ALL YOU WANTED TO ASK ABOUT MUSIC BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK

FOREWORD

JOHN PEEL

Five years ago I contributed a foreword to the very first ZigZag small label catalogue and, in the course of a handful of shockingly over-written paragraphs, exulted that we appeared to have turned our backs forever on the notion that 'the only bands worth hearing were those we had already heard.'

Unhappily I was wrong. The situation in 1983 is much as it was in 1975, with public curiosity at a low ebb, audiences eager to see and hear only that which they have already seen and heard - there are, I concede, economic factors at play here - and the major record companies pretty much back in the driving seat. It is increasingly difficult for new bands to break through unless they are aimed directly at 'Smash Hits' and 'Top Of The Pops,' or are prepared to ape the sound of proven winners to make an impact with the new generation of conservatives. It is worth stepping aside a moment to advance the idea that much of the success of heavy-metal, quintessentially reactionary as it is, is due to the fact that Led Zeppelin rarely performed live and a whole generation of soundalikes and lookalikes was spawned to fill the gap. In their turn these second-raters spawned third-raters, a generation producing a racket which seems to all but the most committed to be an absurd parody of the originals. Consider then that with both the Sex Pistols and Joy Division, for better or worse the two most profound influences of the past six years, hors de combat, the stage is set fair for a similar degeneration and has been for two years at least. That it not yet taken place is due almost entirely to that most commonly maligned of forces, fashion.

In its endless search for inspiration, fashion has, in the recent past, drawn attention to whole areas of music which would otherwise lurk some way beyond the ken of the popular audience, high-life, soca, be-bop and even the Hollywood musical. By so doing fashion has kept the pop corpus fresh if not especially alert. We condemn it at our peril. The influence of the independent labels has been sharply reduced since that first ZigZag catalogue, with the small and self-contained organisations becoming, as wiser heads had always insisted they would, the last refuge of the inadequate and the uninspired. Yet it remains true that it is possible for those who feel they have something worthwhile to offer to make their own records and see these make their way into at least a handful of shops. That depressingly few of these records show flair or wit is a comment more on the audience than on the overall state of British music - and it is still possible for musicians to reach a wider audience by means of the autonomous or semi-autonomous label, particularly if the work comes to the attention of one of the writers and/or disc-jockeys who has not developed a prejudice against independence. Perhaps by the time the next ZigZag catalogue is printed the independents will again be where the seeker after pleasure and excitement conducts her researches. Let us hope so.

LOOK BACK AT '82

What really happened?

TOM VAGUE REMEMBERS THE HIGHS AND LOWS

YAZOO

LOOK BACK AT '82 (WHAT REALLY HAPPENED)

'82 was something of a watershed really. It took some time to get over the endless, meaningless fads of '81. But after a shaky start, a lot of dirty water got washed away and some fresh new crystals started to gleam in the mud. These are the things that made me laugh and cry in '82:

JANUARY

Disposable pop continued in the ascendant. DOLLAR and BUCKS FIZZ couldn't sell out, so you could not get disillusioned with them.

Vince quit DEPECHE MODE to form YAZOO and a new haircut, both of which went on to be true groove whilst DEPECHE MODE turned into the new ELO. First to go in '82 were THE PHOTOS, then NEMS, then we saw the departure of the giant SLITS. JAPAN threatened to split then unfortunately gains some artistic credibility and did not. Polish group SOLIDARITY were forced to split but did not either. PSYCHEDELIC FURS dropped two and did big things in the States with TODD RUNDGREN no less. But all we saw of it was their weakest album to date 'Forever Now'. LORDS OF THE NEW CHURCH was formed by old losers Stiv Bators and Brian James. BOW-WOW-WOW at last got a desperately awaited hit with 'Go Wild in the Country'. WASTED YOUTH LP first big disappointment of the year. RHODA'S harrowing single about rape 'The Boiler' banned whilst a guy is let off free after raping a girl hitch-hiker. Lynval Golding of FUNBOY 3 nearly killed at a Coventry night club. And there was lots of snow.

PSYCHEDELIC FURS

FEBRUARY

ALICE COOPER returned to the UK after 6 years absence and he could still teach punks a thing or two. Britain's oldest punk ALEX HARVEY died of a heart attack. THE JAM get to No.1 with 'A Town Called Malice'. Naughty rocker Topper Headon's drum (I mean drug) habit gets worse.

THEATRE OF HATE first to make a major impact with 'Westworld' single. LP and subsequent tour, which showcased for the first time SOUTHERN DEATH CULT and the rising of UK DECAY. Best hype of all time SOFT CELL get another No.1 with 'Say Hello, Wave Goodbye'. Another successful hype was 60's revivalist MARI WILSON. But tips for the top. FASHION. B-MOVIE and PERRY HAINES do nothing. ASSOCIATES become the best Bowie imitation to date. XTC attempted promotion to the 2nd Division but got relegated to the 3rd. Unemployment figures topped the 3 million mark. But who wants a job with all these new clubs opening. Brave new ventures at Fair Deal in Brixton and the ZIG-ZAG CLUB never really got off the ground. But the Music Machine got a new coat of paint and became the No.1 niterie. Camden Palace. Porn Squad take those naughty spikey tops. the ANTI-NOWHERE-LEAGUE to court over a rude B-side. So What?

BUCKS FIZZ

ANTI — NOWHERE LEAGUE

MARCH

THE JAM play at end of 'Right to Work' march. BOWIE on the box in Brecht's play 'Baal'. Later on in the year many more pretentious popsters followed this trend, notably STING, JOBSON and even LYDON. Bowie did not do much infact. A few compilations, a few singles, a few rumours of gigs. It was all left to his clones. Really he should have disappeared in '72. We saw the rise of Bristol bands PIGBAG, RIP-RIG, MAX, JOY, etc, until the novelty wore off. ALEXEI SAYLE and MARTIN FRY make the big time and go over the top. THE SPANDS' bubble burst after spending their Easter Hols on the south coast. STEVE STRANGE had his haircut and nobody cared. Then there was the KILLING JOKE saga. Jaz went AWOL after the last gig of the 'Revelations' tour, not to be heard of again until he was discovered, with Geordie, getting up to no good in Iceland with local occult heroes PEYR or something. This obviously did not pay so they gathered again in Canada and knocked out a few records before returning to tour the UK in October. Minus Youth who had stuck to his guns and had the last laugh with his own BRILLIANT joke.

APRIL

ADAM disbands THE ANTS again, only retaining trusty hulk Marco and went on to record the best pop singles of the year 'Goodie Two Shoes' and 'Friend or Foe'. JOHNNY THUNDERS on the wrong track again, causing havoc in Sweden, cavorting around the UK for a bit then getting busted and kicked out of the country. For revenge he released 'Live at the Speakeasy'. JOAN JETT finally made it with 'I love Rock'n'Roll' but thankfully it did not last. An English kid got savagely mauled by a JAM bodyguard. Weller unusually subdued about the incident. THOMPSON TWINS cut down to a 3-piece from a 30-piece but fail to make the transition from tribal rhythms to commercial pop. CRASS cancel dates due to reactionary councils. GIG OF THE YEAR at the ZIG-ZAG CLUB showcasing UK DECAY. SOUTHERN DEATH CULT and THE DANSE SOCIETY.

PIG BAG

'Breaking the back of love' by the BUNNYS and 'Naked' tape by the SEX GANG CHILDREN.

MAY

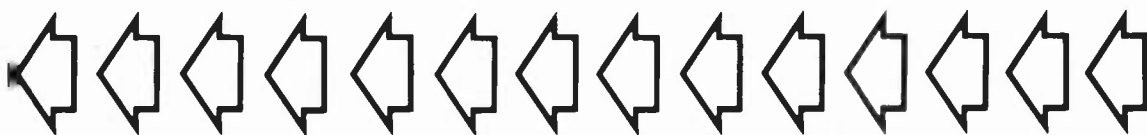

Everyone wetting themselves over KID CREOLE. Vic Godard's bid to finally get his 15 minutes as the new Frank Sinatra failed, but later in the year Pete Wylie had more success at becoming the crooner of the '80's. Joe Strummer goes AWOL in desperate bid to create interest in the NEW CLASH LP 'Combat Rock' and tour. Unfortunately it worked and he soon returned with a new haircut. NEW ORDER release 'Temptation' undoubted single of the year. Other goodies that month.

SOUTHERN DEATH CULT

SIMPLE MINDS

JUNE

And now the football results. QUEEN played Leeds United and they still draw. ROLLING STONES make £3 Million or something ridiculous just from their Wembley business conventions. VICE SQUAD and pals stage Punk Fest. at ZZ Club but what a weak distorted version of the one at the 100 Club the last time the Stones played. Continued popularity of CND culminates in massive rally in Hyde Park. Laurie Anderson's 'Big Science' released. Lester Bangs dies. BOW-WOW's withdraw from QUEEN's European tour. What were they doing on it in the first place? BAUHAUS release 'Spirit' and start riot at the Adelphi. Toppper Headon in court for stealing abus stop after quitting CLASH. Is'nt he a bit old for that sort of thing? SOFT CELL in 'SEX DWARF' video shock horror. CRASS in the news again over Anti-Falklands flexi. Questions asked in the house no less! this is what Punk Rock is all about! James Honeyman-Scott of the PRETENDERS dies. John Curd's STRAIGHT MUSIC goes bankrupt after BOOMTOWN RATS hassled for unpaid dues but re-surfaced as HEAD MUSIC shortly after.

JULY

Loads of the usual festivals. The only one worth mentioning was the financial disaster WOMAD at Shepton Mallet. A multi-cultural spontaneous celebration of music, art and dance and all that sort of stuff. But SIMPLE MINDS and BUNNYS cleaned up altho' THE DRUMMERS OF BURUNDI won a place in everyone's heart. THE BANSHEES played the ELEPHANT FAYRE in Cornwall, partly because of disillusionment with the R'n'R circuit, partly because Sioux's dodgy voice made a tour a bit of a risk and partly just trying to be arty. However in November they were back on the road again to promote their new album 'A Kiss in the Dreamhouse' (Yeurrrghh!) minus a very poorly John McGeough but a cure was found in the shape of Rob Smith. DEXY's No.1 again with 'Come on Eileen'. Whilst the yanks discover hard core Punk, there's another British invasion of the US Charts led by HUMAN LEAGUE. JUNIOR. HAIRCUT 100 (Who narrowly failed to become the new MONKEES) and A FLOCK OF SEAGULLS. However the British Rock industry was in it's severest decline ever. GRANDMASTER FLASH releases the devastating 'Message'. CAPTAIN SENSIBLE at No.1 with 'Happy Talk'. probably the most intelligent thing he was ever involved with. And Italy won the World Cup.

AUGUST

BIRTHDAY PARTY quit the UK for Berlin. They're back before the end of the year knocking us dead. ZIG-ZAG CLUB closes. Dave Waller, original member of the JAM O.D.'s. Seems to be interest in Hitchcock films on the box than R'n'R. But something is stirring in the dregs. A new scene starts to form as a backlash against smooth bland pop. It forms around the likes of UK DECAY and SEX GANG CHILDREN and from the northern wastelands SOUTHERN DEATH CULT and THE DANSE SOCIETY.

SEPTEMBER

BLONDIE's UK tour blow on thru' lack of interest. Consequently the same fate befell the band but it's an ill wind...Chris Stein went on to start up the adventurous ANIMAL RECORDS featuring GUN CLUB. JAMES CHANCE and IGGY. ROXY MUSIC and GENESIS at it again and

SIOUXSIE AND THE BANSHEES

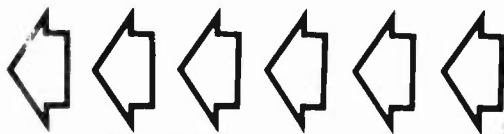

UB. 40 ON BROADWAY

THE WHO promise that their tour is their last. UB40 come with a good gimmick, a hologram on the sleeve of their 'UB44' album and CRASS release a boxed set double album. FUTURAMA 4 at Deeside showcases SOUTHERN DEATH CULT, DANSE SOCIETY, SEX GANG CHILDREN, BRILLIANT and a host of other rising stars. At last a hype by STEVO fails. Have you ever seen THE THE? Even Stevo could not make them famous. SIMPLE MINDS 'New Golden Dream' album released. BILLY IDOL whose been making quite a name for himself on the N.Y. Smack and Roll scene came over for a one-off at Heaven and released the cute 'White Wedding'. Ex. Buzzcocks FLAG OF CONVENIENCE dont make much impression. KATE BUSH RELEASES 'The Dreaming' and THE VIBRATORS and RADIO STARS reform.

HAIRCUT 100

OCTOBER

KID CREOLE back again and so are SHALAMAR. JOAN JETT tour cut short due to lack of interest again. GABRIEL reunited with GENESIS for one gig at Milton Keynes to bale out WOMAD. BAUHAUS took us back to '72. ZIGGY rises from the dead for the umpteenth time. Onoriginal rockers VICE SQUAD, etc. etc make it after continuous plugging by Gary Bushell and his cronies. These people are famous for Chrissakes! MUSICAL YOUTH No.1 with 'Pass the Dutchie'. Kirk Brandon tells TOH to SOD off and tries to spear his own destiny. SQUEEZE disband. DANSE SOCIETY debut 6-track album 'Seduction' released. PUBLIC IMAGE gigging again. Lydon had run out of readies for videos and big mags, so it was back to good ole R'n'R, LP and stuff as well next year. BOW-WOW's postpone UK tour because they could not find a producer. Reschedule for November. Sensation of the month: Paul Weller announces that THE JAM are to split, because they did not want to end up embarrassing and old. Not a moment too soon. SEX GANG release new single 'Into the Abyss'.

NOVEMBER

After giving up on the BOW-WOW's MALCOLM MCLAREN scratches himself a hit with Trevor Horn called 'Buffalo Gals' and starts reconstructing from the debris. ADAM tours to promote latest album 'Friend or Foe'. CLASH support THE WHO at SHEA Stadium, bringing everything full circle. After getting THE FINAL ACADEMY together with BILL BURROUGHS, PSYCHIC TV get their riot of laughter and excitement in the music papers. CHANNEL 4 gets off to a promising start with 'The Tube' and 'Whatever You Want' providing long awaited competition for TOTP's and OGW. HUMAN LEAGUE release 'Mirror Man' which has got to be Xmas No.1. WAH! release 'Story of the Blues' which should be Xmas No.1.

Lori quits PULSALAMA to marry Keith Levine. Jimi Sumen, Finnish guitarist with CLASSIX NOUVEAUX gets off national service by Black stuff'. RICK JAMES. KING TRIGGER. Videoteque. Infact never a dull moment.

BOW WOW WOW

claiming insanity. EDDY GRANT No.1 with 'I Dont Wanna Dance'.

DECEMBER

Loads of tours to catch the Xmas market. BOW-WOW's, SPEAR OF DESTINY, BUNNYS, SIMPLE MINDS and IGGY makes his annual visit to promote his new album 'Zombie Birdhouse'. SLADE re-release 'Merry Xmas Everybody' for the 2,000th time.

Then there was GRACE JONES, THE DAWN OF SHOCKABILLY, all that trouble in the Orkneys or somewhere. 'Boys from the

SIN CITY

The end result of £1 million worth of investment, SIN CITY is both a 16 track studio and a record label. Also known as NOHIPONEX Ltd which is Mr Byrons (The Manager) uncles name backwards. Mr Xenophon (in case you didn't work it out) was one of the founding inspirations of the whole scheme.

The studios are available for the whole of this year at the bargain rate of £16 per hour, or £116 for an eight hour day. Meanwhile the record label side of the business has signed several Nottingham based bands. One of these is the new synth group 'SENSE' who are being produced by none other than Dave Ball from SOFT CELL. Also signed are PRESURE SHOCKS the well respected reggae group.

BELT UP PROMOTIONS

The origins of this thriving company can be deduced from its name — they began by making promotional belt buckles for the pop merchandising business.

That was over five years ago and despite the recession and the unpredictability of the music biz, BELT UP have stayed in the market and increased their range of products. Now badges form the mainstay of the business. This is because they are most popular and cheapest way for a fan to demonstrate his/her loyalty. A statement of identity and a means of group recognition.

Stuart Alexander, the MD, has the market well sussed and states categorically that none can deliver faster or more efficiently than BELT UP.

"One of those brilliant simple ideas that make you ding your head against a brick for not thinking of it first." (Melody Maker).

This is typical of the sort of reaction ON VIDEO have recieved in the music press of late. Acting as a video consultant and intermediary service between bands and record companies; ON VIDEO have got themselves a lot of good will.

You, the Band, start the ball rolling by sending in a cassette to ON VIDEO. If they think it has any chance at all of commercial success, they will invite you to their offices to discuss ideas. The next stage is the arranging of a simple video which is then included on a 'Master Cassette' which contains 20 similar promo's. This is then distributed to a list of no fewer than 215 record companies and publishers. All of these have agreed to view the thing and fill in a questionnaire on each of the acts.

Cost of all this averages out at a paltry £125, which includes full admin back up, liason, contact with music lawyers and a full spectrum of advice.

As James Betteridge of Int. Musician said: "They're onto a winner."

IDEAS THAT MAKE YOU DING YOUR HEAD AGAINST A BRICK WALL FOR NOT THINKING OF IT FIRST!...M.M.

O.V. are a promotional team whose sole function is to cost effectively help unsigned acts get a recording deal. We will guide you in the making of a creative Audio & Video recordings or you may supply your own finished product. We distribute your product on a monthly basis to over 250 of the decision makers in the music industry giving your band maximum exposure. THIN ICE

Independent Video Studio - - - 01-289-2944
Dynamic Visuals-Realistic Budgets
Professional Production Facilities

THIN ICE is a professional video studio aiming to make the video medium more accessible to new bands. Operating as a twin bodied entity, one half is a profit making production studio, the other offers help and advice to would be video makers.

One of its facilities is that of a video gallery to interested parties. Showing independantly made films from New York, Tokyo, Berlin and the rest of the world; the video maker can observe and learn current techniques and ideas in practice. Not open to the man in the street for obvious reasons, THIN ICE nonetheless welcomes anyone interested in the field.

For someone thinking of commisioning a promo video for his/her band, Thin Ice will offer unlimited advice and tps on how to make it as cheaply as possible. A three minute film starts as cheaply as £500 with 50 cuts. This goes up to £2500 if shot on high band (suitable for TV transmission).

As a proposition certainly proves worthwhile as Philip Jap will testify. The forty minute set that THIN ICE shot for him at a mere £1200 helped in no small way to get him his TV shows.

Pete Townshend and John Entwistle formed their first group, the Confederates, when they were about 14 and both attending Acton Grammar School in West London.

The Confederates never played in front of an audience except at the Congo Club in ACTON. They were really just four schoolboys practising together. John played trumpet, Pete played banjo, another school friend Chris Sherwin played drums and Phil Rhodes played clarinet.

"When Phil and John asked me to join them I had to rush out and get a chord book," explains Pete. "As I'd been bugging about playing guitar for nearly two years I wasn't getting anywhere. They expected me to play and were fairly impressed, which I couldn't work out. Perhaps they thought that if you could play three chords you could play the rest." John was quite an accomplished musician having studied piano till he was eleven and played french horn in the Middlesex Youth Orchestra.

THE WHO: MAXIMUM R & B

by Richard Barnes
ed. by Ed Hanel

Many books claim to tell the 'inside' story but few succeed as well as Richard Barnes' recently published, "The Who: Maximum R & B" (Eel Pie). As Pete Townshend's flatmate, 'Barney' came up with the name "The Who" and watched the band grow from a local East London group into an international success. The following excerpts cover the early days of the band and their beginning efforts to produce a unique sound.

KEITH MOON has joined the band and they are now the mod band, THE HIGH NUMBERS. 1964.

John was playing in two bands, the one with Pete and another, bigger, Trad Jazz outfit, eventually dropping out of the Confederates to concentrate on the other band.

Pete still saw a lot of John and they formed another band with the kid that sat next to John at school, Mick Brown, another schoolchum. Pete Wilson. Pete played guitar and John now had a bass guitar. We used to do Shadows' numbers Pete recalled. "I was terribly happy with it and people quite liked us. It gave me a new confidence. I hadn't made it very well with chicks, and at the time when my mates started to get it together with chicks I was getting into the guitar. It became quite an obsession." The group were first called the Aristocrats, and then the Scorpions.

One day after a rehearsal with the Scorpions John was walking back when he met Roger Daltrey in the street.

"I hear you play bass guitar", said Roger.

As John was carrying his bass under one arm and an amplifier under the other he laughed. "Yeah."

The Detours in 1962/63 were a 5 piece. The singer was called COLIN DAWSON, and the drummer was DOUG SANDOM.

"Do you want to try in my group?" asked Roger.

"I'm already in a group," John replied.

"Well, mine's earning money," said Roger.

His band, the Detours, was making money, although not much. They played a few firm's outings, some weddings and barmitzva's and such, they used to rehearse regularly at Reg Bowen's house. Reg was the rhythm guitarist. John remembers, "We brought in this guy on rhythm guitar because he'd come into a little bit of money and bought himself a Vox amp and a guitar. We figured like if we had him in the group we'd be able to use his amplifier. We figured he didn't need it any more. We still had this other rhythm guitarist called Reg Bowen, but he only new about five chords so eventually we started looking for a new rhythm guitarist and that's when I managed to persuade Pete to join. He didn't, however, want to join at first but I told him we had a real Vox amplifier, so he thought 'A Vox amplifier... well...' and he joined."

"When we first started, I used to make all the bloody guitars. We used to make our amplifiers as well, used to make these huge boxes," Roger remembers. "In them days it was all psychological warfare being in a group, so we hit on the idea of having the biggest cabinets you've ever seen in your life — yet inside we'd have this little 12-inch speaker. It looked like a bloody sideboard. It looked like me mum's front room on stage. People would come and see us and say 'Hey, they must be good, look at the size of their gear.'"

A little later John bought himself a Goodman's 18" speaker and had the front covered with a red, green, turquoise and yellow curtain fabric. "The rest of the band refused to carry it into gigs because it was so heavy," John recalls.

The next few months saw several changes in personnel but no development of a distinctive musical style.

The next major change came as a result of the Detours playing support for Johnny Kidd and the Pirates. They had played support to many bands, notably Shane Fenton and the Fentones and Cliff Bennett and the Rebel Rousers, both of whom influenced the Detours' style. They were so impressed with Johnny Kidd and the Pirates that they decided to copy their line-up and sound — a four piece band with a vocalist, lead guitar, bass and drums, with no rhythm guitar.

Roger became the vocalist. Pete moved from rhythm guitar to lead guitar. "For a long time I was playing so-called lead guitar, but really I was still the rhythm player."

Things weren't all roses with the band. The arguments between Pete and Roger had started. "When we were practising sometimes, it was nothing to see Roger smack Pete in the nose or something. They were always at each other's throats," remembers the Detours' drummer Doug Sandom. (Editor's note: Despite years of rock reports which spell Doug's last name as Sandem, the correct spelling is Sandom.) Doug remembers an important audition they did in a pub in Willesden. "We were packing the gear up and the promoter said 'come into the bar and have a drink.' Pete stayed in the hall still putting gear away and the guy said to Doug, Roger and John, 'Get rid of him and I'll sign you.' Roger seemed interested but Doug Sandom insisted, 'Either you have us as we are, or you can get stuffed.'"

During this time, Pete had become friends with an American student, Tom Wright. Tom introduced Pete to the blues, R & B and jazz music of America's black community such as Chuck Berry, James Brown, Jimmy Smith, Buddy Guy, Mose Allison, John Patton, Bobby Bland and many others.

To also keep current, the band relied on reports from their friends. People like myself were in a unique position. I went along to most of the Detours gigs but I also queued every week for the Crawdaddy and rarely missed Cyril Davis at the Railway Hotel. The Detours were playing much better material thanks to Tom Wright's record collection. They were introducing more and more R & B and blues numbers, but what struck me as a mere punter and one of the very few of my generation that didn't play an instrument, was that they performed a number exactly like the original record. A three and a half minute song would last three and a half minutes. They played it very well and very competently, they were by then a lot better than most bands, but they didn't do anything with it. When the Yardbirds played, for instance Smokestack Lightning, it lasted for a least fifteen minutes. I suggested to Pete that they should extend numbers and build up guitar riffs to make them different to the originals.

By now the Detours were good enough to win a support gig for the Rolling Stones. It was at this show that Pete first got the inspiration for his 'windmill' guitar playing from Richard. "He just swung his arm up in an up motion before the curtain opened, and the crowd didn't actually see. And as the curtain opened, he just sort of brushed the curtain away and they went in to Come On! I just started to do it after that. It was a real heartfelt tribute, and then it developed from there. There was only one person who ever mentioned it, a girl at the Glenlyn Ballroom.

"You're copying Keith Richard" she said. And it was somebody who'd been backstage and seen it. When I later talked to Keith Richard about it he couldn't even remember doing it, and basically he didn't give a shit."

The Detours had introduced into their set, numbers like Jimmy Reed's Big Boss Man, James Brown's Please, Please, Please and I Don't Mind, and a lot more blues like, Smokestack Lightning, I'm a Man and Spoonful, I Just Wanna Make Love to You and numbers by Bo Diddley, Slim Harpo etc. Probably the most unique new song they did was Mose Allison's Young Man Blues.

They had also gained a new manager, Helmut Gordon, but he knew nothing about music or style. So Helmut hired a publicist, Pete Meaden, to develop the Detours, now renamed The Who. Meaden realised that the Who could be really big. He also had a secret dream that one day he would develop a band that could play for and be accepted by the select number of elitist fashion heads that frequented the West End — the mods. Meaden saw the potential for using the Who to fulfil his dream.

Helmut Gordon arranged an audition with a record producer and hired a restaurant-cum-club called the Zanzibar in Edgware Road for the occasion. The band played through a couple of numbers for the record producer, Chris Parminter. He made a few comments, at first quite favourable but he wasn't too happy about the drumming. He kept criticising it. He said "If you wanna make a record, you'll have to get the drumming sorted out."

Pete turned around to Dougie and snarled something to the effect "Get it together. What's wrong with you? If you can't get it right then you're out of the group." The others were a little bit stunned by this outburst. Pete realised that unless the matter was brought to a head, they would lose their change of making a record. What he did was necessary but the way he did it left a lot to be desired. There was one other person who also realised the problem — Dougie himself. When Roger and John both said to him that there was no way they would drop him from the band, he told them that he new he was standing in their way and that he would drop out. "It was the worst day of my life," he said. "I felt so humiliated that I wouldn't have played with them again anyway." Dougie had been thinking of leaving the band before this incident because he didn't like the new numbers they were playing. "They started doing all this out and out blues, and I hated it. I liked the Johnny Kidd stuff, but playing Dimples and all that was boring. It was all building up because my missus was sick of me being out playing six or seven nights a week."

As a result, The Who began to look around for a new drummer, a search which would eventually lead to meeting Keith Moon... and a record contract.

"You must be aware of new instrumental structures. Your aspiration must be creativity, be conscientious of your original achievement, then capriciously look for a new approach, not to pander to peoples expectations. Don't be artistically deflected by the unoriginal adulationist music parasites, don't bother to refute their diminishing transient view, just ignore their unartistic conversations. You will cause a repercussion (which feeds repititious conformist parasites) and you will secure durability, credibility and die fulfilled and respected. The press should encourage the acts that feed and disown the one who only eat."

SPACEWARD, the 24 track Cambridge studio, have just opened a brand-new video studio offering near-broadcast quality at special low introductory rates.

Filming can be anywhere — a live gig, on location, or in our studio. (With portable gear they've filmed from oving cars, buses, even a light aircraft). Post-production is in the new £45,000 video control room with professional-format Sony U-matic editing suite, artwork-quality computer graphics for titles, captions, etc, video mixer with ChromaKey, colourising, "video overdubbing", and many more effects, plus a colour caption camera and a projector for adding stills from slides.

One-camera filming costs £128 a day, editing £25 an hour, use of computer graphics etc £25 an hour, VAT and materials extra, so £250 will buy you a really good-looking video. And the voucher currently on offer with each 14 hour 24 track audio session cuts £50 off that.

SPACEWARD are producing a video of Dave Stewart and Barbara Gaskin and you can see stills using video effects from it on the sleeve of their current single "Siamese Cats".

For more info phone Gary Lucas at Spaceward (035 389) 600 anytime.

INDEPENDENT LABEL CATALOGUE

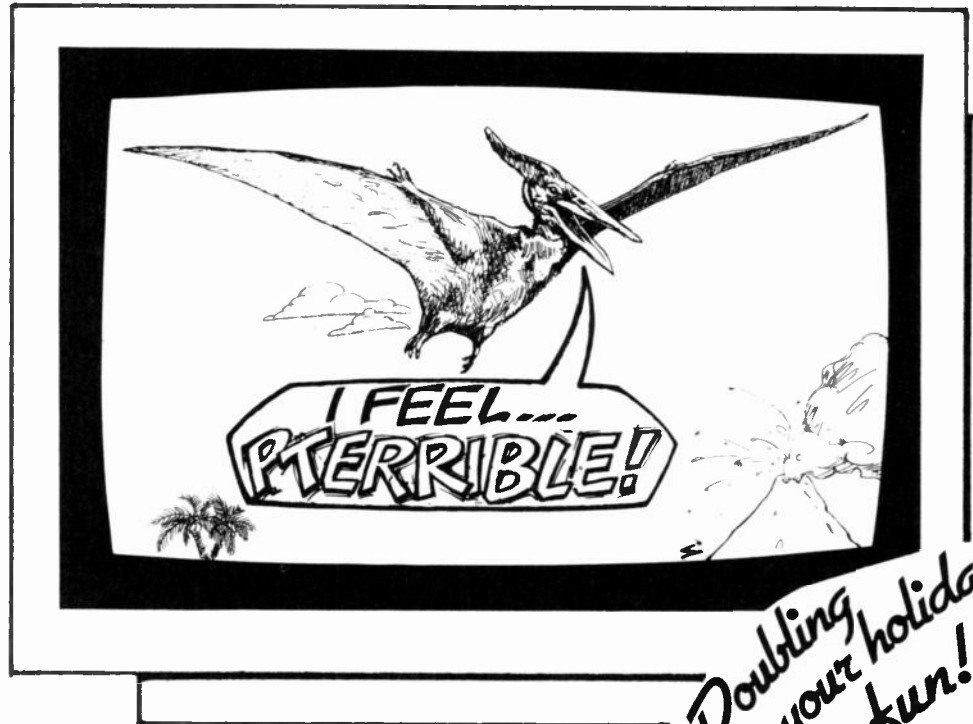

Welcome to the fifth and almost annual edition of ZIGZAGS Independent Labels Catalogue. While hoping it will provide informative and for the most part accurate, I must apologise in advance for any glaring omissions, anachronisms, or elementary mistakes, but never before in the field of human endeavor have so few people collated so much information in so little time. I've got the imprint of the telephone on my left ear to prove it.

If you wish to inform us of any extant labels or changes of address, etc, please do so, staying cool in the process, and that way the next edition will be even more bumper size, fun packed, and on-the-ball.

Sincere thanks and best wishes to all the labels and distributors who were so helpful, and to those who weren't, I wearily grovel.

I better stop now before I wax poetical.

Hang in there,
CHRIS ROBERTS.

THE INDEPENDENT LABEL ASSOCIATION

Started in June of last year, the I.L.A. is a non-profit making organisation operating for the benefit of all independent labels.

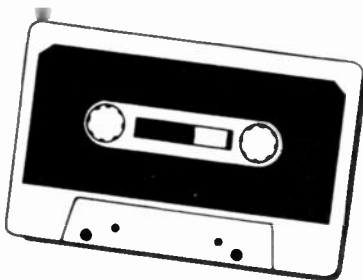

Sabrina Rooles the founder used to run an independant label herself, so she knows only too well the problems faced by small companies.

The I.L.A. is a means by which these companies can have their Product spread as far as possible for as little as possible. For as little as possible means a remarkably low £50 for three 7" singles. For your £50 Sabrina will give your singles the full promotional works, exposing them to every relevant person in the business. From the D.J.'s to the execs who are encouraged to deal and distribute with you.

Last years success include G.B.H. whose album reached No. 17 in the national charts - A feat which would otherwise, in all likelihood been impossible.

Clients range from the largest Indies (TWO TONE, DJM etc) to small microscopic Bands who have benefited and are suitably diverse as well, ranging from Kenny Ball and Lewis Collins to the Higsons and Adicts.

KEVIN AYERS.

Formed Soft Machine in 1966 but left in '68 to record solo LP "Joy Of A Toy" with David Bedford. He is more renowned for the musicians that have passed through his bands rather than the content of his recorded output, e.g. Andy Summers and Mike Oldfield. A cult figure, he has always remained within rocks' second division despite being an accomplished guitarist. Recorded a live album with Eno, Nico and John Cale in 1974.

Recommended Recordings: "The Confessions Of Dr. Dream" (Island), "Joy Of A Toy" (Harvest).

JEFF BECK.

Two years with the Yardbirds followed by a novelty hit "Hi Ho Silver Lining". Formed Jeff Beck Group in 1968 with stalwarts Nicky Hopkins, Ron Wood and up and coming Rod Stewart. This line up recorded two partly successful albums of heavy blues rock. The albums and stint with Yardbirds make up the core of his reputation. However later Jazz-rock LP's "Wired" and "Blow By Blow" display his imaginative flair and total control of the instrument. He has never overplayed his hand which, admirable as it is has left him with a considerably lower profile than he deserves. Recommended Recordings: "Wired" and "Truth". (Columbia).

CHUCK BERRY. b. Missouri, USA 1931.

Although rightly renowned as the instigator of quality lyrics into rock and the writer of countless classics, Berrys economic choppy guitar style, taken from Chicago Blues players, was the initial influence for the great guitarists of the sixties and early seventies. Most notable of these imitators was Keith Richards who would copy Berry's solos note for note in the first few years of the Stones career. Always plays a Gibson. Recommended Recording: "Motorating" (Chess).

RITCHIE BLACKMORE.

Started as a session guitarist in the sixties in a career very similar to that of Jimmy Page. Heavy guitar style of the late sixties, and Hendrix in particular led him to form Deep Purple. 1970 line up included Ian Gillan, John Lord, Ian Paice, and Roger Glover and made album "In Rock", a showcase of Blackmores frantic style. First of several powerful sets which managed to avoid the long self indulgent solos so prevalent at the time. Blackmores style is tremolo oriented, fast, fuzzy & full of showmanship. What he lacks in subtlety he makes up for in theatrical virtuosity. Left Purple in 1975 to form Ritchie Blackmores Rainbow to perpetuate career and succeeded.

Recommended Recordings: "Deep Purple — Live in Japan" (Purple/EMI), "Rainbow Rising" (Polydor).

JAMES BURTON.

Prime exponent of the rock and roll guitar style culled from rockabilly while Berry took his from the blues. Innovator of the economical solo. Choppy guitar chords as opposed to Berry's jangly style. Probably the only conceivable foil for Rick Nelson.

He raised the quality of Nelsons records by his underplayed licks and although he failed to show himself to best advantage on a 1971 solo album he left a stack of great singles with Nelson as well as with the King — Presley. His later career concentrated on live work with Presley and various top country rockers. Recommended Recordings: The Rick Nelson Singles Album (MCA).

ERIC CLAPTON.

Joined the Yardbirds 1963 and left in '65. After a short stay with John Mayall joined one of the first ever supergroups, Cream in '66. Claptons virtuosity has never been questioned. His technique is never intrusive or overpowering but it is impressive. Emotion comes first, the technique is restraint, flashes and flurries held over for dramatic effect. "Clapton Is God" became legend on a thousand tenement walls and rightly so. Self indulgent jams in Cream and lack of playable material acceptable to all three members eventually destroyed the band and led Clapton to make sparse solos on his Seventies solo work. Laid back but not out. Recommended Recordings: "History Of Eric Clapton" (RSO), "Five Live Yardbirds" (Columbia), "Disraeli Gears" (Reaction).

FAST EDDIE CLARKE.

This man makes Blackmore sound like Mike Oldfield in his quietest moments. Like Hendrix, before him, he had played with Curtis Knight but has limited imaginative powers preferring to play as fast and loud as he can, but its just what motorhead needed and that is more important. He adds no frills and has stayed with a well worn secondhand telecaster. Recommended Recordings: "Bomber" (Bronze) and "Live At Hammersmith Odeon" (Bronze).

EDDIE COCHRAN.

Basic but effective style, a combination of rockabilly and blues influences. Not so much an influence as an inspiration. His riffs are still being reworked and his songs covered along with their guitar patterns that are such an integral part. Recommended Recordings: "Legendary Masters Vol:4" (UA).

EDGE.

One of the new breed of guitar heroes. Proving you don't have to be a sixties HM axeman or seventies virtuosi like Page to be an admired musician. Not afraid to experiment with tunings and chord structures. Irelands finest, a 1980's Rory Gallaher without the blues. Recommended Recordings: "October" (Island).

ROBERT FRIPP.

Founder of King Crimson and much sought after guest guitarist most notably with Bowie and Peter Gabriel. Classically trained he has combined extensive musical theory with the avant garde and stands alone on the fringes of rock. Recommended Recordings: "A Young Persons Guide To King Crimson" (Island) David Bowie's "Scary Monsters" (RCA).

"A TO Z" OF Rock GUITARISTS

BY PAUL ROLAND

RORY GALLAGHER.

Formed taste in 1965 and recorded three albums of blues orientated rock. Always a hard working and dedicated player he never uses effects, pruning his style to the basics. Despite endless tours and undoubtable skill and dexterity he has been unable to struggle out of the cult trough his no fills approach has dug for him. A great shame. Recommended Recordings: "The Best Years" (Polydor 1976).

DAVID GILMORE.

Joined Pink Floyd in 1968 after Syd Barrett left. Gilmour's style is melodic but with few surprises. A tendency to self indulgence is compensated for by a 'natural' style that is hard to knock. He can switch from aggressive to soft and floating weaving in and out of a generous layer of keyboards. Despite Floyd being the epitome of post psychaedic bands he has kept his axe free from effects boxes most of the time.

Recommended Recordings: "Wish You Were Here" (EMI).

PETER GREEN.

Formed first group, Shotgun Express with Mick Fleetwood and Rod Stewart. A stint with Mayall in '66 then formed Fleetwood Mac in '67. Blues influenced style carried on into song-writing style but not restricted by the medium. Self penned "Albatross" "Oh Well" and "Man Of The World" stretched his restrictive roots to new heights. However genius thwarted by self doubts and religious confusions. Quit music business altogether but returned recently though somewhat of an anti climax.

Recommended Recording: "Mr Wonderful" (Blue Horizon).

JIMI HENDRIX.

Began by backing B.B. King and Little Richard. Formed the Jimi Hendrix Experience in 1966 and first single "Hey Joe" was an instant hit. Initially blues influenced he added the trappings of psychaedia without being cramped by its limitations as were many of his contemporaries. His sheer inventiveness and technical mastery enabled him to take the guitar beyond the confines of three minute pop, while his expressive but laconic vocal style and well crafted songs summed up an era.

Recommended Recordings: "Electric Ladyland" (Polydor). "Smash Hits" (Polydor). "Jimi Hendrix - Soundtrack" (Polydor).

SAMMY HAGAR

Precise, assured, high energy HM guitar player. He made his name in Montrose but has recently conquered the HM army with a 'solo' album "Standing Hampton". His live performances are the epitome of razor sharp fury and excitement.

Recommended Recording:

"Standing Hampton" (Geffen Records).

STEVE HOWE.

Initial fame as member of potentially exciting psychaedic band Tomorrow who had a hit with "My White Bicycle". Style somewhat overblown and contrived like the band he then joined Yes. Classical pretensions and lack of good solid rock roots led to meandering solos against equally loose backdrops. All flash and little substance. However his solo album showed some fine acoustic work though he has failed to capture the attention of all but the art school crowd.

Recommended Recordings: "Close To The Edge" (Atlantic).

TONY IOMMI.

Master of the heavy riff. Sabbath were always underated but deserved so much more. Despite beliefs to the contrary, Iommi is an extremely proficient player although his acoustic work is often flawed due to heavy handed playing. He is responsible for some of the most memorable riffs in rock.

Recommended Recordings: "We Sold Our Soul For Rock And Roll" (NEMS).

STEVE JONES.

Basic, simple rock and roll guitarist. Why the Pistols were so big was because under the shock tactics which seemed more so in the stale atmosphere of '76, they were just another good rock and roll band. No frills, few fills and good times. Recommended Recording: "Never Mind The Bollocks" (Virgin).

PAUL KOSSOFF.

Kossoff was one of rock's many unnecessary casualties. He played the minimum number of notes with the maximum effect and burned brightly for an all too brief time. He played it straight, resisted effects pedals and long winding solos preferring economy to flash. Recommended Recordings: "The Free Story" (Island).

ALVIN LEE.

He has always put speed and technique before emotion. The complete antithesis of Paul Kossoff. Peaked during Woodstock but lost direction thereafter. Songs never matched technique and initial appeal waned after two years.

Recommended Recordings: "Going Home" (Chrysalis).

ALEX LIFESON.

Joined Rush a convinced Gibson fanatic but now persuaded to attack Fenders. Although it would have been tempting to fall into the Jimmy Page mould (the likeness of Rush to Zeppelin is undeniable) he has resisted admirably taking seriously the fanatical following he and Rush command and developing to maintain that respect.

Recommended Recordings: "Signals" (Mercury).

NILS LOFGREN.

A natural talent, he could play piano and guitar with equal skill. But despite good songs and an energetic stage act he never made the breakthrough into the top forty until, ironically, a 'best of' compilation album rectified the matter. Has guested on Neil Young's "After The Goldrush" and "Crazy Horse" albums. Choppy lead style taken from James Burton and Chuck Berry.

Recommended Recording: "Cry Tough" (A&M).

PHIL MANZANERA.

Replacement for Davie O'List in Roxy Music. Eccentric style made all the more so by being churned through Brian Enos keyboards. Whinning and being cut short. Coming out of nowhere and being drowned again in the melange of the Roxy sound machine. However solo LP "Mainstream", under the band name Quiet Sun showed diversification though little excitement compared with work in Roxy Music.

Recommended Recording: "Roxy Music Greatest Hits" (Polydor).

HANK MARVIN.

First British guitarist to influence home country. Impact of his unique style and tone led to the formation of many groups who saw the future did not necessarily preclude non-American acts. Followed Duane Eddy on a similar twanging trail of memorable instrumental hits. A populariser rather than an innovator but that is just as important.

Recommended Recordings: "Shadows Greatest Hits" (EMI).

BRIAN MAY

BRIAN MAY.

Co-formed Queen in '72. Another "musicians musician", he made his axe from an antique fireplace. His style is as distinctive as Mercury's voice. Usually put down in layers his guitar sings and plays off against itself. Basically classical in approach though sometimes veering on heavy metal. Through all the phases of Queens career May's style has remained constant.

Recommended Recordings: "Queen 2" (EMI).

JOHN McGEOGH.

Played in Howard Devotos Magazine but left to join Siouxsies and The Banshees when Devoto lost direction. Uses Vox Ac30's in the best tradition. Bound for greatness.

Recommended Recordings: "Kaleidoscope" (Polydor).

GARY MOORE.

Forerunner of heavy metal revival. Early appearances with Skid Row, Thin Lizzy, Greg Lake. Longest sustain in the galaxy. Subtlety not a strong point.

Recommended Recordings: "Back On The Streets" (MCA).

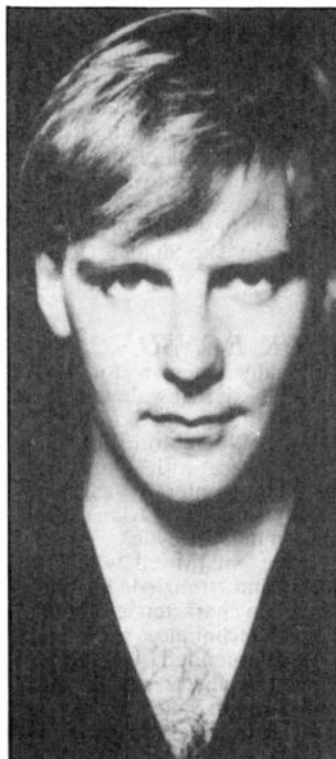

SCOTTY MOORE.

Along with James Burton one of the instigators of rock guitar. Economic, choppy style built on rockabilly riff and country and Western licks. Like Hank Marvin he popularised the guitar without radically altering the way people thought of it.

Recommended Recordings: "Elvis Presely's Sun Recordings" (RCA).

TED NUGENT.

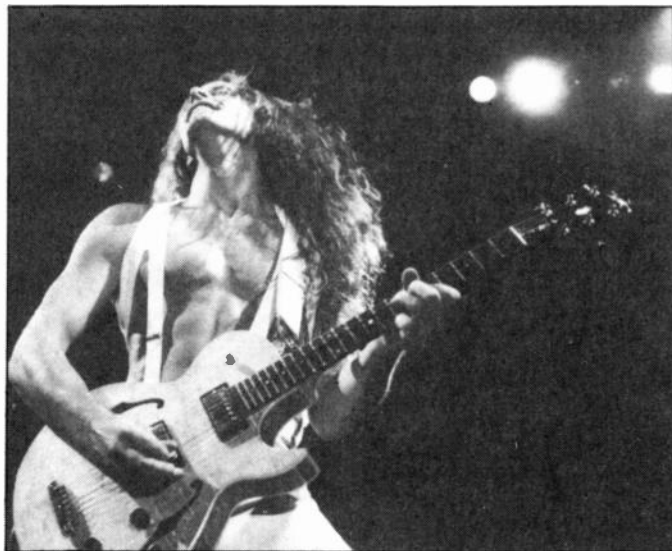

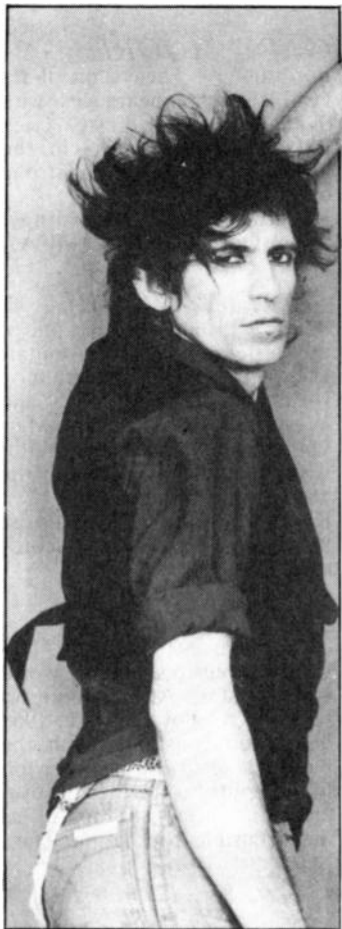

The 'motor city madman'. Nugent was out to shake the world from the start. After a minor hit with the Amboy Dukes in 1968 he toured constantly with the band trying to use a somewhat limited outfit to further his own ends and establish himself as indispensable rock guitar star.

When the band petered out he formed his own band and publicised his prowess with some well staged but obviously contrived guitar 'duels'. Signing to Aerosmiths management led to a major deal with Epic Records and then Nugent was let loose on an unsuspecting public. The epitome of mindless heavy metal he has employed every kind of guitar effect imaginable and is unhappy if the volume from his stacks doesn't cause bleeding from the ears and rearranged hair-dos. An ultimate showman but an over the top force that will shake you to your very foundations.
Recommended Recording: "Cat Scratch Fever" (Epic).

JIMMY PAGE

Began as session guitarist and played on many sixties classics before joining Yardbirds in '66. When the group split in '68 he formed the New Yardbirds to fulfil touring commitments but name changed to Led Zeppelin on Keith Moon's whim. Style is fluid with out being flashy. Next to Clapton the greatest living guitarist. A true virtuosi. Page has earned the top spot by natural ability and relentless dedication with priceless apprenticeship in the sixties. An obvious guitar hero he is innovative and technically flawless. His acoustic work such as "White Summer" is as brilliant as his electric guitar work on "Dazed and Confused".
Recommended Recording: "The Song Remains The Same" (Film Soundtrack-Swan Song Reds).

PETE TOWNSEND

KEITH RICHARDS

Originally taking his licks from Chuck Berry he has given rock some of its most memorable riffs. To call him a good solid player would be a great understatement. He attacks the songs and drags them into the beat with economical flurries of notes and sharp cutting chords. Never playing two chords where one will do. His style and sound has mellowed though with the band. He has been responsible for keeping many guitarists feet on the ground when they could have fallen foul of the twenty minute guitar solo syndrome.

Recommended Recording: "Rolled Gold" (Decca) and "Made In The Shade" (Rolling Stone Records).

MICK RONSON

Originally sideman for David Bowie he left for abortive solo career then joined Mott The Hoople. When Mott split he left for America with Mott frontman Ian Hunter to leave only shortly after for Dylan's 'Rolling Thunder Revue'.

Long sustained whining notes and trenzied bursts of distortion characterise his guitar playing technique.

Recommended Recordings: David Bowie's "Ziggy Stardust" and "Alladin Sane" (RCA) and Ian Hunters "Ian Hunter" (CBS).

TODD RUNDGREN

Came to prominence as all round seminal genius with The Nazz in '68/'69. Then he recorded several good albums which also showed production capabilities and songwriting talents.

Guitar playing too derivative to be innovative but certainly capable of virtuosity when steered in the right direction.

Recommended Recording: "A Wizard, A True Star" (Bearsville).

ANDY SUMMERS

ANDY SUMMERS

Started with Second Division band Curbed Air where he gained valuable live experience and developed a very fluid but unintrusive style.

Broke through with post punk Police where he uses flangers and effects boxes that bend the tone of his instrument without distortion. Sparse and floating effect achieved by light classical technique which allows for a simple lead line to fill the spaces inbetween.

Recommended Recordings: "Ghosts In The Machine" (A & M).

PETE TOWNSEND

Probably the most dynamic of the guitar heroes, combining theatrical virtuosity with blazing lead lines and strange innverted chord patterns to add interesting notes when others would use tried and tested plain chords.

When not smashing guitars to pieces in The Who he will take from other forms of music such as Renaissance guitar and adapt them for his own songs.

Recommended Recordings: "Meaty, Beaty, Big & Bouncy" (Track) and "Quadrophenia" (Track/Polydor).

TOM VERLAINE

Not so much a guitar hero as an innovator of style. When Punk was busy distroying conventions Verlaine was using what the past had given him to build and reshape.

His grinding short, sharp style has not been given the credit due to it for creating great new age rock and roll while still working within the old framework.

Recommended Recording: "Marquee Moon" (Electra).

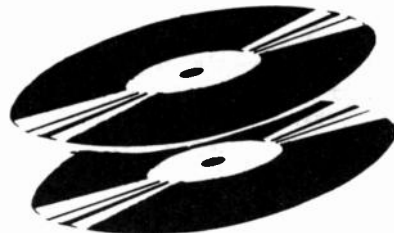

ANGUS YOUNG

The main attraction in Australian band AC/DC. Dressed in school boy togs complete with satchel he cavorts like a dervish on speed and runs through the audience using a radio mike while sending flurries of notes shooting through the auditorium like sparks. Heavy Metal has long since needed the like of Angus who makes the Stones seem so dated and the newer HIM bands seem so pretentious and contrived. The complete mastery of rock guitar, sense of theatre, and boundless energy make him the bearer of the guitar hero crown or should that be the Golden Axe?

SPACEWARD STUDIO

24track £160 a 10-hour day 16track £144

Spaceward. ☎ (035 389) 600

The Old School, Stretham, Cambridge, CB6 3LD.

Spaceward Studios made their name with the New Wave in a hectic few years recording hundreds of singles and albums with almost everyone — STIFF LITTLE FINGERS, TOYAH, UK SUBS, GARY NUMAN, MATCHBOX, SCRITTI POLITTI, IRON MAIDEN, THE SOFT BOYS... As well as continuing to offer good value for independent singles to bands like The Higsons and The Farmers Boys they're working on more long-term projects in the new 24 track studio with people like DAVE STEWART & BARBARA GASKIN, JEAN JACQUES BRUNEL and THE STRANGLERS.

They've recently celebrated 10 years in business, added a fourth full-time engineer/producer Ted Hayton, new JBL monitoring, accommodation, bought lots of new toys including the AMS digital reverb, become full members of the Association of Professional Recording Studios, opened a video production facility, and designed their own computer graphics system for it. To introduce the video studio there's a £50 voucher up for grabs with every £200 24T 14 hour session booked till March — first come first served! Details from Gary on (035 389) 600 anytime.
