BIG BUSINESS

Currently playing for a season at the Empress Ballroom and Palace Theatre, Blackpool, Ted Heath informs "Musical Express" that, with an apparent slump in the business and with spending facilities cut to almost minimum, he and his band are doing excellent business. So much so, in fact, that Heath announces that he has surpassed his success at Blackpool last year, when he broke the longheld attendance record for the

Proms: HIGH STANDARD OF PERFORMANCE

By "M. E." Critic-Malcolm Rayment

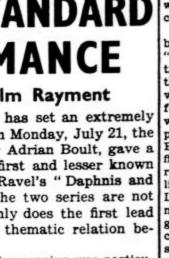

THE first week of the Proms season has set an extremely high standard of performance. On Monday, July 21, the B.B.C. Symphony Orchestra, under Sir Adrian Boult, gave a well nigh perfect performance of the first and lesser known pieces of symphonic fragments from Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe." It seems a great pity that the two series are not more often played together, for not only does the first lead directly into the second, but there is thematic relation be-

Thursday evening was particularly rich in artists. Trevor Anthony singing Verdi's recit. and aria, "Il Lacerato Spirito," while Anthony Pini played Elgar's 'Cello Concerto and Kyla Greenbaum Lizst's Second Piano Concerto. All three were outstanding. Sir Malcolm Sargent, the conductor for the evening, and the L.S.O. excelled in the first symphony of Shostakovitch.

On Friday, the first Beethoven night of the season, the B.B.C. Symphony Orchestra was conducted by Sir Adrian Boult, but, unfortunately, the performances were marred by the (in)famous Albert Hall echo," which was at its worst. The C Minor Piano Concerto, which was played by Denis Matthews in place of Phyllis Sellick, who was indisposed, suffered most in this respect.

After the interval the Symphony for Small Orchestra by the late Victor Hely-Hutchinson received its first London performance. It is a work very much in the Beethoven tradition, and easily accessible at a first hearing. In view of its qualities. it is most surprising that it has not been heard in the capital

With Musical Express Jazz Editor-Denis Preston

ISTENERS who follow Dennis Monger's advice given in "Viewpoint" this week and tune in to short-wave programmes, should make a note of September 6, on which date Toots Camarata will be appearing on Radio Rhythm Club. As ever, with a view to giving jazz fans what they want, lastminute arrangements were made with Camarata before he leaves for America on Sunday to record the programme with Radio Rhythm Club Director, Denis Preston. Their programme is in the form of a survey of the whole field of arranged jazz and promises more than one controversial issue. This programme can be heard on the 13 and 16 metre wave bands on September 6, at 1.30 p.m., or Thursday, September 11, at 10 a.m.

THE VOICE

WELCOME VISITORS

In London to-day we have two visitors from abroad. Both are Americans. Both are kindly disposed towards Britain. They have shown their affection for us in no uncertain manner. A friend in need is a friend indeed. These two visitors have gone to great trouble to help the British musical industry. I cannot see what either of them can possibly get out of it except a job of work. But when that job is prompted by such great sincerity the success of it will be its own reward. "Musical Express" readers know who these valuable friends are. They are Ralph Moffatt and Toots Camarata.

ALL IS NOT LOST

Some would have us believe that all is lost. One daily newspaper's irresponsible correspondent recently told its readers, while discussing Moffatt's boosting of British talent over A.F.N. Munich, that the Americans don't do anything for us for nothing. This, I consider, is a gross insult to one of the sincerest friends the show business in this country has ever had. Do not forget that Moffatt's programme is primarily an American programme. Did he give us Kenton, Goodman, Ellington and Joe Mooney ad nauseam? These are his countrymen. One might reasonably have expected him to reserve his air time almost exclusively for his compatriots. But no, Moffatt interested himself of his own volition in our British bands and artistes. Heath was broadcast in the Munich transmissions. Then others worthy of note began to occupy Ralph's air time. When this newspaper heralded Tito Burns as the British successor to the American Joe Mooney what happened? Ratch Moffatt announced on the air that he read in "Musical Express" all about this new up-and-coming British "Mooney" and that he would like to have a disc of his to broadcast.

TRUE FRIENDS

Is this man our friend? The entire profession, to say nothing of hundreds upon hundreds of his radio fans in England, are congregating everywhere he goes to acclaim him. When Ralph Moffatt returns to his interesting programme in Munich after his brief holiday in England he will know, in no uncertain manner, how grateful we are and how welcome he is. Pictures appearing elsewhere in this issue bear testimony to his colossal popularity. The same thing applies to Toots Camarata. He seems to have a reputation of the Svengali about him. There is not a band in the country which would not give up all else just for the privilege of having Toots hear them, and, if nothing else, advise them. He is being consulted by band and recording company alike rather in the manner we consult a famous barrister. The greatest importance is placed on his opinion.

THE BRITISH WAY

Unfortunately we in Britain are not very demonstrative. Were this situation reversed and were this the United States of America, Archer-street, Denmark-street and the entire length of Charing Cross Road would be hung with banners saying "Welcome Moffatt and Camarata." There would have been a procession with massed dance bands of famous names. But I think these two tried and trusted friends of Britain know full well, deep down in their hearts, just how highly esteemed they are, and, in spite of our undemonstrative temperament, just how affectionately we regard them.

Old friends met at Butlin's Skegness Camp when George Elrick renewed aquaintance with Allan Green and joined him on a social cycle.
