STEW POT'S LOOK-OUT

DID YOU SEE THAT television programme on the whale? It was a couple of months ago now, but it was very interesting. It showed how close man is getting to killing all the whales left in the sea: 43,000 a year are slaughtered.

Why am I telling you about this tragic fact? Because a young girl from Norfolk and her friends in the Lower Sixth of Diss Grammar School have started a campaign to 'Save the Whale'. They need all the backing they can get, so that they can write to M.P.s and other V.I.P.s to get support for their cause.

Anyway, if you're interested—and I hope you are—write to HEATHER PULLEN, The Grammar School, Diss, Norfolk.

Superstew's Fête!

This week's fête is quite close to my own back door—in Wembley—organised by the Round Table, so I hope to see millions of you—Yes? Good, and when I've finished there, it's off to Maidenhead to score another 'duck' in a cricket match. Phew! Superstew strikes again!

THE LOOK-IN CROSSWORD

Here's a special crossword. To solve it you have to fill letters into every square with a number. Try first to solve the Ordinary Clues. When you get the answers fill them in downwards only, starting at the clue number. If you can't solve all the Ordinary Clues, don't worry. Try the LOOK-IN Clues—the answers to all of which are in this magazine every week. Each letter in the answer has a number which you fill into the corresponding square—and so complete the puzzle.

And if you do get it all right, then the word in between the thick black lines, reading across, will give you the name of a favourite programme.

One of the light aircraft used in the flying sequences of FLY INTO DANGER stands on Halfpenny Green Airfield in Staffordshire, the serial's 'Chilford Green' airfield.

(Above) 'Gordon Ritchie' (Bernard Kay), manager of the airfield, gives orders to 'Jeff Strong' (Edward Peel), while in the background what looks like another of those mysterious 'Computapac' cargoes is hurried away. (Below) The young stars of FLY INTO DANGER: Louis Cabot, who stars as 'Christopher Lomax', and Susan Holderness, who plays 'Sarah Davenport'.

Look-IN on the stars of...

FLY INTO DANGER

The small Cessna monoplane taxied along the runway of Halfpenny Green Airfield, Stourbridge, Staffordshire. Above the roar of its engine, the flying instructor yelled directions to the 'plane's pilot. Difficult, really—because the instructor was outside the plane, standing on the runway—and the girl at the controls had never been in sole charge of a 'ready-for-take-off' aircraft before.

"The camera crew were going berserk!" says Susan Holderness, who plays 'Sarah Davenport' in ATV's current adventure serial FLY INTO DANGER. "I thought it was great fun—but perhaps they had visions of being bowled over by a runaway plane."

That's one of the hazards of making an airborne adventure with actors who, when filming began, probably didn't know a control column (your real airman never calls it a joy-stick) from an altimeter. But by the time the location filming at Halfpenny Green was over, at least one other of the cast involved had been bitten by the 'flying bug'.

Edward Peel, who plays the happy-go-lucky 'Jeff Strong'—a man caught up in a mysterious racket—is several times called upon to 'fly' an aircraft for the purposes of the story. "When you watch, you'll see me at the controls all right," says Edward. "But what you won't see is the experienced pilot sitting way back in the shadows behind me. He's the man who's really doing the job."

"I'd love to learn to fly," Edward goes on. "But I understand that it's a very expensive business." For Edward's benefit, and for all LOOK-IN readers who dream of taking to the air some day, we examine the

FLY INTO DANGER

← method and costs of learning to fly, later in the article.

Familiar Face?

Louis Cabot appears in FLY INTO DANGER as 'Christopher Lomax,' an aeroplane-crazy lad who is trying to learn the flying game from the bottom up, as a trainee mechanic. Louis has put in plenty of flying time recently—but as a passenger: a recent movie assignment saw him flying to locations in Gibraltar, Hong Kong, Singapore and Malaysia. If Louis's face seems familiar, you probably saw his occasional appearances in the recent series of THE FENN STREET GANG.

Like Louis, Bernard Kay, who plays the sophisticated but suspicious 'Gordon Ritchie', manager of 'Chilford Green Airfield', is no newcomer to television. Young viewers will probably remember him best as the masterful and heroic 'Lion' in Thames Television's THE LION, THE WITCH AND THE WARDROBE, an adaptation of C. S. Lewis's 'Narnia' series of fantasy novels.

On the other hand, 'Chambra Lal', the Asian boy around whom the mystery of the coffin-like 'Computapac' cargoes carried into airport revolves, is played by a television newcomer, thirteen-year-old Marc Maharaj.

Of the actors concerned, Susan Holderness seems to be the one most seized by the longing to fly 'solo'. Perhaps it runs in the family, for Susan's father is an airline pilot. Before going to drama school, Susan was a mad-keen horsewoman. But now the pressure of her career (she was seen as 'Joanna' in the later episodes of ATV's thriller series TIGHTROPE not long ago) doesn't leave her much time for the outdoor pursuits she loves. All the same, she has started to take flying lessons.

Top: about to get airborne
—co-stars Louis Cabot and Susan Holderness.
Bottom: 'Christopher Lomax' gets into a tussle with angry 'Gordon Ritchie'—while a worried 'Chambra Lal' (Marc Maharaj) looks on.

Facts on Flying

Suppose you want to fly? Well, it is fairly expensive—but not so much as you might think. First, the bad news: you must be at least seventeen years old before you can apply for a Student Pilot's Licence. But any knowledge you can gain beforehand, from books or by watching experienced pilots, will be very useful—because a written examination on navigation and similar subjects is part of the testing you will have to undergo.

A Student Pilot's licence costs £2, and you will have to pay about £3 for a standard medical examination. Before qualifying as a private pilot, you must have had forty hours' flying under the direction of a qualified instructor—and the average rate for these lessons is around £8 per hour. Your 'Ground School Pack'—log book, text books on navigation, maps etc.—will cost around £20. So you'd better start saving up right now!

Aviation Aim

The encouragement of aviation in all its forms is the aim of the British Light Aviation Centre, an offshoot of the Royal Aero Club which was founded in 1901 by a group of enthusiastic balloonists. If you're really sold on flying, they are the people to contact. The address: British Light Aviation Centre, Artillery Mansions, 75 Victoria Street, London W.1.

Meanwhile just keep watching 'Fly Into Danger' for your airborne action—and keep learning about flying.

THERE'S a saying down at Follyfoot Farm that if enough hope (not to mention water!) is poured upon the stunted stem of the Lightning Tree it will live again.

So far, a point yet to be proven. But certainly the 'Lightning Tree' is very much alive in the form of the catchy theme song, recorded by The Settlers, which you will have heard at both beginning and end of each Follyfoot programme.

In fact, so much so, that after enjoying hit-parade success as a single track last year and recently re-released, 'The Lightning Tree' has now 'grown' into an L.P. created by the same talented, folksy foursome.

Containing fourteen varied tracks—several of which were written by the group members themselves—the L.P. is a musical mixture of folk and pop, with such songs as STREETS OF LONDON, HERE NOW and SNOWBIRD, in addition to the title track which rounds off a very varied selection.

Along with the 'Lightning Tree', The Settlers, too, have been growing—from a small-time group playing in folk clubs—to a strikingly successful professional act, seen not only several times at the famous London Palladium but also over one-hundred times on television.

The Settlers are as versatile as they are individual. They have done sketches in cabaret, acting on TV, and even a bit of dancing. They have also done a good deal of composing—writing much of their own material and arranging the rest.

Original members are John Fyffe and Mike Jones, who

The Settlers move into Follyfoot Farm—and what better meeting place for both star cast and musicians than the Lightning Tree!

Sound of the Settlers teamed up at St. Peter's College, Birmingham, as students in 1962. They started to play the local folk clubs and, one night, were watched by Cindy Kent. Then there were three!

The fourth and final member, Geoffrey, joined them to play bass, and after winning a talent competition on the Isle of Wight and being booked for a television series, they turned 'pro'.

To date, The Settlers have made over a dozen single records (their latest being 'Santa Margherita' on the Decca Label) and three L.P.s. YOU can fix a date to meet the group on Sunday, July 9th., when they start their new, fully-networked ATV series, 'Songs That Matter'.

Meanwhile, to ensure you know who's who, here are a few facts about the four.

Born: In Lanarkshire, Scotland. Educated: Fleetwood Grammar School and later at St. Peter's College, Birmingham. John sings, plays banjo, bass and guitar.

Mike Jones (below, right)

Born: Burton-on-Trent. Educated: Burton Grammar School and St. Peter's College, Birmingham. Mike, bearded member, is a natural singer and plays twelve string guitar, banjo, violin and mandolin.

Cindy Trent Born: Birmingham. Educated: Bartley Green Grammar School. In addition to being a talented singer, she is a prolific songwriter.

Geoffrey

The newest member of the group, having joined them just over five years ago, Geoffrey is a multi-instrumentalist, photographer, wit and impressionist—and exceptional song-writer.

LIFT OFF

'A wop boppa looma a wop bam boom.' Those are the most famous words in the history of 'pop'. In fact, they started pop music.

They were first sung eighteen years ago by a wild little man who stood on his piano and played the music with his feet. Let it rock was Little Richard's message and things haven't stopped rocking since. For rock-and-roll is coming back into style in a big way.

Even the fashionable trend-setters in London are giving up their tank tops for the long flared skirts, velvet jackets and bright orange socks of the rock-and-rolling 1950s.

Top-rocker Little Richard.

Jerry Lee Lewis has just finished a sensational tour across the country and has recorded a new disc called 'Chantilly Lace'. The Everly Brothers will tour the land in the autumn and a Rock-and-Roll Revival Show—with Chuck Berry, Bo Diddley and Bill Haley—will begin as soon as Bill Haley can find the time.

A new film starring top-rockers like Little Richard and The Coasters has just been made. Decca has put Duane Eddy's 'Because They're Young' back on sale a full twelve years after it was originally released, and the fabulously exciting Coasters also, have a new record out—'Cool Jerk'—which mustn't be missed. Yet another re-issued rock record is 'Nut Rocker' by the crazy-named B. Bumble & the Stingers.

So stand by to dig out your old discs—they may well be bound for the top ten again!

Bye for now!

Begins today!

Another exciting adventure!

I'M NOT SURE THAT I FULLY APPROVE OF CIRCUSES BUT THIS ONE HAD SOME GOOD ACTS!

THAT WINNIE THE WONDER HORSE REALLY KNOCKED ME OUT. JUST IMAGINE THE TRAINING SHE MUST'VE HAD!

WELL, WE'LL BE BACK AT FOLLYFOOT TOMORROW. I SUPPOSE YOU'LL BE TRYING TO TEACH SOME OF OUR OLD NAGS TRICKS NOW?

H'MMM! WITH RON STRYKER AS THE CHIMPANZEE?

I'LL TELL HIM YOU SAID THAT!

NEXT DAY, AFTER THE COLONEL HAS FINISHED HIS BUSINESS, THEY SET OFF...

HULLO, I SEE THE CIRCUS HAS MOVED ON ALREADY!

PULLED OUT EARLY, BOUND FOR LEEDS. SAME ROUTE AS US. I WOULDN'T BE SURPRISED IF WE PASS 'EM...

THE COLONEL IS RIGHT. IN THE PENNINES...

AH, WELL - HAVE TO RESIGN OURSELVES FOR A BIT OF A CRAWL. WE CAN'T GET BY HERE!

THAT'S WINNIE'S WAGON AHEAD. I SEE THE OTHER TWO TRAVEL WITH HER. INSEPARABLE, I SUPPOSE.

THE ROAD WINDS ON. BUT THEN, FROM WAY BEHIND...

I DIDN'T, BUT I THINK I RECOGNISED THE DRIVER. I CAN'T BE ABSOLUTELY SURE, BUT IT LOOKED VERY MUCH LIKE OUR OLD PAL, LEWIS HAMMOND!

Next week: a full-scale hunt for the animal 'stars'!

YOUR VIEW

This week, Bill Fraser, star of London Weekend Television's 'The Train Now Standing...', makes the selection of letters, jokes and pictures from the LOOK-IN Postbag, including the £2 Star Letter...

STAR LETTER

My father is proud of the fact that he has always been able to find lucky four-leaf clovers. Last Saturday afternoon, I decided to search for a little luck for myself. In about half-an-hour, I found thirty-seven four-leaf clovers, twenty-four with five leaves, and one with six leaves!

Joanne Barber,
Hatfield, Hertfordshire.

★ By my reckoning, that should give you around 274 years' good luck, Joanne. How about sharing some of it with us less fortunate people?

EMPTY-HANDED

After reading Lindsay Williams' letter on Judo in LOOK-IN Number 19, I thought readers might like to hear about my hobby—karate. Many years ago, the conquerors of the Japanese island of Okinawa issued an order forbidding its inhabitants to carry weapons of any kind. To get round this, the Okinawans developed a system of self-defence using hands, feet, etc.—and 'karate' simply means 'empty-handed'. Karate grading is divided into 'Kyu', or beginner grades, and 'Dan', or master grades. From eighth to fourth Kyu, you wear a white belt; from third to first Kyu, a brown belt with red thread; and from first Dan to fourth Dan, a black belt with red thread.

David Hawkins,
Reading, Berkshire.

★ Thanks for the information, David—but I think I'll stick to braces; particularly after looking at the picture below!

And here are some more of the photographs sent in by LOOK-IN readers:

Louise Baxter,
Burley,
Yorkshire.

Mark & Roy
Softley,
Crowborough,
Sussex.

Margaret Mills,
London, E.16.

Colin Lancaster,
Newcastle-
upon-Tyne.

PETS' CORNER

I have a New Zealand white rabbit. She was delivered to us in a box with 'Sam' printed on the side, but because she is a doe we decided to call her Samantha. I would like to enter her for some shows, so please can you tell me the address of the Rabbit Council?

Frances Bassett,
Romford, Essex.

★ For you and other rabbit fanciers, Frances, the address is: British Rabbit Council, 273 Farnborough Road, Farnborough, Hampshire.

... BUT NO LIFT-OFF!

I thought readers might like this topical limerick:

There was a young girl from Dunoon
Who decided to fly to the moon
She wanted to follow
The men in Apollo
But, alas, someone burst her balloon.

Colette Wood,
Fareham, Hampshire.

★ Which brought her 'down to earth, with a bump, no doubt?'

DAVID NIXON'S MAGIC BOX

Straight Drop

Can you drop a full box of matches from about a foot above the table, so that it lands on one end and stays standing upright? Try it—You will find that the box always bounces and falls over flat.

How can it be done? Simply open the drawer a little way, hold the box as shown in the illustration, and drop it. When the box hits the table the drawer will close, but the box will stay upright.

Air Lift

For this clever stunt you need an ordinary cup and a round balloon. Place the cup on the table. Then give the balloon to your friend and challenge him to lift the cup, using only the cup handle or touch the cup with his hands.

There's only one way to do it and that is to hold the balloon just inside the cup and gently blow it up. As the balloon inflates it grips the cup sufficiently for it to be lifted.

Use an old cup or a plastic beaker—just for safety.

TEASER TIME

Last week you had to cut a paper shape into two equal pieces, and refit them together to form a perfect solid rectangle. The dotted lines below show where to cut, and the other picture shows how the pieces fit together.

For this week's teaser, you'll need to study the word

FASHION PARADE

Isn't it funny the way our fashion trends reflect the life-style of the moment?

In the last FASHION PARADE I asked for 'party gear' designs—and 'party gear' you've sent! What's so interesting is that I can tell by your designs what sort of parties you throw and which ones you like to go to. They are spontaneous, easy-going affairs that drift out of afternoon into evening without much fuss and bother. And you don't waste hours and hours before the party primping and curling and pressing and polishing, as girls did only a few years ago.

Most of the designs you sent in were of casual, bouncy frocks, as suitable for a sunny afternoon as a romantic formal evening.

I must say I quite agree—I think that parties with dancing and music are the tops. And unless you've got a huge, formal ball-room—who has?—a crinoline gown is inclined to get out of control when you're dancing to T. Rex's beat. Or if it doesn't suffocate half the bods sitting it out on the floor, it'll certainly send a few sticky drinks flying on to the fitted carpet. Not popular with parents!

Next time: Daywear for boys, please! (We've been neglecting them.) Send your designs to 'Daywear for Boys', Susan Stranks' Fashion Parade, at LOOK-IN, 247 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0AU.

FASHION FLASH

Smarten up your watch for a party! Take a strip of ribbon or PVC or felt, cut four slits and thread your watch-strap through. Decorate in colours to go with your gear.

My choice from a splendid range by fourteen-year-old Frank McEwan. He's lucky—his parents treat him to Saturday classes at Glasgow School of Art, where he improves his drawing and studies historical costume, etc.

'Bare midriff and boots' says Maureen Byrne, sixteen, from Liskeard, Cornwall. Lovely if you're brown, say I!

A frilly micro-mini above flowery tights, from twelve-year-old Susan Brooks of Droitwich, Worcester. And the highest heels—for an even leggier look.

JUNIOR CINEMA

Through the camera's eye

In earlier editions of 'Junior Cinema', we've talked about the 'dream world' of the movies—the escape from everyday life that they offer. But there is also an important aspect of the movie business that is wholly concerned with 'real life': the documentary film.

This week, Granada Television's 'Clapperboard' series looks at the documentary and discusses the ways in which the makers of factual films have helped us to know and understand the world we live in. You'll be able to see clips from KING ELEPHANT, reviewed on this page last week; THE LIVING DESERT, perhaps the best of Walt Disney's 'true-life' animal movies; and THE HELLSTROM CHRONICLE, a hair-raising, 'science-fiction' look at the world of insects.

There will also be an excerpt from one of the most important movies of all time, NANOOK OF THE NORTH, made by the American Robert Flaherty in 1921. In this study of an Eskimo hunter and his family, Flaherty set a standard for documentary films that has rarely been surpassed. An all-round man of the cinema, Flaherty even processed his own film negatives, and his experiments with panchromatic film (in an unsuccessful attempt at colour photography) revolutionised film techniques of his time.

An Eskimo mother and child—in 'Nanook of The North'.

V: The Conjuror

Georges Méliès saw his first movie in the 1890s, at the Lumières' cinema in Paris. A professional conjuror, with wide experience of what the 'customers' would pay to see, Méliès realised that 'real life' scenes with no story interest would soon lose their novelty. Using a second-hand camera bought from the Lumières, writing his own scripts and hiring actors suitable for the rôles he had in mind, Méliès set out to make pictures that told a story—'feature' films as we know them. One of his first films, CINDERELLA, made in 1900, used one thousand feet of film and lasted for about ten minutes, an unheard-of length for its time.

A pleasant moment for young actor Roderic Noble, in the rôle of 'Alexis'. Below: Tsarina Alexandra (played by Janet Suzman) with son Alexis, in 'Nicholas and Alexandra'.

Critic's Choice

Kevin Shepherd, a LOOK-IN reader from Sheffield, is a budding film critic, who has exercised his talent on Columbia's historical epic NICHOLAS AND ALEXANDRA. The film tells the tragic story of Tsar Nicholas of Russia, who was murdered with his wife and family after the Bolshevik Revolution in 1917.

"It held me in suspense all the time," says Kevin, "and it was so good that I sat through it twice in a single session. The acting was excellent." Kevin singles out thirteen-year-old Roderic Noble, who plays the Tsar's son Alexis, for special praise. Roderic had only made one professional appearance before this movie: as that famous velvet-suited Victorian lad 'Little Lord Fauntleroy', in a stage production in his home town of Harrogate, Yorkshire.

Ouch!

☆ A sharp-eyed LOOK-IN reader, Anna Ally of Palmers Green, London N.13., writes: "In the film ANNE OF A THOUSAND DAYS (the story of Anne Boleyn and Henry VIII) a victim being tortured opened his mouth to scream—and revealed a mouthful of carefully-filled back teeth! I didn't know Tudor dentistry was so advanced." It certainly wasn't, Anna—but we mustn't blame the film-makers too much for their slip-up. After all, Shakespeare himself introduced a striking clock into his play JULIUS CAESAR.

TIMESLIP

LIZ SKINNER AND SIMON RANDALL HAVE THE INCREDIBLE ABILITY TO PASS THROUGH THE INVISIBLE BARRIER TO THE DIMENSION OF TIME. LATE ONE AFTERNOON...

GREAT! THAT TEA'S WELL-TIMED! I'VE JUST ABOUT FINISHED THIS TINY RADIO TRANSMITTER. HOW'S YOUR SCHOOL PROJECT?

ROTTEN! IF ONLY IT WEREN'T SO BORING!

WHAT IS IT, SIMON? A 'WALKIE-TALKIE' LIKE THE POLICE USE?

GIVE OVER, I'M NOT A GENIUS! IT TRANSMITS A KIND OF BUZZ. A BEAM THAT CAN BE PICKED UP FOR A COUPLE OF MILES!

CLEVER, EH? YOU CAN CARRY IT IN YOUR POCKET. SEE...?

BIG DEAL! I'D NEED A WHEEL-BARROW TO CARRY THE AMOUNT I'VE HAD TO WRITE ABOUT EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY ENGLAND! I'D RATHER CONCENTRATE ON SOMETHING EXCITING!

SUDDENLY... DON'T CONCENTRATE! YOU'RE TAKING US BOTH THROUGH THE TIME-BARRIER...

OOH! I DIDN'T MEAN TO...

THE NEXT THEY KNOW...

YOU'VE DONE IT! OF ALL THE HALF-BAKED, STUPID TRICKS...

IT'S TOO LATE TO MOAN, SIMON, I... UGH! A GALLOWS!

CRAZILY, A SWAYING COACH CLATTERS PAST...

WE'RE IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY—JUST LIKE YOUR PROJECT.

SIMON, LOOK OUT! JUMP!

TRUST YOU TO PICK THE RIGHT AGE, YOU CLOWN!

HIGHWAYMEN ARE AFTER THE COACH!

THE LAWLESS RIDERS GIVE UP THE CHASE. THEN...

GAH! CURSE OUR SCURRY LUCK! THERE'LL BE NO FAT PICKINGS THIS RUN!

TWO WAYFARERS TAKE TO THEIR HEELS. AFTER THEM. WE MAY YET FIND THE ODD COIN OR TWO!

THEY'RE HUNTING US! YOU WANTED EXCITEMENT, YOU'VE GOT IT! THEY MUST THINK WE'RE WORTH ROBBING!

SAVE YOUR BREATH AND RUN!

SUDDENLY THE SKIES OPEN...

AAAH! PLAGUE ON IT!

LIGHTNING!

THE TWO MEN STAGGER UPRIGHT...

'TIS THEIR FAULT! I'LL TEACH 'EM A LESSON.

THEY'LL PAY FOR OUR POOR LUCK IF NOT WITH HARD MONEY!

MEANWHILE...

SIMON - THE TREE! WHAT'S HAPPENING?

THE MOSS ON IT IS COMING ALIVE!

UNCANNILY THE LICHEN AND MOSS EXPAND...

IT...IT'S LIKE A SORT OF MAN! IT'S HORRIBLE!

THE LIGHTNING FLASH TRIGGERED OFF SOME UNNATURAL GROWTH!

STAND! ODDSFISH, WE'VE A RECKONING TO MAKE!

THEY'D BETTER BE WORTH A FEW GUINEAS!

AT THAT INSTANT...

BY THE SWORD-WITCHCRAFT, A DEMON!

USE YOUR PISTOL - LET FIRE!

BUT...

IT DOES NOT HALT! NO! NO!

SIMON, WHAT'S GOING TO HAPPEN?

Next week: power of the tree-creature!

ELTON JOHN

Once again, Bunty James, Jack Hargreaves, Jon Miller and Fred Dinenage are all set to answer your questions. Congratulations to this week's winners. If you haven't already written in why not do so now? For any question published, winners can choose from 20 Hamlyn Books, each to the value of £1. Send your entry to: HOW, LOOK-IN, 247, Tottenham Court Road, London, W1P 0AU.

HOW

HOW old is the oldest tree and where is it?

Julie Harris, Helpston, Peterborough.

The oldest tree in the world is probably a bristlecone pine high up in Wheeler Park, Nevada, U.S.A., whose age has been worked out to be 4,900 years! Of course, there may be an even older one. The other trees that reach fantastic ages are the California big trees—the right name for them!—some of which may be as old as 4,000 years. A number of them are well over the 3,000 mark.

A giant among giants, the 'General Sherman Tree'—in California's Sequoia National Park—is thought to be nearly four-thousand years old and stands 279.9 feet high.

HOW is it that we get giddy when we spin round?

Karen Kirkpatrick, Haughton, Stafford.

The reason this happens, Karen, is that small canals inside our ears cannot function properly. In these canals is fluid pressing against certain nerves that control our sense of balance. Ordinarily, all is well—even if we fall over—for the canals adjust themselves at once. But spinning around and around causes the average person's canals to go wrong.

Some unfortunate people get giddy when they look down from a great height. Their fear of falling upsets the flow of blood to the canals, so that they do not function properly. Another word for giddiness, by the way, is vertigo.

The kangaroo relies on its extremely powerful hind legs for fast movement and long bounds.

HOW far can a kangaroo jump?

Christine Hall, Bideford, Devon.

The longest jump that has ever been recorded was a great bound of forty-two feet made by a female Red Kangaroo back in 1951—though, of course, it cannot be proved that there have not been even longer unrecorded ones.

Actually, there is a report of a leap of over forty-four feet by a Grey Kangaroo. As for the highest jump by one of these famous Australian mammals, one has been recorded of over 10½ feet.

HOW did the word 'Origami' originate?

Richard Spencer, Hendon.

A number of people have been puzzled by this, Richard, and yours is the lucky card! Actually, Origami is the Japanese word for—you've guessed it!—paper-folding. This lovely hobby has been popular in Japan for at least 1,000 years and has recently caught on in Britain.

giant Rupert transfer

You can have a giant Rupert transfer absolutely free. All you have to do to get one (with instructions for use) is fill in the coupon opposite and send it off with two tops from any packet of Brown & Polson Quick-Set blancmange. The transfer is in full colour, approximately 8 inches x 6 inches in size and looks like the picture above. It's so easy to apply - simply iron it on to anything made of cloth (a T-shirt is just right) and it won't wash off. Once it's on it'll stay on.

Special offer T-shirt If you don't have a T-shirt for your free giant Rupert transfer, don't worry. For just another two packet tops and 35p we'll send you one in beautiful white cotton.
