FILM FOCUS

Animalympics

Do the names of Renee Fromage and Kit Mambo (above), Bruce Kwakimoto and the Calamari Brothers mean anything to you? If you've been watching ATV's Tiswas recently, you might recognise them as some of the characters in an unusual full-length animated cartoon, Animalympics.

It's really just a series of gags on the central theme of animals (like Boris Amphibiensky, the high-jumping Russian frog and Ludmilla Steponyatova, the heavy-weight gymnast!) competing in Olympic events and the commentators who explain the goings-on. Those commentators, though, are based on real-life American personalities, so you probably won't recognise their peculiar mannerisms.

Music plays an important part in the film, and the songs, including Make It To The Top and Underwater, are by Graham Gouldman of 10CC.

SEE BRITAIN IN A DAY—FREE

Tucktonia, the model landscape at Christchurch, Dorset, has appeared before on my pages in Look-in. I remember the visit I made with some of the Vietnamese boat children last summer (that's us at the Windsor Castle model above). Now here's your chance to see it all free! The token below is valid until the end of July and you must be aged 14 or under to use it. Normal admission prices are 60p for children and 95p for adults.

What will you see? As well as the Best Of Britain In Miniature landscape with new models of shops, jumbo jets and hovercraft, there are plans for special events during the summer like parachute jumps (Whit Monday and August Bank Holiday) and a young motorcyclists' display (29th July).

Look-in at Tucktonia

Tucktonia, at Tuckton Park, Christchurch, is thought to be the biggest model landscape in the world. More than 200 models ranging from Stonehenge to Concorde represent 4,000 years of Britain's heritage

This voucher entitles the bearer to one child's (14 years of age or under) admission to Tucktonia, valued at 60p.

VALID UNTIL 31st JULY, 1980

Tucktonia, Tuckton Leisure Park, Stour Road, Christchurch, Dorset.

ALBUM NEWS

I've just got room for a few albums this week, starting with The Bobby Vee Singles Album. On the United Artists label it features twenty of his greatest hits from the early sixties, including The Night Has A Thousand Eyes and Take Good Care Of My Baby.

B. A. Robertson's Initial Success, from Asylum Records, features three of his biggest hits: Bang Bang, Knocked It Off and Kool In The Kaftan.

If you've enjoyed the hit disco sounds from Rose Royce over the past couple of years you'll find them all on Whitfield Records' Rose Royce Greatest Hits. It features Car Wash, Wishing On A Star, and Is It Love You're After.

Pen Pals

Please do not send in any more penpal requests, as I now have enough to last for quite a while longer. I will not be able to read, answer, or pass on any letters. It is up to readers to get in touch with each other direct — not via Look-in.

This Sunday sees the Monaco Grand Prix, one of the motor racing world's most glamorous events of the year. Brian Moore takes to the pits to give you the background to this colourful event . . .

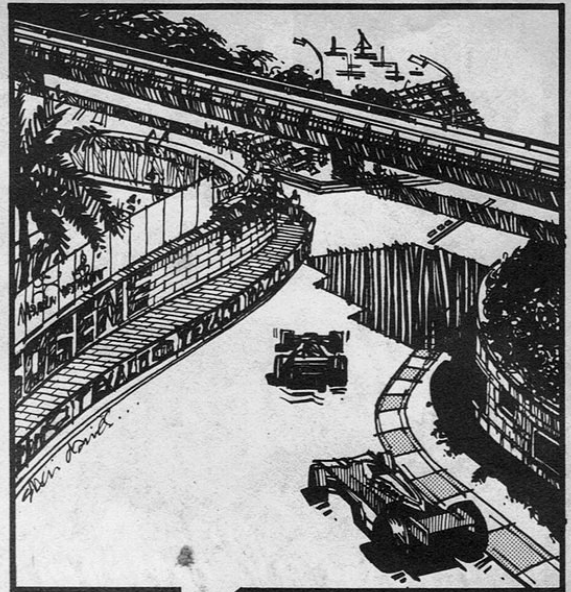

MONTE CARLO OR BUST!

The twisting, bumpy circuit around the ancient principality of Monaco is a great leveller amongst the world's fastest Formula 1 racing cars. In terms of speed, quite often it is the tortoise that emerges the victor whilst the hares have long since called it a day! With all those twists and bumps the suspension systems of the competing cars are put to the ultimate test. Not all make it!

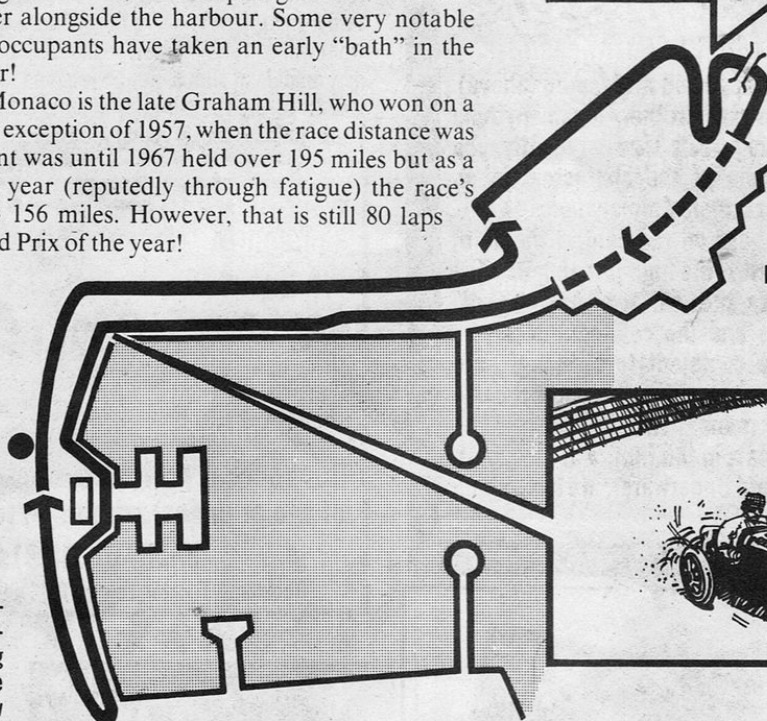

With so many severe corners on the circuit it's no wonder that the history of the race has seen many multiple collisions. As early as 1936 six cars were eliminated on the second lap and in the 1950 event no fewer than nine cars, including two of the three works Alfa Romeos, ended in a first lap pile-up. Incredibly, despite the dangerous nature of the circuit, only one driver has ever forfeited his life.

After winding their way through the town, the cars plunge into the famous tunnel, to emerge seconds later alongside the harbour. Some very notable cars and their no less famous occupants have taken an early "bath" in the waters of Monte Carlo Harbour!

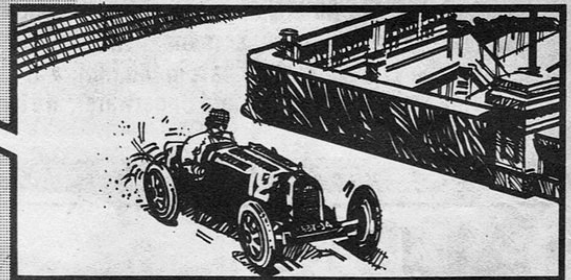

The most successful driver at Monaco is the late Graham Hill, who won on a total of five occasions. With the exception of 1957, when the race distance was a staggering 205 miles, the event was until 1967 held over 195 miles but as a result of Bandini's death that year (reputedly through fatigue) the race's length was reduced further to 156 miles. However, that is still 80 laps of arguably the toughest Grand Prix of the year!

A typical Monaco view (above). After shooting through the city streets, the cars sweep down to a severe right hander before entering the tunnel.

First Monaco Grand Prix winner was W. Williams driving a Type 35B Bugatti (below) seen here at the Corner of the Tobacco Shop.

The massive Auto Unions (below) and Mercedes-Benz of the 1930s had real problems coping with the Monaco circuit and the factories had to produce special cars with shortened wheelbases to make them competitive.

A first lap crash at the infamous Gas-holder hairpin in the 1961 race. Although no drivers were hurt, the flying wheel hurtled off the track, killing a race official. Crashes like this led to a new start/finish position being introduced.

The Further Adventures of OLIVER TWIST

ON THE RUN FROM THEIR ENEMIES, OLIVER TWIST AND JACK DAWKINS—THE ARTFUL DODGER—RUN FOUL OF A BULLYING WHAREMASTER ON AN INDUSTRIAL CANAL. THEY ARE RESCUED BY THE UNLIKELY INTERVENTION OF AN OLD WOMAN WHO INTRODUCES HERSELF AS GRANNY CHEERCHALK...

AS GRANNY CHEERCHALK LEAVES THEM TO IT...

BUT AT THAT MOMENT...

HOLD HARD, OLD WOMAN. AS CONSTABLE OF THIS PARISH, I MUST TELL YOU THERE IS A COMPLAINT AGAINST YOUR PERSON!

TIPPED ME IN THE CANAL, THE OLD WITCH, TO ABET THE ESCAPE OF A PAIR O' YOUNG VILLAINS!

TOSH! 'T WAS AN ACCIDENT, AND BESIDES, THEY WERE DOING NO HARM, WHARE-MASTER MINCHIN!

THAT'LL BE FOR THE MAGISTRATE TO DECIDE. IT'S THE LOCK-UP FOR YOU.

FIG! THAT A POOR OLD LADY SHOULD BE PUT UPON SO!

MUCH, MUCH LATER, OLIVER AND THE ARTFUL DODGER WAKE UP...

NOW FOR SOME WITTLES, CULLY. MY OL' BELLY FEELS LIKE ME THROAT'S BIN CUT!

WE MUSTN'T TAKE TOO MUCH OF HER FOOD, JACK. REMEMBER— SHE'S ONLY POOR.

THEN...

LAWKS! WHO ARE YOU?

WE DIDN'T MEAN TO STARTLE YOU! WHERE'S GRANNY CHEERCHALK..?

TAKEN BY THE CONSTABLE, SHE WAS! FOR— FOR AIDIN' A COUPLE OF BOY THIEVES...

BLOW ME TIGHT! THAT MEANS US!

OH, NO!

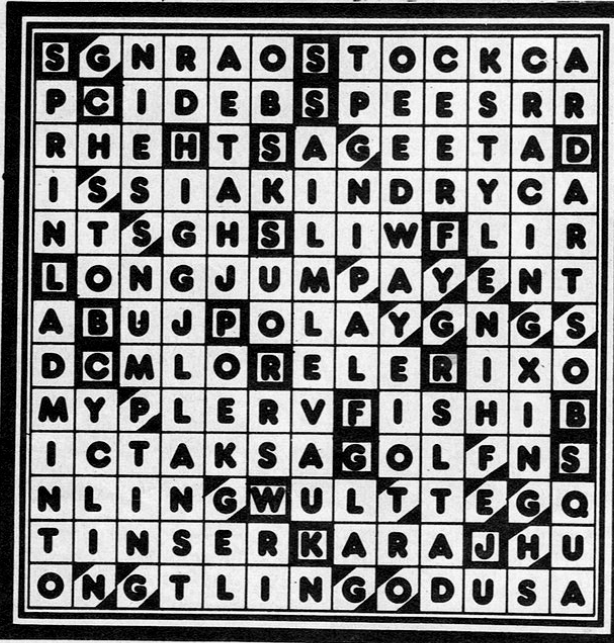

WE'VE GOT TO HELP HER, JACK!

STEADY NOW, SON! THE ARTFUL DODGER DON'T PUT HIS HEAD IN A NOOSE FOR ANYONE, NOT EVEN GRANNY CHEERCHALK! BEST WE CAN DO IS MELT AWAY AN' KEEP RUNNIN'...

Surely they'll not leave her? See next week.

START STOP

TIME to look in on the sporting scene again. If you can spot all the sports that form the answers to the clues I've given below then you can win our £3 postal order prize.

Once you solve the clues you need to find the answers in the chart and cross off the letters you've used. You spell out those answers by linking up letters in the chart in any direction except diagonally. That means you can go up, down, backwards or forwards in every word. You must start and stop as indicated and you must use every letter just once — including the prize answer.

Here are the clues. Every answer is one word unless indicated otherwise.

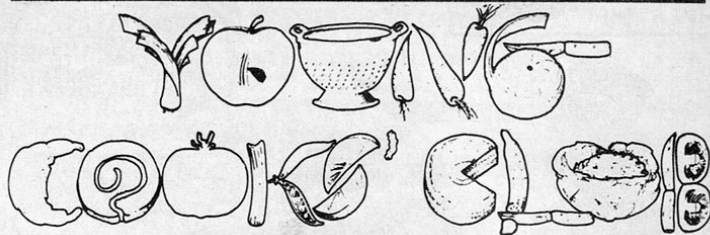

Tony Jacklin's sport. In this a competitor has to get highest (2 words), while in this he needs to leap furthest (2 words). Here they have to get highest again but they have some help to 'push off' (2 words). This is a team race involving a baton. For this you need a 'bike'. These are short races. In this, cars tend to crash into each other deliberately (3 words). For this you need skates (2 words). Riders use high powered, special motor-bikes here. This takes place on water. For this you have wheels — and a long piece of wood. This might be called angling. Muhammad Ali was world champion at this. This is on World of Sport each week and may feature Tag Matches. In this you use a shuttle-cock. You might get a bulls-eye at this. Very fast indoor sport where the ball is banged against a wall. This is a self-defence art, while this is another martial art (like Kung Fu). This is the fastest swimming race (2 words).

Now if you've found all that lot you will have one word left. It's a sport of sorts; played indoors and though you sit motionless — you still have to move! Send me its name, not the completed square, and you might be a winner. Your entry, on a postcard only, should be sent to: Starchart, Look-in, 247, Tottenham Court Road, London, W1P 0AU. The sender of the first correct entry pulled from the postbag will receive the prize.

Here are last week's answers

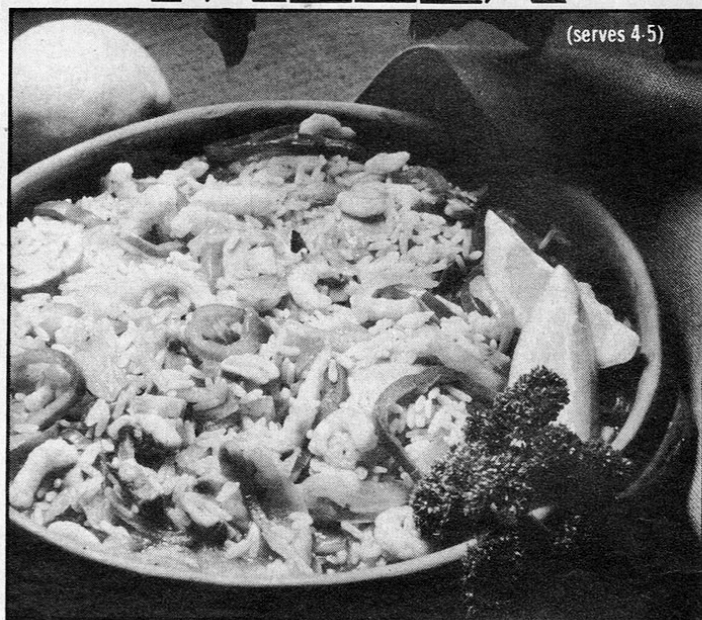

Hair; Head; Skull; Scalp; Nose; Nostrils; Mouth; Gums; Neck; Throat; Shoulder; Hand; Wrist; Fingers; Knuckles; Elbow; Funny Bone; Hips; Eyes; Leg; Knee cap; Shins; Ankle; Heel; Heart; Tonsils; Forehead; Ear drum; Lungs; Lip. Prize word: Bicycle.

Introduced by Kathie Webber, Cookery Editor of TVTimes

Paella is a traditional Spanish dish which is usually served in the large, shallow metal pan in which it is cooked and from which it takes its name. The middle regions of Spain use vegetables, meat, chicken and sausage in their paella whereas the coastal regions specialise in combining sea foods with chicken and vegetables in the rice base, a simplified recipe for which I give here.

PAELLA

3 chicken joints

1 large onion

1 clove garlic

1 green pepper

60ml (4 tablespoons) olive oil

350g (12oz.) Patna rice

2 chicken stock cubes

pinch of saffron powder

30ml (2 tablespoons) tomato purée

50g (2oz.) frozen prawns

salt and pepper

Cut the chicken meat into large bite-size pieces. Skin and roughly chop the onion. Skin and finely chop the garlic. Wash the pepper, cut in half and remove the seeds, slice into strips. Heat the oil in a paella pan or very large frying pan. Add the chicken and fry for 5 minutes until golden brown. Add the chopped onion, garlic and pepper, fry gently until the onion is soft. Stir in the rice and fry for 3 minutes. Dissolve the stock cubes in 700ml (1¼ pints) boiling water and add to the pan with the saffron. Add some salt and pepper. Bring to the boil, then reduce the heat and simmer for about 20 minutes, or until the rice is cooked. Stir in the tomato purée and prawns, simmer for a final 10 minutes. Serve immediately.

SUPER COMPETITION

On a visit to London, and looking for something exciting to do? Then here's some fantastic news: The Palladium Cellars, 'London's Key Attraction', are now open!

Based in the heart of the West End, the Cellars are situated directly beneath the world-famous London Palladium — originally the wine cellars of the Dukes of Marlborough and Argyll — and, from today (the 15th), house a series of scenes that pay tribute to the most famous and infamous characters to have entertained millions in the cinema and theatre.

There are 108 life-size figures on show — a veritable history of entertainment — and they range from horror to silent movies, from Westerns to Sea Adventures, from Gangsters to Space. And what's more, many of the characters move in breath-taking tableaux of colour, drama and excitement! For example, you can see Hector The Robot from the brand new Saturn 3 movie in action.

The models are all constructed in fibreglass with the heads sculpted in clay, and oil-paint 'make-up' has been skilfully applied to achieve the superb likenesses. Also, the costumes throughout are historically correct to the finest detail. So you'll think you're seeing double when you come face-to-face with such stars as John Wayne, Frank Sinatra, Humphrey Bogart, Yul Brynner, Boris Karloff, Charlie Chaplin, Peter Cushing and Christopher Lee.

Entrance to the Palladium Cellars is: adults £2.00, children (under 14) £1.00, with opening times 10.00 a.m.-8.00 p.m., Monday-Saturday and 2.00 p.m.-8 p.m. Sunday.

But to four lucky people we're offering a special treat — in this week's exclusive Look-in competition, Palladium chief Louis Benjamin (who is responsible for The Cellars) has arranged a special prize of a weekend (2 nights) in a West End hotel for the winner, a friend, brother or sister and two adults, tickets to the Cellars plus £50 spending money, and all travelling costs.

Think of it — a chance to enjoy London's exciting new attraction plus a whole weekend to take in the glamour and colour of the capital.

Here's how to enter. Below we've printed eight questions based on screen and drama history — subjects, of course, represented in The Palladium Cellars. For each question we've given you three alternative answers. Which one is correct? Mark it down in the appropriate space on the coupon, and send it, together with your name, address and age, on a postcard only, to: Look-in Palladium Cellars Competition, P.O. Box 141, London, SE6 3HR. The sender of the first correct entry pulled from the postbag after the closing date, Monday, June 2nd, 1980, will win the first prize as described above, and 20 runners-up will each receive a £5 book token — ideal for a film or theatre book of their choice.

Announcing a great new London attraction: The Palladium Cellars...

WIN A WEEKEND WITH A DIFFERENCE!

plus 20 book tokens for runners-up

Yul Brynner meets himself as a Westerner; The Werewolf screams defiance; and two of the original tableau designs, all from the Cellars.

MEET THE SMURFS!

Jimmy relaxes with his pet Jack Russell terrier near his Walton, Surrey, home.

TELL THE CHILDREN? NO, THE KIDS TELL ME

says Jimmy Pursey

"If there's one thing I don't want to get, it's a custard pie in the face," says Jimmy Pursey, who's all set to be the first host of a forthcoming Saturday morning show Fun Factory; so don't expect any of the antics that have made the departing Tiswas such a popular programme over the months.

Recently, Jimmy — leader of Tell The Children rock heroes Sham 69, of course — spoke to Richard Tippett about his expectations for the new extravaganza that begins in a fortnight's time. "The job on Fun Factory came about when I went to Granada TV to do a show called Top Twenty Silver Discs. I did the show, and they said they really loved it and that they'd seen me on some different programmes before, and would I be interested in doing a new series called Fun Factory? They wanted me to do a pilot film, and I said that would be okay, but if I was to do anything, I would want the show to be for the people I was singing to — namely, kids. But I didn't want it to be like Runaround or Tiswas, which are great for the kind of thing they are putting across, but this show, if it was going to be me, had to be what I wanted to get across; I didn't want to be slung into a clearing and left in no-man's land, reading things off auto-cues (the machines from which newscasters etc. read on the screen) like I've had to do before and which I am against."

"So they came up with this idea for a pilot where I went and spoke to a group of kids about what they wanted to see on a TV programme, and from that we worked on the idea of Fun Factory."

Did Jimmy accept this new role readily? "Only after interviewing the kids, and making sure that they wanted me to go ahead with it, rather than someone who wasn't really going to care. I think they don't want sixty-year-old men condescending to them all the time."

But Jimmy has other commitments, and these take up precious time. "I have millions of commitments — nearly every hour I have one — so that was something else I had to take into consideration. But another of the things that swayed me into accepting the role is that the show will be going out at a good viewing time, (10.30 in the morning) when people are just getting up, so they can turn the telly on, and there I'll be!"

The members of Sham 69 don't mind about Jimmy's newest venture. "Anything that I do reflects on the group, anyway."

JAMES DEAN

JAMES

Notice anything different about the Pursey face? When we photographed Jimmy, he told us that his eyebrows had been singed, but now they're growing back again . . .

➤ If any of them were offered a job like this then I wouldn't mind either — it would be great for them to do. The other members of the band are likely to be involved in the programme, anyway, coming in and out of the 'factory'.

"You see, what I'll be doing is lots of interviews with different bands. In the show, I run a factory with the help of two girls and another boy, and they've all got different parts of the factory which they own, while I own some recording studios that are a part of it. This means that bands come along to record for me."

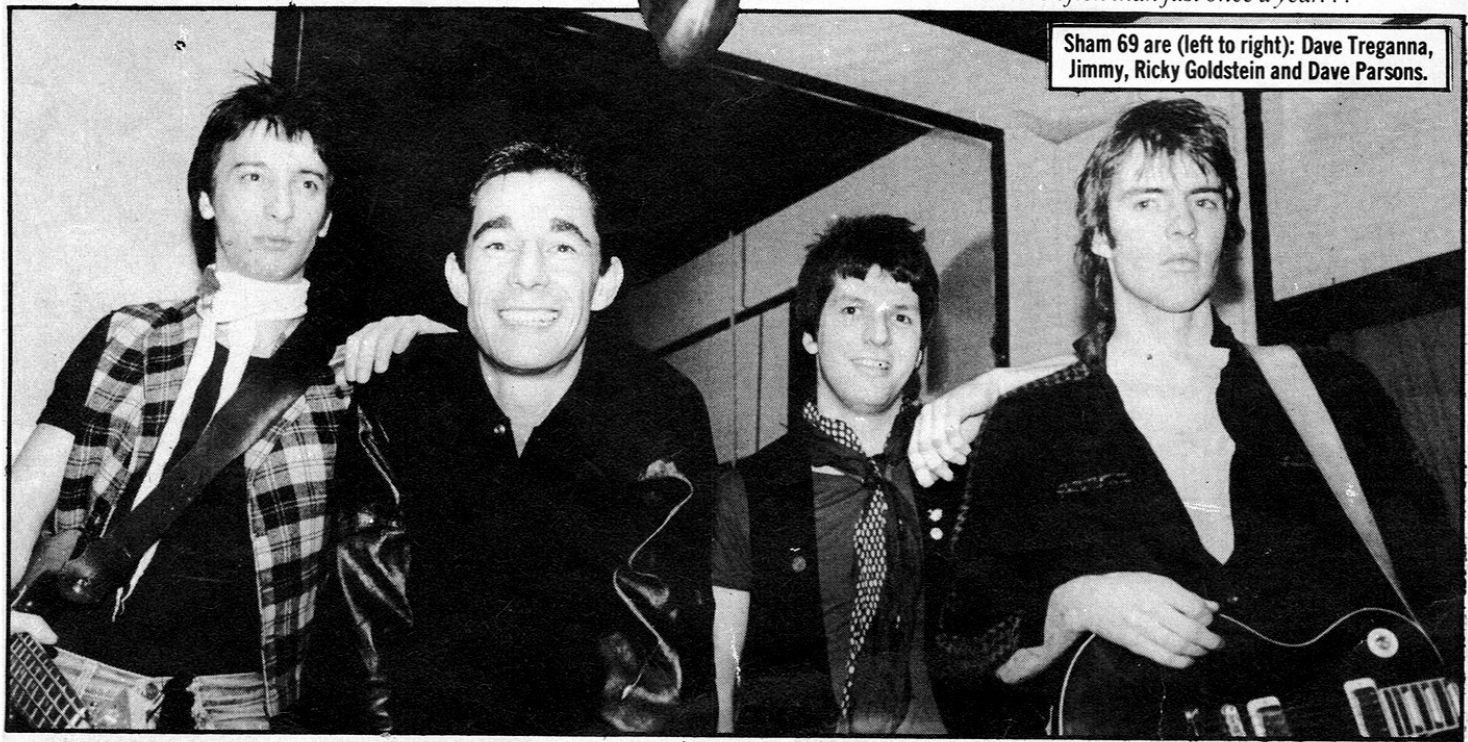

Warming to his subject, Jimmy reveals that "I've turned down five films, because I don't think I'm ready for that part of my life to arrive just yet. I think it would kill me, because I've done so much, and I'm only 24-years-old. Sometimes I sit back and think, 'well, I've done my share of work and I've only been in the business four years.' I've bought my own record company, I've managed and produced bands, I set deals up for lots of people, I've got my own solo material that I'm doing, I've done four albums for Sham, I've worked with The Sex Pistols . . . so I'm taking my time about getting over-involved in TV too early."

Jimmy and Sham 69 have had, over those four years, one of the most loyal followings in rock music, with hits like If The Kids Are United and Hurry Up Harry. How does he expect those fans to react to his forthcoming frolics in the Fun Factory? "Well, I've stayed away from the limelight for a long time now, trying to keep out of the headlines with Sham to give myself a break, and all I did was get more work on the inside, instead of the outside. So I suppose now I'll go back to the outside for a little while; I can take on the outside world again for a little while now. The fans who are loyal to Sham 69 know what I'm doing, and they know that I'm doing everything for them. They wouldn't be loyal if they said, 'hey, Jim, what are you doing that for?' I don't call them fans, anyway. I think I've got mates and friends that have seen me on stage and on television, and they range from 10 to 26. So I can be on a programme like Fun Factory and on the same night a late show talking about political subjects.

"So they know I can do lots of different things, it's not as if I'm set into one gear all the time."

So does Jimmy see himself as a TV presenter and rock hero all at the same time? "No", he replies, in true Pursey style. "I won't be in rock music by the time I'm 27, and I don't really expect to be any great TV star. I only have myself to give to the cameras, and that will be like an appearance on stage — straight from the heart, one hundred per cent honesty."

"I want it to be that the kids watching will see a bit more of reality, but also romance as well. Because life is a dream, and I think I'm helping to make a few dreams come true. It's a way of making Christmas come around more often than just once a year. . ."

GOING GOLD! THAT'S QUO

Although Status Quo have had to postpone their scheduled world tour until October, due to guitarist Rick Parfitt's cartilage trouble in his right leg, you can console yourselves with their recently released Greatest Hits album Twelve Gold Bars, which has been right up to the top of the charts and goes to prove what super staying power the band has.

Quo have been around now for over seventeen years and are still one of the most popular rock bands in the country. Their big breakthrough came back in 1972 with their Piledriver album and since then the South London boys have sold millions of records worldwide.

The Boys' are — and always have been — lead singer Francis Rossi, drummer John Coghlan and guitarists Rick Parfitt and Alan Lancaster. Quo credit their success to their fans, the majority of whom happen to be male. Says Rossi, "We're a band that appeals mostly to guys. We think that's better because girls are too fickle, they change their loyalties too quickly. We know because we appealed to the girls when we first started and got nowhere as a result. But if a guy likes a group he's faithful for ever."

Seventeen years is a long time for all those Quo fans to have stayed faithful and frontman Rossi is as surprised as anyone that the band have managed to stay together for so long. "We were surprised at still being around five years ago," says Rossi. "There was nobody less likely to break in the business than ourselves, everyone thought that. And having broken, it was even unlikely that we'd be able to sustain it. But we somehow managed it; there was chemistry there that the kids obviously went for, and so the music became commercial, saleable, popular, or whatever you want to call it."

As all Quo fans well know, their heroes' great strength is in their fabulous live performances, but as the boys get older tours seem to get longer — and more dangerous! Now in his thirties and living in the splendid surroundings of a new home in deepest Surrey complete with sauna, swimming pool, music room and six-and-a-half acres of land, Rick tells of some mad moments from gigs gone by: "In Munich one time, Francis Rossi was leaping around when he slipped and knocked himself out and was promptly carried off on a stretcher. The house lights went up with the audience obviously thinking it was the end of the show when we all came dashing back on with Francis reeling from the results of being brought around by a huge dose of smelling salts."

"Then another time in Germany, Francis and I both crouched over our guitars. I straightened up before he did and my head crashed into his nose. What a mess! Blood everywhere. It was great, very spectacular."

It seems amazing that Quo, who are as popular throughout Europe as they are in Britain, have never really conquered the American music scene.

"We'd like to break there," says Rick Parfitt. "I know that Quo is good enough. The band, what it plays and how it performs is comparable to any rock band in the world. If we broke there we would sew up the whole world."

Along with the likes of The Rolling Stones, The Who and the Kinks, Status Quo are proud to have survived for so long, and they've had no thoughts of disbanding just yet. Explains Rick, "We honestly haven't had enough yet — there's still a lot to do. The thought of solo ventures has crossed our minds, but we don't want to distract from Quo. When Status Quo eventually does come to an end, which it must do some day, then we might do something else, but not at the moment. I think if we split up a lot of people would be very upset about it — our audiences are very devoted people."

So the good news for all you Quo fans out there is that the boys are going to be rockin' for a long time to come!

12 copies of Status Quo's Twelve Gold Bars album must be won!

With some twenty albums (and almost as many years in the business) already behind them, it's great timing that Status Quo should release a Greatest Hits album. Entitled Twelve Gold Bars it features most of Quo's biggest hits including Rockin' All Over The World, Down, Down, Again and Again, Roll Over Lay Down, Whatever You Want and Living On An Island.

As there are twelve tracks on this super LP we're offering twelve copies as prizes in this week's competition!

ALL YOU HAVE TO DO to enter is read over the questions below and when you think you've found the correct answers, enter them in the spaces provided on the coupon. Then add your name, address and age, cut out the coupon, affix it firmly to a postcard only, and send it to: Look-in Status Quo Competition, P.O. Box 141, London SE6 3HR. The senders of the first 12 all-correct entries drawn from the postbag after the closing date, Monday, June 2nd, 1980, will each receive a copy of Twelve Gold Bars.

QUESTIONS:

- 1 Who is Status Quo's lead singer?
- 2 Which album gave them their big breakthrough?
- 3 Quo have been together for how long?
- 4 Whose injury caused the postponement of Quo's tour?
- 5 Where do the boys come from?

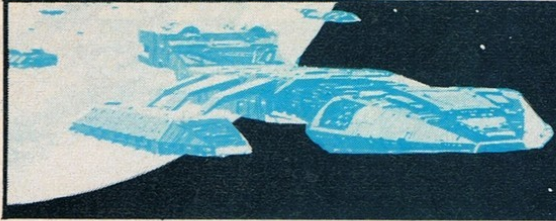

Send on a postcard only to:
 Look-in, Status Quo Comp.,
 P.O. Box 141, London SE6 3HR.

Battlestar GALACTICA™

AN OUTBREAK OF PARAHELIAL FEVER AMONG THE FORTY-TWO CHILDREN ON THE TRANSPORT 'ORESTES' MAKES IT NECESSARY FOR CAPTAIN APOLLO AND A RELIEF CREW — ALL OF THEM IMMUNE — TO BE PUT ABOARD. APOLLO'S ADOPTED SON BOXEY, WHO'S ALSO HAD THE ILLNESS, GOES WITH HIM...

ARE THE CYLONS GOING TO MOUNT ANOTHER ATTACK?

IT'S ON THE CARDS, SON. TROUBLE IS, WE'RE KIND OF DEFENCELESS...

STARBUCK, BOOMER, AND THE OTHER VIPER PILOTS WILL PROTECT US, WON'T THEY, MUFFEY?

THE EVERLASTING OPTIMISM OF THE YOUNG!

I SURE HOPE HE'S RIGHT, THOUGH, CAP.

WAY BEYOND THEM, THE IMPERIOUS LEADER — MASTER OF THE CYLONS — IS INDEED READY TO DEAL ANOTHER BLOW AGAINST GALACTICA'S CONVOY!

THE ASSAULT FIGHTERS ARE READY FOR LAUNCH, GREAT ONE!

THEN GIVE THE SIGNAL! THIS TIME, THE BATTLESTAR AND ITS MISERABLE GAGGLE OF SHEEP MUST BE TOTALLY DESTROYED!

BLAST-OFF!

MEANWHILE, ALL AVAILABLE VIPERS ARE SPACEBORNE — PATROLLING THEIR CONVOY...

STARBUCK TO COMMAND! ORDER THE SHIPS TO CLOSE UP! THE LESS THEY STRAGGLE, THE MORE CHANCE THEY'LL HAVE!

FROM GALACTICA'S BRIDGE ...

YOU HEARD THE MAN! MOVE IN IF YOU WANT TO SURVIVE!

IT'S EASIER SAID THAN DONE. THERE ARE MANY CAPTAINS OF INDEPENDENT AND CANTANKEROUS NATURE ...

THAT COMMANDER ADAMA! WHO DOES HE THINK HE IS?

SHOVIN' US AROUND LIKE HE WAS A DANGED ADMIRAL!

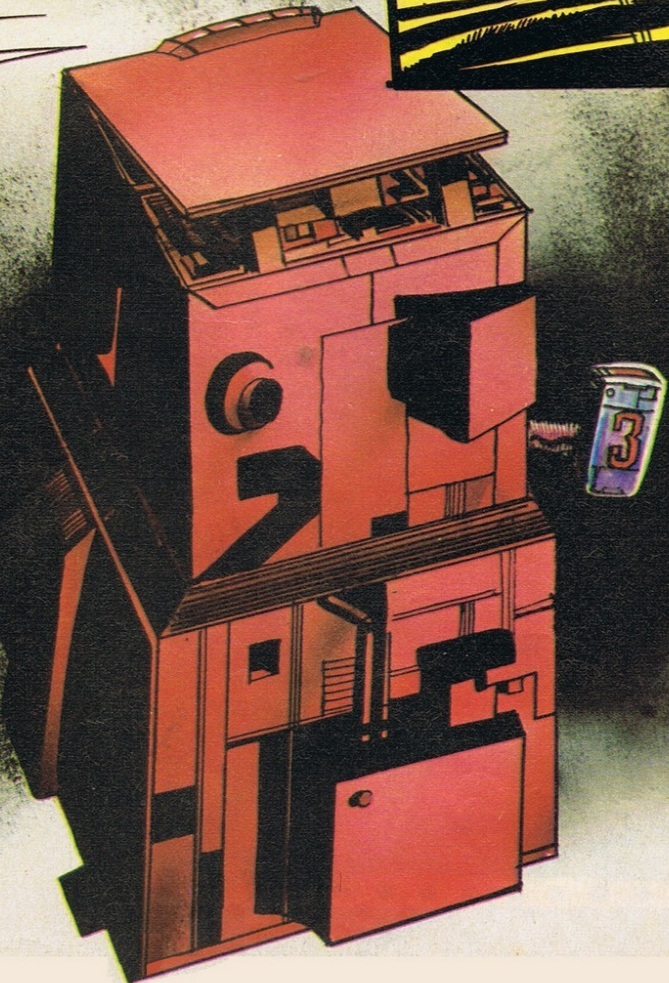

AND THEN IT HAPPENS! THE CYLONS POUNCE!

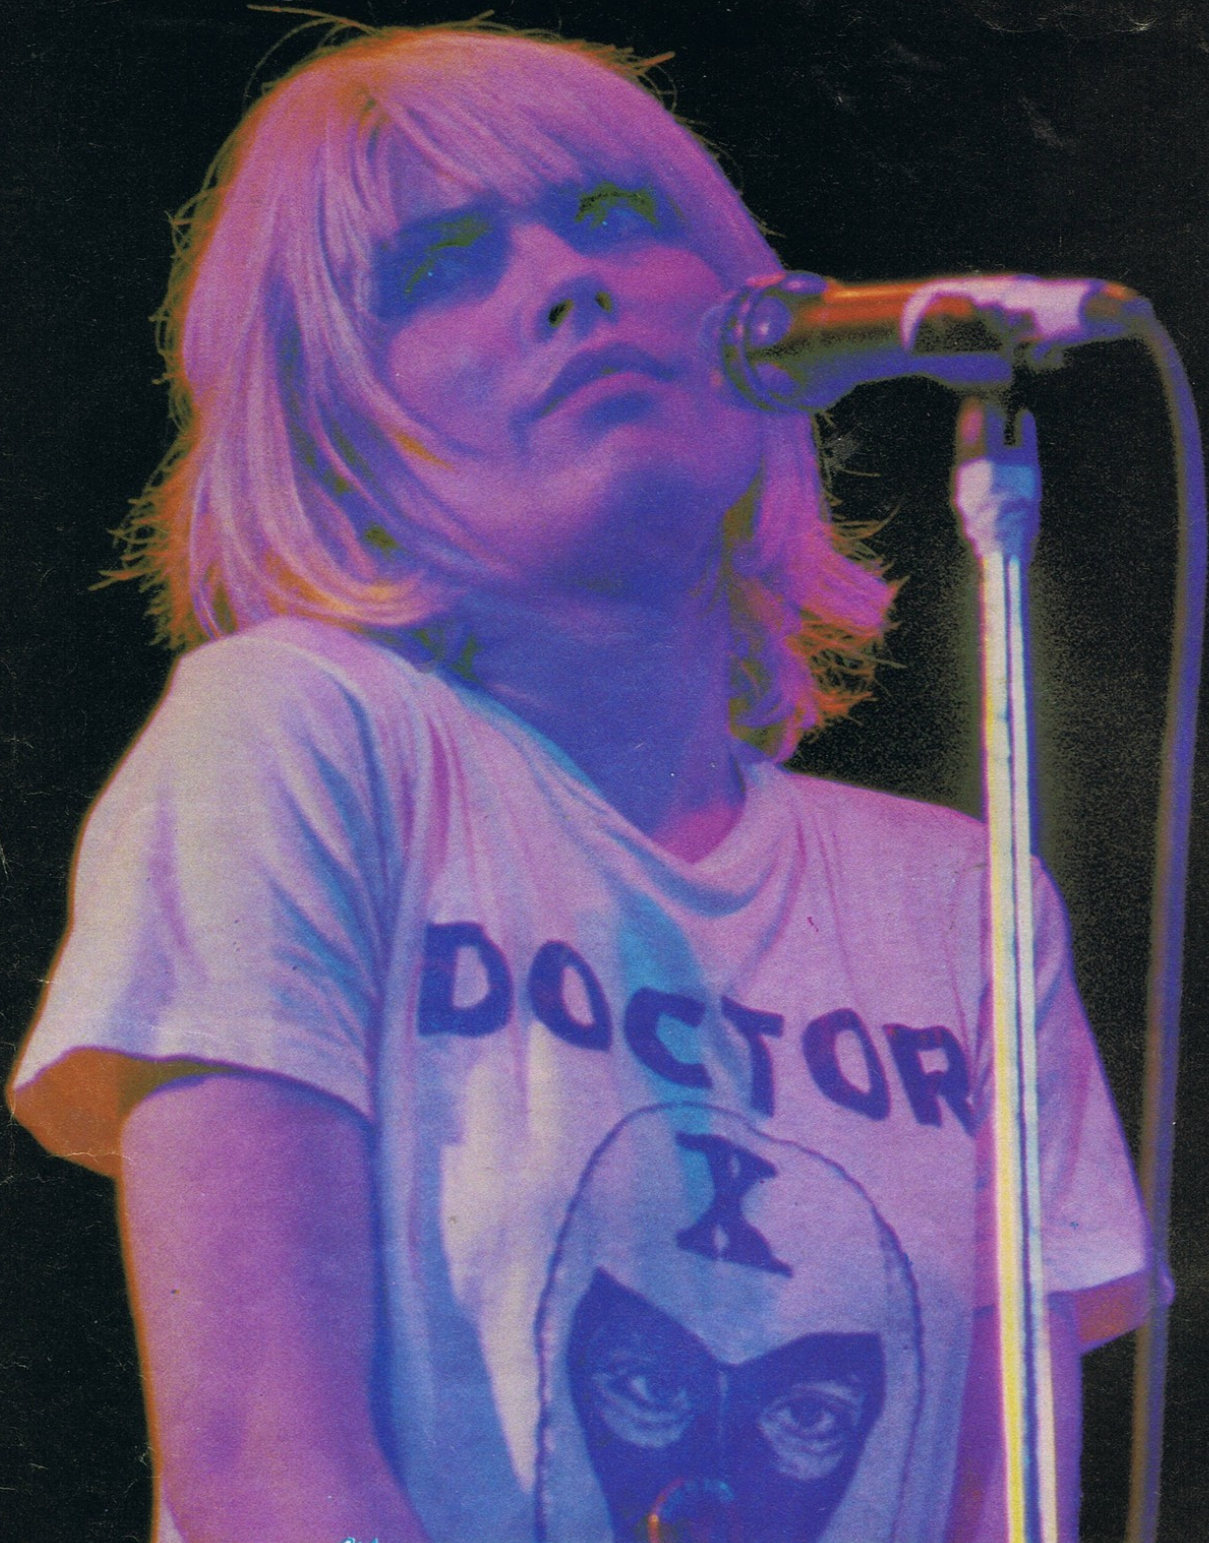

CAPTAIN! LOOK AT THE SCREEN! HERE THEY COME!

YE GODS!

Martin Murray

AND WE'RE RIGHT IN THE LINE OF ATTACK!

WHILE MINDY HAS A SNOOZE AFTER THEIR PICNIC, MORK WANDERS OFF — AND RUNS INTO A BUNCH OF ECCENTRIC UFO-SPOTTERS CALLED THE SKYSCAN SENTINELS. HE CONVERSES WITH SIMPSON MC GURK, THEIR PRESIDENT...

YOU SAY YOU'RE FROM THE PLANET ORK...? WHERE IS ORK?

UP IN THE SKY I GUESS. UNFORTUNATELY, I HAVE NO GUIDE BOOK.

ASK HIM IF HE'S HOSTILE, SIMPSON!

ONE OF THE SKYSCAN SENTINELS RETURNS FROM A HASTY TRIP BACK TO HIS CAR...

HOSTILE SIMPSON? WHAT A RIDICULOUS NAME. NO, I'VE ALREADY TOLD YOU — I AM MORK!

I DON'T LIKE IT 'HE SAID HE HAD AN ACCOMPLICE SOMEWHERE — MINDY, WAS IT?

OKAY! I HAVE EVERYTHING UNDER CONTROL! NO TRICKS YOU — THIS IS A GUN!

MORK KNOWS A WEAPON WHEN HE SEES ONE!

I AM SORRY, I DO NOT LIKE TO USE MY POWERS — BUT THERE ARE TIMES...

GNNNGGG!

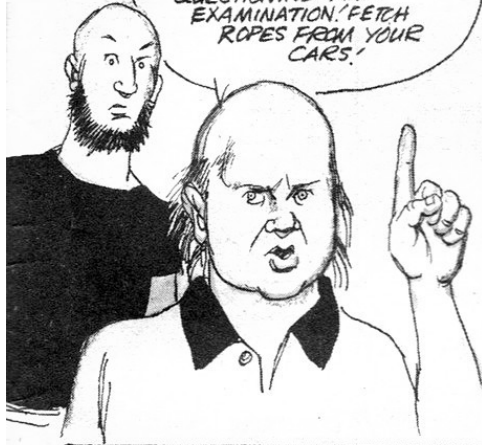

THAT WAS FOOLISH, MATILDA!

NONSENSE! CLEARLY HE IS AN ALIEN!

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO WITH HIM?

WE SHALL TAKE HIM BACK TO OUR HEADQUARTERS FOR QUESTIONING AND EXAMINATION. FETCH ROPES FROM YOUR CARS!

WHEN -NO MORE THAN HALF A MILE AWAY- MINDY WAKES UP...

MORK...? HEY, MORK! COME ON-IT'S TIME TO BE GOING HOME!

DON'T PLAY THE FOOL! WHERE ARE YOU, MORK...?

WHERE INDEED?

ZIEGLER! HE'S COMING ROUND!

YOU BEHAVE YOURSELF YOU HEAR? WE MEAN YOU NO HARM, NOT IF YOU'RE GOOD!

ASAZ BOOTA FRAZEELIK? SHIKKAZ MAZBOT!

THE VERY WORST HAS HAPPENED! THE BLOW ON THE HEAD HAS MADE MORK LOSE HIS ENTIRE MEMORY OF EARTH!

IF HE LOOKS LIKE BUSTING THOSE ROPES, BOP HIM AGAIN, MATILDA! WE CAN'T TAKE NO CHANCES!

WELL DONE, MATILDA! NO SENSE IN RISKIN' TROUBLE FROM THE ALIEN!

With Summer coming on, it seems that Smurf has been awarded his Cricket Blue.

So next time you're out, run along to your National Station and see if he's still in.
