CASH FOR CONTRACTS, SAYS RENTON

TIN RENTON, the broadcasting Minister, has informed the Labour Arts spokesman MARK FISHER, the three national commercial radio licences will be offered for cash and not in return for a share on profits or turnover. RENTON said that the cash might possibly be payable in a number of instalments.

WORLD SERVICE NEWS PLAN

Pilot programmes, under the working title NEWS HOUR, have been produced at Bush House in preparation for an hour-long programme which could be running from the Autumn.

Sources indicate the programme, which would be the longest news sequence on WORLD SERVICE, will start with a regular news bulletin and incorporate headlines on the half hour and a review of the British Press, Sports news, financial bulletin and News About Britain.
AWARDS

BARBARA MYERS and STEPHEN HODGES of the BBC WORLD SERVICE Science Unit have been awarded, jointly, a Gold Certificate by the Medical Journalists Association. They won the award for AIDS CRISIS and WOMEN & THE AIDS CRISIS which ran with worldwide call-in programmes on the WORLD SERVICE.

MERCIA APPEAL

Commercial radio station MERCIA SOUND, in conjunction with a local newspaper, has raised £142,000 in its Christmas SNOWBALL appeal for chronically sick children and the handicapped.

OPENINGS EXTRA

BBC RADIO NORTHAMPTON has a vacancy for a NEWS PRODUCER, who is an all-rounder who can prepare and read bulletins, report and interview, write crisp scripts and be able to brief reporters and producer colleagues. Salary £10,881 - £15,388 plus £1,066 annual allowance. More details from PENNY YOUNG on (0604) 20621..........

SEVERN SOUND is looking for a JOURNALIST. Must have flair, imagination, originality and a good broadcasting voice. CV and cassette should be sent to: GEOFF BARRATT, Head of News, SEVERN SOUND, Southgate Street, Gloucester, GL1 2DQ..........

More OPENINGS on page 21.

OFFSHORE UPDATE

There should be a fair amount to report from the offshore radio scene in next week's NOW RADIO. Until then, and in addition to news stories and features in this issue, here is a round-up of some developments:

In the United States of America, work goes on to prepare the radio ship SARAH for its return to the air as RADIO NEW YORK INTERNATIONAL. Considerable media interest in the project, which was stalled by Coastguard and FCC action last year, means advertising has been booked for the stations return to the air.

In England, the former LASER radio ship continues to be berthed on private land at Mystley whilst its future is finalised. Aboard the vessel are MIKE BARRINGTON and DENIS JASON.

Coverage of the troubles on the West Bank and Gaza Strip have resulted in a decline of applications for positions with Israel-based VOICE OF PEACE. Station Manager REUVEN LEVY stressed in a conversation with NOW RADIO this week that the troubles are restricted to the occupied territories and do not extend anywhere near the operations of the VOP. 2 Presenters are required by the station urgently.

CAPITAL DROPPING CFM SERVICE

STATIONS LOOK TO AM FOR NEW SPLIT-FREQUENCY SERVICES

CAPITAL RADIO will eventually drop its ABC1 targeted 'yuppie' service on the VHF band, CFM, and replace it with a new service on AM. CAPITAL will then introduce a new format, as permitted by the Home Office's split-frequency arrangements, on FM.

The decision comes as a result of experience gained from running the CFM service, and recent research which has shocked many in the industry, as to the extent to which FM listening has increased in recent years in the United Kingdom.

Whereas in the USA FM listening now accounts for 70% of all listening, in Britain figures produced include (FM listeners) 60/65% for INVICTA RADIO, RADIO TRENT (78%), and RADIO FORTH (74%).

Many other stations are reversing their plans to launch new minority/specialist services on FM and looking at what they might offer to AM listeners, whilst maintaining their existing, or mass-appeal, programming on their FM frequencies.

BEACON RADIO is planning a new AM service aimed at the over 50's age group and with an offering of Easy Listening music, sports and news.

LEICESTER SOUND wants to expand its Asian programming on AM in Leicester, whilst its sister station RADIO TRENT in Nottingham and Derby is looking at more Afro-Caribbean programmes.

Until very recently, figures produced by the BBC, had claimed that AM was twice (at least) as popular as FM with United Kingdom audiences.

POUL LINGO MEET

Senior BBC Radio executives are to meet at a Seminar on swearing. The Seminar, to decide what is, and what is not, acceptable will be held during May.

Sources within Broadcasting House indicate there may have been some disagreement between executives and producers of daytime drama on what already be acceptable. These allegations have been denied, officially.

THREATS MADE ON PIRATE STAFF

HITS-FM claims their staff have been threatened by members of another station, CLASSICS RADIO, who use the same frequency - 105.5MHz FM.

COMMUNITY RADIO GRANTS WITHDRAWN

Five London-based community radio groups have had their funding from the London Borough Grants authority withdrawn.

They are LOCAL RADIO WORKSHOP, WOMEN'S AIRWAVES, TV SOUND, LONDON ASIAN RADIO and the AFRO-CARIBBEAN RADIO PROJECT.

Although the grants have been withdrawn there is an appeal procedure which several of the groups are likely to launch into.

558 PD RETURNS

Following speculation that he may quit, CAROLINE 558 Programme Director PETER PHILIPS returned to the station last weekend. In the first crew change for 5 weeks PAUL GRAHAM, MIKE DIXON, and JAMES DAY also returned to the ship. CHRIS KENNEDY remained afloat for a further short stint.
DTI RESPOND TO PIRATE RADIO ALLEGATIONS

The DTI (DEPARTMENT OF TRADE & INDUSTRY) has responded to a series of allegations made by operators of unlicensed (pirate) radio stations that officials of the RADIO INVESTIGATION SERVICE and Police officers have in recent weeks been using unnecessary actions to gain access to their stations.

A DTI official told NOW RADIO that under existing laws such as the Telecommunications Act the DTI have the right to use reasonable force to gain access to premises where unlicensed broadcasting is thought to be taking place. If access is impossible for reasons such as doors being sealed, or there is refusal from those within the building to allow the officers entry, they have the right to break in.

The DTI also told NOW RADIO that if damage was caused by its officers a report should be made and the Department would ensure payment was made.

So far as the allegations from pirates that equipment is sometimes taken away by the DTI/RIS was met by the reply that the law allows the officers to take away items which might be used in any Court proceedings as evidence.

Records can be taken away for this purpose, but because of a High Court ruling, they have to be returned by the DTI to their rightful owners following any Court appearance.

"If any individual has a complaint against the DTI/RIS they should immediately seek legal advice and take whatever legal action is recommended. That is, after all, what the Court's are for," said the spokesman. Pirate stations in London and Liverpool had spoken to NOW RADIO and described some actions of DTI/RIS officers as "pure vandalism".

ROCK TO ROCK Radio claimed 3 police officers smashed transmitter equipment whilst a raid was taking place. Another station claimed sledge hammers were used to gain entry into their building. They also claimed that equipment not connected with illegal broadcasting had been seized.

CAPITAL MERGER

London's CAPITAL RADIO is merging its press promotions and PR department. The new head of that department will be ANITA HAMILTON who is currently promotions manager.

LBC PROMOTION

JOHN BILLING has been appointed Sales Director of LBC RADIO. Previously he had been general sales manager at national airtime sales house INDEPENDENT RADIO SALES. He replaces DOUG BOWN.

LOW-RATING FM'er SOLD

The BELL Group has sold bottom-of-the-ratings Perth FM station 61X to AUSTERE of Adelaide for A$8.5 million. It brings AUSTERE's number of FM stations to three.
AIRC WELCOMES INVESTIGATION OF PPL

The ASSOCIATION OF INDEPENDENT RADIO CONTRACTORS has welcomed the reference by the Government to the MONOPOLIES & Mergers COMMISSION of the operations of PHONOGRAPHIC PERFORMANCE LTD.

For 10 years AIRC has been campaigning against the terms and conditions operated by PPL under which ILR broadcasts commercial recorded music off disc.

Following its reference of the PPL licence scheme to the PERFORMING RIGHT TRIBUNAL in 1978, AIRC conducted eight years of litigation at a cost in excess of half a million pounds. More recently AIRC has been lobbying the Government for amendments to the Copyright, Designs and Patents Bill, currently going through Parliament, which would remove 'needletime' restrictions and open up alternative sources of recorded music for broadcasting in the United Kingdom.

Mr. JIMMY GORDON, Managing Director of RADIO CLYDE, and Chairman of AIRC's Copyright Committee said: "We very much welcome this reference. It has long been our contention that PPL has abused its monopoly position by charging rates to Independent Radio which are far in excess of those charged abroad and higher even than those charged to the BBC."

"We will give the Commission every assistance we can with its inquiry."

AWARD FOR MRS JAMES

TFM's Commercial Production Department have won a national award for a spot for the Cleveland Road Safety Committee. The commercial - entitled MRS JAMES - told the story of a mother answering the door to a policeman bearing the news that her son had been injured in an accident, and was part of a haunting campaign launched by the Committee to raise awareness of cycle safety.

Commercial Production Manager MARK GREGORY and Producer GRAHAM ELLIOTT went to London to receive their award from the Minister of Roads and Traffic, PETER BOTTOMLEY, at a ceremony organised by the County Road Safety Officers' Association.

PENNINE PROCESSED

Bradford's commercial station PENNINE RADIO is using a CRL processor on its FM signal.

IRISH STATION LAUNCHES IN LONDON

A traditional Irish and Country music-based unlicensed station has taken to the air in London.

LONDON-IRISH COMMUNITY RADIO is broadcasting on FM.

MCKENNA EXITS

Breakfast presenter PAUL MCKENNA hosted his final show for CHILTERN on Good Friday with Programme Controller PHIL FOTHERGILL co-hosting the programme.

MCKENNA, who joined CHILTERN via CAROLINE & SOVEREIGN is now at CAPITAL in London on Sundays.
NOW RADIO BOAT TRIP

Saturday May 14th is the date set for NOW RADIO to take readers on a special sea trip to see the ROSS REVENGE, home of RADIO CAROLINE which is this week celebrating 24 years of broadcasting from the high seas to listeners in the United Kingdom and Europe. The NOW RADIO ship will leave STROOD pier in Kent at approx 0800 on Saturday May 14th on what promises to be an exciting and worthwhile journey to see Britain's first and sole-surviving offshore radio station. Various former CAROLINE air personalities will be joining the trippers. Tickets are £25 each. You are advised to book immediately to avoid disappointment. There are frequent trains from London Charing Cross to Strood Station which is directly opposite the pier. Details of hotel and Bed & Breakfast accommodation will be provided if requested when booking.

NEW MD AT ESSEX

REDUNDANCIES COMING AT INVICTA

NIGEL REEVE, now in the hot seat as Managing Director, following the departure of MICHAEL BUKHT (NOW RADIO 50) is to make two full-time and five freelance staffers redundant as part of a series of measures aimed at cost cutting. The decision comes at the same time as the number of bidders for INVICTA RADIO increases. Joining former RED ROSE managing director DAVID MAKER (see NOW RADIO 50) in the bidding for the Kent commercial station are SOUTHERN SOUND of Brighton (who are also bidding for the new Eastbourne/Hastings ILR franchise from the IBA), GVR RADIO GROUP and OCEAN SOUND of Hampshire. Another in the bidding is RADIO MERCURY of Crawley, who again are applying to run the new Eastbourne/Hastings ILR franchise.

FLEXIBLE ARRANGEMENTS FOR NEWSLINK PACKAGES

INDEPENDENT RADIO SALES is planning, subject to IBA approval, to introduce a new series of spot availabilities within the networked NEWSLINK breaks during prime time news bulletins on the ILR system. Until now only ABBEY NATIONAL has signed up for a 13-week (£350,000) contract. Other potential clients have called for shorter campaigns and different duration spots. As a result 60-second, 40-second and 20-second spots will become available for 8 week, four week or on week contracts. Until now IES has only been offering 30-second spots for 13 weeks.
GETTING ON THE AIR

The fifth in a series of ongoing articles looking at issues involved in preparing for applications for licences for local commercial and community radio services under the new Music Authority.

---

We'll be coming back to the area of raising finance shortly, after our little mention of it last week! This week it's time to talk about the important matter of staffing.

It is also one of the controversial areas. There is no golden rule as you could produce very much the same results using 12 or 24 staff.

The number of staff depends more on the style or format of your programming, than on any budget level you may think of projecting. One important factor should be to start with a lower number, and if finance allows, increase later. You don't want to have to be faced with making anyone redundant - and all that entails - in your early and delicate stages. You certainly don't want to find yourself facing union problems.

Ideally you should be looking for the professional who is very much an all-rounder. A person with a rate card in one back pocket and a screwdriver or razor blade in the other, with another jacket pocket holding the latest releases and scripts in his hand. A person who can go on the air and produce and present a programme, compile and read news copy, script and produce commercials, sell airtime and fix equipment when it fails. Does such a person exist?

Sure does in the USA, Canada, Australia and New Zealand to name but a few commercial radio markets. But, not to any degree, here in the United Kingdom. And when such a person does surface, you can bet they'll be paid premium salaries and nice fat bonus agreements will be made to everyone's satisfaction!

Ideally you want to have people, though, who can do more than the one job. Out must go superstar deejays who will only present programmes. Get them out selling airtime. Pay them a commission. Or have presenters who are capable and professional in the newsroom. They can research, write and edit the bulletins, even if you don't have them reading the stuff on the air.

Why not have one of your presenters responsible for commercial and PSA production? He could also tidy up scripts, write them and do the traffic list?

Another presenter could act as Music Producer and look after that side of your operation whilst another is put in charge of Public Relations and Publicity.

Do you begin to see, with a little thought, you can keep staff levels (and wages bills) down whilst keep productivity high?

You've just got to make sure one of those presenters can't also be doing your job! Or make sure you are capable of doing six......!

BMS 'SAFE' AFTER CAPITAL TAKEOVER

BMS, the national airline sales house, was not purchased by CAPITAL RADIO plc as a part of its purchase of the PAUL RAMSAY BROADCASTING GROUP's UK radio interests. (See NOW RADIO 50).

The 45% stake which the Australian group had in BMS is now being offered to its existing shareholders which include RADIO CITY (Liverpool), YORKSHIRE RADIO NETWORK (Radio Hallam, Pennine Radio and Viking Radio), METRO RADIO (including TFM) and Leeds' RADIO AIRE - which is owned by RED ROSE RADIO. TERRY BATE, Chief Executive of BMS, and who currently holds a 32% stake in BMS, may also increase his personal holding.

CAPITAL's purchase of PAUL RAMSAY shares in commercial radio provides it with varying degrees of interest in a total of 18 independent local radio franchises. It paid £2.3 million for the shares.

SURVEY RESULTS FOR NORTHANTS STATION

WLR, Wellingborough Local Radio, has conducted a survey into radio listening in its prime service area. According to the station 10% of those questioned listened to WLR each week.

A further outcome was a move to a rock-based format in future. WLR broadcasts Sundays from 0900 - 2200 hours on 102.3 MHz FM to the Wellingborough town area.

IRISH COMMUNITY RADIO CONFERENCE

A community radio conference is being held on Saturday April 16 at the N.I.H.E., Glasnevin, Dublin.

The event, running from 100 - 1700 is organised by the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COMMUNITY BROADCASTING.

There will be a key-note address by the Minister for Communications, Mr RAY BURKE TD and plenary sessions dealing with finance, structures, technical, training, programming potential. Papers will be delivered by three nationally prominent people.

The attendance fee is IR £5 and further details are available from SALLY REYNOLDS, NACB, 32 Gardiner Place, Dublin 1. Telephone Dublin 788733.

NOW RADIO correspondent and partner in PHOENIX COMMUNICATIONS, LAWRENCE HALLETT will be attending the conference.

CAROLINE ADRIFT

The radio ship ROSS REVENGE lost her main anchor last week and was forced to hold her position near to the South Falls Head off Kent with her main engines until a hired tug arrived on Good Friday with a new anchor.

No-one was in danger for the few days that the vessel was anchor-less, according to a source within the CAROLINE organisation.

On March 28th RADIO CAROLINE celebrated its 24th anniversary of broadcasting to Great Britain and continental Europe. The station went on-air Easter Saturday, March 28th, 1964.
TO WAFFLE, OR NOT TO WAFFLE?

CHRIS RAISTRICK
For NOW RADIO

"If in doubt, leave it out" is an old journalistic rule which KEN GARNER reminded us of in his excellent talk at the recent RADIO ACADEMY UK MUSIC RADIO CONFERENCE. But RÁDIO-1's More Music Monday experiment earlier in the year, when speech was cut down to an absolute minimum, was regarded as a failure because the presenters, tonsils tied, would communicate little more than the names of records, (and, by the tone of their voices, the fact that they weren't happy with the situation).

It is a common criticism of DJs that they blather too much. In my opinion, they don't blather enough. If I want to hear just music, I'll turn to my records. At least then I can trust my own judgement.

If I want the thrill of communication I'll switch on the radio. I didn't enjoy listening to LASER 558 in its heyday, and I wondered what job satisfaction the automations, presenting the programmers actually got from merely announcing the records. I would be intrigued to hear the demo tapes (oops... I mean aircheck cassettes) of those presenters. Of course, they had 'nice' voices through a foreign accent always goes a long way towards endearing oneself to a radio audience - as I found out working in France and Italy; but what did they give of themselves?

It is a misconception, I feel, to say that a presenter is ego-tripping just because he tells his listeners what he has been doing that day. To me, the worst ego-mania is that of the DJ who is merely 'competent but tells us nothing - as on LASER 558, as with many a daytime ILR presenter. Are we then supposed to just enjoy the sound of his voice? With nothing but pedestrian utterances for us to go on, I can only assume so.

No, DJs often don't talk enough. They appear to blather because the convention of music radio is to speak as if you're sitting on a time bomb. Cross one bridge, taking the listener with you, from the fade of one record up to the vocals of the next. I'd love to sabotage the labels of records so that a DJ would put on the instrumental 'B' side, start talking in anticipation of the vocals and be 'forced' to continue right through the track! I bet they would come up with some interesting thoughts. I'm not suggesting that DJs should expand their opinions on extantialism between playing MADONNA and TIFFANY, not that they should tell us at great length what they had for breakfast. But the appalling spots we sometimes hear surely prove that listeners will not switch off just because they are more than a minute away from music. If they sit through those a bit of extended DJ blather would come as a positive relief from the "Hurry! Hurry! Sale Ends Soon!" type spots that crop up all too often on commercial radio.

A DJ need not sound superficial if he is allowed the freedom to express an idea without real or imagined time limits. It was not variety which led a DJ such as SIMON BATES to find More Music Monday a stifling exercise. Rather, it is a modesty, I would suggest, which has made him realise that he, like any other mortal, cannot necessarily squeeze a decent joke or relevant information about a new band or whatever into a mere 30-seconds. Verbose does not necessarily equal tedium. What I would suggest is this: If in doubt, SPOUT it out. However long it takes.
ICELAND IMPORTS OF RADIO RECEIVERS UP

The number of radio receivers imported to Iceland last year was 71,000.
This dramatic increase comes around a year after the introduction of commercial radio to that country.
The number of new sets imported and sold equals almost one new radio receiver per Icelandic household.

RADIO 1 DROPS SMITH FROM AM DRIVE

MIKE SMITH is coming off the breakfast programme on BBC RADIO 1 from the end of May.
It is expected SMITH will concentrate more on his television career.

HI-TECH: TFM are getting what they claim is the biggest face-lift to their studios since they were installed for RADIO TEES back in 1975. The first phase of a major refurbishment programme includes a new studio which is scheduled to come on-air at the end of this month. The new studio will be equipped with some £60,000 worth of audio equipment, including a purpose-built mixing console from MBI BROADCAST SYSTEMS of 69, Ship Street, Brighton. The state-of-the-art studio will include two high-specification CD players. Work is also going on to complete the refurbishment of the TFM newsroom and plans are at an advanced stage for a second on-air studio and improved commercial production facilities.........

COMMENT: JOHN ROSBOROUGH, Programme Controller of Belfast’s DOWNTOWN RADIO and NOW RADIO subscriber made a fair comment to NOW RADIO correspondent PAUL EASTON at the recent 4th UK MUSIC RADIO CONFERENCE in London about the balance in our coverage of the frequency situation. JOHN seems to think that we jump on ILR stations very quickly for having more than one frequency, yet when ENERGY 103 closed down in Dublin recently and handed over its frequencies to Q102 and thus giving that station half-a-dozen channels we said nothing. In fact, whilst we said nothing, we were not too supportive of this kind of move. We just didn’t have space at the time to express it......

EASTBOURNE ILK: Further to our coverage last week, let’s tell you some more about one of the contenders for the ILR franchise - SOUTHDOWN RADIO...RICHARD YEOWART as mentioned is the managing director of a video company and he’s joined by DERRICK STANSBY, financial consultant to an ad agency in Essex. He would be General Manager of the station and Programme Controller would be none other than JOHN HENTY, a former presenter with BBC RADIO SUSSEX and who has also done time with RADIO 2. MIKE DUNCAN, who runs a media agency in Battle and GARETH ROGERS, another former RADIO SUSSEX presenter are also on the board......

NAMES: Will future UK radio stations move towards having call-letters instead of being named after such things as rivers? (SEVERN, TEES, AIRE, ORWELL, TAY, MORAY FIRTH...)

NOVA: We’re getting plenty of calls asking for the address of RADIO NOVA INTERNATIONAL - so for cable systems and radio stations interested in taking their programme service (including University stations and the like) here’s the lot: RADIO NOVA INTERNATIONAL, Innovation House, Albany Park, Frimley Road, Camberley, Surrey, GU15 2PL. Telephone (0276) 684715 or 692040. Your contacts there are CHRIS CARY and ROB EDEN to name but two............

RELIEF: ABBIEKA RICE and ‘Sky’ bass player HERBIE FLOWERS will be sitting in on the KEN BRUCE slot on RADIO 2 for a week from Monday next (April 11). Check it out from 0930......

BROADCASTING
FIZZLE OUT?

In this publication recently a number of people; broadcasters and listeners alike, have questioned whether Offshore Radio broadcasting either has a future, or indeed, whether it is in fact necessary. The whole sad saga surrounding LASER has made many people pessimistic about any radio ship ever being able to capture both the attention of the public and, as important, the advertisers.

At its (albeit brief) peak LASER was attracting millions of listeners, and not only the young. If it had a well-organised, and perhaps legal, sales operation, it stood to have made several million dollars per year. Allowing for the high costs of operation (low, if you listen to certain burdened by the IBA franchise system) the station could have found itself in a profit position before the end of its first year of broadcasting. Whilst the programming seemed to be right, giving not only neighbouring CAROLINE a run for its money, but a good few ILR stations into the bargain, airtime sales were poorly managed. Too many cooks...and all that.

CAROLINE, for its part, didn't go for the up-front profile of LASER and spurned the American operations constant need for publicity and official attention. "It'll all end in tears!" was a common expression of one or two people I know (well) aboard the ROSS REVENGE at the time. This stepping-back from the publicity and official attention also extended to airtime sales. No United Kingdom businesses were approached by CAROLINE in the way that LASER did so openly.

The result was a massive audience for LASER and some advertising. Then came its downfall in the form of Euroseige and the eventual closing down and arrival in a United Kingdom port where it was put up for sale.

CAROLINE, for its part, was somewhat relieved that the 'upstart' had gone. So had the DTI. And so had several million listeners who, despite CAROLINE jumping onto the 558 frequency, didn't take to what it had to offer in the same way they had with LASER.

Looking back at the LASER experience, and here we are not touching on the more recent attempt at a re-launch as LASER HOT HITS, one can discover facts to show that it could have been highly successful financially. The reason it wasn't was mainly down to one person now spending several thousand pounds he ripped off from the HOT HITS episode in Portugal. He did the same back in the LASER 558 era.

I have it on good authority, and sure it'll be backed up in a book yet-to-be-published, that had LASER actually based itself in a position to supply from Spain and be sold and managed one hundred percent from New York, it would and could have worked.

This, however, is all past history. Today, in 1988, we should analyse the position further, in the light of so many past mistakes. One school of thought says there is not only the possibility of offshore radio making money (and thus, no matter what you philosophy, make a profit which allows such an enterprise to survive) but there is a need for it. Surely, with several hundred new local commercial and community radio stations only just over a year away there isn't?

What can offshore radio provide that a legitimate service in the safety and comfort of dry landbased studios cannot?

I ask that last question not in attempt to put down the suggestion that there could be a need for competition outside the 'system' but as one questioning such things as, if there were to be an offshore radio boom now (and we thought that the arrival of LASER 558 was going to create one) - apart from the legal issues involved - what kind of programming could it offer, and, where would it get its backing and advertising support from?

Well, to answer the question of backing first. There are a number of sources of finance available for an offshore project which is properly managed and professionally programmed. Backers would however only want to support a true business venture, and not some individual beliefs in such issues as freedom of speech, free radio or the like. They invest a million dollars, they want to make on it. Furthermore potential backers would want to know that any future offshore radio operation was one hundred per cent legitimate. The publicity received by LASER has reached far and wide and made prospective financiers wary of doing something which would arouse the wrath of the British Government and affect their trading within the United Kingdom. There are people more cautious than ever as a result of the arrest, which we now know was illegal, by U.S. Coast Guards of the radioship SARAH and subsequent closure of RADIO NEW YORK INTERNATIONAL. Backers will want to see plans proposing supplies from a country which does not have an anti-offshore radio law and using staff who cannot be arrested for broadcasting from the High Seas.

They will also want to see facts about advertising. Not guesswork.

Facts. Who will advertise? How much have they promised to spend? Have they issued a guarantee to this? Will they pull out? Is what they are being asked to do, legal? Who will sell for your station? Why should Company X spend their advertising budget with you, rather than any other media? Will they re-book?

If you target the United Kingdom, how will you manage the station? How will you keep in tune with audience reaction? Whatever your answers are, are they legal?

If something goes wrong, is your ship capable of staying at sea? If not why should backers stand to lose their money in a couple of hours when you should have planned for such problems?

How are you going to find a frequency? Where will you fit out your ship? What will it cost? Will it interfere with shipping, as the DTI always say it does? If not, why not?

Programming. What will your station offer that will attract an audience of the size needed to make money? Is somebody else providing this format? How will you win new listeners from scratch with perhaps little publicity? Can you get a balance between making your station's existence known against incurring the anger of the British Government?

Who will work for your station? Why? If they've 'done it before' have they a good track-record? If not, why not?

Ask yourself, and, as important, answer all these questions and you may begin to see why CAROLINE stands alone today as the sole European offshore radio operation. And why others find the whole issue more than a little daunting. And illegal!

MORE: Do you want more pages in NOW RADIO? You're gonna get 'em very soon........

ESSEX EASTER GOLD: The All Time Top 1,000 were broadcast by ESSEX RADIO over Easter! The whole affair started at 0600 on Good Friday and ran through until 1900 on Easter Monday. 60 LPs, a CD player, a ghetto blaster and personal stereo system were among the prizes given away during the airing of the memories. GEOFF CULLEN, Head of Music, says it took many months to put the special together........

PRETTY BOY: When MIKE SMITH finally comes off the RADIO 1 breakfast show, who will take his place? Bet now on which Pretty Boy it will be!........

FLUFF: ALAN FREEMAN will be presenting the Network Chart this Sunday........

COMMUNICATIONS: We have letters! The Communications section will be back in next week's issue of NOW RADIO. If you have any comments, let's have them........

BOOK DELAY: The latest word from author PAUL RUSLING on his second book (the dirt?!) about LASER is that it'll be published the minute that the Court hearing has ended in Kent. That could be just about anytime between now and October........

THIN AIR: Check out the new drama serial on BBC 1 TV starting this Friday evening. Centered around a commercial radio station in a docklands area of an inner city........

BABY BOOMERS: Congratulations to MEL BOWDEN of KBL BROADCAST SYSTEMS on becoming a Daddy! Little girl, HANNAH, born around five weeks ago........

FROM THE AREA: PHIL FOTHERGILL is hosting the breakfast show on CHILTERN this week until a replacement for PAUL MCKENNA is signed-up......

KELNER AWARD

BBC RADIO LEEDS presenter MARTIN KELNER received this year's Radio Personality Award from the Television & Radio Industries Club of Yorkshire. Martin, who hosts a Sunday morning chat show on RADIO LEEDS as well as the Saturday night 2200 - 0000 show on RADIO 2, received his award last Friday night. Education Producer, ABHA SOOD ADAMS, made it a double for RADIO LEEDS by receiving the Presidents' Award for her 'Poet-Search' project last December.

COUNTY GOLD

Guildford's COUNTY SOUND is to open a new AM radio service by January, so long as AIRC reaches agreement over needtime with PPL. The new service will be called COUNTY SOUND GOLD and will carry music and news aimed at an over-35 age group.

CUT BACKS

BBC RADIO HIGHLAND is cutting its weekly output from the present 11 hours per week to nine and a half.

TRENT LISTENERS WANT LESS NEWS

40% of listeners calling in to RADIO TRENT and questioned claimed they wanted less news on the commercial station. Only 17% wanted more news output.
CAROLINE AT 24

March 28th passed quietly at RADIO CAROLINE. Listeners to CAROLINE 558 would not have heard a mention anywhere that the day was special, let alone hear champagne corks popping in studios. Indeed it could have been the sole mention given by JOHNNIE WALKER on BBC RADIO 1 a few days previously that jerked the memories of those who had almost forgotten that CAROLINE is 24 years old this year.

In the sixties, prior to HAROLD WILSON acting the kill-joy by banning the thought) offshore radio the whole range of the current show-biz stars would have recorded their greetings and sent them around by courier to CAROLINE’s offices. Today there is no CAROLINE office (at least as far as the public and Dti are concerned) in the United Kingdom, and the stars do not send greetings.

Gather a few old CAROLINE DJs together and they will laugh and joke about the ‘old days’ and their fond memories of RONAN O’RAHILLY and try to analyse what it was that made that one radio station special. Few will agree that, apart from the fact that it is still there despite everything, it has much special now.

A few will question why they still do it, or why PETER PHILIPS continues to expose his talent over CAROLINE’s airwaves when, with a voice like that, he could perhaps work anywhere from ILR to the BBC WORLD SERVICE. They will question the motives behind the endless energy that a certain Irish-American provides. They all agree that when he’s under pressure he’ll always come ‘up with the goods’ and with the help of ‘somebody up there’ they’ll overcome everything from a shortage of food to the loss of an anchor. It would seem nothing can stop CAROLINE.

Perhaps too much ois written on the area of CAROLINE’s ability to ‘survive against all odds’ and too little is written on what she actually does. But when one does comment, for good or bad, you are likely to meet the wrath of PETER PHILIPS for daring to criticize. “What the hell does NORMAN MCLEOED know about programming. What’s he done anyway?” was a typical comment heard in the NOW RADIO office recently. That is perhaps where CAROLINE must be careful.

There was a time that RONAN O’RAHILLY spoke of CAROLINE as a team of DJs who were no more than friends who were there to play mates a few records. They shunned the slick professionalism of BIG L/WONDERFUL RADIO LONDON in favour of their own brand of radio offered by the likes of ROBBIE DALE and JOHNNIE WALKER. It was their ability to hold an audience no matter what they did which made CAROLINE stand out from the rest.

With broadcasters of the calibre of Messrs DALE and WALKER now unavailable one has to search for new talent. Nearly every audition tape that arrives at CAROLINE lacks that little something. Perhaps we have too many clones who haven’t experienced much besides (and here I am not particularly knocking) ILR and BBC local radio.

Perhaps it is this ‘problem’ that has made CAROLINE sound, at times lately, very similar to an ILR station (with fewer commercials) rather than the Individual she really is deep down and at heart. She’s always been a bit of a training school for DJs, it just seems that the Head Master should be a little stronger in giving out the rules and directions. CAROLINE is different. Exactly what that difference is we have yet to finally work out. Happy Birthday, CAROLINE. Sorry we forgot the cake!

FROM A BLANK SHEET OF PAPER...

a new radio feature

The IBA once established a quota it required from ILR stations for news, information and speech content. It also required all Contractors to submit all programme schedules and changes to it for approval. They wanted 25% of daytime output to consist of news/information/speech content, or a third of overall output. They wanted to hear from Programme Controller’s even if they wanted to move a late night presenter to a daytime airshift.

Now, with a new Radio Authority well and truly on the books, there still are some people who cannot understand how a new controlling body can exist without wanting to continue to issue forth such rules and regulations.

Recently I heard that a community radio campaigner was complaining because the Government has not issued a set of programming guide lines. Good old British mentality. From the cradle to the grave, they want somebody else to do all the work. What that person couldn't understand was the new Radio Authority will licence transmitters. It will not seek to approve particular formats. It will not spoon-feed any station. The clever will do better, the weak will sink without trace, or at best look to a neighbouring station (did I say ILR?!) to rescue them from the perils of bankruptcy.

Ever since the nineteen sixties we have been asking for the chance to have a licence for a transmitter, and to be able to sit at our desk and, with a blank sheet of paper and pencil, work out exactly what we, the programmers, want to offer to the public.

For most the Radio Authority is like a dream come true. And unless somebody does a NORMAN TEBBIT (and calls the whole thing off over some unfounded fears...) we have exactly what we want.

The nice Government has also ensured that the likes of Virgin, David Maker, Red Rose Radio, etc, etc, and more importantly Maxwell or Murdoch cannot buy up every station available by putting in the limit of ownership. You can have a maximum of six local stations and that's your lot!

If you want DOUGLAS HURD or TIM RENTON to plan your programming, then perhaps your in the wrong game. The Home Office was worried enough by the fact that it was elected to oversee the (cancelled) community radio experiment. They only expect you will follow the laws of the land. You will, won't you?

For any person who wants the Government, or the Home Office, or the Radio Authority to stress quotas for programming, we can only suggest one thing. SHUT UP!

NORTHERN RADIO CONFERENCE

A one day conference for all those wishing to take part in the radio industry of the future will take place on Saturday May 7th. Organised by the 3RS Radio Network the venue for the event is the Sixth Form Centre in Durham City. The day features sessions on how to apply for a licence, campaigning and programme making. There will be a look into the radio future of Newcastle by the CRA’s national worker Mark Jones. There will be contributions from all three groups that applied for the 1985 Sunderland CR licence. Brian Lister (Programme Controller Tfm 96 sixty) will be airing his views and it is hoped that Tony Fish (Radio Newcastle’s Manager) will be there too. All this for just £5.00! Advance booking is essential and details can be had from Mark Jones, St Anthony of Padua Centre, Welbeck Road, Newcastle, NE6 3BT.

RADIO FAX

Good Friday morning saw the launch of RADIO FAX. Broadcasting on shortwave (6220 kHz) daytime and 1611 kHz at night the station says it is applying to the Home Office for a broadcast licence. The station carried a series of articles and comment directed at broadcast engineers etc. RADIO FAX broadcast using two former BBC RCA ‘ET’ transmitters and gave a mailing address of 1, High Ash Farm, Caistor St Edmunds, NR14 8RH. The service which identified itself as ‘The technical station’ asked listeners to write with their support for the licence application and said they hoped to be broadcasting regularly from the summer.

Last year TREvor BROOk of Surrey Electronics said he wanted to operate such a station for the E.C.
