Parnes goes back to star-building

IT is now nearly four years since Larry Parnes, the man who has guided the careers of Tommy Steele, Billy Fury and Joe Brown, signed up his last artist.

But now he's discovered a singer who he thinks can be just as big a star. His name: Daryl Quist, a 17-year-old Canadian who makes his disc debut with "Thanks To You" and "Keep Moving" on Pye.

Parnes discovered him when he was appearing as a dancer in the pantomime "Humpty Dumpty" at the Liverpool Empire just over a year ago. Parnes was so impressed he went backstage to

DARYL QUIST

DREAMERS

THE BEATLES . . . Gerry and the Pacemakers . . . Billy J. Kramer and the Dakotas. Now Freddie and the Dreamers are in there with a great chance to be the fourth new group to hit the top of the charts since The Beatles set the whole business alight with "Please Please Me" last February.

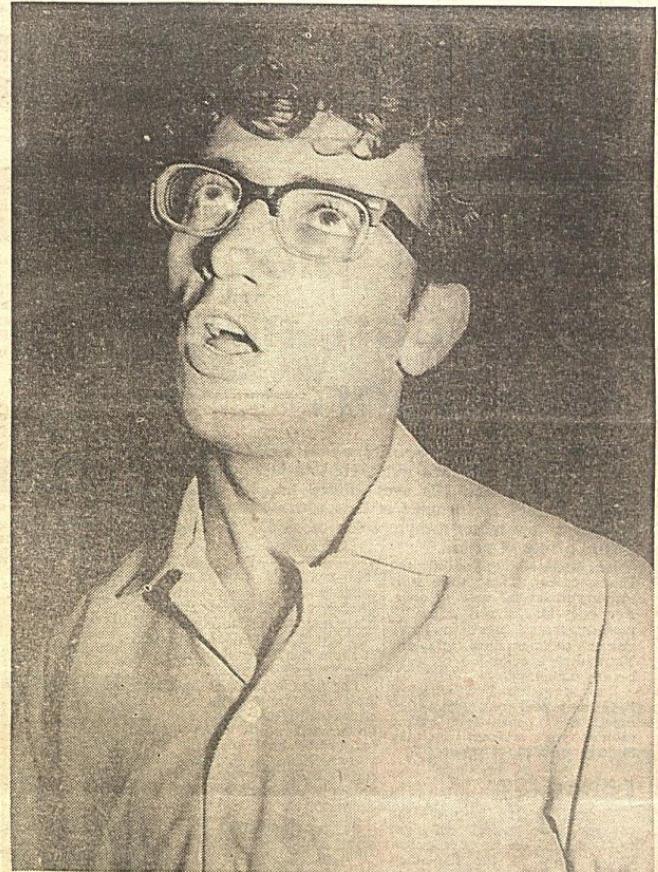

Last week they hit number two, this week they are still there, keeping their fingers crossed that they can take over from Gerry and the Pacemakers next week. But it's going to be a tough fight, for "I Like It" has only been on top for three weeks and will take some dislodging, while The Shadows have come up to number three with "Atlantis."

Freddie and the boys have already cut their next single and the top side will probably be a number by either Jerry Lordan (who wrote "Atlantis") or Mitch Murray (who wrote "I Like It"), so their follow-up disc looks a safe bet for the Ten!

June Harris went along to the session and you can read her story of what happened on page 4.

Rolf Harris

There's plenty of action now,
sport

ROLF HARRIS sat opposite me in a seaside cafe one afternoon early this week. He had just polished off a banana milk shake. His eyes glinted happily behind his horn-rim specs. He beamed at fans who were nudging one another a few tables away. Then he said, "Yes, sport—there's plenty of action."

He was talking about the Harris career. These days it is thriving in several ways at once. For one thing, he is doing 14 performances a week in Larry Parnes' summer show at Great Yarmouth—a solid job of work by any standards.

But no matter how whacked Rolf may feel on a Saturday night, any plans for loafing around the seafront on the Sunday are definitely out.

rehearse

"I shall have to jump into the car and drive through the night to London," he says. "A few hours sleep at the flat—then Lime Grove studios by 9.30 to rehearse my new TV show. Later the same day a half-hour instalment has to be recorded. Then early to bed—and back to Yarmouth."

Rolf's series is called "A Swinging Time." It starts showing on July 25. Top stars like Cliff Richard, Neil Sedaka and Chubby Checker are being sought as guests.

Meantime Rolf's 1960 hit—"Tie Me Kangaroo Down, Sport"—is zooming up the American charts. Rolf says this about it:

Dick Tatham

PRIZE LETTER

They have yet to come into a sales battle with him but this should happen soon. "From Me To You" is now dropping and a new single from Elvis is out this week. If the Beatles' next comes out soon we shall be able to see who is top. I don't think Elvis will abdicate easily.—YVONNE BOURNE, 23, Athers, Buntingford, Herts.

BRILLIANT

EVERY Sunday I listen to Adam Faith's Radio Luxembourg programme, mainly to hear the fabulous Roulettes. This group is brilliant on EVERY show and if they released one of their instrumental sides they could occupy The Shadows' throne.—JOHN O'DONNELL, 18, Fulwood Avenue, Layton, Blackpool.

COPYING

SOME Holly fans don't object too much when other singers copy his style, but Tommy Roe's latest "Kiss And Rain" should get black marks from everyone. Not only is it the same style, it's even the same tune as "It Doesn't Matter Any More." This isn't what we expect . . . particularly as Roe is now reported to be pursuing his own style!—JOHN M. ANDERSON, 184, Queens Road, Whitley Bay, Northumberland.

BEAT AGAIN

SPEAKING for many, Billy Fury fans I believe he should make a change. His current records have all been ballads, and it's time he cut a fast up-tempo number. Elvis and Cliff have released rock numbers which have been hits and as Billy himself is reported to want to record this type of disc, what's stopping him?—PHILIP BOTTRILL, 48, Longmoor Road, Sutton Coldfield, Warwickshire.

RUBBISH!

S. GRAHAM (DISC, June 13) says the phrase "too good for the charts" really means lifeless, boring disc. What a preposterous statement! Does he really believe that artists like Brook Benton, Della Reese, Tony Bennett, Peggy Lee, Sammy Davis, etc., are guilty of making lifeless, boring discs?—CYNTHIA BUTLIN, 79, Westgate, Chichester, Sussex.

NOW FOR U.S.

TH E FABULOUS BEATLES, who have established themselves so well in this country with their terrific discs, should issue them in North America.

Since I came to England from Canada I've gone crazy about The Beatles; they are incomparable. Every disc of theirs is one hundred per cent great! They even keep up to their standard on their swinging LP and on the flip-sides of their singles.—A. W. CONACHER, 7 Prince Albert Road, London, N.W.1.

The Editor does not necessarily agree with the views expressed in Post Bag.

JIM REEVES: HE'S SORRY HE COULDN'T TOUR

HIT parader Jim Reeves has once again visited Britain without the general public getting the chance to see him—unless they were lucky enough to be invited to one of the U.S. bases where he appeared.

The main reason, on this recent trip, was that he brought his group The Blue Boys with him and American musicians can't work here unless a reciprocal deal has been fixed via the Maritime Union for British musicians to work in America.

Jim's itineraries didn't give him much chance to see much of the country outside the bases either. An additional complication was the accident which overtook The Blue Boys when their van turned over and shook them up very badly. But he did find time to chat for a few minutes to Dave Barnes, editor of "The Country And Western Review."

It was "be hectic," said Dave. "Jim was surrounded by solicitors and insurance people following the road accident. The main point of what he said was how eager he was to come back here as soon as possible and play to the British public as well as the American servicemen stationed here."

Jim's latest hit "Welcome To My World" is a hardy country-and-western in character, despite the presence in full measure of that lazy, rich and warm Reeves voice. The backing is large and strong-studied, and the song itself is more or less a straight ballad.

"I gather that Jim's future with RCA Victor was up for discussion some time ago," said Dave. "Up until then he had received mostly aesthetic country stuff. They wanted him to try something more commercial, and, being Jim, he agreed to try it."

"The first was 'Four Walls,' and when Jim got back to the States from his last British visit, he found it had become a big hit. He's been scoring continuously ever since, and 'Welcome To My World' is the latest example. Most of his older country stuff seems to be coming out again in RCA's Camden series, too."

"Jim told me that he's happiest when working on the real country and western material, which is the only real music where he's concerned. But he likes singing good songs of any kind, especially when they get into the hit parade so frequently!"

I'm thrilled with it, says Frankie

FRANKIE VAUGHAN leaned back in his chair in his dressing room at Scarborough's 2,000-seat Futurist Theatre and, with typical Vaughan sincerity said, "I'm thrilled to hear that it made the charts—even if it was only for one week!"

I had just broken the good news to him that "Hey Mama" had entered our Top Thirty last week.

and the bad news that this week it had dropped out again!

"You know," said Frankie, "it isn't always so easy for me to find the right kind of material."

"I am not a 'one-out-a-month' singer" for I have to find something which will appeal to a wide general audience, the kind of people I find such great satisfaction in playing to.

Right song

Johnny Franz, my recording manager, had been trying for some time to find the right kind of song. Then, a short time ago, he told me he had something he wanted me to hear. I went down to the office at Phillips and we went through the manuscript together.

"I hadn't the faintest idea who had written the number or, for that matter, to whom it belonged. Somehow after seeing it I just had a feeling it could be right for me. I told John that I liked it and rang up my manager, Paul Cave, and sang it to him over the phone.

"It was only then that I found out it had been written specially for me by my old friend Tom Springfield. We decided to record and in two hours with three takes we had it.

Then came a big chance to try the number out. Shirley Bassey had been taken ill and I was called in for the Palladium television spot and I sang it there.

DECCA

Much credit for its success, I am sure, is due to the wonderful backing I got from Ivor Raymonde who was behind me in "Tower Of Strength," "Don't Stop-Twist" and "Loop-De-Loop."

The reverse side to "Mama" is one I wrote myself. It's a sort of message about young people and secondhand cars and this hot-rod business.

As you know I'm rather conscious of youngsters and their welfare and I made this side with them in mind. At the moment, I am driving a secondhand car, but it's in rather better condition than some of the cars which our young people are tempted to buy.

I hope in a lighthearted way, they will read the message on the record."

DAVID WHITFIELD—Ballads

SHOW REVIEWS

David leaves pops alone

Frankie Vaughan is sure to earn a lot more fans

WHETHER they're eight years old or 80—Frankie Vaughan, starring at Scarborough's Futurist Theatre, is assured of earning new fans at every performance of his summer show.

The dynamic Mr. V., backed by one of the finest small groups we have heard in many a long summer show, swings through number after number, from bounce to ballad and back again.

His tremendous feeling for all types of audiences which creates such sincere reactions should mean summer sell-out notices.

Heading the bill, Frankie brings a breathless touch of his Palladium and recording performances to the seaside.

Many holidaymakers will undoubtedly miss the last bus back to their hotel if they react like the opening night audience, who just kept on asking for more.

The Jeridale Three swing neatly in their own musical spot, Joe Church strikes a new comedy note, Hylda Baker and Jimmy Wheeler are also funny, Patricia Stark sings, and the Dancing Lovelies support.

Faith swings at Bridlington

ADAM FAITH'S "It's A Grand Night" which opened its 12-week run at The Grand Pavilion, Bridlington, on Tuesday, is a swinging show—not only with the fans but with the mums and dads as well.

From start to finish this well-dressed, smartly drilled spectacular moves along slickly.

The most expensive show yet to be presented at Bridlington, it gives the audience its fair share of Adam Faith who starts off his act with "Hallelujah" and "Looseme" and includes "What Now" and his latest release "Walkin' Tall."

D.A.

ONE-TIME teenage pop idol David Whitfield is still strong enough to top the bill in the "Five Star Show" which started its summer run at the Winter Garden Pavilion, Blackpool, on Saturday, June 22.

But with a difference—for his act is almost entirely composed of light ballads.

The pop fan, however, is well looked after by The Dallas Boys whose "Mr. Bass Man," "Where Or When," and impressions of Lonnie Donegan, The Shadows (great this one!), The Kaye Sisters and Kenny Ball guarantee that no one sleeps!

The three Vernon Girls "Do The Bird" and also offer "I Will Follow Him" and "Funny All Over"—and additionally there is a pop-record backing to puppets Pinky and Perky.

June Harris watches a new Freddie and the Dreamers, session, and talks to Mitch Murray

Freddie and the boys have a ball in the studio

THERE was a terrific yelp as Freddie Garratty of Freddie and the Dreamers slid down the banisters from control room to studio, and landed on the hard, strip flooring, wrong side up! He picked himself up, brushed the dust off and danced towards a suspended mike in the centre of E.M.I.'s Studio One.

"O.K. Freddie, let's try another take on the vocal," commanded the voice of A & R man John Burgess from the control box. Two of the Dreamers, Pete Burrell and Roy Crewsdon, joined Freddie on either side of the mike, and the trio swung into a three part harmony on an upbeat Jerry Lordan composition, the first of three numbers they recorded last week for their new single.

After the opening four bars, a whistle came down the control room mike. "Freddie, sing either the harmony or melody opening — you're cutting into both and losing the boys," called John Burgess.

The trio did a straight run-through, and apart from the fact that Freddie burst out laughing at the end of the number (John Burgess could not decide whether to use it on the finished pressing) the song was on the can.

Freddie went up to the control room with Pete, Roy and the remaining two of the Dreamers, Derek Quinn and Bernie Dwyer, and listened to the playback.

Back into the studio again as Derek Quinn hosted his winklepickers up on a high stool and played a few Spanish-type chords. The boys started again. After 17 takes, mainly interrupted by one Freddie Garratty who wasn't too happy with the result, the instrumental track was finished on a Mitch Murray, 20-type beat number.

They broke for tea. In the studio canteen, Freddie wiped the sweat off his face and chatted with John Burgess.

"We're doing fine, mate," said John. "Keep up the good work. We're trying the vocal right now."

Back in the studio, Freddie pitched into a high scream, "I'm trying out the falsetto bit," he said.

"Take one," interrupted Burgess. The boys ran into the vocal "O.K., while you've got it we'll do another straight away."

Freddie and the Dreamers completed their second song in 21 takes, with 45 minutes to spare on the clock.

Their third song, one of Freddie's own compositions, seemed comparatively easy after that.

There's no decision yet about which one will make the top-side—but whichever it is I'm betting it'll make the charts!"

MITCH MURRAY (right) with Freddie Garratty at the recording session.

I WROTE FOR KICKS, SAYS

MITCH ('I LIKE IT') MURRAY

THREE months ago few people had heard of Mitch Murray. Now you can't talk about the current scene without mentioning his name, for he is one of the stars behind the fantastic success of the Liverpool boys. And with two number ones to his composing credit—"How Do You Do It" and "I Like It"—there's no arguing with that!

Mitch is certainly one of "the boys." He's with it, way out, has a smarmy dress sense and keeps a sharp finger on the teenage pulse of the music industry.

Wonder boy

At 23, Mitch is the new wonder boy of the record world. His status as a composer has grown with the success of "How Do You Do It" and "I Like It." But other songwriting credits include "Let's Make A Habit Of This," "Why Can't We Love," which he recorded with Les Reed as "The Sounds Of Les and Mitch"; Cleo Laine's "Looks Like They're In Love," and "That Kinda Talk," the flipside of Mark Wynter's "Go Away Little Girl."

To find out what makes Mitch tick, I tracked him down at his Golders Green home. Among the clash and din of decorators' ladders and buckets, with a dish-washing machine whirling happily away for further inspiration, Mitch made two cups of strong coffee and started talking.

"I never used to take songwriting seriously," he confessed, "especially as I had no musical training. I just wrote for kicks. Everyday situations and experiences are perfect for songs. Years ago, I was given a beaten-up old ukulele. I wanted to play this thing, so I bought stacks of sheet music, mostly 1920s stuff, and painfully learned how to strum it. That was the start of it. My ukulele and I were inseparable, and eventually I started basing my own songs on it. Sometimes, on holiday, I took it on the beach to serenade a girl. Generally they screwed up their faces and stuck their fingers in their ears, because they hated my efforts at songwriting and couldn't bear the sound I got!"

But not any more. Mitch's simple, catchy melody lines and lyrics were soon captured by Tim Pan Alley, and within six months he's become one of the hottest and most talented composers in demand.

"I don't sit and think about a song before I write it," says Mitch. "You catch a normal kind of expression like 'I Like It,' make a note of it, and build up more lyrics around the catch phrase. The lyrics usually come first and the tune follows a split second afterwards,

Simplicity sells

"Truthfully, I think it can only be the simplicity that sells," Mitch Murray always cuts his own demo, too. In fact, it was the original demo disc of "Why Can't We Love," which was released on Fontana; "I'm very surprised at all this success," he modestly went on. "And when I hear any of my numbers on radio or TV, especially if sung by anyone other than the person who recorded it, I get a terrific kick."

DISC calls Bobby Vee at home in Minnesota

I'm having a ball — doing NOTHING!

"FOR the first time in a year, I'm home on a long vacation," said Bobby Vee over the long distance line. "In fact, you've just caught me, minutes before I go freshwater fishing again."

I called Bobby at the Vee family home in Moorhead, Minnesota, to congratulate him on his new chart success, "Bobby Tomorrow," the flipside of his American release, "Charm." "It didn't do so well here either.

"You know, I'm happy that you didn't release 'Charm' as the topside in England," he admitted when he heard the news. "It didn't do so well here either.

"I guess, because of the title, people associate 'Bobby Tomorrow' with me. I don't mind that. I think it's a good thing. But in fact, the song was written by three young guys in New York City who'd been hawking it around for some time, and sat on our doorstep with it for two weeks before I even listened to it. But I'm sure glad I did; I think it's a lovely song."

• happy

But Bobby, happy though he is with his continued success in Britain, was even happier to talk about his vacation at home with the family.

"You know, it's so great to be back with the family again, just like it was when I was a kid. Just to be able to relax and do the things I enjoy most means a lot to me."

"I've been home since the beginning of June. I played a date in North Dakota, crossed the river, unpacked my bags and said 'hi' to my folks."

"The next morning my brother Bill and I got up early to go fishing, and we've been doing it every day."

"We catch freshwater fish, put them in the deep freeze to be eaten later."

• baseball

"In the afternoons, we either go water skiing, or play a little baseball, and then at night we go downtown to eat or to a movie."

"Most of my old friends at home are married now, and they keep on asking me when I'm getting hitched. But I don't even have a steady, just a few of the gang that I grew up with."

Bobby did admit that most of his recording equipment is at home with him, and he has been fooling around with it "just a little" on his vacation.

"I start work again in July," he said. "Have a tour of the Bobby Vee—He's been off work for a month, just fishing, water skiing and relaxing.

and I'm more serious about it a few weeks back. It was a great present when it hit the charts."

"And, of course, recordings still play a tremendous part in my career. I've just finished another album, and recorded my newest single, 'Be True To Yourself' on my 20th birthday as it can be fixed."

CLINTON: A NEW SOUND, BUT

IT'S THE SAME (ZANY) GUY

Clinton Ford was doing one of the things he admits to enjoying most . . . standing in a pub, surrounded by friends with a large glass of rum and coke at his elbow.

He's recently left his old record company and his first single under his new contract with EMI has just been released. It has raised a few eyebrows, too.

Titles are "Beggar In Love" and "When The Melody Man Says Goodnight," and they are both straight ballads, well away from Clint's normal "pubby" style.

As Norman Newell, the A and R man who took the session says: "Nobody has ever heard Clinton sing like this before."

I was chatting to Clint in an effort to find out why he'd changed. Was he being re-launched?

In amazement, bordering on horror, he ALMOST put his glass down. Instead he took a large gulp.

"Actually this record of mine other people what he SHOULD do. When I finally managed to collar him again he explained:

"People tell me what to do because I haven't the slightest inclination to make arrangements myself. I usually leave it all to my wife, bless her, and I don't often know what's going on around me."

"She tells me where I have to be and at what time. I just do as I'm told . . . and earn the money."

"Let's have another round . . . on that."

"The trouble is, I haven't got any cash. But I've got a fortune in cheques on me," he went on, accepting a pound. A friend offered him and pulling out a bulging wad of papers, dropping half of them on the floor.

"Look at them, a small fortune, and I can't cash them, because I'm too busy to get to the bank!"

BBC puts ban on Cougars' new disc

THE BBC have banned the second Parlophone single by The Cougars. Its title is "Red Square," and it is based on a theme from Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto. The Cougars' debut single "Saturday Night At The Duck Pond," based on a theme from Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake, was also banned from broadcasting.

Charles Blackwell's HMV adaptation of the Habanera from Bizet's "Carmen" called "El Torero" and Kenny Ball's Mozart adaptation "Rondo" have both been passed as suitable for broadcasting. A BBC spokesman told DISC:

"The Cougars' 'Red Square' is a distortion of a major classical work. We regard Bizet's 'Carmen' as a light classic and the Blackwell disc as a suitable version of it."

The Grade Organisation's Nat Berlin, just back from Israel, told DISC: "Not many of our British artists are known in Israel, but Cliff and The Shadows are a big exception. A tour by Cliff and the boys would be most welcome—it is just a question of their finding the time."

Adam as Tom Sawyer

ADAM FAITH will play the title role in a stage musical adaptation of Mark Twain's famous novel "Tom Sawyer," which will open in the West End in December. He will be supported by a British cast now being fixed, and the music and lyrics of the show have been written by a young American composer, Tom Boyd.

Harry Secombe opens as the lead character in "PICKWICK" at the Saville Theatre on July 4. The music and lyrics for the show have been written by Cyril Ornadel and Leslie Bricusse, and Secombe will star in the Broadway production following the London run.

Orbison tour dates

THE Roy Orbison autumn package featuring Billy J. Kramer, Freddie and The Dreamers and Bob Luman with Orbison opens at the Walthamstow Granada on September 14.

Sarne play is put back

THE Mike Sarne play "The Perils Of Scobie Priest" will now open in London in the last week of July, two weeks later than originally planned. The delay was caused by the illness of leading lady Nyree Dawn Porter.

JOHN LENNON, as well as being in ABC TV's "Thank Your Lucky Stars" with The Beatles, also makes his debut as a pianist on "Life With...". Last Saturday, he telecasted his "JBL" spot last Saturday, made a lightning dash to Battersea Helipad and then had a two and a half hour journey by helicopter to Aberavon, South Wales. At the end of the dance date Paul McCartney was presented with a birthday card signed by 500 of the dancers in honour of his 21st birthday on June 18.

HURRY, FURY FANS

If you want a copy of "Life With... Billy Fury," the second in the exciting new series "Life With The Stars," you'd better hurry! Since its publication was announced last week, there has been a terrific run on books all over the country. "Life With... Billy Fury" is packed with fascinating details about Billy's background and rise to fame. It reveals the heart-warming facts of his early Liverpool life, hiding nothing about the tough life he led.

Each page has a wonderful photo of Billy, and there are dazzling pictures on the cover and a superb centre picture all in full colour, unique features of the "Life With... The Stars" series.

Don't delay any longer. Get your copy from any newsagent for the bargain price of 3s 6d... and have a splendid summer of Billy which will last a lifetime.

PALLADIUM TV AND 'DOWN UNDER' TOUR

THE BEATLES, the Liverpool group whose fantastic success sparked off a chain reaction in the disc business that is a long, long way from dying out, will soon be able to add yet another honour to their name—they have been booked by the Mecca of all pop artists, the Palladium, to star in a Sunday TV show when the series returns in the autumn. And Gerry and the Pacemakers are to follow up their own success with a four to five week tour of Australia and New Zealand!

Berlin pens new musical

IRVING BERLIN has written the score for a lavish new musical which goes into production at Hollywood in September. Entitled "Say It With Music," it will feature many of Berlin's old favourites together with some new numbers written especially by him.

The exact date of The Beatles' Palladium show is still being negotiated. Gerry and the Pacemakers expect to make their trip in November.

The Beatles' autumn tour dates have now been set. They open at the Cheltenham Odeon on November 1, followed by Leeds Odeon (3), East Ham Granada (5), Northampton ABC (6), Slough Adelphi (9), Birmingham Hippodrome (10), Portsmouth Guildhall (12), Plymouth ABC (13), Exeter ABC (14), Bristol Colston Hall (15), Bournemouth Winter Gardens (16), Coventry Theatre (17), Wolverhampton Gaumont (19), Manchester Apollo (20), Carlisle ABC (21), Stockton ABC (22), Newcastle City Hall (23), Hull ABC (24), Cambridge ABC (26), York Rialto (27), Lincoln ABC (28), Huddersfield ABC (29) and Sunderland Empire on November 30.

At pristine Harris told DISC:

"I shall definitely return to the States at the end of October for about three months, mainly for these cabaret and TV dates... I am particularly interested in the offer from The Village Gate, as I played a one-night stint there on my last trip."

"While there, time permitting, I shall cut some new titles for Epic and certainly look out for some new material."

"My new single here 'I Know A Man' will be my next U.S. release."

"Hit 'Sun Arise' LP, recently issued in the States, has had the title changed to 'Te Me Kangaroo Down Sport,' because of the success of the single."

Alma Cogan flies to Germany at the end of August for TV dates.

Bruce Welch throws a 21st party

THES SHADOWS, Cliff Richard, his leading lady Carole Grey, The Dallas Boys, The Vernons Girls, and most of Cliff's Blackpool company turned out in force on Saturday when Bruce Welch threw a champagne birthday party at the Blue Parrot Restaurant for the 21st birthday of his wife, Anne.

The July 6 part will present classical music, and includes Margot Fonteyn in its cast. The pop section will be shown the following day and features Steele, Nina and Frederik, Marlene Dietrich, Yma Sumac, Charles Trenet and Los Paraguayos.

New jury speaks up

BARRY LANGFORD's new record panel game, "Dad, You're A Square,"—launched by Southern TV last Friday—was notable for one promising feature. The panelists of "Dads" were generally more outspoken in their verdict on the pops than the pun-punch panels usually featured by "Juke Box Jury."

But "Dad, You're A Square" will have to be tightened up considerably if it is to overtake the popularity of the rival Saturday show. Chairman Barry Langford did his best with some hip comments to liven up the proceedings, but the teenage audience could have displayed much more response.

In this initial stage, the "Dads" were definitely more with it. And, unfortunately, a grouch got to work on the "infernal machine" which is supposed to eject pieces of records that get the thumbs-down verdict from the two panels. It failed to work at maximum efficiency.

Despite many of these failings will have been ironed out by tomorrow's second showing in the 13-week series.

Captain Barry has produced a programme of originality, and has two real dads in panelists Charlie Mills—father of singer Garry—and countess Steve Stevenson.

A new act, and she's 75!

INIMITABLE, indomitable, indestructible Sophie Tucker sailed majestically on stage at London's Talk Of The Town on Monday and captivated a packed house with her sheer artistry. At 75 she could well have been forgiven for treading the well-worn path of past success. But she didn't; she presented an entirely new art, retaining only the immortal "Some Of These Days."

Nowadays she talks more than she sings, but her numbers lose none of their point by this and her cross-talk with pianist Ted Shapiro would do credit to a top comedy team.

DISC DATE

With people like Betty Carter showing up in the singles a week can never be dull. But Betty's not the only good thing among this week's batch of releases.

Indeed, though this time of year things often tail off in the record world, the output is keeping up a consistently strong level of interest.

Talking of interest there should be a lot shown in the new releases from Presley and Helen Shapiro. Elvis hasn't been dominating the disc scene in his old kingly manner so there'll be plenty of eyes watching the progress of his new coupling. I think it will get into the charts . . . but it can place Nashville over Merseyside once more in a very debatable point.

The Shapiro coupling too is a testing point.

BY DON NICHOLL

'Devil' is good, but Pres isn't safe yet!

Elvis Presley

(You're The Devil In Disguise; Please Don't Drag That String Around) RCA 12551

DNT WHEN Leslie Bricusse's song featured someone who walked and talked like an angel it was "My Kind Of Girl" . . . but such a character for Presley is a "Devil In Disguise". And he lets out the message here with a clever mixture of smoothness and attacking ferocity.

Barked by the Jordanselves Elvis should have another Parade entry on his hands . . . though I'm not sure that it's powerful enough to count him completely the comparative side is also impressive.

Both halves here are around the two-minutes mark, and "Please Don't Drag That String Around" rocks quickly and easily all the way. It'll have custom in its own right.

Everything's right

The Chiffons

(One Fine Day; Why Am I So Sky) Stax 2011

DNT THE Carole King and Gerry Goffin song "One Fine Day" has nothing whatsoever to do with "Madame Butterfly". Instead it is a rapid little buster which the vocalists handle crisply and enthusiastically . . . always making the lyric tell. I'm sure it will set them into big sales again, because everything sounds right.

On the turnover The Chiffons achieve a nice, wide-open noise as they slow down a little for the ballad "Why Am I So Sky". The song itself isn't so good as the one upstairs, but it's useful enough to gather spins.

NASHVILLE AGAIN FOR HELEN

Helen Shapiro

(Not Responsible; No Trespassing) Columbia DH 70721****

DNT TWO of the tracks which Helen recorded in Nashville, Grady Martin was in charge of the accompaniments and for "Not Responsible" the backing is made up of firm rhythmic work with piano and chorus.

Helen's voice comes across with almost imperceptible strength and sound as she sings this jazzy buster. It's catchy and no quick to be assimilated—just it might well be getting her back in sales favour.

No Trespassing is quite a switch for the British girl. Takes her into the boomerang step of the Twinkies. Ricky-tick type of backing as the ripples off the number.

Steve Race

(Rip Van Winkle; Legend Of The Lake) Paragon R 30414***

DNT Rock with a couple of his own compositions Rip Van Winkle borrows mainly in a manner which will satisfy Nicosa fans. Race has his own piano work in the style of orchestral sound. Legend Of The Lake is a slower, more thoughtful item which Steve plays simply in those of shimmering strings.

The Vernons Girls

(He'll Never Come Back; Stay-At-Home) Decca F 11641***

DNT MIKE LEANDER directs the musical action of Trevor Pinnock's song He'll Never Come backwards in the single. The BIG THREE are determined not to be left out of the Merseyside gang in the Top Ten.

The BIG THREE are determined not to be left out of the Merseyside gang in the Top Ten.

MIKE LEANDER directs the musical action of Trevor Pinnock's song He'll Never Come reaching the upper range with the amusing enough to register.

CHARLES BLACKWELL borrows from "Carmen."

Charles Blackwell

(I Toro; Hawaiian War Chant) MGM 12041***

DNT CHARLES BLACKWELL'S

Two has the expected Spanish flavour and borrows from "Carmen" to make a break dancer which ought to be as commercial as the melody has ever been.

Saxes, organ and sha-la-la chorus combine to make a good sound.

Seems a shame to deny Black his credit however.

Another old familiar on the second side is the Hawaiian War Chant performed with an effective hesitation beat.

David Rose

(Theme From The "Wonderful World Of The Brothers Grimm"; The Runaway) MGM 12041***

DNT THE screen theme, which is to be heard on plenty of sides, bounces effortlessly in this version by the big David Rose orchestra.

Rose's organ, the essential light touch for the family atmosphere, and the disc will no doubt find its way into a lot of radio programmes, just I doubt if it will be bought large.

Rose's own composition The Runaway is a slinky melody which the band plays in bouncy, energetic mood. This I should explain means the runaway used by the girls in strip shows.

The Big Three

PAUL AND PAULA 'QUARREL' THEIR WAY TO ANOTHER HIT

Paul and Paula

(First Quarrel; School Is Thru) Philips B 12551

DNT TRUMPET opens up loud and sad for the cling-cling ballad which Paul and Paula produce here. They've had their "First Quarrel" which must be shattering news for all who've followed the disc love affair since the first hit.

Must also be another tag singer for the sentimental duo.

Piano, drums and that trumpet paved the path with them.

"School Is Thru" is a sturdy young duet which the couple tell simply. I haven't been able to find much enthusiasm for such teenage romances as the one detailed here but it'll be a satisfactory second side no doubt.

Betty Carter

(The Good Life; Nothing More To Look Forward To) London ILK 9242*****

A NOTHER covering of The Good Life ballad . . . and a joy since it brings us the rare pleasure of a single from Betty Carter. The star drifts through this song with the dark whispering quality that only the best can attain. Miss C's phrasing is a treat for the ear and I only hope that the performance is aired sufficiently to let enough people become aware of it.

One of Mr. Adler's contributions from the musical "Kismet" is on the turnover. Nothing More To Look Forward To is a low-keyed, blues-based ballad. Betty double-tracks effectively to mournful background.

Freddy Cannon

(Baby Baby Jean) Columbia SS 20111***

RHYTHM and blues happen set R down a good raft for Freddy Cannon as he soars above Betty Baby the girl with the dancing feet. The number's a good one for anyone with dancing feet, too. Builds on whoops and the exitable rhythm section.

Might be strong enough to put

Freddy both into a position somewhere near the sales he needs to move over here.

Betty Jean is a girl of a different nature. A bare-breasted whom Freddy belows in a shuffle beat with chorus echoing behind him.

The Tymes

(So Much In Love; Rooster James McLean) Cameo Parkway P 8311*****

A FIVESOME whose ages range from 20 to 24, the boys of The Tymes vocal team are Americans doing well in their home country. I think they'll sell well here also as a result of So Much In Love.

It is their debut disc. A song which lifts in relaxing fashion for those who like to snap fingers in time to the beat. The vocal sound is light and attractive with the boy who sings lead handling his chore very pleasantly indeed.

Rooster James McLain is a heavier rock effort with some husky humour in the sound.

Cleo Laine

HAZEL ADAIR, Peter Lisa (who map out the stories for "Compact" and Steve Race got together to write Southend. You *****—Excellent.

****—Very good.

***—Good.

**—Ordinary.

*—Poor.

And the really hot records that look like splashing to the top are marked by D.N.T. (Don Nicholl Tip).

PAUL AND PALLA have their "First Quarrel."

out comes Bo Diddley's own version of the rocker which changed his name from Elvin McLean. The rhythm 'n' blues star works up quite a heat storm with this track, most of the effect, of course, coming not from his occasional vocal work but from the compulsive sound of the guitar, harmonica, drums, maracas and piano. Deserves to rise.

Diddley is a simple progression on the beat-line. No vocal this side . . . and with the guitars drowning.

Russ Conway

Flamenco: Tell Me In September Columbia DH 70510***

ONE of Phil Green's tunes used in the picture "The Happening" is the Flamenco chosen for Conway's latest concert offering. No bushy photo about this one, instead a rapid attacking pattern backed up by orchestra under Green's own direction. Colourful material.

On the turnover Tony Osborne directs the accompaniment to Tell Me In September, a gay continental dance which Russ plays neatly.

Two more climb on that gospel wagon

JACKIE WILSON AND LINDA HOPKINS—

Shake A Hand; Say I Do (Coral Q 724611***). The two work Chubby Checker led the way for this new gospel trend over here. He's being followed swiftly by others who seek new pop hits by borrowing from this medium. Jackie Wilson and Miss Hopkins team up firmly on Shake A Hand to capture the expressive nature of gospel chant. It might easily grow into a big one.

Say I Do is quick on the beat with a debt more to rhythm 'n' blues than to gospel.

HOWIE CASEY AND THE SENIORS—

The Bell Weevil Song; Boxy Moron (Fontana TF 40110***). A recording made last year by Howie Casey and the Seniors, with Casey bucking out the steady rock of The Bell Weevil Song while saxes and rhythm move comparatively in the background. Good of its kind. The well-known, much maligned Boxy Moron comes up for renewal with an urgent, heavy attack from Casey.

Howie is quick on the beat with a debt more to rhythm 'n' blues than to gospel.

Dakotas could make it without Billy J.

The Dakotas

The Cold Sea; The Millionaire
(Parlophone R 5044) ***

THE COLD SEA, written by one of the best, provides The Dakotas with a good sturdy instrumental effort, on which the Billy J. Kramer voice is not heard. Polished sound for a ballad which moves quickly and fairly dramatically.

Guitars simulate the title well when they have to, but for the most it's a neat melody whatever the title.

The Millionaire is a slower instrumental and one with a good, deliberate top line. A disc that, at the present time particularly, could carry the group into the clouds without their singer.

Hayley Mills and Eddie Hodges

Films; Beautiful Beach
(HMV POP 1179) **

TWO songs from the Walt Disney film "Summer Magic" sing by the young British star and the young American star. Films is a corny but catchy tune put over in corny fashion from the vocal and the singing chores. May have had more effect if the sound had been better. A Beach is the balance factors disastrously.

Beautiful Beach opens with banjo strumming and muffled manner before Hayley comes in at light, breezy voice. Hodges joins her but the strength doesn't noticeably increase.

Yves Montand

La Chamomille; Rhapsody
(Philips BF 1260) ***

LA CHAMOMILLE, which is featured in MGM's film "Come Fly With Me," is a typical French ballad for Yves Montand to sing.

Cheeky, cockney personality of MIKE SARNE scores again on an EP round-up of his single hits.

A flowing, mellow item which he invests with a wealth of romantic accent. Ripping accompaniment from drums and piano at Yes plants this one in mellow manner for his own legion of fans.

Both sides, of course, are sung in French and a knowledge of the language probably helps with appreciation of the quicker ballad Rhapsody to Rhapsody.

Little Peggy March

I Wish I Were A Princess; My Teenage Castle
(IRCA 1350) ***

CURRENT darling of the American charts, Little Peggy March comes out briskly with I Wish I Were A Princess. Simple beat will help this wishful thinking ballad to sell no doubt. And Peggy's clear young voice is one of the best in this particular idiom.

It could grow into a hefty seller with a little bit of luck behind it. My Teenage Castle is tumbling down' is told slowly and with some compulsion by the singer on the other half. Good accompaniment from rhythm and deep voiced mantrum.

Brian Poole and the Tremeloes

Twist And Shout; We Know
(Decca F 11694) ***

YOU don't really need a description of the latest effort from Brian Poole and the Tremeloes do you? That title Twist And Shout tells you all you need to know. Socko! Socko! Socko! is told and jangly with Poole showing leather-lunged above the cobby voices and above the guitars and drums.

We Know is a more straightforward offering. A young love ballad delivered forcefully by Poole over urgent rhythm accompaniment.

shorts... shorts... shorts... shorts

VITA PASCALLI—Amazak Mirage
(Columbia DR 7059) ***—Miss Pascalli sings melodiously through a bouncy Continental ballad Amazak. Very tuneful and enjoyable even if you don't understand the Mediterrean language.

Mirage is sung in English with a wealth of sandy atmosphere.

WINIFRED ATWELL—Theme From "The War Lover"; Petty Tell (Pye N 15499) ***—Far from her "other plane," Winifred Atwell takes the slow, graceful theme from the film The War Lover and plays it again after a reverent string orchestra. After a fairly simple start the half grows in size for dramatic climax.

Petty Tell contrasts with its simplicity and gentle hit. An easy-going innocuous second half.

THE VOLUMES—San Francisco; Teenage Paradise
(London HL 9733) **—Vocal group bawling and falsetto-ing on a steady walking beat as they sing about Sandra, I get the impression they don't really want us to listen to the lyrics. Teenage Paradise has a Latin beat to it and some hysterical falsetto.

THE BRUISERS—Blue Girl; Don't Cry (Parlophone R 5042) ***—Some thought's gone into both song and arrangement of Blue Girl. Moves well on a steady dancing beat that will get some sales. Don't Cry doesn't succeed to quite the same extent, but it's a fair second half.

THE CITATIONS—Moon Race; Slipper
(Columbia DR 7068) ***—How long I wonder before the public tires of the same-sounding instrumental groups? Here's another of the bouncy, gimmicky twang seen performing a routine melody. Moon Race beats a steady, unexciting pack to the stars and simply sounds like someone impersonating a bottle being filled with water.

Slipper and Slidin' has a cracked vocal to go with the guitars.

DOROTHY BAKER—Try Being Nice To Me

A Little Like Leslie (Parlophone R 5040) ***—Miss Baker sings a very pleasant ballad in Try Being Nice To Me. A soft-hearsed intro which she handles gently to a warm, orchestral accompaniment from Johnnie Spencer. A side that could achieve steady soles over a period of time, though not a rusher for the parade.

A Little Like Leslie contrasts with forceful approach. Dorothy Latin-beats this one expressively.

THE ASTRONAUTS—Baja

Baja (IRCA 1249) ***—The Astronauts make a twangy instrumental noise but they fail to engender much excitement in Baja. Incidentally, you pronounce it Bah-ah if you want to sit for it over the counter.

Baja has a good steady beat and is loaded with surfing slang that needs an interpreter ... even the lead singer of the group on this vocal half declares he doesn't know what they mean.

NINO ROSSO—Concerto Disparato; I Verdi

Concerto Disparato, which is used as the film theme of "The Legion's Last Patrol," is offered with a slow, haunting mood by Nino Rossi. I Verdi And is also used in the picture and Rossi is credited as composer of this half.

Show, clear trumpet work again and vocal chorus. In Italian, of course.

BURR BAILEY—San Francisco Bay; Like A Bird Without Feathers

Like A Bird Without Feathers (Decca F 11686) ***—Burr Bailey's well-named . . . there are bars on his country and western voice, and on the RGM sound of this disc. San Francisco Bay jumps along nicely to rhythm, harmonica and loads of echo. Has the ability to get inside your head and may climb before the summer's out.

Like A Bird Without Feathers quickly leaves gaps for guitar to show off.

THE COUGARS—Red Square; Fly-By-Nite

(Parlophone R 5038) ***—The instrumental group from the West Country who last heard on "Saturday Night At The Duckpond," now pick up another tempo for the rocking. This time it's Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1 which is given the twangy run-around under the title Red Square.

For Fly-By-Nite the team slow down on a repetitive easy-beat side.

THE RIVINGTONS—The Bird's The Word

I'm Losing My Grip (Liberty L 15555) ***—Quite a colorful heater from the vocal forces of The Rivingtons as they tell us that The Bird's The Word. I can see dancers really enjoying this one, because its rhythm will shift these hips right from the start. The Rivingtons weave cleverly to produce a sound that's almost a Brazilian jungle effect.

Second half draws along at a painfully slow pace.

SIMONE JACKSON—Ain't Gonna Kill Ya; Slow Motion

Slow Motion (Fridley L 15521) ***—Second disc for teen-ager Simone Jackson and a better one than her first. I'd say, Ain't Gonna Kill Ya is sung brashly on the up-tempo and there's some good supporting noise from the Breakaway vocal group. Slow Motion is a dragging dance the object of which seems to be slowing down the locomotion. Jackson handles it confidently.

BOB MOORE—Ken-O-Florence

Ken-O-Florence (London HLU 9716) ***—Kentucky sounds more like Mexico to me on this relating orchestral slice from the Bob Moore orchestra. Trumpets and guitars and strings travel at a clip-clop as if the sun's shining too much for more exertion. The Flowers Of Florence has similar sound and effect, and one can almost picture the musicians strutting languidly through a village street.

GERRY GRANT—I Know A Girl; Baby Take Care

(HMV POP 1182) ***—Good, rich bawling treatment from Gerry Grant as he sings the straight love song I Know A Girl to sympathetic orchestral accompaniment. I'm on Johnnie Spencer. A very appealing performance this and one which could easily sleep to more than useful sides over the coming weeks.

RAY PETERSON—Give Us Your Blessing; Without Love

(London HLU 9746) ***—Weep along with Ray Hall narrative, half chugging country work as he sobs out Give Us Your Blessing. A madcap tale of young couple who-eat-and-drink-all because the parents laughed at the idea of them getting married.

Without Love is a cling-pong ballad spook-sung in a shower of self-pity.

down the locomotion. Jackson handles it confidently.

RAY AND BETTY REALLY SWING

EP of the Month

Ray Charles and Betty Carter

Baby, It's Cold Outside

Baby, It's Cold Outside; Just You, Just Me; Side By Side; Every Time We Say Goodbye

(HMV EG 3887) ****

UNTIL now I haven't appreciated Ray's dueting on disc much birds, but I've learned with Betty Carter has altered my opinion more than somewhat.

The saucy title tune is a minor masterpiece, and this version must rank as one of the best of all time.

Just You, Just Me swing smoothly and the rendition of Every Time

We Say Goodbye is

(Columbia SEG 8254) ****

FRANK abides with easy persistence, creating Annie's charm and verve as she does so. It's all tied to that lolling country medium tramp which characterizes practically everything that Frank does on disc, and once again I express the hope that we might get the chance to hear him swinging some non-country items on record in the near future.

Cliff Richard and The Shadows

Hits from "Summer Holidays"

Summer Holiday; The Next Time; Dancing Shoes; Bachelor Boy

(Columbia SEG 8250) ****

CLIFF and the Shadows zip through four of their smash musical film hits once again. No descriptions are needed from me for any of them by now, but I will say that Next Time still stands out as being the best potent of the film's numbers.

Mike Sarne

The Mike Same Hit Parade

Code Of Love; Will I Wait; Just For You; Come Outside

(Parlophone GEP 8379) ***

MIKE SARNE offers us with this round-up of his single successes.

His songs are well tailored to his cheeky, Cockney-accented personality, and are genuinely funny in a normal, every kind of way.

VICTOR SILVESTER—Do The Blue

Blues (Blue Note B 1000) ***

THE best country and western record is here, Not only is Marie backed by a rockin' little Dixie-mountain band who play with verve and a complete knowledge of the idiom.

The rest demonstrate John's

arranging in an uncertain manner.

John Barry

John Barry Theme Successes

The Human Jungle; Carré Sack; The James Bond Theme; The Lady Pictures

(Columbia SEC 8255) ****

JOHN offers two TV tunes and two film ones with the aid of his Seven plus orchestra. The effective Human Jungle epus hasn't got the edge and bite here which it has on the sound-track of the small series, but it's still one of the better theme efforts to be recorded for some time.

The rest demonstrate John's talent for modern big sounding and jazz-flavored writing and arranging in an uncertain manner.

Bobby Darin

Early

Long Time Man; Work Song; La Bamba; I'm On My Way; Great God; The Sermon Of Session; Strange Rain; Why Don't You Sing Duet; Everything's Alright; Gamblers; When Their Mama Is Gone; Fay-O; The Endless War; I-Ride.
(Capitol T 1826, stereo ST 1826.)

MR. D. hit the jackpot here, for the album, packing his material carefully and offering a lot well off beaten popular folk track for a change. He got together with Walter Rabinowitz, his producer from the '60s, they both seem to agree, and Walt has not only reproduced some superb backings in perfect character with the songs, but he's also written an excellent sleeve note.

Bobby moves through gospel, spiritual and Latin territory for the set. He sounds a bit like Harry Belafonte in places, especially in the Afro-Cuban Gambanama which is long without getting anywhere much. But he swings nicely more often than not, capturing the right sense of atmosphere.

There's a touch of Everything's Okay, mother in the very litigous Tell Me Why, and the rollicking End-Ex; patches in Mama; again in Strange Rain (another fallout), and, once, evoking Latin rhythmic fireworks in La Bamba.

Bobby rocked himself out of the heat pictures into the top bracket of world-class singers, and LPs like this prove the point beyond all doubt.

The Four Seasons

Sherry and Eleven Others. Mr. Baby; Please; La Ley Del; Friends; I'm Afraid Of My Eyes; Never On Sunday; I Can't Give You Anything Else; The Girl In My Dreams; Oh, Carol; Last Lullaby; Sherry.
(Stateside SL 10031) *****

FRANKIE VALLI, the high-pitched Sesame Street voice with the incredible sky-scraping height of his vocal work. He's the key to the quartet's success. I think—the essential gimmick which most group need.

The beat is strong and the vocalizing at full power all through this selection, which has the advantage of being very danceable as well as listenable.

I don't like the Seasons when they butcher oldies like Yes Sir and Anything But Love, but on their hits and swinging rockers like Peanuts, they're worth any body's money.

ROSEMARY CLOONEY—Sings Country Hits From The Heart (RCA Victor RD 7554) ***—Rock changes into hayseed territory for this collection, and obviously enjoyed it because she was born in Mayville, Kentucky and likes country music accordingly.

But there's no more of that country-dusted sets from peopple these days, and unless they pull something pretty spectacular in the way of treatment like Ray Charles does, I'd much prefer to hear country stars doing the jamboree repertoire.

Rudy's efforts lean towards the odd and unusual, with which the C and W postures are overburdened, and the overall effect of the LP is draggish.

BOB HOPE—Hope in Rwanda And One Other Place (Bunswick LAT 8529) **** * LARRY FOSTER—The Other Family (Stateside SL 10025) ***—Two more funny albums, but vastly different in style and theme.

Bob Hope, the master gather of our time, scintillates on Side 1 which was recorded during a concert he gave at the American Embassy in Moscow in 1959, and again on Side 2 when he returns to America University in North Carolina for patients presented to him last year. He's as witty and infectiously humorous as but, but, but, but, but.

Side 2 is as hot as a furnace, with the boys battering away in fine style and voice at a rocking collection of material. There's even a crazy snatch of classical piano making an unexpected contribution to "Misery."

Side two is a little more relaxed and sedate, until "There's A Place" restores the hectic punch of the flip. The lads do a nice walking treatment on "Taste Of Honey."

One of the most exciting and impressive British pop LPs for a long time.

U.S. (U.S. Stereo) Three: Misery; Come (Go To Him); Cha Cha; Baby Ask Me Why; Please Please Me; Love Me Do; I Love You; Baby It's You; Did You Wear The Kite; A Secret; A Taste Of Honey; There's A Place; Twist And Shout.

THE BEATLES are as rough as sandpaper in technical terms, but as entertainers they are top of the pile in Liverpool and many other places, too. They apply the same uninhibited enthusiasm to their work as do The Springfields, and the beat and atmosphere which they generate are compulsive and completely irresistible.

That Liverpool sound? There's no such thing, of course. The Beatles are right up there on the rhythm and blues wavelength, and, with other Liverpudlians, happen to be the best exponents of the pop side of R and B at present.

This LP should go like a bomb in the R and B areas of the States, because it's chock full of the same ingredients.

There are eight Paul McCartney-John Lennon songs in the set, and the two boys have an obvious golden-boy knack of writing catchy melodies and easily dug lyrics which should stand them and their fellow Liverpudlians in very good stead for a long time to come.

ever, and the LP can stand a lot of replaying for the same amount of laughs.

Larry Foster, who also happens to be a member of the Kirby Stone Four, does another skit on the Khrushchev family with assistance from others. It's another attempt to cash in on the genuinely funny and clever Kennedy send-up by Vaughn Meader, who was first in the field, and like most of the imitations and answers, it's American humour at its most punty.

DINAH WASHINGTON—Drinking Again (Columbia 33 SX 1497) ***—One of the best and most easily recognisable of the stylists among American thrasher-singers again with some great evergreen ballads, including If I Be Around, The Man That Got Away and the Johnny Mercer title song.

Dinah contributes some excellent arrangements and accompaniment, and Dinah does the rest with her unique half-song, half-spoken delivery and her wealth of personality and expression.

MAX BYGRAVES—Max's Biggest Hits (Decca LK 4533) ***—Max's big single successes—like Tulips From Amsterdam, Napoli and You Need Friends are served up here once again on vinyl.

A NOTHER album from

Cliff is the highlight of the July LP releases, and although it is just a round-up of his single successes from "Move It" until "Do You Want To Dance?" it still has the fans queuing. Title is "Cliff's Hit Album" and there are 14 tracks in all.

Top American pop balladeer ANDY WILLIAMS has a set from CBS named after

GENE McDANIELS, another excellent singer like Brook Benton who hasn't yet made it here, has a Latin-type of

BUDDY GRECO fans are in for a treat with his latest Columbia set "Buddy's Back" by guitar star CHET ATKINS. Traditional jazzers will

END OF ROAD FOR TOP DJ SHOW

CABLE FROM AMERICA

THE well known DICK CLARK "American Bandstand" TV show which has been running daily for almost ten years will be sadly missed. It started as a 90-minute show originally but two years ago was changed to a 50-minute show and then recently to a 30-minute show. Now it will only be shown once a week on Saturdays from 1.30 to 2.30. This has been one of the most important programmes ever televised for discovering new talent as well as always presenting at least three top stars a day. Stars like Bobby Rydell, Connie Francis and Frankie Avalon made their first TV appearances on the show. A new idea is being devised but when it will make its debut nobody at this point knows.

Roses," together with a spray of live roses.

The Four Seasons have made it so far with every single they have recorded and took all set to continue with their latest, "Candy Girl," although it's a little different from their recent hits. Incidentally, all the boys sent cards from Britain to say just how much fun they had during their visit.

Newest folk singer to be signed by Columbia, Bob Dylan, is already having a big success with his own composition, "Don't Think Twice." And not only is it his own version doing well but also six other top folk stars are recording the song, including The Kingston Trio, Peter, Paul and Mary and Odetta.

Filming has just started on "My Fair Lady" which Warner Bros. are making. It will be the most expensive production ever known in the long history of the company and although Warners paid five million dollars for the film rights alone this does not entitle them to issue the original film sound-track.

Arranger Jimmy Haskell, who works with Rick Nelson among many star singers, has just signed to score and conduct the forthcoming Allied "The Days Of Wine And Dance," which stars Jack Lemmon and Shirley MacLaine. United Artists, whose parent company have made the film, will release the Andre Previn sound-track and Jack Lemmon himself is cutting a piano version of the score which will mark his first LP.

Although The McGuire Sisters are doing all sorts of solo work (Philips, for instance, will shortly be seen with Frank Sinatra in the film "Come Blow Your Horn"), they still intend to work as a sister act and have just cut their first single for Reprise. It's called "Cordially Invited." They recently joined Reprise after a long stay and many hits with Coral.

There's no depth of feeling and you won't smell the Delta not feel the lash of the slave-driver's whip. But you will find your feet tapping merrily away.

Both Big Butter And Egg Man and You Made Me Love You bow gently in the direction of Louis Armstrong. The Sheik is a killer-diller paced morsel. Bel Andi is the Willy Furtwangler number adapted reasonably successfully to jazz.

Peter Schlippenbach, leader and clarinettist, is a player of superlative agility. The remainder of the line-up has changed over the years, but they still retain their tight Drive approach.

Despite the inclusion of yet another version of Desafinado, the remaining pieces are generally very refreshing and the varied accompaniment line-ups prevent boredom setting in.

I STILL like this uncompromising Dixieland group. It's trad in many ways, but boozes along with enough vigour to put 90 per cent of our outfitts in the shade.

THIS is a strange one indeed. Buck Clayton from summer middle period stuff. There's the hint of things to come and the desire to extend beyond the limitations of a big band trumpeter, but no real artfulness as yet.

Recording is poor, very topsy-turvy, the band and doing "whatsoever to Clayton's taste. The rhythm section all but disappears at times.

Mind you these were poor days for recording companies and the Hot Record Society wasn't in the major cities by any means. But then without the small enthusiastic private labels we would never have had any of this middle-of-the-road jazz in 1946.

Better Bossa

Charlie Byrd

BOSSA NOVA FELOS PAS-
SAROS (12in. Riverside RLP 4100*****). Frankly, this is not the endearing bossa nova surpassing from the jazz labels. But I give full marks to this set by the superb, sensitive Charlie Byrd. His feeling for the authentic Brazilian rhythm is so obviously sincere and genuine.

Despite the inclusion of yet another version of Desafinado, the remaining pieces are generally very refreshing and the varied accompanying line-ups prevent boredom setting in.

Duke Ellington

A PRO BOSSA (12in. Reprice R 4109)*****—This is Ellington's first LP under the Frank Sinatra banner. I have to say this. But the record just doesn't match up to those exciting "live" performances. Maybe the musicians weren't too familiar with the then new Ellington music. But, though the precision is faultless and the tone colours that one expects are there in all their glory, somehow I found the album as a whole a bit of a bore.

By Duke's own standards, that is. And maybe a little over-romantic and over-dramatic. But I'm quite prepared to listen to 20 more titles!

Tony Kinsey Quintet

HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS WITHOUT
REALLY TRYING (12in. Decca LK 4574)****—Decca's first modern entry in jazz is a jazz version of the "How To Succeed" score by probably the most underrated combo in the country.

I like the varied ways in which the group have approached this non-jazz material and everyone plays extremely well. Unfortunately, as with most similar ventures, 12 short tracks don't give any of them a chance really to stretch out and play.

How I wish someone would let the group do a proper jazz LP. I think they could surprise a lot of people—themselves included.

Cliff's star writers tell DISC

DISC HIS NEW FILM WILL BE BEST EVER

Connie flies in to warm welcome

DINERS in a Chelsea pub tucked into their steak and chips at lunchtime on Monday without realising that one of the most famous personalities of American TV was sitting at a nearby table.

But many men did nudge one another as they asked "Who is that lovely blonde sitting over there?"

That "lovely blonde" was none other than Connie Stevens—leading star of the Hawaiian Eye TV series. And Connie had just flown into Britain over the weekend to appear for a charity show in aid of the Jewish blind at Manchester's Palace Theatre.

Connie told DISC just after the show: "It's great to be back in Britain again. But I am here for only a few days. I shall be flying to the Continent at the end of the week. I hope to be in Rome in time to see the Coronation of the Pope."

CRYSTALS AGAIN TAKE CHARTS BY SURPRISE

ONCE again those five lively girls calling themselves The Crystals have taken the British pop scene by surprise. It happened first last December when they registered here with "He's A Rebel," and now it's happening again with "Da Doo Ron Ron." Trouble is no one is very sure about who the girls are! Back in December it seemed there were six of them, but now the number is apparently five. To add to the general mystery, Decca have just received a photo of the group showing only four girls! And if that wasn't enough, the foursome, threesome or foursome revised "Zip-A-Dee-Doo-Dah" on disc, using the name of The Bob-E-Socks!

There's no doubt about the potency of their discs, however. Looked at on paper, the title "Da Doo Ron Ron" appears to be gibberish. When sung by The Crystals, aided by a dynamic studio sound achieved by A and R ace Phil Spector, it adds up to a definite hit.

I can tell you that the girls all come from the Brooklyn district of New York City, and I can tell you their Christian names and ages, five of them, at least! Barbara, Dee Dee and Pat are all 17, and Mary and La La are both 16.

They got together originally because they all loved to sing, and they were signed by the small Phillips label in the States. They've done an album named after their first hit "He's A Rebel," and in view of their success with "Da Doo Ron Ron," Decca will probably release it on their London label here, although it's not been scheduled yet.

And maybe we'll see the girls in person on a tour here for the same reason, so that we can find out once and for all how many there are of them who produce this exciting rhythm and blues vocal sound on their records.

C.P.E. 553

NEXT November Cliff will start work on his fifth film. It will be the third to be written by Ronald Cass and Peter Myers, who wrote "The Young Ones" and "Summer Holiday." And having spoken to these two dedicated men I am convinced that it is going to be Cliff's greatest ever!

Neither was giving away any secrets when I met them last week in the Piccadilly Theatre where they are working at rehearsals of "Enrico"—under the terms of their contract they are forbidden to talk about the film—but their enthusiasm, plus that of Cliff, plus the experience the three of them have gained from working so closely together, make this forecast an easy one.

Said Peter: "So far we've had one three-hour story session, but we haven't written a line." And it may be some time before they do get the story-line of a script.

"Once we can get the basic plot down in three lines, then we are ready to go. The essentials of another successful film for Cliff are a simple story and plenty of hard work by a fully professional team.

● TALENT

"We have the talent. Cliff has proved that. When we set out to make 'The Young Ones' we were determined to give his public the very best. Although the film was a new venture for us, we were adamant that we would do anything that could come under the heading of 'rock opera'."

Frankly, at first we had our misgivings. Particularly knowing the type of records Cliff was associated with. Now, we are his biggest fans. And musically, some of his and the Shadows' recordings are of first-rate quality.

The thing that most impressed Myers and Cass—who between them have written some 25 West End productions—is Cliff's tremendous professionalism.

● ACTING

"Let's face it," said Peter, "Cliff's potentialities as an actor were an unknown quantity when he made 'The Young Ones.'

"Since then, he has blossomed out tremendously."

In "Summer Holiday" he turned in a fine performance. He revealed a natural acting ability, in addition to his singing talents."

"I didn't say anything. I

by
Laurie Henshaw

Said Ronald Cass: "And if Cliff ever had to give up singing, he could always make a living as a dancer."

In "The Young Ones" Cliff was called upon to do a soft-shoe routine with Teddy Green. Now, Teddy is one of the greatest dancers in the business. He suggested it might be easier for Cliff if the steps were simplified.

"But Cliff refused. He would do the dance as Teddy wanted it. He rehearsed and rehearsed and rehearsed. He even rehearsed in some scrubby rooms all through the weekend. He got it right by sheer hard work."

● WITH IT

"When I was watching 'The Young Ones,' recalled Peter, "a couple of hard-boiled know-it-all's were sitting in the stalls behind me. They wouldn't believe it was Cliff singing up there on the screen. 'It's all dubbed,' they said in loud, blasé voices."

"They even said it was a 'double' when Cliff did that soft-shoe with Teddy. How do you convince such people?"

Said Cass: "Cliff is really on the ball all the way. When I was working on songs for 'Summer Holiday,' I would run over them for him. Then Cliff would sing it, maybe changing a few phrases—singing it, really, the way he felt it should go."

"I didn't say anything. I would just make a few alterations on the manuscript. Why? Because the song sounded better the way Cliff handled it."

PETER MYERS (left) and RONALD CASS—Their writing has helped Cliff to film stardom. Now they're planning to do even better.

Cracked Cass: "Really, you can say he is part writer of some of the songs—but he doesn't get any of my royalties!"

"He is just as quick in the recording studio. To have six 'takes' with Cliff is a rarity. Others have to do 20 or 30 before they get it right."

"He knows just when a song suits him, too. We make a suggestion about a song—Cliff will always try it out. But if he doesn't feel it is right for him, then he says so—quietly but firmly. And he is always right in the end."

● EASY

"But he is always so reasonable. There is never any display of temperament. We can't say the same of many world-famous actors we have worked with."

How about the role of The Shadows in Cliff's films? "They are four nice boys who have no pretensions to be great actors," said Peter Myers. "So we didn't try to turn them into actors. We used them as a 'ringing gag' in 'Summer Holiday'—and they were great. They brought the house down with that final sequence where they are shown in Greek costume."

● HOLIDAY

Said Cass: "'Summer Holiday' was a real holiday for everyone. And no one enjoyed those location shots in Greece more than Cliff. Everyone else went down with sunburn, but he romped in the heat of Athens without any trouble."

Are the team of Peter Myers and Ronald Cass looking forward to Cliff's next film? "You bet," they chorused.

"I have a little boy of three," added Cass. "If he grows up to behave like Cliff, then I shall be happy. I couldn't give him higher praise than that, could I?"

WINK MAY MAKE MORE DISCS NOW

PHIL HARRIS was the first star to score heavily in the pop world with a song about cards. That was his famous rendition of "The Darktown Poker Club" dating from the 40s. Now Wink Martindale is winning hit parade fame and fortune with a totally different number—nearly four years after the disc was released!

"Deck Of Cards" is the title, of course, and that deck of cards has already earned Wink one of our Silver Discs for over 250,000 sales.

Sleeper

The disc is a classic example of the "sleeper"—a record which takes its time to hit the high-sell bracket. It moved into our chart in December, 1959, and stayed around the lower region for a week or two. Then an Easter plug on "Two Way Fm 111's" Favourites" this year set the ball rolling again, and now "Deck Of Cards" is at number five and still climbing.

Religious

Wink's main task in life is that of a disc jockey. He comes from Tennessee and the simple, homespun background of the soldier in "Deck Of Cards" reflects Wink's religious church-going home background in one of the present States of country and western music.

He cut two records after "Deck Of Cards," but neither made any impact. But now that his first single has taken on such an active lease of chart life here, it's possible that he'll stop introducing other artists' records long enough to make some more of his own.
