The label is currently riding-high with The Marcels' outing of "Heartaches," which this week makes its first Top 100 appearance in the #57 slot.

Candid Issues 5 Jazz-Blues Albums

NEW YORK — Candid Records last week released five new albums in the jazz and blues fields. Topping the list is a Charles Mingus album entitled "Mingus." The album features the Mingus quartet plus six guest stars.

A blues entry from Candid is "Memphis Slim's Tribute" to Big Bill Broonzy, Leroy Carr, Cow Cow Davenport and other blues greats, showcasing Memphis Slim's re-creation of their blues classics.

Additional jazz sets in the Candid release are "Out Front" by the late, 23-year-old trumpet player, Booker Little and his quintet featuring Max Roach and Eric Dolphy. A Clark Terry package is tagged "Color Changes," and also includes Yusef Lateef.

A special release from Candid is, "The Jazz Life," an anthology with 22 top jazz musicians including tracks by Charles Mingus, Max Roach, Lucky Thompson, Lightnin' Hopkins and Cal Massey. None of these sides has been previously released. The album carries the same title as a new book by Nat Hentoff, who also produced the album, recently published by the Dial Press. Candid and Dial have worked out an "extensive" cross promotion for both the book and record.

A "concentrated" consumer advertising program is being launched in national publications for the entire release, which is available in mono and stereo.

CINCINNATI—Syd Nathan (seated), president of King Records, is shown here signing a contract with Jeff Kruger, president of Ember Records International, for the English distribution of King Records. Included in the deal are albums by such artists as Billy Eckstine, The Platters, Jack Teagarden, Clyde Mc Phatter, Chris Connor, Jonah Jones, Jimmy Rushing, Benny Carter and Earl Bostic.
