NHL Hockey

• I have just finished watching the Toronto-Detroit hockey game on CBC-TV (February 12th). It was an exceptionally fine game—I would say, perhaps the best of the present season. It was clean, fast, exciting, truly well played, according to the commentator. It must have been a whale of a game to watch from a seat in the arena. From where I sat there was much left to be desired.

In previous years, Hockey Night in Canada has been a great pleasure, from Toronto and Montreal. It still is—from Montreal. I am completely ignorant of the methods and techniques required to transfer the game from the ice to my screen, but if Montreal can do it satisfactorily surely Toronto should be able to do at least half as well, or do the boys in Montreal overshadow the Toronto crew by that much. I hate to think that that would be true but the proof of the pudding is in the eating. . . . is there any reason why we cannot see what is going on on the ice? I realize it is difficult to show more than a certain amount of ice area, but it would be nice to have some idea of what is going on. Montreal seems to manage fairly well.

—A.E.G., Blairmore, Alta.

Seeing the Weather

• . . . Three cheers! the weather map is back on CBWT!

This feature is so important to so many of your fans. Hearing the radio reports isn't as effective as seeing where the high and low pressure spots are. My compliments to Mr. Brodie. . . .

—N.S., Starbuck, Man.

CBK Programming

• Early this morning we were receiving an excellent program from your station. Thank you very, very much for playing these fine old pieces as they were written. We enjoyed the pianos, harps and what we hear so seldom now, good saxophones. Thanks again and the best of luck to you.

—W.W. & J. Stuart, Des Moines, Iowa

Clean Programs

• Just a word of appreciation from someone south of the border on the good clean type of program on the CBC (television) network. In my opinion there is a lot of junk on the American networks and plenty of it is no good for children to see. . . .

—B.J., Hallock, Minn.

Hames Sisters

• It is cheering . . . to have the pleasure of seeing and hearing our popular Hames Sisters on the Juliette Show (February 12th). We have missed their natural and own way of entertaining. Many thanks to the CBC and to Juliette.

—F.M.S., Prince Albert

Foul Language

• I resent your production The Winter Years (Midweek Theatre, February 2nd) in which much foul language was used over the air. You may say that it depicted true life — and you are right, for there is much sin in this world. . . . However, just because this sin does exist in man's nature does not mean we want it held up and displayed as an example our children may be spoiled by. We have laws to be obeyed, for our own good.

J.V., Three Hills, Alta.

On Our Cover . . .

CBC Winnipeg drama producer Tony Ross reminisces about his homeland, Ireland, on BETWEEN OURSELVES, 8:00 p.m., March 16th — the eve of St. Patrick's Day. The shots on our cover were taken by Tony's wife while the Ross' were in Ireland recently. Top left, a round tower, dating from the eighth or ninth centuries, in which monks concealed themselves and sacred objects of the monastery during raids by the Vikings. Top right, the ruins of cottages on the Boycott estate. Bottom left, the statue of the Virgin standing before Shannon Airport control tower; bottom right, the river Shannon as it flows through Limerick.

AN INTRIGUING mystery of the North will be disclosed Monday, March 14th at 7:30 p.m. on Points West (CBC radio). Gerald Malaher, director of the Manitoba Wildlife Branch, will talk for the first time in public about the mystery of the inland seals of the Northwest Territories.

Seals that are ordinarily found in Hudson Bay have somehow turned up far inland. How they got there, no one knows, nor is there any indication of how long they have been there.

The discovery of these seals presents a baffling puzzle. Far from civilization, they exist in a few colonies on inland water. It is believed they may be a new and unique sub-species.

Ottawa authorities are now faced with a need to protect the seals from native fishermen, who may destroy them because they damage fishing nets.

Points West is produced by Betty Tomlinson.

A PRESSING PROBLEM of our time is the mounting death toll from accidents of all kinds. Accidents have become the leading cause of death in some age groups, particularly among children.

Parents intent on protecting their children from the menace of accidental death or injury should watch a series of programs currently in progress on Western School Telecasts, each Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. on CBC-TV. Beginning March 9th and continuing weekly until April 6th, the programs start with 15 minutes of safety rules for school children. The final 15 minutes is directed to parents of young children, telling them how they can help ensure a safer life for the young. The children's programs deal with safety in the street, while walking, at play, in the water and at home. The adults' segments are entitled Stop, Look and Listen, A Seat Belt for Susie, Behind Closed Doors, Be Water Wise and Doorway to Death.

CBC-TV will carry about 30 hours weekly of color programming in its 1966 fall schedule, according to

March 12th - 18th

around CBC

plans now completed. The CBC itself will produce about one-third of these programs on its own electronic facilities and on film. The rest will be imported network and film color series.

English-language regional CBC stations carrying the network color programming in the fall will be Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Halifax, and St. John's, Newfoundland. Technical difficulties may delay for a few weeks the color transmission in some of these areas.

Virtually all CBC affiliates will carry the network color programs in the fall.

The network will concentrate its studio production on the bigger television shows such as Show of the Week, and Festival. A mobile unit available to the network will telecast sports such as hockey and outdoor spectaculars and will also be used in conjunction with a studio to produce other variety programs out of Toronto.

Already the CBC is starting color filmed programs for Centennial Year, including Camera Canada and Canada 99, with its series on the rivers of Canada. The color facilities at Expo '67 will be available for use occasionally during 1967 until the fall when the CBC takes them over completely.

The CBC French-language network will carry about 15 hours of weekly color programming in the fall. CBC will produce most of this, since there is no pool of foreign-language French color production to call on.

Total cost for the first stage of the conversion of CBC facilities was set last June by government policy at a maximum of $15,000,000. This will enable the conversion of the CBC's main regional transmitters to carry color programs from the English- and French-language networks. It will also enable the installation of telecine chains in these regions for telecasting some color film programs. The regions will not yet be able to produce studio shows in color.

The CBC rebroadcasting stations and off-network relay transmitters serving smaller communities cannot be converted at this stage to carry color. CBC has made plans for this conversion, and for the addition of regional facilities for live color production. However, at this time, government authorization is limited to the $15,000,000 as just outlined, and the rate of future development is not yet known.

What's Behind 'Beatlemania'?

THROUGH THE EYES OF TOMORROW
asks a psychiatrist to explain teen-age exuberance.

FOR THOSE who have heard about, but never actually witnessed, what is called "Beatlemania," the following description by the head of BBC-TV Light Entertainment, Tom Sloane, may shed some light. "The whole arena is in an uproar—the fans are screaming themselves hoarse and the Beatles themselves are clearly showing the strain of this extraordinary occasion. This is the climax of Beatlemania . . . What happens is fairly easy to describe. As soon as the Beatles appear on any stage, their fans start screaming—and continue to scream until they leave. The noise is absolutely deafening and hardly a note of the music or a word of the lyrics can be heard. Just why it happens this way is a much more complicated question . . ."

One of the leading psychiatrists on this continent will offer an explanation for this kind of teen-age (and pre-teen) behavior when the subject is discussed on TV's Through the Eyes of Tomorrow, Sunday, March 13th. Dr. Karl Stern, psychiatrist-in-

LATE NOTES & CORRECTIONS

WEEK OF MARCH 5th-11th, 1966

Because each issue of the CBC Times must be mailed so far in advance of the program week covered in it, some changes in scheduling and in program content are inevitable. These are noted below.

SUNDAY, MARCH 6th TELEVISION

Ed Sullivan

Ed's guests are singer Annette Funicello, singer Frankie Avalon, the Ramsey Lewis Trio, jazz recording stars and singer Mireille Mathieu. The Italian Mouse is also featured. Debbie Reynolds, announced as a guest last week, will not appear.

MONDAY, MARCH 7th RADIO

9:00 p.m.—Country Magazine

Delete Feed Freight and the Farmer. In its place, the first part of a two-part program entitled Poverty Among the Native Peoples.

TUESDAY, MARCH 8th TELEVISION

Across Canada

1. Dr. Bruce Fergusson, director of public archives in Nova Scotia, talks with Jim Bennett about the recent find of old scrolls at the Halifax City Hall dating back to approximately 1770, about 25 years after Halifax was founded.

2. Marvin Burke visits the Nova Scotia College of Art to show viewers classes in progress and to talk with principal Donald C. MacKay about the present setup and future plans.

Red Skelton Hour

Red's guests are actor Fernando Lamas and singer-pianist Ike Cole who presents a song tribute to his brother, the late Nat King Cole. Phyllis Diller will not be seen on this occasion.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9th

TELEVISION

Festival

The film seen between the Igor Stravinsky and Richard Burton features is The Violin! an award-winning film cartoon by Ernest Pintoff featuring the voice of comic Carl Reiner. P. P. Harry, a street violinist, plays a bad fiddle, and even his best friend, a dog, is dismayed. He tries taking music lessons, but nothing helps his playing—until he takes expert advice and begins to suffer.

RADIO

8:00 p.m.—Between Ourselves

Part 1—B.C. Scene Magazine. Featuring Jack Humphrey and Roger Montgomery with comedy sketches and satirical skits interspersed with recorded music.

Part 2. The Bobby Hales Quintet with singers Lynne MacNeil and Ed Whiting.

Designer Margit Bennet presents the fifth of her series of six talks about Design Without Accident. The program also includes a commentary and book reading.

Despite nine successful seasons, this year's JULIETTE SHOW has incorporated many new ideas.

Juliette's Tenth Season

THIS IS JULIETTE's tenth year as star of her own show, and viewers might have been forgiven for assuming that the successful artist would stick to the tried-and-true formulas of the past.

However, this year's show has more new features than any past season. An outstanding example, popular with many viewers, is "This Week"—the part of the show that presents new performers, as well as established artists, in brief appearances usually timed to coincide with their openings at night clubs or coffeehouses, releases of new recordings and concert appearances. "This Week" thus provides a capsule glimpse of the Canadian entertainment scene, not only in Toronto, but in other major Canadian centres.

Juliette's musical director, the distinguished composer-arranger-conductor Lucio Agostini, has added his talents to the show for the first time this season, along with the Art Hallman Singers. Stan Sellen and other designers have been experimenting with more structurally simple settings.

Mark Warren, who gained valuable experience as floor director and close associate of Paddy Sampson in such productions as the Festival Duke Ellington special and Show of the Week's Harry Belafonte hour, took over direction and production of the Juliette show last fall. Warren, a former U.S. Air Force accountant, fell in love with Canada during an assignment in Ottawa several years ago and stayed on to make a career in television. So far as is known, Warren is the first Negro to be appointed a producer by a North American television network.

This year as usual, of course, Juliette welcomes many distinguished Canadian and foreign guest stars. On her March 12th show Jackie Vernon is the special guest.

Vernon's style of comedy is sometimes labelled "deadpan." However, as a national magazine critic put it, Vernon's pan isn't dead; it's dying, painfully, by degrees.

Vernon's "shtick," as they say, is that of the classic loser. His act, always in the same utterly deadpan minor key, begins with an apology: "I'm only doing this because I couldn't get a job in my regular line of work. I'm a Viking." He always does and says the wrong thing, offending everybody. On breadlines, he asks for toast. When President Johnson declares war on poverty, he nips out and throws a hand grenade at a beggar.

During the next few weeks, Juliette's guests will include harmonica virtuosi, The Three Reeds, singers Elan Stuart and Dave Higgins, and the vocal trio, The Willows.

DANNY THOMAS

Takes to Boots-and-Saddle Music

Danny Thomas and Eddie Arnold

Unaccustomed as he is to sagebrush and the wide open spaces, Thomas gallops through a special with Country and Western stars Sunday, March 13th, at 9:00 p.m.

From left, Eddy Arnold, Danny Thomas, Kay Starr, Pat Buttram and Bobby Vinton.

DANNY THOMAS, self-styled "Toothless Lion" of comedy, who starred for 11 years in his own family series on U.S. television, gets back to grass roots in an hour-long variety special to be seen on CBC-TV this Sunday night, March 13th, at 9:00, pre-empting Bonanza for this occasion. The funnyman's guests on the show, which is subtitled Danny Thomas Goes Country and Western, will be Kay Starr, husky-voiced night club and recording artist who likes to think of herself as a "hillbilly who made good"; Eddy Arnold, a leading country-style recording artist who calls himself the "Tennessee Ploughboy"; Pat Buttram, a comic hayseed who has made a successful career out of playing second bananas; Bobby Vinton, young recording singer; and the Doodletown Pipers.

Danny Thomas will sing Give Me Back My Boots and Saddle; Kay Starr sings Wabash Cannonball and joins Thomas for Nobody's Business but My Own; Eddy Arnold sings I Want to Go With You; Bobby Vinton sings Ghost Riders in the Sky; Pat Buttram calls a square dance; and the Doodletown Pipers play a barn medley.

Thomas, who says he chews tobacco because it keeps his mouth clean, and sleeps with the lights on because he spent so many years working in dimly lit night clubs, first hit the big time in the old radio program, Baby Snooks. He started out as a candy-seller in a burlesque theatre, broke into showbusiness as an Al Jolson imitator, became a radio entertainer in 1932, and has been broadcasting regularly ever since.

Shamrock Time Again

Special programs during this week
mark St. Patrick's Day.

OFFICIALLY there are nearly 2,000,000 Canadians of Irish extraction, roughly 10 per cent of the total population. This week, however, the number claiming affinity with the Emerald Isle will be at least double or treble the Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures, in anticipation of March 17th, the festival of Magonus Succetus Patricius—better known as St. Patrick, the apostle of Ireland.

According to entries in the Irish Annals, this year will be the 1,505th anniversary of his death, and in commemoration pilgrims from around the world will journey to Mount Patrick near the village of Saul in northern Ireland (where he is said to have landed from France in 432). Those who can't make it that far will be celebrating anyway, Irish or not.

As usual, most of the variety programs on radio and television will have an Irish flavor to them this week (such as The Gordie Tapp Show on radio, week-days at 1:15 p.m., and The Peggy Neville Show on television, Wednesdays at 7:45 p.m.).

From Winnipeg, where the latter show originates, comes this week's edition of the radio series Between Ourselves (Wednesday, March 16th at 8:00 p.m.), which is wholly Irish in content. Sub-titled The Land Whose Love Gives Thee No Rest, it is a personal account written and narrated by Anthony Ross, who emigrated to Canada from Ireland and after eight years here yielded to nostalgic desire for his homeland and returned. But he found that in the years away from home Ireland had changed a good deal. The most apparent change was in the social structure of the country, with the island being transformed from a cottage society to an industrial one—for better or worse he cannot be sure. Mr. Ross now is back in Canada, as CBC radio drama producer in Winnipeg.

On this program there is a selection of some of the music of modern Ireland not previously heard over here. The Land Whose Love Gives Thee No Rest also includes interviews with the people of Ireland who voice their feelings about their country as it prepares to celebrate the 50th anniversary of its independence.

NHL Hockey

The Detroit Red Wings play the Montreal Canadiens at the Montreal Forum. Danny Gallivan describes the action and Frank Selke provides the color commentary.

Juliette

Songstress-hostess Juliette welcomes comedian Jackie Vernon as guest.

Manitoba's inland fishing industry is subject of This Land of Ours, Saturday at 6:00 p.m. on CBC-TV.

VIOLENCE:

An Accepted Part of Life?

HERITAGE, Sunday, March 13th, deals with the types of violence encountered today.

IN THIS AGE of speed, when young people feel they must grab at life with a kind of fury, and violence and bloodshed are creeping closer to the norm, psychologists and social workers are disturbed by the apathy with which even our enlightened citizens greet each new report of murder, rape, wounding and property damage. "I'll worry when I get stabbed," is the way one executive shrugs it off. "Something's got to be done, but the situation looks kind of hopeless," says a suburbanite. All most of them want to know about violence is what they read in the papers.

Canadians were shocked in 1964 when New Yorkers who heard a woman's shrieks while being murdered did nothing. But more recently Torontonians stood indifferently by in a shopping plaza during a savage clash that could have ended in murder. "People won't talk," a detective explains, "because they figure they'll get their names in the papers. They're frightened because if someone finds out they've talked, then some hood's going to get them through their kids."

A nightclub bouncer who is involved with violence almost daily, blames parents for the current lawlessness. "They're not disciplining kids at home like we were," he says. "I was one of seven, and I remember as a kid that if I spoke back to a teacher or a cop, I'd get my head kicked in. Today 10-year-old kids are talking back to teachers and the teachers are scared to do

Program Notes

MARCH 13th

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

CBWT—Extension

Ideals of Democracy and Social Reality. The tenth in a series which compares the ideals of democracy to the social realities of our age. This week, Professor Gad Horowitz of McGill University discusses Origin and Change in Politics with his guest, Professor Charles Taylor of the University of Montreal. The program answers the questions: "What do we mean when we say Liberal, Conservative, Socialist, Communist? Where did these ideologies originate and how have they changed through the years?"

French for Love

Horn of Plenty. Features Roger Dauphin as a husband who becomes a little unnerved when his wife, played by Luce Guilbeaut, returns from shopping.

Through the Eyes of Tomorrow

1. Mania! What makes teenagers go virtually insane over film stars and rock singers? What's behind the screams, gyrations, and popping eyeballs of teenage mania? Hosts Paul Saltzman and Janet McQuillan welcome The Sparrow, a new rock group, and Dr. Karl Stern, eminent Montreal psychiatrist and author, for a discussion of this little understood subject. Dr. Stern, psychiatrist-in-chief of St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal, is the author of such international best-selling books as Pillar of Fire, The Third Revolution and The Flight From Women.

2. Dr. D. R. Bohnen, head surgeon of Toronto's Mount Sinai Hospital, talks with the student panel about the medical profession as a career.

Some of Those Days

This week's program salutes the years 1947-48, when: the U.S. President was Harry Truman; and Thor Heyerdahl made his famous trans-Pacific voyage on the raft Kon Tiki. On television Milton Berle was king, and on Broadway, Brigadoon was the play to see. Bob Feller and Satchell Paige led the Cleveland Indians to a World Series victory; and at the 1948 Winter Olympics, a pretty young Canadian named Barbara Ann Scott won a gold medal for figure skating.

With regulars Roma Hearn, Gloria Weston, Pat Morgan and Lorraine McAllister. Host is Barney Potts. Orchestra conducted by Lance Harrison

Selections include:

Powder Your Face With Sunshine
Almost Like Being In Love
Mam'selle
The Gentleman Is a Dope
It's a Most Unusual Day

Heritage

Violence: The Barbaric Heritage. People who have confronted violence offer their views on the subject. They include Michael Waage, a Toronto social worker and former leader of a New York street gang called the Stone Killers; Brigadier J. A. Dextraze, CBE, DSO, CD, who served in the Canadian Army during the First World War and the Korean War; Jerome Laulich, project director of the Canadian Peace Research Institute; Dr. George Scott, psychiatrist, of Kingston Penitentiary; and Rev. W. E. Boothroyd, psychiatrist and theologian, Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto.

Wonderful World of Golf

Roberto De Vicenzo plays Tony Lema at Glyfada Golf Club, Athens, Greece.

A Place for Everything

Sea Islands. Canada is surrounded on three sides by the sea. Thousands of islands ring the mainland, and most of them are still uninhabited. But these lonely fortresses, guarded only by the ocean, are sanctuaries for a multitude of highly specialized animals. Plants and animals that flourish on the islands often follow a different evolutionary course from their mainland relatives.

The program includes film of Atlantic puffins, cowbirds, murres, razorbilled auks, gannets, kittiwakes, cormorants, and other birds.

Hymn Sing

Host Don Brown and Eric Wild's Hymn Sing Chorus present hymns and favorite religious music. Produced and directed by Don S. Williams. Selections:

Work, For the Night is Coming
Blessed Assurance Jesus is Mine
Awake My Soul Stretch Every Nerve
To Thee Be Praise and Glory
O Day of Rest and Gladness
Lord I Want to be a Christian
Jesus The Very Thought of Thee
Have You Talked To the Man Upstairs
Praise Him, Praise Him All Ye
Little Children
Hallelu, Hallelu
Down in My Heart

Perry Mason

The Case of the Avenging Angel.

Richard Carlson plays a ruthless star-maker who is slain in a recording studio.

Hank

Wedding Anyone? When a wedding reception to which Hank was planning to cater is cancelled, he attempts to avoid financial loss by plotting to marry off Coach Gazzaei.

Ed Sullivan

Guests include: singing star Pearl Bailey; comedian Jackie Vernon; comedy team Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster; and the puppet, the Italian Mouse.

Danny Thomas Special

Danny Thomas Goes Country and Western. The singer-comedian stars in this one-hour variety special with a country-and-western theme. His guests are Kay Starr, Eddy Arnold, Pat Buttram and Bobby Vinton, with the Doodletown Pipers. Musical highlights:

Give Me Back My Boots and Saddle ..... Danny
Wabash Cannonball ..... Kay Starr
Nobody's Business but
My Own ..... Danny and Kay
I Want To Go With You ..... Eddy Arnold
Ghost Riders In the Sky ..... Bobby Vinton
Square Dance ..... called by Pat Buttram
Barn Medley ..... Doodletown Pipers

WAYNE AND SHUSTER

are guests, with Pearl
Bailey, Jackie Vernon
and the Italian Mouse on . . .

Password

Celebrity guests this week are actress Lee Remick and dancer Ray Bolger. Allen Ludden is the moderator of the word association game.

Mainly for Women

1. Mrs. Arthur Weedon, who will be remembered for her guest appearance on the Mainly For Women Valentine show, talks about her experiences as chief cook on a British estate which later became the official summer residence of England's prime ministers. Mrs. Weedon also recalls performing on radio in Winnipeg in the early 1920s.

2. The World Through Children's Eyes Irene Chaikin comments on some paintings recently exhibited featuring children's art from Winnipeg and from Beersheeba in Israel. The contrast between the art of the two countries is particularly interesting.

Take Thirty

1. A film visit to a Mondrian exhibition and a discussion about the Mondrian trend and art.

2. A discussion with Sidney Bregmann, architect of the Toronto Dominion Centre, highest building in the Commonwealth.

Passport to Adventure

Host Elwy Yost introduces the film, Fighting O'Flynn, starring Douglas Fairbanks Jr., with Richard Greene and Helen Carter. Set in Ireland in the time of Napoleon, it tells the story of a poor Irish nobleman who wins fame and fortune when he foils a plot between an English traitor and French officers to wrest Ireland from Great Britain.

CBWT—Reach for the Top

Teams competing on tonight's show are from Margaret Barbour Collegiate, The Pas and Midland Collegiate, Carman.

Don Messer's Jubilee

Special guests are Joseph Wallin and Joyda Rueggerber, specialty dancers from Dartmouth, N.S. and Spryfield, N.S., respectively; and Phyllis Ensher, harpist from Halifax. Selections include:

I Had a Hat
The Isle of Innisfree
Shamus O'Brien

The Fugitive

The White Knight. Richard Kimble struggles into the intrigues of a politically ambitious man when he rescues a leading citizen and his woman companion from a plane crash.

Show of the Week

Carol + 2. A comedy and music special starring Carol Burnett and her guests, Zero Mostel and Lucille Ball. The show offers the unusual and exciting combination of the talents of the ebullient Miss Burnett, the freewheeling Miss Ball and the incomparable Mostel, star of Fiddler on the Roof and A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum on Broadway, and the off-Broadway production of Ulysses in Night Town.

The Sixties

The Needle Trades. A story on immigrants in Canada, dealing specifically with their work in the garment industry.

CBXT—To Have and to Hold

A series which provides a short course in marriage problems, such as finance, religion, and disputes over legal rights and responsibilities.

CBWT—Showcase

Say When. The second of a new panel game which probes into the history of Canada and explores our nation's past. Host is Ross Dobson and the announcer and "history voice" is Dave Brodie.

Participating as panelists this week are Ed Russenholt, farmer, writer and avid student of Manitoba history; May Liz Bayer, broadcaster, poet, and cultural liaison officer for Manitoba's Centennial Committee; Regis Bennett, Assistant Archivist for the Province of Manitoba, and specialist in western Canadiana; and James H. Gray, former Winnipeg journalist, now living in Calgary, and author of the forthcoming novel, The Winter Years, (to be published in the fall of this year by MacMillan of Canada).

Each panelist explores three moments in Canadian history and tries to discover events or historical personalities represented by three guest challengers. In the process many fascinating and exciting details of our rich cultural heritage are uncovered. Produced by Don Browne-Wilkinson.

CBXT—Keen Ice

A curling series based on the old Scottish game of points curling. This week Glen Gray meets Bob Pickering.

CBXT—Alfred Hitchcock

One of the Family. The nurse of a young child is suspected of murder. Starring Lilia Skala as the nurse.

2. Peggy MacFarlane and Larry Branter talk with Dr. Henry Ziehl and Prof. Titchner about the new experimental achievement laboratory in Edmonton.

Take Thirty

An interview with Dr. David Treat on Family Life Education.

Worlds in Contrast

Instinct of Learning. The purpose of a scientist's experiment of hand-rearing Kaspar, the red squirrel, out of sight and sound of all other red squirrels was to try to discover how much of a squirrel's behavior is in-born — how much he can do of his own accord without the example or help from other squirrels. Kaspar is fed on a diet of anything and everything except nuts until he is three months old. The great question is—what will happen when he is given the first nut of his lifetime.

Passport to Adventure

Host Elwy Yost introduces the second episode of Fighting O'Flynn, a tale of high adventure which stars Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Music Hop

Jeunesse Oblige. With host Daniel Graud. Guests are Chantal Vallee, Gilles Brown, Michele Richard, Marc Gelinas and Les Baronets.

CBBT—20th Century

Siege at Malta. Recounts the heroic story of the tiny Mediterranean island's perseverance under air attacks which hit the island unceasingly during the Second World War. Walter Cronkite and a camera crew visited the island to record the stories of people who lived through the siege.

Red Skelton Hour

Red's guests are comedian Stubby Kaye and songstress Petula Clark.

The Public Eye

Immigrant Education. Focuses on the problem of young teenage immigrants who have been allowed to drop out of our school system and tries to explain how and why this happens. Host Philip Deane talks to Ontario teachers, educational authorities and immigrant teenagers.

CAROL + 2

THE TWO other zanies who appear with Carol Burnett on her fifth special for CBS television are Lucille Ball and Zero Mostel. No singers or dancers, just the three clowns taking off on a wild hour of music and comedy. CBC-TV will present Carol + 2 on this week's Show of the Week (Monday, March 14th at 9:00 p.m.).

Carol's TV specials (previous ones were Julie and Carol at Carnegie Hall with Julie Andrews, Carol and Company with Robert Preston, Once Upon a Mattress, and Calamity Jane) have been widely acclaimed by viewers and critics alike, and some have been repeated because of a very real (Please turn to page 21)

Bob Hope Comedy Special

Starring comedian Bob Hope with guests Lee Marvin, Phyllis Diller and Pete Fountain.

Memorandum

On July 21, 1941, Hermann Goering sent a memorandum to Reinhardt Heydrich of the SS, instructing him to begin preparations for the "final solution to the Jewish question." This meant the systematic extermination of all Jews in Europe, and before the Third Reich collapsed, six million Jews had been annihilated. It has been said that "Auschwitz is the central fact experience of our generation." Two decades after the fact, the National Film Board sent a crew back to the scene of the crime with one of the survivors, Bernard Laufer, who now lives in Toronto.

Festival

Contre Basse. A short comedy about a man, a woman and a bass fiddle. A bass player, on his way to play at a society party in a country villa, stops for a swim in an inviting stream. When he emerges, he finds his clothes gone. A girl swimming nearby is in the same predicament. This is a situation where a bass case comes in handy.

The film was selected best short subject at the San Sebastian Festival, 1963, and was winner of a special award for originality and humor presented by the International Film Critics Association.

Murder by Memorandum

A Jew returns to the site of the Nazi death factories he escaped, in a film seen Wednesday at 9:30 p.m.

Bernard Laufer

ON JULY 21st, 1941, Herman Goering sent a memorandum to Reinhardt Heydrich of the S.S., instructing him to begin preparations for the "final solution to the Jewish question" — the systematic extermination of all Jews in Europe. Before the Third Reich collapsed, six million Jews had been "exterminated." This act of meaningless annihilation, performed in the name of a cultivated and highly civilized people, has been described as "the most perfect manifestation of evil since the beginning of time. Auschwitz is the central fact experience of our generation."

Last summer, 20 years after the

MARCH 17th

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

MURDER BY MEMORANDUM (Continued from page 17)

Canadian School Telecasts

Depths Beneath (Grades 5-8). The science of oceanography. Today, The Chain of Life.

CBXT—Girl Talk

Actresses Maureen O'Sullivan and Julie Sargent, and housewife Mrs. Howard Facklam discuss widows. Moderator is Virginia Graham.

Password

Celebrity guests this week are actress Lee Remick and dancer Ray Bolger. Allen Ludden is the moderator of the word association game.

Take Thirty

Guest for St. Patrick's Day is Shaun

Herron, editorial writer for the Winnipeg Free Press. His observations are autobiographical and range into the Irish character with special emphasis on the Irish missionary spirit.

Worlds in Contrast

Cairngorm Country. Peter Scott takes viewers on a journey by highland pony through the National Native Reserve, Strathspey, Scotland. He stops at intervals on the way up the Spey River to the summit of Cairngorm to look at wild life.

Passport to Adventure

Elwy Yost presents the final episode of Fighting O'Flynn in which O'Flynn, played by Douglas Fairbanks Jr., clashes with an English traitor, played by Richard Greene.

Hogan's Heroes

Masquerading as an East African ruler, Sergeant Kinchloe haggles with the Germans over a big diplomatic deal while the real prince is secretly held by Hogan.

Seaway

The Viking. At the site of the Welland Canal construction excavations, a woman archaeologist discovers what looks like a Viking axe. She goes to Admiral Fox demanding that all work on the canal cease until the relic is authenticated.

Starring Stephen Young as Nick King and Austin Willis as Admiral Fox. Guest stars are Walter Abel, Irene Mayeska, Arch McDonnell, Vernon Chapman, Douglas Master, Rick Campbell and John Anthony.

I Dream of Jeannie

My Master, the Great Rembrandt. Jeannie changes Tony's painting for a benefit art auction into a genuine Rembrandt.

Telescope

The Cowboy Artist. A profile of Charlie Beil of Banff, who is a world-famous Western Canadian sculptor, commissioned by royalty and ranchers alike.

The Serial

The Hunt on Happy Anne. Wild horses are to small ranchers in the Cariboo Country what locusts are to prairie farmers. When Frenchie Bernard spots a herd of them grazing on Happy Anne meadow, he organizes a hunt and forces his reluctant son, Hector, to join it.

Cast includes Joseph Golland, Eva Marie Theren, Patrick Ringwood and Lloyd Berry.

fact, the National Film Board sent a crew back to the scene of the crime with one of the death camp survivors, Bernard Laufer, a Toronto glass-cutter, and his 18-year-old son, Joey. Twenty-four years earlier, Laufer had been classified as sub-human. He survived 11 death camps. Memorandum, the hour-long NFB film about Laufer's return to Germany with 30 American Jews, will be presented on CBC-TV on Wednesday night, March 16th, at 9:30 p.m. It was written by Donald Brittain and directed by him and John Spotton.

The film stresses not the monstrosity but the very ordinariness and banality of this extraordinary crime. The cameraman moves with Laufer through Germany on a pilgrimage to the site of the Bergen Belsen Concentration Camp, occasionally cutting away to cover events in other places which were taking place simultaneously in Germany, Poland and Austria. The cameras move to Dachau, where German doctors performed what they called "terminal experiments" on their captives, and on to Auschwitz, the largest death factory of them all, where an average of 2,700 a day met death, 2½ million in 2½ years. German soldiers forced Laufer to help build that camp. His parents were exterminated there. On the day Laufer was touring these death sites, some of those responsible for them were on trial in Frankfurt. Six were sentenced to life at hard labor; some got lighter sentences; some were acquitted. "Who," the film asks, "will ever know who murdered by memorandum, who did the filing, and the typing, and the sorting from nine to five? . . . And if it could happen in the fairyland of Hansel and Gretel and the Pied Piper of Hamelin, could it not happen anywhere?"

Pianist Glenn Gould and violinist Yehudi Menuhin combine their formidable talents in a CBC-TV Festival concert to be seen later this year.

Mainly for Women

1. Walter Furst explains the intricacies of the light bulb from the usual household type to bulbs that are designed to burn for 1,000,000 hours.

2. Elizabeth Hammond of the shoe information bureau of Canada tells of the improvements made in the fittings of children's shoes and the latest stylings in fashion footwear.

3. Singer Lise Dubuc and pianist Tommy Banks entertain today.

Take Thirty

Compares the attitudes toward love, courtship and marriage in the West and in the Soviet Union and discovers that in spite of a number of illuminating contrasts due to historical and political reasons, the basic attitudes are surprisingly similar.

Worlds in Contrast

Well Shot! Peter Scott introduces four award films submitted in the first natural history film competition organized by the BBC and the Council for Nature:

1. The Marsh. Pevensey Marsh, concentrating on its varied bird life.

2. The Three Graces. Derbyshire — the home of the mute swan, great crested grebe and the kingfisher.

3. Close-ups of all sorts of animals: prawns, starfish, caterpillars and newts.

4. Abisko Summer. Features bird-watching.

CBXT—Lost in Space

Smith's greediness causes a strange rubberoid creature to reclaim a magic cerebral machine that Will found in an abandoned spaceship and which materializes wishes. Starring Guy Williams and June Lockhart.

Get Smart

Hubert's Unfinished Symphony. Agents 86 and 99 discover that the last six notes of a murdered composer's unfinished symphony spell out the name of the new KAOS mister big.

The Tommy Hunter Show

With vocalist Tommy Hunter and the Rhythm Pals, Pat Hervey, Al Cherny, Maurice Bolyer and musical director Bert Noisi. Tonight's show features a square dance party, with square dance club members from Ontario centres, as well as the Tommy Hunter Show dancers.

Friday Night Movies

Fever in the Blood. The story of an idealistic judge presiding at a sensational murder trial who is caught up in a rough-and-tumble gubernatorial fight. Opposing him for the governorship is an ambitious district attorney trying to further his political goals with a flamboyant prosecution of the accused murderer.

Starring Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Angie Dickinson, Jack Kelly and Don Ameche.

popular demand. She had her first success as a comedienne with a number called I Made a Fool of Myself Over John Foster Dulles, written by Ken Welch (who has written for her ever since and contributes special musical material to the present show).

Zero Mostel has just finished the film version of the Broadway hit he starred in for so long, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum. His other big Broadway success was last year's Fiddler on the Roof. Off-Broadway his other notable successes were Ulysses in Night-town, based on a section of the James Joyce book, and Ionesco's Rhinoceros.

Carol + 2 is produced and written by Nat Hiken and directed by Marc Breau, with orchestra under the direction of Harry Zimmerman.

The CBC-TV Friday Night Movie at 9:00 p.m., stars Efrem Zimbalist Jr., and Angie Dickinson in The Fever in the Blood.

2:00 p.m.—Metropolitan Opera

Manon Lescaut, by Giacomo Puccini, with Raina Kabaivanska as Manon Lescaut, Richard Tucker as Des Grieux, William Walker as Lescaut, Manon's brother, Charles Anthony as Edmund, and Elifego Esparza as Geronte. Conductor is Kurt Adler. Time, the 18th century. Places, Amiens, Paris, Havre and New Orleans.

Act 1. Before an inn. Crowd strolling about; men drinking and gaming. Students waiting for the girls to come from work. Edmund sings of youthful pleasure. The girls appear, Des Grieux enters, but is melancholy and does not join the other students. They joke with him. Manon and Lescaut descend from the coach. Des Grieux is enchanted with Manon. He approaches her when Lescaut enters the inn; she promises to meet him later. Lescaut returns with Geronte, who is also captivated by Manon, saying she will only be wasted upon a convent. He plans to carry her off, while Lescaut is engaged at cards, but Edmund, overhearing, suggests to Des Grieux to flee with Manon himself in the old roué's post-chaise. Manon appears, and they depart together. Geronte and Lescaut arrive upon the scene as they disappear.

Act 2. Paris; room in Geronte's house, where Manon is installed as his mistress, having left Des Grieux when his money gave out. The hairdresser has come, and while he is arranging her hair she talks with Lescaut, who congratulates her. Manon is sad and her thoughts turn to Des Grieux. Geronte is too old and wicked and he bores her. Singers enter to amuse her. Geronte brings a dancing master. The men go to stroll along the boulevards. Des Grieux suddenly appears. As they renew their vows Geronte returns unexpectedly. He salutes them ironically, reminding Manon of his many favors to her. She replies that by looking in his mirror he will see that she cannot love him. Bowing low he leaves them. Lescaut enters in breathless haste, making signs that they must depart immediately. Manon snatches up her jewels and they go to the door. It is locked by Geronte's order. A squad of soldiers appear to arrest Manon who in trying to escape drops the jewels at Geronte's feet. She is dragged off and Des Grieux is not permitted to follow her.

Act 3. Havre. A square near the harbor. Manon is in prison and Lescaut and Des Grieux linger near. By talking to her through the bars they learn that she is to be deported to America. Vainly they attempt a rescue. The guard appears, escorting a group of women who are going on the same ship as Manon. She walks among them pale and sad. The crowd makes brutal comments. Des Grieux, going to Manon's side, is roughly pushed away by the sergeant, but the captain of the ship, seeing his intense grief, allows him to board the ship.

Act 4. A plain near New Orleans. Manon and Des Grieux appear, half dead with fatigue. They do not know where to go for shelter. Des Grieux is alarmed by Manon's appearance and goes to look for water for her. Manon thinks he has left her forever. He returns, frantically calling her, but she is beyond human aid and dies in his arms.

BILLY ROSE

Larger-than-Life Impresario

Flamboyant showman Billy Rose is heard Sunday at 10:30 p.m. in a conversation recorded shortly before his death.

WHEN BILLY ROSE died a few weeks ago he was a little short of the goal he had set for himself — to make $100,000,000. A few years ago the target was $50,000,000, but as in everything that Billy planned, he had to go on to something bigger. One of the greatest impresarios of the American theatre, Billy Rose's own life was something like the extravaganzas he staged.

He came out of the lower East Side of New York, where he was born, and made his name at the age of 17 as the national shorthand speed champion, reputedly able to take 200 words a minute writing backwards or forwards with either hand. When the United States declared war in 1917 he served as a stenographer for the War Industries Board, a job that brought him into contact with the biggest industrialists in the nation. After the war he became chief stenographer to the financier Bernard Baruch, from whom he picked up a lot of tips that later led to shrewd investments.

What started Billy Rose on the way to becoming a multi-millionaire was song-writing. Having heard that song-writers, even the second-rate ones, could make a great deal of money, he spent five months at the New York Public Library studying the popular songs of the previous 50 years to discover what made a hit. Tin Pan Alley wasn't impressed by Billy Rose at first, but his persistence finally paid off. His first published song, in collaboration with Irving Bibo, sold 100,000 copies and earned him $5,000. That was Ain't Nature Grand. His next, You Tell Her — I Stutter, sold 700,000 copies, and in 1922 he hit the big time with Barney Google — sheet music copies and records numbered in the millions. That Old Gang of Mine repeated the success a year later and Billy never looked back.

During the Prohibition era he combined song-writing with managing a new style of entertainment, the night-club. The Back Stage Club was his first, followed by several others, the most famous of which was the Diamond Horseshoe. Today Billy Rose's name is best remembered in connection with the great spectacles he staged. There was the Fort Worth Frontier Days Celebration of 1936-37, the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland in '38, the New York World's Fair Aquacade of 1939. And on Broadway, where he became another Ziegfeld, there was the Rodgers and Hart circus-musical Jumbo, Bizet's opera Carmen transformed into Carmen Jones, and Cole Porter's Seven Lively Arts.

In addition to all this he published the book Wine, Women and Words and wrote a column, Pitching Horseshoes, that was published in 400 daily and 2,000 weekly newspapers. Married five times (twice to the same woman) he lived in a five-storey town house in New York that was described as a palace. A year before he died he gave the National Museum of Israel a collection of sculpture estimated to be worth $1,000,000 or more. When his press agent put out a story that Billy Rose had made $10,000 an hour on the stock exchange since 1963, Rose had to admit ruefully that it wasn't strictly true. Actually, when the figures were carefully scrutinized, his earnings worked out to an average of $8,733 an hour.

On radio's Project '66 this week the showman will be heard in a program recorded last year in New York, when he was interviewed by John Nebel. Howard Engel is the producer.

'Not Really Revolutionary' — But Certainly Different

ILLUMINATION I by Otto Joachim, a CBC-commissioned work which is probably the most extraordinary chamber composition ever written by a Canadian, will have its world première on CBC Tuesday Night, March 15th, at 8:30 p.m.

Although Mr. Joachim describes his work as "not really revolutionary," it employs no conductor and no score. Large charts containing music graphs and notes of varying size are in front of the musicians. Light beams are aimed Indo-Chinese War of 1946-1954 (with the French), as background to the current Second Indo-Chinese War; the significance of the Geneva Agreements; the roles of Ho Chi Minh and Ngo Dinh Diem, the fact or fiction of the two Viet Nams; and the military versus the political factors.

Today, Colonialism, Nationalism and Communism.

3:30 p.m.—Prairie Concert

Recorded orchestral music prepared by Bernard Deaville.

The Capitol Symphony Orchestra conducted by Carmen Dragon:

Prelude to Act 3 of

Lohengrin ..... Wagner

The Columbia Symphony Orchestra conducted by Bruno Walter:

Siegfried Idyll ..... Wagner

4:03 p.m.—Canadian Showcase (CBK only)

Highlights of a recent concert by the Saskatoon Symphony Orchestra.

11:00 p.m.—Monday Concert

The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Meredith Davies, with mezzo-soprano Carolyn Stanford and pianist Anton Kuerti:

Concerto No. 1 for Piano and Orchestra ..... Morawetz

Concerto No. 19 in F for Piano and Orchestra (K. 459) ..... Mozart Sheherazade ..... Ravel

at the musicians by means of an electronic board controlled by the composer from a booth high above the stage.

In his own words, Mr. Joachim describes the unique musician-composer relationship as follows: "Each musician has a big sheet of music before him with 20 or 25 musical sentences on it. The musicians himself can choose what he plays, but through the light beams, the composer has control of each musician, meaning he is receiving as much or as little light as the composer desires. The light determines the speed and dynamics of the section which the musician has chosen to play. If I don't like what the musician has picked for any particular combination, I can fade him out."

At the tape-recording for the première broadcast, when Montreal producer Lawrence Taylor signalled for the broadcast to begin, the studio was in total darkness. Dramatically, light began to play on the musicians singly and in groups, and the performance was underway. Five musicians participated: Wolfgang Kander, flute; Michael Romandini, guitar; Gilles Tremblay, piano; Guy Lachapelle and Louis Charbonneau, percussion; with actress Marilyn Lightstone reading poems by the award-winning Canadian poet, Arthur Purdy. Miss Lightstone, well known in Montreal and Toronto as an actress, was also controlled by light beams; therefore, the entire production was subject to chance glimpses of their charts by the musicians and recitalist.

"However, the music is not exactly random," Mr. Joachim explains. "It is aleatoric or, one might say, controlled random. I have composed this work according to the 12-tone row and with a mathematically derived scheme. Therefore, it definitely has unity, and its unity is maintained by giving the musicians the right amount of light during the performance."

During the initial studio production, the musicians used their creative imaginations to contribute anything because the parents are calling the shot on how their kids are to be treated. This is where the trouble starts."

This Sunday, March 13th, at 3:30 p.m., CBC-TV's Heritage presents a many-sided view of Violence: The Barbaric Heritage. It was written by George Salverson and directed and produced by Dick Knowles, the same team responsible for the March 6th Heritage program about a gentler emotion: love.

A variety of people who have encountered violence at close range will offer their opinions about its cause. They include Michael Waage, a Toronto social worker and former leader of a New York street gang called the Stone Killers; Brigadier J. A. Dextraze, CBE, DSO, CD, who served in the Canadian Army during the First World War and in the Korean War; Jerome Laulich, project director of the Canadian Peace Research Institute; Dr. George Scott, a Kingston psychiatrist who also works with inmates at the penitentiary there; and the Reverend W. E. Boothroyd, a psychiatrist and theologian attached to Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto.

CBC TUESDAY NIGHT—9:00 and 10:35

Composer Anton Bruckner

OVER THE NEXT few weeks several CBC radio programs will focus on composer Anton Bruckner, a timid 19th-century man of simple piety who wrote with extraordinary magnificence, but who has been neglected in Canada until recently. On March 15th at 9:00, CBC Tuesday Night presents an hour-long documentary study of Bruckner the Man. Written by Jack Diether, an American authority on Bruckner and Mahler, it illuminates the unusual life and personality of one of the great Austrian musicians. Bruckner rose from the Roman Catholic peasantry to become the unwitting standard-bearer for the ardent followers of the revolutionary musical philosophy of Wagner, and the composer of massive symphonies of rock-like majesty and power. Production will be by Robert Chesterman in the Vancouver studios.

At 10:35 CBC Tuesday Night will present a performance of the Bruckner String Quintet, by Mildred Goodman and Eugene Husaruk, violins; Leslie Malowaney, viola; Otto Joachim, viola (whose Illumination I will receive its first performance the same evening); and Walter Joachim, 'cello. The following Tuesday night, March 22nd. The Festival Singers of Toronto and a woodwind ensemble will present a performance of Bruckner's Mass in E Minor, with Nicholas Goldschmidt conducting.

Music scholar Deryck Cooke describes Bruckner as "one of the great refashioners" of music, and points out that there is not the slightest ground for the widespread view that his unorthodox structures are merely a spectacular mishandling of orthodox symphony form. He knew what he was doing and it was something quite unprecedented. To express his own personal vision he had to create a new type of symphony—vast, stark, rough-hewn and monumental. And in undertaking one of the most difficult tasks in the whole of music there are moments when even his warmest admirers feel that he's lost his way. Bruckner was born in 1824 to a poor village schoolmaster at Ansfelden in Upper Austria. With peasant-like tenacity he acquired a formidable knowledge of the most obsolete "strict" methods of composition. When his appointment as organist in the cathedral of Linz meant that for the first time he was able to hear, in a local opera house, the music of Wagner—Tannhauser—this tremendous experience acted as the catalyst that crystalized his latent genius. He grafted elements of Wagner's romanticism to the solid technique he had already acquired, trying to do for the symphony what Wagner was doing for opera, and by the 1860s he had found his individual voice as a composer. At first his bitter reward was vituperative newspaper criticism by Brahms enthusiasts, but the tide eventually swung to his favor, and he enjoyed triumph after triumph in his last 10 years.

chief at St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal, has been invited by co-hosts Paul Saltzman and Janet McQuillan to present the psychiatrist's view of Beatlemania and other expressions of teen-age exuberance. Also appearing on this edition will be one of the groups that bring on this frenzy, a new group from Toronto called The Sparrow. The five who comprise The Sparrow are: Goldie McJohn, organ; Nick St. Nicholas, bass; Jerry Edmonton, drums; Dennis Edmonton, guitar; and John Kay, guitar. All are in their early 20s.

On the latter part of the program Dr. D. R. Bohnen, F.A.C.S., F.R.C.S.(C.), will be talking with the student panel and answering their questions about the medical profession as a career choice. Dr. Bohnen is surgeon-in-chief at Toronto's Mount Sinai Hospital.

Through the Eyes of Tomorrow, a new program series with a magazine format designed especially for young people, is produced by Perry Rosemond. From time to time, as in the case of next week's program, Anthony Ross reminisces about Ireland, his homeland, Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. on Between Ourselves. After living in Canada eight years, Ross gave in to homesickness and returned to Ireland. But now, two years later, he is back in Canada.

dramas are presented on this series. The first of two half-hour dramas, entitled The Life of Jackson Piper, by Brian Silversides, will be telecast next Sunday (March 20th). Herbert Roland is the producer/director of dramas and Neil Andrews the director of music for the series.

OTTO JOACHIM

to the work. Pianist Gilles Tremblay added to the unusual sound effects by throwing a large chain inside the piano and banging on the piano with a mallet at appropriate moments. Inevitably each rendition of Illumination I will vary greatly. "There is not a chance in a million that any two playings would be exactly the same," the composer says.

Can banging on a piano be classified as music? "There is good noise and bad noise," Mr. Joachim declares. "Anything which makes noise . . . which can be organized . . . which is agreeable — that is music. What is the difference between banging on a piano and banging on a drum, except that the drum is more sonorous and recognized by the public as a musical instrument?"

What is acceptable to the public all depends on the century in question and on the type of music played, the composer points out. "Using the tritone as an interval was punishable during the Middle Ages. During the 12th century, everything was taboo which was not the school of Notre-Dame. After the Organum, parallel fifths and fourths were forbidden. So you see, musical ideas and opinions have varied enormously over the centuries."

Mr. Joachim agrees that, if performed on stage or television, light would enhance the enjoyment of Illumination I. An element of suspense would be added. As light flashed on a particular musician, audience interest would heighten, knowing that individual was about to perform. However, Mr. Joachim is pleased that the première performance is being given on radio. "If the work can't stand on its own feet without light, then it isn't a success," he says firmly.

A native of Düsseldorf, Otto Joachim composed his first major work at the age of 18, a symphonic poem entitled Asia, written for large orchestra. His musical development has passed through several stylistic phases, such as melodism, the influence of Bartock, and duotonicity until, in 1953, he began writing in the 12-tone technique.

Symphony in D major (K. 385)*

THE CBC's seventh national radio competition for young Canadian musicians and singers will conclude on Thursday, March 17th, with a gala two-hour concert. It will be broadcast at 8.00 p.m. from the MacMillan Theatre of the Edward Johnson Building, University of Toronto. Eight artists will be competing for top honors in each of four categories: voice, keyboard instruments, string instruments, and woodwind and brass instruments.

Two distinguished Canadian musicians, Sir Ernest MacMillan and Wilfrid Pelletier, will alternate as conductors. During the broadcast the winners will be chosen, and prizes awarded.

The judges will be John Avison in Vancouver, Dr. Boyd Neel in Toronto, John Newmark in Montreal, and Raoul Jobin in Quebec City.

Two prizes will be given in each of the four categories. The first prize in each is $1,000, plus an amount up to $500 towards tuition fees for further studies in the academic year following the competition. First-prize winners will also be offered a CBC recital engagement, and may be invited to appear with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra in its annual student concert series. The second prize in each category is $500.

This year's Talent Festival began in the last week of November after almost a year of preparation, during which brochures were mailed out to centres across the country, outlining the contest rules, conditions and awards; applicants were auditioned at various centres by a travelling group of representatives from the English- and French-language networks (the Festival is a co-operative venture between the two networks) and 40 auditionees were chosen to appear as contestants in the series.

Charlie's Been Singing All His Life

Don Messer's veteran Irish tenor has never been able to resist the impulse to break into song.

CHARLIE CHAMBERLAIN, featured vocalist on CBC-TV's Don Messer's Jubilee, was brought up on music. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain, was well known in their home town of Bathurst, N.B., as vocalist, organist and pianist.

A Bathurst resident recalls that even as a child Charlie had an urge to sing. "He didn't let the lack of musical accompaniment deter him — two sticks and a tin pan and he was ready to go. When he burst into song at play, passersby stopped to listen and comment at the richness of his childish voice."

As a young lad, Charlie went to work in New Brunswick lumber camps. In the evenings, he'd keep the other men entertained with his singing and guitar playing. One day in the early '30s Charlie was entertaining on a train when a Saint John businessman heard him and he was so impressed with his Irish songs and lumber camp tunes that he arranged a meeting between Charlie and Don Messer. And that's how his professional singing career started.

Don put Charlie on his New Brunswick Breakdown show, which originated from Saint John and was heard on the eastern network of the Canadian Radio Commission, a forerunner of the CBC. Charlie soon became known as the Singing Lumberjack.

Among the many humorous incidents that Charlie remembers from his early days as a radio entertainer was his first and only singing lesson. He was persuaded to take singing lessons and, as Charlie recalls: "I was a lanky young lumberjack just out of the woods and in the city for the first time. The teacher asked me to sing for her, but she kept stopping me to tell me how to hold my mouth, when to breathe, and all that kind of thing. When she told me I had to do all these things just to sing, I never went back."

Charlie always adds a touch of humor whenever he appears, and this, coupled with his good-natured personality and wide repertoire of songs, has made him a popular favorite. Although the years have somewhat roughened his tenor voice, his knack for touching the public heart has never failed.

Charlie and his wife Lydia, (whom he calls Ti Belle, French for "little beauty") celebrated their 33rd wedding anniversary in November of 1965. They have six grown-up children (Mary, 30; Muriel, 28; Anne Marie, 27; Donald, 24; David, 21; and Barry, 19) and several grandchildren.

Charlie likes to hunt and enjoys life on the road during the many tours Don Messer and His Islanders make across Canada.
