THE TOP RECORD &amp; MUSICAL WEEKLY

No. 164 Week ending May 13, 1961

Every Thursday, price 6d.

THE DICK CHARLESWORTH BAND—"A hit won't affect our policy at all."

Big award for Cliff, Shadows at Variety Club lunch

DATES FOR MATHIS FIXED

JOHNNY MATHIS' three London concerts in July will be at the New Victoria Cinema on July 14 and the Gaumont, Hammersmith, on July 15 and 16. Ted Heath and his Music will accompany Johnny at all three concerts.

Provincial dates are also being arranged during Johnny's visit, but details of these and a TV date, probably for Granada, had not been fixed as DISC closed for press.

THE fifth annual Golden Disc Luncheon held by the Variety Club of Great Britain will be a notable one for Cliff Richard and The Shadows, for both the singer and the group are to be presented with DISC's coveted award of a Silver Disc to mark sales in this country in excess of a quarter of a million. Cliff will receive his award for "Theme For A Dream" and The Shadows theirs for "F.B.I."

The presentation will be made by disc jockey David Jacobs and the luncheon is to be held today (Thursday) at the Dorchester Hotel in London.

Many stars of the pop world will be there to see the Discs awarded, among them Sophie Tucker, Shirley Bassey, Alma Cogan, Lonnie Donegan, Vera Lynn, Matt Monro, Joan Regan, Marion Ryan and the Beverley Sisters.

The luncheon precedes the Variety Club's annual Star Gala at the Festival Gardens, Battersea, which is being held on Saturday (May 13).

Film star Kenneth More will be the host for the day, and among the stars who will be present at this giant gala are Shirley Abicair, The Avons, Billie Anthon, Lionel Blair, Chris Barber, Max Bygraves, Shirley Bassey, Stanley Black, George Brown, Catherine Boyle, Eddie Colver, Teddy Johnson and Pearl Carr, Jess Conrad, Roy Castle, Shirley Eaton, Geraldine, Nat Gonella, Ronnie Hilton, Ted Heath, Max Jaffa, Vera Lynn, Dennis Looe, Adele Leigh, Joe Loss, Gary Mills, Jackie Rae and Janette Scott, Cliff Richard, The Shadows, Joan Regan, Peter Sellers, Tommy Steele, Harry Secombe, Cyril Stapleton, Cherry Wainer and Bert Weedon.

One of its big selling features—the supposedly "questionable lyrics"—wasn't even noticed, however, until Dick had sung it several times at a BBC rehearsal. But though it was cut out of a children's programme, there is no question of an official ban.

It has, in any event, already been played on "Housewives' Choice" and on "Pick of the Pops."

So the hard struggle since October, 1957 (when the band was first formed and when it won the South London Jazz Band Championship),

LET THE OLDIES DIE OUT!

PRIZE LETTER

THE hit parade is becoming infested with oldies—songs that should have been allowed to die a natural death soon after they were written. The public have shown no appreciation of the modern talent of songwriters such as Lionel Bart and Johnny Worth—they prefer to waste their money on the works of composers who belong to the 1920s or, in some cases, the nineteenth century.

This is 1961 and not 1921 or even 1951. Let us allow our music to develop and move with the times.—P. D. ROBBINS, Somerfield House, Marlborough College, Marlborough, Wilts.

CARBON COPIES

HOW I agree with reader Horrocks regarding dance bands putting on just carbon copies of current hit discs (DISC 294-61). Even Joe Loss is doing it.

Bands enjoy big listening figures at lunch-time airings, but instead of playing the top sides of a hit disc, could they not ring the changes and play B-sides?

What recently broke my heart was to hear Joe Loss play "The Marches" version of "Blue Moon." This is a standard he has played thousands of times, and he needn't have changed it for the pop fans.—JOHN WATERFIELD, 6, Wensbury Park Road, Plymouth.

SWINGING

THE big, swinging backings used recently by Bobby Darin and Matt Monro are a refreshing change from the usual guitar groups, and they are not only being bought by teenagers, but also by a big public normally not interested in conventional top ten patterns.—J. CROSS, 20, Hartley Crescent, Leeds 6, Yorks.

BAN BANS

RECENTLY, many complaints have been made against record companies for attempting to tell the public what type of records they should buy. Now the BBC have banned the original waxing of "A Hundred Pounds Of Clay."

No record should be banned by anyone. Treat the British public as if they were grown up and let THEM choose between good and bad quality.—PAUL GREGORY, The Cappie, Tytherington, Falfield, Glos.

HORRIBLE NOISE

IN my opinion some of the discs the Americans have put into their top twenty during the past few weeks are just a lot of noise made by horrible singers. Cathy Jean's "Please Love Me Forever" is fine example of this.

I am glad that none of these trash records finds a place in our charts, nor when we have such fine artists as Shirley Bassey, Matt Monro and Pet Clark.—BETTY ROLF, 20, Monk Street, St. Pauls, Bristol 2.

TRIUMPH

WHAT a great triumph Jerry Lee Lewis has achieved by getting into the U.S. charts again. After two years of exceptionally adverse publicity, followed by a year in retirement, he has scored with a revival of a 1959 hit, proving that you cannot keep real talent hidden for long. I suggest that record buyers listen to his pulsating "Whadd I Say?"

Post Bag

Each week an LP is awarded to the writer of the Prize Letter . . . and once a month there is a bonus prize of a Ronson lighter/ashtray set.

The address: Post Bag, DISC, Charles Buchan's Publications Ltd., 161, Fleet Street, E.C.4.

before wasting their money on gimmick-ridden publicity-driven discs like "You're Driving Me Crazy" and "Blue Moon." —RON ELLIS, "Diva," 52, Promenade, Southport, Lancs.

HONESTY

CONGRATULATIONS to Craig Douglas for having the honesty and guts to back up the BBC policy of vetting all records and banning the ones which, in their opinion, overstep the bounds of good taste (DISC, 22-4-61).

This frank statement by Mr. Douglas brings a breath of pure fresh air into a record industry where good taste has gone to the wall all too often in the fight to coax the cash out of the teenagers' pockets.

Let us hope that this candid self critical attitude spreads until the powers that be realise that with records, as with everything else, quality is always preferable to quantity.—C. NAYLOR, 15, Ednam Road, Dunkirk, Nottingham.

STEELE FAN

AS a Tommy Steele fan I was glad to find an article on him in DISC (294-61). However, after reading the first sentence, I was greatly insulted, for your reporter said "Tommy Steele used to be nothing more than a carbon copy of Elvis Presley."

I put it to you that Tommy never did copy Elvis and certainly he never engaged in the hip swivelling antics of Mr. P. He has always had his own terrific style, and today he is a far greater entertainer than any of his rock era counterparts.—TREVOR WESTWOOD, 23, North Street, Bony Hay, Walsall, Staffs.

NOW FOR PIGS?

OBVIOUSLY inspired by the success of the cows on The Ramrods' recording of "Riders in the Sky," it seems the songwriters have decided to follow up in similar trend with ponies.

What with "Pony Time," a big U.S. hit for Chubby Checker, "Pony Train," a close copy of this, recorded by Titus Turner, and "Pony Express," have our songwriters become a set of animal lovers?

How about "Pig Sty Rock" for our next release? Grants might go down well with our record-buying public.—P. F. BETTS, 175, Woolton Road, Beeston, Nottingham.

WE NEED THEM

I ENTIRELY disagree with J. A. Moodie's suggestion (DISC, 22-4-61) that Americans should be prevented from touring this country. It would mean losing such stars as Duane Eddy, Connie Francis, the Everly, Ella Fitzgerald, and Gene Vincent.

Can the people of Britain really imagine what our stage shows would be like without these American artists and others to back them?

We have only a limited number of true performers, and there could soon be more if we had to put up with the same five or six people all the time.—JENNIFER ALDRICH, 20, Shelley Gardens, North Westgate, Middle.

The Editor does not necessarily agree with the views expressed in Post Bag.

STAR TALK

by John Wells

A great week for Rolly

"THE most wonderful week of my life," said Rolly Daniels to me recently. And it wasn't only because of lucky breaks in his career. On top of the news that his Parlophone debut disc, "Late Late Night," was selling well, Rolly heard from his father whom he hadn't seen since 1947. It was in India that year that his parents separated. The reunion came about when Rolly's aunt saw his name in a local paper. She phoned his father who now has a grocery business at Breston, Notts. "This must be your boy," she told him. Rolly was on a train to Nottingham like a shot.

Regrettably the fact that he won't be playing at Lord Montagu's Beaconsfield Jazz Festival, Acker Bilk said: " . . . and there's good cider there, man."

Hank B. Marvin and Bruce Welch of The Shadows rate Bert Weedon Britain's "Mr. Guitar." They wrote his new Top Rank single for him and called it—"Mr. Guitar." Now Bert, also a top composer, is returning the compliment and writing a number for The Shadows. Look forward to seeing the title.

When the final programme in the present The Black And White Minstrel Show series was faded out last Saturday, it was estimated that they had performed over four hundred numbers—an average of one a minute.

Chris Barber wrote his latest Columbia release "St. George's Rag" while he was in St. George's Hospital a few years back. There, of course, rags are called "swabs."

TOMMY STEELE has discovered that it's a bit pointless keeping a speedboat on the Thames. The river restrictions prevent him from opening up the throttle. But he thinks he may have found the answer—buying a private lake where he can speed round to his ex-sailor's heart's content.

Garry Troxel, lead singer with The Electrodads, hardly gets a moment to himself these days. If he's not working 24 hours a day in the pay of the US Navy, where he's doing his national service, then he's either making records with his two partners Barbara and Gretchen or seeing his wife and their baby son. He's been in the Navy now for six months and the meetings all have to take place in either San Diego or Los Angeles where his ship docks.

At one time Gene McDaniels, singer of the original "A Hundred Pounds Of Clay," wanted to become a choral conductor. He did, in fact, write some very successful arrangements for a young gospel quartet.

Someone who could always be relied upon to give Etta James the help and encouragement she needed in her early days was Jackie Wilson. Says Etta, who is currently trying to repeat her American success over here with "At Last" on Pye, "I'm the only girl singer he'll have on a show with him."

DILLA REESE, born Delareese Taliferro, is a one-time protege of Mahalia Jackson. Mahalia discovered her when she was only 13 . . . they sang together for the next five summers.

"I took it so that I can quickly get into evening dress without having to go home to Dulwich to change for the evening." Quote from Jess Conrad explaining why he was spending £20 a week for a flat in Park Lane, Mayfair.

Johnny Gentle, "Darlin'" and "Pick A Star" on Philips, can still play on the same guitar he made on board ship when he was a sailor. He used to be a ship's carpenter on board a luxury liner and reckons that first "do-it-yourself" guitar started him on the way to a recording career.

"Love Bandit" on Capitol is not the first time you've heard Alicia Adams. She used to be a backing artist on records by Doris Day, Joni James, Rosemary Clooney, Sonny James, Bing Crosby, Dean Martin, Eddie Fisher, Tommy Sands and Tennessee Ernie Ford.

Things I Wish I'd Seen. At the opening of a new club in Streatham, Les Post Hiberns, Johnny Kidd and the Pirates met Nero and the Gladiators. I'm told that no gladiators walked the plank and no pirates faced the lions.

Like thousands, Cornelline Probst was an evacuee during the last war . . . only it was our bombs that she and her parents were escaping from. Cornelline, now known simply as Conn, is a German girl who recently made her disc bow over here with "Mid-Mistress."

This Pullover, Jess Conrad's latest release on Decca, is a song after his own heart—he loves them.

Virgil Johnson, who formed and now leads The Velvets, used to be a high school teacher in Texas. Two of the boys in the group were his pupils.

Temperance—according to my dictionary—means "Moderation, self-restraint, in speech, conduct, etc., and "total abstinence from alcoholic liquors as beverages . . . This hardly seems to fit The Temperance Seven, riding high—"With You're Driving Me Crazy." I'm told that all are quite partial to a glass of good old-fashioned beer . . . only Sheik Haroun Wadi El John, trombonist John R. Davis to you and me, has a tendency to ask for an orange juice.

A meeting to remember: The Pirates (Johnny Kidd's) and The Gladiators (Nero's).

Brenda Lee just laughs at those midget rumours

BRENDA LEE laughs when she hears the rumours that she is a 32-year-old midget. These rumours started mostly in newspapers in England and France . . . "I don't mind the midget part so much," she says, "I think it's kind of funny. It's the 32-year-old part. Think of my boy friends, and my mother, she would have to be a lot older than she is if I were 32."

Vic Damone has been booked for a tour of South America, beginning July 20. He'll perform in theatres, stadiums in Brazil, Argentina and Venezuela.

Actor George Hamilton, currently appearing in Where The Boys Are, has just cut his first record for Signet Records. The titles are "Jenny Angel" and "Our Love Isn't Just Another Thing." George is sure to be contacted with RCA Victor's George Hamilton IV. However, the latter is now concentrating on country and western music.

Capitol have started work on Marlene Dietrich's LP "Wiedersehen Mit Marlene." It is completely in her native German tongue, and the first of its kind she has ever made.

Columbia recording star Guy Mitchell has a regular role in NBC's "Whispering Smith" TV series which starts next week. In it Guy plays a Denver detective, George Romack. He will do very little singing in the series.

Julie London has just cut a sensational new album for Liberty called "Whatever Julie Wants." This should sell on the cover alone.

Duane Eddy will compose and record three original folk songs for MGM's forthcoming movie "A Thunder Of Drums," in which he makes his debut as an actor.

THIS month the Everly Brothers are launching their own record label. As they are under contract to Warner Bros., they will not be recording themselves, but will use the label to discover and develop new artists. The label is to be called Calico Records. The brothers have already produced their first single, and the records will be distributed by Warners.

Annette's filmed dance demonstrations to promote her new album "Dance Annette," on Vista, is knocking them cold wherever it is shown, mostly at teenage dances.

Capitol, owing to great demand, have just issued a stereo version of the best-selling LP "High Society," which, of course, features Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra and Louis Armstrong.

Mike Collier, assistant to Biago and Luigi of RCA Victor for the past two years, is leaving to form his own record label. No name has been decided upon yet. He has a number of artists signed already and the distribution will be handled by London Records. Mike has been instrumental in the past in making best-selling records with Delta Reese, Sam Cooke and Ray Peterson.

The return to Carnegie Hall of Judy Garland last week was recorded by Capitol Records for her next album. The A and R department caught not only Judy's voice, but the cheers and applause of the audience. New York music critics acclaimed her in their columns.

Owen Bradley, Decca's national country and western A and R director, has announced signing to a long term exclusive recording contract with known country and western duo Johnny And Jack. As a team Johnny And Jack have written over a hundred country songs and they are seen regularly on America's top C.W. programme "Grand Ole Opry."

COLUMBIA have re-signed Doris Day to a long term contract. This continues the association for the fifteenth year. Doris cut her first record for this company in 1946. The now popular motion picture and disc favourite has thirteen albums to her credit, the most recent being "Bright And Shiny." She has also had three million-seller singles—"Sentimental Journey," which she recorded when she was still with Les Brown and his band, "Que Sera," and "Secret Love." Best friends for many years, debut for Perry Como this week while Perry took time off to mourn the recent passing of his mother.

Record Producers Corporation recently hosted a huge press/DJ cocktail party at Hollywood's Plaza Hotel honouring movie stars Dick Powell, Jack Lemmon, Robert Taylor and Jane Wyatt, who have or will soon release LPs under the RPC banner.

Most new singers these days are young, but Gary Deeb takes the biscuit. He's only six, and people who have heard him say he is the hottest pint-sized talent since Brenda Lee was discovered. This youngster, apart from singing, plays piano, drums and guitar. Gary is recording on the same label as little Brenda . . . Decca.

Maurice Clark

Louis Armstrong and Duke Ellington have at last cut an album together. This is to be released later this year by Roulette.

MGM are planning to film in colour Connie Francis' complete act at New York's Copacabana this month. It will be made into a musical short for showing in the cinemas this summer.

350,000 servicemen helped Jeannie Thomas select the songs she sings on her first LP for the Strand label. "Jeannie Thomas Sings For The Boys"—titles that were most requested by the boys during her tours of the nation's military camps.

Ken Johns talks to MARTY WILDE about the musical that could change his whole career

JUST two weeks after he returned from filming "The Hellions" in South Africa, Marty Wilde started rehearsals for what could be the biggest and most important part he has yet tackled in show business—the role of rock singer Birdie in the smash-hit American musical "Bye, Bye Birdie," which opens in Manchester on May 25 and is due to move to the West End of London on June 15.

To find out how Marty is shaping up I called on him the other evening at the London theatre where he was going through one of his big numbers in the show, "You Gotta Be Sincere."

He looked tired but exceedingly confident.

After the number, we talked in the wings. I asked if he was finding any difficulty in the part.

"Not really," he said. "Everything's going fine, we've had a few rough days, but then you always expect birth pains. No, I can't say that I've had any problems, maybe I'll be doing more worrying after the opening night."

The only thing that has caused me a little bother is the southern American accent which I have to use throughout the play. But it's coming along fine."

The musical, which stars Chita

Marty learns South'n drawl for Birdie part

Rivera, of "West Side Story" fame, is about an arrogant rock 'n' roll singer who is idolised throughout the world and of his eventual call-up into the Army.

Marty naturally plays Birdie, the singer. How does Birdie compare with Marty?

"We're not at all alike," he said. "That's why I can't play this role as Marty Wilde."

"Ysee, Birdie loves drinking and likes having plenty of women around, he's vain and he's temperamental and yet his fans believe him to be the normal all-American boy when he's up there on stage. It really is a wonderful part and I'm lucky to get it. I'm glad that it has come at this stage of my career because a year or so ago I don't think I would have been ready for it. And besides, I lacked the confidence then."

"The outcome of the play is, of course, very important to me and my career. This is something I have been wanting to do ever since I came into the business and I'm going to make sure that I do it well and to the best of my ability. Of course, I'm tensed up. Everybody is! It's natural after all, but I'm not having any sleepless nights or anything like that."

I asked Marty how he would describe the musical.

"Well, it is more or less a satire. I wouldn't say that it is biting satire. It's a happy, laughable musical with absolutely no violence or anything like that. I'm sure it's going to make people laugh."

He will sing three big numbers, two of them in the rock idiom, called "You Gotta Be Sincere" and "One Last Kiss" and the other an up-tempo number called "Lot Of Living."

"I'll not be having a group with me on stage," said Marty. "I'll be putting all my trust in Alyn Ainsworth, who will be conducting the orchestra."

LP RECORDING PLANS

Marty told me about plans to record the show's dozen or so numbers. "We're hoping to do an LP a week after we've been up in Manchester. I don't know much about the arrangements at this stage but I think we shall possibly be coming down over the weekend to do the album, but I sincerely hope it'll be divided into a number of sessions. There'll be a lot of work to do when you consider that there are about a dozen big songs."

Marty had shaved off his beard which he grew for "The Hellions," but has left his long sideburns which he will keep for the run of "Bye, Bye Birdie."

The show has been a great hit in the States and it is still running successfully. It was also awarded the distinction of being voted the best musical of the year. Whether it will live up to the fine "West Side Story" which had previously occupied Her Majesty's remains to be seen. But from what I saw of the rehearsals they all seem to be having a wonderful try.

JACK

GOOD

"I quit if this isn't the disc of the year"

What a fantastic KO beat!

MAY we have a deafening fanfare of hooting saxophones followed by complete and absolute hush? Thank you. I, Jack Good, have just heard the best record of 1961. It doesn't appear in either the British or American charts, but it is destined to be number one in both.

If not, I am definitely going to hang up my rock 'n' roll shoes.

To the unsuspecting eye this disc looks like any other. In fact I believe its outward appearance is deliberately deceiving. The title on the Parlophone label fails miserably to inspire in me a whoop of wild abandon.

It reads "Hide Away"—calling to mind Hernando's rather square establishment—and the artist's credit goes to "Freddy King and his Orchestra." Sounds like one of those high society Hawaiian jobs. Very tasteful. This, I say to myself, is going to be a fully paid-up-Nothing.

But Ker-DOL-OI-OI-OI-OI-ING!!! readers we are in orbit. . .

The "orchestra" turns out to consist of piano, Fender bass, drums and guitar. No signs of a conductor. But, listeners and buyers, what a sound!

To get the full benefit of the spine-quivering rumble of the bass, play this on a good speaker with a big fat bass response. Guaranteed to rid yourselves of neighbours faster than the plague.

On a juke box that's in good condition "Hide Away" is the living end. It goes at a medium paced racy tempo—great for dancing.

Incorporated in the number are the themes of erstwhile hits "The Walk" and "Peter Gunn." Guitar lead is out of this world; likewise bass and piano and drums.

If there's a fault in this record it's that it isn't an LP. But wait! It has another side. I flipped it and it stopped me.

A slow blues with a vocal—presumably by Mr. Freddy King. On the strength of this one title this vocalist becomes one of my all-time favourites.

He hits as hard as Little Richard and has a lot of the feel of Ray Charles. And again this fantastic knock-out beat. Title—"I Love The Woman."

If you dig beat (and if you don't you're wasting your time reading this column) you must buy this record if you buy nothing else for the rest of the year.

I MENTIONED just now juke boxes... those in good condition. Permit me to have a bit of a blind. There are hardly any left are there?

At least not that I have come across... and I'm a juke box addict, pouring tanners in the can like crazy.

In the old days when there were a lot of new boxes around you used to get a terrific kick from the sound, but now they are just a pain in the neck.

The stylus tip is usually like a worn out ball bearing and consequently

BILLY FURY... "Don't let them do it to you."

I laughed
drain

I LAUGHED like a drain at Richard Adams' very amusing article in last week's DISC, "They Are Changing Billy Fury. And He Doesn't Even Know It."

Decca are going all out on this "New Billy" (they'll be calling him William soon!) Fury angle and what does Billy have to say? "It's the first I've heard about it." Good old Bill—don't let them do it to you, lad.

It's always the same. An artist does a record that's a bit different and his record company starts calling him NEW. Who on earth is supposed to be fooled by that? Anyway what about all the fans who like the OLD?

After all they've been the ones who have faithfully gone out and bought the singer's records as regular as clockwork. Don't they deserve some consideration?

Look what happened to the discs of the NEW Tommy Steele, the NEW Tommy Bruce and come to that the NEW Lonnie Donegan. Nothing. And the latest is the new Brenda Lee. Whilst Brenda has been trying the old bit of turning into belted singer—to tumultuous yawns from the fans—our own Helen Shapiro has slipped in smartly and stolen her thunder.

But back to Billy Fury. He hasn't made a disc which has sold less than 45,000 copies. So what's the crying need for a renovated Fury? Why is he so uncommercial about him?

Lonnie Donegan talks about...

Fewer songs —more gags

TONIGHT at 8.0 thousands of Lonnie Donegan fans are due for a surprise. When they tune in to ATV's "Putting On The Donegan" they'll see Lonnie as a comedian—in filmed location scenes, and in sketches during the 30-minute show. And for Lonnie it will be the answer to "Will the TV fans accept Lonnie as a comedian as well as a singer?"

This is the fourth series of shows Lonnie has done for ATV but the first time he's really broadened out into comedy on TV.

For the last few years he has been using comedy on his variety dates and not on TV, because up to now he didn't feel ready.

"I'm no genius but it's taken me a long time to learn," Lonnie told me during a break in filming one of the shows. "but it's a thing I've always wanted to do and I think I've learnt now, in just the same way as I learnt how to sing."

Not enough

In this present TV series Lonnie has his regular "regulars" with him, Miki and Griff, a guest singer on each programme and Lonnie himself sings four or five songs.

That leaves quite a few minutes to fill and unless Lonnie wants to repeat himself he can't fill up with more songs—there aren't enough Donegan-type numbers around.

So far it's been estimated that Lonnie has sung 86 different numbers. "At first," he explained, "it was easy to find a song and we built up quite a backlog of suitable folk songs, but now that's run out."

"It's become very difficult in the last two years. Everybody has started singing folk and blues numbers and they've cleaned up the field."

If the report I've heard from ATV's studios where they've been filming Lonnie's series are correct then the shows should go a long way to helping Lonnie broaden his appeal.

"But then they're all a bit biased," says Lonnie. "Though when you do something a bit different on TV it all helps."

There's also another reason for the change. Money. "I'm not a great singer and I don't think my type of singing is going to keep me well-heeled for the rest of my life," says Lonnie. "I wanted a second string."

There's also been talk, "which has been going on for years," adds Lonnie, about him appearing as a straight actor in films, but he doesn't see himself playing heavy drama.

He revealed, in fact, that had he not been going on this trip to Australia and New Zealand in the autumn there was a very good chance that he would have acted in the film version of a West End play.

After he has finished filming the TV series Lonnie will be catching up on his recording commitments—among other PSC artists Lonnie looks after the A and R side of Kenny Ball's hit jazz record.

On June 12 he begins a summer season, headlining at Blackpool and in October goes to Australia and New Zealand on a four week tour. He'll concentrate mainly in New Zealand. "We did such good business there, a fantastic reception," said Lonnie.

At Christmas he appears again in pantomime,

BIG band backings are OUT for Lonnie Donegan. He revealed this to DISC shortly after he learnt that his current disc "Have A Drink On Me" was well on the way to becoming a hit.

Why should this news make him decide that the lush sounds are out? By Donegan's standards his last record was a flop—"Bury Me Beneath The ILONIE, alias Charlie Chaplin, as he appears in one of his new series for ATV.

"Willow" was released last February and has not been heard of since. Before that he had another miss too, his Christmas recording of "Virgin Mary."

And both these discs had big band backings. But like "Lively" and most of his previous hits "Have A Drink On Me" is back to the beaty "skiffle sound."

Said Lonnie: "I've become associated with a particular sound. The fans don't seem to like it when I do something too different. From now on I'm playing safe."

His two "flops" were not the first time that Lonnie had recorded with a lush orchestra. One of his biggest hits, "I Wanna Go Home," which came into the DISC Top Twenty just under a year ago, had a big band backing. At the time there was speculation along the Alley: "Is Donegan leaving skiffle? . . . the music that made him."

We know now that he didn't leave it and along came a string of hits in the usual Donegan style until Christmas, "Virgin Mary" and his first big flop. His third attempt, and as he says his last, at recording with a big band sound was "Bury Me Beneath The Willow."

Action . . . and the family fell for her in a big way.

"I think she's a fabulous girl, honestly! But when I say that I love her, I mean that I love her companionship, her sense of fun. But I'm not in love with her."

Connie has one endearing habit . . .

She never records a song unless her Dad approves of it. She makes him listen to every number that she wants to do. If he gives it the okay, she does it."

He talks about the girls in his film "Beat Girl." Gillian Hills comes under the hammer a bit. "Though Gillian was cast as my girl-friend in the picture, I can't say I feel the same way about her off the set."

But Shirley Anne Field provides a different story. "If I didn't go for Gillian in a big way, there was another girl in the cast I did go for—Shirley Anne Field. We met on location in the caves at Chislehurst. If you remember, that's where I had to sing my number 'Made You,' which I recorded later."

"I drove Shirley home that night in my car. From then on, I started collecting her every morning that we were on call together. She's a crazy girl! Most mornings I'd ring the bell at the door of her flat and find that she wasn't awake, let alone dressed. I'd sit in the flat and read the papers while she got dressed and made-up as fast as she could."

Carol White—she was with him in "Never Let Go"—left some pleasant memories in the Faith diary. "Most actors admit that their first love scenes bother and embarrass them. I can't say it worried me. You see, I'd known Carol for some time. We'd been out on dates together. I had to kiss her on the bed. I rather enjoyed that sussing. I hope Carol did, too!"

My idol'

Not all "Poor Me" is about Faith's amorous adventures. He finds space for his fellow artists, such as Lannie Donegan—"always been my idol"—and his Two T's contemporaries such as Tommy Steele, Cliff Richard, Terry Dene, Vince Eager and the others who shared those crazy nights at the Two T's.

DISC rates a mention, too. Adam recalls the time when he won this magazine's Silver Disc for "What Do You Want" and "Poor Me"—"Juke Box Jury" takes a knock when Adam describes how they gave the thumbs down sign to "Lonely Pop."

"They voted it a miss. On the panel that night were Nina and Frederik, the Danish singers. Now I love this pair in their own sweet harmonies, but I cannot believe that they are qualified to judge the tastes of the pop market in Britain. And, as time has proved, the panel were way off beam."

MEMO to British artists visiting the States: DON'T forget San Francisco in your itineraries. Bob Callahan, the director of music for radio station KCBF in that city, who was on a visit to Britain, told DISC last Friday that the people of San Francisco feel neglected where our stars are concerned.

They like them, and they want to hear and SEE much more of them. Station KCBF is what is known as a "good music" station. Rock 'n' roll and rhythm and blues are definitely out as far as the programmes are concerned, but British artists are definitely in.

Frank Chacksfield, Ted Heath, Stanley Black, Mantovani and Edmunds Ros are just five of the form English favourites constantly requested by KCBF's listeners.

"Frank Chacksfield's discs are tremendously popular, and I don't think there's anyone anywhere to touch Ted Heath when it comes to big band music," said Bob.

"One of the reasons my visit to London has been so wonderful is because I've actually met and talked to your artists whose discs are so popular back home. Up until now they've been just myths!"

Staff band

Bob Callahan's job is the supervision of the music shows put out by his station. In common with all American radio stations, most of these are on record, but KCBF is one of the two remaining radio outlets in San Francisco which maintains a staff orchestra.

"Out of 22 stations in the 'Frisco area, there's just the two of us with a staff orchestra," he said sadly. "Our band does 30 minutes on the air every day."

"I'm sorry to see live shows gradually vanishing from the radio programmes, and I can't see any prospects of them coming back. The public taste is purely for records over the radio these days."

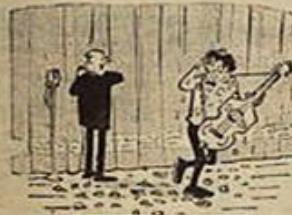

"But I'm inclined to agree with people who say it's a mistake to plan radio shows on the assumption that only teenagers listen," remarked Bob. "We aim at an adult-type audience—an intelligent audience which likes to hear intelligent music."

"And, of course, that definition includes a whole lot of teenagers as well."

Bob says that rock 'n' roll's hold on popular music in the States has weakened a lot in recent months, but he can't see it ever fading away altogether. He was quite confident about radio's place in public entertainment, too.

"Radio has improved a whole lot during the past year or two, and it can more than hold its own against television and everything else."

ALONG THE ALLEY

News from the Street of Music

British aim at American market

FELDMAN MUSIC have been chalking up some successes in the States with items from their British catalogue. Placing British material in the tough transatlantic market is an achievement in itself, but more of our publishers are succeeding, countering the welter of purely American soap which come here every year. Feldman's authors trying their luck include the theme from the very successful British film "Saturday Night, Sunday Morning," recorded by The Cambridge Strings for Decca.

Then there are a couple of items involving The Shadows, which the Hill And Range Music firm have taken for the States. One is "Man Of Mystery," and the other is "Kiss Tiki," which we believe is to be The Shadows' next single release, left after their current "The Frightened City."

Also going to the States in support of the film of the same name is "Nearly A Nasty Accident," written by MID Ken Jones and journalist Jack Fishman, and recorded for Fontana by Kenneth Connor, one of the stars of the picture. Returning to the States, Feldman's Roy Nibet talked about three varying plugs with potential. There's Max Bygraves' vocal rendition for Decca of "The Pas Alley," which was recently revived instrumentally by Ross Conway. Freddy Cannon's brilliant revival of Kid Ory's "Mskrat Ramble" for Top Rank, and a seasonal offering due June 2, called "Life's A Holiday" by Jerry Wallace for London.

There are chances of British coverages on this song as well.

PAUL RICH of Progressive Music in the Abercrombie outfit, enthused about the recent release of "Spanish Harlem" with two strong disc versions by Nortie Paragon (Columbia) and The Drifters' lead singer Ben E. King (London). He's also hopeful about a sales comeback for Jerry Lee Lewis, who hollers and bammers the piano during his hot rendition of "What'd I Say?" a Ray Charles opus, on London.

MERIDIAN MUSIC, the British musical specialist in the Southern Music group, is concentrating on two young men called Nick Shakespeare and Ken Howard. They're in their debut disc for the Piccadilly label, under the pseudonyms of Carter Lewis and The Southerners. Meridian's Terry McGrath is plugging both sides, "Back On The Scene" and "So Much In Love," and Southern Music plagger Terry Kennedy is looking after the boys in a managerial capacity.

Next door to Meridian, Marjorie Murray in the Latin American Music office is working on the first single effort of the new Latin American dance fad to be released here. It's "La Pachanga," and the discs are by Hugo and Luigi (RCA) and Andre Arno (Polydor). As usual, we British have been very cautious and diffident about the pachanga, and so far there's no news of any British versions of the dance going on record.

LESLIE CONN of the Melcher Music group was almost invisible behind a huge cream cake when I visited his office. It wasn't his birthday, but he was possibly celebrating some swift action following Major Yuri Gagarin's space exploit. Within four days of the announcement, Les had acquired a number called "Man In Space," organized a guitar-ridden beat group known as The Vigilantes, recorded the number and leased the tape to Pye. He's not alone in this. The Vigilantes are, but, having heard their space-age sound, I think we'll be hearing a lot more from them soon.

TONY NEWLEY was in great form when he arrived home last week end after a four-week trip to America—a trip which was intended to be a holiday but turned out to be much more.

Newley, the 18 year old pop personality with the taut acting talent, told DISC: "It was a fabulous visit. I had no intention of doing a thing when I arrived, but it didn't work out that way.

"Some fellow came to me with a tremendous song. 'You've got to record this,' he said. 'When I heard it was written by the brilliant young team of Lester and Stoller—they've had some 65 hits in the States—they didn't have to twist my arm.'

"I said, 'Right,' the fellow made a

dotted phone calls and there I was, in the studio, recording it."

Newley would not, however, say what the song was called.

"Dear boy," he said, "I'd love to tell you in detail about it, but isn't there something which says I'm not supposed to talk about it until it's ready to be released?"

"Anyway, I'll tell you this—it's being released in the States on June 15 and if it turns out to be the hit they think it will, I'm away. They don't know my records there, but one could set me up."

Newley is not sure when his American disc will be released over here.

"I have a new record coming out soon," he explained. "When that one is launched we may bring out the American one. I want a couple of really good songs now. My last record, 'And The Heavens Cried,' was bad for me. It was a big disappointment. But I'm not making any excuses—it was terrible and that's that."

Having taken a close look at the American show business set-up Newley is convinced one hit could set going a new career for him.

"They're just looking for new faces and new talent over there," he said. "But it's no good just going there and hoping for the best. I believe you've got to go rather grandly."

"If my record does well and I can go there on the strength of it that's all right. Believe me the rewards in the States are staggering for anyone who does well. They'll give you the moon if they like you."

Speaking of the American disc jockeys Newley said: "They're a great bunch. They have tremendous good will for new boys. If you give them a good disc they'll set you up in no time."

As Newley saw it there are much more opportunities in America for singers.

"They have these grand scale television programmes which run for hours on end," he said. "They have a good band, thousands of kids dancing and a string of pop personalities go along and do a number—there's room for anyone who has something to offer."

Now he is home Newley is starting the old search for new material.

"It's ages since I made a good film," he said. "That's what I'd like to do right now—if I could find a script. That, however, is the most difficult thing of all."

Lionel Bart's "As Long As He Needs Me," which won the first place as the best selling and most performed song of 1960, will be sung by Georgia Brown. The second number in this category, Jerry Lordan's "Apache," will be played by Bert Weedon. ## Faith hit

Craig Douglas will sing Johnny Worth's "What Do You Want?" which came third in the best selling and most performed category. "Portrait Of My Love," by Cyril Ornadel and Norman Newell, the song which won the title of the most outstanding song of 1960, will be sung by his disc hit interpreter, Matt Monro.

The best light composition, "Sea Shore," by Robert Farnon, will be played by the studio orchestra conducted by the composer. Another Lionel Bart success was "Oliver!" voted the most outstanding contribution to any film, stage, radio or TV score, and Max Bygraves will sing a number from it.

The judges' special choice, "Goodness Gracious Me," will be danced by Douglas Squires and Mavis Ascott.

Luxembourg to start another Richard series

HORNSEY BOOK OWEN BRYCE

Owen Bryce and his jazz band have accepted a long term weekly residency at the Hornsey Town Hall, commencing on June 10.

Owen, DISC columnist and too trad band leader, has recently come to the end of a four-year engagement at Maidstone, and was thus able to accept the Hornsey offer, which was made to him after the band played there in one of the Name Jazz Band Presentations on April 8.

Sharing the bill with Owen Bryce and his Band on the opening night will be Ted Heath and his Orchestra.

Otis moves to Liberty

CLYDE OTIS, A and R director, who recently left American Mercury, after a stay of two and a half years, has signed as East Coast A and R director to Liberty Records, released here through London.

During his stay with Mercury Otis produced such artists as Brook Benton, Dinah Washington and June Valli.

Bell Tones guest on Granada

THE vocal and instrumental group The Bell Tones, currently starring in variety on the Frankie Vaughan bill at the London Palladium, are to guest in Granada's TV's "The Variety Show" on June 14.

Red Price Combo cuts record

THE Red Price beat combo has been signed by Parlophone, and cut its first single yesterday (Wednesday). Titles remain secret for the time being, but the release date has been set for June 1.

CHARLESWORTH BAND

until today and tours of Ireland, TV programmes, appearances at the Bath Festival, Beaufort Festival, the Floating Festival, the Mardi Gras Open-Air Festival, and the Dutch week in Scarborough, has at last had results.

Now the band is so booked up that July is the earliest vacant date.

They average two concerts a month, and they travel in a brand new luxury Trojan coach, specially modified to suit a touring band, and costing over £2,000.

None of this will change Dick Charlesworth.

"It won't affect our policy one bit," Dick concluded. "We've always played the same type of programme at clubs, ballrooms or concertos, and we still will."

THE demand for the return of Cliff Richard and The Shadows to a series on Radio Luxembourg has been so great that a new programme has been organised and is due to start a 13-week run on July 6.

Cliff and The Shadows have already spent many hours recording sessions for the new show which is to be called "The Cliff Richard Show."

Other news from Luxembourg, who celebrate their thirteenth anniversary on Monday next, is that Buddy Holly (May 18), Duane Eddy (June 1) and The Everly Brothers (May 11) are three more star attractions added to the list for the new "This Is Your Life" programme which opened with Cliff Richard last week.

Other names for the series are Adam Faith (May 25) and Jess Conrad (June 8).

World-famous American clarinetist-bandleader Artie Shaw has a short series devoted to the Shaw style starting on May 31. Called "The Highlights of Artie Shaw," the show will be broadcast for half an hour for five weeks.

America's famous husband and wife team, vocalists Eydie Gorme and Steve Lawrence, began their own series of programmes last Saturday. No limit has been set for the run of this series.

Philips Records are sponsoring two new weekly disc shows every Monday and Friday. The programmes are called "Monday Spin" and "Friday Spin," and are introduced by ex-Luxembourg resident announcer David Gell.

"The David Jacobs Show" is to be extended from July 6 until the end of November.

RAMRODS ROCK LOCH LOMOND

NEXT Friday (May 19), London release two singles by American instrumental groups who both scored hit parade success with their previous records.

The Ramrods, who made the charts with their revival of "Riders In The Sky," are featured in "Loch Lomond Rock" and "The String-A-Longs, who registered with "Wheee," have followed up with another Norman Petty composition entitled "Brass Buttons."

Lisbon on 'Lucky Stars'
NEW Philips pianist David Lisbon, who made his radio debut last Wednesday on the BBC Light Programme's "Parade Of The Pops" playing his own composition, "Deercaller," may be appearing on ABC-TV's "Thank Your Lucky Stars." Negotiations are in progress, and in the meantime he has Sunday concerts at Scarborough and Great Yarmouth lined up for August 6 and August 13.

Americans inquire after Eden Kane

EDEN KANE, whose first disc for Decca "Well I Ask You" has been tipped for the Top Twenty by Don Nicholl this week, has a "Thank Your Lucky Stars" date pending for June and appearances on regional ITV channels are being negotiated.

The American market has already reacted to Eden on the strength of his photograph which was recently published in an American trade magazine. Two inquiries, one from a Hollywood film agency, have been received.

Castle LP out in June

CASTLE WISE, the debut LP cut for Fontana by Roy Castle before he went into hospital, is to be released next month.

Roy, currently rehearsing for his leading part in the new Palladium summer show, "Let Yourself Go," which opens on May 19, is now preparing material for his second LP.

American comedian and stage star Stubby Kaye has been booked for a guest appearance in ABC-TV's "Rockaroos" on May 20.

THIS next single featuring Elvis Presley will be released by RCA next Friday (May 19). The topside is "Surrender," a modernisation of another old Italian favourite, "Come Back To Sorrento," and already a hit in the States. The flip is "Lonely Man," a song from his film "Wild In The Country" which he has recently completed.

At press-time no details were available concerning the size of advance orders for the record, but a Decca spokesman anticipated that they would be the "biggest yet," exceeding the record of 350,000 for "Wooden Heart."

Another film has also been fixed to follow "Blue Hawaii," which he is now shooting. The title is "Pioneer, Go Home," but no further details are yet available.

Pye capture

FOLLOWING the recent trip to America made by Mr. Louis Benjamin, Pye Records have now taken over the British distribution of Autocrat Records of America. This includes the Chess, Checker and Argo labels, and Clarence "Frogman" Henry among the artists.

Mr. Benjamin has been promoted from assistant general manager, to Joint General Manager, a position he shares with Mr. T. R. B. Threlfall.

Kenny Ball in ATV spot

ARTISTS lined up for ATV's "All Kinds Of Music" on Saturday, May 13 are Edmund Hockridge, Adele Leigh, Larry Adler, and the Kenny Ball Jazzmen.

The show was originally scheduled for May 17, and its place will be taken by another "Starline" featuring Eddie Calvert, Gary Miller, The Wise Guys and Ken Morris and Joan Savage.

BIG RUSH FOR MUSICAL

ALTHOUGH the film premiere of "West Side Story," starring Natalie Wood and Russ Tamblyn, is not due to take place in New York until October 18, advance sales of tickets are reported to have netted over £10,000 already.

Jazz date for Matthew

BRIAN MATTHEW, compere of the BBC's "Easy Beat" and "Saturday Club," is to compere, with Jack Higgins, the "Summer Festival of Jazz" at Fulford Hall, Earlswood, Warwickshire, on Saturday, July 8.

Bands booked to play at this 12-hour event are Acker Bilk, Chris Barber, The Temperance Seven, Terry Lightfoot, Alex Revell, The Second City, The Panama, Mick Mulligan, Charles Galbraith and the New Orleans Jazzmen.

Reprise sign Al Hibbler

FRANK SINATRA'S own recording company, Reprise Records, has signed four more stars to its growing list of artists—blind singer Al Hibbler, who had a big hit a few years back with "Unchained Melody," jazz pianist Calvin Jackson, a new vocal group, the Jubilee Four, and singer Aki Aleong.

This week Hibbler began sessions for a single and an album, which will shortly be released. Calvin Jackson has already cut his first album, and a Jubilee Four LP is due later this month.

'S. Pacific' helps nurses

THE record-breaking run of the film "South Pacific" has brought in more than a million pounds, and has resulted in a new swimming pool for the nurses of the Royal Free Hospital in London.

In a special performance in honour of the opening of the fourth year of its run last month, the producers of the film gave away nearly £1,500 to the nurses' amenities funds of London hospitals and the swimming pool is one of the ways in which some of the money is to be spent.

Allisons write for girl duo

TWO girl débutantes make their disc debut on HMV on May 19 with a song entitled "Yes, I'm Sure," written by The Allisons, following their other composition "Are You Sure?"

ROBERT HORTON, star of the long-running TV series "Wagon Train," flew into London on Friday for his tour of one-nighters and confirmed that he has turned down an offer to play the Western part for another five years. He intends to give it up when his current contract expires in a year's time.

Said Horton: "I was recently offered a contract for a further five years, but that would have meant that I would have been with "Wagon Train" for ten years, and that's a lifetime. I don't want to tie myself down for so long."

'Clan' in Sinatra film

FRANK SINATRA'S next film, the $3,000,000 "Westlands," will re-unite the all-star cast featured in "Ocean's 11"—Sinatra, Dean Martin, Peter Lawford and Sammy Davis Jr., who will play the role of a young ex-slave.

The film is set in the West during the 1870s.

Bill Kent tries comeback

FORMER Decca recording star Bill Kent flew into London Airport last Friday, after two years in America, determined to make a successful comeback in this country.

So far a tour of the Granada circuit commencing with appearances at Welling, June 4, and Walthamstow, June 11, has been fixed, and there is a possibility that he will sign with Blue Beat, a subsidiary of Melodisc.

MUDLARKS AT NEWCASTLE

THE Mudlarks star in a week's variety season at the Newcastle Empire, commencing May 29, and the following week they will be appearing in cabaret at Rochdale clubs.

There is a possibility that they will star in a series of concerts later in the summer on a bill with Craig Douglas.

T
THE biggest certainty of the month, I'd say! Eden Kane tried for success before on 'Pye with "Hot Chocolate Crazy" and it hardly seemed like the same boy who now comes growling out of the Decca corner with "Well I Ask You."

This strong-beat middle tempo tune by Johnny Worth has been given a great accompaniment by Johnny Keating and the sound is going to sweep Mr. K right into the Top with the minimum of hesitation. "Before I Lose My Mind" is a gentle, flowing contrast, with something like a C and W flavour. Kane sings it distinctively again to a smooth Keating accompaniment, relying mainly on rhythm section and faraway male group.

RICKY NELSON
Hello Mary Lou: Travellin' Man
(London HLP 9347)

D
N
T
THE disc to see Ricky riding high again? I'll say yes. Either half of his new release could be the big seller, and both will draw custom.

"Hello Mary Lou" (written by singer Gene Pitney) is an attractive rhythmic entry which starts at a good pace. Nelson sings the song pleasantly and with echoing voice behind while the guitars strum.

"Travellin' Man" slows the pace a little and comes out with a tint of blue in it. Catchy tune again—and again a smooth performance from the star.

MATT MONRO
Can This Be Love; Why Not Now
(Parlophone R 4775)

D
N
T
CAN This Be Love" may not be an immediate success but it's a delightful slow ballad that Matt makes even better. I'm banking on it therefore as the third hit in the singer's long-awaited popularity run. Warm and sincere, with a good romantic lyric its tenderness is emphasized by the Johnnie Spence accompaniment of piano and orchestra.

"Why Not Now" shifts into Latin gear. Again an accomplished production, with Matt in smooth form.

THE VENTURES
Lollipop Of The Leaves; Ginchy
(London HLG 9344)

D
N
T
THE "Lollipop Of The Leaves" is just about thirty years old and it's had a fat share of the royalties over the years. But it's going to get an even fatter share now as a result of this fast-rocking revival by The Ventures. Their particular guitars noise scores strongly with the number and should see them into the charts again.

"Ginchy" also moves neatly and at speed, and demonstrates too the group's skill in this particular field.

NEIL SEDAKA
Little Devil; I Must Be Dreaming
(RCA 1236)

D
N
T
"LITTLE DEVIL" is a slick rocking offering from Sedaka and it's a winner all the way, far better than his high-selling "Calendar Girl." Easy tune of this one will grab you and never let go. Terrific sound from Neil and the Stan Applebaum backing whips up a load of excitement.

Can't see this one missing on any count at all. Song is another from Howard Greenfield and Neil himself.

"I Must Be Dreaming" slows the pace, and Neil duets with himself on this ballad. Makes a jolly coupling, but it's the other deck which really matters.

DELLA REESE
Woo'cha Come Home Bill Bailey; The Touch Of Your Lips
(RCA 1235)

D
N
T
DELLA's fascinating trumpet of a voice works wonders with the old Bill Bailey romp. Here she gives it a swinging performance that's really vibrant. No doubt about it, she's one of the most exciting persons on record nowadays.

Here she belts to a fine big-band backing from Mercer Ellington and his men.

The standard "The Touch Of Your Lips" gets an intriguing ballad reading from Della. A romantic ballad which yet has tremendous power. Ellington packs a bank of strings behind the singer.

ROY ORBISON—
Dramatic, pounding,
Western-type ballad.

THE ALLISONS
Words: Blue Tears
(Fontana H 304)

D
N
T
"WORDS" comes up with every chance of seeing The Allisons into the hit parade again. It's a bright, quick-living item which the boys handle smoothly to a smart Harry Robinson accompaniment.

I don't think the song itself is as good (or commercial) as "Are You Sure" but it's strong enough for a follow-up production.

"Blue Tears" is a slight, winsome hiccougher which The Allisons sing softly to Robinson's strings.

ROY ORBISON
Runnin' Scared; Love Hurts
(London HLU 9342)

D
N
T
ORBISON stalks back into the reckoning with a dramatic, pounding, Western-type ballad "Runnin' Scared." Roy chants it slowly and strongly while guitars strum behind him. Full orchestra and choirs march in after the mid-mark.

A potent, compulsive effort which ought eventually to hit the charts.

"Love Hurts" is a lighter, biting ballad. Roy handles it sweetly and easily while strings sob for him.

DANNY KAYE

LOUIS ARMSTRONG
Five Pennies Salute; Bill Bailey
Won't You Please Come Home
(London HLU 9346) ****

D
N
T
THe long-player from the sound-track of the film "The Five Pennies" has done great business and a lot of the interest has been caused by Danny and Louis' version of "When The Saints Go Marching In," hence this single release. Five Pennies Salute, of the track.

If you haven't heard this amusing new lyric by Sylvia Fine, catch it quick. A delightful track.

Also from the sound-track comes the couple's version of Bill Bailey.

ROLAND SHAW
Sparrows Can't Sing; When All The World Was Young (Decca F 11352) ***

D
N
T
ROLAND SHAW's orchestra plays two themes from the ill-fated stage show Sparrows Can't Sing. Title tune's a slow jogger built up by a crowd of strings. Quite pleasant.

When All The World Was Young is a gentle melody, rather stately and with a touch of ye olde tyme about it.

RONNIE
and The Rainbows
Loose Ends; Sombrero
(London HL 9345) ***

D
N
T
HERE'S an instrumental group which must have given the studio engineers a ball. Edgy noise from sax down in his boots, and echoing guitars behind. Loose Ends is a slow gimmicky beater which could lift itself to sales.

Sombrero, of course, goes Latin with its Mexican slant. Not so ear-catching as the other deck.

FREDIE KING
Hide Away; I Love The Woman
(Parlophone R 4777) ***

- *****—Excellent.

- ***—Good.
- **—Ordinary.
- *—Poor.

And the really hit records that look like spinning to the top are marked by D.N.T. (Don Nicholl Tip).

gives nothing in the way of enthusiasm. For the turnover we get a slow blues vocal chanted by the man with whooping emotion.

PETULA CLARK
Welcome Home; Les Gens Diront
(Pye N 15355)***

To a comfortable jogging tempo, Pet sings the sentimental ballad Welcome Home. Affable without being in any way outstanding. Kind of thing that should do well in the regular programmes.

Straightforward vocal and an unimaginative accompaniment from Peter Knight.

Brisk hinter on the other side is sung cutely by Pet in French. Despite the language I'd have been inclined to make this the A side of the release.

PAUL ROGERS
Four And Twenty Thousand Kisses;
Free To Love
(HMV POP 872)***

GOOD bold noise from both Paul Rogers and the instrumental team behind him. Paul sings out confidently with Four And Twenty Thousand Kisses and should collect quite a following.

Free To Love is a more gentle, teenager love song which Rogers takes seriously.

MAURICE WILLIAMS
Come Along; Do I
(Top Rank JAR 563)***

WILLIAMS and the Zodias are growing through a steady rumbling beat. Come Along, high pitched whooping mixes with the drawing deep accent while the rhythm thumps its way.

Do I has an almost tribal feeling about its chanting beat.

RONNIE RONALDE
The Lonely Goatherd; Edelweiss
(Columbia DL 4644)***

TWO from the show "The Sound of Music." The Lonely Goatherd might have been written especially for Ronnie. A hokey, waddling number with simple mountain tune. Ronnie yodels while male group chant the lyrics.

Edelweiss is a slow waltz with lyrics lauding the tirol flower.

THE SPRINGFIELDS
Dear John; I Done What They Told Me To
(Philips PB 1145)***

DEAR John is a slick adaptation of "Marching Through Georgia" written by Tom Sevingsfield and

THESE FOUR HAVE CLASS

THE BROTHERS FOUR

Frogg: Sweet Rosanne
(Philips PB 1144)***

FOLK singers The Brothers Four introduce some new words into the old "Froggy Would-a Courting Go." "Frogg" thus becomes a hip study of the lower animal life.

Amusing and delightfully sung by the team. There's no doubt about the class these fellows have got.

The tuneful, nostalgic "Sweet Rosanne" is also a bull's eye for The Brothers Four. Wistfully performed to simple guitar accompaniment.

sung by the vocal group with plenty of modern polish. I like it a lot and I'd like to see it rise.

I Done What They Told Me To is a cute finger-snapper which the group handle with precision. Out of the rut.

MAX BYGRAVES
The Bells Of Avignon; Tin Pan Alley
(Odeca F 11350)***

BUNNY LEWIS has written English lyrics to the French story of the German melody, The Bells Of Avignon.

A lifting easy-going romancer which Max sings pleasantly. Eric Rogers orchestra and a kiddies chorus from the Corona School of acting.

The Pan Alley is a barking plonker, plonker from the picture of the same title. Max gives it the familiar cockney stroll.

DICKIE LOADER
Heatwave; Happiness
(Pallete PG 9015)***

DICKIE LOADER is an 18-year-old South African now working in this country. His debut for Pallete is made on a rocker he wrote for himself—Heatwave. Dickie's well up with all the usual vocal patterns of the rock men and he'll no doubt collect some British followers.

Happiness, which he sings on the turnover, was written by Lionel Bart. Not as joyful as the title implies—a slow mournful beat.

EMILE FORD
Half Of My Heart; Gypsy Love
(Piccadilly N 3500)***

EMILE FORD has moved across to Pye's Piccadilly label and comes up under this banner with the slow gliding Half Of My Heart. Simple rhythmic accompaniment plus girl group doo-doo-dooing. Quite a change from most of the Ford sides which have gone before.

Gypsy Love opens out in quicker fashion and builds fairly dramatically. Again, however, the singer seems to be hidden in a faraway corner of the studio.

CLEO LAINE
The Necessary Love; Gonna Sit
Right Down And Write Myself A Letter
(Fontana H 309)***

JOHNNY DANKWORTH directs the accompaniments for his wife on this release which ensures that we get an interesting noise at least. Cleo whisks easily through The Necessary Love, making the most of the lyrics.

Personally I'd buy the disc for Cleo's revival of Gonna Sit Right Down . . . A delightful, polished performance with a swishing gloss. When she joins the musicians to seal instrumentally Cleo again reveals what a fantastic cat she has.

TONY ORLANDO
Halfway To Paradise; Lonely
Tomorrow
(Fontana H 308)***

TONY ORLANDO draws a Latin-based ballad Halfway To Paradise. Girl group chi-la-la behind him, Tony's voice tries hard to be distinctive and almost succeeds.

Lonely Tomorrow is a simple enough filler and Orlando's performance is competent without stirring any great urge to rush out and buy it.

THE THUNDERBIRDS
Wild Weekend; Rat Race
(Oriole C 1610)***

THE THUNDERBIRDS are an Australian instrumental group and Wild Weekend is an Australian number doing very well down under. Sound of the group is twangy and jouncy with guitars and saxes in pretty familiar pattern, but they're good enough for plenty of joke spins.

Elmer Bernstein's composition Rat Race struts along darkly with Duane Eddy type guitar in front of the sax sound.

AUDREY ARNO
La Pachanga; Bei Mir Ist Nin Amore
(Polydor NH 66 826)***

ANOTHER version of La Pachanga. Audrey Arno sings it gaily here with male group and big band backing in powerful Latin style. This rhythm is certainly contagious.

They sang just for fun

Says Mike:

"We met at Washington University and decided we'd like to get a small group together, with maybe a little instrumental backing, and try to get some fun effects. We worked up a few songs for parties and soon we were performing some place or other every weekend."

Says Dick:

"None of us had any formal education in music, but we all had lessons. And we all liked music. We did mostly folk songs—the kind kids knew and would join in on. Now we overlap both folk songs and pop. Half the kick comes in working out the arrangements; we still do all our own."

Says John:

"We met at Washington University and one full time at until a date at the hungry i. Dave Babcock's manager, Mort Lewis, was in the audience. He talked to us afterwards and said he'd like to manage us. It took us about ten seconds to say 'yes'. We still think of ourselves first and foremost, I guess. The ideal thing, I guess, is if the audience has as much fun as we do."

Says Bob:

"That's when the record people started coming around. Some of them sounded real great, but we'd sent an audition tape to Columbia and decided to wait for an answer . . . and hope. When we got the reply from them asking us to come to New York, we were practically on the next plane."

Within a month, The Brothers Four had made their network TV debut via the Jimmie Rodgers Show, been signed for the Tropicana Hotel in Las Vegas, and cut their first disc.

On the flip she wafts affably through a tuneful ballad, Bei Mir Ist Nin Amore, but the language barrier needs a better song.

SAMMY KAYE
You Made Me Love You; Welcome
Home
(Brunswick O 5850)***

SAMMY KAYE and the Kaye choir roll out the never-say-die You Made Me Love You. Simple, pleasing performance of the song while piano and rhythm provide a tuneful raft. Always a marker for this kind of performance, I suppose, but oh my, it is an easy way out!

Sammy directs his orchestra and the vocal team in the Kayetts in Welcome Home for the flip. Trumpet solos sentimentally much of the way, in fact most of the way. Seady ballad.

Bobby Bond
You're A Livin' Doll; Sweet Love
(Pye International N 25081)***

CHANTER by Bobby Bond You're A Livin' Doll is brisk, but it will roll over your head without making you look up. Routine fare for the juke.

Sweet Love opens to a boogie rumble and Mr. Bond comes walking in with title repetition. Eventually gets into the song proper, but everyone seems to be in two minds whether to concentrate on the vocal or the rumbly piano and rhythm.

JACK SCOTT
Now That I; A Little Feeling (Called Love)
(Capitol CL 1200)***

TWO of his own compositions sung by Jack Scott to Stan Applebaum accompaniments. Now That I is a quick uplifter which Scott hits comfortably. Echoing male group and some strings and guitars.

A Little Feeling (Called Love) is a slow, thudding rock-a-ballad which Scott sings touchingly. Has more to commend it than the upper half but neither strike me as up to the man's usual standard.

ANDY WILLIAMS
The Bilbao Song; How Wonderful
To Know
(London HLA 9348)***

CRISP, bouncy ballad The Bilbao Song is handled with typical confidence and polish by Andy Williams. Nostalgic yearning for the good old days and this is the kind of atmosphere all through in the production.

How Wonderful To Know moves easily and somewhat more plausibly. Williams caresses the ballad sentimentally while vocal group accompanies.

Conway, on a concert style kick, is immaculate

RUSS CONWAY

My Concerto For You (No. 2); Warsaw Concerto; The Lonely Melody; Forgotten Dreams; Autumn Concerto. (Columbia SLG 3079) ***

THE photograph of immaculately-clad Russ on the sleeve front gives the keynote for this disc which features him on his concert-style kick.

Accompanied by Michael Collins and his Concert Orchestra, and the Rita Williams Singers, Russ plays an amended version of Richard Addinsell's Warsaw Concerto, Leroy Anderson's Forgotten Dreams, his melodic Autumn Concerto, and a rather modest piece which is likely to remain lonely.

Pleasant listening, but I prefer Russ in shirt-sleeves, belting away at the old honky-tonk bar piano. He sounds much more at ease in that convivial atmosphere.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

The Sound Of Music (Edmund Hockridge); My Favourite Things (Petula Clark); Climb Every Mountain (Dickie Valentine); Do-Re-Mi (Dionne Warwick and Children). (Pye NEP 24135) ***

A TIMELY taster of four numbers from the last show from the Rodgers - Hammerstein partnership, which opens in London this month. It is sung by four of Pye's top balladeers.

Pleasant listening, but on this show, the only song with the potential staying power of a standard is Climb Evry Mountain.

BUDDY COLE Swing Fever

Pagan Love Song; The House Of Parting; La Ronica; Heat Wave. (Warner Bros. WEP 6020) ***

EXCEPT for the work of Ethel Smith, the sound of organs, Hammond or otherwise, on record has always reminded me of interval time at the pictures, and put me off.

Buddy Cole's Hammond efforts might be another exception, judging by this set. Spurred on by bass, guitar, drums and three Latin percussionists led by bongoing Jack Costanzo, he has produced some energetic stylings of these tunes especially Pagan Love Song, which really raises the rhythmic roof.

The first organ record I have heard for a long time which I wouldn't mind listening to again.

PETE KING

Mind If I Make Love To You? I Can Dream, Can't I; Time After Time; Would You? There Will Never Be Another You. (Warner Bros. WEP 6021) ***

THE overall impact of this mood music selection is lessened by the unintentionally hilarious statements on the sleeve.

It is by "the sensuous music of Pete King." It is not for the timid, but "only for those who want someone to say 'Mind if I make love to you?'"

Romantic directions are given about turning the lights down low, sprinkling rose petals on the carpet, securing all "drapes," and chilling the champagne. The vision of my own circle of acquaintances undertaking all these elaborate preparations had better be stoned before I even listened to the disc.

Mr. King and his sensuous musicians provide string-laden interpretations which are not outstanding in terms of mood music by any means. Anyway, they would have to be pretty sensational to match the prose on the sleeve!

ANNE SHELTON

Anne Shelton Favourites; Come Back Apache; Papa Loves Mama; Souvenir Of Ireland; Sugar Foot. (Philips BBE 12430) ***

ATYPICALLY polished selection from one of the most reliable stalwarts of British pop music.

Anne's tasteful talents asserts itself winningly on Papa Loves Mama. Other versions of this featherweight ditty made me curl up in anguish because of their self-conscious coyness, but not this one. She gives it a totally different and acceptable character with her interpretation which doesn't depend on cloying kids' voices.

Four stars also to Wally Stott for his impeccable backings.

MGM EVERGREENS

Southern On The Side; Arrowsmith; Lennie Hayton and the MGM Studio Orchestra; Harlem Nocturne; Sam, The Man; Taylor and his Cat Men; I Apologise (Billy Eckstine); Sentimental Journey (Tommy Edwards). (MGM EP 7491) ***

THREE vintage recordings from the MGM catalogue, plus a more recent revival of the wartime favourite, Sentimental Journey.

Lennie Hayton, Lena Horne's husband, conducts the MGM house musicians in a routine reading of the old Richard Rodgers concert piece The Taylor crew and Billy Eckstine are much better, and well worth reissuing, while Tommy Edwards imports some modern sounds to the set without spoiling his material.

DINAH WASHINGTON

It's Magic; Cry Me A River; A Sunday Kind Of Love; Time After Time; It's Magic. (Mercury ZEP 10102) ***

NO one can accuse Miss Dinah Washington of lack of originality in her vocal style. She half sings, half speaks, the lyrics of her songs in a way which immediately identifies her.

This EP is no exception, and she gets smooth, sympathetic support from an uncredited orchestra. Nice to listen to in this quantity, but suggesting that Dinah might tend to bore at LP length.

JOHNNY GREGORY

Bonanza; Superfuzz; Laramie; Wagon Train. (Fontana TFE 17331) ***

ACCORDING to some people, TV westerns are bad for us, presumably because we might be encouraged to seize our six-guns, leap on our horses and gallop around shooting each other.

Be that as it may, there's no denying the melodic attraction of many of the title themes written for these shows, or for the small screen. Johnny Gregory's orchestra and the Michael Simms Singers join forces here to present four well-known examples.

Bonanza has some lyrics, but they were not worth bothering with. Sugarfoot is the theme of the series, screened here by the B.B.C. under the title of Tenderfoot. Laramie is the theme from the first series, but without the impressive introduction of the TV version, and Wagon Train is also the first, and best, theme used for this long-running epic of prairie travel.

Good presentations of four signature tunes of some of the most consistently entertaining TV programmes.

JOHNNY MATHIS

Tenderly; You'll Never Know; Tenderly; When I Fall In Love; In The Still Of The Night. (Fontana TFE 17281) ***

FOUR moments of vocal truth for Mr. Mathis which reveal the limitations of his voice unmercifully.

Instead of the customary lush tapestry of strings, woodwind, etc., Johnny has only the guitars of Al Calola and Tony Mottola, and string bass, to support him in these standards.

The guitars tend to embroil the melodies, too, giving the singer minimum assistance and exposing his shortcomings starkly.

However, as I have said before, this won't deter the massive Mathis following from loving every moment of it—and hating me for disagreeing!

STAN FREBERG

Freberg Again! Point Of Order; Person To Person; The Love Psychiatrist; The Honey-Eaters. (Capitol EAP 1-20115) ***

WEONE welcome re-issues featuring clowns to register on record. Assisted by Daws Butler and the Billy May orchestra, Stan does skits on a Congressional committee of investigation, an Ed Murrow interview, the psychological trend in westerns, and an impression of life among moon dwellers. This latter could be of current interest to Major Gagarin!

SARAH VAUGHAN

No Count Sarah; Moonlight In Vermont; Stardust. (Mercury ZEP 10101) ***

FOUR routine offerings from Miss Vaughan which will rouse ecstasies amongst her fans, no doubt. She is backed by a strong jazz star line-up—but nothing caught fire for me.

Agreeable to hear, except for her hoots and howls in the beautiful Moonlight In Vermont.

EILEEN DONAGHY

Sitting Round The Fireside; Twelfth Night; The Maid Of The Sweet Brown Knob; The Spanish Lady; Banty Bay. (Fontana TFE 17190) ***

FONTANA's high-selling collection with four more blarney-decked ballads from the Emerald Isle. They are put across with her usual clear-voiced competence.

Waving the shillelagh for the accompaniment is Johnny O'Gregory.

JIMMY SHAND

A Swirl Of The Kilt (No. 2); Marching With Jimmy Shand; Scotland The Brave; The Thistle Of Scotland; We're Not Awa' Too Tide Awa'; Flowers Of Edinburgh; The Flowers Of Edinburgh; The Waverley Setts; Norman

THE FLEETWOODS

Tragedy; Little Miss Sad One (London HLG 9341) ***

REMEMBER the Thomas Wayne disc of Tragedy a couple of years back? Now the vocal team The Fleetwoods hope they can repeat Wayne's success with the number.

Lead voice Gary Trostel sings it slowly, sadly while the girls ooh-wah behind him.

Little Miss Sad One is a soft ballad reflecting the title. Gary leads again while the girls are content to echo for him.

HUGO and LUIGI

La Pachanga; Bimboomby (RCA 1237) ***

LA PACHANGA is really another name for the Charanga rhythm and this performance by Hugo and Luigi's band and children's chorus should help make the dance popular here.

Performance is infectious; your hips will be swinging to the beat before you know it. Kids chorus it crisply while the band lays on the Cuban stuff—adding unison trumpets briefly for atmosphere.

The boozey, familiar Bimboomby is chanted by the chorus breathily.

TED HEATH

The Luxembourg Tune; Holiday In Naples (Decca F 11351) ***

A N Anglised title for "Nous Les Amoureux" which won the Eurovision Song Contest, that's The Luxembourg Tune. Heath's band walks through the melody with its usual brassy confidence. A more-than-useful big band side.

Holiday In Naples is a bouncy Mediterranean effort which the band frolics out in gay mood—merry and melodicious.

PAT BOONE

A Thousand Years; Moody River (London HLD 9350) ***

PAT BOONE singing with plenty of strength and feeling for the romantic ballad A Thousand Years . . . romantic? Well, broken-up romantic let's say. Good sound, and one which could revive Pat's flagging fortunes on this side of the water.

Moody River bores its happy melody by having words that are gloomy and suicidal. BBC trouble here I'd forecast.

THE TOTNAMITES

The Spurs Song; Danny Boy (Orville CB 1615) **

TWO stars to Messrs. Jimmy Heney, Sid Green and Rog Waterson for being topical anyway. This bouncy ordinary ballad comes out on time for a soccer souvenir in North London.

Danny Boy has not, as I feared, been twisted into a Blackflower ballad. Straight through treatment by the vocal group.

JO ANN CAMPBELL

Motor Cycle Michael; Puka Puka Pants (HMV POP 873) ***

GIMMICKY motor-cycle opening leads Jo Ann Campbell into a quick-beating novelty that the girl pushes across cleverly. Amusing lyric and brass accompaniment directed by Sid Feller.

Casual-clothes novelty chanted by the girl in Hawaiian style with the guitars sliding is Puka Puka Pants.

CARTER LEWIS

and The Southerners

Back On The Scene; So Much In Love (Piccadilly N 15004) ***

NICK SHAKESPEARE and Ken Hawker are the composers and they're also the singers (under penname).

Back On The Scene is a quick beater which the boys doer closely after Evryt style. Could grow out from the jokes.

So Much In Love is a slow romantic ballad which is almost attractive enough to turn the record over. Appealing vocal by the writers.

MGM EVERGREENS

Southern On The Side; Arrowsmith; Lennie Hayton and the MGM Studio Orchestra; Harlem Nocturne; Sam, The Man; Taylor and his Cat Men; I Apologise (Billy Eckstine); Sentimental Journey (Tommy Edwards). (MGM EP 7491) ***

THREE vintage recordings from the MGM catalogue, plus a more recent revival of the wartime favourite, Sentimental Journey.

Lennie Hayton, Lena Horne's husband, conducts the MGM house musicians in a routine reading of the old Richard Rodgers concert piece The Taylor crew and Billy Eckstine

reviews by Nigel Hunter

Whiskies: The New Scotland Strathearn; Miss Scotland Strathearn; Miss Drummond Of Perth; Princess Polka, (Parlophone GEP 3828) ***

A WHOLESOME hunk of musical laggard from Scotland's Victor Silverstein, with accordion dominating a band which makes the most of these lively measures.

Ideal for those who like cutting a Caledonian caper.

GANG SHOW ENCORES

Jamboree Song; We're Going To Have A Picnic; Thanksgiving Day; Red, White And Blue, (Fontana TEE 17332) ***

TYPICAL sing-songs from the Gang Show chorus which has been indivisible from the Squinting movement since Ralph Reader organised the first Gang Show back in 1932.

Timely lustering, enhanced a lot by Ken Jones' modern orchestrations and accompaniments. There is a notable solo by a boy soprano in Thanksgiving Day, and Red, White and Blue features a corny, flag-waving monologue which will be a wow with the Empire Loyalists.

THE VOLCANOS

The Volcano Play; The Theme From Tightrope; Ruby-Dub-Dub; Red Head, (Philips BBE 12432) ***

MODERN idioms beat renditions of two film items, a TV theme, and Red Head, by an instrumental group with the predictable pounding rhythm, harsh tenor-sax and heavily amplified guitars.

It is the usual peculiarly monotonous, but highly commercial, formula for success these days.

HARRY SECOMBE

Secombe Sings, Vol. 3; Questa O Quella; I'll Walk Beside You; Largo; Brabant's Lullaby, (Philips BBE 12434) ***

NEEDIE SEAGOON is in serious classical mood for a quartet of well-known songs from longhairs land, accompanied by the Wally Stott orchestra and chorus.

Harry's tenor seems a little thin in quality considering his lung capacity, but his singing is always a pleasure, and this disc comes as a welcome change in the usual selection of monthly EPs.

THE BAND

OF THE COLDSTREAM GUARDS; Marching Down Broadway, Vol. 1; Songs Of The Troops; Old Hickory March; Lida Rose; You're Just In Love, (RCA REX 194) **

L. COL. POPE batons his Coldstreamers in a set drawn from famous Broadway musicals, without a great deal of success.

Seventy-Six Trombones is a natural for this combination, but the others don't go so well, and the band's attempt to get You're Just In Love swinging is just pathetic.

The Button Down Mind

strikes back with a hit

BOB NEWHART

The Button-Down Mind Strikes Back!; Automation And A Private In Washington's Army; The Grace L. Ferguson; Bus Driver School; Retirement Party; An Infophile Number Of Monkeys; Lead Psychology, (Warner Bros. WM 4032) ***

ANOTHER scintillating album of satirical wit and humour from one of America's hottest names in comedy. These items were recorded during live performances to club audiences by Bob at "the hungry i," San Francisco, and Freddie's Club, in Minneapolis.

The audiences play an integral part in the successful impact of the album. They are very much "with it" as far as the Newhart brand of humour is concerned, and underline the hilarity of his scenes.

Some of Bob's allusions are purely American and were lost on me but that did nothing to spoil my enjoyment of the set.

His gags are A Private In Washington's Army, with "natty George" (George Washington) and "some decent riding through town" (Paul Revere); The Grace L. Ferguson (Alarming, with its hair-raising disregard for elementary safety); and Retirement Party, with a rather sozzled old accountant telling his employers some home truths before retiring instead of sticking to the usual clichés for such occasions.

A side-splitting winner, and certain of big sales success—judging by the fact that British TV comedians are already "telling" material from it!

DAVID ROSE

Concert With A Beat; Serenade And Jollies (Tchaikovsky); Waltz Of The Flowers (Tchaikovsky); Symphony In D Minor (Brahms); Symphony No. 6 In B Minor (Tchaikovsky); Symphony No. 1 In C Minor (Brahms); Piano Concerto No. 1 In B Flat Major (Tchaikovsky); Night On Bald Mountain (Stravinsky); Audrey's Dance (Grieg); Sonata Quartet In D Major (Tchaikovsky), (MGM C 347) ***

THIS scrapes its way to a couple of stars on the strength of the ability of the musicians involved. Musically speaking, it doesn't rate even one star.

I didn't expect an artist of David Rose's calibre to associate himself with an album of beat-up classical themes, but he has.

A rhythm section and trumpet, piano, trombone, and vibes soloists, with the aid of the David Rose orchestra, jazz up some of the greatest classical music ever written—with dire results.

I will give David and his associates the benefit of the doubt, and assume they meant this set seriously. But, as always happens in these cases, the rearranged themes are mere parodies. For an artist at "the top of his bent" (I quote the sleeve note), David Rose isn't likely to enhance his reputation with these efforts, none of which will ever get an airing from the BBC.

Surely, pop music is not so bereft of ideas and inspiration that it has to butcher the classics in this grotesque manner?

TOMMY DORSEY

The One And Only Tommy Dorsey; Washington Avenue (with Jo Stafford and Paul Plishka); The Lonesome Road; The Call Of The Canyon (with Frank Sinatra); Way Down Yonder In New Orleans; Too Romantic (with Frank Sinatra); The Lady Is A Tramp (with Edythe Wright); A Sister Kissed An Angel (with Frank Sinatra); Night In Sadie; Turn Off The Moon (with Jack Leonard); Be Careful, It's My Heart (with Frank Sinatra), (RCA Camden CDN-153) ***

INTERESTING echoes from the late thirties the early forties and the early fifties, starring that late great man of pop music promenader Tommy Dorsey, with his orchestra and Clambake Seven.

The swing era beat sounds remarkably fresh and attractive even in 1961, and the quality of these Dorsey offerings can be gauged when you consider the star names involved—trumpeter Bobby Hackett, clarinetist Peebles Hucko, trumpeter Ziggy Elman and arranger Paul Weston, to name but four.

Vocally, this collector's piece has performances by Frank Sinatra and Jo Stafford during their stints with the Dorsey outfit, and with its recording dates and information it is a must for Dorseyites and discophiles of the swing era.

EASTMAN WIND ENSEMBLE

Sound Off!; Nobles Of The Mystic Shrine; Sabre And Spurs; The Pleasure Of The Fife; From The High School Cadets; The Invincible Longfellow Bell Ringers And Barristers; The Liberty Bell; Riders For The Flag; Sold Men To The Front; The Gallant Seventh, (Mercury MMA 11134) ***

BRASSY album, conducted by Frederick Fennell, of marches written by America's king of martial music, John Philip Sousa.

Enthusiasts of this brand of stirring themes will undoubtedly like it, but I have heard much better military-style playing than this. Anyway, personally, I can't appreciate more than an EP of marches at one sitting.

FRANK CHACKSFIELD

Play To Me, Gipsy; Gipsy Moon; Tzigone; Play, Gipsy, Play; Waltz Of The Gipsies; The Gipsy; Golden Earrings; Czardas; Budapest; At The Balalaika; Gipsy Love; Dark Eyes, (Decca Ace Of Clubs ACL 1060) ***

CONVENTIONAL but attractive album of zany, genuine and otherwise, associated with the roving Romany race from Hungary.

The gipsy music has always mirrored the fire and fervour of his nature, and Frank Chacksfield's orchestra generates a reasonable amount of both in this pleasant set.

ROBERT RUSSELL BENNETT

Victory At Sea; The Song Of The High Seas; The Pacific Bells Over Guadalcanal March; D-Day; Hard Work And Horseplay; Theme Of The Fast Carrier; Beneath The Southern Cross; Mare Nostrum; Victory At Sea, (RCA RD-27209, Stereo SF-5092) ***

ROBERT RUSSELL BENNETT conducts the RCA Victor Symphony Orchestra in this LP of the main themes from the orchestral suite which Richard Rodgers composed for the NBC-TV series, "Victory At Sea."

The music underlines the extensive genius of Rodgers. World-wide musical show hits flow non-stop from his pen, yet he can also produce a suite of classical dimensions, such as this, which has justifiably won praise and awards in America.

I have not seen any episodes in the BBC TV series, but that fact didn't lessen my enjoyment of this LP. The music conjures up vivid impressions of the scenes and action suggested by the titles, and has a character which provides stimulating entertainment.

Especially interesting is Beneath The Southern Cross. Later, Rodgers used this tango melody again, plus lyrics, under the title of No Other Love, with smash hit results.

HANK LOCKLIN

Please Help Me, I'm Falling

Please Help Me, I'm Falling; My Old Home Town; Get Home All By Myself; It's A Little More Like Heaven; Livin' Alone; Seven Days; Send Me The Police; Your Dreams On; Blues In Advance; Why Don't You Hold On; And Love Me; When The Band Plays The Blues; Hiding In My Heart; Foreign Car, (RCA RD-2201) ***

a relatively simple, but highly successful formula, he hasn't sat back on his royal laurels, but tries to inject new slants to the sound of each album, often by rhythmic variations.

Very good listening material and good for dancing, too.

DEBBIE REYNOLDS

Fine And Dandy

Slow On Your Shoo-Shoo; You're The Cream In My Coffee; Sing Something Simple; Ain't We Got Fun; Give Me The Simple Life; Zip-A-Dee-Doo-Dah; Fine And Dandy; I Want To Be Happy; Give Me A Little Kiss; Will Ya Ha Ha; Pack Yourself Up; She Is Just A Sweet Girl; Cherries; Godiva Have Me Go With You, (London HA-D 2326) ***

DEBBIE would probably be the first to admit that she hasn't a great singing voice. However, in this set, she uses intelligently the one she has with pleasing results.

Jerry Fielding provides some swinging accompaniments, and the songs are nearly all well-proved winners. Consequently, the album offers fun and tasteful entertainment enhanced by a close-up photo of Debbie's pretty face on the sleeve front.

MAURICE CHEVALIER

Toujours Maurice

Viens Ami; A Barcelone; Quid De Berey; Mon Ideal; Vous Etes Mon Nouveau Bonheur; Paris, Je T'Aime D'Amour; L'Ami In The Sunlight; Love The Moonlight; Obi! That Man; My Love, Parlez-Moi Intimement; What Would You Do; Bob Sovi, (RCA Camden CDN-152) ***

A SAFE bet for Chevalier fans. This collectors' issue on RCA's revival label Camden, presents vintage recordings made mostly in the early thirties and the late forties by one of the most famous French stars to hit the international highlights.

His urbane personality comes across delightfully in these songs, and he sounded them as he sounds now—the living personification of debonair French charm and gallantry.

If you are a fan of Chevalier, you'll want this.

Outstanding big band LP by Gerry Mulligan

REHEARSAL TIME HAS PAID BIG DIVIDENDS

GERRY MULLIGAN

The Concert Jazz Band

Sweet And Slow; Breebida Bobbida; Manors Des Mes Reves (Django's Castle); You Took Advantage Of Me; Out Of This World; My Funny Valentine; Broadway; I'm Gonna Go Fishin'!

(12 in. HMV CLP 1432) **** *

Personnel: (Tracks 1-7) Gerry Mulligan (baritone); Gene Quill (alto, clarinet); Dick Meldomian (sax); Zoot Sims (tenor); Gene Allen (baritone); Nick Travis, Don Ferrara, Conrad Candolfo (trumpets); Bob Brookmeyer (valve, trombone); Wayne Andre, Alan Ralph (trombones); Buddy Clark (drums); Phil Meldomian (drums); Tom Mulligan (quill); Mal Evans (drums); Jim Butler (bass); Danny Selvin, Ferrara, Phil Sankel (trumpets); Brookmeyer, Andre, Ralph; Bill Takas (bass); Dave Bailey (drums).

REPORTS on its European concert appearance indicated that the Mulligan big band was disappointing. However, it certainly isn't on this LP. In fact, this is one of the most outstanding big band albums for some considerable time.

The arrangements are split between Mulligan, Bill Holman, Brookmeyer and Al Cobin. None is particularly ultra-modern. All are supremely sympathetic to Mulligan's approach.

Much rehearsal time has obviously been put in (what a nice change!) and the band has a splendid feeling for dynamics. The sections play with precision and spirit and the ensembles are generally a delight.

Only his famous Breebida appears to be a development from an existing score.

KING PLEASURE

Golden Days

I'm In The Mood For Love; The New Symphonies; Don't Worry 'Bout Me; (Little Boy) Don't Get Scared; Parker's Mood; Golden Days; Tomorrow Is Another Day; No! Not Much; All Of Me.

(12 in. Vogue LAR 12258) *** *

Personnel: King Pleasure (vocals); Teddy Edwards, Harold Land (tenor);

Matthew Gee (trombones); Gerald Wiggin (piano); Wilford Middlebrooks (bass); Earl Palmer (drums).

THOUGHT James Moody's singer,

Eddie Jefferson was the first person to put lyrics to jazz solos. Pleasure was the one to reap some small record benefits in this idiom. His earliest efforts were for Prestige and were released here on Esquire.

In all honesty, his earlier efforts were, on the whole, generally more satisfactory and satisfying. On this recent Dave Axelson-produced album, his infatuation is suspect much of the time and his new songs don't knock me out, though All Of Me (an Illinois Jacquet solo) is interesting. Tomorrow, in case you wondered, is "Dear Old Stockholm."

Neither of the new versions of Mood For Love and Parker's Mood measure up to the earlier waxings.

Though there is a tentative feeling about parts of the album, the rhythm section often hits a good groove and inspires excellent swinging solos by Clark and Chambers in particular. What else—and unjustly underrated—jazz players they are!

SONNY ROLLINS QUARTET

The Sound Of Sonny
The Last Time I Saw Paris; Just In Time; Tool, Tool, Toosie; What Is There To Say?; Dearie Beloved; Every Time We Say Goodbye; Cutie; It Could Happen To You; Mangos;
(12 in. Riverside 12-241) **** *

Personnel: Sonny Rollins (singer); Sonny Clark (piano); Percy Heath or Paul Chambers (bass); Roy Haynes (drums).

I've owned a copy of this 1957 recording for over three years. But I hadn't played it for ages. It sounds remarkably fresh to me now and illustrates a most interesting period of Rollins development.

Here he is concerned, in the main, with standard tunes—and unbacked ones at that. One of the most striking performances is (of all things!) Al Jolson's feature, Tool, Tool, Toosie. In Rollins' hands it becomes a vehicle for some really rip-roaring jazz. Paris (no piano on this) and the Rosie Clooney time, the calypso-type Mangos, are two other especially swinging tracks.

In contrast, the ballads (What Is There To Say, the gently grooving Every Time and It Could Happen) get generally brooding and sombre

GERRY MULLIGAN—
A very fine five-star album.

yet tender treatments. Happen, by the way, features just unaccompanied tenor. Rollins had said in print around this time that his ambition was to be able to play the tenor entirely on its own. As an experiment it is pretty successful. But I couldn't listen to too many in a similar vein.

Sonny Clark has always been a personal favourite of mine and his playing is relaxed, melodic and constantly swinging. Heath and Haynes do a fine job and Chambers excels on his two tracks (Paris and What).

BLAKEY — We're not getting a real chance

It happens every time an American group comes to Britain—I get letters. More often than not, they take the line: "How can you possibly say that so-and-so didn't play well? When I heard him he was great!" And sometimes the letters are spiced with true, Anglo-Saxon adjectives! Then it turns out that the reader was talking about, say, the second concert in Liverpool, whereas my report referred to the first Festival Hall show.

I don't have to tell you how much a good jazz musician's performance can vary—not only from night to night and concert to concert, but even from tune to tune.

You can't turn it on like a tap. You can only try every time to give of your best. If it doesn't "happen" and if you are a good musician, you can always fall back on safety measures to get you out of trouble. But the human element and "circumstances" always must be taken into account.

Unfortunately, more often than not for press deadline reasons I have to review the first concert of the tour. I don't like the idea on principle because it is often extremely difficult for musicians to "create" when they are in a foreign country for the first time, quite possibly on stage immediately following a gruelling plane flight.

BOBBY TIMMONS—
In fine form, after that opening night!

By the second concert it may be a different matter altogether—and all will be right with the world. But I must report with honesty what I heard at the time.

Let us take the Messengers-Moore show. As I wrote last week, at the opening concert, pianist Bobby Timmons' contributions were practically incoherent.

However, by the second show, at Hammersmith the following night, he was in such fine form that he all but received a standing ovation! So, if you saw the show in Birmingham or Bristol, and Bobby was brilliant don't have a go at me—because I am sure he certainly was!

On the first night, the Messengers didn't really warm up until it was time for them to finish. On the second night, they were swinging from the start. Big set their scene to be over in no time at all.

I know Art Blakey feels strongly about this. Backstage in his dressing room, he told me: "We're used to carrying a whole concert on our own. Here we're not really getting a chance to show what we can do."

You know, it takes the musicians some time to get loosened up out there. Their instruments have to get really warmed up, for instance. And we have so many different kinds of tunes in the book. The trouble is, we never get time to play them.

"We like to give the people some of the tunes that they know from our Blue Note albums. And then, the musicians are always writing new tunes and, naturally, they like to play those new ones all the time while they're fresh."

Best I've had

Art enthused about his band. "It's just about the best I've had," he said. "And you watch our saxophonist, Wayne Shorter. Back in the States, he's got everybody scared. He's working on something that's gonna make 'em all sit up and listen."

Shorter's constant experiments onstage with harmonics were, indeed, exciting. They became more exciting, the more familiar one became with his conception.

Lee Morgan sounded better and better—a phenomenal trumpeter. And Bobby Timmons, after that unfortunate opening concert, proved that he should never be typed as a "soul" jazzman. He like Lee and Wayne, is a brilliant musician, and there is more originality and inventiveness and looking ahead in the Messengers' music now than at any time in their seven-year existence.

BRUCE TURNER JUMP BAND

Jumping At The Hyde Park; Cherry, Cherry; The Birdie; Willie The Weeper; Cuckoo-Wee-Caroon; Opus 5; Jump; Knickerbocker Glory; Raisin' Ol' Picardy; Morning Glories; Shoney Weather; Clatterback;
*Seventy Seven Records, 77 LEU 12-21)****

FOR quite stupid and illogical reasons one hesitates to give five stars to British jazz musicians. But this one comes as near as anything to getting them. Originality and swing esteem in which he has been held for years was met without justification. Like Bock Johnson his choice of numbers is varied . . . exceptionally so. Many of them you wouldn't associate with anything but the dance music world.

BRUCE TURNER—His originality, swing and impeccable alto deserve the highest marks.

Miller confirms that he is really part and parcel of this same world by singing most of them. Can I remind you once again that way back in New Orleans itself dance music is what these men played. That they also played great jazz was by the way.

Punch Miller plays with power and with directness. His lead is a model for trumpeters the world over. His vibrato is the stuff that good jazz is made of.

Bruce Turner proves British jazzmen CAN do it!

and Bruce's own impeccable alto deserve the fullest marks. The technical deficiencies of the remainder of the front line let the side down on several occasions especially in the faster numbers.

Trumpeter Johnny Chilton is an old player . . . in just that sense. At times he plays brilliantly . . . at others he tries to do things he can't . . . at others he echoes Coddie Williams . . . and as yet others he appears to play right off the chords.

Johnny Manford on trombone is much the same . . . and so, too, is Johnny Pard who replaces him on Willie The Weeper. Both play excellently at times, and yet that little spark that turns a good jazzman into a genius is always absent. Drummer Johnny Armitage, whom I didn't like in the flesh on a recent performance comes off best of the sidemen.

In fact, it is the rhythm section and the leader that makes this record so much while.

The tight little arrangements bring to mind the band of John Kirby in the years just before the war. Kirby numbers like Opus Five help the impression. Yet there is no slavish copying. Ellington's Hyde Park, with some wonderfully played trumpet, is nothing like the Duke version.

Don Redman's Cherry, a beautiful tune which could well be revived, is treated melodically revealing all its charms.

Numbers which don't come off are Roses Of Picardy and Willie The Weeper.

Model lead

KID PUNCH MILLER

From New Orleans
Song Of These Days; Cool Kind Of Person; Cock Robin; I Just Can't Help Myself; She's Funny That Way; Shoney Blues; Shake It And Break It; Squeeze Me; Panama; Informed Blasts; Down By The River; Exactly Like You; There's A Small Hotel.
*(Esquire 32-123)****

JUST over 20 years ago I made a record of "Song Of These Days" which was immediately rejected by my concerned because of faulty trumpet intonation. I thought it awful, but I couldn't help thinking of it again when this disc arrived because the effect Punch Miller gets is just the one I also got years ago. Let's admit that intonation has never been a strong point with the early New Orleans pioneers and on that score alone this first Miller LP could hit the jackpot. For there are many over here who consider these MAKE THESE PIONEERS GREAT.

Apart from that, Ernest "Kid Punch" Miller proves that the high notes he has surrounded himself with are excellent bunch of musicians. Ed Hall, Jiminy Archey, Ralph Sutton, Ernest "Bass" Hall, Art Trappier, and Jimmy Crawford. On two sides Miller and Ralph Sutton duet, Sutton being heard to advantage. Weary, Panama, Riverside and Hotel are also issued on EP240.

Panama is one of the best sides but Squeeze Me, a piano/trumpet duet, shouldn't have been left out.

R and B man

LYNN HOPE

Shocking; Blue And Sentimental
*(Blue Beat Melodisc 45/BR/21)****

LYNN HOPE, I'm told, is the foremost exponent of tenor saxophone rhythm and blues playing. He is a coloured musician with plenty of sheer technique at his command. He can, and does at times, produce a lush, warm tone in the very best traditions of late swing period Kansas City-influenced big band music. When he descends to vulgarity he is, to play on words, "Shocking."

All the usual tricks of the R 'n' R trade are here. Unfortunately the swinging beat that the rockers sometimes manage to cook up isn't there with him.

Blue And Sentimental is another matter. Lynn Hope, obviously inspired by the Herschel Evans version recorded with the Count Basie band, turns up a solo of merit, though too close to the original for my ears. But this shortened version will provide something of interest to those who cannot take this sort of jazz in anything but small doses.

I doubt whether the record is meant to be taken seriously by anyone except the R and B collectors.

Neat trumpet

DOC EVANS AND THE 6 ALARM SIX

Dr. Jazz; Willie The Weeper; Outrich Walk; Milneburg Joy
*(Oriole EP 7034)****

WHEN Doc Evans first appeared on the scene he was hailed as the new Bix. Which is nothing unusual. Every white trumpeter not playing directly in the style of Armstrong is invariably hailed as the new Bix. Then of course records eventually appear and the tab is quickly dropped. Then after an initial rave season the poor guy is usually left for dead.

Which is very much the story in this country of Doc Evans. He has lived most of his life in Minnesota, beginning musically as a drummer, but switching to cornet while still at university.

TRAD JAZZ

ROUND-UP

BIGGEST DEMAND EVER FOR 'STOMP'

JAZZSHOWS had the biggest demand ever for tickets for their Annual Floating Festival on June 25, this year renamed the "Steamboat Stomp." The two boats, Royal Sovereign and Royal Daffodil, were both fully sold out two weeks ago. And that means over 3,000 fans, not including the many journalists, agents and friends of the promoters.

For it has become almost a tradition that George Webb takes the opportunity to repay bountifully the work of the Press.

TWO BILKS?

ACKER BILK is a clever individual, but not enough to appear with his band in Holland and in Ireland AT THE SAME TIME. This seemed to be the case when a printer's error occurred in this copy two weeks ago.

The first Irish tour ends on August 2 and not 24. Another Irish tour takes place from September 3 to 10 and in addition to this and the Dutch one, a Swiss tour is planned for late in November. Itinerary not yet fixed but suggested dates are 17 to 26.

MASTERS BACK

BOB MASTERS has rejoined Dick Charlesworth on trumpet and Bill Dixon has come back on banjo replacing ex-band leader Pete Deuchar. Bill Dixon has played for the last four months with Nat Gonella and Kenny Ball.

Dick now has his old line-up with the exception of Cyril Preston, Dave Keir, who took his place, plays trombone and "everything else in the band," and he also sings! I was told. Which makes a total vocal complement of Jackie Lynn, Dick Charlesworth, Dave Keir and Graham Brackley!

The Charlesworth Band has been booked for ABC's "Sunday Break" on June 4 and this will be relayed from Birmingham. On June 21 they take part in the Adam Faith Show on ITV.

On May 19 they play an all-nighter at Wymondham, the next night they are the "Band of the Month" at Heathcote and May 21 finds them at Coatham Hotel, Redcar. One day's travelling and they open their northern tour in Glasgow on May 23, following this with Aberdeen, Hartlepool, Morecambe, and Preston.

CORRIE UP NORTH

ED CORRIE'S Concord Jazz Band play their first weekend in the north when they travel to Manchester for a date on May 13 at the Two P's Jazz Club. On May 14 they are at Greenfield and they make their concert debut the following day, playing a joint show with the Temperance Seven at Birmingham Town Hall.

Ruby Bard, who handles the Concord Band tells me she has now signed Alvin Roy's Saratoga Jazz Band, the band which won last year's Soho Fair Jazz Championship.

PETERS' NEW MAN

MIKE PETERS has got himself a new clarinet player, Carl Hemsfield from Doncaster, who replaces Ted Owen. Carl has recently played with the Mike Taylor Band. The Peters Band, still sporting their Panama hats and white jackets and still calling themselves the Florida Jazz Band play at the Club Django, Southport today (Thursday), the Alta Club, Glosop tomorrow, the Imperial Jazz Club, Stockport on Saturday and the Royal Hotel, Crewe on Sunday. On May 19 they are at the Mate Hall, Edmonton and the next day share a date with the Temperance Seven at the Sir George Monoux Grammar School, Walthamstow.

Negotiations are in hand for a month in Germany, in June.

JET HARRIS of The Shadows writes for DISC

One eye on the charts for 'City'!

IT'S about two in the morning—we have just returned, after an appearance with Cliff—and am I tired! This is a week when we all become chart watchers... one eye on our instruments, the other on the way our latest disc "The Frightened City" is shaping in the sales market.

It isn't a state peculiar to us. I guess every recording artist gets preoccupied in those first couple of weeks after the release date. The burning question being, "Will the public like the disc?"

I must admit that I'm still as excited with reviews and opinions of our discs now as I was when we had the first one out on the market... and I still phone up our recording manager, Norrie Paramor, to ask for the latest sales figures.

Last Friday "The Frightened City" had been on sale three hours and I was told, "110,000 have been sold."

So thanks to the composing genius of Norrie with this, his very first film score, and you the public, we are very happy to report that it looks as if we have another hit. Thank you—everyone!

We are very proud to have been awarded another Silver Disc—for "F.B.I."—by DISC! And we thank everyone concerned.

The first in a new weekly series by one of the stars of Britain's leading instrumental group

It shows that DISC has a great sense of responsibility to the industry it serves—show business! Here is a practical example of putting something back into a business. These Silver Discs are a great help—they increase the public interest in records, and encourage everyone, studio personnel, factory staff, musicians and singers, to give of their utmost.

I'VE been slipping in and out of Tin Pan Alley a lot lately... and you know the old place is undergoing a face lift. The old "ones shake their heads and say, "it won't be the same" ... no parking, traffic lights — and they are going to start tearing down our local pub, the White Lion.

Outside the Lion the other day I met the king of the kids on television. Ask any toddler who is their number one pin-up and the chances are that you get the reply — "Whally Whytton."

He was a pioneer of skiffle. Led the Vipers on disc, toured the country, wrote more than one hit — and then became a solo personality on children's TV.

His appearances with William the puppet, his songs to a guitar, and his "Springboard" programme about careers have put him into the bigtime with the smalltimers.

Wally shook me rigid when he told me that he has turned down one of ITV's biggest film roles—that of Blondel the 12th century French Minstrel in the new series "Richard the Lionheart."

Why did he say, "No"? There was an exclusivity clause in the contract. It meant that I would have to give up all my other work for at least seven months. This was what made me decide to decline a most attractive offer, Wally told me.

IN common with many other folk in show business Cliff and The Shadows have been asked to circulate the news about the Variety Club of Great Britain's "Star Gala" which is being organised at Battersea Pleasure Gardens this Saturday by "The News Of The World."

We hope that YOU will come along, because we all are. The VC of GB is one of the finest organisations in the world. It has raised hundreds of thousands of pounds for unfortunate, unhappy and unwilling children in these islands.

It will be a great day. There will be stars galore, from stage, TV, films, radio and discs—so why not join us?

vaguely known and this must be taken into consideration.

But whoever the lucky girl will be, there is one minor disappointment in store for her—there will not be any love scenes with Cliff in the picture.
