State Of A fez!

"Mr. Cooper, I'm one of your greatest flans!
Mr. Tarrant looks pretty thoughtful as the master comic magician — who does seem to bear a strong resemblance to Lenny Henry — takes it in the face.
We know how much you like filling in your own funny captions to our balloons, so come on — just for fun, write down what thought-provoking words you think Chris is murmuring.

FLAN YOUR FOLKS

Two more Flan victims this week. One of the requests seems to have an evil intent — it comes from 'Mark', who wants to flan his brother 'David' (top right), because "he is the most infuriating person I have ever seen." No more names, not even an address, on this request. Very mysterious . . .
Meanwhile, Richard Broadhurst, from Tamworth, Staff., wants his brother Peter (right) flanned not only for his own amusement, but also that of his mum, dad, brother and sister.

To add to the fun here's another of our teasing little rhyming puzzles for all you 8s and overs. Once you've worked out the six letters from the rhyme you'll find that they spell the name of one of the even-more-than-usual less-than-human characters on Tiswas! You'll find the answer at the bottom.

My first is in pink but never in blue,
My second's in oink and also in moo.
My third is in trotter, you won't find it in feet,
My fourth is in streaky but not in meat.
My fifth is in sty, never in pen,
My whole is truly a pig amongst men!
Who Am I?

Answer: Porky

pounds for children's charities during her year's reign), remains to be seen. Perhaps it will even be our own Miss United Kingdom, Kim Ashfield from Wales?

But what I'd like to hear from Look-in readers is what you think of beauty contests in general. Is it a good idea to judge girls mainly on their good looks? Or are you of the opinion that 'beauty is only skin deep'? I'd like to hear your views on the subject and I'll print the most interesting letters I receive on my Newsdesk in a few weeks' time, the senders of which will each be awarded a £3.00 postal order and Junior reporter's Certificate. Write to: Stewpot's Beauty Survey, Look-in, 247 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0AU. I look forward to hearing from you

THIS Thursday (13th) at 8.00 p.m., Thames Television will, for the first time ever, be covering the contest for the world's most coveted beauty title — Miss World 1980. This glittering event is being staged at London's Royal Albert Hall and just who will take over the crown from the reigning Miss World, Gina Swailes from Bermuda (who, by the way, has raised millions of Linda Kennedy and Mike Sheridan — a Spectrum of fascinating facts.

WHILST on the subject of what you can see on ITV this week, there's an interesting new series from Thames starting on Friday (14th) called Spectrum. Presented by Linda Kennedy and Mike Sheridan, over the coming weeks Spectrum will be looking at some fascinating facts from the world of science. For instance, in this week's programme Linda and Mike will be showing you, among other things, a giant's skeleton and a film of a lizard shedding its skin; and telling you how many cells we have in our bodies and all about the tallest person in history. Tune in at 4.45 p.m. — you could pick up some facts with which to astound your family and friends!

Doctors Hill, Fellows-Smith and Carmichael — victims of a takeover bid?

There's another new series starting on Sunday (16th), at 7.15 p.m., called Doctors' Daughters. From ATV, it's all about a run-down surgery in the village of Mitrebury which, when the three old resident doctors decide to retire, is taken over by two new doctors fresh out of medical school. What Doctors Carmichael (Jack Watling), 'Biggin' Hill (Richard Murdoch) and Fellows-Smith (Bill Fraser) don't realise is that the young Doctors, Drake (Lesley Duff) and Liston (Victoria Burgoyne) are, in fact, very attractive young women! The series is written by Richard Gordon, who is responsible for many 'Doctor' books (including Doctor In The House, which became a highly successful TV series) and Ralph Thomas, who collaborated with him on many of the 'Doctor' films.

ELIZABETH'S HOBBY

My hobby is to make models (the size of teenage dolls) of pop stars.

To do this I first of all cast a square block of plaster in a small container, then I carve the face using pictures (front and left and right profiles) as reference. The face, once carved, is then painted and stuck to a body which I make out of florists' wire covered with cotton wool. The doll is then dressed with reference to pictures of the person. The feet are also carved out of plaster. The hands are five pieces of wire covered with papier maché and painted when dry.

I have done quite a number of dolls, and Look-in is a great help because it gives the best pictures to carve the faces from. This photograph shows Brian May of Queen, who is one of my latest dolls.

STOP

If you like to eat puddings, afters, sweet or whatever you call the dish that follows your main meal at dinner and lunch, then the Starchart is right up your alley this week. Because all the answers to the clues are those things. If you find them all, and then let me know the one item left over that isn't any of them, you could win our £3 postal order prize.

As usual you have to find all the answers in the chart by solving the clues and then finding the answers by linking together letters to form those words. You must stop and start as indicated. You can link up letters in any direction except diagonally. That means you can go up, down, backwards or forward in every answer. You must use every letter just once — including the prize answer.

Now for the clues. I am going to give you all the vowels and leave you to fill in the consonants in order to make up the answers.
HERE WE GO. -e-o- -e-i--ue -ie; a---e --u---e; -e---; -u--a-; --i--e; -e-o-; --ea-; --ea--e -a-; --o--e- -i-; -a- -o-; -a--a-e-; --o-o-a-e -ou--e; -i-e -u-i-; -a-e- a---e; --ui- -a-a-; -i--e -a-; ---a-e--ie;

That's it then. Now all you've got to do is tell me the one edible item that's left over. It certainly isn't anything you'd eat after your main meal... in fact, you might get roasted for such a half-baked suggestion if Mr. Murphy hears about it! Just send me the one word then, not the completed square, and you could be a winner.

Send your entry on a postcard only, to: Starchart, Look-in, 247 Tottenham Court Road, London, W1P 0AU. The sender of the first correct entry pulled from the postbag will receive the prize.

Here are last week's answers

Football boots; Socks; Tights; Garters; Jeans; Wellingtons; Skirt; Dress; Mackintosh; Anorak; Blazer; Tee Shirt; Bikini; Dressing Gown; Bowler Hat; Jumper; Dungarees; Waistcoat; Kilt; Shirt; Stockings; Braces.

COMPETITION WINNERS

Here are some more of the winners of our major competitions. Unfortunately, there won't be enough room every week to publish the name of every runner-up of the winners of our smaller competitions, but rest assured that if you are a winner of a competition in Look-in you will be notified and your prize will be sent to you. If you see your name here and you haven't received your prize within a few weeks please get in touch with us. There'll be more winners soon.

ANIMAL ALLSORTS

Photograph: Colin Chapman

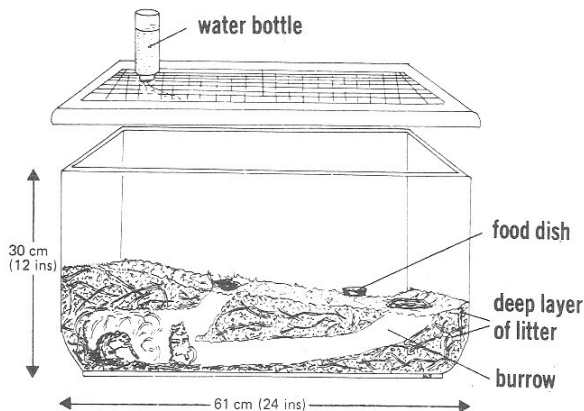

Over one hundred years ago the French naturalist Abbé David was camped on the edge of the Mongolian desert. He noticed that there were lots of burrows around his camp site, and sitting at the entrance to each burrow were some animals that looked like small yellow rats. Then Abbé and his friends managed to catch a few of these little animals and they sent them to Paris to be identified. There the scientists found that the animals were not rats at all but were, in fact, Mongolian gerbils.

GERBILS

Different kinds of gerbils have been found in other parts of the world, but it is the Mongolian gerbil which is now bred and kept as a pet in this country. A pet gerbil is a very attractive little animal. It has a golden brown fur and large, dark eyes, and it eats sitting up on its hind legs like a squirrel, holding its food in its front paws.

If you are thinking of buying some gerbils as pets always remember that they are burrowing animals, and will appreciate plenty of litter in their cage. An aquarium (but not one filled with water!) often makes a good home for gerbils because it is deep. You can put in about 5 or 6 inches of a mixture of sawdust, woodshavings, straw, sand and peatmoss with some hay for bedding. Cages or aquaria for 2 or 3 gerbils should be 60cm by 30cm by 30cm. Cages need cleaning out every 2 weeks; aquaria every 3 to 4 weeks.

It is best to choose pet gerbils when they are about 8 weeks old; 2 young females will usually get on well together if introduced at this age, and so will a male and female. Adult gerbils will, however, fight if they are strangers. Gerbils pair for life, but they do breed very rapidly — a second litter may arrive 4 weeks after the first litter and so on.

Feed your gerbils on a mixture of grain such as oats, barley, wheat, flaked maize and a few sunflower seeds. They should also have a little fresh plant food, e.g. cabbage, carrot, apple, grass. Water should always be available.

A 'How to care for your Gerbil' wallchart — price 40p — and a 'Gerbils' leaflet — price 25p can be obtained from the RSPCA at the address below.

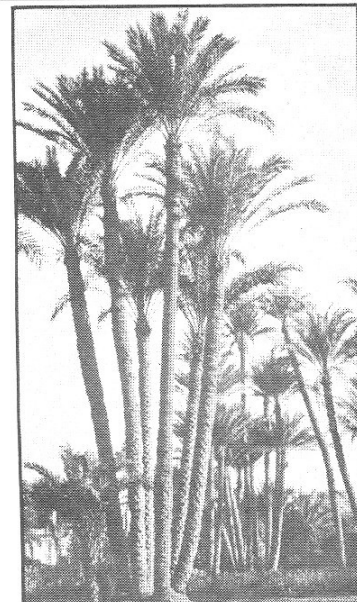

Young people up to the age of 17 can join the RSPCA as Junior members. You will be sent a badge, and a magazine which comes out four times a year. If you'd like more information, send for a leaflet to: the Junior Membership Department, RSPCA, Causeway, Horsham, Sussex RH12 1HQ.

SWALLOW THIS!

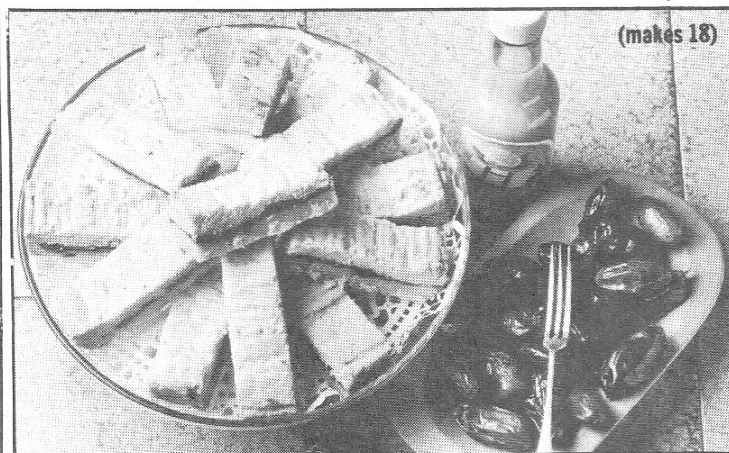

TVTimes cookery editor Kathie Webber introduces Look-in's weekly fun food spot...

Dates, often bought dried in boxes at Christmas time, come from the beautiful date palm tree (right), which grows to a height of from 18 to 24 metres (60 to 80 feet). It is found in many areas — from the Canary Islands through Northern Africa and from the south-west of Asia to Pakistan and India. Its leaves can be 3 to 6 metres (10 to 20 feet) long and a single large bunch of dates can contain up to 1,000 fruits and weigh 9kgs. (20 lbs) or more!

There are plenty of fresh dates from Israel in the shops at the moment, which are lovely to eat as they are, but for cooking look for the packets of pressed dried dates, cheapest and best for cakes and biscuits such as these lemon date bars. They're delicious!

LEMON DATE BARS

(makes 18)

350g (12oz.) plain flour

225g (8oz.) butter or margarine

125g (4oz.) caster sugar

225g (8oz.) stoned dates

60ml (4 tablespoons) lemon juice

25g (1oz.) granulated sugar

Put the flour in a mixing bowl and rub in the butter or margarine. 'Rubbing-in' means rubbing the fat and flour together with your fingertips again and again until you have a mixture which looks rather like fine breadcrumbs. Stir in the caster sugar and then gather the mixture together in your fingers until it forms a smooth dough. Cut the dough in half, put it in a polythene bag and chill it in the refrigerator for 30 minutes. Chop the dates; mix them with the lemon juice and granulated sugar to form a paste. Line a shallow oblong tin about 25cm by 20cm (1" by 8") with greased greaseproof paper. Roll half the dough to fit the tin and press it in place with your fingers. Neaten the edges if necessary. Spread with the date and lemon mixture. Roll the remaining dough and cover the date mixture, pressing the dough into the edges of the tin with your fingers. Smooth the top and prick through to the bottom of the tin with a fork. You can also make an interesting pattern with fork marks. Bake in the centre of the oven 180 deg.C (350 deg. F) or gas mark 4 or 20 minutes. Allow to cool in the tin, then cut the mixture into fingers.

LIZZY ON THE LOOSE

When they're playing, they're one of the hottest bands around — and it's been that way for close on ten years. Now, Thin Lizzy are in the limelight once more, with the chart-smashing success of the single Killer On The Loose and album Chinatown.

Unfortunately, Lizzy aren't in the UK to celebrate as, right now, they're thousands of miles away rocking fans in Japan, after which they'll move on to Australia and the USA.

Phil, Scott, Brian and Snowy had been taking things easy before flying to the Far East — holidays were in order following a heavy early summer British tour. Phil, for example, spent a lot of time in his native Ireland, where his wife gave birth to their second baby, a girl called Kathleen.

Things weren't so good for Scott, though. He went down with peritonitis — a serious appendix complaint — and had to be rushed to hospital, where, fortunately, he recovered, and was able to show to the world again his new-look hair-cut; considering he'd had a 'growth' down to his waist for the past seven years this was quite a crop!

Meanwhile, Snowy — Lizzy's most recent addition to their ranks — helped out Pink Floyd during their mid-summer shows, while the whole band themselves prepared the exciting video that accompanies Killer On The Loose — they nurtured an unshaven look just to give them more on screen menace to fit in with the album's theme.

What you might call a Grizzly, Busy Lizzy!

BMX

THE RACE IS ON

BMX is the bike-racing sport that has swept across America. The action-packed event that's tougher, faster and more exciting than anything you've seen before.

Now Puch Murray and Halfords bring BMX to Britain. And there's never been a better time to take off with a brand-new sport.

Bicycle Motocross is no place for toy bikes or tame riding. You race on a dirt-track downhill course that really separates the men from the boys.

-THE HOTTEST THING ON TWO WHEELS!

On the left is an artist's impression of a typical BMX track. It can have as many jumps, bends, hairpins and fast straights as you want.

Thunder down the straights, slam round the bends.

Fly over hair-raising jumps at full speed.

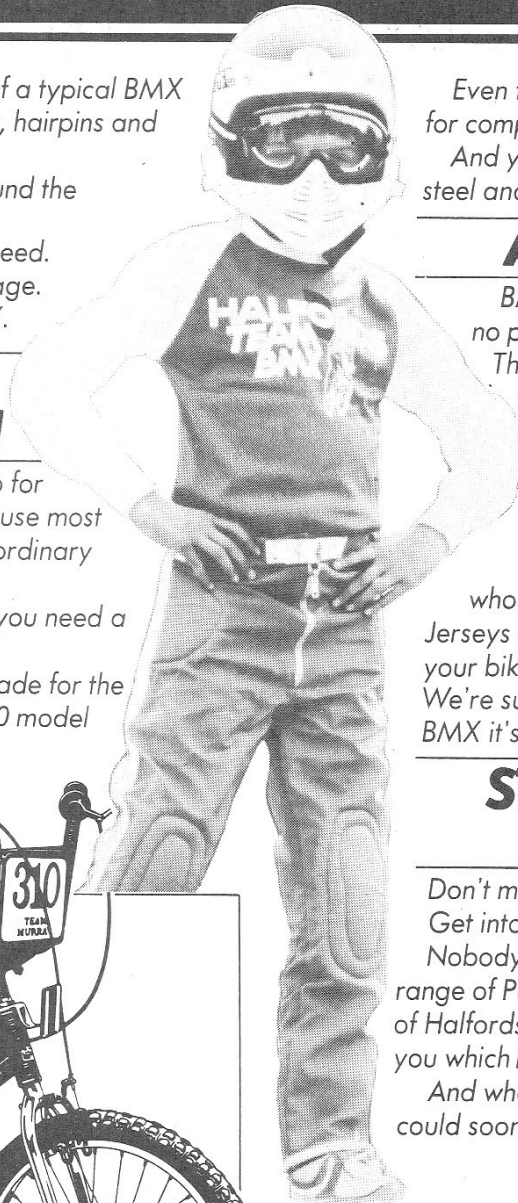

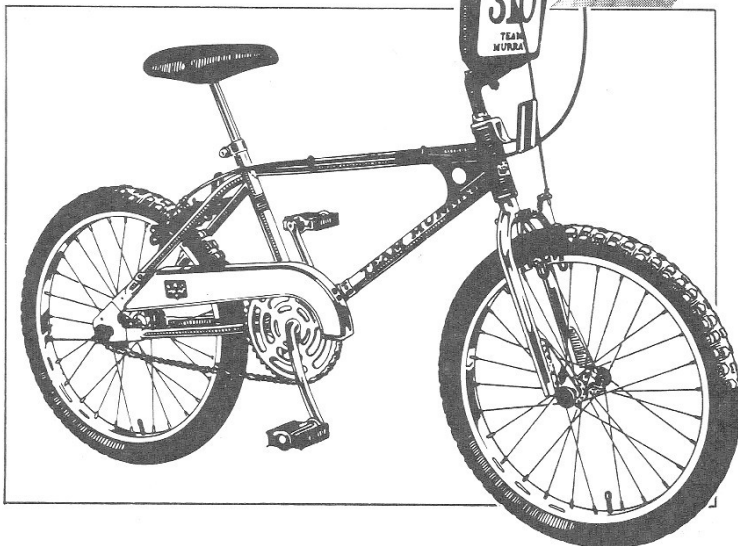

It's a real test of your skill and courage. No other bike ride has the thrills of BMX.

ONLY THE BEST IS GOOD ENOUGH

If you thought any old bike would do for Bicycle Motocross you'd be wrong. Because most BMX courses are enough to shake any ordinary bike to bits.

When you race a motocross course you need a bike that's really hot.

That's why Puch Murray bikes are made for the job. Prices start from £79.95 for the 5310 model shown here. They have 20" wheels with track-grabbing racing tyres. Cross-braced handlebars for extra strength.

Even frames and forks are specially designed for competition riding.

And you'll find that every model is as tough as steel and lightning quick.

ALL GEARED UP

BMX is a hard sport. And a BMX course is no place to take risks.

That's why the top track stars always wear crash helmets and protective clothing when they're racing.

When you get your bike, make absolutely sure you've got the gear to go with it.

Not only will you look good, you'll be a whole lot safer too. There's trousers at £8.95, Jerseys at £7.45, Helmets at £12.50 and protect your bike with Pad sets at £4.15.

We're sure you'll agree. If you're going to win at BMX it's best to win in style.

STAY ONE JUMP AHEAD

Don't miss out on the incredible BMX action.

Get into Bicycle Motocross today.

Nobody knows more about BMX and the range of Puch Murray bikes than your local branch of Halfords. You'll find they're experts. They'll tell you which BMX bike is the best for you.

And who knows, if you've got what it takes, you could soon be Britain's first BMX star.

LARRY & ERIK HIGHWAY HEROES!

Speeding down the freeway astride two high-powered motor cycles come TV's crimebusters on wheels, Jon and Ponch. Supercops of the small screen, soon to be on the big screen, the mobile heroes of CHiPs (short for California Highway Patrol) are revving up the action in most TV areas this week.

Starring Erik Estrada as the dark, easy-going Officer Poncherello and blond, blue-eyed Larry Wilcox as his no-nonsense straight-talking partner, Officer Jonathan Baker, this series with its all-action formula suffered a near tragedy itself last year. Headline news was made all over the world when Estrada was nearly killed during filming the new series. The incident, however, will not be shown on your screens, despite reports earlier in the year that it would be.

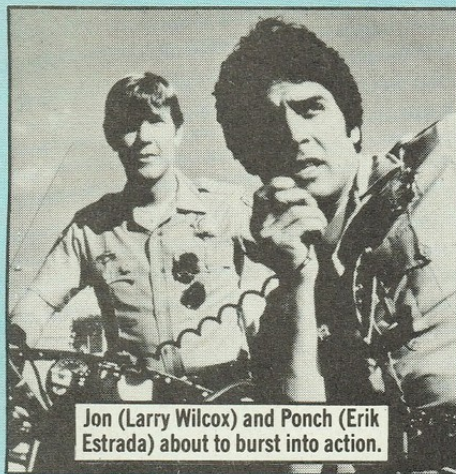

Erik had swerved his 900 lb Kawasaki motor cycle to avoid an accident. Losing control of the machine he calls "The Big Beast", he was thrown over the handlebars and the bike fell on top of him.

With fear for his life, he was rushed to hospital in Los Angeles by helicopter. It was 24 hours before doctors said his heart had not been injured as had been feared.

As he lay in hospital, finally out of danger but with a broken breastbone, four broken ribs and a broken wrist, the star from New York's Spanish Harlem, who receives thousands of fan letters every week, said: "By all rights I should have been killed. I'm just thankful I was in such good physical condition. It's because of that, and 'the man upstairs', that I'm alive today."

Erik and Larry agree that one of the secrets of their success in the enormously popular TV series is being super-fit.

For 30-year-old Estrada, it helped him make a reasonably quick recovery from the accident, even though he wasn't able to get much sleep for days because of the pain he went through.

Jon (Larry Wilcox) and Ponch (Erik Estrada) about to burst into action.

"Both my lungs were punctured and collapsed," he said, "but I fought to live every step of the way. I was determined not to go."

The real California Highway Patrol sent the actor a cake inscribed: "To ride CHiPs cycles is a piece of cake".

"A piece of cake" is Estrada's favourite expression when faced with some of the action stunts on the show, but when he and Larry took on their roles they had a lot of learning to do. Highway Patrol Officer Bob Hayde was brought in to teach them how to handle the big bikes and he was a tough teacher. "From the outset I wanted Erik and Larry to respect their machines so I deliberately put them in positions where they would learn this respect."

"Competent riding is a blend of judgment, balance and co-ordination. We concentrated on slow speed moves — that's where the skill comes in. And I must admit these guys were fast learners. At the end of five weeks I rated their competence as above average."

Another vital part of the boys' training was joining real CHiPs officers on duty. "What impressed me most," says Erik, "was their poise under pressure. Their whole day is an exercise in control."

"The fact that kids are so crazy about the CHiPs series has made me realise that we have a responsibility to them."

As a child, Erik himself had toyed with the idea of joining the police force: "A friend of our family was a cop, and I thought he was the greatest guy in the world."

As CHiPs producer Cy Chermak reminds us: "CHiPs is a stunt action series about two very handsome officers. We are not playing bullets and bad guys. It's about the boys' personal as well as working lives."

But filming on location attracts the crowds, and security officers are now hired to keep the fans from mobbing Erik and Larry all the time.

Erik, 1.78 metres (5' 10") tall and 73 kgs. (160 lb), now rivals pin-ups John Travolta and Henry 'The Fonz' Winkler with his Latin good looks; quite the opposite of Larry, 1.80 metres tall (5' 11"), and 77kgs., who with his blond country-boy innocence has his own following of fans.

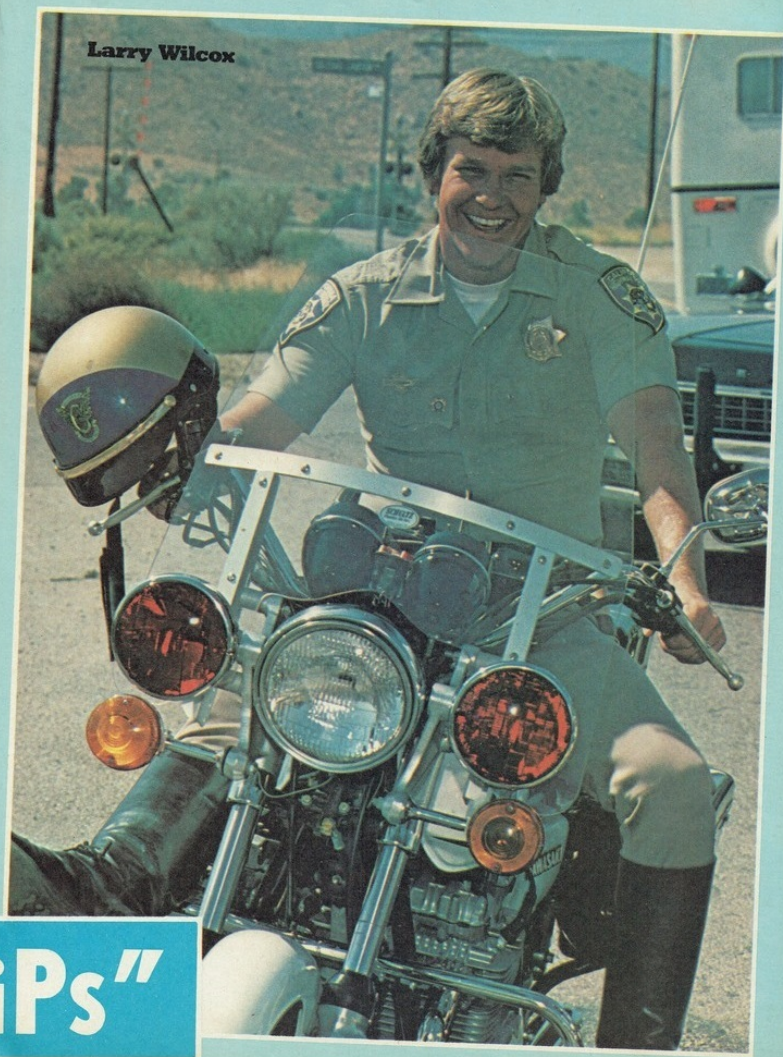

Erik grew up in one of New York's toughest areas, working as a shoeshine boy as soon as he was old enough, his mother having been left to bring up her children alone when Erik was two years old.

After high school, he shunned >>> to p.18 15

(Right) Ponch helps out a young runaway (played by Tracey Gold) in a scheme from a CHiPs episode.

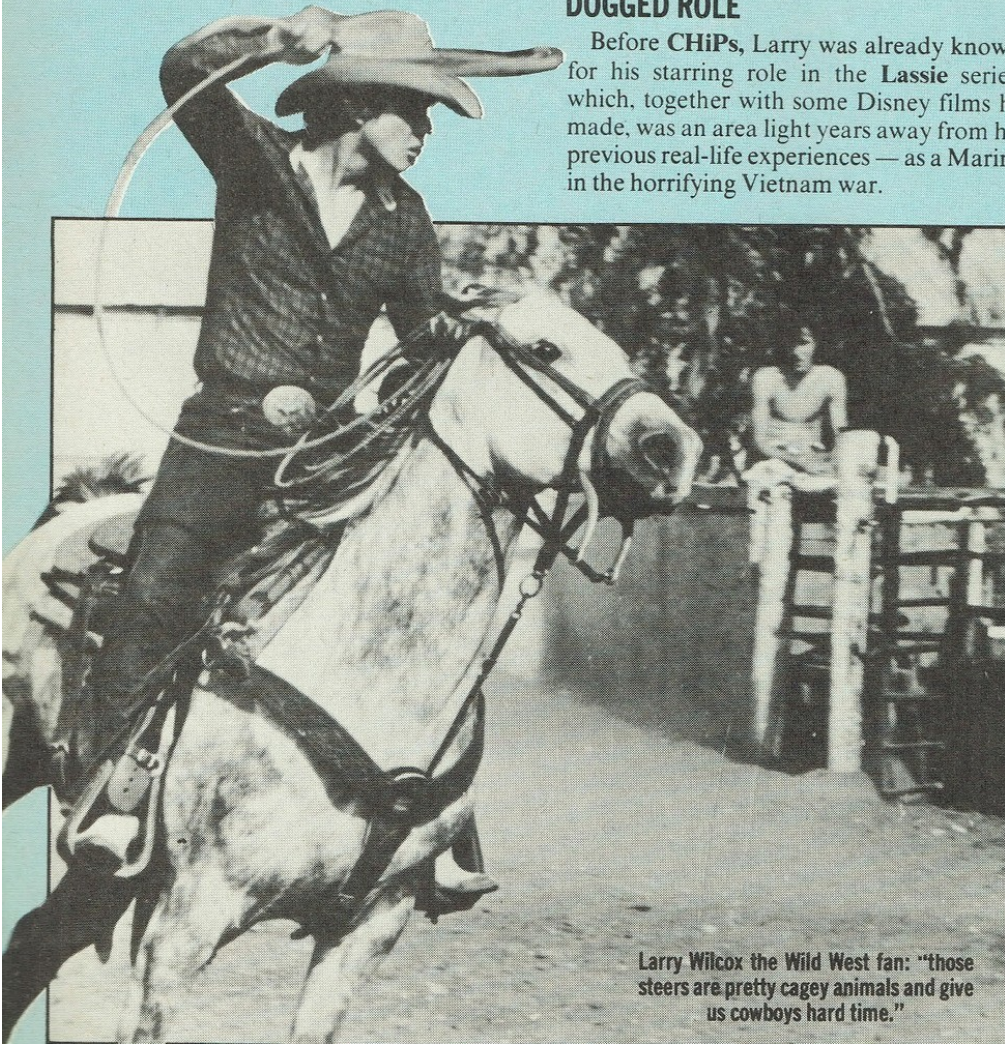

»» from p.15 the street gangs, joining an acting workshop instead. "We kids were paid 32 dollars a week to put on shows in the parks," he says. "We'd sing and dance and do all kinds of things." And he went on to beat 76 other actors for the role of Ponch!

Things change for the characters as the series continues. Ponch sells his cluttered mobile home and moves to a new apartment by the marina. Jon trades his compact car for a flashy, souped-up truck. And some of you will already have met Brianne Leary, who has joined the cast as Officer Sindy Cahill, a perky patrol officer who dreams of becoming the first female on highway patrol. "At the present time," says producer Chermak, "the real CHiPs does not have a woman motor cycle officer, but as soon as it does, Brianne will get her wheels on the programme."

DOGGED ROLE

Before CHiPs, Larry was already known for his starring role in the Lassie series, which, together with some Disney films he made, was an area light years away from his previous real-life experiences — as a Marine in the horrifying Vietnam war.

Larry Wilcox the Wild West fan: "those steers are pretty cagey animals and give us cowboys hard time."

No stranger to television since, Larry's numerous credits include MASH, The Streets of San Francisco and Police Story. In his non-acting moments he takes the role of cowboy, riding bareback in rodeos, a hobby which worries his TV bosses who are scared he will suffer injury. "But I think riding bikes is much more dangerous," says Larry in reply.

He competes for top prize money in rodeos around America. "The steer runs out with one cowboy trying to lasso his head and the other his feet. Those steers are pretty cagey animals and give us cowboys a hard time."

Versatile Erik, one-time night club bouncer, waiter and used-car salesman between drama training, had put his song and dance talents to use on several US TV specials before his accident, including one show with the Bay City Rollers: (remember them from way back in the Seventies?)

Not one to give up easily, his determination won him his first movie role in a film called The New Centurions. As an unknown, he was turned down at the auditions. But undaunted, he followed the director across the States to make him change his mind — and the man did. Parts followed in TV shows like Hawaii Five-O, Kojak, McMillan and Wife, The Six Million Dollar Man and Fantasy Island.

On screen, Jon is the tough guy with the heart of gold who is always getting Ponch out of scrapes. But Larry admits that off-screen he has had several clashes with Erik. "We both have quite a temper," he says.

Larry has even talked about quitting. Both actors refused to invite each other to their weddings. In fact, Estrada didn't even tell his screen pal when he married Joyce Miller recently; Wilcox read it in the paper! But when Erik had his accident, Larry was the first to reach him as he lay badly injured, and held his hand to comfort him.

So the heroes of the highway are back: and when they ride onto the small screen, there's always adventure at hand . . . !

SUPER COMPETITION

LOTS OF SNAPPY KODAK CAMERAS TO BE WON!

Picture this — two smashing cameras from Kodak, the 'EK160' and the Kodak 'Ektra' 250 camera. Handy, compact, and designed to help you take excellent pictures.

The 'EK160' instant camera brings all the fun and excitement of on-the-spot colour photography — with none of the fuss. Which makes it just the job for party-time. It has a fixed focus lens as well as automatic exposure control — for daylight or flash. The 'EK160' is a super family camera.

One of the very latest models, meanwhile, is the Kodak 'Ektra' 250 camera, which has its own built-in cover which turns into a steadying handle — so it's easier to get sharper, clearer pictures. Yet it's so compact you can slip it into your pocket or your bag. The Kodak 'Ektra' 250 camera takes super colour pictures outdoors, or indoors with flash.

The outfit for the camera also includes a wrist strap, 'Kodacolor' film, Super 10 flipflash and instruction booklets. Both cameras carry a 3-year warranty.

We're offering 12 sets of these smashing cameras to winners of this week's competition. Below we've printed pictures of nine celebrities who are famous today, but, in more than a few cases, weren't quite the headline-makers when the camera clicked for them on these occasions. We want you to see if you can recognise them.

YIELD, AS THEY DEMAND. THEY WILL BELIEVE US TO BE NO MORE THAN ROBOTS, AND MERE MACHINES...

MY STARS! I'D POSTED NO LOOK-OUT! WHAT WAS I THINKING OF..?

I KILLED A GUARD IN YOUR CITY. IF WE COME OUT OF THIS I CAN RESTORE HIM TO LIFE, WITH MY POWERS. I PROMISE YOU...

THE BACK-UP CAPTAIN CAN ONLY AGREE... AND THEY ARE DOCKED AGAINST THE DRACONIAN SHIP...

LIEUTENANT! CALM YOURSELF. PERHAPS THIS IS WHERE MY COMPANION AND I CAN DO SOMETHING TO REDEEM OURSELVES...

A PRETTY BATCH OF PRISONERS, INDEED! IT SEEMS WE HAVE QUITE A LOT OF BARGAINING POWER AT OUR DISPOSAL, KANE...

YES INDEED, PRINCESS. WITH LUCK, WE CAN USE THEM TO TAKE OVER NEW CHICAGO, ONCE AND FOR ALL!

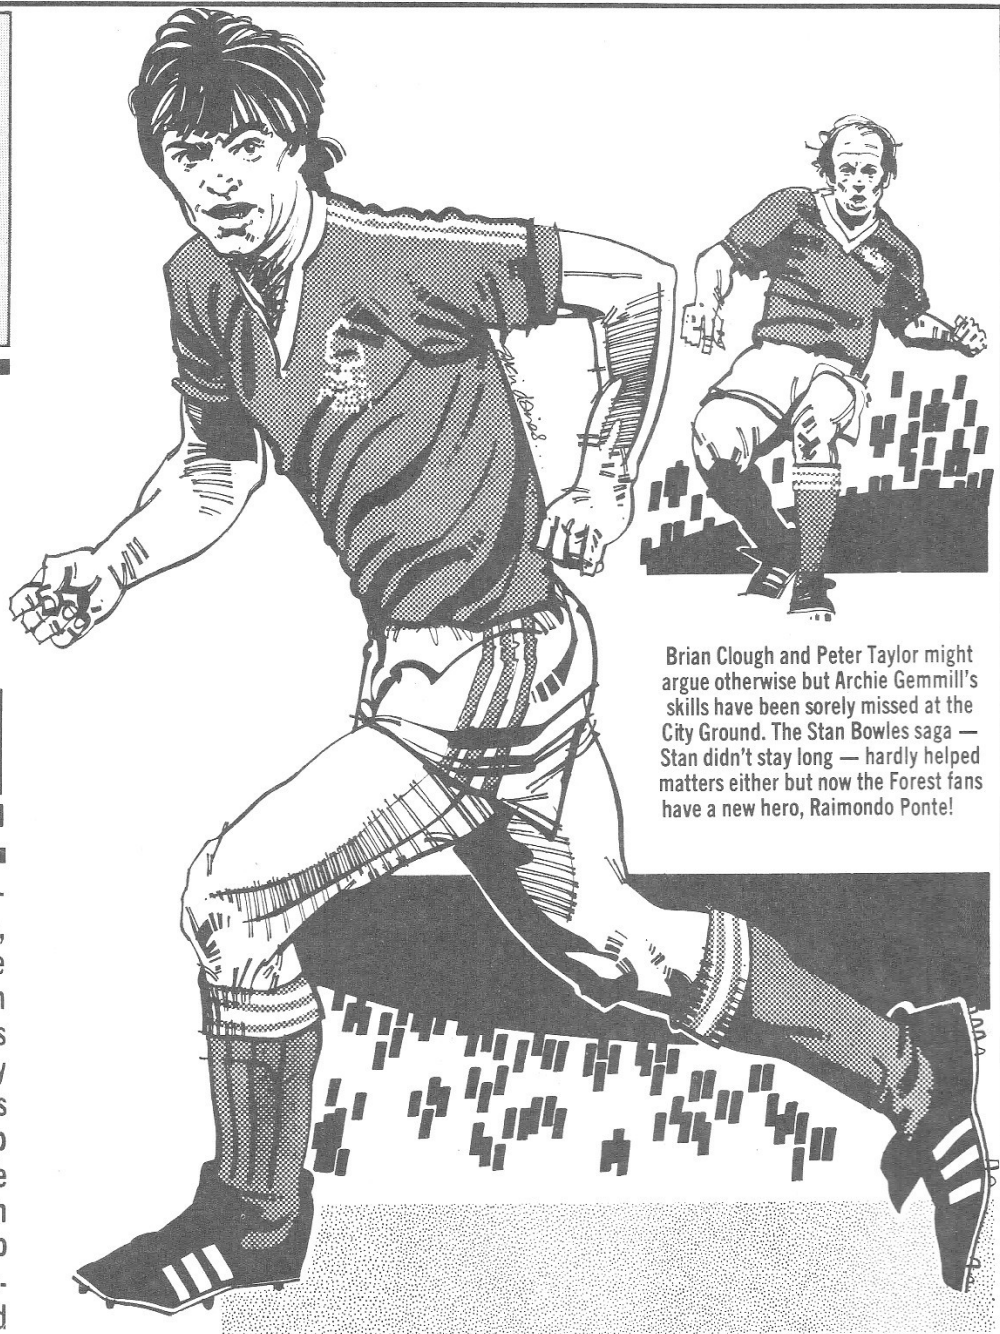

Can the Praxonians foil this dreadful plan? See next week.

England meet Switzerland at Wembley this week in a very important World Cup qualifying match. One of the Swiss team's best players is Raimondo Ponte, currently starring in the English first division with European Cup holders Nottingham Forest.

PONTE BRIDGES THE GAP!

Switzerland may be noted for its scenery, standard of living and watches, but its national football team can't be said to have hit too many high notes in recent years. Not that England boss Ron Greenwood will allow his side any cause for complacency when the Swiss visit Wembley for the World Cup qualifier this week. The league scene in Switzerland isn't too healthy, with fewer and fewer people turning out to watch the games. In fact, as in Scotland, the league tends to be dominated by about three sides; Grasshoppers, F.C. Zurich and Servette. When it comes to picking the national team, the side is built around 'blocks' of players from the major clubs in the hope that the familiarity gained playing with team-mates every week will repeat itself at international level.

One of Switzerland's most talented and best known players is one who's left his own country to seek his living abroad — in England! When Nottingham Forest despatched Grasshoppers in the quarter-finals of the 1979 European Cup the player that Brian Clough was supposed to have been particularly interested in was Claudio Sulser, a striker. In fact, the player who impressed him most over the two legs was midfielder man Raimondo Ponte. As Forest surged on to capture the European Cup for two successive seasons, Ponte began to let everyone know that, when his contract expired in Switzerland, he would like to export his talents to another country. Unknown to everyone, Clough had been quietly keeping tabs on Raimondo and swiftly stepped in last summer to bring him to Nottingham for £250,000 — a modest sum in terms of our transfer market. Raimondo's sense of urgency and skill has already done so much to bridge the gap left in Forest's midfield after the departure of players like Archie Gemmill and Stan Bowles. With Nottingham Forest now out of the European Cup, Ponte and all the lads at the club have a big job on their hands to try to get back onto the European trail.

Brian Clough and Peter Taylor might argue otherwise but Archie Gemmill's skills have been sorely missed at the City Ground. The Stan Bowles saga — Stan didn't stay long — hardly helped matters either but now the Forest fans have a new hero, Raimondo Ponte!

They are not resting on their laurels, however, as Forest are already beginning to challenge for league honours once again!

Raimondo is looking forward to pitting his skills against the cream of English soccer: here he is in a midfield confrontation with Tottenham's Glenn Hoddle.

Next week: The RAC Rally

Hip, Hip, Hooray.
Why? Because National petrol stations are bringing out not one, but THREE new Smurfs.

First there's Card Player, with a good hand up his sleeve. Then there's Telephone Smurf, talking 'til he's blue in the face. And finally there's Tailor Smurf, who has the business all stitched up.

Hurry to your National Station for them now. Altogether, they're 3 times as much fun.

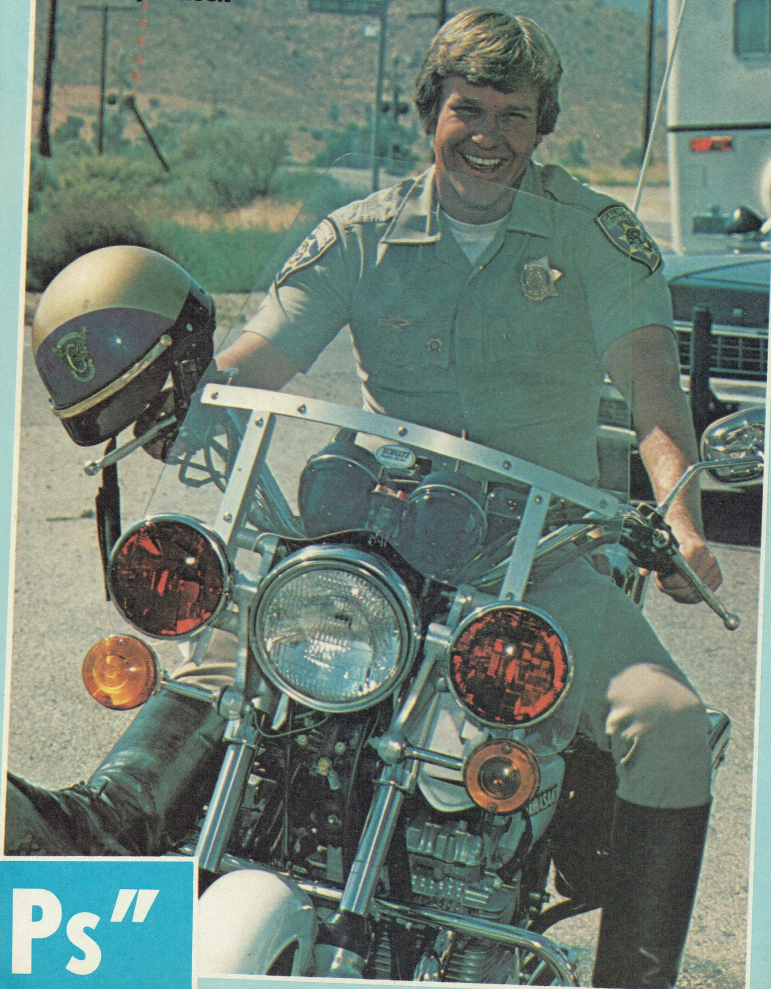

3 Cheers from National.
