The Great Gus Kahn

The HALE You Say

by Natt Hale

One of the most interesting phases of the recording industry, at least to those ors, is the mode and method of developing new and younger artists. Time was, we remember, when the general realm of the recording gentry consisted, in the main, of the “fat and forty” class. Today, much of the popularity and idolatry which surrounds a particular star can be attributed to his or her puissant appeal to the worshipping public at large, and theobby-sox in particular.

Since one hit record can propel a youngster into the big time and, thereby, the “big loot,” it behooves the A. & R. director to take mental inventory of all features before handing the youngster the ball-point and the dotted line.

It might not be too unusual to hear the A. & R. man state: “Sure, you sing great, Buddy, but you been singing all the time, you’ll try for seven until you get out and get a job...” Or—“Look, Honey, I’ve got a great song for you, and I’ll back you with forty men on the season. But you’ve got to knock off a few pounds. And you’ve still got to get yourself a chintz. Can’t you make a deal with Good-year or somebody?”

In all fairness, it should be noted that talent comes into it for its share of consideration, too. Somewhere in the conversation, the aspirant for recording honors is auditioned for basic talent.

In the long pull toward stardom and the achievement of the hit disc, the concern of all and sundry connected with the embryonic artist appears to be justified. As much enthusiasm is placed on the physical accoutrements of the youngster as on the fundamental talent with which he or she was endowed. This results in such promotional coockamania as the affixing of a catch phrase, e.g., “The Throat,” “Mr. Aeshphagian,” or “Miss Glorya Glen...YOU’LL FLIP!”

Another important tangent of the build-up is the organization of a national fan club. These are also gravely considered for apt titles, and we sense an innate press agent’s glow of pride in designing such organizational keynotes as “The Gala Who Give In When Billy Gives Out,” or “Gay’s Dolls,” or even “Buddy’s Buddies.” Still in all, theobby-soxers contribute a great deal of time and effort to their hero or heroine and should come in for their share of glory.

Now let’s say that the one “big one” comes along and the chappie hits hits. Was all the time, money and effort worth it? Here’s what we hear: “So what’s that Darken Hainsome looks like? Ya know, he’s not at all what I thought he’d look like. And, ya’ know what? I hear that he wears a TOUPPEE!! And ya’ wanna’ know somethin’ else? He had to have his nose fixed before he could appear anywhere in person!”

O.K., so the news comes out about his lack of Nature’s gifts. But there’s still the fan clubs, bless ‘em. But no, There’s more trouble.

The President of the chapter in Sioux Falls, (“Darken’s Sparks”) is secretly in love with our boy. And what do you know? When Darken arrives to grace the stage of the local vaudeville emporium in Sioux Falls, who does he include in his entourage, but Mrs. Hainsome and the three little Hansomes. Whereupon, the press of the chapter suddenly notes that Joe Borytone on Glassy Records sings better, is cuter, younger and more romantic than Darken Hainsome. Consequently, within a matter of minutes, the official club name is changed to “Joe’s Fans.”

You could’ve kept your old nose, Darken. Oh, well, maybe you’ll come up with another million-seller again, soon.

Oh, what’s that? You don’t give a damn if you never make another record. Oh, well—what’re you gonna’ do?

King Goes All Out On Promotion For New Teddy Phillips Disc

CINCINNATI, OHIO—King Records is going all out on its promotion for a new Teddy Phillips disc labeled “Whishing” and backed with “Sunshine And Flowers.”

King has sent over 1000 copies of a 45-rpm press release, which features Lynn Hoyt on the vocal, to leading dealers throughout the country to get their reaction. In addition, they have sent 5000 copies of the pressings to the top operators in seven major cities—Cincinnat, City, Chicago, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati—to get some quick juke box play.

A special deal has also been set up for operators in all of the King branches so that 100% coverage will be obtained in the cities where those branches are located as well as surrounding territories.

Further, the company has mailed, together with a letter from Bill Oberstein, ten press release samples to each of the 75 disk jockeys in the seven cities named above. In addition, every disk jockey in the country will be personally contacted by the disk jockey personnel.

Several thousand gadgets have also been made up, with the name of the tunes on the record and King tempo to get these pinned on the lapels and dressed on records clerks in the dealers stores.

The tune on one side of the record, “Whishing” is owned by Bud Brandon, who is one of the biggest juke box opera/urs in Chicago.

RCA Victor Execs On Nationwide Tour

NEW YORK—RCA Victor executives are this week holding a series of meetings throughout the country to discuss the proper selection of artists, to build-up new artists, and to discuss with distributors plans for the coming year.

The tour has already been to almost all departments left early in the week and will return about January 15. Meetings will be held in 47 different cities with each exec headed the conference in several of the cities.

Among the men who are on the trip are: Paul Barksmeier, Dave Finn, Earl Knepper, Frank Armstrong, Burgess, Howard Leffitts, Bill Boss, Jim Lemon, Bob Baggs, Ed Dodelin and Bill Bullock.
