HYPOCRISY

Cass Elliott, fat, fantastic and famished.

"Hi," she said, sweeping me into a delightful lounge, which the French maid was doing her best to tidy, despite unusable advice from Cass. "I was hoping you were the man from the store. I ordered some food and wine hours ago and it still hasn’t arrived."

Cass, dressed in a patchwork dressing gown, and showing a pink Nightmare-under-the-bed wardrobe, had made herself comfortable by stretching the whole of her appendages on the couch—and believe me,
Cass still has a lot of dupples.

Time to myself

"Isn’t it great," she said, breaking into a smile.
"I’ve been here for four days and hardly anyone knew it. I prefer it that way because I’m here to work, and I need to have some time to spend to get ready for the show."

"You should get up and live in this house," and Warren Beatty, and Andre Previn, and Mia Farrow. It seems to be a popular little place.”

Strange girl in Cass. The last time we met, it was during one of the coldest spells of last winter. While most of us were snug, Cass had been up at the cottage of Hyde Park. Last week, London was backing in a surprise Indian summer. Cass had ordered an immense girl of wood and coal for the fire, which was blazing away when I arrived.

She said the pestilential cult was vanishing from music in a moment.

"I like to be warm all the time," she explained.
"But that’s not the only reason for the fire. I just love looking at it, watching the flames dancing and seeing faces in them. I find it great to meditate by, I was thinking of them all yesterday."

It was coming out of my ears and starting into the fire.

"It’s funny. If I have to get up about seventy thirty to feed my daughter who’s two and a half now, you think that when she wouldn’t come, I’ll have a lie in, wouldn’t you?"

"But me, as soon as I wake up, I have to get up.
Anyway, there’s no such thing, even though I’m looking up this trip as something of a holiday."

"I didn’t get the right atmosphere at the Royal Albert Hall, then I was hoping on going to Paris for a few days, then I was hard in London on Tuesday to start rehearsals for the Tom Jones show, and I hope to find time to look at some property."

Yes, Cass really is going to buy a house in England.
Cass came out with a shock in and David Cronenberg.
"Cass," he said. "The group were in the studios, doing work on their first album. When David got a message that they had some money, he decided to buy it."

Cass came in just to make sure that nothing dropped, everything. And David and Robin came in to show me the faces from their album but I knew it’s going to take him a long while to get over it, and the terrible thing is that it’s not the first time it has happened to him.

She passed for a few moments and thought of her close friends, who had to say goodbye to the record that she got the best from the charts.
"It’s Getting Better."

"It was in the charts for eighteen weeks in the States, and sold half a million. And it sold out on the floor."

"I can’t believe it. I’m so excited because I’ve been very quiet for the past year, and suddenly I’ve got a big hit in America and Brit­ thica."
STONES SET OUT ON A 2-MILLION DOLLAR TOUR

NME sees them off at London Airport

A $2 million tour is set to kick off in Los Angeles on November 8th at the Forum Theatre. This is the first time the group has visited the States in three years. But British fans won’t be neglected during the Stones’ month-long absence as they have just released their group’s new album: 'Let It Bleed,' next month.

After the tour, during which the entire group will live wherever possible in a rented Los Angeles house, it is hoped that a British and European tour will begin, though no dates have been fixed so far.

over again from scratch," she said.

"The problem was finding the right words..."

That was not the case for the Stones’ new album: 'Let It Bleed.' After a month in the studio, they have put together a record that is, for the most part, a success. "It’s not perfect," said lead singer Mick Jagger. "But it’s not bad.

The seven-piece Jamaican band is completely unknown here, but in its native land has had a number of hits, including a version of Stevie Wonder’s "A Place In The Sun." The leader of the band is Lee Perry, who used to be a solo singer called "King" Perry, and he also produces the outfit’s discs.

COLIN PETERSEN ANSWERS BEE GEE BARRY

I would like to know the Press people that you would have to say that to," replies Colin. "I never said that at all. Nothing ever came into my head."

I got to the stage where I am successful and earning a certain amount of money and then I thought, ‘If I have more money, I can do things that are better.”

"I really can’t see that about me being daring," replies Colin. "I have been called ‘daring’ before, but I don’t want to get into a buheen battle with Barry."

Apples 1001 OUT NOW
DIANA Splits Next Year

REMEMBER those Four Tops heydays when "Reach Out I'll Be There" scooted to No.1 and many of us sang and swung to their music at that fantastic concert they gave at the Royal Albert Hall?

The Tops are known to be keen to repeat that money-lover after their last tremendous reception here, (I'm partly joking) and they'd obviously more than welcome an opportunity to tour with something of a heavier package than in the States.

In the States, however, the group have been playing to a great position where they've accepted as stage actions and that's their thing. This is why a great deal of the ballroom about the group has now died down until their next package is ready.

The Tops are still working, and away from the Detroit labour exchange - how bad? In fact, in California only a short while ago they held an audience of thousands inside a selection of their big hits plus some sharp, sophisticated stuff like "I Can't Help Myself," and "This Guy's In Love With You.

The group's world-wide enthusiasm also comes through in a story I heard about them the other day, or overheard telephone conversation.

One of their Top studio sessions is planned in the normal way, (this is odd). As the group are recording in a studio of great repute, and "Maybe I'm in love in the early morning, and I'm feeling kind of restless, and then there's one song in particular that I call up one of the others who's up - and then he rings the rest and we go over to the known studios at say 6 a.m. and really get going. When we finish it's maybe 11 a.m., and somewhere else is in another studio and we go in and help 'em out with the backing!"

"The group, I think generally ways interested to know that the company is still intent on expanding itself in as many ways as possible, both in other forms of work, and in film work. There's definitely better or for worse is a most point, but Big Four Berry dolly air, it's not confident that the public will benefit.

There's an important plaintive tune to his voice, and it's well suited to the material. The melody has a simplicity and an emotional directness with sensitivity and compassion thatfillna to come to life. There's a rather vivid sense about the commercial properties of the song, and here I feel that it really does capture a very catalyst charge, with all the other elements going.

FAME TO SING MOVIE THEME

BESIDES writing the musical score for the film “Entertaining Mr. Sloane,” which opens in London this week, John Barry has also composed a theme song in the movie. His recording of the theme number will be issued as a single in concert with the release. The single will be supported by a national radio and television campaign.

Swinging London’s “Love Affair” is using the Barry theme as a promo stunt for the film.

NOW DRURY LANE THE POP CON

CHRISTINE Perfect, P.J. Proby, his first artists to be signed for a 4-week stand at Drury Lane’s ‘The Pop Con’ show, have been promised to be of the biggest soul package ever to come out of America, both in their share of the opening act and in the support they will give to their own 11-piece orchestra while Joe Tex is supported by his own band.

LOUIS BENJAMIN – THE NEW BOSS OF THE PALLADIUM

LOUIS BENJAMIN has been appointed by Sir Richard Chartres to succeed Sir Arnold L. Sassoon as Chief Executive of the Palladium. The appointment is effective January 1.

Now that the Palladium has revived its annual Christmas Gala on Saturday, December 19, members of the audience over 70 were able to enjoy a selection of well-known hits from the days when the Palladium was the most celebrated of London’s leading provincial theatres.

IT’S EVEN BETTER
CONCLUDING THE lengthy Ask-in with Blind Faith, started in last week's issue, and continued in Vancouver, Canada, for NME by Martin Webb, Eric Clapton and Steve Winwood tell of their future plans and present feelings about being in a group together, among other things.

Martin asked the questions below, answered by Eric (EC) and Steve (SW).

QUESTION: You seem to be very enthusiastic about this group which is rather what I'd like to be instead of a journalist. Do you think that as a result be it in front and what ever else but we're not just back the line we all play our

EC: Oh no, I haven't heard anything like that. We've got to do all the different things and do them all. We're all very excited about it and we're all looking forward to it.

QUESTION: What will you be doing on this tour?

EC: Well, we've got a lot of things planned and we're going to take it easy and do the things we like doing. We're going to have a lot of fun and I hope people will enjoy it.

SW: I'm looking forward to being on stage again and I hope people will enjoy it.

EC: What is your album going to be like? Is it a concept album? Is it a rock album? Is it a folk album?

SW: No, but I don't really want to talk about it. I don't want to give anything away. I'm just going to play the music and let the people enjoy it.

QUESTION: Is it something you'd like to have done in the band's history or is it something new?

SW: No, not all the time. I'm looking for something different.

QUESTION: Was it a hassle getting a new band together because of record contracts?

SW: Actually it wasn't really. It just took some time to get it all together. I dreamt of doing an album where we all played together and I think it's going to be great. We're all very excited about it.

EC: Would you like to do another super group album or do you think that we should stick to what we're doing now?

SW: I don't think so. I think we should do something different. I think we should do something new. I think we should do something that's different in some way.

EC: I don't think so. I think we should do something different. I think we should do something that's different in some way.

SW: No, but I don't really want to talk about it. I don't want to give anything away. I'm just going to play the music and let the people enjoy it.

QUESTION: Did you get a chance to see each other before you left on tour?

SW: Yes, we did. We all met up and talked about the album and the tour and we all got along great.

EC: Did you get a chance to see each other before you left on tour?

SW: Yes, we did. We all met up and talked about the album and the tour and we all got along great.

QUESTION: Are you putting out an album at the same time as this group?

EC: No, I don't think so. I think we're putting out an album at the same time as this group.

SW: Actually it wasn't really. It just took some time to get it all together. I dreamt of doing an album where we all played together and I think it's going to be great. We're all very excited about it.

SW: I don't think so. I think we should do something different. I think we should do something new. I think we should do something that's different in some way.

QUESTION: Do you think the audience will enjoy this new band?

EC: I hope so. I hope people will enjoy it.

SW: I hope so. I hope people will enjoy it.

QUESTION: Who is going to be organizing this band?

EC: I'm not sure yet. I think we're going to do something different. I think we should do something new. I think we should do something that's different in some way.

SW: I'm not sure yet. I think we're going to do something different. I think we should do something new. I think we should do something that's different in some way.

QUESTION: Why did you ask Blind Faith to be involved in the tour?

EC: I asked them because I think they're great musicians and they're great people. I think they're going to be great on stage.

SW: I asked them because I think they're great musicians and they're great people. I think they're going to be great on stage.

QUESTION: Any other questions?

EC: No, I think we're done.

SW: Yes, I think we're done.
ARE YOU GETTING KRISHNA'S MESSAGE?

MUCH as I try, and do, it's a hard slog trying to understand the Krishna thing. I get the bit about singing "Hare Krishna, Hare Krishna, Krishna Krishna, Hare Hare, Hare Rama, Rama Rama, Hare Hare" over and over again, but it's all the head shaving and the jumping about and the unexplained glorification of India that throws me.

I'd like them to know, over there at the Temple in the London Borough of Camden, that this isn't a put-down. The inability to comprehend them may well be mine.

It's just that I've a feeling that most of them you out there buying the Krishna London Post are just as mystified by them as I am. The only thing they really get from the message, I'm afraid, is a few more hairs on their head, and a little more clarification.

Certainly, if a membership figure of 150,000 in a country of 50 million is not good enough to broaden the circle of Krishna worshippers, there isn't much hope for full justice of their effulgence, they've hardlyScrubs them Apple single entered the charts.

In the early days the Temple membership was given, as it Today the figure is 'twenty.'

Mostly the group seems to consist of young people, although there are some English - and for a while many of them have been based at John Lennon's elegant home near here.

This is the reason why some

The spiritual leader, A. C. Bhaktivedanta Swami, is revered amongst the devotees of the Temple, and his lectures are always well attended.

Londoners may have missed the Krishna from the streets of later at one time it was a familiar sight to see them making their music and singing their songs. Now the sounds of "Hare Krishna" echoed over the televion.

One member is a Jewish-American from Detroit, Yogananda Mahapatra. He and his wife left America to be in this business in New York before they gave everything up and joined.

Known as the Hare-Krishnas, to his friends throughout the world he is a kind and benevolent person who is always concerned about raising money to support their projects. They haven't been stopping for half a year, and they're still shaving hair.

When they arrived in New York they were at first treated as a bizzare movement, but when they found a temple in the city, the public began to accept them.

The Temple is in the heart of the East Village, and it is the first of its kind in America. It is a place of spiritual and musical beauty, where people can come together to sing and dance in celebration of Krishna.

I believe we should not all follow Krishna. We may even install a picture of Chaitanya in our Temple. We believe he was the Son of God. In fact, I am from a Jewish family but it was only after following Krishna that I began to see the essence of other religions.

Hare Krishna is just one name for the one true God, and this is why we do not argue one religion against the other. What kind of world do we have when people could use religion to fight about this?

ANAL SMITH on the Transatlantic phone to NICE guy Nilsson remains — as ever — a nice guy.
And in a pop world which occasionally tends to suffer a little too much from "stars" believing their own publicity, it was also nice speaking to this well-respected and friendly singer/songwriter who has got up with him for a London-California phone talk a couple of days ago.

Henry was there again, he is watching the band come on TV in Los Angeles home from the 60 degree and the sunshine outside, but it turned down and now he is "Everybody's Fake" would never be a chart single.

"I'll bet it is a chart single to me even before we put it out. I had no faith in it. Actually I didn't know... I didn't know about those things, don't know about that life, I didn't know nothing about it, I didn't have any experience with them personally. And that is the reason why it has been a hit for fourteen years since the record was first released. It's a record that I try to judge what kind of number of record it takes to become a hit. It is an original. I'm a singer who can write it, I can play it, I can do it, but I will not go away."

"It makes a tremendous effect on me even when I hear the sound of it. I record a lot of stuff, and I have a lot of stuff in my head, but I always have a lot of stuff in my head. And that is the reason why it has been a hit for fourteen years since the record was first released.

It's a record that I try to judge what kind of number of record it takes to become a hit. I can play it, I can do it, but I will not go away."

NILSSON-THE COMPLETE OPPOSITE OF A POP STAR

"By the end of my time in the bank, I was really making money. I had to satisfy my needs.

But when like a songwriter, he still has his hits, and this is a particular task until it's completely finished, and the time he would finish his previous job at the same time."

Hollywood and go on writing until around 1980. Almost universally requested in the business by most people from the Beatles downwards, Harry is nevertheless a composer and writer and not particularly interested in publishing musicals, especially when his songs are used in films.

"I find any different between a lyric or a poem. It's a TV thing or I don't take it. If it was hard to fit it in, because I'm in the middle of doing a couple of albums — but I think the TV is going to do it.

The last time I was in Britain, I guess I got the reaction to me was just... very cordial. It was very pretty, but I don't think it's going to do it."

Nilsson's career today has taken him some distance from his sometimes in a computer keyboard.

"I think I'm generally for so less than seven years before, my music began to take over.

Bank employee.

"I don't have to be a star."

The day he said, "I don't have to be a star."

Unknown Briton wins 208 Contest

A QUIET and almost painfully unnoted debut on British singles charts today for a British group called J. A. Freedman. After a long and patient wait the group, who have been working on their new album for over 18 months, were finally given a chance to show what they could do. The group is composed of J. A. Freedman, lead vocalist, and several other musicians who are all members of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

The group's debut single, "When You Walked Out Of My Life" has been in the making for over six months, and the group has been working hard to perfect their sound. The single, released on the Grand Duchy label, has been doing well in the charts, and the group is hoping for even more success with their upcoming album.

The single was recorded in the Grand Duchy's own recording studio, and the group worked very hard to create a sound that was both unique and appealing. The group's members are all experienced musicians, and they have been working together for years to develop their sound.

The single has been well received by critics and fans alike, and the group is hoping for even more success with their upcoming album. They are currently working on their second single, which is due for release in the near future. The group is very excited about the future and is looking forward to sharing their music with as many people as possible.

J. A. Freedman, whose album "When You Walked Out Of My Life" is currently number one in Luxembourg, has been working on his new album for over 18 months. The album has been recorded in Luxembourg and the group is hoping for it to be released soon.
