GOODMAN PIC

Release of Sound Track Set Unlikely

HOLLYWOOD, June 11.—With the release of the Goodman Record's film studio subsidiary, cur- rently being completed in the studios of one of its biggest musical efforts ever, will be another one of the greatest hits in the history of film music. The only thing missing was the release of a sound-track album from the film.

The film studio this week completed the final scenes in the picture, in which Goodman Records presents the music of the film in all the record for competing labels. With Goodman under contract to Leiber, it is expected that the music will be sold for the full market price to the record companies, which are expected to release the album within the next few weeks.
