Oeming takes three children on a tour of his animal farm near Edmonton, and describes the story of the many animals who played a part in the crowning of Christ.

William Burley, producer.

Gloria in Excelsis Deo

Montreal actors and actresses enact the story of the Nativity, headed by Madeline Kronby as Mary and Walter Massey as Joseph. The Renaissance Singers of Montreal, directed by Donald MacKey, provide background choral music.

Christmas Singalong

Featuring the Jubilee Singers led by Bill Langstroth, also Fred McKenna, Jim Bennett, The Townsmen, Catherine McKinnon, Kay Porter and Karen Oxley, presenting a program of Christmas carols and songs.

Journey to the Centre

A dramatized documentary showing the Holy Land and the places associated with the earthly life of Christ.

Take Thirty

A filmed version of the Christmas story acted out in the home of the Jocelyn family in Toronto. Professor George Whalley of Queens University traces the story of angels dating from the pre-Christian era.

CBXT—Special Christmas Greetings

From the Mayors of Edmonton and Jasper Place as well as the Manager of CBC Edmonton.

The Cisco Kid

Monkey Business. Starring Duncan Renaldo and Leo Carillo.

CBXT—Love That Bob

Bob draws an out-of-character assignment as chaperon to Chuck's teen-age party.

Ladies First

Jo Everett and Ernie Poscente talk about Christmas in other lands. They then interview make-up artist Jenny Dement, and production assistant Dieter Nachtigall. To conclude, they pay a very interesting visit to Edmonton's Queen Elizabeth Planetarium and chat with director Ian McLennan.

Take Thirty

Guests are Idamay and Allen MacInnes, Toronto decorators and collectors of antiques. The MacInnes' musical interest led them to found the Ragtime Society and the beginning of a collection of piano rolls and sheet music.

CBXT—St. Lawrence North

Portrays the dramatic crossing of the ice filled St. Lawrence in small boats by the men of L'Île Aux Coudres.

Music Hop

Appearing with host Alex Trebek are Don Thompson, a singer who is also in the band, and Bob Hackborn, a musician who is also a designer on the show.

CBWT—Biography

Pope Pius XII. On the eve of World War II when international tensions were at the breaking point, Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli was elected to lead the Roman Catholic Church. Biography traces the life of Pope Pius XII from his birth in 1876, through the trying

One of the stars of a Show From Two Cities on Christmas Day is singer Joyce Sullivan.

Pope Pius XII (1876-1958) is subject Thursday of CBWT's Biography, at 7:00 p.m.

years of World War II, to his death on October 9, 1958.

The Serial

The Wings of Night. This week, Grandmother Jamieson enjoys the money acquired from the sale of her timberlands to Senator Quarrender. After spending a happy day with Tally and her family on their farm, Neil accidentally discovers something which confirms his suspicion that the Senator is trying to eliminate his competition in the pulpmill business.

Cast: James Doohan as Neil Jamieson; Jane Mallett as Neil's grandmother; Karen James as Tally.

Parade

The Music of '63. Hosts are Fred Davis and Elaine Bedard, who introduce the outstanding songs of the past year. Performing on the show are Don Francks, Billy Van, and Al Bertram.

CBXT—An Age of Kings

The Morning's War. (Henry VI, Part 3, Acts 1, 2, and 3.) Queen Elizabeth gathers another army and surprises York at Sandal Castle, and in the ensuing battle York's young son Rutland is murdered, and York is captured and beheaded. York's three surviving sons regain the throne, and Edward becomes Edward IV. The helpless Henry VI falls prisoner to the new King. (A repeat of Tuesday night's episode.)

CBWT—Thriller

The Remarkable Mrs. Hawk. A story of two hobos and of a mature, handsome and charming woman who runs a pig farm with utter efficiency, hiring lonely young men not apt to have relatives who will question their sudden disappearance.

Christian Unity

Several programs during Christian week deal with efforts to unite the Christian Churches

AS THE WORLD approaches this Christmas, 1963, a new atmosphere can be detected in Christendom—an atmosphere of change and acceptance of change; strengthening of faith and rededication to the tasks the Church sets for its members; and a lessening of the tensions among the great denominations. There is a ferment within Christendom that is working perhaps more powerfully than at any time in recent history. And in this fateful hour of history the Churches are feeling, as never before, the pressures of an overwhelmingly non-Christian world. In a subtle but real way, Christianity is threatened, but the end result of the threat may be a glorious one for Christians. It may bring a new strength and impetus to the Christian faith, and a renewal of Christianity in the world. There is a mounting determination to strengthen the Church internally, and to clear away the dissension that has divided the parts of Christ's Church on earth for centuries.

This latter movement completely reverses Christian history. There has hardly been a time since the Apostles when some group of Christians was not breaking away from some other group. In the 20th century the tide has apparently turned. Since 1910 about 70 Protestant denominations have been involved in 22 mergers, and informal meetings are presently under way between many important denominations with a view towards further unification. In 1948 the World Council of Churches was organized, a federation of 201 Pro-

Manon, opera in five acts by Massenet, after Abbe Prevost's novel, Manon Lescaut.

CAST: Chevalier des Grieux—tenor; Count des Grieux, his father—bass; Lescaut, Manon's cousin, one of the Royal Guard—baritone; Guillot, a roué—bass; de Bretigny, a nobleman—baritone; Manon—soprano; Pousette, Rosette and Javotte, actresses—sopranos and contralto. Places, Amiens, Paris and Havre; time, 1721.

With Anna Moffo as Manon, Nicolai Gedda as Des Grieux, Giorgiotozzi as the Count, Frank Guarreara as Lescaut.

ACT I. An inn at Amiens. Guillot, minister of finance, is entertaining a lively party when Manon Lescaut, young, gay and full of pleasure, steps from a coach. Her cousin, Lescaut, her escort, leaves her while he plays cards. Guillot makes advances to Manon, planning to abduct her, and offers her a seat in his carriage. But the young Chevalier des Grieux is also attracted, and is so successful in arousing Manon's mutual interest that when Morfontain's carriage arrives, the young couple jump in and depart for Paris.

ACT II. Manon lives quietly with Des Grieux, who is trying to make his father consent to their marriage, although he had been destined for a holy order. Lescaut arrives with de Bretigny, who warns that Des Grieux's father intends to take his son away that night. Manon, although appalled, decides she must give up her love. After the evening meal, Des Grieux is forcibly carried away.

ACT III. A promenade in Paris during a festival. (This scene may be eliminated.) A group of actresses surround Lescaut, who jests with them. The Count Des Grieux enters and tells de Bretigny that his son is in a monastery preparing for the priesthood. Manon approaches and asks for her former lover, and the Count Des Grieux answers with gentle rally, telling her that the wise forget when remembrance hurts.

Change of scene: The seminary at St. Sulpice. The young Des Grieux thinks sadly of Manon, who appears before him. He reproaches her, saying his love for her is dead. Manon refuses to leave, and at last, won by her pleading, he departs with her.

testant, Anglican, and Orthodox denominations. Something new and significant has been created: a group of Christian Churches working together in co-operation and understanding for a common good.

The World Council's fourth World Conference on Faith and Order, held last summer in Montreal, was attended by 500 delegates from 138 Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican Churches in 50 countries, and for the first time official Roman Catholic observers were present at the meetings. During the Conference, Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger became the first Roman Catholic Cardinal to take part in a public inter-faith service of worship, and in discussions he made some statements that were encouraging to those who seek eventual complete unity within Christianity.

Other great and historic meetings have been held in recent years, some with the purpose of discussing differences between Churches, others intended for re-assessment and introspective examination of one Church. The Council of Orthodox Churches met in Rhodes in 1961, and last summer thousands of churchmen from all over the world, with the broad diversity of views that marks multifaceted Anglicanism, met in Toronto for the Anglican Congress, providing a great opportunity for re-dedication and encouragement to all Anglicans. Talks have been going ahead unceasingly on the subject of Church unity. Last February proposals were announced for merging Britain's Methodists with the Church of England, an object which if achieved would heal the wounds of two centuries. Similar proposals have been suggested in Canada for joining the Anglican and United Churches, and talks are continuously under way on these and other proposed mergers or affiliations within the Protestant and Orthodox Churches. And when churchmen become discouraged about the prospects of unity, perhaps after days or weeks of bitter wrangling over some theological point or other, they can turn to an example of unity that currently exists. In what has been called "the South India experiment," one million Christians work and worship together in apparent harmony, even though their religious traditions are entirely different. In 1947, after 28 years of negotiations, a union was consummated among elements of Congregational, Presbyterian and Anglican Churches in India. The move has been called by some churchmen the first breakthrough in the attempt at union between Anglican and non-Anglican Churches.

But, while many differences still divide Protestants, the great schism in Christianity, of course, remains that between the Roman Catholic Church and the other Churches of the world. And it is in bridging that chasm that the most startling and historic moves have been begun. When the 3,000 Cardinals, bishops, and heads of religious orders met in October, 1962, for the Second Vatican Council, the most striking thing about the agenda was that so many of the subjects bore directly or indirectly on Christian unity. One Anglican observer who had been working strenuously towards better relations with the Church of Rome remarked: "The agenda couldn't be better if we'd written it ourselves." Other churchmen made similar observations, and spoke of a new climate which has brought unaccustomed warmth to inter-Church relations, and a noticeable lack of emphasis on those things that have divided Christians for hundreds of years.

Christian unity is not something that can come about overnight, if, indeed, it can ever be achieved at all. But the mood of the Christian World today seems more determined than ever before to at least make the attempt. The combination of pressures from within and without the Church may finally pull Christianity together. As one down-to-earth clergyman put it: "The pull of idealism and the kick in the pants of practical urgency make an unbeatable combination." The desire for unity apparently exists; the means of unity are being discussed; and, however serious may be the differences that divide Christians, the things that unite them are greater.

The subject of Christian unity threads its way through a number of programs to be broadcast on CBC Radio and Television this week. On The Sixties, Sunday, December 22, at 5:00 p.m., on CBC Television, Dr. A. C. Forrest, editor of the United Church Observer, visits Rome to talk with members of the Second Vatican Council and with Protestant observers at the Council sessions. He will attempt to discover from these conversations the real meaning of unity to the average churchman. On the Christmas Eve edition of Citizens' Forum, Tuesday, December 24, at 9:00 p.m. on radio, opinions will be solicited from private citizens on the question: Will Church union ever be a reality? Two special programs on Christmas Day will indirectly bear on the topic. Journey to the Centre, a filmed documentary prepared by the Rev. Brian Free-land and producer Paul Almond during a visit to the Holy Land early this year, will be shown at 2:00 p.m. on Television. It may serve to remind us that once there were no divisions; only one Man, one Church. Christendom 1963, to be heard on Radio Christmas Night at 7:00 p.m., will present a report on the state of Christianity in many different parts of the world.

WAITS OF BEVERLEY, YORKSHIRE
(From a pillar in St. Mary's Church there)

Medieval instruments such as those shown in the antique drawing above are heard accompanying soprano Phyllis Thomson and baritone Orville Derraugh Tuesday at 10:05 p.m., on Prairie Chamber Music. Christmas carols from centuries ago make up the program.

A Harvest of Gifts. Narrated by

Dame Flora Robson, the program attempts to illustrate moments which bridge the divide between continents, races and men. Included are an account of a rescue from a shark off the coast of Australia, a moving story of an entertainment in a mental asylum in Malta; the vivid legend attached to the very rare Fijian flower presented earlier this year to the Queen; a description of the distribution of land to the peasants in India. As a contrast, there's an amusing Jamaican account of the way people disappear at Christmas-time to avoid begging letters.

Tying together the program are carols sung in such wide-flung places as Sierra Leone, Southern Rhodesia, the Friendly Islands and New Zealand.

10:00 a.m.—H.M. The Queen; The Prime Minister

Christmas greetings to the people of Canada by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, followed by an address by Prime Minister L. B. Pearson.

Christmas Day programming begins at 9:30 a.m. with a film entitled December: Month of the Child. The annual Christmas greeting from Her Majesty the Queen will be telecast at 10:00 a.m., followed by a message from Prime Minister Pearson and greetings from CBC President Alphonse Ouimet. Two films, French Christmas Carols and A Christmas Visit, will be shown at 10:15 a.m., followed by the programs Chez Helene and Nursery School Time.

An hour-long Visit to Disneyland will be presented at 11:00 a.m. Youthful British actress Hayley Mills will take viewers on a tour of the fascinating displays in the vast amusement park.

A British film featuring carols sung by the George Mitchell Singers will be shown at 12:00 noon, and will be followed by a visit to the Alberta Game Farm in which farm curator Al Oeming tells the story of the many animals that are associated with the life of Christ.

The Jubilee Singers of Halifax, led by Bill Langstroth, will bring viewers a Christmas Singalong at 1:30 p.m. Others on the show will be Fred McKenna, Jim Bennett, The Townsman, Kay Porter, Karen Oxley and Catherine McKinnon.

Early this year, Father Brian Freeland and producer Paul Almond made a visit to the Holy Land, during which they filmed many of the places that Christ visited during his travels. Some of these sites practically unchanged in 2,000 years, will be shown in a special program, entitled Journey to the Centre, to be seen at 2:00 p.m.

The Christmas Day edition of Take Thirty will deal with angels, in a variety of ways. Anna Cameron will talk to four little "angels" taking part in a home-made play; Professor George Whalley will trace the history of man's conceptions of angels through paintings; and the story of the angel messengers bringing the glad tidings of Christ's birth will be depicted in paintings by artist Anton Van Dalen.

Other programs of special interest on Christmas Day are covered in separate articles and program notes in this issue.

coast, a moving story of an entertainment in a Maltese mental hospital, a story about free distribution of land to homeless peasants in India, and many other items, serious and humorous, reflecting the activities and interests of the different countries that make up the Commonwealth.

At 10:00 a.m. the annual message from Her Majesty the Queen will be broadcast, followed by greetings from Prime Minister Pearson.

At 10:15, a short service of worship from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police chapel at Regina will be heard. The historic chapel, built in 1883 and dedicated two years later, is a small wooden building, the last remaining structure of the old Northwest Mounted Police post on the site. The service will be conducted by the Rt. Rev. G. F. C. Jackson, Bishop of Qu'Appelle and Anglican chaplain to the force.

At 2:03 p.m. a half-hour of humour and music will be heard on Wayne and Shuster's Armed Forces Christmas Show. Canada's top comedy team will be joined by folk singers Ian Tyson and Sylvia Fricker and by special guest Foster Hewitt, who will be featured in a sketch spoofing the great game of hockey. The program, which is broadcast simultaneously to Canadian armed forces in all parts of the world, will include a message from Minister of National Defence, Paul Hellyer.

A depiction of Christmas celebrations in remote parts of the world will be provided at 5:00 p.m., on Christmas in the Delta, a program originating at Inuvik, on Canada's northern coast.

More views of the holiday as it is observed in other countries will be heard on Christmas International at 8:30 p.m., followed by a special drama production from CBC's Halifax studios.

Repeat broadcasts of the messages from Her Majesty the Queen and Prime Minister Pearson will be heard at 7:10 p.m.

with Mat Gauer

RECIPES FEATURED ON
"LADIES FIRST" EACH WEDNESDAY

MAT'S PLUM PUDDING

- ½ lb. each of sultanas, currants, puffed raisins
- 1 cup each of peel and cherries
- ¼ lb. almonds
- 1 large grated apple
- 1¼ cups sifted flour
- 1½ cups stale bread crumbs
- 1½ cups shredded suet
- 1½ cups brown sugar
- ½ tsp. each of cinnamon, salt,
nutmeg
- 1 tsp. allspice
- ¼ tsp. each of cloves, mace
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup cider or apple juice
- ½-¾ cup milk
- ½ cup molasses
- Juice of 1 lemon and 1 orange
- ½ tsp. soda dissolved in
- 1 tbsp. warm water

Put all dry ingredients into bowl, add fruit — mix liquids and add to flour and fruit mixture. Mix well. Let stand overnight for flavours to blend. Next day put into greased bowl and cover with foil or grease proof paper. Tie. Steam for 4 hours. Before serving steam or place in oven from 1-1½ hours.

HARD SAUCE:

- ¼ lb. butter
- 1 cup icing sugar

Cream well, flavour with brandy. Set in fridge. Serve on warm pudding.

Bi-Culturalism

A LITTLE SNIPPET of history was enacted one evening late last June when a group of Winnipeg high school students boarded a C.P.R. train bound for Trois-Rivieres, Quebec.

Outwardly, it was a typical holiday farewell scene — high-spirited teen-agers exchanging excited good-byes with smiling parents and friends. The added significance of the occasion lay in the fact that the scene marked the start of the first student exchange program between western Canada and the province of Quebec.

The ten Winnipeg teen-agers were joining high school students from Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver for a practical exercise in bi-culturalism. For two weeks, each student would live with the family of a French-Canadian 'mate' in Trois-Rivieres. Then roles would be reversed and the Quebec students would be guests in the homes of the westerners for an equal period of time.

A CBC Winnipeg film crew accompanied the Winnipeg students to Trois-Rivieres, and returned to Winnipeg with the Quebecers to record the impressions of both groups in their first encounter with a new and different part of Canada. The result is two programs in the Explorations series, entitled "Fellow-Canadiens," to be seen on the CBC-TV network December 23 and December 30.

In the first program, December 23, Meeting at Trois-Rivieres, the story of the Winnipeg students' encounter with Quebec is told through the eyes and words of Jane Love and Richard Rice.

The ten Winnipeg students, from five high schools, taking part in the exchange were: Grant Park High School—Richard Rice, Doris Fraser and Joan Hoffman; Daniel McIntyre Collegiate — Jane Love and Peter Edelmann; Kelvin High — Charles Murdoch and Lynne MacDonnell; Gordon Bell High—Phyllis Pogson; and Churchill High, Laverne Stewart and Kathleen Parker.

The second program, Rendezvous in Winnipeg, December 30, tells the story of the Trois-Rivieres teen-agers' visit to Winnipeg last July, recording their reactions to their first sight and taste of western life.

The student exchange visits between western Canada and Quebec were sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, and arrangements for the filming of the Winnipeg-Trois-Rivieres exchange were made with the co-operation of the Council's western regional representative, Frazer Earle.

Similar student exchanges between cities in Ontario and Quebec have been held in the past, but last July's program marked the first time western Canadian points had been included.

The two programs were produced by Ken Black and Peter Kelly. The cameraman was Harry Makin, and the sound technician Leon Gantzert. The film editor for both programs was Noboru Shimizu.

On Dufferin Terrace, Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City, youthful bi-culturalism is seen in action. Andre Bellemare of Trois-Rivieres exchanges views with Lynne MacDonnell of Winnipeg.
