This week, World of Sport looks at the latest round in the downhill racing World Cup. Here Brian Moore spotlights the ski world . . .

DOWNHILL THRILLS (AND SPILLS)

Two to two-and-a-half miles of treacherous snow-covered mountainside traversed at speeds of over sixty miles an hour, a 120-second-plus experience that reduces the most skilful of skiing superstars to the point of exhaustion. Downhill ski courses are chosen to test all to the limit, and for some beyond. As in motor racing, accidents do happen and losing control of your skis at over one mile a minute has effectively ended the competitive careers of many major names in the sport. Yet, as in motor racing, the rest carry on, prepared to accept the possibility of a high speed crash in order to compete. The history of competitive downhill racing is quite short but the sport has its fabled runs, the Kitzbuehel and Lauberhorn — as soccer has its famous stadiums. For men the course is required to drop a minimum of 800 metres from start to finish, for women 400 metres. Every possible depression and turn, bump and gully is incorporated to deceive the skier. Trees cast their shadows across the course, tempting competitors to disaster. The most severe test of all is known as the jump and compression — a sharp downhill section that abruptly turns into a steep rise, a resulting change in angle and direction that sends shock waves surging through the skier's body. Then it's speed all the way to the finishing line and the elation of knowing that you have successfully negotiated one of the severest tests of any sport!

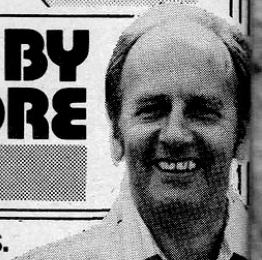

Downhill racing produces its superstars like any other sport. The Austrian Franz Klammer, (pictured here) was unbeatable for several years. His 1976 Olympic triumph at Innsbruck made him a national hero!

In all forms of racing, men strive to go faster. Skiing is no exception and has the ultimate speed test over snow, the Flying Kilometre. On special tracks, with the snow packed down hard, skiers, clothed in streamlined helmets and wind resistant suits, attain speeds of 130 m.p.h. as they hurtle through the speed trap!

Franz Klammer

Franz Klammer, Olympic gold medal winner at Innsbruck back in 1976, is still considered by many people to be the best downhill ski racer there's ever been. Unfortunately, Franz has been going through quite a lean spell recently, and could only finish fifth in the World Championships in 1978. Last season he was a lowly 19th in the final World Cup downhill placings. The main reason for the great man's poor form is that he's been suffering for over a year with a leg injury, sustained while running, of all things! But Franz's will to win and unquestionable skills should soon see him back in his rightful position as one of the world's top ski stars.

A fantastic new adventure starts today!

STEWPIE'S STARCHART

START □ STOP □

Scouts, Cubs, Guides, Brownies — all should be right at home with this week's Starchart. And as those worthy organisations touch most of our lives, the rest of you should have little problem finding the answers. Especially as I give all sorts of clues to help you win our £3 postal order prize.

Once you've solved the clues find the answers in the chart by linking up letters to make the words. You must start and stop as indicated and you can move in any direction except diagonally to link up the letters. That means you can go up, down, backwards or forwards in every word. If you find all the right answers you will have one word left — send that word to me and you could be a winner. You must use every letter in the chart just once — including the prize answer. All one word answers unless indicated.

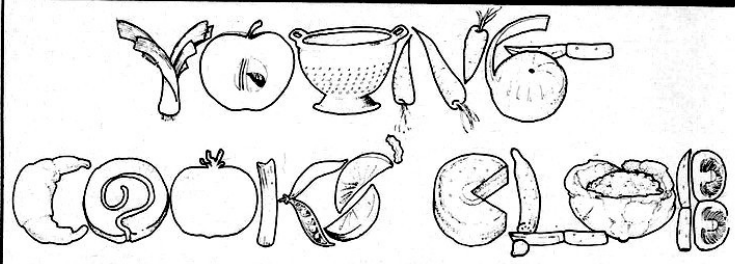

Now off we go with the clues. Who is the Mowgli character who is a cub leader? Who founded the Scout movement, Lord — — (5-6)? What is the Scout motto (2-8)? Award badges are the names of metals. One is a yellowy colour; one the colour of a small British coin; one a very precious metal. Name the ring that holds what goes around the neck; and what is the name of that piece, too? What keeps cubs' socks up? What do they wear under their jumpers? (1-5). Two common knots, one with a spice as part of its name (5,5), the other with rocks (4,4). Ceremony where cubs are sworn in. Acknowledgement using three fingers. What do they do by way of greeting with the left hand? (3,5,9).

What do you call it 'under canvas'; and what 'house' do they use? What might they tuck up for the night in? (8,4). What holds the sides of the 'house' down (4,4)? Scouts' vow of obedience is called a —. Who is second in command?

Now if you've spotted all that lot you should have one word left over. And if you can find it, send it to me fast. Remember, there's a prize at stake. Your entry, on a postcard only, should be sent to: Starchart, Look-in, 247, Tottenham Court Road, London, W1P 0AU. The sender of the first correct entry pulled from the postbag will receive the prize.

Give Mum or Dad a hand this weekend by making some tasty soda bread for lunch or tea. It's quick and easy to make and delicious eaten with a warming mug of soup.

COUNTRY HERB SODA BREAD

- 1 large onion
- 3 sticks celery
- 50g (2oz.) Cheddar cheese
- 225g (8oz.) plain flour
- 225g (8oz.) wholemeal flour
- 5ml (1 level teaspoon) salt
- 5ml (1 level teaspoon) bicarbonate of soda
- 25g (1oz.) butter
- 5ml (1 level teaspoon) mixed herbs
- 30ml (2 level tablespoons) chopped fresh parsley
- or 15ml (1 level tablespoon) dried parsley
- 225ml (½ pint less 4 tablespoons) milk
- 10ml (2 teaspoons) lemon juice
- a little milk for brushing

Skin and grate the onion. Wash and grate the celery. Finely grate the cheese. Sift the plain flour into a large mixing bowl, stir in the wholemeal flour, salt and bicarbonate of soda. Rub the butter in with the fingertips until the mixture looks like fine breadcrumbs. Stir in the onion, celery, mixed herbs and parsley. Mix the milk and lemon juice together, stir into the dry ingredients with a palette knife to form a soft dough. Turn out onto a floured surface and knead lightly. Shape the dough into a 22cm (9 inch) round and place on a floured baking tray. Score top into eight segments, brush with milk and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in the oven at 200°C (400°F) or Regulo gas mark 6 for 30-35 minutes, until well risen and golden brown. Serve spread with butter or cream cheese.

★★★★★★★★★ EXCLUSIVE COMPETITION ★★★★★★★★★★

Fantastic Polaroid Movie-Making System To Be Won!

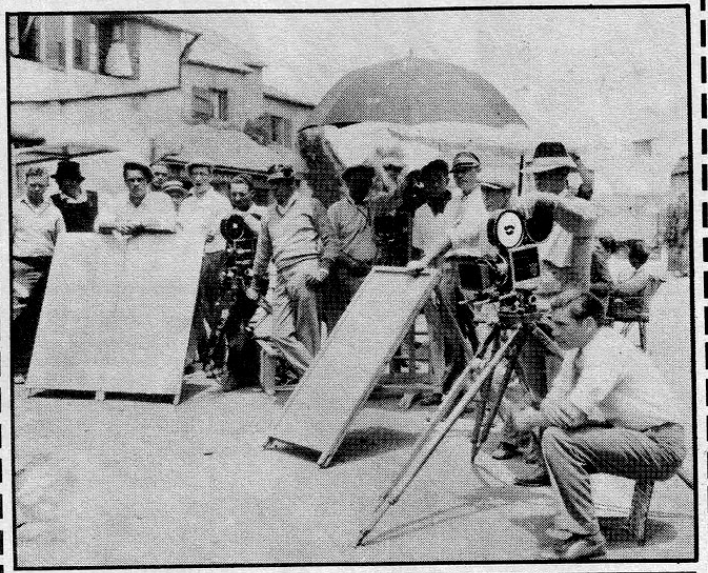

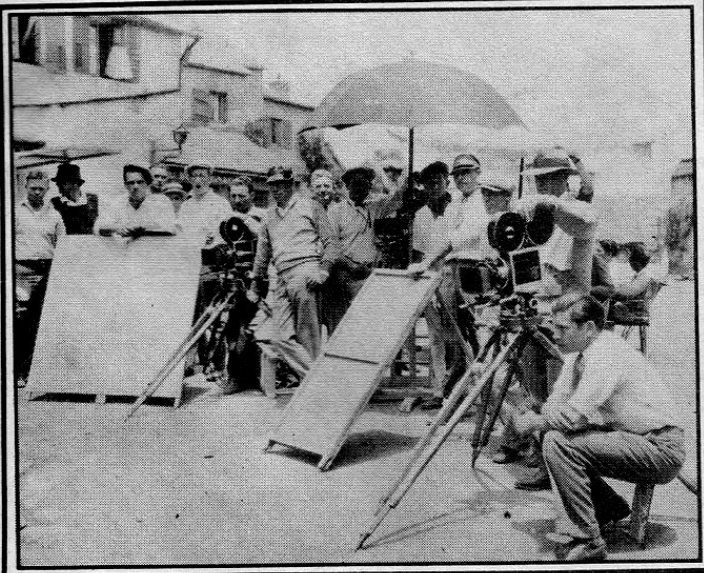

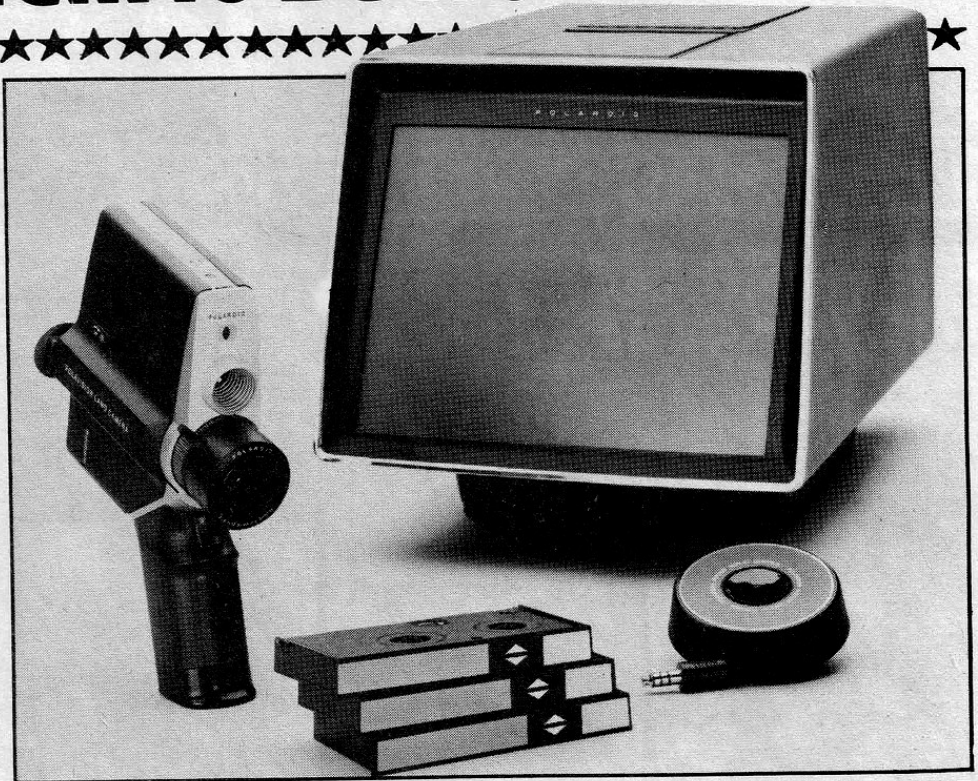

Instant movies. That's the appeal of our really super prize on offer in this week's competition. In fact, it's so good we can only have one winner — but that lucky person will have a prize that has to be seen — and used — to be believed!

It's the Polaroid Polavision Movie System, the latest in home-movie outfits.

You simply pop a cassette of special Polaroid Phototape into the camera, push the button to record the scenes you wish to film, then remove the cassette and slot it into the companion replay machine, like a portable TV, and 90 seconds later you see your movie in full colour!

Too good to be true? It may sound like it, but no — Polavision consists of a slim, hand-held camera, a cassette of instantly-developing movie film (that's the Phototape), and a compact table-top Player which plays back full-colour, vivid movies just 90 seconds after they are taken. The photographer simply places the cassette in the Player where it rewinds and processes before it is automatically displayed.

As we mentioned earlier, we're giving the winner of our competition one of these fabulous Movie Systems — along with four Phototapes.

WHAT YOU HAVE TO DO to enter is take a look at the pictures above of the crew working on the 1927 film What Price Glory — a world away from Polavision, isn't it?! The second picture contains ten slight differences with the first and you have to mark each one with a tick, circle or cross on the second picture. When you have found all ten changes, cut out the photograph containing the differences, together with the completed coupon, and send it, in an envelope, to: Look-in, Polaroid Competition, P.O. Box 141, London SE6 3HR. The sender of the first all-correct entry pulled from the postbag after the closing date will receive the Polaroid Polavision Movie System. Closing date for entries is Monday, January 28th, 1980.

RULES: Entry is free and open to all Look-in readers aged 16 and under, living in the United Kingdom, with the exception of families of employees of ITV Publications Ltd., Polaroid (U.K.) Ltd., and their agents. The editor's decision will be final and no correspondence can be entered into. Closing date for the receipt of entries will be first post on Monday, January 28th, 1980.

Send to: Look-in, Polaroid Comp., P.O. Box 141, London, SE6 3HR.

DOLLAR $hooting $tars

Ever since David Van Day and Thereze Bazar left the successful Guys and Dolls outfit in the summer of 1978 and got together to form the fabulous Dollar duo, things have really been happening for them.

Look-in's Peter Jeffries talked to them recently while they were still enjoying the success of their fourth hit I Wanna Hold Your Hand, following in the footsteps of Shooting Star, Who Were You With In The Moonlight and Love's Gotta Hold On Me.

Both Thereze and David have vast experience of the entertainment world, including dancing and drama, but it was in the field of music that they felt most comfortable. With fame and fortune thrust upon them so early in life with their success with Guys and Dolls, was it a hard decision to quit the group? "Not really," answered Thereze. "We weren't very happy with the type of music the band were doing. It was too middle of the road for us and it was making us feel quite old. We were keen to better ourselves musically and do some good, young, pop-disco sounds."

"For about nine months after we made that decision we really hit an all-time low, but, funnily enough, had some of the best times of our lives while we were struggling to re-make a name for ourselves. But in all that time we never regretted making the break. There was no real animosity between us and the other members of Guys And Dolls but we haven't spoken to, or kept in touch, with them. We were determined to make it a clean break."

With that clean break came the need for a completely new image and, indeed, a new name. How did they arrive at Dollar? "Well," replied David, "we were sitting around one day trying specifically to think of a good name. We didn't want to be called Guy And Doll or Boy And Girl or anything like that, so we had this crazy idea that we could keep our identities secret if we called ourselves the name of a band, then nobody would know we were the two from Guys and Dolls. We even went as far as the American sounding name of Dollar but, unfortunately, it didn't work too well. In fact the D.J. who played our first record on the radio let the cat out of the bag straight away, introducing us as 'ex - Guys and Dolls members, Dollar'."

Both Dave and Thereze are very conscious of the need of a good image and in this way think that they're a little bit different from the average group. They spend a lot of time discussing what to wear and feel that a bit of glamour is necessary in their business. "We like to look a bit special," said Thereze, "because when the public pay a lot of money to see you it's very important that you look the part. We try to keep up to date with the latest fashions and wear the trendiest clothes."

"At the moment," added Dave, "we're really into mod type gear; we're not mods, it's just that I like to wear Ben Sherman shirts, small tie knots and things like that. We put even more thought behind what we were going to wear for I Wanna Hold Your Hand because we wanted to capture some of the feel of the early sixties era when the song first came out."

Being free to develop their

A visual hit, that's Dollar (above). Fast cars and furs, the trappings of success (below).

talent has also meant that the twosome have also been able to write a lot more of their own material. "Yes, that's true," said Dave. "sometimes you can just sit down and force yourself to write, but the easiest ones come when you're just walking down the street, or something like that."

"When I used to go out shopping," added Thereze. "I would think of a complete song, the words, the music, everything, but by the time I had got back home I'd have forgotten the whole lot. So I decided to get a tiny cassette recorder and then everytime I'd get an idea I'd sing it into the cassette. Trouble was that the silly thing was always breaking down!"

You'll be able to hear a lot of their own songs on a great new album that they're planning for early this year. What kind of music can we expect on it?

"Gosh, we don't really know ourselves yet," replied Dave. "At the moment we've only done two tracks that we know for sure will go on the album, and they are much 'rockier' than on the last one. We're thinking of having a couple of ballads, but I don't know if they'll be like Love's Got A Hold On Me — they'll be more like the kind of stuff Dr. Hook do."

"It'll be a lot more contemporary," added Thereze. "the last album was just a collection of songs that sounded like hits. There wasn't really that much of us involved in it. The new album will, hopefully, be what we're all about and we're very excited about it."

With a British tour planned, we'll be seeing a lot more of David and Thereze in the next few months. You could say that you'll definitely get your money's worth with Dollar...

SING A LONG A SONG I WANNA HOLD YOUR HAND

Oh yeh, I'll tell you something
I think you'll understand
Then I'll say that something
I wanna hold your hand

I wanna hold your hand
I wanna hold your hand

Oh yeh, please say to me
You'll let me be your man
And please say to me
You'll let me hold your hand

Now let me hold your hand
I wanna hold your hand

And when I touch you
I feel happy inside
It's such a feeling that my love
I can't hide
I can't hide
I can't hide

Oh yeh, you got that something
I'll think you'll understand
When I feel that something
I wanna hold your hand

I wanna hold your hand
I wanna hold your hand

WHAT'S SMURFING...?

Hullo again! First of all, a bit of fun! How many words (three letters or more) can you make out of the letters contained in SMURFING? We managed twenty-nine; see if you can do better! (Our list is at the foot of the page, but no peeping, now!)

HAVE YOU MET PIERRE THE CLOWN? He travels the country with his exploding car (above), which has Smurfy pictures all over it. Perhaps you saw him in the circus at Birmingham over the last few weeks? Anyway, he'll be at the National Boys' and Girls' Exhibition at Leeds from February 16th - 23rd, and then at the Alexandra Palace in London from April 3rd - 9th. Apart from making you laugh (he hopes!), Pierre will tell you lots about road safety, which is something that all of the Smurfs care about very much indeed.

THIS IS PEYO! Last week, we told you how he created the Smurfs, a whole twenty years ago! His real name is Pierre Culliford, and his father was English, his mother Belgian. Peyo writes all the stories and does all the drawings in the Smurf books and cartoons, and right now, the Belgians have made him a very happy man! Why? Well, the Smurfs will be the official mascots of the Belgian Olympic Team in Moscow. So don't forget to watch for them on television during the Games next Summer!

If you've any comments or questions about the Smurfs, you can write to: What's Smurfing...?, 76 Neal Street, London WC2H 9 PA.

These are the words we found in SMURFING:
 Fig, fin, fir, firm, fun, fur, gin, grim, grin, gum, gun, minus, mug, rig, rim, ring, rug, rum, run, rung, sin, sing, smug, smurf, sum, sun, sung, surf, surfing.

Ride 'em cowgirl!

CARSON'S WILD WEST SHOW

CHARLIE'S ANGELS

ANY FANCY COOKERY-BOOK WILL TELL YOU THAT 'ANGELS ON HORSEBACK' ARE SNAZZY SAVOURIES. BUT CHARLIE'S ANGELS ON HORSEBACK ARE SOMETHING ELSE AGAIN!

YOU'RE SURE THESE CRITTERS HAVE BEEN BROKEN?

THEY SEEM KIND OF HIGH-SPIRITED TO ME!

NAHHH! TAME AS RABBITS, LADIES...

WHY, HANDLIN' 'EM SHOULD BE AS EASY - AS - AS -

AS FALLIN' OFF A HOSS! HAW, HAW, HAW!

THEY CAN RIDE - BUT BRONCS OWNED BY CARSON'S TRAVELLING WILD-WEST SHOW ARE THE KIND TO GIVE THE ANGELS A ROUGH TIME!

OH-OH! HERE WE GO! HANG ON!

COLONEL 'CURLY BILL' CARSON, BOSS OF THE SHOW, IS WATCHING FROM BOSLEY'S CAR...

I'M NOT SO SURE THIS IS ONE OF CHARLIE'S BEST IDEAS!

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE GIRLS. IT'S ROUGH ON THEM, BUT THEY'LL MAKE OUT. THEY'RE TOUGH!

YOU THINK YOUR SHOW'S JINXED, CURLY. MY ANGELS WILL FIND OUT WHY. RELY ON IT.

I'D HATE 'EM TO GET HURT BEFORE THE START, OLD BUDDY!

©Spelling Goldberg Productions 14.12.79

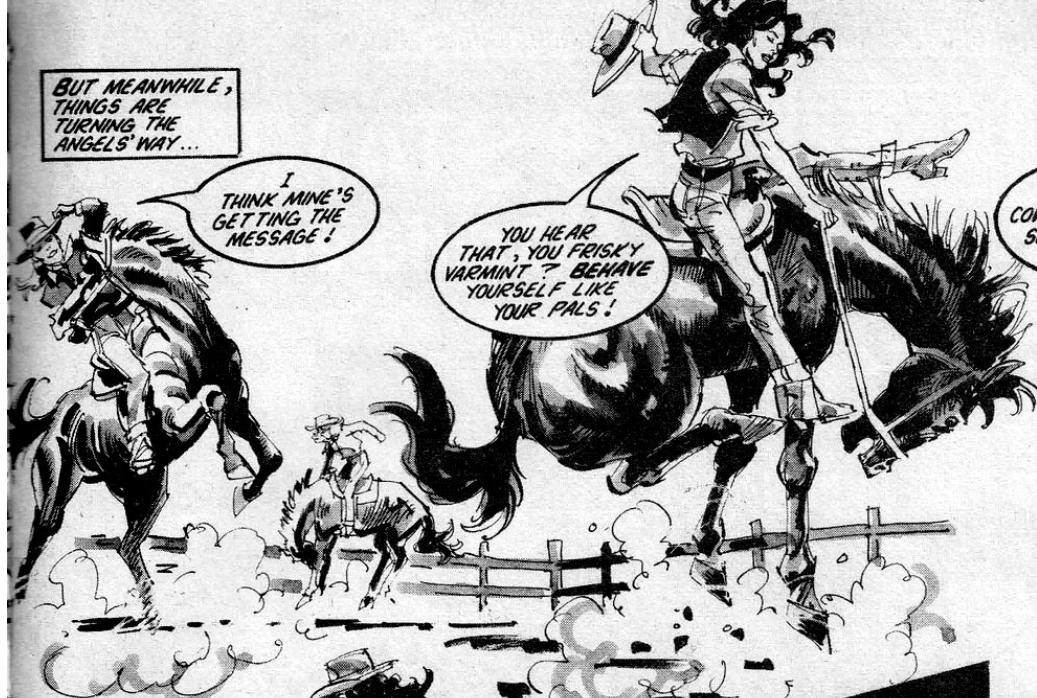

BUT MEANWHILE, THINGS ARE TURNING THE ANGELS' WAY...

I THINK MINE'S GETTING THE MESSAGE!

YOU HEAR THAT, YOU FRISKY VARMINT? BEHAVE YOURSELF LIKE YOUR PALS!

SAY, THOSE NEW COWGALS AIN'T SO BAD AT THAT!

STILL IN THE SADDLE, LEASTWAYS!

ARE WE HIRED, COLONEL CARSON?

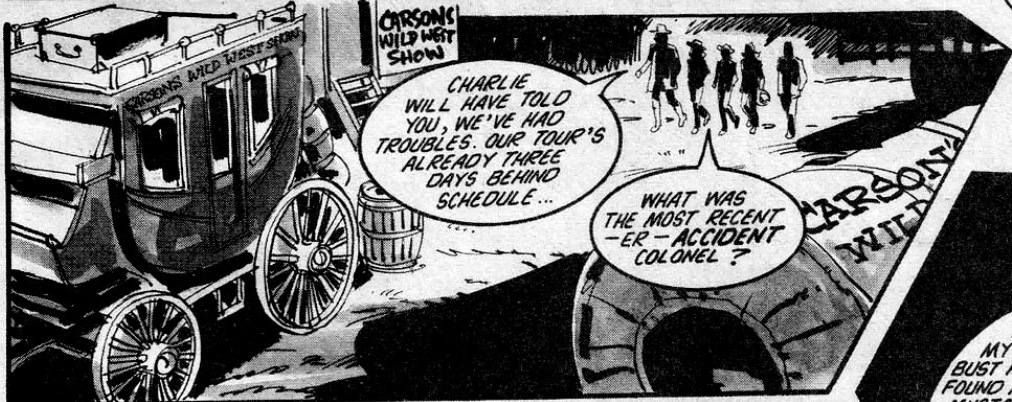

OKAY. WE'LL WORK UP AN ACT FOR YOU. BUT FIRST, YOU'D BETTER ALL COME TO MY TRAILER...

TAKE OVER, BOYS THAT WAS FUN.

NOT FOR US! BUT CONGRATULATIONS, ANYWAY!

CHARLIE WILL HAVE TOLD YOU, WE'VE HAD TROUBLES. OUR TOUR'S ALREADY THREE DAYS BEHIND SCHEDULE...

WHAT WAS THE MOST RECENT -ER- ACCIDENT COLONEL?

CARSON'S WILD WEST SHOW

LAFE CODY, MY STAR RIDER, BUST HIS NECK. WE FOUND A FLINT IN HIS MUSTANG'S FORE OFFSIDE SHOE. COULD'VE BEEN PICKED UP, BUT I THINK IT WAS PUT THERE.

SOMEONE'S TRYING TO CRIPPLE MY SHOW. I DON'T KNOW WHO, AND I DON'T KNOW WHY... I HAVE NO ENEMIES, AND NO RIVALS!

MAYBE WE'LL COME UP WITH A REASON, COLONEL. YOU CAN RELY ON US TO DO OUR BEST!

AS WE COWGALS SAY, YOU'RE DURNED TOOTIN'!

Don't miss next week's exciting instalment!

Bob Carolgees and Spit . . . super Tiswas twosome.

for new characters."

He gets some good mileage out of the present ones, though. He explains: "I used to take the monkey into pubs and clubs with me. "On one occasion, in a pub in Liverpool, I wandered around with him, and generally gave everyone a good laugh. But one guy, who'd had a drink or two, thought he was real and squeezed his face. So I lifted Charlie's arm, and made him grab the guy's cap.

"Unfortunately, he was bald and didn't want anyone to know about it. So he took it out on Charlie and started belting his arm, not realising that the monkey couldn't feel a thing."

Right now Bob has a little problem over his surname. "When the Tiswas team go out together, people can never remember my name, so I'm known as Spit. A recent example — the other day I went into a little shop in a village in Wales, where I was doing my act. Four or five teenagers came in, took a look at me and said, 'there's old Spit.' Still, it's nice to be recognised!"

As you can see from his very popular appearances on Tiswas, Bob gets on really well with children. "I started out as an adult entertainer," he said, "but I did children's parties, and got on with them like a house on fire. I like to go out on location with Charlie and Spit, and meet the kids. Most of them get on well with the puppets and either stage friendly fights or fall about laughing at them."

Bob enjoys the improvisation that Tiswas allows him, and only has a vague outline of what is going to happen as the show progresses. "I've always enjoyed improvising, and there's no better place for it than Tiswas.

"As for the future, I wouldn't mind having my own series, as long as I feel I could cope with it. Lots of things that I do in cabaret you don't see in Tiswas, and I could employ mime, gags, tricks and stand-up patter in a series.

"Right now, I've just started doing Spit merchandise, and any Look-in reader who's interested in acquiring Spit T-shirts, badges, key-rings, and large coloured posters, can send for more details to: Spit's Post, 158 College Road, Crosby, Liverpool."

FROM SPOT TO SPIT

The characters of Spit The Dog and Charlie The Monkey play a prominent part in Tiswas . . . they have done since last April, when Bob Carolgees first became a part of the Saturday morning series (which is now shown in most areas). Recently, Bob spoke to Richard Tippett about what makes his part in the series tick.

"Frank Carson introduced me to it," he said. "He'd seen me in a club and invited me down with the 'monkey', Charlie, and the 'dog', Spit, to ATV Studios. I literally followed Frank into the studio, and started fooling around with Charlie. Everyone loved it, and they all fell about laughing, so within two or three weeks, I was scripted well and truly into the show."

How did Bob get the idea of calling his dog Spit? "Actually," he replied, "it was originally called Spot; the reason I gave him that name was because he didn't have any spots! But when I first started using him in my act, I accidentally called him Spit, and everyone thought it funny. So I added the spitting gesture, and the name stuck. That happened three years ago."

Bob actually made his first puppet six years back, and he's got some nine or ten in his repertoire now, "but I'm always looking

LIVE AND LET DIE

THIS Sunday at 7.45 on ITV, you can see the very first small screen showing of Live And Let Die. That's not the only 'first' either, because it also happens to be the film in which Roger Moore made his debut as James Bond.

It was one of the biggest showbiz stories of 1972 that Roger was to take over the part of secret agent 007, formerly played by Sean Connery (and once, in On Her Majesty's Secret Service, by George Lazenby). But to London-born Roger, the news came ten years later than it might have done.

Explains Roger: "Harry Saltzman, co-producer of the 'Bond' films is one of my closest friends. I didn't know it at the time, but back in 1961-62, when the film series began, I was suggested for the role — only Sean got it."

Live And Let Die is an action-packed adventure in which secret agent Bond gets involved with a rather sinister hoodlum called Mr. Big, who masterminds a criminal complex trailing from Harlem through New Orleans to the sunny but voodoo-riddled island of San Monique. As usual, the stunts in the movie exceed anything that went before them and include a harrowing speedboat pursuit and a heartstopping glider-car chase. English rose Jane Seymour (pictured above with Roger Moore), plays our heroine Solitaire, while the nastiest, by far, of the many villains in the picture is an evil character called Tee Hee whose right arm provides a tasty meal for a crocodile...
